WILL OUTLAW WAR

What the President of Rotary International Found Abroad

Back in the United States after two months in Europe, George C. Hager of Chicago, president of Rotary International, voiced the belief that international service organizations can play an important part in developing international understanding.

"From my visits to Rotary clubs in Sweden, Finland, Estonia, Latvia, Lithuania, Poland, Roumania, Bulgaria, Yugoslavia, Hungary, Switzerland, France, Belgium, and England," said Mr. Hager, "I am convinced that the peace of the world is, in the last analysis, in the hands of the individual citizen. The very fact that more than 1,500 Rotarians from 28 different countries met at Stockholm during the darkest days of Europe's recent crisis, and there discussed Rotary aims, one of which is the advancement of international understanding, good will, and peace through a world fellowship of business and professional men united in the ideal of service, indicates that the time will come when war will be outlawed by the citizenry of all nations."

Mr. Hager was decorated with the order of San Sava in Yugoslavia. Mrs. Hager accompanied him on his tour.

LINCOLN COUNTY COURT

Even Indictments Were Found—Sentences Awarded By Justice Beliveau.

In Lincoln County Superior Court Wednesday the following sentences were awarded.

William G. Hodgkins, Jr., 21, of Damariscotta, pleaded guilty to breaking, entering and larceny and was given three to six years in State Prison.

Levi Poore, 57, of Portland, pleading guilty to breaking, entering and larceny, drew six months and sentence was suspended.

Clarence Goulding of Owl's Head pleaded guilty to escape from an officer four years ago when he walked out of the courthouse, and also to old indictments charging breaking, entering and larceny. A sentence of six months was suspended.

Harold D. Barter, 19, alias Harold D. Pushard of Portland, formerly of Wiscasset, pleaded guilty to breaking, entering and larceny and was remanded for sentence.

Other indictments by the grand jury included the following: Ernest W. Newcomb of Boothbay Harbor, larceny and drunken driving; Howard Murphy of Boothbay Harbor and drunken driving; Walter Parkinson of Boothbay, breaking and entering.

The Central Club

Membership List of Popular Organization In the Early Days Of It

Back in the early 80's some of Rockland's leading business men daily climbed three flights of stairs to the cosy rooms occupied by the Central Club, which was organized in 1884 with Frank C. Knight as president, Mayo P. Simonton, vice president and Jarvis C. Perry secretary and treasurer.

This paper is indebted to Rev. E. O. Kenyon for the folder which he ran across recently giving the following list of members:

Only A Test Call

But There Was Lots of Excitement In Scout Circles Yesterday

Promptly at 2 p. m. Armistice Day the diaphone blew 64, the signal for all Scouts to meet at Post Office Square as quickly as possible for its instructions as to the cause of the call.

Two Scoutmasters were in readiness and inside of two minutes after the call eight Scouts had arrived. Twenty minutes later a group of four leaders and 30 Scouts had assembled.

Receiving instructions that a boy had been "lost" and was possibly "injured" in the woods, the group started out, a bicycle patrol going on ahead, the others following at Scouts pace.

At the edge of the woods Scouts spread out to cover as much territory as possible and entered the woods. After about 45 minutes searching, Scout William Hopkins of Troop 2 found Bobby Sprowl, the lost boy, and Linwood Young, his companion, in a thicket. Sprowl said he had fallen, his knee hitting a rock, and guessed his leg was broken.

Scout Hopkins immediately used his whistle and called for help. Scout Milton Roberts and several others were soon on hand and using neckerchiefs and sticks put a splint on the leg while other Scouts improvised a stretcher from branches, sweaters and coats and the injured boy was carried from the woods part way to the road when he told the Scouts it was only a "test call," so he was dumped from the stretcher and given a chance to walk home with the rest.

MISTAKEN FOR RABBIT

John A. Staples of Thomaston Shot Twice—Forrest Newbert Held

To be mistaken for a rabbit is one thing, to be shot at twice, both taking effect, is another. That was the condition John A. Staples of Thomaston found himself in yesterday and he came to Rockland to see what could be done about it.

What really was done was the arraignment before Judge Z. M. Dwinall of Forrest Newbert, the Cushing man who is alleged to have done the shooting.

Newbert, who is 46, claims that he saw something in the woods which he mistook for a rabbit, and blazed away.

Staples claimed that the shot took effect in his back; that he shouted, and another shot came, this one lodging in one of his legs. The bullets were Number Sixes from a double barrel gun.

With the victim at the time of the shooting was Guy Robbins of Thomaston, who testified that he ran into the opening and shouted, and that as he did so Newbert took to his heels.

The shooting was investigated by Lieut. Marks and State Patrolman Roper.

Newbert was held for the February term of Superior Court in the sum of $1000.

WITH COLORS FLYING

Rockland High Drops Game At Bar Harbor—A Gallant Finish

The Bar Harbor football team threw five passes yesterday in the first half of a rugged game between the Bar Harbor and Rockland High Schools. Three were completed for touchdowns; enough to put Rockland's fighting light team behind a little black ball with the numeral 8, commonly called "the eight ball."

Rockland kicked off to Bar Harbor, which proceeded to reel off one first down after another until they got inside the Rockland 10 strip. Here the Rockland line stiffened and held for three downs, only to have Gray of Bar Harbor throw a pass into the end zone for a touchdown. The point after was good, the score was 7 to 0 against Rockland. After another exchange of punts, Bar Harbor passed again for a completion down in the shadow of the Rockland goal posts. M. Smith plunged over after three tries for their second touchdown.

At the beginning of the second quarter, Billings after a seven-yard advance to the Bar Harbor 40 yard line was injured and had to be taken from the game for the rest of the half. With their ace gone the Rockland attack which had just started to flame, stopped like someone had smothered it with a wet blanket. Bar Harbor was able to work the ball down far enough to throw two more passes for touchdowns, making the point after good each time. The half ended with the score Bar Harbor 27, Rockland 0.

The beginning of the second half saw what looked like a new Rockland team come out on the field. Determination was written on their faces and they were not going down without a fight. Billings was injected back in the game for this last half. The Rockland team struck with the force of lightning. The Bar Harbor backs were smothered and pushed back, until at about the middle of the third quarter the aggressive forward wall of Rockland surged in and blocked a punt on the Bar Harbor 20 yard line. Billings made a first down on the Bar Harbor line, then to the five on an off tackle smash. Glover then rushed through his own right guard for the only Rockland touchdown of the game, the point after not being good.

In the last quarter Bar Harbor was again unable to get into Rockland territory, the lighter Rockland team playing smart and hard football. Neither team threatened again until Gray, Bar Harbor commendable back got off a punt to put Rockland back on their own 30 yard line. It was here that Billings started on a left end run, having his way blocked, he switched and started for the other end; time and time again he almost stopped, but each time reversed his field to avoid the Orange horde of tacklers, he was able to carry the ball to the Bar Harbor 34 yard line, a gain of 35 yards. The next play was a completed pass from Billings to Chisholm on the Bar Harbor 12. However, the threat was short-lived as a pass was intercepted after a couple of ground plays failed to gain. Bar Harbor had possession of the ball on their own 23 when the game ended. The score 27 to 6 with Rockland on the short end.

For Rockland, Billings was the main offensive threat, besides making some beautiful tackles on the defense, Mazzeo and Chisholm also played a great defensive game for Rockland, they being the two who were most conspicuous in blocking the punt that led to the Rockland touchdown.

For Bar Harbor, Gray seemed to be the best offensive threat, having

EDITORIAL

Republican victories throughout the country last Tuesday were so overwhelming that no partisan newspaper of the opposite faith has had the temerity to belittle. So tremendous was the tidal wave that the Democrats find practically the only crumb of comfort in the States of New York, Maryland and California.

The defeat of Dewey in New York was a distinct disappointment to the Republicans and independents of that State and to millions who were looking on from the side lines in the other 47 States. The "racket buster" fought against amazing odds in a State which has been accustomed to giving Democratic candidates half a million plurality, and which last Tuesday gave nearly that number to one candidate on that party's ticket. Yet this man Dewey, putting up a fight which scared the Democrats speechless, came within 60,000 votes of winning, and carried all but six of the counties outside of Greater New York. The large cities, congested with some elements not entirely desirable, encompassed the defeat of the man who has been doing such good work to make New York the kind of a State which the country will be proud of when the World's Fair meets there next year.

The splendid work done by the Republicans all over New England fills the disciples of the G.O.P. with an indescribable joy. Of course our eyes were bent principally on the Bay State, where Leverett Saltonstall, the Republican candidate for governor has rolled up such a wonderful majority over James Michael Curley. The attempt of the Democratic boss to stage a comeback was an absolute and utter fizzle. The Republicans wanted above all else to defeat this unsavory candidate, and so apparently did most of the old line Democrats. When night came he hid his head in the sand like unto an ostrich, and stoutly maintained to his stalwart supporters that he was elected. A theory which was accepted only as long as the ginger ale held out. James Michael Curley, from a viewpoint 200 miles distant, has decidedly the appearance of being a deceased duck.

Had the Republican landslide been confined to New England it might have been regarded as just another of those freak things like the recent tropical hurricane. But it swept through such States as New Jersey, Delaware, Pennsylvania, Ohio, Michigan, Kansas, Wisconsin, South Dakota, Minnesota, Idaho and Wyoming with such outstanding majorities as to indicate that the voters of those Commonwealths are sick and weary of extravagance and experimentation. It meant the return of the Republican party to power in Ohio, "the mother of Presidents;" and out in Wisconsin it meant the elimination of the LaFollette element. Bounced from the top wave which he has so long been riding, the disappointed Philip LaFollette lost no time in announcing that he will continue with the organization of his National Progressive Party of America. With him will probably be associated such men as Mayor LaGuardia who rides in o' power on a Republican party and then plays first violin in the Democratic Band.

