Meet Your Minister

clergyman more strongly entrenched than ever in the hearts of parish and general public.
Mr. MacDonald first saw the light of day in a little community known as Aspy Bay, Nova Scotia. His home was at the base of Mount Cabot, the first point of land sighted by Cabot in 1497. It all happened on April 16, 1887.
He remained there the next 17 years, completing the Public School work and working in his father's saw mill. At 17 years of age he decided to take up marine engineering and spent six months in engineering work on Saint Paul's Island in the Gulf of St. Lawrence. All these plans were changed and the years from 1904 to 1911 were spent in preparation for the Christian Ministry. This preparation was received at the Bethel Bible Institute (Now the Providence Bible Institute) and Oberlin College.
He began his ministry July 4, 1911, in the Forest City Baptist Church, Forest City, Maine and from there went to the Baptist Church in Harrington in July 1914. In May 1917 he went to the First Baptist Church of Brewer.
In July 1918 he went into the

HOLD THE LINE, Please

The average time to make a long-distance telephone connection is but one and one-half minutes. Most calls go through while you "hold the line." Friends, no matter how many miles away they may be, are within quick and easy reach. And there's a personal quality to telephoning that's like nothing else except a personal visit. Out-of-town rates, you'll find, are very reasonable.

ELKS HOME GUTTED BY FIRE

Damage Estimated At $9,000—Lodge Plans To Rebuild—G. Butler Parsons Burned

The beautiful home of Rockland Lodge of Elks, corner of Main and Granite streets, was gutted by fire early yesterday morning in the first double alarm blaze in over two years. G. Butler Parsons, a member of the lodge, is at Knox Hospital suffering from first and second degree burns

The lodge plans to start reconditioning the granite and wooden structure immediately.
Young Parsons was dozing on the lobby divan when he was aroused by roaring flames in the opposite end of the room. He hastened into the phone booth and called the fire department, emerging to find escape by the door cut off by flames. He ran up the flaming stairway to the second floor where he dropped to safety from a window. He was picked up by Patrolman Ingraham who sensed the seriousness of the burns and rushed the injured man to the office of Dr. Weisman and thence to Knox Hospital.

On two different occasions he has been president of the Maine State Christian Endeavor Union.

He has been president of the United Baptist Convention of Maine, vice president of World Christian Endeavor Society, and at present is a member of the ordaining committee of the United Baptist Convention of Maine.

He took his present pastorate in May 1928, and it is the longest of any pastor of this church with the exception of the first who held the pastorate for 13 years.

Since the beginning of his pastorate a new parsonage was bought on Beech street, the building on the corner of Main and Summer streets was bought and the first and second floors turned into Sunday School rooms. All buildings have been painted. The total indebtedness of the Church is pledged to be paid in the next year.

The resident membership of the Church is 448. There is a large, well-organized Church School with departments for Beginners, Primary, Junior, Intermediate, Young People, and Adult ages. A recent addition to the work for young people was the organizing of an Intermediate C. E. Society for boys and girls from 12 to 16.

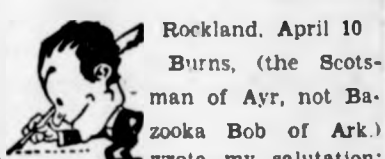

The prayer meeting in this church has had an average attendance of over 100 for 10 years. Over 250 have been received into the Church.
Mr. MacDonald has always been interested in athletics. He played on his school teams, especially football and track. In his first field, where nothing was being done for young men, he organized a ball team, and with them turned a pasture into a ball park. It was there that an opposing player told him that he should not throw a curved ball because it deceived the batter and "a minister should not deceive a person."

While in the Auburn pastorate he played for three years on the "Y" State Championship volleyball team. Part of the time the team was coached by a former Rockland boy, "Doc" Richan, and later it was coached by "Chick" Maynard of the Camden "Y."

One of the great experiences of a lifetime came to him when he had the privilege of visiting the Holy Land. But his purpose is to go again some day and be able to put in more time visiting Palestine.

"THE SALT OF THE EARTH"

Read What Former Buffalo Newspaper Man Says About Rockland

Rockland, April 10
Burns, (the Scotsman of Ayr, not Baskinella Bob of Ark.) wrote my salutation; a greeting of one newsmen to another; a maxim appropriate for all news gatherers:
"A child's among you takin notes. And, faith, he'll ment 'em."

So 'tis with interest, understanding and appreciation that I read and enjoy your refreshing delineations of the facts, fancies and foibles of humans within The Courier-Gazette precinct.
After many years pushing a pencil, black and blue, from cub to city editor, I became, a few years ago, a pseudo-Yankee, migrating Way Down East to become an adopted son (I eagerly hope) of Maine. Now I champion bean-hole beans (even if baked via Central Maine Power). I support only Rockland marketed boiled, broiled and baked lobster (even though a Democratic Congress foster-mothers 'em through rearing stations). I defend Sleepers-style clam chowder (without love-apple adulteration, of course, for tomatoes spring from the same family as the deadly nightshade, highly poisonous herb; tobacco plant; enchanter's night shade which frequents damp, dank and shady places, and henbane, foul annihilator of fowl, and who wants the regal clam to associate with such low-life, dissolute, treacherous companions!)

Six months ago, from Mid-Maine, my Native Yankee mate and I came to Rockland to eke a living from a smallish land grant, much as the early settlers of three centuries ago came, except that I hacked tall weeds and rank grasses from around my cabin door instead of virgin forests, and now tourists, seeking health in Maine's salubrious climate to prolong the allotted span of life, lurk around every bend of Route 1 trail, instead of Redskins, seeking scalps to shorten the mortal existence of others.

There's a saying: "Oh, he's a good Indian," meaning the person to whom referred is helpful, friendly, sociable and peaceful. So it is I have found the Rockland Indians.

Truly Rockland is a friendly, sociable, neighborly city. Its people make a newcomer welcome. Everywhere I've found they extend the hand of good fellowship. The city's merchants think first of serving you, rather than selling you. Actually I have been sent to a competing store when a storekeeper honestly thought a competitor's merchandise was better suited to my needs.

And just the other night I had a truckman with a family, who probably needed the work as much as the next man, say to me:
"Well, I could do your hauling, but if I were you I'd get so and so. His truck is much larger than mine, and you'll get more for your money."

And in these turbulent unsettled days when most hands grasp for the Almighty Dollar without thought of the other fellow, this Rockland spirit is almost beyond belief.

Rockland folks are "the salt of the earth." I am learning. They are unfeigned, actually eager to aid newcomers to become established, sincere in their efforts to make strangers feel at home, as substantial and solid as the rocks from which the city takes its name.

This is a sincere appreciation of all Rockland residents. And I'm glad I came to Rockland, with the desire now to absorb the prevailing attribute of the people hereabouts and to become, as rapidly as possible, at least an adopted "Rock!"

As for The Courier-Gazette it is one of the most readable, entertaining and truly instructive "home newspapers" I've ever seen. The ability of your staff to add color to their copy, to handle even the most commonplace items with a deft, light, slyly humorous touch and to create reader interest is what makes The Courier-Gazette welcome thrice weekly. Although I know few people yet by name, I read The Courier-Gazette from back page to front (a Chinese habit of long standing). I enjoy your feature yarns, the "do you remember when" letters to the editor, the "Cat" and the "Butterfly," the neat handling of the Gander-Skippers maple toppling feud by the pin alley press agent, Town Talk and the numerous other editorial specials.

