Maritime Commission Puts Overboard Its First Dry Cargo Ship

The first of the dry cargo vessels to be launched in the United States Maritime Commission's building program, the Donald McKay, left the ways Saturday at the yards of the Sun Shipbuilding and Dry Dock Company, Chester, Penn.

The Donald McKay is the first of 20 steel cargo vessels of the C-2 group which are being constructed by the Maritime Commission. It will be used in the Baltic trade operated by the Moore-McCormack Steamship line.

The Donald McKay is the fifth ship to be launched since the Maritime Commission began its construction program. The others were the tankers, Cimarron, Markay, Seaway and New Orleans. The first of these tankers was sold to the United States Navy and the next two to the Keynote Tankship Corp., while the New Orleans was retained by the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey which built all four vessels. The Maritime Commission defrayed the cost of national defense features in these ships. The Donald McKay is being sold by the Maritime Commission to the Moore-McCormack Steamship Corp., 5 Broadway, New York city.

THE GOOD NEWS TODAY

The Snow Shipyards To Build Finest Fishing Craft On the Maine Coast

The big news in Rockland today is the announcement that the United States Maritime Commission has approved the plans and specifications for the construction by The Snow Shipyards of a wooden beam trawler which will cost somewhere in the neighborhood of $100,000.

The local concern will not only build what will probably be rated as the finest fishing boat on the Maine coast, but will attend to every detail of the equipment so that when it comes to the delivery of the craft on some fine day early in October the trawler will be ready to steam immediately for the fishing grounds.

The boat will have a gross tonnage of 160, and will measure 110 feet over all. The beam will be 23 feet and the craft will draw 10 feet of water.

The materials have been ordered and actual construction will begin within three weeks.

The boat is being built for an interest which has requested for reason, that momentarily the ownership remain undisclosed, and she will be in charge of one of the most successful of the younger men in the Eastern fish industry and one who has had charge of some of the largest of the Boston Fish Pier fleet.

Financing will be arranged for in Boston with Federal Insurance, under plans as provided by Title XI, Merchant Marine Act of 1936, and so far as can be ascertained this will be the first vessel east of New York city to have been built under this arrangement.

It speaks volumes for the Snow Shipyards when it is stated that the prospective owner could have had the trawler built elsewhere for a materially reduced sum. "When I am 400 miles offshore in a wooden vessel," said he, "I prefer to know that a bottom built by Snow is under me."

The vessel is to be built under the most exacting specifications and of the highest grade construction for boats of this size and class, with white oak framing and plank and locust treenail fastenings. It will be equipped with a 350 h. p. Cooper-Bessemer Diesel engine together with all necessary auxiliaries and a sustained speed of a little better than 11 knots is expected. A fuel-oil tank capacity of 6,000 gallons will give the boat a radius of 16 to 18 days.

Aft will be the captain's quarters in a deckhouse and below four state-rooms for engineer and officers, while forward accommodations for 10 men are provided.

The hold will have capacity for 180,000 pounds of iced fish which will adequately take the average catch of a 12 day trip, this being about the length of time boats of this size plan on remaining on fishing grounds.

The deck arrangement with winches, hoists, bollards, etc., are to be of the most approved design for handling gear.

When work on the trawler is in full progress it is estimated that 80 men will be on the payroll at the Snow Shipyards.

[EDITORIAL]

MAYOR PAYNE ENTERS

The announcement of Frederick G. Payne that he will seek the Republican nomination for Governor in the 1940 primaries was by no means unexpected. For several weeks it has been known throughout the State that Augusta's third time mayor was considering the matter, and that he has not acted ill-advisedly may be judged from the reaction to his inquiries in various parts of the State. Augusta citizens have sufficient admiration for his ability as a governmental executive to thrice nominate him for the highest office within the gift of the city, and the Democrats recognized his strength at the polls by placing no candidate against him when he was named for a third term.

Mayor Payne's nine-point program can scarcely fail to appeal to any voter who has his State's welfare at heart. He declares he is opposed to added tax burdens and to increasing the State debt, and he is apparently fully justified in stressing his labors of the past five years toward the development of the State's industries, fishing and agriculture. He believes, also, in the broadening of vocational education. There is an appeal to Mayor Payne's concluding statement: "I want the opportunity to render useful service; I have no other object."

THIS IS JUST RECOGNITION

Thomas E. Dewey, district attorney of New York County, who is being favorably looked upon as the candidate for the Republican Presidential nomination, has just been selected to receive the Cardinal Newman award for 1938, because of his distinguished services in the war on crime. Dewey's courageous efforts in seeking "the man higher up" and his success in convicting him, has attracted nation-wide attention and approval.