At the conclusion of events of this sort there is a tendency on the part of many readers to see what "Uncle Dudley" has to say in the Boston Globe, an independent Democratic newspaper. And from his editorial in Thursday's issue we quote:

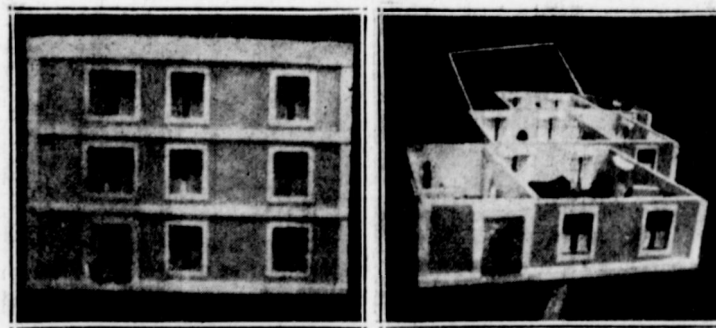

As attention turns from State and local political contests to the national scene, the country realizes that the Republican party has made substantial gains bound to have definite consequences during the next two years. The overthrow of the Progressive dynasty in Wisconsin and the upset of the Farmer-Labor power in Minnesota tend to restore a two-party situation in the areas where third party growth was looked for. What these changes in agricultural sectors of the West, coupled with the recapture of Kansas by the G.O.P. and Republican victories in Michigan and Pennsylvania, clearly imply is rehabilitation of basic Republican strength in the country. Here is the recrudescence of the long familiar farming and industrial combination on which Republicans once thrived. This picture, contemplated by the leaders of the party, is very pleasing to them. However, even after making striking gains in both Senate and House, the party is still very definitely in the minority and has before it an impressive task of converting voters before it can afford to make assumptions about the security of its position.

The election of Dewey in New York State would have meant his advancement to the front as a candidate for the Presidential nomination, as indeed a cool calculation of his splendid fight may still do. Taft's overwhelming victory in Ohio is also likely to make him a conspicuous figure in the next Republican National Convention, and of course there will be Senator Vandenberg, regarded by many as the strongest man in the field. Yet it may be somebody whose name has not yet been placed in the batting order.

THE DOLL APARTMENTS, INC.

Fifteen years ago John L. Beaton, 65 Oliver street, cast about for something to occupy his spare time. Being of a mechanical frame of mind, and scenting a profitable market for his production, he dragged a pile of pine lumber onto one of his wife's best carpets and proceeded to make a doll house of the apartment type. It was acclaimed with so much satisfaction that each winter finds himself similarly engaged and each spring minus a doll house, for each creation falls into the hands of some lucky person along toward Christmas.

What these houses are like anyone can see by looking into the northern display window of the V. F. Studley furniture store next south of the New Hotel Rockland.

A farewell party for Mr. and Mrs. Harold Glidden who will make their residence in Calais in the near future was given at the Sidney Cullen cottage, Cooper's Beach Thursday night. A miscellaneous shower of presents went to Marjorie and a hand tooled leather bill fold to Harold. Refreshments were served. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Harold Glidden, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Green, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Hoch, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Pendleton and daughter Jane, Mr. and Mrs. S. T. Constantine, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Rollins, Mrs. Mildred Haver, Mrs. Lillian Joyce, Mrs. Eleanor Libby, Miss Gladys Grant, Sidney Cullen, Howard Grover and Roy Joyce.

"The Black Cat"

By The Roving Reporter

Another old paper comes to light—the Camden Herald of Oct. 20, 1882, brought in by Henry H. Payson. The late Wilder W. Perry had just assumed the editorial management. Among the Camden advertisers of that period were the Boston Store, Hodgman & Co., B. F. Adams and E. C. Daniels. The Rockland firms, Simonton Bros. and Fuller & Cobb carried large "ads."

The Florida exhibit at the New York World's Fair 1939 is to occupy an area of two and a half acres on the west shore of Fountain Lake, near its head, and is expected to spend a minimum of $250,000 on its elaborate presentation. Its chief display is to be of its citrus industry, showing the growing, picking and packing of its fruit crops.

The other day I made a reference to "boxing the compass" and some member of the new generation wanted to know what that was all about. Ask some old sea captain and he will rattle it off this wise: North, nor' by east, nor'-nor-east, nor'-east by north, northeast, nor'-east by east, east-nor'-east, east by north, east, east by south, east-southeast, southeast by east, southeast, south-southeast, south-south-east, south by east, south, south by west, south-southwest, south-south-west, southwest by west, west-southwest, west by south, west, west by north, west-nor'-west, nor'-west by west, nor'-west, nor'-west by north, nor'-west, nor' by west, north.

One broadcaster yesterday called that French port "Mar-say-yay," and he can't be blamed for trying. No such excuse for the other who said "skyon" for "scion"—Boston Globe. Mispronounced words, as heard from the lips of radio announcers are legion, and the marvel is how they ever qualify for broadcasting service. And I have never been able to understand why practically all of the announcers say "sched-ul" My dictionary doesn't read that way.

Prize bulls are to be on display as part of one exhibit at the New York World's Fair 1939. They will be shown in a ring by means of a "bull exerciser," a contraption which looks like the skeleton of an umbrella. A bull is attached to the end of each of the five arms and as the device goes around, so must the bull. It may be rather monotonous, but it's exercise just the same.

A Thomaston wag once advertised in a magazine that for $1 he would furnish information how to keep a horse from drooling. Somebody parted with a dollar and received this instruction: "To keep a horse from drooling teach him how to spit." If this story is true, and it must be because Sheriff Ludwick told it to me, it might have come under the offense "cheating by false pretences," but after all it was not quite so bad as some pre-election promises.

Down from the upper regions of Knox County, comes the story of an attempted hold-up which appears to have had an anti-climax. Some men engaged in the indoor national pastime known as poker were much absorbed in their play when the door suddenly swung open and a stranger discharged a revolver in the general direction of the floor. The players, failing to note any bullet holes in the floor seized the intruder and hurried him out into the cold cruel world. The sensational part of the story is that anybody in Union should be playing such a week-end game as poker.

Tuesday's elections certainly furnished a good "build-up" for the Presidential skirmish in 1940.

One year ago: Walter H. Butler square at the Northend was dedicated by Winslow-Holbrook Post, A. L. with eulogy by Past Department Commander H. G. Staples. The grand jury returned 26 indictments—Three hundred couples attended the Rockland Armistice ball.—The arrival of Thomaston's new fire engine was celebrated with a banquet.

At The High School

(By The Pupils)

Buddy Chisholm, Donald Cates, Austin Billings, and Owen Allen accompanied Mr. and Mrs. Matheson to Colby College recently to see "Chuck" Taylor of basketball fame give a demonstration of shooting, passing and defensive and offensive maneuvers. Some of the things he stressed were keeping eye on the basket, getting rid of the ball quickly, holding ball in finger tips only, not to save energy but to play just as hard in practice as one would in a game, harder if possible.—Owen Allen.

The repair class in the manual training department has just finished a "bucking machine," to be used in football. The line will charge this machine and force it down the field as they would an opposing team. This class has also completed a ping pong table to be used in the physical education classes.

No boy wants to be a "sissy." No fellow wants his mother to fight his battles for him—and when she does—well she's building up to first class front-page news. "Apron-String Revolt," the title of this year's senior class play. Parts have been assigned tentatively to Katherine Rice, Felice Perry, Maxine Perry, Jean Clukey, Inez Bowley, Patricia Hall, Joseph Dondis, George Robishaw Harold Dondis, James Jordan, James Hamilton, Ralph Cowan, and William Weed. This 3-act comedy is directed by Mr. Smith and will be presented Dec. 8 and 9—J. Clukey.

The regular meeting of Troop 203 was opened Monday night. Games were played until 7:30, when patrol meetings were held. The inspection was won by the Pioneer Patrol. The members of this patrol did the largest number of good turns last week. The regular test passing classes were held. Alaric Pearson and Russell Smith were visitors. Albert Burpee was elected as a member of the troop. The troop was invited to march on Armistice Day. The meeting was closed at 9 p. m. by giving the scout oath, and taps by the bugler.—Charles Libby, scribe.

A very enjoyable evening was spent Monday when the Girls' Athletic Association tendered a reception to its new members. The newly elected officers were initiated by candlelight, nearly 200 girls, who signed the membership book. A speech was made by President Inez Bowley and the constitution was read by secretary Byrnie Havener. Other officers are vice president, Edith Gray; treasurer, Katherine Delano; and representatives Barbara Murray and Victoria Anastasia. Refreshments of sandwiches, cakes, brownies, punch, and fudge were served.—Victoria Anastasia.

Girls out for basketball this year are I. Thompson, G. Norton, E. Gray, V. Rackliffe, N. Edwards, D. Black, B. Bodman, K. Delano, L. Cuccinello, L. Smith, V. Barlow, E. Breen, S. Hayes, B. Anastasia, E. Marston, and S. Webster. The group will be chaperoned by Miss Haskell.

In Miss Haskell's geography class, excellent booklets have been made on the study of Fresh Fruits and Vegetables. Outstanding ones have been passed in by Kathryn Dean, Belva Robishaw, Kathleen Dean, Linnie Rivers, Athlene Tibbets, Dorothy Black, and Barbara Bodman.—B. Bodman.

Margaret Kneeland has just completed her six weeks of student teaching in the Home Economics Department and has returned to resume her work at Farmington State Normal School.

Harriet Wooster has been secretary to Principal Blaisdell this week.

Office boys this week are Carl Rogers, James Munsey, James Thomas, George Staples, Alvah Fitzgerald, Russell Smith, Robert Cross, and Charles Nystrom.

Miss Steele and Miss Hathaway retested ears and eyes Tuesday; also pupils who had been absent at the previous examination. They were assisted by Ione Louraine and Erleen Cates.

H. A. Buffum loaned some German and French money to the Junior Business Training classes, to use when studying "Money—what it is." Also Mrs. Matheson loaned some English and French coins.

Hester Hatch, a freshman at Colby, was a caller at the school Monday.

An entertaining program was presented at Wednesday's Junior High assembly by Miss Woodcock's room: devotions; flag salute; "America the Beautiful," school piano solo, Elaine Poust; play, "Lest We Forget," scene 1 "Gloria," Ruth McMahon; "Marie," the maid, Rita Lynch; "Mrs. Jameson," Gloria's mother, Lillian Johnson; "Spirit of Thanks," Onni Kangas; "Spirit of Giving," Robert Paul; "Spirit of Selfishness," Albert Hall; scene 2, "Nancy," Esther Munro; "James," Robert Jones; "Madeline," Elizabeth Haskell; "Mrs. Phelps," Mildred Harvey; "Mr. Phelps," Osmond Palmer; "Doctor," Francis Haraden; piano solos, Byron Keene and Martha Leeman; harmonica solo, Osmond Palmer; tap dance, Charlotte and Veronica Murphy; solo, "Lambeth Walk," Pauline Havener; tap dance, Joan Look; song "Girl in a Bonnet of Blue," Clara Hallowell, Betty Holmes, Elaine Poust, Christine Newhall, and Pauline Havener; dance, Barbara Kennedy; and piano solo, Betty Holmes. Announcer, Ronald Packard.

