NEWSPAPER HISTORY

The Rockland Gazette was established in 1846. In 1874 the Courier was established and consolidated with the Gazette in 1882. The Free Press was established in 1885 and in 1891 changed its name to the Tribune. These papers consolidated March 17, 1897.

Friendship Suicide

Mrs. Jennie Cook, 56, committed suicide in Friendship this morning
by drowning.

The body was found at 6 a. m. by Mrs. Cook's father-in-law, Elden Cook, and had been in the water an hour or two according to Medical Examiner H. J. Weisman, who rendered a verdict of "suicide by drowning." Despondency was given as the probable cause.

The deceased is survived by her husband, George Cook.

A pipe for every purse is to be found in the very large assortment at Blaisdell Pharmacy, corner Main and Park streets. Pipes from 25c to $10, with a full line of the famous Kaywoodie.—adv.

Pheasant Hunting

Opens Thursday Morning
and Lasts Five Days —
Some Districts Exempt

Maine's first pheasant hunting season will start one-half hour before sunrise Thursday, sportsmen being allotted five days in which to hunt these birds in the six counties of York, Cumberland, Sagadahoc, Lincoln, Knox and Waldo.

The kill will be limited to two birds a day and not more than four for the entire season, Nov. 10 to 15 inclusive, except Sunday, but it will be permissible to shoot either hens or cocks.

According to the ruling announced Oct. 7 by Fish and Game Commissioner George J. Stobie several areas within four of the open counties will remain closed to hunting. In York county, hunting pheasants will not be legal within the boundaries of the town of York;
in Lincoln county, Boothbay, Booth-bay Harbor and Southport will remain closed and in Knox County the residential section of West Rockport and the area east of No. 1 highway from the Rockport bridge to the junction of No. 1 highway and Bayview street in Camden are also closed areas. In Waldo county hunting will not be permitted in Stockton Springs. These areas were closed at the request of individuals who had cooperated in raising and liberating the birds and did not feel that they were yet sufficiently plentiful to permit hunting.

Pheasants are believed to be fairly plentiful in the six counties opened. Woodcock and partridge hunters have reported seeing more this season than in past years and more crop damage was reported by farmers this past summer than in any year since the birds were first liberated in Maine.

Introduced into the State by the Department of Inland Fisheries and liberated in various parts of Maine hunters, the pheasants have been providing another game bird for Game for the express purpose of annually since 1933. Records at the State Game Farm show that approximately 27,000 birds have been stocked during the six year period.

Except for some hatching and liberation by individuals from eggs furnished by the game farm the entire expense of the pheasant project has come from hunting license fees.

Aided by two unusually mild winters, 1936-37 and 1937-38 the birds are believed to have more than held their own against natural enemies and poaching and many have propagated in the wild state during the past two years, flocks of eight to 12 chicks having been reported by wardens and other observers.

Commissioner Stobie said that he hoped hunters would cooperate with the department by reporting the number of birds they killed during the open season and any pertinent facts concerning them, especially the localities in which they were found. Leg bands, when found on the birds, should be sent to the department at Augusta or given to a warden, he stated.

Co-operation from the hunters in reporting the birds killed will aid
the department greatly in future
stocking and propagation plans.
Stobie declared, and added that the open season was granted largely for the purpose of checking the results of the six-year's stocking project.

Stobie predicted that many hunters who expected to find the birds tame and easily shot would be greatly surprised during the open season. He said that hunters had reported to him that most of the birds they had seen were wild and provided hard shots.

Although they do not get away as fast as partridge they are deceptive targets, their long tails frequently causing hunters to shoot far behind the birds instead of hitting them in the vital areas. Stobie said that in other states close shooting guns and number six shot were favored by pheasant hunters because they were forced to take many long shots at the birds.

Alton's Lecture

A Big Crowd Will Hear the Rockland Boy's Lecture
Tonight

Alton Hall Blackington's lecture in Community Hall takes place tonight and judging from the remarks heard on all sides the publicity matter which has appeared in these columns, preceding the event, has not fallen upon deaf ears. A large audience is in prospect, for the people of Mr. Blackington's home town are all anxious to pay tribute to the success he has won in larger fields, and hear the wonderful hurricane lecture he has prepared.

A crowd of 600 men, women and children filled the Hyannis High School to witness the first showing on Cape Cod of Alton Hall Blackington's spectacular color pictures of the devastation of the recent hurricane and tidal wave that swept Cape Cod and Rhode Island shores.

Mr. Blackington was introduced by Charles A. Clegg, instructor for first aid for the Red Cross, who praised the speaker for his loyal and sincere interest in the Red Cross, the police and fire departments and all who helped to alleviate suffering during the recent disaster.

Mr. Blackington was greeted with long and continued applause when he walked upon the stage. He has presented many lectures on the Cape and is widely known among the foresters and firemen for the many illustrated articles he has written for newspapers and magazines all over the country.

The audience sat spellbound as colorful scenes of the terrific storm's damage was shown upon the screen.
These pictures proved beyond doubt that the noted Boston lecturer is a past master in the art of recording news events in color. Long and continued applause followed the address which, accompanied by 300 pictures, lasted only one hour and a half.

Talking Millions

Raymond Fogler, New Head
Montgomery, Ward &
Co., Has Big Job

Sewell L. Avery, once known as Chicago's busiest man, on his sixty-fourth birthday today took another step to free himself from the routine of the business world. He retired from the presidency of Montgomery Ward & Co., nation-wide merchandise distributing organization. He relinquished the office to Raymond H. Fogler, for six years vice president in charge of operations.

Although Mr. Avery is still chairman of the board of directors and chief executive officer, his step today represents another move to free himself from office detail. Two years ago he resigned as president of the United States Gypsum company, although he continues as principal executive officer and chairman of that company.

Montgomery Ward's new president, brought to the house by Mr.
Avery when W. T. Grant & Co. of New York in 1932, was born on a farm near South Hope, 46 years ago.
He won degrees from the University of Maine in 1915 and from Princeton two years later.

Mr. Avery stepped actively into the affairs of the Chicago concern as chairman in 1931, when it had a deficit of $8,000,000. Although busy with the affairs of United States Gypsum, a $65,000,000 company with which he had been identified since 1905, he was induced to work for Ward at an annual salary of $100,000 and a stock option.
Montgomery Ward's net income last year was $19,210,029 and its sales $414,000,000, the largest on record.

Mr. Avery once said to a questioning stockholder when discussion his salary:

"My incentive in life has not been to make money. But don't try to believe that. If you're successful
the money will take care of itself.
A banana-peeled into this place and then couldn't get out."

SUPERIOR COURT ADJOURNS

Justice George L. Emery Signs Long List Of Divorce Decrees At Close

The November term of Superior Court is expected to adjourn this noon, and the log will show that a large amount of business was disposed of under the direction of Justice George L. Emery.

Paul Landers of Lewiston, who was charged with cheating by false pretences, was sentenced to 11 months in Knox County jail.

John A. Robbins, for breaking entering and larceny in the night time, was given a prison sentence of two to four years. Charles Prazier, indicted for the same offence, was sentenced to the Men's Reformatory.

The following divorce decrees were signed by Justice Emery this morning:

Arlene Hilda Thibodeau from Ernest James Thibodeau of Rockland, cruel and abusive treatment.
Z. M. Dwinall for libellant.

Esther S. Boynton from Stanley
C. Boynton, both of Rockland, cruel and abusive treatment. Tirrell for libellant.

Boys With The Mitts

Second Show At The Park
Street Arena Brings a
Lynn Stable

Maine's best middleweights and welterweights are hooked up for Wednesday night's boxing show at the new Park Street Arena.

The main bout sounds like a Civil War engagement, as it will bring together Stonewall Jackson of Lynn, Mass., and that gallant Bangor mitt-slinger, Jerry Duprey. Eight fast rounds, providing the battle goes that far, are guaranteed for the fans.

Ponzi Cochran of Rockland, hero
of a hundred battles, will meet Phil
Rowe of Lynn, a lad with a wallop.
Also on this card will be seen Pat
Kendrick of Camden vs. Batling Andrews of Lynn; Griff White of Camden vs. Kid Jones of Lynn, and one other good bout.

But Fisher was the matchmaker for this show and will be the third man in the ring. Leon Halstead will pound the gong.

Consider well the source of things;
sponge cake isn't made from sponges and a family far is never used in preserving the peace.

YOUR FAVORITE POEM

If I had my life to live again I would have made a rule to read some poetry and listen to some music at least once a week. The loss of these tastes is a loss of happiness.—Charles Darwin.

Those gay bones resting calm and
shriven
Ashes of roses? Ten to one
All up and down the hills of heaven
Rabbits are on the run!

I'll wager, if I died tonight
And, hating by the river's brim
A bit bewildered at my plight,
Should call, Here Jim! Here, Jim!

Yeeping with glory, glad and rough,
He'd huddle down the other side.
And soon I'd feel a warm, wet scruff
Towing me through the tide.

"The Black Cat"

By The Roving Reporter

The island boats, plying across the bay, are reminders of an almost extinct business so far as this section of New England is concerned. Unless some new method of transportation is discovered the bay will continue to be spanned in this manner hundreds of years
hence. How we would miss them.

While most of the motorists use
the new highway between Bath and Brunswick the old road is by no means deserted. Many strangers take it by mistake, and many others go the old way by preference, a fact which should offer no surprise, as the ride is much more attractive. Milton Griffin and I detoured onto the old road returning from the Maine-Bowdoin game Saturday night in order to call upon Ivan A. Trueworthy. The latter has made excellent recovery from a sickness which confined him to the house six weeks and we found him his old genial self.

In the cornerstone of the Cosmetics Building at the New York World's Fair 1939 have been deposited the rarest perfumes of today, the newest and most effective toilet accessories the whole valued at thousands of dollars. When the Fair closes, the cornerstone is to be transported to the mountains of Arizona and placed under a gigantic granite monolith to remain undisturbed until April 30, 2939, a thousand years after the inauguration of the Fair. Then the belle of that year will learn what her sisters of 1939 used to make themselves beautiful.