WORK OF THE 4-H CLUBS

Many newspaper patrons read casually of the work being done by 4-H Clubs without in the least understanding its extent or its importance. The Department of Agriculture in Washington reports that last year's enrollment in club work reached the record-breaking total of 1,286,029 members. This record enrollment brings to approximately 7,500,000 the total number of young people who have received 4-H training since the work became nationwide in 1914. More than half a million boys and girls enrolled last year for the first time.

The 4-H Club members learn to do by doing. Under the supervision of voluntary local leaders and county extension agents, they acquire first-hand knowledge of farm and home skills as a part of their club activities. Last year 19 out of every 20 boys and girls in Maine who enrolled to learn some skill completed their work. Maine clubs led all other States in this respect, a position which they have held for several years. The 4-H Clubs in this State are sponsored co-operatively by the College of Agriculture of the University of Maine, the U. S. Department of Agriculture, and the farm bureaus. Membership is made up principally of rural boys and girls between the ages of 10 and 21.

IMPORTANT NORTHEND DEAL

Mrs. C. M. Blake Sells Three Lots and Buildings For Esso Station Site

An important real estate deal at the Northernd was completed yesterday when Mrs. C. M. Blake sold three lots of land and buildings thereon to the southward of her wall paper and antique store, to the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey.

The three buildings included in the deal are to be removed prior to May 15 in order that work may begin on a new Esso station at the earliest opportunity. With the demolition of the old Rankin building next south of Cottage street there will pass out of the picture a structure which flourished in the days of the independent time companies when occupied by K. C. Rankin & Co. The building has since had several tenants, but is at present vacant. One family occupies the upper tenement.

The store next south of the Rankin building, also vacant, was for some years occupied by the late George Orcutt. A family has the tenement overhead.

At the rear of this structure is a tenement containing one family.

The maintenance of the large property interests of the late Charles M. Blake has called for much care and attention by the widow and daughter, who in making this timely disposition of unoccupied properties are taking to that section of the Northernd an industry of moment, and one which will beautify the unused premises.

Beach Inn at Lincolville Beach will open May 7 and patrons of that popular resort are going to be happily surprised when they see the transformation the McIntires have wrought. The partition separating the main dining hall and the porch or piazza, has been removed throwing it into one large dining room, which will be seen from the street through three French windows. New wallpaper is being hung in Currier & Ives design. Mrs. Mattie Welch will again occupy her popular role as hostess. The proprietors foresee the best season in the Inn's history.

Lots of dancers are going to trip the light fantastic toe at the Ocean View ball room Monday night when the men of the Central Fire Station give their ball. The firemen want a new radio and the public sympathizes, because they know there are idle moments, even in a fireman's life, and the boys cannot be blamed for wanting to hear Frankie Fitch's baseball broadcasts.

HER DAFODILS

Long and shining is the row Of golden daffodils. Modding from my neighbor's garden edge. Blossoms and buds that seem to whisper in the April sunlight.

I wonder if among themselves they are not saying: She who tended us and loved us, Watched for our coming. At the passing of the snow in many springtimes, Will walk along our border nevermore To gather flowers. She has gone where springtimes are eternal. And the blossoms do not fade.

"We shall miss her gentle footsteps in the garden. When the soft winds rustle in our leaves, They will bear our sighs for her care-les; When the morning dewdrops glisten on our petals, Those will be our tears."

—By Ednah F. B. Parkhurst

"The Black Cat"

By The Roving Reporter

Before me is a hand bill printed in 1884 giving the program which was used by Nit Willow Lodge of Warren on the occasion of its fifth anniversary. The address of welcome was given by R. S. Hall. A drama was presented by a cast comprising E. R. Mero, Fred Moody, C. A. Vinal, C. B. Libby, Miss Frances Spear, Miss Jennie Meserve and Miss Gertrude Burkett.

The Ginger Sweet columnist in the Bangor News has the following to say on a subject bound to interest all who recall the good old steamboat days:

"Someone from Bucksport asks how many stacks the old Eastern liner City of Bangor carried. Fellow down there painted her with one. Well, the Bangor carried two stacks, rather small, set athwartships like the old International liner State of Maine. Those stacks always looked splendidly to us. The Camden and Belfast each carried two stacks, much fatter than the Bangor's and set fore-and-aft.

"Stacks their size, number and positions have a lot to do with the looks of any steamer. Some of the Atlantic passenger liners carry one or two dummy stacks, to give a balanced appearance. One might do, but a ship 800 to 1000 feet long would look odd with only one stack sitting lonesomely amidships."

You can take your rattles to the New York World's Fair without fear of offending anyone, least of all the medical staff. For it was learned that the stork has his eye fixed on New York's gala event of the century and plans at least a few casual visits there this summer. And Fair officials, mindful of everything, have included this contingency in their plans for caring for the health of the 60,000,000 expected visitors. Of the 60,000,000, at least half will be women, and by all the laws of averages it is figured that at least 18 or 20 babies will be born on the Fair grounds.