Frequently I speak of The Rockland Courier-Express, an easily explained mistake, for I was makeup editor for a time on the Buffalo (N. Y.) Courier-Express. But I hope you of The Courier-Gazette won't be offended.

And so to press, got a deadline to make.

P. S.—Almost forgot West Rockland news notes.

The neighborhood children on skills, enjoyed their annual Easter snowball rolling contests, on the Igloo (Ice House) lawn. Easter egg hunts revealed many nests filled with snowballs. Robert Rooster's customary pride in the rainbow hued output of his flock was humbled, as many hens, using outdoor color schemes as patterns, produced only white shells around the cackles, frozen instead of boiled.

In the parlance of the almost forgotten vaudeville comedian whose jokes failed to convulse his audience in paroxysms of laughter, the weatherman "laid an egg" on Easter Sunday.

Henry Peck Meekman, anxious to know one of the typographical secrets, spread around the country by oldtime tramp printers, phoned Rockland, 630-W, as suggested by "The Black Cat." But his wife heard him ask for "Helen." So Hen Peck still doesn't know why there was tallow in the D box!

The Hon. I Mack Lawes, the Whimpy Corners Representative, who was expected home shortly, has been detained at Augusta by the weather. With the frost rapidly leaving the ground, the legislators were speeding up the processes of law-making in day and night sessions by the parliamentary steamroller procedure, as is customary in the waning days of each biennial convocation. But Sunday's snowstorm means spring plowing will be delayed. So the Senators and the Representatives will not be immediately required at home. Therefore the usual high-pressure legislating to jam the legal grid through the State House mill (especially the tax measures which will provide financial fodder on which the State will exist for the next two years) will again be postponed until the last minute. A long, cold spring will

A CANDLELIGHT SERVICE

The Easter season was fittingly observed in the rural districts served by Miss Margaret McKnight as Director of the Knox County Association for Rural Religious Education. At South Thomaston there was a candlelighting service at 9:30 a. m., following which seven persons were baptized and six received into church membership. In the evening an audience of over sixty witnessed an Easter pageant entitled The Resurrection of Peter. A choir of 10 young people led in the singing. In the afternoon at Clark's Island, with every Sunday School member present, a pageant called The Risen Lord was presented. The setting was in India, and the pageant portrayed the hope brought to a mother, who had lost her son and felt herself under a curse, by the Christian message.

MAINE DOES NOT LAG

It is thoroughly characteristic of the Pine Tree State that it will be the first commonwealth at the New York World's Fair to have its exhibit ready and open for business. And during the ensuing summer months millions of Fair patrons will learn why they call Maine "Vacationland." They will carry away with them the convincing evidence which they saw with their own eyes, and they will be furnished with an abundance of alluring literature which will strongly support the invitations to visit this State before setting their faces homeward. The Maine Development Commission which is sponsoring the Maine exhibit at the World's Fair conceived the clever idea of setting up two great thermometers, one of which will record the temperature of the metropolis and the contemporary reading in the State of Maine, as furnished by wire each day. An exact standard of Maine's temperature would not be obtainable unless it came from widely scattered localities. In Rockland, for instance, there are frequently days when the residents swelter with the mercury around 90, yet a four or five mile ride, to Ash Point or Spruce Head, for example, would show a state of coolness requiring wraps for those who sit on the piazzas. That attractive booklet—"Maine, The Place To Live, Work and Play," should have an instant and gratifying reaction. Tourists' dollars should flow into Maine tills and the comfort which those tourists derive within our borders should encourage them to spend longer vacations here.

NOT MUCH OF A WINTER

Back from the Southland have come those fortunate folk who were able to spend the winter there, and avoid uncomfortable weather such as Maine has not experienced in a decade. Rockland saw no extreme cold—no temperatures like 20 or 30 below, but in its place came sustained cold, with very few days of comparative warmth. Last month is said to have been the coldest March in 27 years, and thus far in April there have been no conditions which would evoke lusty cheers. Yet we have learned to accept all these things with a reasonable degree of philosophy and always agree on one point—that Maine is the best all-around State in the Union. A verdict which probably finds no disagreement with most of the sun-tanned tourists now fluttering back home.

ARBOR DAY OBJECTS

Arbor Day used to be a perfunctory sort of a holiday when the schools planted a tree or two, the pupils recited appropriate pieces, and the public looked on with mild approval. That there is a deeper significance, and one which should not pass unheeded, will occur to those who read the following paragraphs of Gov. Lewis O. Barrows' proclamation:

Whereas, the occasion is one of particular significance in Maine because of the industrial and recreational importance of our forests; and

Whereas, profitable results accrue to our people through continued individual planting of trees and through private and public programs of reforestation.

NOTES IN PASSING

That the troubled situation in Europe may result in the cancellation of King George's visit to America. His disappointment would be equaled only by that of his American cousins.

That Orver Cleveland Bergdoll, notorious draft dodger, is coming back to this country to take his medicine. Will he serve the five year term which awaits him?

That, acting in strictest secrecy, a committee from the National House of Representatives has begun its investigation of the W.P.A. If half of the rumors are true, what will it not reveal?

That a California collegian failed in his attempt to kiss 20 co-eds in 30 minutes. Better than swallowing live gold fish, but still somewhat apart from what colleges are supposed to aim at.

That Arrostook potatoes have reached a new high price for the year, with about 6000 carloads left to ship.

That The New York Herald Tribune has been awarded the Francis Ayer cup for 1939 for typographical excellence in the annual exhibition of newspaper typography conducted by N. W. Ayer & Sons, Inc. A paper richly deserving anybody's commendation is the Herald Tribune.

Presenting Patricia

Her real name is Patricia, but they shortened it to "Paddy" or "Patty" whichever you chose. A German police dog whose daddy was an animal of high pedigree owned by Lieut. Arthur Cushman, formerly in charge of the State Police barracks in Thomaston. She's a gentle, mild-mannered canine, now in her fourth year of barking at other dogs, and intensely devoted to her owners, Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Stahl, of Stahl's Tavern, Wadsworth. She understands every word they say—almost.

The firm that doesn't advertise is like a merry-go-round without music.

The arrival of the American Export Line steamer Exochorda at Boston Tuesday was responsible for the picture of Maritime Commissioner E. C. Moran, Jr. and family which appeared in yesterday's Globe. The following reference was made: "Mrs. Bon Geaslin, wife of the general counsel of the United States Maritime Commission, made the cruise in company with Mrs. Edward C. Moran, Jr., wife of Commissioner Moran of the Maritime Commission. Both Geaslin and Commissioner Moran were on hand at the Army Base to greet their wives when the vessel docked, and left immediately for their homes in Washington." The steamship had been on a six months' cruise to the near East and Mediterranean.

YOUR FAVORITE POEM

If I had my life to live again I would have made a rule to read some poetry and listen to some music at least once a week. The loss of these pleasures is a loss of happiness.—Charles Darwin.