First quarterly examinations will be given next week.

Boy Scout Troop 203 will be hosts at a social given next Friday evening, with Mr. Chick in charge.

"The 80 Years," a talking movie by Borden Milk Company was shown at Tuesday's assembly. It not only showed the history of the canned milk industry, but presented important events in the history of the world for the last 80 years such as electricity, invention of the telephone, automobile and typewriter. This was shown to the Junior High and sixth grade, Wednesday.

The parents of Senior High School pupils are cordially invited to attend the evening session of school on Monday Nov. 14 from 7 to 9:15. An assembly program, "For the Glory of Tech," will be presented at 7 o'clock in the auditorium by the Sophomore Speech Classes under the direction of Submaster Alliston E. Smith. This activity will be followed by three 30 minute recitation periods. Each visitor will be asked to register at the door for his favorite class.

The Junior High School faculty invite the parents to attend the evening session of school next Tuesday, Nov. 15, from 7 to 9:15. Miss Browne will present her pupils in an interesting assembly program entitled "Flags of South America." After the assembly there will be three 30 minute recitation periods.

Rockland's six-man football team played Camden at Community Park, Saturday morning. Our boys played a fine game, but they were out-weighted by at least twenty pounds per man. The score was Camden 32-Rockland 14. Although Rockland hasn't had very good luck in sixman football, they have tried to do their best, but seem always to be outclassed by larger boys. These boys played: Bertram Snow, Clarence Butler, John Storer, Donald Cates, Christy Adams, Albert Winchenbach, Jack Wood, Robert Chisholm, James Moulaison, Robert Ulmer, Elmer Small, Fred Small, and Charles Call.—Richard S. Brown.

Jeffery Lynn, star in "The Four Daughters" shown this week at Strand, was a college mate of Mr. Topping at Bates. His name when there was Ragnar Lind.

The third issue of the Highgate came out Thursday. A column on Book Reviews is especially good.

In company with Supt. Frank Rowe, Principal Blaisdell attended Principals' and Superintendents' Day at Gorham Normal School Tuesday. They visited classes in the morning, had luncheon with the Rockland delegation there, and listened to an assembly program in the afternoon. The Rockland delegation is comprised of Catherine Chisholm, Maize Joy, Fern Brown, Rose Flanagan, Mary Dodge, Laroy Brown, and Malissa Bostick.

GRANGE MATTERS

New Freight Rates Near
Eastern railroads have filed with the Interstate Commerce Commission new freight schedules, reducing rates on grain from the interior to the Atlantic seaboard when shipments are destined for export. The new rates will become effective on Oct. 28. The new rate is 17½ cents per 100 pounds from Chicago and related points to New York and Boston, and 16 cents to Baltimore, Hampton Roads and Philadelphia, which represents in each case a reduction of six cents per 100 pounds. Commodities affected are wheat, corn, oats and rye.

Wheat Insurance Called For
A total of 260,000 farmers have made application for wheat crop insurance for next year. Two hundred thousand of these applications came from the winter wheat belt, while the other 60,000 came from the spring wheat areas. Secretary of Agriculture Wallace is known to be favorable to the idea of extending crop insurance to the cotton farmers, which would require an amendment to the present law.

Rural Electrification
During the first three months of the fiscal year beginning July 1, the Rural Electrification Administration allotted $51,841,700 for projects that are under construction throughout the country. This brings the total allotments since the establishment of the REA to $139,621,645. These allotments are in the form of loans that are repayable in 20 years. The present rate of interest on these loans is 2.28 per cent which is the average rate that the government pays on its 10-year bonds.

Houses for Everybody
More than $100,000,000 of new business has been recorded by the Federal Housing Administration since the amended National Housing Act was signed by President Roosevelt on February 3. Under this legislation the government will insure up to 90 per cent the mortgages on homes costing $6000 or less.

Motion Picture Suits
The Department of Justice recently filed suit in the United States district court in New York City against the "Big Eight," motion picture corporations and asked that they be declared unlawful, as a monopoly in the restraint of trade, and violative of the Sherman Anti-Trust law.

Increased Wages Demanded
President Roosevelt has been asked to increase WPA wages in Ohio, Wisconsin, Michigan and Indiana to 75 cents an hour. A delegation from WPA departments of United Automobile Workers from the states named headed by Paul Silver, recently called at the White House to present this demand. The WPA workers further urged that they be permitted to work 120 hours a month, which at the rate of 75 cents would give them approximately $90 a month.

Debt Still Going Up
According to a Treasury statement issued on Sept. 26, the national debt has reached an all-time high of $38,394,000,000. If the bonded debts of the states and their minor sub-divisions be added to the national debt, it gives us a total close to $60,000,000,000. What was it that George Washington said in his Farewell Address about "cherishing public credit?"

Farm Income Falling
The bureau of agricultural economics has issued an official forecast, indicating that the total farm income for 1938 will be $5,500,000,000. This represents a drop of 12 per cent from the figures for last year. Prior to the collapse of 1929, the annual farm income was about $12,000,000,000.

Courage Is Needed
Skepticism is being expressed in many quarters as to whether the anti-monopoly investigators at Washington will have the courage to take up the subject of the alleged collusion between labor and the construction industry, with reference to wages and price policies.

A New Wheat Record
During the month of August the railroads of the spring wheat area moved more than 41,000,000 bushels of wheat to Minneapolis. This was an all-time record for the month and was the largest for any single month in 14 years.

The Story of OD and AD and the AUTOMOBILE

OD and AD were machinists many years ago. One day, at a fair, they saw a buggy with an engine in it. They saw many ways to improve it, and each decided to build an automobile. But when it came time to sell their first cars, OD and AD had different ideas.

How OD Tried to Sell His First Automobile

OD invited all his friends and neighbors to his house. He drove his automobile around the block and gave them a ride. They were thrilled. They wanted to buy it. But when they learned that it cost $3,000, not one of OD's friends could pay such a high price.

How AD Sold 10 Automobiles

AD had also spent nearly $3,000 in building his first car. He knew that only a few people could afford so high a price, and to find them he must show his car to a great many. So he advertised that he would demonstrate his car the following Saturday afternoon. People came from miles around. AD ran his car up and down the street. Afterward, ten men wanted it. AD told them that by making ten cars he could cut costs and reduce his price to $2,500. So he hired several men, rented a building, and started making more and better automobiles.

How OD Finally Sold a Car

OD heard that AD had sold ten cars, so he decided to try again. When his second car was finished, it had cost him almost as much as the first. He showed it to as many people as he could see and after a long time sold it for just about what it had cost him. In the next five years OD built several more automobiles, but always by the time his cars were finished AD was making better cars for lower prices.

How AD Sold 10,000 Automobiles

AD decided that if he could make cars by the hundreds, he could lower the cost and add still more improvements. So he appointed agents and advertised in other cities. In this way he was able to tell the story of his car to thousands and thousands of people neither he nor his agents had ever seen. The more agents he appointed, and the more he advertised, the more people came in to try his car, and the more cars he sold. And the more cars he built, the better he built them, and the less they cost.

By 1911, AD was making such a good car for $1,500 that he sold 10,000 that year.

Why OD Gave Up Trying to Sell Automobiles

OD now saw that he could not possibly make cars at low cost by building only a few each year. Nor could he sell enough to make more by telling people about them one at a time. So he decided to go back to work as a mechanic. He applied at AD's factory and was promptly employed.

How AD Sold Millions of Automobiles

AD now realized that there were millions of people who would buy his automobiles if the prices were only lower. He also knew that if he could build hundreds of thousands of cars a year, he could make them better and at less cost. So he enlarged his factory, employed more men, and advertised to millions of people all over the country. By 1921, he was making a fine-looking car with a six-cylinder motor and a self-starter. And the price had been reduced to $1,000. AD's profit per car was now very small. But he sold so many cars that his business was successful. And, as prices became lower and lower, millions of people who had never dreamed they could afford automobiles were able to own and enjoy them.

By 1938, AD was making the best and finest looking car he had ever built—and the price was only $750.

AD Tells OD How It Came About That So Many Families Now Have Automobiles

ONE DAY OD went into AD's office at the factory. OD said, "Remember the time we saw the horseless carriage at the fair? Who would have believed that in 30 years almost every family would have an automobile!"

AD said, "It never would have been possible without advertising. All the advances in manufacturing would have been futile without advertising to tell the story. As it helped us to sell more and more cars, we were able to make them still better and sell them at lower prices. As a result, the advantages of an automobile are now enjoyed by people of small means just as they are by the well-to-do."

"But you spend millions for advertising," said OD. "Yes," said AD. "But we sell so many cars that our advertising costs only about $15 per car. That is not much when you remember that in 30 years the average price of a car has been reduced by more than $1,500. So, advertising has really helped to reduce prices and year after year has helped make it possible for millions of people to have better cars for less money."

(Car prices given above for 1911, 1921, and 1938 are the approximate average of new car prices in those years.)

Important business is scheduled for next Monday night's meeting of the Elks. The December meeting of Rockland Lodge will be held on Tuesday night, the 13th, in order to give the members an opportunity to attend the meeting of the Lewiston lodge which will be having an official visitation Monday night.

The sermons to be given at the First Baptist Church during the next three weeks are to deal in a very practical way with applied Christianity. A special subject will be dealt with in the sermon, then all will be urged to go out and practice it during the week. The following weeks will be observed: "Anti-Gossip Week," Nov. 13-19; "Anti-Grumble Week," Nov. 20-26; "Anti-Grudge Week," Nov. 27-Dec. 3. These services will be held at 10.30, and the triple quartet will furnish the special music.