Frank Perry hands me a copy of the Eastern Agents Directory, printed at Thomaston in July 1886. I note this item in the editorial column:

Who says that if Major McKinley is elected President that we will have just enough, not enough, or too much "protection"? We do not discuss politics in our paper, hence will "waive our decision."

The man should have been Reed, though; he's a Maine man, you know! We live in Maine! Hence, "beg pardon!"

The reference to "Reed"—Thomas B. Reed, "Czar of the House" recalls the thrills Maine folks felt when the late Congressman Charles E. Littlefield went to the national convention to make the nominating speech for Reed. There was much "huzzahing" the night before the nominating speeches were made, and unable to refrain from the jollification Mr. Littlefield about ruined his voice. He made a good speech, but Reed's cause was lost long before the convention opened. I met the Czar on one occasion, when he visited Rockland with Mark Twain.

Up at Uncle Sam's citadel, sometimes known as the Post Office, one member of the postal staff is accustomed to bring along his breakfast mornings. Yesterday he heated his coffee to the proper degree and then opened his lunch to see what the good wife had provided. Alas! Some miscreant had replaced the lunch with a small piece of lettuce.

One year ago, R. S. Sherman was elected moderator of the First Baptist parish, with C. H. Morey as clerk—Mrs. Pauline MacWilliams was chosen president of the Rockland Garden Club—A letter from Capt. F. B. Balano, written in Valencia, Spain told of desperate conditions there—Rockland High School's one-act players were given a send-off as they left for Warwick, R. I.—Destroyer Craven was on the Rockland course—Edwards & Co., Rockland grocery firm was incorporated with a capital of $50,000—District Governor Marsh visited the Rockland Lions Club. It was ladies' night—Alfred M. Haynes of the Maine Inshore Patrol was promoted to chief boatwain's mate.

SOME COUNTY RECORDS

Which Have Been Hung Up By the Topplers Of the Skinny Sticks

Editor of The Courier-Gazette:—

Here are a few official New England records, which are also world marks, due to the fact that "candle-pins" is practically a New England game. In using the large pins, also duck pins, no deadwood is left on the alley after a ball has been thrown. Those not familiar with the game think this would give the bowler an advantage in candlepins but it is just the opposite.

People from the West and South who have never used the small pins, step up to the foul line with great confidence and what an astonished look comes over their faces when 65 to 75 is chalked up. About a year ago a few "gobs" stepped into the Star Alleys from a cruiser on trial here. One of the yeomen was considered good back in Port Wayne, Ind., and he was going to murder the toothpicks, as he called John's stove wood.

When the string was over, his mates really went to town on him, his score was 63 and luck at that. Rip Van Winkle could have done better than that without any sleep.

Golden Rod Chapter has completed its arrangements for Charter Member night and annual roll call. As this is the first roll call for some time, it is hoped that a large crowd will attend. Supper at 6:30 and those not solicited have been asked to take sweet food.

The annual Short Course in Flower Gardening for Garden Club federation of Maine members and other adults will take place at University of Maine May 4 and 5. This year's enrollment is so large that all sessions will be held in the Little Theatre, Alumni Hall, unless otherwise announced. Notice of intention to attend should be received at Orono before May 1st. Each person is asked to bring notebooks, pencils, garden gloves and rubbers, as the course includes lectures, demonstrations and actual practice in sowing seeds, transplanting seedlings, arranging and transplanting shrubs. A detailed program may be had by consulting Fred P. Loring, director of short courses at University of Maine, Orono.

Looking over the 1938-39 season, one finds some interesting data which should be used next year when rating the champs and chumps of the "skinny stick" game. The most improved bowler of the past season was none other than "Wimp" Chatto, the postal carrier and member of the City League Champions, the Post Office.

Starting in early last year, "Wimp" was a pushover for some of the sharks but with a diet of hamburger and steady practice, he has become a menace to all who step up to the foul line. At present he holds the high single record at the Community Building and almost every week he walks off with the prize at the Star Alleys.

The one and only "Great Arico", broke two city and county records for four and five strings and holds the Community titles as well. The Thomaston Terrors, led by George Davis, grabbed the five-man title from Camden when they slapped down Squawman Maynard's team from the Y.M.C.A.

Phil Grover, the speed ball king of Camden, retains the Knox County title which is the one the boys all look forward to snatching. Looking back over the year, one can call it the most enjoyable in the history of the county. This was made possible by that Indian man from Camden, Chickadee Maynard, who brought forth the famous Grover, present champ.

Having tossed the pronouns and adjectives around for the bowlers, I wish to let them know that for the past three years I have enjoyed associating with such a fine bunch of sports and only hope that next year will find them back to the wars. Business in the West forces me to up anchor and shove off.