"WHEN"
When I'm too old to carry on,
And make one sad heart brighter,
When I'm beyond the age when I
Can make one crushed heart lighter,
When I can't tend a garden, that
Is sweet with flowered perfume,
When I can't take a fresh bouquet
To cheer a sick friend's room,
When I can't give a basket to
A hungry little brood,
Who suffer, through no fault of theirs,
When I can't share the good
That God has always shared with me—
When time, I cannot borrow
To pour my tender sympathy
On those bowed down with sorrow,
And when I fall to see the rays
Of Bethlehem's bright star,
That leads me to the Christ Child,
Pure,
And when I wander far
Away from paths of charity,
From justice, and sweet prayer,
Then is my life worth naught to me,
When I have ceased to care.

Divorced temporarily from his busy duties as manager of Hotel McAlpin in New York, William Tarbox has not lacked for a vacation diversion. A cribbage fan of many years' standing almost his first act upon reaching Thomaston was to hunt up his pal Frank Elliot. The latest box score shows that each had won 65 games of cribbage from each other. The decision awaits Bill's return from a short visit in Bangor.

Industrial exhibits, costing more than $35,000,000 will attract millions to the New York World's Fair 1939. Forty-four buildings have been erected by private exhibitors, while the Fair has provided 20 additional exhibit halls. The Railroad Building is the largest. With a brilliant facade of orange and yellow, this $3,500,000 exhibit is nearly a quarter mile long. Its focal point is a vast rotunda simulating the old "roundhouse" of Casey Jones tradition. From locomotives to jewels; from chewing gum to stainless steel; all will unfold the saga of the nation's industrial life.

In Rockford, Ill., the other day was married a young woman who will always look up to her husband. The husband's name is Clifford Thompson; he is 8 feet and 7 inches tall and weighs 460 pounds. It occurs to me, also that they will not do much sitting in a hammock together.

Winterport boasts another Paul Revere bell. It hangs in the Congregational church, which was built over 100 years ago as a Union church.

Very few of Knox County's snow fences have gone into summer quarters. And why should they?

Eggs which have been kept overlong are not popular with the customers, but what shall we say about this 88-year-old egg owned by Mrs. Ersil Stewart of Linton, Ind.? On Easter in 1851, her grandmother, Mrs. Clarissa Barb, dyed the egg, boiling it in onion peel, and her grandfather, Jonathan Barb, scratched designs on it with his pocketknife. Mrs. Barb gave it to Mrs. Stewart's mother and asked that it be handed down through the family for 100 years. Mrs. Stewart keeps the egg, now dried until little more than the shell is left, wrapped in muslin in a tin can. She brings it out every Easter.

Of course it was a slip of the pen which made this newspaper say in its report of the Alton Hall Blackington lecture that Jake Kilrain knocked out John L. Sullivan. I can visualize how the old-time sports fans bristled when they saw that.

Benches for 50,000 persons will insure rest for the New York fair patrons, and there will be no heartless cop to whack your shoe taps with a billet. These benches will be easily accessible to the 300,000 visitors who are expected to pass through the turnstile on an average day. Ten first aid stations with 100 nurses in attendance. The comfort of the patrons is being well looked after.

The New York newspapers are giving lots of space to the wood-burning locomotive J. W. Bowker which was brought on from Nevada for exhibition at the New York World's Fair. During the 70's it hauled millions of dollars' worth of gold and silver from the Comstock lode at Virginia City to Reno. The illustrations recalled youthful memories of the Knox & Lincoln wood-burners, which loaded from a long shed at the Old Depot, no longer in existence. The Francis Cobb, Edwin Flye, Henry Ingalls, etc., etc.

One year ago Arthur E. McDonald of Thomaston was elected president of the Knox Fish and Game Association—The Thomaston cement mill resumed operations—The Junior Women's Club was formed with Mrs. J. The Lure Of Maine

Is Going To Be Stressed On Everybody Who Attends World's Fair

Maine will be the first State at the New York World's Fair to have its exhibit ready and "open for business" the Maine Development Commission revealed today.

At the Fair grounds on Flushing Meadows, the exhibit is rapidly taking shape and attendants said they would be "waiting around" for the opening day April 30. Meanwhile, many other States had lagged in their preparations with the prospect that Maine would "get the jump on them," officials said.

Meanwhile, the Commission has made elaborate plans to induce a fair share of those who visit the Fair from distant States to continue their journey into Maine to rest and recuperate from the heat and bustle of the great exposition.

Throughout the spring Commission advertising has appeared in publications in key States which will supply the greater part of fair patrons. In addition, in its regular recreational advertising program, it has incorporated the slogan, "See the Maine Exhibit At The New York World's Fair—Then See Maine." It is estimated that this message has gone out to over three-quarters of the entire population of the nation.

Inspired by the World's Fair, the Maine Development Commission believes that there will be a great trend to the east in travel this year. Hundreds of thousands of persons who have never visited the east will do so, it is believed.

As Fair officials have estimated that the average person will spend not more than five or six days viewing the various attractions it is thought that a great many can be persuaded to come to Maine to spend the balance of the vacation period.

It is believed by Fair officials that about 15,000,000 visitors from the South and West will attend the exposition. "If we can induce just a small percentage of these people to also visit Maine it will mean many millions of dollars in new recreational revenue," Everett F. Gration, executive-secretary of the Maine Development Commission said.

He revealed also that the Commission believes that the Fair will have a lasting influence on the State's recreational business as it will get many persons in the habit of vacationing in the east.

In addition, it is thought that an exceptionally large number of New York residents will take longer vacations than usual this year in order to get away from the crowded conditions that will prevail in the metropolis and some of the suburbs.

Aside from the desire to see Maine, it is believed that many will come here from the Fair to get away from the heat.

To show the comparison between Maine and New York City summer weather, two giant thermometers will be erected outside the Maine exhibit. One will give the temperature at the fair grounds while the other will be regulated to show the temperature in Maine at the same time.

The Maine exhibit will be in charge of Charles Titus, of Portland, who has put himself through an intensive period of training in order to be able to answer any question among the hundreds of thousands that will be asked. He will be assisted by wardens or other experts from various state departments.

Instead of concentrating on recreation alone, Titus and his assistants will be equipped to give vital information concerning agriculture, industry, and the state's many undeveloped resources.

So that the "message of Maine" will remain with them, interested visitors will be given a special booklet prepared for the Fair that tells the story of the State in text and pictures. It is titled, "Maine, the Place to Live, Work, and Play."

The Maine exhibit will be housed in the Court of States in the company of various other States. Maine, it is said, "has an excellent location" in the building which is located near the center of activity. It is expected that it will be visited by many millions of show patrons and potential Maine visitors before the World's Fair is over.

PORTLAND IS SELECTED

As Place For Holding the Next State Grange Session

State Grange Master F. Ardine Richardson of Strong announced Tuesday that the annual convention of the Grangers would take place Dec. 4, 5, 6, and 7 in Portland.

Richardson said: "We expect the largest registration in the history of the organization, basing this assumption on the fact that interest and activities throughout the State are being reflected in a general increase in membership for the third consecutive year."