A friend of The Black Cat in Needham, Mass., sends me this one:
"It is said that not long before his death the late Calvin Coolidge remarked that the four maxims that have made the Yankee great are:

"Eat it up."
"Wear it out."
"Make it do."
"Do without."

The president of a nationally known brand of underwear vouchers for the fact that the former President's "do without" was underwear.
When offered a complete set he declined the gift, laconically saying,
"I never wear it."

Rockland persons who attended the State Prison conflagration
when fire destroyed the west wing and several of the large shops will find it difficult to believe that the disaster occurred 15 years ago last Sept. 18. The conflagration started in the broom room bleachers and caused a loss of half a million of dollars.

Writing from Needham, Mass., where one of her most pleasant duties is the thrice a week perusal of The Courier-Gazette Mrs. Au-bigne L. Packard says:

"Last evening I was privileged to hear Alton Blackington's lecture on the recent hurricane. When he speaks in Rockland every one in Knox County who has the price of a ticket should hear him. His pictures are marvelous and his interpretation very fine. I enjoy your Black Cat column very, very much."

How do you enter a motor car—
feet first and draw in the body,
or body first and draw in the feet.
Or perhaps you don't know yourself until you try it. We're not very close observers as a rule.

One year ago: The Spiritual Recovery Crusade at the Community Building opened with a Sunday night audience of 1600. Charlie Taylor, the preacher, and Laurie Taylor the pianist, made a wonderful impression.—"Big Hearted Herbert" was selected as the Senior class play, with Gordon Richardson in the title role.—"Barrington Bill" Hayes, the baseball Scout of the New York Yankees was a visitor in the city.—Sir Johnson Forbes-Robertson, a great Shakespearean actor, died at the age of 84. He was

Lincoln County Fair Reviews Good Year Despite Bad Finish

At the annual meeting of Lincoln County Fair, officers elected were: Herbert A. Clark of Oxbow, president; John P. Kelley of Boothbay Harbor, Q. P. Peaslee of Alna, William A. Mank of Waldoboro, Benjamin A. Bailey of Whitefield, and Henry E. Cunningham of Jefferson, vice presidents; John N. Glidden of Newcastle, secretary; Linwood H. Pierce of Damariscotta, treasurer; Frank M. Decker of Newcastle, race secretary; Orlando McKown of Boothbay Harbor, George E. Oliver of Newcastle, Alvin E. Piper of Damariscotta, Edward B. Denny of Damariscotta, Orlis G. Oliver of Nobleboro, F. Burton Haggert of Wiscasset, Lincoln Hodgkins of Jefferson and Lauriston Vinal of Dresden, trustees; Roy Gentner of Nobleboro, auditor.

In spite of rain which ruined the last day of the 1938 fair, the season was the best for a long time. Substantial reduction was made in the debt, needed improvements and repairs were also made.

A proposition was made by Dwight Erskine of Alna relative to the drawing and training of horses and oxen. Mr. Erskine offers to build such a stand, which is greatly needed, and turn it over a free gift to the association after two years. This offer the trustees have under consideration.

To Try Oysters

May Be Added To Maine Coast Products—Biological Study First

Formulating plans for an extensive oyster, clam and quahaug propagation program Sea and Shore Fisheries Commissioner Arthur R. Greenleaf announced today, that a comprehensive survey of potential "marine farming" areas would be made during the next few months. Beds suitable for oyster and quahaug culture would be taken over by the state and leased to producers who would guarantee to operate them on a commercial basis while efforts would be made to increase the supply of clams.

Greenleaf said that the study would be the first assignment for a fisheries biologist that his department intends to employ in cooperation with the U. S. Bureau of Fisheries.

He plans to request a Legislative appropriation to operate the program on a three-year basis and believes that it would materially increase fisheries revenue and eventually become self supporting.

He said that the program would utilize the best features of plans successfully operating in other States and pointed out that clam production was falling off annually and that oysters and quahaugs were now a negligible commercial factor.

Experiments have proven that oysters and quahaugs can be raised in Maine and history reveals that they were once abundant, he said.

He said that statistics show oyster production and marketing to be the nation's most important fishery, employing 20,000 persons annually and representing an income of over $4,000,000. The market is practically unlimited and there would be plenty of room for a large supply of oysters from Maine, he believes.

Outstanding proof that oysters can be propagated on a large scale has resulted from activity in Prince Edward Island, according to Greenleaf. Oyster farms there have increased from 26 in 1932 to 463 this year and more general prosperity for the fishing village is resulting. The project is being carried on under the direction of the Dominion Department of Fisheries and 1600 acres are now under cultivation.

Greenleaf visualizes hundreds of small areas along the coast, each bringing a good living to the families employed therein. The same results could be obtained from quahaug culture, he believes.

Maine oysters resemble the Canadian variety greatly in taste being more salty and having a distinctive flavor not found in those taken farther south.

Greenleaf said that this program would not be advisable without an expert biologist to study and supervise it.—By Dick Reed of the Maine Development Commission.

Greenleaf said that the study would be the first assignment for a fisheries biologist that his department intends to employ in cooperation with the U. S. Bureau of Fisheries.

He plans to request a Legislative appropriation to operate the program on a three-year basis and believes that it would materially increase fisheries revenue and eventually become self supporting.

He said that the program would utilize the best features of plans successfully operating in other States and pointed out that clam production was falling off annually and that oysters and quahaugs were now a negligible commercial factor.

Experiments have proven that oysters and quahaugs can be raised in Maine and history reveals that they were once abundant, he said.

He said that statistics show oyster production and marketing to be the nation's most important fishery, employing 20,000 persons annually and representing an income of over $4,000,000. The market is practically unlimited and there would be plenty of room for a large supply of oysters from Maine, he believes.

Outstanding proof that oysters can be propagated on a large scale has resulted from activity in Prince Edward Island, according to Greenleaf. Oyster farms there have increased from 26 in 1932 to 463 this year and more general prosperity for the fishing village is resulting. The project is being carried on under the direction of the Dominion Department of Fisheries and 1600 acres are now under cultivation.

Greenleaf visualizes hundreds of small areas along the coast, each bringing a good living to the families employed therein. The same results could be obtained from quahaug culture, he believes.

Maine oysters resemble the Canadian variety greatly in taste being more salty and having a distinctive flavor not found in those taken farther south.

Greenleaf said that this program would not be advisable without an expert biologist to study and supervise it.—By Dick Reed of the Maine Development Commission.

Lermond And Burr

Well Known Scientists Have An Outing Like A Cab Man's Holiday

Curator Lermond of the Knox Museum took a two days' vacation and in company with Dr. Freeman F. Burr, State geologist and president of the Academy, goes on a collecting trip to Piscataquis County. At Dover-Foxcroft they were entertained by Fernald Richards and wife, members of the Academy.

Mr. Richards has a fine collection of minerals and teaches a class in geology and mineralogy. Acting as guide he conducted us to the slate ledges below the falls, where we gathered a lot of fine specimens. At another locality, a hill in the town, we obtained good samples of granite. After a hearty supper at the Richards home we continued on some 30-odd miles to Greenville, where we stayed for the night in a tourist camp on a hill overlooking Moosehead Lake.

Next morning we had breakfast in the hotel and then went down into the village and inquired for Fred Oakes. We met him in his auto at the entrance gate to his home grounds. He was just leaving to visit his farm several miles away, but courteously asked us to remain as his guests. He conducted us first over the new athletic grounds connected with the magnificent High School building, costing a million dollars which Mr. Oakes had built and gave to the town. From the grounds we went into the building, entering room after room, from cellar to attic—the workshop for boys, sewing, cooking and typewriting rooms for girls; recreation room, hall with very large stage with full outfit of curtains and scenery.

This building is of fireproof material and the last word in up-to-date scientific equipment, the finest public building that I have yet seen in Maine.

From the High School building we next visited Mr. Oakes' private grounds extending down to the lake, and then we went to his house and sat and talked on various subjects. Mr. Oakes is certainly a benefactor of the first rank to his town, county and State.

This was a never to be forgotten vacation outing, with perfect Indian summer weather and beautiful scenery all along the way.

TALK OF THE TOWN

The automobile registration office will be closed all day Friday and Saturday.

David Rubenstein was home from Boston for the weekend driving a new station wagon named "Topsis."

There will be a rehearsal of the first degree in Rockland Lodge, Tuesday night. All the officers please attend.

Mrs. Frank Lipovsky (Christine Curtis) is making good recovery at Knox Hospital where she is a surgical patient.

The nice summer weather comes to an end today, if the forecasts are correct. We are grateful to the injuns who provided it.

Carlton Ripley who recently attended the Hoover service and sales school in Boston, has returned, and will be the sales and service man for Rockland and vicinity.

Charles M. Richardson has retired from the restaurant business and joins the staff of the Federal Life and Casualty Co., the vice president of which is a former Rockland boy, Walter W. Morse.

The banquet to be tendered Alton Hall Blackington by his classmates, prior to tonight's lecture, will take place at the Copper Kettle, instead of at The Thorndike Hotel, as previously announced.

Adriel U. Bird flew from Boston with a party of friends to attend the Bowdoin and Maine football game, and on his return flew to New York to join Sam Bickford for a two weeks' yachting cruise to Florida.

The W.C.T.U. will meet Friday at 2:30 in the Baptist Brotherhood class room, Main street. Department work and Christian citizenship will be discussed by Mrs. Mary Perry Rich and reports of the State convention given by delegates.

Workmen began yesterday removing paving on the northern side of Tillson avenue, with a view to replacing it with a gravel base and surface which will eventually have a tar surface. The highway thus treated will be about 22 feet wide.

Hillcrest Homestead, the new and popular eating establishment on the Warren road will remain open throughout the winter, according to announcement made by the proprietors yesterday. They are making preparations for an elaborate Thanksgiving dinner. Meantime those unique jack o' lanterns are standing guard.