S. A. R.

Rockland, April 26.
I have not been made acquainted with the plans of the Star Alleys Reporter, but wherever he goes and whatever he does, he has this paper's best wishes. His illuminating reports of the games at "John's" have done much to keep the bowling spirit at a high pitch, and everybody owes him a vote of thanks.—The Sports Editor

AN APPRECIATION

April 25
Editor of The Courier-Gazette:—
Through the columns of your paper the Emery family of Rose Hill Farm wishes to express its heartfelt thanks to the people of Owl's Head and vicinity for their wonderful help during and after the recent fire. Especially do we want to highly commend the Rockland Fire Department for its quick response. Its courage and judgement, for without it the house, which was within 25 feet of the roaring furnace could not have been saved. To all who assisted in carrying from and back into the house of the many pieces of furniture we give great praise, for not one article was broken or lost.

To the Town Officials, who within two hours had the State Fire Warden from Augusta on the scene, we give great praise, fully believing that they will find and bring to justice the person or persons who did this crime. To Perry Margerson, the youth who had the presence of mind to take Mrs. Packard from the house to Mrs. Dyer's, we give our thanks, realizing that this shows the beginning of a very useful life. The conduct through the whole horrible affair shows the beautiful spirit of Maine people.

The new cruiser St. Louis went on the trial course yesterday afternoon and weather permitting will complete her standardization test today. Reports were uncertain as to the length of her stay at this port. The Trial Board is staying on the ship.

The May term of Knox County Superior Court convenes next Tuesday for what promises to be an extremely brief session. No writs have been served indicative of a civil trial, and as for the criminal docket there are no bound over cases, and no appealed cases of consequence. There are only two naturalization cases.

There will be an important rehearsal for the members of Knox County Men's Chorus in the vestry of the Universalist Church Sunday night at 7:30 in preparation for the concert to be given in the First Baptist Church of Rockland on the following Sunday night at the regular service time. Remember this date, May 7, concert by the Knox Men's Chorus. Those who have not had the pleasure of listening to this famous men's chorus will surely want to avail themselves of the opportunity of hearing them in the beautiful atmosphere of our First Baptist Church. Everyone is welcome.

Members of the Rockland Lions Club yesterday saw some beautiful motion pictures of that modern Eden—Acadia National Park, shown by Maurice Sullivan, one of that institution's popular officials. The government furnishes guides for the tourists, and the pictures showed some of these happy parties making their investigations by land and sea. Something different every day except Sunday, when the guides are off duty. Mr. Sullivan's incidental remarks proved very interesting. Foy W. Brown was an involuntary visitor, and Charles Wentworth of Waterville was a guest, whose cigars were enjoyed by the crowd. Robert Gregory, son of Past King Lion A. W. Gregory was admitted to membership. No meeting next Wednesday noon, as the club will attend the night session of the four zone clubs at "The Lobster Pot" in Friendship Supper at 7. Stag.

John Harlow, 20, and two boys aged 15 and 13, respectively were found guilty in Municipal Court yesterday of breaking, entering and larceny at Rose Hill Farm Sunday night. It developed that while syphonng gas from a truck parked alongside the barn one of the trio struck a match, the gas ignited, starting the blaze which led to the complete destruction of the big barn in which were 11 cows and other livestock. All three of the boys were placed on probation for one year, a heavy sentence being averted by the fact of their youth and lack of criminal record.

SCOTTICUS—"Why so late good friend Ingenius? Methought some evil had befallen thee. Well do I know thy weaknesses. I had thoughts of some evil wench along the waterfront whispering sweet nothings into thy shell like ear."

INGENIUS: Not evil deeds, good Scotticus, but evil smells did waste my time. A barrel of glue was I short upon my manifests, but finally I did find it by its smell. And then when I was ready for departure what comes upon the scene but a bounteous dray load of the most smelly fish, sent down to me by that scheming knave, Julius Caesar Grimes. 'Twas but a ruse to keep me at my post, to press my nose but, closer to the grindstone of my work, in the vain hope it would delay me and cause to us the loss, by forfeit, of this most noble contest.

"But how I didst outwit him, I am here to bowle you see."

And my Julius Caesar smother, in the smells I left behind me."

Caesar: "You do me wrong, most noble Ingenius. 'Twas but a routine performance. If I had wished thee to stay away, I should have asked thee to come early. I know so well your high regard for me."

INGENIUS: "Well, I am now ready. Buckle on my armor, place the device of the noble Scipios, upon my breast, put between my lips a wisp of that fragrant weed that maketh brown my spittle, and I am prepared, for come what may. On with the game. Let joy be unfurled."

And if we lose the game, 'twill be a cut unkind."

Scipio: "Come hither, sweet Goosicus, and we will toss a coin, and let the fates decide who first shall bowle and where. Who hast a coin to toss? No, I."

Caesar: rushing forward: "Here, here is one. A silver ducat, but freshly made today in honor of my 22 birthday. (Gives coin to Scipio)."