HAS NOT MADE DECISION

But Cong. Smith Confident He Can Win the Nomination For Governor

Representative Clyde H. Smith said Tuesday that he will not be "driven out" of candidacy for Governor of Maine by statements that he is not a candidate.

Until and unless a man comes forth who stands for the principles for which Mr. Smith stands, he will stay in the race, he said.

He has not made a decision on whether or not he will run, and he has not made a statement on whom he will support if he does not run himself. And if he runs he is confident he will win. He gave out a formal statement on his position tonight, naming no names in his criticism of the gossip that he not a candidate, and he emphasized to the Press Herald correspondent that in his statement he refers only to announced candidates.

Blaine Viles of Augusta, now in Pinehurst, N. C., is expected here Friday and it is probable that there will be conferences between Smith and Viles and possibly other members of the Maine delegation.

Smith's complete statement follows: "It comes to me from good authority that one of the announced candidates for Governor is making a campaign on statement that I am not a contestant for this office. This is only one of the methods used to obtain support when one is grasping for the last straw."

"As I see it, no one who is participating in this contest thinks or lives with those principles that have to do with pension minded citizens, with the laboring men and women or with those who till the soil. These are the requisites that the next candidate for Governor of Maine must have or he goes down to defeat."

"It gives me much pleasure to be in a position to command the respect of the groups referred to. My record of 42 years of public service bespeaks this fact and is unchallengeable."

"Of course, industrialization of Maine is a splendid issue, a hobby which I worked for years ago, or until realizing that our enterprises were going southward because of lower wages and longer working hours of that section. So I came to Washington and helped to destroy this serious obstacle to Maine's industries by making all sections of the nation adopt the same working conditions."

"I am very pleased to say that I have a definite program, long since matured, for industrializing our smaller towns and cities. This plan will reach into the northern part of Maine which has been sadly neglected industrially."

"Thus it is observed that my thoughts have also been busy for Maine enterprises as well as for those who work on the farms and in the shops."

"Lastly the people of Maine are going to know in advance that candidates for office will respect their promises, many of which have, in years past, been made only to be broken. And may I emphatically say that until a man whose vision extends beyond politics and selfishness comes forth for this great office, I shall remain in contest to the end."

"Anyone doubting my chances of winning can be satisfied beyond reasonable doubt by asking the next 25 voters whom they meet. The answer will be as it has been through 49 elections without defeat."

William S. Linnell, Maine Republican national committeeman, is here, but vows his visit has no political significance, that he is here to show his young daughter, Nancy, the sights which he promised to do when she was 18. He is mentioned as a gubernatorial candidate.

Linnell visited with Senator Hale in the Senator's Capitol office. Hale, who has been ill, came up to the Capitol to vote on the relief appropriation, but went home when night drew on and no vote had been taken. He was paired against the proposed $150,000,000 the President wants, and paired for the $100,000,000 which was finally passed without a record vote. Senator White of Maine voted the same way. The $150,000,000 was defeated 47 to 28.

Inspection Nights

Rockland and Thomaston Batteries Pass Muster—Two Social Events

This has been inspection week with the local battalion of the 240th C. A. Regiment, that duty having been performed in a very businesslike manner by Major Lins of Portland, who was accompanied on his tour by Major Holmes of Brunswick.

Battery E of Rockland went through its course of sprouts Tuesday night and Wednesday night. Battery F of Thomaston had its test.

Social features were in order, as usual on these occasions, the first being the banquet at the New Hotel Rockland, tendered in honor of Assistant Instructor Major Lins. Present with him were Major Holmes of Brunswick who is the Battalion Commander; Major Hall of Rockland, senior instructor of the 240th C. A.; Lieut. Warren Feyler, adjutant to the battalion commander; Capt. Charles G. Hewett, Capt. Russell Hoffes of Thomaston; 1st Lieut. E. Kenneth Mills and 2d Lieut. C. Burton White and Edgar McCobb.

Mayor Edward R. Veazie was a special guest. After the inspection in Thomaston Wednesday night the military party adjourned to the home of Lieut. Feyler where the remaining hours of the night were happily spent.

The largest single exhibit at the New York World's Fair will be that of General Motors. To be known as Highways and Horizons, it will cover nearly seven acres in Transportation Zone at the head of the Fair's Central Mall.

Rockland Lions

An Executive Tells Of Fine Work Done By the Sea Scouts

In the absence of both the president and vice president, yesterday's meeting of the Rockland Lions Club was presided over by Past King Lion Blake B. Annis. Leon Sanborn of the Vinalhaven Club was the only visiting Lion, the guests being Principal Joseph E. Blaisdell and "Daisy" Chick of the High School faculty.

Henry A. Howard and Amory B. Allen, who have been spending the winter in St. Petersburg, Fla., were most cordially welcomed back into the ranks. The former brought back a song which is sung by the St. Petersburg Lions Club to the tune of "America."

Past King Lion Dana S. Newman and Ralph P. Conant were named as members of the entertainment committee for May.

Attention was called to the joint meeting of Rockland service clubs which will be held at the New Thorndike Hotel next Monday night, with supper at 6.30. A professional magician will entertain. The regular meeting next week will be omitted. A zone meeting will be held in Waldoboro Wednesday night, May 3, with the Vinalhaven, Camden-Rockport, Rockland and Waldoboro clubs in attendance.

District Scout Executive Willis Furtwengler was guest speaker yesterday, and told of the three branches of Scouting—Cub Scouting for boys 9 to 12, regular scouting for boys 12 to 15, and sea scouting for older boys. He read from a magazine a dramatic and effective story told by a Scout Executive who was in New York during New England's tropical hurricane and how he arrived home to find that the Sea Scouts had attended to every want of his imperiled family. "It was a definite example of what the older boys can do," said the speaker, who warned against organizations which are trying to undermine youth, and who declared that some means should be found of instilling democracy into them. He commended the schools for the good work they are doing.

Twenty-seven hundred tons of steel went into the construction of the General Motors Building at the New York World's Fair. Covering some seven acres at the head of the Central Mall, it is the largest structure of any single exhibitor.

THE WEATHER

So this is spring! Didn't feel that way this morning, with the temperature below the freezing point, and promise of continued cold today. Just to show that this wintry weather is no illusion there was a mild snowfall. Partly cloudy and somewhat warmer Friday. Only six days to the annual eclipse of the sun, which will be visible in Rockland and way stations.

Smack Virginia McLoon recently underwent engine repairs and painting on the Perry railway.

The concert which is to be given at Park Theatre will be on April 23d, and not next Sunday as was erroneously stated.

In celebration of his 823 birthday A. E. Jones of Stickney Corner, Washington, entertained at his residence part of the surviving members of the A. E. Jones cornet band of Globe, Me., (now South Washington), and some of his old friends and neighbors. Refreshments were served, including fruits and cigars.

And the evening was enlivened by songs and stories and a selection of lively jigs and reels on the violin and harp. At the conclusion of the ceremonies, the "boys" voted that they had had the time of their lives.