The meeting of the Maine Municipal Association in Augusta Wednesday was attended by City Treasurer C. H. Morey, Tax Collector Carl Nelson, Overseer of the Poor Louis A. Walker, Auditor Jesse E. Bradstreet and A. J. Bird of the tax collecting department. They were much impressed by what they learned about some other towns—Mexico for instance. The tax rate there is 74 mills. The tax on cabinet radio sets is $3.70 as compared with $1.68 in Rockland, and the tax on table models in Mexico is $1.85 as compared with 72 cents in Rockland. The tax rate in the adjoining town of Rumford is 68 mills. Rockland's a pretty good place to live in.

When Adriel U. Bird placed insurance on his numerous places of business in Massachusetts, he was advised by friends with him at the time, not to load up with hurricane and flood insurance. But the shrewd proprietor of many mercantile establishments had ideas of his own on that subject. "Costs only a little more," said he; "guess I'll play." And now he is recovering for the damage visited upon eight of his stores in the recent disaster.

An exceptionally large attendance marked Thursday night's meeting of Winslow-Holbrook Post, members of the Auxiliary and Sons of the American Legion also being in attendance upon the excellent meat-pie supper and the subsequent proceedings. The Legion Orchestra were liberal with selections. Commander Brewer reporting 210 paid memberships, was glad to greet a member who had not previously been identified with the Post. Mrs. Libby, president of the Auxiliary reported 22 paid members. Frank A. Winslow, guest speaker, gave extracts from his new lecture, "The Children of Calander," and described for the benefit of the Legionnaires, how the news of the signing of the Armistice was received here. Rev. C. H. Olds presented some highly interesting motion pictures of the encampment of the 152d Field Artillery, which Supt. George J. Cumming and he attended as members. "Stills" on interesting subjects completed the entertainment.

The October issue of Telephone Topics is notable because it gives a profusely illustrated account of what the telephone linesmen did toward restoring order from the chaos created by the tropical hurricane. The foreword is in the form of a letter of thanks to these devoted workers from President J. J. Robinson, president of the telephone company. Through the thoughtfulness of Thomas C. Stone, manager of the Rockland-Belfast District, a considerable number of copies has been distributed in this locality.

Alumni of the Good Will Homes and Schools in Hineckley who are living in Maine will gather Friday night, Nov. 18, at 6.30 o'clock at the Sixth Street Congregational Church in Auburn, for a reunion dinner under the auspices of the Maine Association of Former Good Will Boys and Girls. The singing of Good Will songs, the election of officers for the ensuing year, and short entertainment will round out the evening. Some announcements will be made at the dinner concerning the celebration of the 50th anniversary of the Good Will Homes and Schools next summer from July 27 to July 30.

The Armistice Day exercises, planned by Winslow-Holbrook Post, were carried out to the letter yesterday, under the favorable conditions of a rare November day. A large crowd turned out to see the parade, which was under the direction of Col. Ralph W. Brown as grand marshal. The objectives of the procession were Winslow-Holbrook Square at the corner of Park and Main streets, and Walter H. Butler square at the corner of Maverick street and Broadway, where re-dedication exercises were impressively conducted by Commander Austin P. Brewer with Rev. H. R. Winchenbaugh acting as chaplain in the absence of Chaplain C. H. Olds. In the evening the scene shifted to the Community Building where beano and dancing furnished entertainment until a late hour.

SERMONETTE

Abiding Peace IV.

Much happened on this last Thursday which has been rightly termed "the day of fellowship" but we have been considering the final and somewhat extended conversation with the disciples, and now we stop for the solemn summation.

It was all because Jesus was going away finally and forever from these men He had chosen. "I go unto Him that sent me, and none of you have asked me, 'Whither goest thou?'" and because I have thus spoken sorrow hath filled your heart. It is expedient that I go away: for if I go not away the Comforter will not come unto you. If I go I will send him. Ye now have sorrow but I will see you again and your heart shall rejoice. If ye shall ask anything of the Father, he will give it to you in my name. Hitherto have ye asked nothing in my name; ask and ye shall receive, that your joy may be full. These things I have spoken unto you that in me ye may have peace.

Here we have the whole, heart to heart, talk of Jesus spoken into the ears of His disciples, for their comfort; but as we now know directed into our own souls as well. The vine and branches; abiding love; abiding hate and finally abiding peace; and the crux of it all, this summation, "In the world ye have tribulation; but be of good cheer; I have overcome the world."

William A. Holman

At St. Peter's Church (Episcopal) Rev. E. O. Kenyon, rector, the services for tomorrow will be appropriate for the 22d Sunday after Trinity: Matins at 7.10; Holy Communion at 7.30; church school at 9.30; Holy Eucharist and sermon at 10.30; Vespers omitted.

Slaughter Is On Pheasants Have Become Legitimate Prey For Man With Gun

The greatest game hunt in Maine history started Thursday morning when nimrods could legally shoot pheasants in all but a few sections of the six counties of Knox, Waldo, Lincoln, York, Cumberland and Sagadahoc. Most of the 27,000 birds raised by the Department of Inland Fish and Game in a six-year propagation program have been released in these areas and from all indications a record number of hunters will go after them.

Shooting was to continue five days, not including Sunday. The kill will be limited to two birds per person a day and not more than four for the entire season. Either hens or cocks may be taken. In declaring the open season Inland Fish and Game Commissioner George J. Stobie said that it was granted largely for the purpose of checking the results of the propagation project and he requested all hunters to report their kill to his organization. From these reports Stobie expects to receive valuable information that will guide his department in future pheasant propagation activity.

Several areas in four of the open counties will remain closed. In Lincoln the towns of Boothbay, Boothbay Harbor and Southport remain closed while in Knox the residential section of West Rockport and the area east of No. 1 highway from the Rockport bridge to the junction of No. 1 highway and Bay View street in Camden will also be barred to hunters. These areas are closed at the request of individuals who have co-operated in raising and liberating the birds and do not feel that they are sufficiently plentiful to permit hunting, according to Stobie.

The birds appear to be plentiful in all open sections and a large kill is expected. Although they seem to be tame, officials say that they will make deceptive targets. Close shooting guns and number six shot are advocated. Long tails on the birds will frequently cause hunters to undershoot, it was said.

Pheasants were first introduced in Maine in 1933. The department of Inland Fish and Game launched the propagation program to provide another game bird for sportsmen. Except for some work by individuals using eggs supplied by the game farm the entire expense of the project has been defrayed by income from hunting licenses. Aided by two mild winters in a row the birds have apparently bred well and increased. Wardens have reported large flocks of chicks in many areas and more birds are being seen.

Each bird has been banded when released. By reporting to the Fish and Game department hunters will help make a definite check on this interesting and important project. Stobie said that his department had received both compliments and criticism and that he hoped the open season would clarify the situation.

Although he would make no estimate as to the kill he predicted that it would be "reasonably large" with hunters finding the birds "more elusive and sporty than they expected."—By Dick Reed, Maine Development Commission.

Surprise Visitors Dropped In On Mr. and Mrs. Augustus Dolliver

Ten designing women invaded the beautiful town of Owl's Head Wednesday at noon, descending upon the charming home of Mr. and Mrs. Augustus Dolliver with whom they took dinner. Their nefarious scheme was not apparent until the unsuspecting hostess left the dining room momentarily and upon her return found her place heaped with gifts, commemorating her 34th wedding anniversary. Felicitations and good wishes were followed by an afternoon of sewing and sociability.

At supper time five more celebrants joined the happy group and the whole cheery performance was gone through with again. The guests included Mrs. Edith Tweedie Alvera and May Gregory, Herman and Thelma Stanley, Robert and Louise Gregory, Mrs. Ida Simmons, Mrs. Minnie Cross, Mrs. Vesta Stewart, Mrs. Margaret Philbrook, Russell and Lucy Stewart and Mrs. Lelia Worrey.

"BOZE" IS PLEASED Believes That Brother Mason Will Yet Be Elected Governor

Editor of The Courier-Gazette:— In regard to the Massachusetts election of 1938: Lieut. Governor-elect Hon. Horace T. Cahill is a past master of my mother lodge, Joseph Warren F.A.M. of Boston. When he was elected a member of this association April 7, 1933, he was a member of the Court of Massachusetts.

I predicted when he was given the right hand of fellowship that some day in the future it would be His Excellency, Horace T. Cahill of Massachusetts. In January 1937 he was elected Speaker of the House; in November 1938 he was elected Lieutenant-Governor.

As he is only 44, a self-made man, a tireless worker, a man of integrity who knows the needs of this grand Old Commonwealth, my prediction may yet come true. Anyway, my wish is father to the thought.

EYE OPENER! With all its extra value, this Buick sedan lists at $51 less than last year!

IT makes the eye glad and grateful—you spot that the instant your gaze takes in this sparkling Buick for 1939. It's sleek and swift and businesslike, lean and clean in every line, the trim bonnet low-set, the graceful upper-structure light-and-airy looking, neat and fine. Will you step in, please, and look it over? Why, it's almost like being in an open car, with the outlook you've got here! The long nose tapers quickly out of eye-way, the pillars modestly retire to the background, overhead stop lights drop into easy vision—ahead, to right, to left, you can see! The ruler will tell you there are as much as 413 added square inches of safety plate glass in this Buick, and these inches are placed where they count.

It has a lot to do with making Buick beautiful, this grand expanse of openness! And like "catwalk-cooling": radiators low where air pressure is greatest—and the lines of the bonnet: broad, clean, aerodynamically better—Buick's stepped-up visibility both sets a pattern and fills a function. So take a good look into its bigger, better, broader outlook. It's one thing among many that Buick's got that you'll want in your next automobile.

"ALL THIS AND HEAVEN TOO"

Reviewing Rachel Field's Finest Book—"Falls Short," a Critic Thinks

Certain to occupy a prominent place in "the best sellers" and "What America is reading", is "All This and Heaven Too" by Rachel Field (Macmillan). This story, based on truth that is stranger than fiction, combines the drama of one of the most notorious murder cases in France with a period of American history covering the New England and New York of 1850 to 1875. The heroine, Henriette Deluzy-Desportes, a woman of rare gifts, fortitude and magnetism, lived as governess in the ill-fated household of and Duc and Duchesse de Praslin, and became unwittingly the pivot about which that famous crime revolved. In 1847 she faced a hostile police, pleading her own case before the Chancellor of France in the murder trial that was the sensation of two continents and helped a French King from the throne. It is, in fact, the story of Rachel Field's own great-aunt for after winning her freedom, Henriette took refuge in America where she married the youngest of four famous brothers, Henry M. Field, preacher, editor and writer.