Scipio: "Name thy choice friend Goosicus. Which side up will come? The head or the tail?"

Goosicus: "I call it heads." Scipio flips coin.

Goosicus: "And heads it is." You lose the first encounter with the Fates Scipio. I choose the nearest roadway. It seems to bear me better fortune."

Scipio (who has been quietly examining coin): "Hold fast friend Goosicus. Stay thy hand. Of all the foul smells brought in by this sea serpent, Julius Caesar Grimes, methinks this one shrieks to high heaven and sheweth something rotten in Denmark. This coin of Caesar's, freshly made today, must to his own and very special order have been made. It is a fraud. A head on both sides it presents."

Goosicus: "I swear upon the honor of a Gander I did not know. But 'tis a fact I always call for heads."

Cries from the spectators: "Down with Caesar. 'Beware the Ides March.' 'Kill him. 'Kill him.'—Scipio: (Raises hand): "Hold, citizens. Peace, be still. It only shews to what extent our opposition goes to gain its end, and in what straits they find themselves against my good gladiators. But we care not. We'll call it but a mouldy jest, known to all the ancient Greeks and the Egyptians. In sooth, they early put the 'gyp' in Egypt. Had I but won the choice, I would have chosen the roadway that Goosicus did reject. 'Tis naught to us. On with the game."

Let our first contestants take their stands.

And if they die in the attempt. Their blood will be on Julius Caesar's hands.

Caesar: "Hand back the coin, good Scipio. I must admit the jest did flit out. Mayhap some other time 'twill serve my purpose."

Scipio: "Thou art forgiven, Julius. We take the offence from whence it comes. And no offence consider it. What ho, my Scipio, we now begin."

You, Orion 'tis Linkorum you oppose.

WILL GO TO HAITI

The town fathers of Newcastle and Nobleboro met Saturday and disposed of the surplus alewives in a three-year contract with Brant, Auguste and Nadal of Haiti.

The contract price is $1.15 a barrel, an increase of 13 cents over last year's price paid by the same parties.

"Surplus fish" means what the "smokers" and baiters don't want. Formerly the first run was eagerly sought by the smokers and the first smoked fish retailed at a good price.

This feature has been largely eliminated by the importation of St. John's alewives a long time before the local fish appear.

It is said that 50,000 such alewives have been brought across the border and smoked at the Mills.

Last year Brant, Auguste and Nadal took 1,500 packed barrels. The total receipts were $1,871, and the expenses $995 leaving $876 apiece for Newcastle and Nobleboro. Most of the expense is for purely local labor.

Widows and needy poor are entitled by long usage to 200 alewives each. Newcastle widows the number of 14 received 200 alewives apiece and 27 Nobleboro women called for their quota.

No fish have as yet been seen in the river and it will probably be three weeks before the season is on.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE—

Without Calomel—And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning!

The liver should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas builds up your stomach. You get constipated. Your whole system is poisoned and you feel sour, sick and the world looks punk.

A mere bowel movement doesn't get at the cause. It takes those good, old Carter's Little Liver Pills to get those two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up." Harmless, gentle, yet amazing in making bile flow freely. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills by name. 25 cents. Stubbornly refuse anything else.

The Garden Club

Dealt This Time With An "Annual" — Leah Fuller
the New President

The annual meeting of the Rockland Garden Club was held Tuesday afternoon at the Community Building with Mrs. Alice Jameson, Mrs. Arthur Haines, Mrs. Adelaide Lowe, Mrs. Edith Bird, Mrs. Alice Cobb and Mrs. Leah Fuller as hostesses.

The president Mrs. Pauline MacWilliams called the meeting to order. The secretary read the following "Collect" recently adopted by the Garden Club Federation. "Let us O God, look to the tree and the flower for the beauty and serenity of orderly living. As each in its season, depending wholly upon thee for development, arrives at perfection, so may each of us, in simplicity and trust, work out the divine pattern of her being. And help us to achieve in living O God, the same harmony and loveliness that we strive for in gardening, exemplifying in both the beauty of holiness."

The annual meeting of the Medomak Region will be held in the First Church, Allagash Club members are invited to attend.

A short course in gardening will be held May 4 and 5 at the University of Maine, Orono.

The annual larkspur is to be adopted this year as the Garden Club flower.

The Rockland Garden Club is to send Miss Annie Rhodes, a teacher in one of the Rockland schools, to the Audubon Nature Camp this summer for a period of two weeks.

Miss Rhodes agrees to organize a Junior Nature Club and interest herself and others in the making of a nature trail.