Keen interest is apparent in the fall flower show of the Camden-Rockland Garden Clubs to be held this afternoon and evening in Community Building. A high light of the afternoon session will be a talk and demonstration in the tower room by Mrs. A. R. Benedict. The showing of the clubs will be in the east room afternoon and evening.

Holiday hours will be observed at Post Office Armistice Day as follows: Money order, Registry, Stamp and General Delivery Windows will be closed all day. There will be no delivery by city or R.F.D. carriers. General collection will be made at noon. Special Delivery mail will be delivered. Mails will be received and dispatched as usual. Corridor will be open from 4:30 a.m. to 8:30 p.m.

Miss Doris V. Hyler, district deputy president of District No. 16, Mrs. Vora N. Bemis, noble grand, Mrs. Vivian L. Kimball, vice grand, and Mrs. Addie M. Brown, past noble grand of Miriam Rebekah Lodge were in Portland Saturday night, to attend the reception given by Woodbine Rebekah Lodge, in honor of Mrs. Martha E. Libby, president of the Rebekah Assembly of Maine. Miss Hyler was guest at Mrs. Libby's dinner, preceding the reception.

President Leforest A. Thurston of the Chamber of Commerce was re-elected at yesterday afternoon's meeting of the board of directors. E. B. Crockett and P. E. Worrey were made vice presidents, Miss Lenore W. Benner, secretary and J. B. Robinson, treasurer. The annual meeting of the organization will be held the latter part of the present month at Community Building as a ladies' night. Mr. Worrey is general chairman of the affair.

The absence of John Blethen Jr., from University of Maine is causing concern. He left the institution yesterday apparently for California, and presumably without funds. His father who resides at 47 Lawn avenue says that the boy was suffering from a head injury received while playing football. He is 19 years old, about five feet 10 inches tall, of solid build, has red hair, blue eyes and ruddy complexion. He may be wearing a dark blue or dark gray suit and dark overcoat. He does not wear a hat.

The Hobby Show

Lots of Busy Workers Getting Ready For Big Local Event

Did you ever stop to gaze at trees, freaks? Austin Wilkins has. This collection of tree freaks is an absorbing pursuit and will be seen at the hobby show.

Interest will be aroused by an exhibit of the State Forestry of Augusta, showing the growth of trees, the cross section, etc., for it is now more than a hobby. The information one derives from such an exhibit is alarming in tree song.

The miscellaneous booth teaches division of labor. Mrs. Joseph Emery has provided pleasant tasks for her group. Mrs. Carl H. Sonntag will display an ivy collection from Mr. Dean of Silsby's Florist, a collection of cacti gathered by Mr. Dverve of Damariscotta Mills, and Mrs. Emilio Hary's collection of animal plant holders.

Mrs. H. A. Allen and Mrs. Mervin Rice will display early pressed glass, including Mrs. Walter Laad's colored glass slippers.

Mrs. Raymond Watts' family heirlooms may be seen, Miss Burdell Strout's china dogs, Mrs. Donald Crie's advertising pencils, J. G. Thompson's old swords, etc. Mrs. T. J. French's (of Camden and Lincolnville Beach) paper weights.

Mrs. A. C. Ramsdell will have done more of her hand decorated Florida sea-shell boxes, plus many shells.

Mrs. R. E. Philbrick, Mrs. Arthur Lamb, Mrs. Walter Barstow, Miss Helen Whitmore, Miss Marion Ginn, Mrs. Clarence Munsey and Dr. Edwin L. Scarlott will assist Mrs. Emery.

Don't forget Nov. 16, 17 and 18.

WILLIAM H. RYAN

William H. "Bill" Ryan, 53, one of Keene's most popular and best known business men, manager of the Bullard and Shedd's drug store, a past president of the Keene Rotary club, for 25 years secretary of the Keene lodge of Elks, and prominent in many community activities and organizations, died suddenly in his home, Oct. 31, following a series of heart attacks since last Friday.

Mr. Ryan was a son of Mr. and Mrs. William H. Ryan, one of Keene's older families.

He had been active in the state and national associations of retail druggists and pharmacists and served as vice president of the state organization. He was an active member of St. Bernard's church.

His service with Bullard and Shedd's covered a period of over 30 years.

One of the most prominent members of the Keene lodge of Elks, Mr. Ryan was presented an honorary life membership in the fraternity when he gave up the office of secretary he had faithfully filled for a quarter of a century.

He was a member of the committee which was in charge of the first annual governor's night of the Keene lodge observed a few months ago at the Keene Country Club. Mr. Ryan also held membership in the Keene council, Knights of Columbus.

Mr. Ryan is survived by his wife, Minnie G. Ryan, a brother, Joseph Augustus Ryan of Keene, and a nephew in Washington, D. C.

Very modest and retiring in manner, "Bill" loved people and had many friends not only in Keene but in other communities in New England. He was extremely interested in the city's progress and although he participated in many community affairs was always pointing out the fine work that others were doing.

He was married Feb. 12, 1920, to Minnie G. Chapman of Rockland, Me., and they have made their home in this city.

The above obituary is from the Keene Evening Sentinel. In the course of an extended editorial that newspaper said:

"Bill" represented a quality of personality and type of citizenship that any man can be honestly proud to exemplify, that any community can be proud to own. Yet Bill was never self-conscious of his fine character nor did he ever perform any of his many unselfish services with the least bit of showiness. What he did he did naturally and for the joy of doing it. There was something lovable, a beckoning kindness, a quiet refined tone about Bill Ryan that brought people into the circle of his affection and held them forever fond of him. By his calm expression of love, by his great liking for people, he unconsciously drew to himself and to whatever cause he enlisted in, a response and a cooperation that it is the privilege of only such characters to accomplish."

Ginger Bread: Three cupfuls of flour, 1 cupful sugar, 1 cupful milk, 1 cupful syrup, 1/2 pound butter, 3 eggs, 1 teaspoonful carbonate soda, 2 tablespoonfuls ground ginger, 1 1/2 teaspoonfuls salt. Beat butter and sugar, add eggs beaten, then syrup, put soda, ginger and spice in flour, and sift a little in before adding milk; then add the rest of the flour. Bake in a flat baking dish in a slow oven from three-quarters to one hour.

CHARLES A. NYSTROM

Charles August Nystrom who died Monday at a Bangor hospital was born in VesvataVick, Sweden but came to this country at the age of 19; going to sea from then until at the age of 35 he settled in Rockland.

He was married to Charlotte Stevens, now deceased. Mr. Nystrom was employed by the Rockland & Rockport Lime Corp. until nine years ago when failing health caused his retirement.

He had three children—Charles, deceased, John and Mrs. Anna Ward of this city who survive; also 16 grandchildren.

Funeral services will be held Wednesday at 2 o'clock from the Burpee funeral parlors.

An unusual example of fair play (and good advertising sense) comes from Oakland, Cal. The Retail Merchants Association bought a large newspaper space to give its view of a union dispute and, at the same time, offered the union equal advertising space to give its view at the Association's expense.

At The High School

(By The Pupils)

Parents and friends of the school are cordially invited to attend the evening sessions of Senior and Junior High Monday and Tuesday, Nov. 14 and 15.

Senior High will have classes Monday evening from 7-9:15, with an assembly program and three half-hour periods. Junior High will have the same on Tuesday evening. This is to give the parents and citizens an opportunity to see what the school is doing and to arouse genuine interest in better education.

Boy Scout Troop No. 203 held its regular meeting Wednesday with six guests present. After playing games for a half-hour, the patrols went to their meetings. Inspection and test passing were conducted in the gym. Entertainment was furnished by Edward Law who showed movies of the last Jamboree.

JENNIES ROBBINS

In loving memory of our dear son and brother who died on Nov. 10, 1934: He brought his love to gladness us. And though his stay was brief We have his lovely memories As solace for our grief. And though the angels called for him Much sooner than we planned We'll brave the bitter grief that came. We'll try to understand. Father, Mother, Sisters and Brother. Gearsmont.

CARD OF THANKS

I wish to thank my many friends and neighbors including the Helpful Club and the Ladies' Aid of Cushing who sent cards, flowers, letters, baskets and other gifts during my stay at Knox Hospital, also Dr. Fogg, Dr. Keller and the nurses. Mrs. Mary Flint will meet Thursday at 2.30 in the church parlors.

Due to the Blackington lecture being held in the auditorium, the Community Building bowling alleys will be closed tonight after 8 o'clock.

The big Council meeting of the year will be held Wednesday night.

Many Past Grand Masters have signified their intention to be present and a large number of Companions from all over the State will be in attendance. Rt. Em. Deputy Grand Master E. Murray Graham will be the inspecting officer. The afternoon session will open at 4.15.

Ruth Mayhew Tent last night received invitations to attend the reception for Mrs. Maude Milam, department president of the D.U.V. in Bangor, Dec. 14, and the reception of Mrs. Mae Cross, department president of the Auxiliary of the S.U.V. Nov. 12. Plans for the annual fair are being completed for Dec. 14, with the following committee in charge: Aprons, Maude Cables, Bessie Haraden, Inez Packard, Grace Colson, Annie Mullen, Minnie Pettie, Olive Crockett, Ada Burpee; foods, Lina Carroll, Stella McRae, Carrie House, Allie Blackington, Mertie McBride, Fannie Bickmore, Frances Burpee; utility table, Eliza Plummer, Susie Karl, Doris Ames, Maude Tibbets, F. Helen Paladino; candy, Carrie Brown, Josephine Lothrop, Mae Cross, Rhoda Currier, Mary Brewster, grab, Jennie Pietroski, Irene Winslow, Anna Pollett; quilt, Priscilla Smith, Millie Gillis, Nellie Webster; flower booth, Ada Payson, Lena Rokes, Sarah Thomas, Mina King, Ida Huntley. Beano in the evening in charge of Priscilla Smith, with Blanche Shadie, Mary Cooper, Lizzie French, Elizabeth Murray, Emma Douglass and Grace Lewis. The supper was served by Eliza Plummer and Ada Payson while Lina Carroll and Susie Karl was appointed to serve on the next supper committee Nov. 21. Armistice Day was fittingly observed with the program dedicated to Clarence Burleigh Huntley, a world war veteran, who gave his life in France. Mrs. Plummer read of the service conducted for the first United States soldiers buried in France, Private Enright, Private Geesham and Private Hay. Other readings by Bessie Haraden, Stella McRae, Josephine Lothrop, Doris Ames and Ada Payson; solo by Jennie Pietroski.