Mr. Jones lives on and cultivates the 80-acre farm his father bought more than 75 years ago. During the past 40 years he has made many improvements and additions. He has built a large two-story mill, and installed much modern machinery. He has a large hydraulic cider press, two large grist mills, threshing machine, band saw, rip saw, emery wheel, tool grinding and grain cleaner, green bone grinder, etc. The above machines are powered by a 12 h.p. and 2 h.p. gasoline engines.

Mr. Jones operates all the above machines for custom work without hired help.

Department President Mrs. Mae Cross and Mrs. Nellie Achorn attended the convention of the Massachusetts Department.

Mrs. Ruth Wood is substituting at the McLean Building for Miss Hazelten Watts who is receiving surgical treatment at Knox Hospital.

As a testimonial of their esteem for his capable services the past year Robert Brewer the retiring exalted ruler was presented with a wrist watch at Monday night's installation. Past President Albert C. Jones of the Maine Elks Association did the trick in a well worded speech.

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of Annie R. Kittredge who died April 14, 1934.

There is some one who misses you today.

And finds the time long since you went.

There is someone who thinks of you daily.

And tries to be brave and content.

But my heart just aches with sadness.

My eyes shed many a tear.

God only knows how I miss you mother dear.

And Believes He Would Have Real Program For Business Progress

Belfast, April 11
 Editor of The Courier-Gazette:—
 Appreciating yours as a well known liberal progressive paper I wish space to express a few thoughts on our own Republican Maine set-up.

Again our Legislature shows the results of weak leadership and as yet in two years Gov. Barrows has failed to show a firm grasp on the business problems of Maine. Thank heaven we have in Blin W. Page a real business and banking executive who will have a real program for Maine's business progress. His whole life has been devoted to the welfare of Maine affairs.

He kept his bank clear of alliances and enjoys a merited respect and reputation as a very successful business man and excellent citizen. It's time for more business and less politics.

Rev. and Mrs. Charles W. Turner called Monday on Miss Florence Cain in Clinton.

Frank Peabody is ill.

Mrs. Clara Lermond has employment at the home of Dr. M. L. Palmer in Waldoboro.

The High School orchestra will play between the acts of the senior class play Friday night at Town hall. The quilt made by the Thimble Club will be awarded. The play will be followed by a dance.

Ralph Crockett who has been a patient since December at the Veterans' Hospital in Togus is showing marked improvement and was able to pass the weekend in this town with his family. He has returned for further treatment.

Callers Friday at the home of Mrs. Newell Engley were Mrs. Rosa Burns and her granddaughter, Judith of Union.

Mrs. Henry V. Starrett, who has been ill for several weeks, is now able to be about the house.

Guests Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Burleigh Mank were Miss Madeline Mank of Thomaston and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Mitchell and daughter Patricia of Union.

Mr. and Mrs. Selden Robinson and Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Mills were guests Sunday night of Miss Cora Robinson in Thomaston.

Dr. and Mrs. Fred Campbell entertained at a party Saturday night in honor of the birthday of their daughter Jean. Present were Mr. and Mrs. George W. Walker, Miss Dorothy O'Neil, Miss Mildred Jackson of this town, Miss Louise Lannen of Belfast, Stuart C. Burgess of Rockland. Among the gifts which Jean received was a beautifully decorated birthday cake, the gift of Miss M. Grace Walker, the maker Mrs. Helen Hilton.

Mrs. N. B. Eastman is passing a few weeks with her daughter Mrs. Harold Scott in Bangor.

Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Copeland have returned home after spending the winter in Rockland.

Elizabeth P. Ring

Funeral services for Elizabeth P. widow of William E. Ring formerly of this town who died Wednesday in Grafton, Mass., were held Sunday at the Russell funeral home. Rockland. Burial was in Achnon cemetery, Rockland.

She leaves two sons, Edgar C. Ring of Arlington, Mass., and Charles Ring of this town; one daughter Mrs. Effie M. Meyers of Boston; three grandchildren and seven great grandchildren.

High School Activities

(By Madeline Haskell)

Quarterly exams were held Tuesday and Wednesday after being held over from the previous week because of illness among the students.

The Junior Class held a successful social Friday night at Glover hall.

The orchestra was well received Thursday night at the Woman's Club, where it played selections between each of the other numbers of the program.

Rehearsals are being held for the Senior Class play April 14. Constance Jenkins, who has been ill is expected back soon.

The Freshman class held a candy sale at school recently.

Tickets are on sale for the Senior Class play, under the direction of the business manager, Ernest Erkila.

All students receiving an average of 85 or over on any study this quarter, will be exempt from a test on that subject in June.

Herbert Moon was ill Friday at his home. This is the first time in three years that he has missed school.

Three-Act Mystery Farce

The pick of the High School talent will appear in the senior class play "Aunt Susie Shoots The Works," a three-act mystery farce, which will be presented Friday night at town hall. The three leading roles have been assigned to Constance Jenkins, Phyllis Perry, and Eugene Cogan.

Miss Jenkins, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Jenkins, has specialized in character parts and will have the role Friday of the eccentric Aunt Susie. Phyllis Perry, elder daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Perry, also no longer a novice in dramatics, is cast as ingenue. Opposite her will play Eugene Cogan, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Cogan, whose acting ability was discovered last December during the inter-class contest.

An excellent supporting cast will include Miss Virginia Wyllie, Miss Sisko Lehto, Miss Annette Haskell, Llewellyn Payson, Carl Perry, Miss Charlotte Moore, Alfred Wyllie, and Miss Mildred Jackson. The script is said to be hilariously funny, and two hours of entertainment is promised. Two colored parts add greatly to the comedy, two villains to the mystery, and a woman lawyer to the variety. This play is entirely different from any ever put on before by the high school, and should not be missed.

Ernest Erkila is the business manager. Russell Smith and Howard Borneman, stage and property managers, and Miss Dorothy Simmons, prompter. Principal Walter M. Gay and Miss Eleanor H. Goodwin are coaching.

Easter Services.

Undaunted by the snow storm and chill winds, there was a large attendance Sunday at Union Church. Decorations were unusually beautiful with Easter lilies and a profusion of colorful, gladioli, carnations, yellow callas, petunias etc. They were artistically arranged by the flower committee with Mrs. Edward Greenleaf chairman.

Services began at 6 o'clock with sermon by Rev. Kenneth Cook and anthems by the vested choir. At this service Beulah Gilchrist, Flora Brown, Elizabeth Hopkins, Emily Winslow and Leola Smith were baptized. They were all members of the church with two others Jennie Webster and Virginia Webster. Communion was observed.

A large number of Sir Knights of De Valois Commandery attended the 11 o'clock service. Rev. Mr. Cook preached an impressive sermon. Appropriate anthems were sung by the choir. Ernest Arey sang "The Golden City."

At the evening service the cantata "The Resurrection Story" was presented by a chorus of 39 voices with solo parts by Blanche Kittredge, Ruth Brown, Beulah Gilchrist, H. J. Coombs, G. Ernest Arey, Eugene Burgess, Flavilla Anderson, Flora Brown, Hazel Roberts, Gertrude Vinal and Dorothy Cobb. Organist was Leola Smith and music director Blanche Kittredge. All are to be congratulated for the fine presentation of the cantata. The message added much to the Easter tide.