These officers were elected for ensuing year: President, Mrs. Leah Fuller; vice president, Mrs. Kay Berry; secretary, Mrs. Ida Dondis; treasurer, Mrs. Jane Beach. The speaker for the afternoon was Everett Gration of the Maine Development Commission of Augusta. Mr. Gration told us the scope of the Development Commission. Then he told about Maine's exhibit at the New York World's Fair and said that Maine will be the only state in the Union to have its exhibit completed April 30.

He showed beautiful colored pictures of "Scenic Maine."

STRAND THEATRE

Low Ayres and Jeanette MacDonald will be seen Friday and Saturday in "Broadway Serenade"

Appearing opposite the singing star is Lew Ayres, whose ace performances in recent film hits won for him the male lead in this picture. Ayres, a musician and composer in real life, plays a parallel role as Jimmy Seymour. Miss MacDonald's husband.

The story is woven about the lives of Ayres and Miss MacDonald, as husband and wife who combine to form a piano and song team performing at cheap nightclubs. Ayres' temper costs them their job. On returning home he discovers he has won a scholarship to study in Italy, but the funds are insufficient to provide passage for his wife. Determining to sell his prize song, the two visit the office of producer Cornelius Collier, played by Frank Morgan.—adv

This And That

By K. S. F.

"Good morning, Uncle Joe. Did you sleep well? I'm afraid your bed was rather hard and uneven but—"

"Oh, it was all right, thank you. I got up now and then during the night and rested a bit, you know."

There are varieties of spiders extremely voracious in their appetites, the female being the greatest consumer of foods. She, when not able to find her heart's desire in food, is very capable and apt to devour her heart's desire—her mate.

Returning home, one of the first pleasures was to get the radio adjusted, but it failed to give strength of tone to all turnings of the dials. Sending for the expert who as usual took one look, twisted things, adjusted a new tube and there you are! The expert said that at one place where trouble was experienced and adjusted, the owner said, "The thing just talks to itself and not to us." That's true.

From what is written of the beauty of Treasure Island and the spirit rampant of the entire population of that great city and surrounding cities of San Francisco, they all feel in the humor of making the Golden Gate International Exposition a huge success. Men are growing beards in lengthy and lush fashion in the "Forty-Niners" style, stage coaches, gaudy dress, carefree and tuned to a high pitch of romance that will bring results.

An old family motto is this: "He travels fastest who travels alone." Is this the idea of F.D.R.?

Out in Butte, Mont., a doctor spent a day in jail as a protest against police tagging doctors' cars while they are on emergency calls. Good.

There has been unveiled in Washington a statue of Maj. Gen. Artemas Ward, first commander-in-chief of the American Army in the War of Independence. This fine gift to the nation was presented by Harvard University through a bequest to that school of $5,000,000 from the late Artemas Ward of New York, a descendant of the General. Residents here look for proper recognition of the great Maj. Gen. Henry Knox, all in good time. Great movements move slowly sometimes.

I found in an up-to-date bakery what they called fruit squares, not unlike a pastry sandwich. These were filled with juicy, plump raisins cocked with enough sugar to make them stick together. Wasn't it Thomas Carlyle who once described someone as an honest, good sort of fellow made out of catmeal? Well, that is what those cakes or pastry squares were, with their honest cereal flour and not too sweet. They are to be buttered well and eaten with snappy cheese, a good cup of coffee—and there you are! Lunch!

This is an innovation. Exhibits in the American Museum of Natural History are to be set to music in a move to make them appeal to the ear as well as to the eye, such as music and dances of the Congo for African jungle life. For the first time in history, the thunder lizard and other creatures of the nightmare era will appear against a musical setting in keeping with their times.

The major visible ingredients of the new Methodist unification of North and South makes a church property valued at the impressive sum of $650,000,000 and an income of $80,000,000. The membership of these combined churches is 7,500,000.

Clam diggers were busy to the number of about 50 men along the flats at and near Wiscasset as the train pulled through that region. How it did make my mouth water for the genuine New England clam chowder. And I plead for the real kind—and not the love apple vegetable stew which one encounters in the South. Just Maine potatoes and enough onion to savor well and enhance the delicate flavor of the clams, with plenty of clams and the last minute, as much cream as your New England thrift will allow. If anyone thinks they like fish chowder better, O.K.—give me good clams.

"Aye," exclaimed Sandy to his bored London acquaintance, "Scotland's the finest place on earth."

"Then what made you leave it?" asked a disgusted voice.

Sandy chuckled. "A well, it was like this. In Scotland everybody was as clever as myself, and I could not make muckle progress. But here I'm getting on very well."

At Symphony Hall, Boston, on Sunday last the remarkable Finlandia Chorus more than came up to high expectations and these repeated encores were heard on every hand: "A superlative chorus with unobtrusive skill shown by the conductor" whose handling of 70 voices trained in musical appreciation and delicate use of their highly cultivated art brought out the excellent qualities in these male voices of above average. Americans have learned to appreciate and love Finland. She produces great musicians, great runners, energetic and healthy families and she pays her debts. Knox County residents realize what the people from Finland have done to many neglected farms and the deep interest they have taken in the Community Building is of the greatest worth to this city and district.