While great-aunt Henriette was known only as a legend, Miss Field, with the aid of some of the possessions that had come down to her when a child—family papers, official documents on the murder case, old newspapers, histories, and stories left by Henriette's contemporaries—has produced a breath-taking story. It bears such a tang of truth, that it is difficult at times to realize that the meager historical facts have been built up by rumor and imagination.

"All This and Heaven Too" cannot be likened to "Time Out of Mind"—Miss Field's finest book thus far—although it bears the same charm and spontaneity of writing. Miss Field makes her characters real flesh and blood; they live and move as we see them. Again she displays her canniness in brief description, and from cover to cover she shows herself a master in holding the thread of suspense. One would think perhaps that the movement of the story might slow down when transferred from France to New England. But not so. Even when Henriette becomes Mrs. Henry M. Field and settles down to the duties of a preacher's wife, there is a certain exciting element pervading the scene. Some reviewers have taken exceptions to the introduction of such figures as William Cullen Bryant, Harriet Beecher Stowe, Peter Cooper, Fanny Kemble, the great Rachel, and Abraham Lincoln—but they were figures of that great period and lend glamour as a picture of Great-Aunt Henriette's life in New England. Another reviewer points out that in the latter part of the book the accomplishments and gifts of the Field family occupy too much space. Personally I cannot feel that way even though perhaps Cyrus Field and the laying of the Atlantic Cable are given over attention, yet it was an epochal event for that time. Henriette always dominates the scene; no matter what other figures are present, even famous ones she ever stands out, vigorous, vital, valiant.

The only part of the story that falls short on my opinion is the very last; it is difficult to be reconciled to leaving Henriette to face illness and pain meriting eventual death. That fate does not seem fair to such a gallant figure, even though we know she would meet such a situation with courage and good sense. Yet, like thousands of others, who are not satisfied with the endings of stories, it is not easy to decide just how Great-Aunt Henriette's full and busy life should have arrived at its close, nor how the final chapter of "All This and Heaven Too" should have been written. Perhaps Henriette had not long to wait, for the headstone over her grave bears the simple wording: "Henriette Desportes, Beloved Wife of Henry M. Field, March 6, 1875" and we note that the dates of the final chapters of her life were 1871-1875.

In the author's acknowledgment Miss Field gives a full and comprehensive list of books and articles

Mrs. Philip Bryer and children of Searsport have been guests two weeks of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Mathews.

Mr. and Mrs. Irving French and son Hartley are visiting Mrs. Elizabeth Hawes.

Mrs. Edwin Emerson, Miss Raychel Emerson, Mrs. A. T. Norwood of Warren and Mrs. Zena Nelson were dinner guests Tuesday of Mrs. Alice Robbins.

Irving Rich and father William Rich of Searsport are on a week's hunting trip in northern Maine.

Star Circle will serve a public dinner Thursday in charge of Mrs. Aubrey Hawes and Mrs. Elizabeth Hawes.

Mr. and Mrs. C. G. Hoyt of South Union left Tuesday for Florida. They will be guests of Mr. and Mrs. G. C. Brackett in Medford, Mass., for a few days.

Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Atherton and son Dennis, Miss Ruth Moody and William Mitchell of Burdettville were supper guests Sunday of Lily Pendleton, Camden.

The Woman's Community Club will meet Tuesday at 2.30 with the Waldoboro Woman's Club. The Union Club will furnish the program. Those wishing transportation will call Mrs. Alfred Hawes.

The "Mothers' Club" met Monday afternoon with Mrs. Loretta Rich.

At the Methodist Church worship Sunday begins at 10. The adult choir will sing "I Must Tell You of My Father." The junior choir has prepared "We Give Thee But Thine Own." The pastor, L. F. Ross, will preach on the subject "Christianity and Nationality." The League meets promptly at 6 under the leadership of Miss Natalie Nason and Mrs. Ross. The Leaguers are planning a hike to take place two weeks from now. The evening service begins at 7 p. m., with special music by the young people. The junior choir will meet Wednesday after school for rehearsal at the home of Mrs. Maynard Lucas.

A "Waist-line" party will be held Monday at 7.30 in the Methodist vestry, sponsored by the Ladies' Aid. Small aprons and overalls have been distributed to members and friends of the church. These are to be taken to the party with as many pennies in the pocket as each owner measures in inches around the waist-line. A thoroughly enjoyable social evening is planned with a "Sidewalk Interview" games, songs, and refreshments. "A Tragedy In A Light-house," a pantomime, will be put on by members of the Epworth League.

A formal tea was given Armistice Day by Miss Natalie Nason to the French students and faculty of the High School at the Methodist parsonage. French songs were rehearsed with the help of Mrs. Leo Ross. These songs will be sung at some future High School assembly. The French language was spoken at the tea and French games formed part of the afternoon's enjoyment. In keeping with the spirit of Armistice Day, individual aspic salads with small American flags were served, together with a variety of sandwiches, cocoa, cake and stuffed dates.

Earle Griffin and Carl Newbert have each shot deer.

Harry Dotin and daughter Ruth of Augusta were dinner guests Sunday at Frank Watts'.

Miss Inez Butler, who has employment at Rockport, was home last weekend.

Mr. and Mrs. Francis Watts are pertaining to the Praslin Murder Case, and also a list of other books relative to the period which contain meaty reading.

THE SAUNTERER

A. B. Crocker

Old Ironsides received her name from the fact that her planking of oak was so hard the cannon balls from the guns of the enemy ships bounced off her sides and did no damage. In 1897 the Dutch government built a pilot boat and she spent 30 years in service in the North Sea and English Channel. Then she was replaced by a pilot steamer and finally sold to an English party.

After her 7½x7 oak frames were set up they were left for a year to season before any more building was carried on. In her underwater length of 75 feet there is one butt in most of her planks and never more than two in her three-inch planking.

She is now owned in the United States and still in active service. She is 92 feet over all, schooner rigged, with a square sail on her foremast. She carries a main's'l, maintop's'l, fores'l, fisherman fore-stays'l, jib, jibtop's'l, squares'l and rattle, and has auxiliary Diesel engines.

She left Gloucester, Mass., Nov. 5, 1933 with 17 persons on board for an 18-month cruise around the world, sailing westward via Panama Canal and arrived back in Gloucester May 5, 1935, ten minutes over 18 months.

The oldest person on board was the doctor (not the cook this time) aged 50, a World War veteran; the youngest aged 18. Four of the voyagers were women, one being the wife of the skipper; one joined at Tahiti; and one left at Singapore. Just trace on your maps the route from Gloucester to the Panama Canal to Galapagos, thence 3,000 miles to Pitcairn Island (of Bounty mutineer fame).

This island is only a dot on the Pacific Ocean. A mile and a half long, three-quarters of a mile wide, and about 1,000 feet high. There is no anchorage here, and no boats can land. The natives can come out to the vessels in their specially built boats, 35 feet long with sail and they are expert boatmen. The island was visited by the whole ship's crew. There are 200 persons here and they are all related.

What a story lies in the log of that voyage. A sight seeing pleasure voyage and "the that hath eyes to see, let him see." It may be that The Black Cat can tell me how many years ago I read "Around the World in Eighty Days" travelling East. It must be at least 60 years.

A Riot Of Color

Bowling At Cascade Alleys Has Reached Spectacular Stage

A great many persons who saw the eclipse of the moon Monday night without doubt took it for granted that it was being caused by a regular and accepted phenomena of the celestial bodies, but those on the inside at Vinalhaven knew that it was being caused by the appearance of the Ganders bowling team in new and resplendent bowling uniforms, and this, coupled with the re-appearance of those scarlet breasted Skippers caused the moon to hide her lovely face in shame and mortification. When the rainbow hued contestants squared away at each other at the old Cascade Alleys, gravitational attraction was being demonstrated in the heavens outside, while Lady Luck was being pulled first one way and another by the pull of grace and beauty inside.

When Gene Hall encases his manly figure in his scarlet and white uniform advances, lithely and blithely to the bowling platform and then proceeds to roll one off the alley it certainly is a thing of beauty and a joy forever. It would almost seem as if Lady Luck did not know which set of bowlers to smile upon, for while the Ganders won the first string by 20 pins the Skippers skipped right back into the lead with a 24 pin win in the second, and when the results were totted up for the third it was announced by the score keeper that the match had come out a tie.

Everybody got so excited over this announcement that no one bothered to check the figures over so as to be sure, and coats came off again in a hurry and the battle was continued. If it had been close and exciting up to the last string it was doubly so all during the roll-off and there was no time when more than ten pins separated the two teams, most of the time, only one or two.

Things went along in this ding-dong fashion right up to the last two frames of the anchor men, Banker Sanborn and Postmaster Drew, when Link who had been going pretty good all evening made a nice spare while the P. M. just missed his chance. This gave the roll off to the Ganders by six pins and the Skippers gracefully accepted defeat. A thorough check up the next day however revealed an error of one pin that would have given the Skippers the match, but they have made no serious complaints to date, feeling they got their moneys worth in excitement and thrills.

Gene Hall said it was worth 80 cents any time to see Captain Grimes in the blue and gold of the Ganders, standing on the side lines directing the play by play strategy of his team, and he also remarked sotto voce, that it was always worth a dollar to him to see Der Captain hit 'em where they ain't, and be put down for a loss.

Some fairly good strings were in evidence but nobody seemed able to get more than one for the evening so that totals were not so big. It was suggested that the matter of who won the match be left to a board of arbitration, one Gander, one Skipper and one man, deaf, dumb and blind. The score:

| Ganders     |               |
|-------------|---------------|
| Goose Arey  | 90 83 97-270  |
| Littlefield | 81 88 71-240  |
| Grimes      | 83 89 87-258  |
| Shields     | 89 90 113-287 |
| Sanborn     | 115 85 71-271 |

| 453 434 439 1326 |               |
|------------------|---------------|
| Skippers         |               |
| Skip Arey        | 107 92 94-293 |
| Hall             | 72 79 73-224  |
| Peterson         | 83 93 81-267  |
| Dyer             | 88 109 94-291 |
| Drew             | 83 85 83-251  |

433 458 435 1326

The roll-off:
Ganders—Goose 93, Littlefield 70, Grimes 79, Shields 99, Sanborn 99, total 440.