HELP 15 MILES OF KIDNEY TUBES

To Flush out Acids and Other Poisons

Doctors say your kidneys contain 15 Miles of tiny tubes or filters which help to purify the blood and keep you healthy. Most people pass about 3 pints a day or about 3 pounds of waste. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning shows there may be something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

An excess of acids or poisons in your blood, when due to functional kidney disorders, may be the beginning of nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up at night, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headache and dizziness.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 Miles of kidney tubes flush out poisons from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

Skippers Took First

When "Goose" Met "Skip"

It Was Too Bad For the Ganders

Largely due to the classy bowling by Captain "Skip" Arey, the Skippers took the first leg of the current three-game series to see which team is really the better, and as the boys filed out after one of the hottest matches of a torrid season, all were giving credit where credit was due.

The Skippers took the first string at a lops, but the Ganders made their bid in the second and as the two teams went into the third and last string there were only seven pins between them with the Ganders on the short end.

The last string was a hectic affair, first one side and then the other being in the lead, but when Anchor Man Arey faced Anchor Man Arey in the final frames the Ganders were four pins in the lead. Responding to the calls of distress from his fellow Skippers Captain Skip came through with a brace of fat spares that put the game safely away in the Skippers' dunsmug bag. In so doing however he was only turning the tables on the O'Goose who last week did the very same trick to the Skippers. Before the match the two teams lined up against each other across the tables of Mrs. Kent's Restaurant and after some preliminary skirmishing made mincemeat of a haddock chowder. Although warned that if he had a second helping it might seriously interfere with his score, the Goose persisted, and as the results show, he is somewhat allergic to haddock.

After the meal a short business meeting was held and certain questions decided to the satisfaction of everybody but Der Captain Grimes who in spite of an expressed desire to give up his job as Custodian of the Feed Bag, was unanimously elected to office again and for the duration of the war. It was decided to hold three more matches, and then blow the heel-taps off the Shoe with a grand and glorious set down on May 1. (Provided the snow will allow of transportation to and fro at that time.) With the Skippers on top up on the crucial series of the season it is thought that the Ganders will be having secret practice sessions from now on, but Gene Hall claims it would do them no good simply because there is nothing there to build on. Gene claims that to have a good team one must build from the ground up, and the reason why the Ganders have no better luck is because they can't get very far from the ground with Der Captain on the team. But Der Captain retorts that Gene should not be pointing out any shortcomings, for he is no skyscraper himself.

With appetites and anticipations sharpened by the next two matches the boys will be all ready to eat the roof off the Shoe, and then to be able to sit back with good food under their belts, good tobacco in their pipes, good fellows in the crowd, and to be able to tell a darn good yarn about a darn good piece of bowling is pretty near to a bowlers heaven. KNOX-LINCOLN

FARM BUREAU

Agriculture

Three new bulletins have been received at the Extension Service office, Rockland, which may be obtained upon request. These will be of particular interest to dairymen. They are: "Grass and Legume Silage," "The Electric Fence and Pasture Management;" and "The Home-made Silo."

Mrs. Gertrude Hupper of Martinsville has 300 chicks this year which are doing very well and will be a start towards a large flock. She is planning a new up-to-date laying house. Merrett Clark of Tenant's Harbor has also started with 300 chicks from which he plans to get 100 good pullets. He is going to remodel an old henhouse on his farm.

Robert Bald, Sr. of Tenant's Harbor has several hundred chicks and has already sold one lot of broilers. His flock is pullover clean and has been supplying a Massachusetts hatchery all winter with eggs.

A recent call by the County Agent on Maynard Kinney of St. George road, Thomaston, found him applying lime to his poultry range—a good practice for any poultryman.

Turkeys as a side line are being considered by Charles Taylor of Tenant's Harbor. His small flock last year did so well that he is considering more this year. Mr. Taylor is a breeder of Jersey cattle and has had some very fine animals in the past having exhibited them at Union Fair.

Mrs. Elbridge Grafton returned Wednesday from visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas McDonald in Belfast.

At the Federated Circle meeting Tuesday at the home of Mrs. Bowdoin Grafton, the resignation of the president, Mrs. Edna M. Young, was accepted with regret. Her successor is not definitely known yet. Refreshments were served by the hostess assisted by Mrs. Philip Greenleaf and Mrs. Lee W. Walker. Mrs. Vernon Barnes and daughter, Beverly of Rockland were recent guests of Mrs. Douglas Vinal. Mrs. Ralph Hoffes entertained her bridge club Monday night, those present being Mrs. Gerald Creamer, Mrs. Douglas Vinal, Mrs. Arthur Pease, Mrs. Ralph Wyllie, Mrs. Philip Newbert, Miss Lucille Diller all of this town, and Miss Ruth Russell of Rockland. Prizes were awarded Mrs. Vinal for high score and Mrs. Wyllie for low. Miss Russell is to be hostess next week.

Mrs. Weson Hawes and sons Donald and Douglas of Upper Montclair, N. J., arrived Wednesday as guests of Mr. and Mrs. Percy E. Demmons a few days. Mrs. Hawes is the former Miss Marion Keene, who spent many summers here at the home of her mother, the late Mrs. Alida (O'Brien) Keene. Mrs. Ernest Pearl of Marlboro, Mass., is visiting her sister, Mrs. William T. Flint, who is ill. Parent-Teacher Association meets tonight at the High School auditorium. Rev. Donald F. Perron will speak on "The School System in the Philippines." There will also be colored slides of local views exhibited by Miss Jane Miller.

The W.C.T.U. is to meet Friday at 7:30 at the home of Mrs. Hubert F. Leach.

Mrs. Nellie Starrett, who has been visiting Mrs. E. P. Starrett since Sunday, went today to Boston, where she will make a short stay, enroute to Geneseo, N. Y., to resume her teaching duties.

Richard Bucklin and guest, William Richley of Phoenix, Arizona, have returned to Chicago Aeronaute School, after visiting Mr. Bucklin's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Bucklin.

STRAND THEATRE FRIDAY-SATURDAY

"THE BEACHCOMBER"

Charles Laughton as "Ginger Ted" of "The Beachcomber," the first production of Laughton's own producing company.

Laughton is seen as "Ginger Ted," English-born "remittance man" and beachcomber, loafing his life away on a tiny island. As Laughton portrays him, "Ginger" is a man who is at odds with the scheme of things in this quasi-tropical civilization. He resents efforts on the part of the authorities to restrain his addiction to drink, and his desire to make friends with the native girls. Despondent at times, in other moments roisterous, occasionally showing an inkling of the qualities of a gentleman, "Ginger" is a character with which only Laughton could create, with such consummate artistry. As the picture develops, "Ginger" finds himself confronted with a new and different "menace"—a woman who seeks to reform him. It's one Miss Jones, a missionary, played in "The Beachcomber" by Charles Laughton's wife, Elsa Lanchester. "Ginger" resents her; he is furious at her—and she despises him. Their two characters are poles apart—yet subtly each begins to feel the impact of the other's personality. Amazingly and believably, the narrative goes forward to a climax in which the drunken, slovenly, sulky, disreputable "Ginger" is changed for the better as a result of the influence of Miss Jones who is herself humanized in the process—adv.