Rockland High School closes its football season Armistice Day, playing in Bar Harbor. It is not easy to dope out a result through comparative scores, but a fairly good line may be obtained from the fact that Winslow High defeated Bar Harbor High 12 to 6, and won over Rockland High 13 to 12. Bar Harbor is known to have a very rugged line, and an exceptional back field man in Gray, who is a strong, quick kicker. The Rockland boys are in good shape except Duff, who hurt one of his shoulders in the Morse game. In view of the fact that the game will be played on a holiday, it is expected that quite a number of the local fans will follow the Orange and Black team to the summer capital of the Maine coast.

Rummage sale at Odd Fellows hall Tuesday, Nov. 15, doors open at 9 a. d.

Walslow-Holbrook Post, A. L., has two important events this week, the first being the supper and entertainment Thursday night. Chaplain Corwin H. Olds will show motion pictures, and Frank A. Winslow will supplement a portion of his new lecture with a special talk appropriate to Armistice Day. The second event will be the observance of Armistice Day, the full program of which appears elsewhere in this issue. Post Commander Austin P. Brewer asks for a large attendance on each occasion.

Brigadier-General H. Burke Chandler, Department Commander, Madison, Major Ernest C. Bickford, Department Inspector, Colonel T. A. Gilman and Major Ralph Gilman of Waterville, attended the meeting of Canton Lafayette Wednesday night, with Major Bickford inspecting the Canton. Major L. I. Anderson and Captains Herbert Keller and Leon Poland, were present from Canton Molineaux. Other guests present at the Auxiliary meeting were Lady Effie Page, past president, of the Maine Association of Ladies' Auxiliaries and Ladies Gilman and Bickford. A roast beef supper was served by Lady Annie Aylward and committee.

SEED POTATO GROWERS

To Be Represented In Florida By a Maine Potato Expert

John L. Scribner of Orono left Monday for Florida where, for the third successive season, he will represent Maine seed potato growers and shippers in the early potato producing areas, the Maine Development Commission announced today.

Scribner, a potato expert, will promote the sale of Maine seed and will develop new markets for the Maine product throughout the area. In addition, he will act as a good will representative for Maine seed interests.

E. L. Newdick, Plant Division Chief of the Maine Department of Agriculture said that the work is of great importance to Maine growers revealing that other seed producing regions maintain representatives in the south where they compete with Maine for the lucrative seed trade.

Scribner's trip south is made possible, Maine Development Commission officials said, by utilizing part of the legislative appropriation turned over to that organization earmarked for agricultural advertising and promotion. None of his expenses, it was explained, will come from the tax levied on growers by the Potato Tax law.

John L. Scribner of Orono left Monday for Florida where, for the third successive season, he will represent Maine seed potato growers and shippers in the early potato producing areas, the Maine Development Commission announced today.

Scribner, a potato expert, will promote the sale of Maine seed and will develop new markets for the Maine product throughout the area. In addition, he will act as a good will representative for Maine seed interests.

E. L. Newdick, Plant Division Chief of the Maine Department of Agriculture said that the work is of great importance to Maine growers revealing that other seed producing regions maintain representatives in the south where they compete with Maine for the lucrative seed trade.

Golden Wedding Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Winthrop Jordan Whitney celebrated their golden wedding anniversary Sunday, by keeping open house and in the afternoon and evening received many of their relatives and friends. The house decorations were especially lovely and were of pine, blittersweet, Japanese lanterns and chrysanthemums. The centerpiece for the serving table was of white Pompoms in a crystal bowl set on Battenburg lace. Mrs. Whitney cut her bride's cake made and beautifully decorated by Mrs. Percy Moody of Waldoboro. Those who served were Mrs. Rodney E. Feyler and Mrs. Charles M. Starrett, of Thomaston, and Mrs. Helen Cushman and Miss Kathryn Jameson, of Friendship. Mr. and Mrs. Whitney were presented gifts of money, and flowers, and received many cards.

Mr. and Mrs. Whitney, who was the former Miss Lavinia Jameson, of Friendship, were married at the Methodist parsonage, Tottenville, Staten Island, New York, Nov. 6, 1888, by the Rev. Mr. Wiggs. They resided at Prince Bay, Staten Island, for two years while Mr. Whitney was employed in the gold department of the S. S. White dental factory. They then returned to Friendship, their native town, and until a few years ago they occupied the old Jameson homestead, being the fifth generation of direct descent to reside there. For 20 years he was employed as a clerk in the Jameson and Wotton store and was later engaged in scallop fishing. He has served two terms in the State Legislature as a representative. He is a charter member and Past Chancellor of Meduncook Lodge, K. P. Mr. Whitney is a Past Chief of Friendship Temple, P. S.

Mr. and Mrs. Whitney are now 73 and 68 years old, respectively. They have four children: Gertrude Mabel (Mrs. Rodney E. Feyler); Sumner Prince, of Rockland; Leona Marie (Mrs. Charles M. Starrett); Bion Elwood, of Thomaston. They also have four grandchildren: Richard Whitney Feyler, Miss Barbara Frances Feyler and Warren Winthrop Whitney, all of Thomaston, and Mrs. Carleen Davis Littlefield, of Laconia, New Hampshire; and one great-grandchild, Richard T. Feyler, of Thomaston.—Portland Press Herald.

High School Activities (By Marion Wallace)

Plays have been selected for the four one-act play contest between the classes. They are, seniors, "Mrs. O' Leary's Cow;" juniors, "Sow's Ear;" sophomores, "Not Quite Such a Goose;" freshmen, "Christmas Trimmings."

The volley ball series results finds the juniors still in the lead although a tie game was to be played off Thursday with the sophomores to determine if they can be beaten, the results of which were not known at this writing. The game Wednesday between the sophomores and the juniors was considered the most exciting game so far. The first game was won by the juniors. The second game the sophomores did a dandy job in defeating the juniors, 16 to 14 thereby tying the results. Standing of all classes in volley ball, Thursday morning was: Juniors, won 4, lost 0; sophomores, won 2, lost 2, seniors, won 2 and lost 3; freshmen, won 1, and lost 4.

Mr. Kempton introduced a plan Thursday by which the school will be able to raise money for the Student Council. He gave the school several fine points in selling during his address. The High School is divided into two teams with Miss Perry and Miss Goodwin at the head of the "Americans," and Miss Maxey and Mr. Gay leading the "Nationals." Miss Annette team selling the most subscriptions Haskell is the arbitrator. The will not only earn funds for the school, but will be treated on ice cream at Mr. Kempton's expense. Prizes will be given to all pupils selling subscriptions and the school will receive commission from both teams. The contest will end Nov. 16. All subscriptions will be gratefully received.

The sophomore class was sponsor of an enjoyable social recently. A large crowd attended and the event proved a success. Music was furnished by Theodore Silli, Charles Simpson Jr. and Christine Jones. Ice cream and cake were sold at intermission.

The school now has a football, and the boys are enjoying the game 'tag-football.'

HELP STOMACH DIGEST FOOD

Without Laxatives—and You'll Eat Everything from Soup to Nut!
The stomach should digest two pounds of food daily. When you eat heavy, greasy, coarse or rich foods or when you are nervous, hurried or over-fatigued—your stomach pours out too much fluid. Your food doesn't digest and you have gas, heartburn, nausea, pain or sour stomach. You feel poor, sick and tired all over.

Doctors say never take a laxative for stomach trouble. It is dangerous and foolish. It takes those little black tablets called Bile-Sol for indigestion to make the entire stomach fluid harmless, relieve distress in 5 minutes and put you back on your feet. Bile-Sol is so quick it is amazing and one 25c package proves it. Ask for Bile-Sol for indigestion.

Red Cross Seeks Cut In Accident Toll

1,725,406 First Aiders Trained Since 1910

Cognizant of tremendous losses in human lives and of permanent injuries resulting from accidents in homes, on farms and highways, and around industrial plants as well as in the basement workshop, officials of the American Red Cross have been directing a systematic fight against what they term "this economic waste."

As part of this nation-wide effort to reduce deaths and permanent injuries from accidents, a recent statement from Red Cross headquarters in Washington reports that during the past 12 months certificates have been granted to 295,028 persons completing courses in the administration of Red Cross first aid.

Holders of these certificates have followed detailed courses of study, and have been taught how to splint fractured limbs, stop flow of blood, treat poison sufferers, care for victims of heat, electric shock, and handle other common emergency situations. The courses emphasize methods of caring for patients until professional medical aid can be summoned to scenes of accidents.

Since 1910, the report reveals, 1,725,406 persons have received this training from qualified Red Cross instructors, and at the present time 20,429 persons are qualified to give such instruction.

Bringing help nearer scenes of possible accident, 2,454 emergency first aid stations have been established in strategic locations on principal highways throughout the nation, operators of the stations receiving the prescribed Red Cross instructions and maintaining full first aid equipment on the spot. Conveniently placed, they also maintain up-to-date lists of available doctors and ambulance services pledged in advance to cooperate with Red Cross first aiders in preventing deaths and permanent injuries that so frequently result from automobile accidents.

Mobile first aid units also have been established in cooperation with state highway and police departments, operators of public utility vehicles and others frequenting highways, operators of such units also receiving the prescribed Red Cross courses in first aid.

To cut the number of persons losing their lives through drowning while swimming, the Red Cross has redoubled efforts to train as many persons as possible in life saving methods. During the past year 88,150 persons received certificates upon completion of courses. Since 1914, 884,649 persons have been trained in Red Cross life saving methods, including thousands of persons in CCC camps, beach patrolmen, camp instructors, and school boys and girls.