Skippers—Skip 95, Hall 80, Peterson 88, Dyer 85, Drew 86, total 434.

Thirteen is evidently a lucky number for Thurston Spear as he was the only successful hunter in the group of 13 who have recently returned from a gunning expedition in the North woods, he bringing home a fine deer.

Mrs. Fred Cook is making speedy recovery from her recent surgical treatment at Community Hospital.

Funeral services will be held at 2 o'clock this afternoon for Mrs. Mathilda S. Erickson at her late home on Huse street. Rev. F. P. Fowle of Winthrop will officiate. Harbor Light Chapter O.E.S. will attend and perform the Star ceremony.

Methodist Church Notes

Rev. A. A. Callaghan, Dist. Supt. of Augusta District of the Maine M. E. Conference, conducted the First Quarterly Conference last night. The church school will meet at 10, followed by worship services at 11. The pastor's theme will be a harvest message. The hymns "What shall the harvest be?" will be sung as a solo and other music will include an anthem by the choir. Epworth League will meet at 6 led by the president, Ernest Crockett.

The 7 o'clock service will be a hymn service, featuring another of the Rodehave hymns. The pastor's remarks will center on the hymn "He will not let me fall;" and "He will hold me fast" will be given as a solo.

Next week is Fellowship Week in all Methodist Churches. The program Monday will be a fellowship social by the Epworth League at 7, free admission and refreshments. An interesting program of games is arranged and every Leaguer is assured a jolly good time.

The Ladies Aid Society will have a fellowship lunch Wednesday, and the Johnson Society a social hour following the meeting on the same day. A similar social hour is planned for Friday, following the choir rehearsal. The Thursday night service is given to the Sunday School and will be in charge of Ernest Crockett. It is open to all.

St. Bernard's Catholic Church in Rockland, Mass. at 8 a. m. and 10.45 a. m., Sunday.

St. John's Church, 9.30 a. m., Holy Eucharist. St. George's Church, Long Cove, Evensong 1.45 p. m. Sunday, Nov. 13 will be the annual service for acolytes at St. Matthew's Church in Hallowell. For this reason Evensong at St. John's Church will be omitted. Acolytes will assemble promptly at St. John's parish hall at 3 p. m. to motor to Hallowell for this service.

Baptist Church: Bible School at 9.45 a. m.; morning worship at 11 and evening service at 7. Rev. H. S. Kilborn of North Weymouth, Mass., will occupy the pulpit on this date. The music will be two anthems, "This is the Day," (Mendelssohn-Clokey) and "Only Thee," (Abt-Pearis).

Federated Church: (Methodist-Congregational): Sunday School 9.45, morning worship at 11, and evening service at 7. The subject for the morning service will be "The Challenge," and the anthem, "Dear Lord and Father," (Norman). "A Gracious Promise" is the subject of the evening service. Sacrament of the Lord's Supper will follow the morning service. Epworth League will meet at 5.30.

Pentecostal Mission: Adult Bible Class at 12.45, afternoon service at 2, evening service at 7. Rev. Mildred McLean has the speaker. Rev. J. T. Reed, who has conducted evangelistic services here since July, has returned to his home at Leeds.

To Sing At Dedication

Raychel Emerson, dramatic soprano, will sing, "We Shall See Them There Some Day," by O'Hara, and "The Bells of Heaven," by Elton next Sunday at the unveiling and dedication of the portrait of Rev. James Woodside at the Parish House of the First Parish Church, in Brunswick. Miss Emerson is the eighth generation direct in line from Rev. Mr. Woodside, who with 40 families of Scotch-Irish were the first settlers of Brunswick.

This portrait goes to the church by the will of the late Mrs. Frances W. Leavitt, wife of Medford, Mass., sister of Mrs. Edwin Emerson of this town, and is rich in historical interest. From 1910 to the present are the only years in which this portrait ever was out of the State. Before being taken to Medford it hung in the home of the late Mrs. Louise W. Wagg, Auburn, mother of Mrs. Emerson and Mrs. Leavitt.

Rev. Mr. Woodside was born in England, and prior to going to Brunswick in 1714, preached at Garvagh, Barn River County, in Ireland. He was the first preacher in Brunswick before the land grant of 350 acres, on which the first church in Brunswick was built. In 1720, he visited in England and this portrait was painted in 1726. In 1727, Rev. Mr. Woodside came back to America bringing with him as gifts to his only son, this portrait, a baptismal font, and a silver pepper box, octagon in shape, with the names, William and Ann engraved on it (Ann was the wife of William). This font is in possession of Mrs. Emerson, and will be presented next Sunday to the church during the exercises.

In the early days of Brunswick, Rev. Mr. Woodside was in command of the fort. His son William was captain of a company in the French and Indian War, and chaplain at the siege of Louisburg in 1759. Rev. Mr. Woodside is buried in the old Brunswick church yard. He died Jan. 31, 1778.

Mrs. Emerson has many papers of historical value, and also an old map of Brunswick marking the church grant of 350 acres on the Maquette shore.

The public is cordially invited to the C.M.P. Co. cooking school to be run Wed. Nov. 16 in I.O.O.F. hall, Union. Food cooked given to audience. No admission. All welcome. Come Wednesday at 7.15 o'clock. Thanksgiving menus will be featured.—adv. 132, 133, 135, 136

THE MIGHTY HUNTER

[For The Courier-Gazette]
My little son is playing
About the yard—so cute;
Looking behind each tree and shrub
For something he can shoot.

And there before his eyes he sees
An imaginary bunny.
Bang! Bang! goes the little toy gun.
Oh, Boy! That shot was a honey!

Quickly skinned with rubber knife,
That bunny is a winner.
So, in imagination, we shall have Rabbit pie for dinner. R. A. M.

SUNDAY MORNING

[For The Courier-Gazette]
My mamma's up at early dawn
With her very best gown all on.
Ready for service at church today;
She's never late, the members say.
And my papa, with pious pride
Says she's been that way since a bride!
Papa is all dressed in his best.
He says to be clean is to be best.
And sends us children all upstairs
To wash our faces and comb our hairs.
Find our gloves good and early
So there'll be no hurry-burry!
The last minute, when the bell strikes
The hour
Then they start before a shower.
Mr. tells us to put our thoughts all
And hurry along or we'll be late.
Rockland K. S. F.

A VILLAGE OF WHITE

[For The Courier-Gazette]
I live in a little white village
Where each little house is white;
Where the trees are green and quiet
And the stars twinkle gently at night.
At times a beautiful angel
Walks down each tiny street
Her touch is soft and gentle,
Her voice is low and sweet.

Her ministering hands are tender
In performing duties with care;
May she never know pain or sorrow
Is her patients' daily prayer.
God bless this beautiful angel
That passes down our street
With touch so soft and tender
And voice so low and sweet.
Spruce Head, Margaret Elwell

SMILE YOUR WAY THROUGH

[For The Courier-Gazette]
Is life a burden, heavy cares oppress,
The future dim with darkness and distress?
Lift up your thought and pray with courage new,
Hold fast to life itself. Smile your way through.

Do not turn aside to worry or complain,
For then your heart grows weary
The door will open wide without delay,
Smile your way through the hours of each day.
Philadelphia Harriet Grinnell Cold

IN LITTLE THINGS

[For The Courier-Gazette]
Happiness is found in little things,
I would not want too much—
Scattered around leaves, a quiet sunset,
The patter of silver rain and such like.

Happiness is found in little things,
My fortune comes not from ships at sea,
Nor in those mines wherein lies gold,
But in your smiles at me.
Rockland, Charles Emery

HUNTING

[For The Courier-Gazette]
Again we hear the sound of guns,
Within the woods where wild things stay.
Again we know that hunters stalk
The lovely creatures where they may
Have paused to nibble bits of grass,
That still are green, untouched by frost.

Or drinking from a muddy pool
Be quickly startled and soon lost
To view among the sheltering trees.
Across the fields the timid deer
So swiftly run with head held high,
And soft brown eyes with terror wild,
That seem to plead as they go by
For mercy from the sport of man.
That needs must take away the life
Of timid things that do no harm,
And yet are doomed to hunters' knife,
A trophy added, nothing more.
Tenants Harbor, Rose B. Rupper

AS YOU FIND IT

[For The Courier-Gazette]
Take the world as you find it,
Inject in it friendship and love;
If hatred exists, never mind it,
O'er that soar high above.

Love never fails in its duties,
Even is kind to its foes.
Can see in all humans some beauties,
To salvage from sorrows and woes.

Love never envies a neighbor,
The spirit of ego disdains.
For peace among people will labor,
And rejoices when fellowship reigns.

To wealth you may finally climb,
Or win the bright meteor, fame;
All that will collapse in due time,
But Love will forever remain.
North Waldoboro, W. R. Walter

Educational Club

Three Speakers Entertain Members With Widely Varied Talks

The Woman's Educational Club held a very enjoyable meeting Monday at the home of Miss Marion Weidman, Rockport.

Mrs. Keryn Ap Rice gave an interesting account of her impressions of Nicaragua. Unlike the Panama Canal Zone where the United States Government controls the sanitary conditions, it is very difficult to obtain many of the comforts to which we are accustomed, the milk supply especially, being of doubtful quality.

The educational system, also, is a strong contrast to that of the Canal Zone where the standards are among the highest in the possessions. In the Nicaraguan schools a premium is put on reciting lessons in the loudest possible voice, the pupils trying to outdo each other.

On account of the heat, business is carried on very early in the morning, usually from 6 a. m. until 10.30. There is no difficulty awaking early as the church bells ring very discordantly at 4 a. m. and street noises commence. Nearly all activity ceases during the warmest part of the day or until about 3.30 or 4 p. m., after which much of the social life takes place, as the evenings are cool.

She found a great abundance of beautiful tropical plants and flowers which could be easily transplanted and would grow rapidly; one called the peacock plant was specially attractive with its array of colors.

After 6 o'clock coffee and box lunches, the evening began with the devotional and patriotic exercises.

Rev. Heien Carlson gave a most instructive talk, having for her subject "China's Struggle Against Japan's Encroachments For Territory."