Finis to Bowling

The Bowling League wound up the season Tuesday with a turkey banquet at Webber's Inn. This enjoyable affair, under the chairmanship of George Davis was attended by all members of the league except two. Herbert Newbert and Joseph Paquin—and was voted a fitting climax to a successful season. Clever and amusing place-cards of match holders each bearing a caricature of one of the bowlers, were the handwork of Edwin Lynch, and elicited much favorable comment and laughter. Harold Dana and Edwin Lynch provided music with their accordions, following which the group enjoyed a game of cards.

The conclusion of the season shows these results: The first half was won by Georges team, and the second half by Eds. the playoff being won by Georges. High individual standing for the season was attained by George (Davis), also second high by Robbins (Guy) also a member of Georges team. The other members of the winning team were Carl Chaplins, Alton Grover and Percival Perpoint, while those comprising Eds team, besides Capt. Elliot, were Alfred Strout, Herbert Newbert, Joseph Paquin and Gleason Cogan. Attending the banquet besides those already mentioned were Virgil Young, Chester Smalley, Forrest Grafton, Earl Woodcock, Edward Hastings, Karl Stetson and Clement Moody.

If you were in Virginia now, you would be able to listen to the glorious call of the Kentucky Cardinal and a riot of voices in the tree tops which would make you heart rejoice in thanks for the variety of bird songs which through the years you have learned to distinguish and enjoy. Soon some of these singers will be nesting and singing in the trees of Rockland.

Has any Rockland person or reader of The Courier-Gazette ever listed the coming of birds in the spring over a period of years? And watch to see how the dates compare? The writer for years has noted the singing and call of the Baltimore Oriole on the same date.

It is said that music is sound endowed with the power to thrill the emotions of the heart. Those who tirelessly academic, declare birds do not really sing lack ears to hear and hearts to respond to the love call song of birds at nesting time.

I think 'tis far better to prepare and prevent than to repair and repent. There should be preparedness in this country for whatever may come but do not go too far to search for conflict.

Red Cross Chapter From Eastern Area Manager Comes Certificate For Achievement

Rev. Corwin H. Olds, chairman of the Knox County Chapter of the American Red Cross was recently much gratified to receive from Richard F. Allen manager of the Eastern Area the following communication:

"An honor certificate for distinguished achievement in the 22d Roll Call has been awarded your Chapter.

"A widespread, interested membership is vital to the maintenance of the local, national and international work of the Red Cross and I wish to congratulate your Chapter upon enlisting this fine public support.

"Please express our sincere appreciation to the Roll Call chairman and to the officers and members who are helping to make your Chapter one of the strong links in the chain of Red Cross Chapters throughout the country."

AT THE STATE CAPITOL

A Conference Committee Tuesday voted to recommend to the House that it agree with the Senate in rejecting an amendment to the Sunday motion picture bill proposing a five-cent tax on each Sunday admission. Both branches sent the "movie" bill to the engrossment stage a week ago, but disagreed on the tax proposal sanctioned by the House.

Proponents of the tax predicted it would produce approximately $200,000 annually in "new" money to finance old age assistance. The committee's recommendation submitted to the lower branch yesterday.

The Senate recalled from Gov. Barrows two bills relating to topographical mapping which it had enacted previously. One would suspend for two years any appropriations for such mapping in Maine and the other would appropriate $3500 for each of the next two years on mapping of that section known as Katahdin Iron Works.

The latter project would be under jurisdiction of the Public Utilities Commission and would be a forerunner of possible commercial development of mineral resources there.

It was believed an amendment would be made to the bill suspending all mapping to eliminate the inconsistency between the two measures.

The House decisively defeated a bill requiring compulsory insurance for motor vehicle owners.

Representative James H. Thorne of Madison fought for the bill which he said was opposed at a recent hearing by only insurance companies.

"A man," Thorne told the House, "has no moral right—even though he now has the legal right—to be given a death-dealing device like an automobile and go onto the road without the ability to pay damages in accidents which are due to his acts."

Representatives Randolph A. Weatherbee of Lincoln and Alan L. Bird of Rockland led the opposition. "This law," Weatherbee said, "would put a tax on all motorists to pay the damages done by seven percent of them."

Bird contended the "remedy" would be worse than the disease, adding there was general opposition to the proposal.

The Senate joined the House in approving a bill seeking to eliminate aliens as old age assistance recipients—a proposal sponsored by a special Economy Committee which estimated 800 aliens could be replaced by citizens on the assistance lists.

The upper branch joined the House in killing a bill to transfer payment of county attorneys' salaries from the State to the counties.

A bill to exempt from the payment of excise taxes on motor vehicles residents of other States granting reciprocal privileges to Maine residents was rejected by the House.

The Senate enacted and sent to the Governor a bill prohibiting the sale of cigarettes to any persons under 16 and providing a fine of not more than $50 or imprisonment of not more than 30 days for violation.

Other Senate enactments were: Prohibiting the State, on the death of an old age assistance recipient, from placing a claim against the home of a surviving spouse as long as he or she occupies it as a home and does not marry again; requiring the State to pay funeral expenses of old age assistance recipients if the life insurance is insufficient to pay such costs. Increasing from 35 to 40 miles an hour the speed limit of commercial motor vehicles, registered to carry a load in excess of one ton, in open country and restricting the limit to 25 miles an hour in business and residential district. Requiring motorists to pay $1 in addition to their regular registration fees for the privilege of having reserved registration plates.

Salt Of The Earth

probably mean limitless debate, word piling upon meaningless word for a voluminous Legislative Record, and then when the frost is all out of the ground there will come the indubitable, hasty re-adoption of the same old taxation measures, which have supported Maine and stood the test in the past.

Anent the proposed income tax levy, revised, rejected, re-hashed, reamended, etc., ad infinitum, up Augusta way is one of several vital topics before the local committee on "What's Wrong with the State, Nation and World, and What to Do About It." At a committee meeting in Shorty Waite's general store, Chairman John Taxpayer asserted vociferously that an income tax would be useless as these days no one has an income to provide funds to pay a tax on an income. Instead Boss Taxpayer said, the Legislature better be careful in passing any such tax measures that might be retroactive, whereby the State might be obliged to rebate one per centum on incomes folks could not earn.

Seeing as how they are passing a chain store tax up at Augusta, Shorty Waite (General Merchandise-Ice Cream Sodas, Sunglasses and Free Air in Season—adv.) says he can't afford it. So he plans to avoid the tax by closing out his line of auto tire, watch and log chains.

Word from the State House says our Representative "Mose" Lawes (so-called because he's our law-giver) interrupted his biennial winter vacation long enough to introduce a bill prohibiting lobsters from turning red when boiled. This was referred to the committee on Temperance, Crustacea and Bughouses. "Mose's" argument is that when he himself gets boiled (as an owl) he turns red. That's a dead give-away, and mighty embarrassing. "Mose's" claims, because his constituents continually ask him every election how he stands on the wet and dry question. Everyone knows his campaign slogan is "Down with Liquor." What makes it bad for "Mose" is that he keeps right on campaigning even after he's elected.

Do your Christmas shopping early—adv. Baldy Whimpy Corners Correspondent.