TRYSTING TIME
(For The Courier-Gazette)
I spied them in the garden, making love
Robin redbreast and brown coat to
I watched, eaves-dropping, hid behind a blind,
Their harmonies of preening and strutting
That fascinated my lethargic mind.
All life is at its best in courting days;
Came swift this thought in ecstasy ribline.
When faith we seek finds voice in love replete
And treasure like the rainbow's colored hues
We learn the use of soul's rare interviews.

If love be fragile as perishing flower,
Blooming merely to flourish and decay
Who, when it blows but a trifling hour
Would cast its sweet perfume away?
Make haste to woo, rare birds of winged might,
As flowers fade with twilight's gentle light,
So life, a measured part, will pass away
Before we realize its waning day
And western sun salutes our final flight.

A MAID CALLED MILLS

Whom You Will Take To Your Heart When She Talks About Household Matters

BROADCAST BY MARJORIE MILLS

(Monday, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday at 1:30 p. m. over Stations WNAE, Boston; WTAC, Worcester; WCHS, Portland; WTTT, Hartford; WICC, Bridgeport; WEAN, Providence; and WLBZ, Bangor).

We're always so grateful when you unearth an old time New England recipe for us. First because some of them turn out to be best beloved with all of us and then, too, it seems so important to have these "folklore" recipes in print before they vanish from memory. "Born cooks" are always so vague about how they accomplish their miracles of good eating.

We were trying to track down Lemon Dumplings last week and Harriet Fiske in Rutland, Mrs. Gleason in Greenwich, R. I., and Mrs. Kabe in Wallingford, Conn., sent the old, old recipes. Both said they were delicious and they are, quaint and New English too.

Mrs. Benjamin Damm of Worcester could not find the English Pork Pie recipe she wanted so she invented one and we found these little pies, baked in muffin tins a grand discovery. Perhaps some thoroughgoing Britisher will say these aren't the real thing but call them a Yankee Pork Pie.

Eunice Miller wrote about one of New Hampshire's old fashioned apple pie varieties that sounded too scrumptious. One crust in the pie tin, edges crimped, fill with sliced apples, dot with butter, add sugar and either spice or cinnamon then... a cup of cream poured over and the pie is baked. It's called Frenchman's apple pie, though we can't think why, but doesn't it sound delicious?

Vera Burnham of Westboro wonders if you know how grand for prune whip the strained baby food prunes are. So much more finely pureed than most of us can manage, the apricots for apricot whip and the little cans of pureed peas or apricots make delicious inexpensive cream soups for small families. And "Dijerknow," she asks, that one of the mail order houses have a combination herb seed mixture, chives, thyme, dill, rosemary, summer savory, lavender, sweet fennel, sweet basil, sage and sweet marjoram... all for 44 cents?

We're always urging you to start an herb garden for it's so interesting, getting to know the Quakerish little herb people, and experimenting with their widely differing scents and savors. Start with a few... herbs are like friends. Better a few well chosen, well loved ones than a rakish casual acquaintance with hordes.

Agriculture

Charles Grinnell and Edward Grinnell are planning to set out a few Cortland apple trees this year. In 1940 they are considering more trees, especially some Northern Spy.

Herbert Brown of Hope has tried out his new sprayer and is very well satisfied with it. He is planning to get 100 percent clean fruit this year. He reports also very good returns from his hens this past winter.

Alden P. Allen of Hope has planted his first peas—about a week later than last year.

Harold Allen of Hope has his two green houses full of lettuce, cabbage, broccoli tomatoes and May flower seedlings. He will plan to set out lettuce and cabbage this week.

Last year there were several cases of gypsy moth injury in blueberry fields County Agent Wentworth has found egg clusters this spring in old stone walls. Spray recommendations will be sent out to growers later so that better control can be obtained. Blueberry men should look over their stone walls for indications of egg masses, and if found, plan to spray this year.

With The Homes

Leader meetings scheduled this week and next are:

Edgcomb, April 28 "Color in the Kitchen" at the town hall. Meeting to be in charge of Mrs. William Brown. Mrs. Harry Sherman, Mrs. Albert Sherman and Mrs. Mattie McMahon are on the dinner committee.

Hope, May 3. "Dyeing for the Household" at the Grange hall. Mrs. Evelyn Brown will conduct the meeting and Mrs. Margaret Robbins and Mrs. Georgia Brownell will serve the square meal for health at noon.

Reducing Objectionable Odors

Special closets in which supplies and equipment used in cleaning house can be stored are becoming more and more popular with Maine homemakers. They provide convenient storage space for brooms, cleaning cloths and other equipment and also prevent objectionable odors from such materials as wax polishes and soap from invading the house when the materials are not in use.