She has a good knowledge of the country, having lived there at one time. The excuse the Japanese make for their aggression against China is the fear of communism spreading from Russia, although the large and sparsely populated tract of Siberia lies between Russia proper and China. Although to many the Chinese and Japanese appear to be a similar race, the Japanese are really a mixture of several oriental peoples, whereas the Chinese are the oldest civilized race.

In spite of the fact that there has been a terrible slaughter of Chinese with many of the important coastal cities taken, Gen. Chiang Kai-Shek and his forces, together with much of the civilian population, have retired to Chungking and the inaccessible country thereabouts and have left nothing important standing in the cities they have evacuated.

In the interior of China which is difficult of access are the richest resources of the country including coal, much of which is on the surface.

She also pointed out that Chinese of the north, unlike those in the southeast, are taller and of stronger physique so might be more difficult to conquer. Thus it would seem that although many Chinese have been killed, China has by no means fallen.

Congressman Ralph O. Brewster spoke on foreign relations, being of the opinion that religion is an important factor of peace and prosperity. In the totalitarian countries where the good of the individual is subordinated to that of the country, much of the attitude toward religion is occasioned by the fact that the church had been connected with the ruling classes and had been used as a means of oppression of the middle and peasant groups. He credited the Oxford movement as doing much to promote world peace as it is non-denominational and not confined to any particular group. The fundamentals of this movement are love, purity, unselfishness and honesty. It is just as wrong for churches in this country to be closed for lack of attendance as those foreign countries to be closed by official edict, he pointed out; we, in this country, have plenty to do if we are to furnish an example for nations overseas to follow. Our ancestors were governed by a desire for religious freedom rather than a greed for wealth and our Constitution was drawn up with this in view. He believes conditions would be better if people in this country appreciated the advantages and natural resources.

Rev. N. F. Atwood made brief remarks, followed by an open forum. Assistant Secretary.

This And That

By K. S. F.

Some of the trees are holding close to the last red embers of the year.

Did you know that a "somewhat churlish" snub from a men's club inspired a band of literary women of the 60's to form the first women's Professional Club.

And speaking of women—when they organize and don their aprons and thinking caps, things happen. It's often the case "when hard times come a-knocking at the door" a woman with courage opens it and steps on the trouble with both feet and banishes it with her wit and ability.

Thanksgiving is just around the corner. Let's have some special music for the event. All the churches could do this for the general public if they would.

Small ventilators in windows in the Community Building would add much to the comfort of crowded rooms when it's not feasible to open windows wide.

Plant a tree each year for the benefit of coming generations. Too many glorious trees are cut down each year and no additions made by planting.

Who has heard the Cello played? They say that it is a percussion instrument—if you know what that signifies.

Not Armistice, but assured peace for all time is what women should band together and work for throughout the world.

The American Constitution is a set of rules designed to help the citizens live happily together. And why not?

Hurray for the Federation of Women's Clubs which is to make a drive for the elimination of old motor car graveyards near highways in the State.

What a beautiful thought Theodore had when he said, "My life has been the poems I would have writ, but I could not both live and letter it."

A boy asking for a job was countered with this question: "Do you smoke?"
"No, but I don't mind having an ice cream cone."

The prickly pear known also as the Indian fig, is neither a pear nor a fig, but a cactus.

All along the highways they have bright "stars" down to sparkle their help on properly distanced posts at the protections of the roads.

Those who live in Maine are favored with the gorgeous greens of the woods all through the long winter. It takes persons from States who have not this nature beauty to remind Maine residents of their benefits.

It is said the Desert of Maine increases some acres each year. How long will it take to cover the State?

Read good books first. You may not have the chance for all that come your way.

The Hobby Show

Lots of Busy Workers Getting Ready For Big Local Event

At the Hobby Show next Wednesday, Thursday and Friday afternoons and evenings, visitors will be greeted by Joseph Emery or one of his committee: Mrs. Ralph Smith, Mrs. Chauncey M. D. Keene, Mrs. Russell Bartlett, Willis Ayer, Charles A. Emery, David S. Beach, Jesse Bradstreet and William Spear, for they will sell the tickets. And the admission for all the treasures to be seen is but a trifling 25 cents.

If you happen to visit the East Room first, Jerome C. Burrows, Richard Bird, Raymond Cross, Clifford Cross, Ernest Blackington, Percy Blaisdell or Charles Havener, will be pleased to tell about the merits of 24 mounted prints of very fine pictures—pictorial subjects.

Carl Nelson, assisted by Comrades of the Way, will check hats and coats. This will be of great service since it will take time to visit and see the hundreds of collections.

Valuable postage stamps will be on exhibition by Rockland's philatelists, under the supervision of Raymond Duff.

The booths, for so many precious hobbies to be assembled, and other necessary building will have been done by John Pomeroy and his hammer brigade. The men include Cleveland Sleeper, Walter Barstow, John Trott, Munro Rinfret, Fred Trecartin, Fred Bird, Ted Bird, John Karl, Harold Karl, Neil Karl, Russell Bartlett, Hervey Allen, Fred Gatcombe, Charles Emery, Seymour Cameron, Horatio Cowan, Ralph Smith, Allan Murray and Vance Norton.

There will be a fine collection of D.A.R. possessions, too. Mrs. LeForest Thurston is chairman of the group of D.A.R. officers and members: Mrs. Mary Southard, Mrs. Kathryn St. Clair, Mrs. Mabel Rose, Mrs. Mary Ladd, Mrs. Lucy Carter, Mrs. Helen Carlson, Miss Ellen Cochran, Mrs. Alice Karl, Mrs. Maude Blodgett, Mrs. Winnie Karl and Mrs. Katherine Haines.

Surprises will be seen in a new hobby—new to Rockland persons. There will be an archery collection from a nearby city.

All the various valuable hobbies and collections of hobbies will be well protected, for Oscar Wishman and Frank McDonnell are on the committee for safety and protection. Besides the regular police protection there will be the American Legion Police, the Firemen, and the Boy Scouts, all detectives.

Much effort is being spent to have all three evenings of entertainment vary, yet the period gown parade will show each evening. Wednesday evening Miss Malloy's School of the Dance will feature with the gown parade. Thursday evening will be variety night. Novelties including skits, comedy and magic will be shown. Friday evening there will be special music, Finnish dances and the gown parade. The evening's part of the great show is alone worth more than the price of admission.

More information will be in the Tuesday issue concerning the juvenile collections, under the able direction of Austin Smith.

Young and old will enjoy the various interesting, ancient, chapeaux, the hobby of Mrs. Ernest Davis. Mr. Davis will assist her.

Both men and women will spend time with the youngsters gazing at the woodworking display. Can it be more inspirational than last year? Be at Earle Gowell's booth and see for yourself.

Inquiries are about concerning a radio message! W. B. D. Gray and Austin Sherman will answer the questions the entire three days of hobby time. They will tell visitors that messages may be sent to all parts of the globe. Remember last year? All were received, too!

All lobstermen take notice. Henry Bird notifies that he desires a collection of lobster pot buoys, instead

NORTH HAVEN

Mrs. Nellie Brown has returned after spending several weeks at her New Jersey home.

Frank Lipovsky made a round trip to Belfast Thursday on business in his motor boat Islander.

Rupert Howard of Spruce Head was in town recently having engine repairs made on his motor boat Nereid.

William Small whose death occurred in Rockland Wednesday had been coming to the island in a business capacity for many years and was liked by everyone who knew him.

The special town meeting was held Monday night. The votes of the previous meeting were rescinded by a large majority and the library situation stands as before.

Mrs. Regina Crowell who is employed by Mrs. B. A. Ayer left Friday on two weeks vacation before going to New York for the winter. Mrs. Crowell will visit in Vinal Haven and Everett, Mass. Robert Crowell, son of Mrs. Crowell will spend the winter at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Beverage and attend high school.

Mr. and Mrs. Archie Pierce of Peabody, Mass., who have been visiting at the home of Mrs. Pierce's aunt, Mrs. Elden Ames returned home Friday accompanied by Mrs. Ames who will remain for a few weeks visit.

The Pythian Sisters held their annual inspection of Gloria Temple Wednesday. Goldie Hall of Camden was the officiating officer. Seventy-seven members were present. Refreshments were served.

I'd rather have my son blush than to turn pale.

GUARDIANS OF OUR COAST

What our lightkeepers and coast guardmen are doing to protect coastwise shipping by day and by night. The day's news from many lonely outposts along Maine's waterfront.

MY HOME

[For The Courier-Gazette]
My heart is where the sea heaves high.
White garlands salt of spray.
Against the azure of the sky.
And there shall be always.

No matter where afar I roam
On duty pleasure bound.
The coast of Maine is still my home—
Where fondest life is found.

When I am free to come and go
And live just where I please,
I'll make my home where tide waves flow
Beside the calling seas.

The music of the billows breath
Accompanied my birth.
O, let me hear it too, at death—
My final sense of earth.

There was I born beside the sea.
Where rolls the surging surf.
There let me sleep from life set free—
Beneath the seaside turf.

Jamaica, Vt. Allison M. Watts

Saddleback Ledge

Hello, everyone.

The additional keeper, B. Osgood who was here for five weeks, went recently to Deer Island Thoroughfare to take Keeper Robinson's place, the latter having been called to Harrington by the death of his mother. Mr. Osgood went Nov. 2 to Two Bush to substitute during the leave of Keeper Batty.

Carpenter Howard Colberth and E. O. Mills of Vinal Haven with his plastering outfit were here several days, held by a strong north wind. Finally Mr. Mills was able to make a landing in Vinal Haven, but was looking rather pale owing to the Saddleback cooking. He was heard to remark that he had eaten worse cooking but would not remember just when it was.

Carpenter Colberth is caulking the tower and will repair the boat slip. We have already driven in 200 pounds of lead wool into the tower.

B. E. Stewart is on leave in Vinal Haven. He still has a list to port and is under the care of Dr. V. H. Shields.

After the work is finished here, I shall take a 20-day leave of absence in Lubec.

The sea birds are giving this place a wide berth this fall.

We have not stocked up on winter fish yet, and "sow belly" being high, we may have to hibernate this winter.

Sympathy is extended to Keeper Robinson in the death of his mother.

Weather and water being colder, Keeper Bennett of Heron Neck is using greater care in boarding his boat when making trips to town.