Carrying the fight onto farms and into homes, a campaign to eliminate accidents caused by careless habits and faulty equipment last year resulted in self-checks being made in 10,000,000 American homes through cooperation of children in school, women's clubs, farm organizations, and other groups. The 3,700 Red Cross chapters and their branches in every county are cooperating in this national effort to end needless pain and suffering resulting from such accidents.

These efforts to lessen such appalling tolls of human lives and usefulness are made possible through memberships in the Red Cross. The annual Roll Call will be held between November 11 and Thanksgiving Day, when all Americans are asked to join or renew their affiliation to ensure continuation of accident prevention measures.

A man burst into a crowded railway car. "Has anyone here any whisky? A lady is having a fit in the next coach." A half-pint bottle materialized from somewhere and the man proceeded to drink it. "Thank you," he said, "It always did make me nervous to see a woman in a fit."

The servants on Sir Thomas Lipton's yacht are Cingalese and wear long hair and short kilts—their native dress. Landing with three of them at a French port, he was horrified to overhear a stranger remark:

"That's Tommy Lipton with his three black wives!"

"I'm going to make them grow beards," says Sir Thomas, grimly.

BILLION DOLLAR SHOW!

DRAMATIC and brilliant exhibition, staged by the great Highway Transportation industry will bring thousands of visitors to New York on November 11. On that day, the doors of Commerce Hall, Port Authority Building, the greatest exhibition hall in the metropolis, will be thrown open for the Fifth Annual Motor Truck Show which will continue until November 18.

This giant industry upon which the major portion of the citizens of our country depends for the vital necessities of life and whose gigantic network covers every town and hamlet in our country will, on this occasion, put itself on display to the public it serves so faithfully. On the floors of the vast hall will be shown almost every type of vehicle used in commerce—from those which carry drug store parcels to the huge carriers of milk, coal, lumber and steel. New Diesel and other types of modern power-plant will vie in interest with devices which insure the safety of the vehicle and other users of the road. Safety devices are most important in this great industry which is proud of its record in this respect.

As an educational display on truck transportation and what it means to our existence in no matter what sphere we move, nothing has ever approached it. Students, citizens and thousands of operators of the nations great fleets are expected to attend.

Chevrolet Takes Big Strides Ahead for 1939

New Aero-stream styled bodies combine with major mechanical improvements to provide new beauty, safety, comfort and operating ease, in the 1939 Chevrolets, presented October 22, and featured at the big auto shows this month. The new models are offered on two chassis, the Master De Luxe and the Master 85, both of which are powered with Chevrolet's famous six-cylinder valve-in-head engine.

A new vacuum gear shift mechanism with steering column control, optional on all models at small extra cost, does 80 per cent of the work of shifting gears. The Master De Luxe series features a new riding system, in which a brand new Chevrolet Knee-Action mechanism is scientifically co-ordinated with new ride stabilizer and double-acting hydraulic shock absorbers to furnish a smooth, soft ride.

Central picture is the new Master De Luxe Sport Sedan. Upper right: front end view of the 1939 car; Upper left: Master De Luxe front suspension unit, complete; Lower left: accessibility and finger-tip ease of operation are two major features of Chevrolet's vacuum gear shift with steering column control; Lower right: As the handbrake on all models is re-located under the cowl, front compartment floor is cleared in cars with vacuum gear shift.

Littlefield-Davis
The Baptist Church was the scene of a very pretty fall wedding Saturday afternoon, when Miss Carleen Ada Davis, daughter of Mrs. Bion Whitney of Wadsworth street, became the bride of Wesley Goudy Littlefield, son of Mrs. Wallace Ash-ton Crosby of Alton N. H.

Preceding the double ring ceremony, which was performed by Rev. H. S. Kilborn, of North Weymouth, Mass., Miss Margaret Simmons sang "I Love You Truly" by Carrie Jacobs Bond, and "I Know a Lovely Garden" by D'Hardelot. The wedding march from "Lohengrin" and the Mendelssohn Wedding March were played by Mrs. Grace Strout of Rockland.

The bride wore a white satin princess style gown with long sleeves, a long train and Queen Anne collar of rosepoint lace. Her tulle veil was caught to a cap with seed pearls. She carried a shower bouquet of white roses and sweet peas.

The bride was given in marriage by her step-father, and her only attendant was Miss Harriett Crosby of Bedford Center, N. H. Miss Crosby's dress was raisin taffeta with a hoop skirt, and she wore a doll's hat and carried an old-fashioned bouquet. Paul Pearson of Boston was best man, and the ushers were Miss Faith Hopkins of Melrose, Mass., and Miss Belle Coates and Miss Barbara Feyler of Thomaston.

The bride's mother wore dark red velvet and a corsage of Talisman roses, and Mrs. Crosby, the mother of the groom, wore green velvet and Talisman roses.

A reception was held immediately following the ceremony, at the home of the bride's aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Starrett, Knox street. The caterer was Herbert Hopkins of Melrose, Mass. Miss Kathryn Jameson of Friendship had charge of the gifts.

Mrs. Littlefield's going-away suit was black pencil stripe with teal blue accessories. After a wedding trip to New York city, Mr. and Mrs. Littlefield will be at home at 73 Fenton Ave., Laconia, N. H.

The bride is a graduate of Thomaston High School and attended Burdett College in Boston. The groom was graduated from Alton, N. H., High School, and Northeastern University, and attended the Bentley School of Accounting in Boston. He is a member of Sigma Phi Alpha Fraternity, and is employed at the Federal Savings and Loan Association in Laconia, N. H.

Out of town guests who attended the wedding and reception were Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Crosby, Gilbert W. Crosby, Mrs. Evelyn Elliot, Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Hopkins, Paul Hopkins and Miss Faith Hopkins, Mr. and Mrs. Chester Raymond, Mr. and Mrs. Guy Crosby, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Crosby, Miss Agatha Goudy, and Miss Betty Crosby all of Massachusetts, Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Crosby of Portland, Mrs. William Wincapaw of Staten Island, N. Y., Mr. and Mrs. Sumner Whitney of Rockland, Mr. and Mrs. Winthrop Whitney, Mr. and Mrs. Sherman Jameson and Mrs. Helen Cushman of Friendship, Foster Jameson and son and daughter William and Peggy of Wadsworth, and Mrs. Edward Maloney, Cushing.

It is in loving, not in being loved, the heart is blessed; It is in giving, not in seeking gifts we find our quest.

Whatever be thy longing or thy need, that do thou give, So shalt thy soul be fed and thou indeed shall truly live.

Showing What Is Being Done In Various Government Projects

Works Progress Administration: approximately 500 men have been assigned for the emergency removal of fire hazards in Maine woods, caused by the recent hurricane, while approximately 400 are scheduled for employment on the eradication of gypsy and brown-tail moth egg masses.

Women's and Professional Projects: A very interesting exhibit covering all projects under the direction of Miss Helen Twombly, Director of Women's and Professional Projects, goes on display this week at No. 617 Congress street, Portland. Those interested can get a comprehensive idea of what the so-called "white collar" projects are accomplishing. The arrangement of the details of the exhibit were handled by the Federal Art Project which also contributed pictures and sample murals. Pictures and records of the accomplishments of the Federal Archives Project, the Federal Music Project, the Assessors' Records Project, and the Book-binding Project are on display.

Puppets and pictures of the Federal Theatre Project; books, galley and page proofs of the Federal Writers' Project, and charts, maps and cards of the Veterans' Graves Project are to be seen. The manner in which the blind are assisted by making of books in the braille system is on display. The method of caring for the under-nourished children by furnishing school lunches is shown by pictures and menus; as well as an illustration of the latest fingerprinting methods and the card system being established by the Finger-Printing Project; and samples of clothes made in the sewing rooms for the needy shows the efficient work which that project is doing.

National Youth Administration: The first resident program for young women was approved today, stated Charles G. Hewett, State Director. Nasson College, the only vocational college for women in Maine, will be the co-operating sponsor. The project will provide for not less than 25 girls. Instructions will cover all branches of home economics and the work program will include construction of visual education aids, serving, equipping the home, etc.

For the period ending Oct. 20, 1938, 758 youths were being given project employment. This compares with 769 as of Oct. 6. High School aid is being granted to 901 youths, and college and graduate aid to 400 under this program.

Farm Security Administration: The Farm Security Administration is already making plans and taking applications under the Bankhead-Jones Farm Tenant Program for the coming year. Aroostook and Penobscot Counties are making their selections of eligible applicants, for whom farms will be purchased out of the $22,000 allocated under this Act for the fiscal year July 1, 1938 to June 30, 1939.

Land Utilization Division: By order of the President, approximately 5,600 acres of land in Edmunds, Washington County, has been transferred to the Biological Survey and will become part of the Moosehorn Migratory Bird Refuge, bringing that refuge to over 23,000 acres. It is established, primarily, for the production and preservation of woodcock and also serves as a refuge for ruffed grouse, deer, moose, bear, caribou, rabbits, and fur-bearing animals.

Federal Housing Administration: Co-operative advertising sponsored by firms in the building and allied industries has crystallized interest in the Federal Housing Administration's "Ready for Winter" program in the key cities of the State. Public meetings have already been held in Lewiston and Portland and these are to be followed by like meetings in other of the larger communities. In the smaller communities local committees are handling the "Ready for Winter" program. In the large communities it is being sponsored by Chambers of Commerce.

Civilian Conservation Corps: The 12th enrollment period, Oct. 1, 1938 to March 31, 1939, provides for the operation of 7 C.C.C. camps in Maine. The enrollment of juniors has been closed, stated Charles S. Brown, Supervisor of Selections, 263 of the 1,444 young men seeking admission were accepted. The Public Works Administration: Presidential approval has been given to a grant of $1,309,000 as an aid to financing a highway-railroad bridge between Portsmouth, New Hampshire, and Kittery, Maine. The Reconstruction Finance Corporation will handle the loan portion of the bridge. The estimated cost of the bridge is $2,909,000.