A MAID CALLED MILLS

Whom You Will Take To Your Heart When She Talks About Household Matters

BROADCAST BY MARJORIE MILLS

(Monday, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday at 130 p. m. over Stations WNAC, Boston; WTAC, Worcester; WCHS, Portland; WTIC, Hartford; WICC, Bridgeport; WEAN, Providence; and WLBZ, Bangor).

Most of us cherish a lusty yearning to go gallivanting off to far-away cities to see the sights, observe the people and taste the foods but if we're lashed by the apron string to joys and duties in one town it's fun to hear about the other fellow's wanderings and observations. For instance, a letter from John Swain in Whitman took us to Philadelphia, Venice and back home to New Orleans all in the space of five minutes.

"Can't you somewhere," he implores, "dig up a real recipe for Philadelphia Pepperpot. The genuine soup as they prepare it in the Quaker city warms both heart and tummy; here it's a hissing and a reproach. Years ago down a street where I used to visit came an aged negro with snow white hair and tottering steps, bearing a great bucket and piping in a thin, reedy voice:

"Pepr' pot. Nice and hot." And it was. The dignified families all bought it but he wouldn't disclose the recipe, said his home-grown 'yarbs gave the flavor. In Savannah they peddle hot boiled crabs; at little way stations, fried chicken piping hot; just as in Venice the Italians serve from great, deep fat kettles, tiny, crisp, and crackling octopi (calamari, in Italian). I'd love to see you beside a sleepy Venetian canal nibbling the succulent feelers of a baby octopus. Hopkinson Smith used to do it and so did William Dean Howells.

Yesterday a young journalist from New Orleans who called on me made my mouth water. For instance, the big rich doughnuts and all the strong coffee you can drink for a dime at the stall of a little Frenchman. In the Old Market, a negro mammy sells equally good coffee and huge sugared, cinnamon-rolls, three rolls and coffee for a nickel. The coffee in bowls. At other street stalls in New Orleans one can buy for a nickel, steaming bowls of hot rice, red beans and chili from the Mexicans, three big hot boiled crabs with pungent sauce for a dime or risotto Milanese for a nickel. Of course you eat all these good things standing up and in all sorts of weather and you don't get steaks, game or Rameau gin fizzes, but what a city!"

Jack Roberts, steward at the Ritz Carleton, regaled us with descriptions of places to eat in New Orleans the other day and even promised a list if you're traveling that way.

Doesn't it make you want to pull up stakes and start? Well, here are today's recipes and they'll taste good at home, too.

Lemon Whip Pie

Three eggs, 4 tablespoons lemon juice, 1 cup sugar, grated lemon rind from 1 lemon, baked pie shell. Beat egg yolks until very light, add ½-cup sugar slowly while beating. Cook over hot water until thick and jellyed, remove and cool slightly. Add rest of sugar to beaten egg whites and fold in the yellow mixture. Heap lightly in baked pie shell and brown top in slow oven.

Baked Bean Soup

Three cups cold Friend's baked beans, 3 pints water, 2 slices onion, 2 stalks celery 1½ cups stewed and strained tomatoes, 1 tablespoon Blue Label chili sauce, salt and pepper, 2 tablespoons butter, 2 tablespoons flour.

Put the beans, water, onion and celery in a saucepan, bring to boiling point and simmer thirty minutes. Rub through a sieve, add the tomato and chili sauce, season to taste with salt and pepper and bind with the butter and flour cooked together. Serve with crisp crackers.

Tea Dainties

One-half cup butter, 1 cup brown sugar, 2 egg yolks, 1½ cups flour, 1 teaspoon baking powder. Cream butter, add sugar and cream. Beat in egg yolks, and beat in sifted dry ingredients. Spread in bottom of buttered baking pan and cover with meringue made of: One cup brown sugar, pinch baking powder, whites 2 eggs, 1 cup chopped nuts.

Bake at 350 degrees F for 25 to 30 minutes or until meringues are browned and cake done.

Pineapple Cucumber Salad

Two tablespoons Knox gelatine, ½ cup cold water, 2 cups boiling water and pineapple juice, ½ cup vinegar, 1½ teaspoons salt, 1 cucumber, 2 tablespoons chopped onion, 1 can pineapple. Soak gelatine in cold water. Add the boiling water and stir until dissolved. Add the vinegar and salt and pour into molds. Set in ice water and when it begins to thicken add the cucumber, which has been cut into dice and allowed to stand an hour in salted water, the onion and the pineapple, cut into pieces. Chill until set, unmold on a bed of lettuce and pass sour cream salad dressing with it.

The Clipper Ships

Rockport Man Laughs At the Report—Five Were Built In Rockland

Charles F. Collins of Rockport, who began making vessel models when he was 12 years old, and has kept it up ever since, was a caller at The Courier-Gazette office Tuesday, hot under the collar because some paper, somewhere, had made the awful blunder of saying that no clipper ships were built in Maine. Now if Mr. Collins has one particular hobby it is clipper ships and he keeps their history at his finger tips. "No clipper ships built in Maine!" he exclaimed; "why there were five built in Rockland," and he told them off on his fingers—the Defiance, the Cavalier, the Live Yankee, the Young Mechanic and the famous old Red Jacket.

The Young Mechanic he said was built by a man named Rhodes, who was taken down sick when the craft was half completed and he left his 20 year old son to finish the job and that's how the clipper ship happened to be named the Young Mechanic.

The Red Jacket was built at the Northend by Deacon Thomas, who later went to Medford, Mass., and continued to build ships as long as he lived.

The Red Jacket, as many of the older readers of this paper know, made the quickest trip from New York to Liverpool ever made by a sailing craft. She sailed from New York and arrived in Liverpool in 13 days and 1 hour.

When the craft arrived at Point Lynas off Liverpool word had reached England that she had broken the record, and some captains, mates and others interested in shipping, to the total number of 150 chartered a steamer, and all went aboard the Red Jacket to see this new champion.

When the clipper ship arrived in Liverpool a shipping firm bought her for $74,000 and put her on the route between Liverpool and Melbourne, and on her first voyage she carried 46,000 ounces of gold. She made several voyages, all of which were better than the average. In place of a gold carrier, she eventually was put into the lumber trade between Canadian ports and Liverpool, carrying deals.

Mr. Collins' father, Stephen R. Collins helped build the Red Jacket, and well knew a Rockland shipworker. Capt. Andrew Gray, who was also engaged on that task.

Mr. Collins went to sea seven winters with his uncle, Capt. Frank Etheridge and Capt. James McKenzie. He was 85 years old in March, but is right pert in spite of all these years. His vessel models are scattered all over the country, one of the Red Jacket being in the Franklin Institute, Philadelphia, and one in the Smithsonian Institute in Washington. He is now making one for a Philadelphia woman.

MARJORIE MILLS RECIPE

CRABMEAT SALAD

Flake one large can crabmeat and remove tendons. Heap a generous portion of crabmeat on a bed of lettuce arranged on a salad plate, sprinkle with chopped nuts or finely diced celery, if desired, and add one whole tomato, peeled and quartered, arranging tomato quarters cut-side up around crabmeat. Top with a generous portion of CAIN'S MASTERMIXT MAYONNAISE and serve at once.