We are expecting fall inspection any day now and will probably be electrified by spring, with a horn to make music for us to sleep by next summer.

As we are busy helping the workmen, we bid "Farewell and happy landings."

Matinicus Rock

Our news items through the winter will be scarce at times. However, we'll try to do our part. The news from other stations is always read with interest.

We wish to extend our sympathy to the family of our good friend, the late Rev. O. J. Guptill. His many acts of kindness will be long remembered.

The greater part of October gave us grand weather. Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Fletcher enjoyed a vacation. They visited their relatives and friends at Lubec, Eastport, Pembroke, and Calais, also their daughters at Brownville.

During a recent storm, a large piece of the boat slip was washed out.

Mr. and Mrs. Fletcher enjoyed an overnight visit recently at the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. J. McClure in Crisheaven.

Best regards to all along the coast.

Portland Head

Mrs. R. T. Sterling entertained Mrs. Robert D. Fickett and daughter of South Portland last Sunday.

All the fine summer-like days the past week make one wonder just what is in the air for the near future. In some places, bathing, pickering flowers and fruit; and in other places, snow falling and real winter weather.

Mrs. Earl Kinney and granddaughter Patricia Grant were recent guests of Mrs. F. O. Hilt.

Jack Robinson is attending Junior College in Portland. Willard Hilt enjoyed very much cards received from friends during his recent illness and says "Thanks a lot." He is out again.

Arthur Harlow of South Portland was recent guest of R. T. Sterling, also Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Dow of Portland.

Mrs. F. O. Hilt and Mrs. R. T. Sterling were callers Wednesday at the home of Clyde Grant and family of Cape Elizabeth.

Good Times Club met Wednesday at the home of Mrs. George Mitchell, Palmouth Gardens, the first meeting this fall.

My Valuable Time

Story of a Man Whose Death Lost Genius To the World

My Valuable Time, by Amy S. Bridgman (Stephen Daye Press).

This little book is the story of Paul Bridgman Boyd whose untimely death lost to the world a true genius. From early childhood this young man's personality was marked and unusual in developing before the natural season.

He early established this dominant point in his every day life and counted life as valuable. The story is intimately sketched against his New England background and will interest all who love to study character in its developments through the stages of youth to manhood.

It was the fine moral quality that surrounded his youth that put this sensitive life into accord with the urge of his ruling motives. A clear and clean study in almost every form of a brilliant personality.

Happy Hope Farm

Friends In Time of Sorrow—Springlike Weather a Marvel

Editor of The Courier-Gazette:—Though we know that our ultimate destiny is in the hands of a Higher Power, who will neither leave us nor forsake us, we are all so human, we long in times of trial and sorrow, for the touch of a friendly hand, the kindly word from sympathetic hearts.

So I wish to thank the editor, and all friends who sent messages of sympathy in my recent bereavement. Unknown friend of Vinalhaven, it was sweet of you to send the lovely message. Wish you had signed your name.

My immediate family circle is so small. Dad's absence makes a sad vacancy. My family is counted in "ones"—one uncle, one aunt, one brother, one sister and, of course, one father and mother. Uncle, aunt and father have now passed through the one way gate to that bourne whence no traveler returns. But as Margaret Ewell says in her beautiful poem—

"Why do we weep,
When just a few years more—
A glorious day will dawn and we shall meet.
Those loved ones gone before"

Speaking of poems, I think Mr. Walter, your North Waldoboro correspondent, has introduced a pleasing innovation, by beginning his news items with a verse or two of poetry. I enjoy them and I know that Mr. Walter is a man who practices what he preaches.

Whoever saw such springlike weather in November? Pansies are still in bloom and last night black birds were gathering in the willows, with an occasional "con-kee-ee-ee" from an individual. If this weather continues, it would not be surprising to hear the full chorus, which is such delightful music in April.

REALM OF MUSIC

by Gladys St. Clair Heistad

A letter from our good friend "Boze" encloses a clipping reading: "George Kraska, manager of the Fine Arts Theatre, has just installed the latest in sound improvements, a development of the laboratories of the Altec Service Corporation. The modernization of the equipment makes possible greatly improved sound quality. The current feature, 'Moonlight Sonata,' is now rendered in much finer tonal detail than for the previous 21 weeks of its run. Paderewski's piano playing becomes more realistic than before."

On "Boze's" letter head of the First Worshipful Masters' Association in Massachusetts was pasted a notice of an entertainment and dinner at the Engineers Club, 2 Commonwealth Avenue Boston, Friday evening, Nov. 4, the notice announcing that the entertainment would be "moving pictures." Mr. Crocker writes below:

"Through the good offices of the Master of Ceremonies who is a member of this Association (he is also box office treasurer at Symphony Hall) we were able to see the picture at our meeting, but we could not advertise it. Fifty members of this Association after dinner settled back in their chairs and for one and one-half hours gave their attention to 'The Moonlight Sonata.' It was Grand. I never expected to hear, and see, Ignace Jan Paderewski at a dinner, but I did. Glory be! What a wonderful world this is. It is different than it was 60 years ago when I played in the band and didn't know a note."

Of interest is a special notice appearing below the meeting announcement, reading: "Our Treasurer and Senior Past President, Wor. Samuel H. Spring, will observe his 93d birthday Oct. 29." Mr. Crocker comments—"a native of Belfast."

I have had a stunning booklet sent me of "Moonlight Sonata," many fine pictures of Paderewski and scenes from the film itself. A brief biographical sketch of the great artist reads:

"Ignace Jan Paderewski, the world's most famous pianist, is now living in retirement at his villa at Morges, near Lausanne. It is unlikely that the concert halls of the world will ever hear him again, but his art has been given to immortality in the film 'Moonlight Sonata.' To Lothar Mendes goes the credit of persuading this distinguished artist to emerge temporarily from retirement to make his first appearance on the screen at the age of 75.

"He began his piano studies at the age of three and later entered the Warsaw Conservatory to study under Jonatha and Roguski. From Warsaw he went to study in Vienna and in 1885 became Professor of Piano and counterpoint at the Conservatory of Strasbourg. Paderewski gave his first public concert in Vienna in 1887, and in Paris two years later followed by his concert in London which was a comparative failure, although Bernard Shaw, who was then a critic on a London newspaper, hailed him as a genius. In 1891 he gave his first concert in New York and subsequently made 18 tours in the United States. He has played in practically every leading city in the world. "His first composition publicly performed was the Opera Manru, produced at Dresden in 1901 and in New York a year later. His 'Symphony in B Minor' was first performed by the Boston Symphony Orchestra in 1909. His numerous compositions include a Concerto for Piano and Orchestra, Fantasias, Sonatas, the immortal "Minuet," etc. During the World War he concentrated for the benefit of Polish war sufferers bringing in huge sums. In 1917 he organized in the United States an army of Polish Volunteers known as the "Polish Army in France." He was instrumental in organizing the first Polish Republic of which he became the first President. He signed the Treaty of Versailles for Poland, and astounded everybody at the Paris Peace Conference with his keen political knowledge. In 1921 he represented Poland at the League of Nations and shortly retired from politics. Turning to music once more his concert appearances while still tremendously profitable were comparatively rare."

Still more interesting is the review of "Moonlight Sonata" by Samuel Chotzinoff in the New York Post:

"In the talkie 'Moonlight Sonata,' Mr. Paderewski is to be seen and heard as himself. The picture will constitute a record for future generations of the old age of a great artist and a great personality, and from it these generations will try to reconstruct, by deduction, the art and personality of the artist as a young man, and at the period when he was at the height of his powers.

"It will be, I imagine, easier to reconstruct the man than the artist, for 'Moonlight Sonata,' reveals an extraordinary and arresting figure who moves through a story with the naturalness, dignity and assurance of one who is used to taking the homage of the world for granted. Involved in a sentimental tale with English overtones, the celebrated pianist is quiet, calm and unobtrusive in his dual role of actor and virtuoso. He speaks the English lines allotted to him with remarkable ease, though with the deliberation of a foreigner. He even achieves pathos with a philosophic remark about the quality of youth, and his quiet explanation of what, to him, constitutes the miracle of a perfect musical performance sounds touchingly true and will be recognized as true by all who perform in public.

"To call Mr. Paderewski a good actor would be, in one sense, overstatement, and in another, understatement. The veteran actress, Marie Tempest, who plays, so to speak, opposite him, is magnificent as a cultured and worldly old Baroness, but it requires all her art to be that, while Paderewski is himself without any apparent effort on his part. Yet the two are equally matched, except that never for a moment does one doubt the reality of the musician. Perhaps a public life, such as an adored virtuoso leads, is the equivalent of a stage life. Which may explain why Paderewski felt himself so sincerely at home in a stage setting, surrounded by stage people and perpetually confronting a camera.

"Seated at his piano, the Polish artist and patriot offers a noble study of a creative interpreter. With no suggestion of pose or exaggeration he addresses himself to the music of Chopin, Beethoven, Liszt and himself with overwhelming confidence and utter simplicity. He casts his spell directly, and the shifting camera never once discovers a flaw in the expression of his face and body or in the behavior of his hands. He is completely absorbed in his own playing, and so is the audience. So much so that one hardly dares to confess disappointment that his art does not at all times measure up to its legendary character.

"It is only when one leaves the theatre that one is regretful that Paderewski and his art were not thus recorded a quarter of a century ago. For in 'Moonlight Sonata' there are only glimpses of the fabled ravishing Paderewski tone, the golden, imperious sonorities, the magical phrasing, the romantic, improvisational conception of great music. The lesson, of course is plain: That the young virtuosos of the present should not be coy, and disdainful of the movie camera and the sound track, but should on the contrary, seek and embrace the immortality offered them while they are still young and at the peak of their art. For in doing so they will not only serve themselves best, but they will shine for posterity with their original lustre."

Get Comforting Relief from RUNNY HEAD COLDS

DO THIS: Put some Vicks VapoRub up each nostril and sniff well back.

NEXT, melt a spoonful of VapoRub in a bowl of boiling water; breathe in the medicated vapors for several minutes. This loosens phlegm and further clears the air-passages.

AT BEDTIME, rub VapoRub on throat, chest, and back to its long-continued double action can relieve the misery of the cold while you sleep.

TRY IT—then you'll know why VapoRub is a standby in 3 out of 5 homes.