The general relief figures for the month of September, covering 98.7 percent of the total population, showed 9,981 cases representing 39,108 persons receiving aid from the cities, towns and state $204,132 was expended for this relief, of which amount $146,046 was from local funds and the balance $58,086 from State funds. This was an average cost per person of $5.22. As compared to August, the number of cases receiving direct relief increased 45 percent and the amount of money expended increased 107 percent. For the month of September 49 persons out of every 1,000 received assistance from general relief funds.

Married 50 Years

Mr. and Mrs. Austin W. Smith Celebrate the Anniversary Quietly

With characteristic modesty Austin W. Smith went through with routine affairs in the W. H. Glover Co.'s store yesterday, and said nary a word to anyone about it being his golden wedding anniversary. At home, 46 Grace street, there was no departure from the daily customs.

But the secret, if such it may be called, leaked out during the day and many congratulations were showered upon this highly esteemed couple.

Mr. Smith was born in this city Oct. 13, 1868, and Rockland has been home sweet home to him ever since that date. He entered the employ of the Glover Company 53 years ago as a carpenter and jobber and 18 years ago was made clerk of the store, where his courteous treatment of the patrons has made him one of the best known and best liked men on the street. He is banker for the local branch of the Modern Woodmen and an attendant of the Methodist Church. Mrs. Smith was formerly Lizzie B. Chase and is prominent in Methodist circles.

They were married by the late Rev. Charles S. Cummings, and have one son, Arthur, who resides in Portland. A granddaughter, Nathalie, shares largely in the affections of the Smiths.

Mrs. Austin Huntley was hostess last night to Monday Nighters. Awarded prizes were Mrs. William Hooper, Mrs. Arthur Bowley, Mrs. Walter Kimball, Mrs. Forest Hatch, Mrs. Cecil Murphy, and consolation went to Mrs. John Mills.

The Mission Circle of the First Baptist Church will meet tomorrow at 2:30 in the church parlors.

Capt. and Mrs. Herbert Philbrook of Maiden, Mass., are visiting Mrs. Alice Philbrook.

Sam Susan has returned to Boston after spending the weekend at the home of Mrs. A. L. Vose.

The Eugene O'Neils have leased Mrs. C. F. Simmons' apartments, corner of Union street and Talbot avenue, and will take possession at once.

Arthur St. Clair of Lynn, Mass., has been visiting his former home in this city for a few days, and upon his return today was accompanied by his wife.

Mrs. C. F. Simmons leaves tomorrow for Fruitland Park, Fla., where she will spend the winter with Mrs. Eben Alden. Enroute she will spend Thanksgiving with her daughter, Mrs. Wilbert Snow in Middletown, Conn.

Bernard, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clark Staples, celebrated his sixth birthday Saturday afternoon. The afternoon was enjoyed by playing games and eating birthday cake and ice cream. Bernard received many nice gifts. Those present were Betty and Margie Belyea, Lillian and James O'Neil, Sidney, Richard and Barbara Kaler, Joan Pettie, Helen Candage, Richard Patterson and Bradford Turnbull.

Mrs. Walter Weeks returned Saturday from a week's visit with relatives in Stonington.

Charles E. Bicknell, who has been passing a few days here, returned today to Malden, Mass. He was accompanied by his mother, Mrs. Frances B. Bicknell, who will spend a few days in that city.

Mrs. James W. Emery entertained members of the family and friends Friday night at an informal party for Mrs. Faith Callahan and Miss Beulah Callahan who left Saturday for an extended visit with friends and relatives in New York, Washington and Elizabeth City, N. J. Those attending were Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Sylvester, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Hilton and daughter Cynthia, Mrs. James Tolman, and Misses Gladys, Josephine and Mary Tolman, Mrs. Leona Flint, Miss Virginia Flint, Miss Dorothy Thomas, Alden Philbrook, Wendall Blackman, George Cates and Dorothy Sylvester. Games were played and much amusement provoked by impersonations of nationally advertised products.

Character, like charity, begins at home. It cannot be installed by daily spoonfuls of education. Education has its own vital function: to teach thinking. If a by-product of that teaching is fine character, we have been fortunate in receiving extra value.

This And That

By K. S. F.

A Portland lady who was week-ending in Rockland with relatives, said a friend of hers remarked she could not listen to the President's fireside talks as she had no fire-place in her house.

Who saw the moon on Sabbath evening through a pink haze? That made an enchanting picture long to fill memories with joyous praise.

Can anyone remember the hit-or-miss rag carpets? The leaves aground make one think on those days.

Many have taken advantage of the marvelous fall weather for hikes through the woods and lovely fields where they have been repaid by blossoming flowers and glorious health stored for combating winter days to come.

How good the fish and clam chowders taste these cool days! To fully appreciate these rare delights best in Maine, one must be deprived of them for a season. "East, West; Home's Best."

Beavers were extinct in Illinois and wild turkeys in Wisconsin, so the United States Forestry Service engineered a trade-out went a truckload of turkeys for a truckload of beavers and they are both working to the advantage of the two States.

"Will my daughter ever become a good musician, professor?"
Professor: "I can't say. She may. She tell me zat she come of a long-lived family."

Persons who have been away from Rockland for some time and return, find that the city has gained much in permanent beauty. What a fine civic spirit residents have developed and it is good for them all.

It is time to be thinking about appropriate music for Thanksgiving. Rockland once had concerts at this glorious season—festival music to celebrate the love and kindness shed through the year.

There is great effort in the music clubs of the State to lift church and all religious music to a higher level, to use in divine service only those inspired hymns and musical compositions that aid and inspire worshipful thought through the service.

Have you noticed how few horse chestnut trees are left to supply the children with their fun in gathering?

In Finland the women have taken over the profession of dentistry; and they say the campaign to get men to "See your dentist at least twice a year" is needless. They go oftener than that.

A brilliant woman who once lived in the suburb of Rockland in earlier days, tells of school hours being from 9 o'clock in the morning until 4:30 and all through the winter months when they could not see to study, so the teacher had to devise ways to keep up interest in the pupils. One way was for the teacher to write a sentence on a slip of paper and whisper it to a student who in turn whispered it to the next near and thus around the class. The last one wrote what came to him, on the blackboard and this was then read by the teacher to see how it compared with what he had started.

Probably if all the bicycles that go regularly to school could talk, they would have much to say. Almost half the children now ride to school.

What a glorious thing if this city would decide that it needed all the ground from the corner of Union street and Beech street up to White street over to Limerock, down Limerock to Union again; clear it all up, then keep it for a formal park. I feel sure the Episcopal Church would come into this thought with pleasure. Let's get to work and do it.

The Hunter's Inning

Some Highly Interesting Items Are Coming Out of Maine Woods

Due to unseasonably warm weather the deer kill in Maine is below normal to date but this situation should react favorably for hunters from now on. Cold weather is about to set in any time, with snow in the northern counties, and nimrods will find virtually un hunted areas in which to operate under ideal conditions. Not so many out-of-State hunters are here as usual with reservations indicating that they are waiting for a break in the weather.

Samuel S. Jones of 35 Perrell street, Patchogue, L. I., N. Y., took a 200 pound buck near Big Spencer Camps at Flagstaff and got the thrill of his life when he counted 20 points. Oldtimer Flint Johnson said it was the freakiest horn formation he ever saw. Jones' hunting companion Fred Abrams of Bluepoint, L. I., got a nice 8-pointer.

Garbed in vivid red, winter jackets Inland Fish and Game wardens will shortly present an impressive display of what hunters should wear as a precaution against being accidentally shot. Commissioner George J. Stobie said that he had the bright red color adopted so that his wardens could set a good example for hunters as well as for their own protection. As the number of nimrods in the Maine woods increases Stobie's department is more and more stressing safety measures.

Harold MacLauchlan, Islesboro teacher, had an interesting but unwelcome spectator while dressing off a deer in the Oxbow area. Hard at work he heard a hissing and less than 50 feet away sat a large bobcat watching the operation. Two quick shots were not so well aimed and the cat got away.

Richard Niles, Langtown youth, set some kind of record the other day when he got three bear and wounded another with just four shots. Having but a quarter of shells with him Niles used three to drop that many cubs out of a tree and then found the mother facing him. He aimed carefully but only a wound and a fast running bear resulted. Niles collected $60 bounty.

Warden Roy Gray, up in the Dead River section, is having his troubles with hunters who would illegally take advantage of the $20 bear bounty. Eustice and Dallas are bounty towns while a lot of bear are being taken in nearby areas. According to Gray, hunters bring their kill over the boundaries of bounty communities and try to collect the $20. When requested to show the exact spot where they killed the bear and how they did it most of the violators are found out, he said.

Hunters are trying hard to get two prize specimens reported in the Dead River section. Near Big Spencer Camp an all white buck has been seen and a solid black one has been reported by several hunters near Stratton.

A record bear kill has been reported in the Dead River section. Large flights of woodcock are still coming down the Dead River valley and one hunter flushed 75 birds during a morning hunt.

Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Ellinger of New York City came out of Libby's camps in the Oxbow region each with a deer and a bear. Mrs. Ellinger got a 500 pound bear on her second day out.

The greatest game war in history is expected to rage in the southern counties on Armistice Day. It will be the second day of the first five day pheasant open season and everybody and his grandmother plans to try their luck. More than 26,000 birds have been released in a six year propagation program.

Roy Prescott of Island Falls has a crew of hard workers operating in a brook near his home and is glad to feed them with carrots and parsnips. For years Prescott has tried to dam the brook to provide needed water for his farm, without results. A group of beavers showed up the other day and went to work. Encouraging them by cutting branches along the shores of the brook Prescott reports that the beavers are making headway and sees the end of his water supply troubles ahead.

Plenty of deer coming out of the Washington and Hancock county areas.

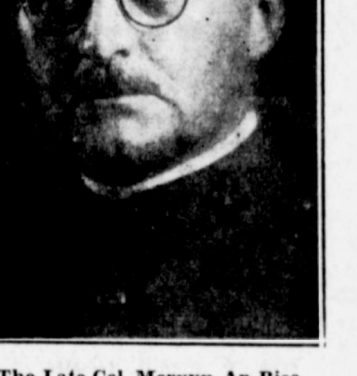

Thankful are we for the thoughts of a friend, Whose smiling lips and tear dimmed eyes, Have made this earth a paradise, And followed our lives to the quiet end.

FRENCH WAR PAINTINGS

To Be Exhibited At St. Peter's Church—Collected By Late Col. Rice

Capt. Keryn Ap Rice has arranged to loan the very fine collection of French war paintings and posters collected during the World War by his father, the late Col. Mervyn Ap Rice to be shown Friday and Saturday in the Undercroft of St. Peter's Episcopal church.

The collection is a large one and includes portrait sketches of military types, battle scenes, and the famous groups known as "Christ on the Battlefield" together with a number of beautiful posters painted by well known artists. This collection was shown just after the World War for the benefit of war orphans.

Col. Rice, who was the son of Albert Smith Rice, of Rockland, and brother of Mrs. Carleton F. Snow, served in the Spanish War in the 1st Maine Infantry. He moved to Montclair, N. J. He entered the World War and rose from the rank of major to colonel in the ordnance department, and was ordnance supply officer of the 2nd Corps, where his duties took him over 35,000 miles of territory in France and for which services he was given the D. S. M. It was on these trips that he collected the pictures to be shown.

The exhibition will be open from 2 until 5 and from 7 until 9 p. m. Friday, Nov. 11, and Saturday, Nov. 12.

Many Ships Coming

Tankers and Cargo Ships In Steady Stream, Thanks To Moran

Beginning the first of January, the 12 tankers now being built for the Government and the Standard Oil Company, will take their trials off Rockland and beginning in May, the 37 cargo ships being built for the Government.

It depends on weather and other conditions of the trials, how long they stay in Rockland. It might be three days and might be a week for each boat Commissioner E. C. Moran, says.

Moran is a member of the Maritime Commission and former Maine Representative. Rockland is his home town, and since the Navy Trial Course is off Rockland, he boosted Rockland for the trial course of Maritime Commission boats when the question arose.

There is no precise way of telling what it means to a town to have the boat trials here, but one local merchant estimated for Moran once that a big battleship trial was worth $100,000 to the vicinity. The Maritime Commission boats are much smaller, of course. The Maritime Commission sets up the regulations for trials of Maritime boats.

The Maritime Commission plans a 10-year program merchant ship-building, with 50 boats a year. This is the first year besides the tankers and the 37 cargo ships to be finished in May, the Commission expects completion of 12 to 13 more this year, to complete the 50-a-year goal.

This 500 boats in 10 years is estimated to cost a billion and a quarter dollars, or more. The Maritime Commission is subsidizing the tankers because they are needed as Navy auxiliary and are meeting Commission specifications. From the Washington Bureau of the Press Herald.

TENANT'S HARBOR DAYS

Editor of The Courier-Gazette:

Fifty years ago Dad was in Boston seeing the sights from Nov. 20 to 30, and sailed on the Str. Penobscot for Rockland. Log: "Very smooth, but weather looks bad" (Capt. Alfred E. Rawley was in training for steam then, but he did not sign up until November, 1891, and did not sign off until December, 1935).

Nov. 25, 1888: "A snow storm this morning; it has stormed hard all day. Snowploughs have been out. At dark it rained as hard as it snowed during the day. Nov. 26: Storm continues. Rained all day. Strong Northeast wind. Several vessels ashore outside of Boston Harbor. It has been a fearful storm for the last two days."

What does The Courier-Gazette files have to show for this storm? I cannot remember anything in regard to it. Whether it reached the Maine coast I do not know. Nov. 27: "Went on board Tug T. J. Yorke (my brother Will was on her). Was out in the harbor several times. A large number of vessels ashore along the coast and several lives lost."

As usual Dad got around to the "hide out" of St. Georges, namely James Bliss & Son, Atlantic avenue. Nov. 22: "After dinner, H. F. Kallio and I went to the 'Battle of Gettysburg.' It was beyond anything that I had conceived. Well worth the money."

I saw it and Dad was right. The Roving Reporter never got around to it, so he could not give it a write-up. Editor Fuller probably saw it. Cyclopedic of Boston 1886—Cyclopedic: 541 Tremont street; on the site formerly occupied by Moody & Sankey Tabernacle. Exhibition of "Battle of Gettysburg." Admission 50 cents. Boze.

Somerville, Mass., Nov. 4.

LARGER TURKEY CROP

Maine Farms Will Send 50,000 Birds To Thanksgiving Tables

The largest and best quality turkey crop in the history of the State is ready to grace the festive Thanksgiving board in 50,000 homes, according to an estimate made by Marketing Chief Charles M. White.

White further stated that although the 1938 crop which is valued at $250,000, is 8000 birds in excess of last year, yet, it will only satisfy a small portion of the holiday appetites here in Maine.

That the turkey industry is on an upward trend was White's belief and he pointed out that the production had more than doubled in the past 10 years. "If this steady growth continues turkey raising will find a place among the leading products of the State," he said.

In describing the average turkey, White said that the birds would weigh around 14 pounds and would bring around 40 cents a pound.

Who Bought Nellie?

Question Asked Most At Jersey Auction—B. H. Nichols the Answer

"There goes my new winter coat." The writer looked in several directions but didn't see anything like a new winter coat. "What do you mean?" says I. "Didn't you see and hear my husband bid $96 for that cow and it was knocked down to him? You don't think we can buy $100 cows and me have a new coat, do you?" was the lady's comment.

It was at the auction sale of Jersey cows at C. C. Goodnow's in Turner. We heard the lady say, "There's my husband across the ring bidding $99 for that cow. Look at his nod his head at the auctioneer and bid $92. He don't nod his head when I say anything about spending money. You can't trust a husband at an auction."

"Who bought Nellie?" was the question asked by those who did not stay all day. No, it wasn't a slave auction. Nellie is the cow that helped make the Goodnow herd famous. She was bought by B. H. Nichols of Union for $205. R. H. Boothby & Sons, Livermore, bought Dot Reddy, a five year old, an excellent cow for $226, the highest price for the day.

Dr. E. E. Bubier of Wilton, well known auctioneer, said the sale went well.

There was a good crowd and auctioneer Harold Boothby of Auburn kept them busy. These were 17 exceptionally good Jersey cows. All the offspring of one famous cow Mr. Goodnow bred years ago.

It also shows what Dairy Herd Improvement work will accomplish. Every cow had a record; the owner told what her milk and butter fat production was from three to five years, and some of them were especially good.

It was an illustration of the difference between a cow being registered and not. One good producing cow went for a fairly good price; a bidder was heard to remark, "I'd give $50 more for her if she was registered or eligible to registry." The registration would not make the cow produce any more milk but her offspring would bring more money. Another bidder when he heard she was not registered quit bidding right away.

Mr. and Mrs. Goodnow are going for a vacation this winter, possibly in Florida, so only a few of the young stock was reserved. "Yes, sir, we are coming back," said Mr. Goodnow, "this is too good a country to leave for good." Mr. Goodnow knows, for he has spent some time in the dairy business, in New Jersey and other sections and he knows about Maine.

He was one of the first men in this State to do cow testing; was a member of the old association in this county. He kept right on testing just the same when the association quit. He joined the present association and he knows its worth. He is one who has practiced pasture improvement that goes along with DHIA work.—Lewiston Sun.

JAMES H. SIMONTON

James H. Simonton, 74, of West Rockport died Oct. 24, a great sufferer to the last. He was born in Camden, son of Joshua and Elizabeth (Rollins) Simonton. The death of his brother Joseph July 20, 1937, was a sad blow to him, and he continued to fail. He was confined to his bed four months, and had the best care possible from his friend Adelaide Prince.

When a young man he was prominent in Rockland as a business man on Main street. When very young, he was employed by Simonton Bros. store for several years. He began the shirt-making business for himself, and employed a great many women in their homes. After a number of years he traveled for Simons, Hatch & Whitten, clothiers; also for Brown Durrell, and several other large clothing houses in Boston, and was considered one of the smartest salesmen on the road. After that, the shirt business seemed to draw him back to Rockland, and he started a small factory, and engaged M. E. Wotton as cutter. Then he branched out and built a factory on Limerock street on the land now owned by Knox Hospital. He employed hundreds of women in the factory and at their homes, and had another factory in Thomaston. He leaves no near relatives, being the last of his family.

True worth is in being, not seeming.

In doing each day that goes by Some little good, not in dreaming Of great things to do by and by. For whatever men say in their blindness.

And spite of the fancies of youth, There's nothing so kingly as kindness And nothing so royal as truth.

Alton Blackington Had 'Em Laughing When He Lectured In Boston

Auburn, Mass., Nov. 4

Editor of The Courier-Gazette:—

Alton Hall Blackington lectured before the Boston Association of Geography Teachers last night at Boston City College. Prof. Leonard O. Packard heads the Geography Department at the college. A former Rockville man who married a Thomaston girl they read my note about Alton in The Courier-Gazette and promptly invited us to be their dinner and lecture guests.

Mr. and Mrs. Dana Webber (Mary Hawes of Union), my sister, Mrs. Maria Kallio and I enjoyed the Packards' hospitality at a delicious dinner, later going into Boston for the lecture.

Alton gave us cordial greetings as we entered and an old-home-group conversation was held. These are very strenuous days for Mr. Blackington and he looked weary but is looking forward to being "down home" Tuesday.

The president of the Association introduced him, and a clapping of hands came from the critical audience. Mr. Blackington talks with such perfect ease he seems to be speaking to each individually rather than lecturing. All too soon the marvelous hurricane pictures came to a close.

"For the Packards and my friends from Knox County I am going to show pictures of Owl's Head and nearby views," said Alton. "Knox County" and friends showed approval by clapping of hands.

Among the Maine pictures were those of a clam-corn-lobster bake. Steam rising from the sea-weed brought in-drawing of breath and "snifflings" of appreciation. A view of four or five cooked lobsters arranged on a pale green tub was shown as the lecturer claimed he had laid those out for himself alone. The audience forgot dignity and emitted sounds of pleasure and of desire for the shellfish.

People were laughing at themselves when a picture was shown after the blackened seaweed was drawn aside to give a view of red lobster, yellow bantam corn and white clams. Sighs for such a feast were heard from all sides and we understood fully why Alton is outstanding as an artist in arrangement and color, or colorful arrangement. Last, a picture indeed—sunset over Ingraham's Hill.

Prolonged applause was followed by the audience going forward to express appreciation of the lecturer and his beautiful pictures. All were saying the Blackington pictures were the finest they had seen. Praise indeed from geography teachers who are accustomed to many fine pictures.

With a few last remarks of pleasure to Alton, we next bade Mr. and Mrs. Packard good night with many thanks for their hospitality. All of us wish we might join you in Rockland Tuesday for the treat in store when you see his pictures and hear our townsman Alton Hall Blackington. E. D. T.

CLEVER EVASION

"When one of my feminine friends asks me how old I am," said the resourceful woman, "I always put the burden of the fib on the questioner."

"How do you mean?" "I just say lightly: 'Oh, I'm a year or two older than you, you know, my dear—at least a year older. Let me see now, how old are you?' And then she always knocks more off my age than I should ever have the courage to do myself."

Course In Fisheries

Com'r Greenleaf Believes Educational Effort Will Help Better Things

Establishment of a course in marine fisheries at the University of Maine was proposed to President Hauck by Sea and Shore Fisheries Commissioner Arthur R. Greenleaf, today. Declaring that the fisheries were a major industry with great possibilities for expansion Greenleaf told President Hauck that he believed they offered opportunities for Maine youths and that young blood was needed in carrying on their development.

He suggested that such a course cover various phases of the industry including production manufacturing and marketing and that it be made available, through an extension plan to fishermen and their families. Stating that Maine must keep up with modern trends if it intends to remain in the fish business Greenleaf said that he believed the state university to be the logical organization to take the leadership in such a movement.

He said that outstanding results were being obtained in the Canadian maritime provinces by work conducted along these lines by St. Francis Xavier University and that fisheries officials there were hailing it as the salvation of the industry. Similar work is also being carried on by a number of state universities with good success, he pointed out.

Declaring that approximately 60,000 persons were dependent upon the Maine fishing industry for a livelihood, Greenleaf said that its rehabilitation and development meant the economic salvation of a large section of the state.

Young men with proper training can make profitable and satisfactory careers for themselves in many branches of the industry he believes, and termed fishing as "a most honorable means of earning a living."

He said that a concerted national drive by fisheries interests was opening up new markets and that increased consumption of fish products would mean business and profits for those who went after them scientifically and progressively.

"We are spending a great deal of money to educate our farmers and have never done anything to help our fishermen to keep abreast of modern trends," he said. Stating that the fishing industry was in a deplorable condition Greenleaf said he believed an educational effort was one way to "help better things." —By Dick Reed of the Maine Development Commission.

WHAT A DRINK WILL DO

May Make a Motorist Cock-Eyed, Yet Be Perfectly Sober

A motorist can be made cock-eyed by a single drink and yet be perfectly sober when examined by a physician, asserts the Better Vision Institute.

Thousands of automobile drivers have eyes that fatigue from long driving, and when fatigued they tend to turn in or out, instead of pointing straight as they normally do when not tired. The images on such over-worked eyes are indistinct and blurred, and the ability to judge distances is impaired.

If an automobile driver with eyes in this tired condition takes a single drink of liquor, he may suffer great impairment of vision, frequently to the extent of seeing blurred, double images. While he may be perfectly sober in every other respect, and would pass the ordinary tests for intoxication given by physicians, still, from a visual standpoint, he would be cock-eyed, says the institute. In that condition he becomes unknowingly a menace on the road.

Twenty-Fifth Anniversary Parcel Post Being Celebrated—A Local Meeting

November, 1938 having been nationally designated as National Parcel Post Month, thereby celebrating the 25th year of parcel post service, the employees of the local post office met at the Federal Building, Thursday night.

The following message from the Postmaster General was read:

"In this, the twenty-fifth, or silver, anniversary year of the establishment of the Parcel Post System, it is entirely fitting and appropriate that we set aside a month for special activity on the part of postmasters and all postal employees in the promotion of wider use of parcel post and its related features, the insurance and collect-on-delivery service. I have accordingly designated November as National Parcel-Post month."

"The postal personnel has always co-operated in a splendid way in matters of this kind, and I urge everyone in our Service, particularly during the month of November, to put forth every possible effort to the end that the advantages of parcel post may be brought to the attention of all of our patrons."

James A. Farley, Postmaster General.

David S. Beach, appointed general chairman by Postmaster E. C. Moran, presided, and appointed the following committees: Publicity, Henry C. Chatto, chairman, J. W. Davis, A. R. Brasier, F. B. Gregory, D. L. Karl; Promotion: L. D. Perry, chairman, A. W. Saunders, C. U. Brown, M. S. Graves, M. F. Ross; window display: J. W. Thurston, chairman, P. M. Pease, E. J. Alden, M. W. Hart, T. E. Perry, W. S. Cross, Parcel Post: R. O. Rackliff, chairman, W. L. Chatto, E. B. Sansom, J. E. Kirk, S. Archer, F. M. Tibbets, R. S. Perry.

Mr. Beach gave a most instructive and profitable history of parcel post, then outlined a plan of bringing before the general public the very interesting features of this branch of the service. A general discussion of local problems found in daily routine work, and suggestions for the betterment of the service followed.

Postmaster A. F. Kelleher of Camden expressed much interest in the apparent enthusiasm of the employees present, making a suggestion that such meetings be held frequently and to include all county offices; this being met with general approval.

Reminiscences of the earlier days of parcel post were given by clerks Donald Karl and Leroy D. Perry. Mr. Karl remembers that the first shipment for delivery in this city consisted of samples of tobacco, and a few boxes or shoes. Mr. Karl, with Fred Derby, now retired carrier, as substitutes were first employees to deliver parcel post in this city, starting out with parcels in a mail bag over their shoulder. In the winter a hand sled was used to convey it to patrons and later a push-cart was used. In twenty-five years the local demand for service has steadily mounted to its present standard, one regular employee being assigned to the delivery of parcel post alone and it is now found necessary to give him substitute assistance, of approximately twenty to thirty hours monthly, to keep deliveries normal.

The window display shortly to be exhibited, will prove of general interest to all patrons. The Postal Service is a publicly owned co-operation of which every citizen is a stockholder. If a deficit results from its operation we are taxed, and if operated with profit our taxes are proportionately decreased.

Red Cross Volunteers Assist War Veterans

Red Cross workers in chapters, in hospitals and on posts of the Army, Navy, Coast Guard, and Marine Corps, assisted 122,355 in active service men or veterans or their families during the past 12 months.

Red Cross service to these men included such personal help as letter-writing, shopping and recreational leadership, but it also included financial assistance to their dependents, help in locating missing members of their families, and assistance in filing necessary applications for pensions, disability pay, hospitalization, or for discharge from active service because of home needs.

The average number of men assisted by Red Cross workers each month was 18,790, according to a recent report.

Red Cross Nurses Aid Million Sick

Red Cross public health nurses made more than one million visits to or on behalf of the sick during the fiscal year 1937-38.

The patients live in mountain communities, on islands off the coast, in isolated swamp regions, and in crowded industrial sections. During the same period the nurses inspected 559,187 school children for health defects in cooperation with local physicians, and gave instructions in home hygiene and care of the sick to 58,754 mothers and young girls.

Furs And Garments

A Government Man Tells of the Care Which Should Be Exercised

The greatest detriments to fur garments or fur trimmings are friction, moths, heat, and light, according to Frank G. Ashbrook, fur specialist of the Bureau of Biological Survey, U. S. Department of Agriculture.

"The wear and continued good appearance of fur on a coat or of a fur coat," he says, "depend on the care that it gets. Any heat, including sunshine draws the oils out of the leather pelt of the fur and makes it hard and dry. Light actually fades dark furs and makes white furs yellow. A fur garment should be cleaned by an expert with equipment for tumbling it in a drum with treated sawdust until it is clean. If the lining is very soiled he takes it out and dry-cleans it separately."

"Moths fly the year round in our modern heated houses. As they seem particularly fond of fur, garments made of it or trimmed with it require constant watching, even in winter when they are in daily use. Occasional brushing and airing will help to dislodge any moth eggs that might be laid in the fur."

"If a fur coat or the fur on a coat gets wet, it should be gently wiped with a Turkish towel along the flow of the fur. Hold it by the hem and shake it well. Hang on a padded hanger in a doorway or somewhere else that has a good circulation of air. Never hang it near a radiator or other heat, or in a very hot room.

"Fur coats sometimes show worn, bare spots on one side where the wearer has always carried a purse. The left sleeve may have such a spot if the wearer drives a car and rests the left arm on the car door. Rubbing on the steering wheel may wear the fur cuffs badly, just as a hat brim that is too long in the back will wear off the fur of a beautiful collar."

WHAT AILED THE PIG

There Was Method In The Madness of the Animal Called Piggy

Editor of The Courier-Gazette:—

The article regarding the "hens getting on their backs to have their feet tied" brought to mind a pig which my mother owned. I remember it was a cunning little piggy, and as my mother always made a pet of any living creature, she named the pig, "Peggy" and used to go to the pen each day and give it a good scratching with a long handled broom.

"Peggy" learned to expect this and would grunt and squeal until she got it. She always fell on her side after one side was scratched for the other to be done likewise. When mother had callers, she delighted in saying, "Oh, you must see what a nice hog we have" and the minute they looked into the pen down would go that hog letting out an awful grunt.

The ones looking in would jump back from the pen and exclaim, "Oh, come here and see what ails this hog."

Mother would have her laugh and then explain.