Women find that the favorite location for the cleaning closet is off the back hallway near the kitchen. Sometimes the closet opens from the kitchen itself. Of course, the closet door is placed as far as possible from the kitchen table and the pantry.

It doesn't cost much to build a good cleaning closet. The inside walls may be made impervious to oil by giving them a coat of enamel or by lining the closet with oilcloth or linoleum. The closet floor is often raised about two inches from the floor level of the kitchen to prevent lint from entering under the door, and to retain in the closet any dust or debris that may cling to the cleaning equipment.

The lower part of the closet is fitted with hooks and the upper part with shelves. When the ceiling is high, separate doors are often made for the upper and lower sections, and the first shelf serves as a division between them.

4-H Club Notes

The Pownalboro Good Will 4-H club of West Alna is planning to present a public demonstration of some phase of their project work Saturday night at the Grange hall in Alna. To present at least one public demonstration during the year is one requirement which each club must meet before it earns the coveted National Seal of Achievement. These seals given by the United States Department of Agriculture are awarded to the clubs earning them at county contest in the fall at the end of the club year.

The other requirements which a club must meet are to plan a year's program of work, to hold a contest on judging to have at least 12 meetings and to complete at least 80 percent of all projects started.

Clifton Walker is leader of the Pownalboro Good Will Club.

Chester Turnbull, leader of the Jeffersonian Farmers 4-H club of Jefferson conducted a contest on judging potatoes at their last meeting, April 29, which was at Irvin Bond's home. Popcorn balls were served during the social hour.

"Ladies and Gentlemen" is the title of a film strip showing points in everyday courtesies which the club agent showed at a joint meeting of the Willing Workers girls' club and the Hatchet Mountain boys' club, both of Hope, on Thursday, April 20. Both clubs were guests of Mrs. Bessie Hardy, leader of the Hatchet Mountain club.

During the recreation period, ice-cream and cake were served. Games and group singing were enjoyed by everyone.

Geraldine Reay and Dorothy Hassan, both members of the Dyer's Valley club of North Newcastle, tied for championship in a contest on judging patches which the club agent conducted at their meeting April 17. Mrs. Beryl Dorr is leader of this club of which there are nine members all taking sewing.

The Abnakis Club, Tenant's Harbor, of which Miss Celia Wall is leader, prepared and served a parent and member supper on Tuesday night, April 18, at Edith Rawley's home. The menu consisted of corn chowder, yeast rolls, cabbage salad, tapioca pudding and cake and was all prepared by the members and leaders. The table decorations, which were in keeping with the spring season, were of pussy willows and pine cones. Mrs. Claribel Andrews, former club leader, was also a guest.

Christine Chapman of Razorville was hostess to her club the Mountain Top Maids, April 18. The club agent gave a demonstration on the sewing machine parts and explained the color wheel. There were 12 members and five guests present. Everyone enjoyed refreshments of hot chocolate, sandwiches, and cake.

Members of the Happy-Go-Lucky 4-H club of Warren prepared and served a supper to 60 parents, guests and members Wednesday April 19 at the Baptist church vestry in Warren. The menu consisted of chop suey, cabbage salad, yeast rolls, and pie. The entertainment which followed the supper included musical selections, recitations, a dem-

Lobsters Skurce

Portland Reports That the Catches Are 6 to 29 Lbs.; Once 40 To 70

A special despatch to the Christian Science Monitor takes the following view of the lobster situation: Because of the severity of the winter and of recent wind and storm scarcely a lobster has been obtainable here. The wholesale price has reached 70 to 75 cents a pound for large ones, 50 cents for chickens and 40 to 45 cents for culls.

popular impression is that heart disease principally afflicts the adult or aged, the contrary is true. "The major cause of death in children up to 14 years of age is heart disease," Dr. Wagner says. "From 1 percent to 2 percent of school children have 'leaking hearts' or heart murmurs. Some of these have no serious significance, whereas others need constant attention for years to forestall invalidism in the child and insure for him a maximum span of life. Some damaged hearts are due to an infection somewhere within the body, from which poisons are being absorbed. The very early signs and manifestations of such infection should be noted, and steps taken to eradicate the poison. Just as no intelligent physician any longer considers recurrent attacks of pain in the legs as 'growing pains,' so no intelligent physician would disregard the child who has recurrent headaches or stomach aches, or the underweight child who is 'highstrung and nervous' and 'nervous' and subject to recurrent nose bleeds."

Close to 500 osteopathic physicians, surgeons, and specialists are expected. Knox County is represented in the membership of the Association by Dr. Mary E. Reuter, South Cushing; Dr. Louis A. Benson; Thomaston; Dr. E. R. Biggers.

"Fisheries Warden Joseph R. Wallace says this the first year lobsters have been shipped from this country back to Canada. Two loads were taken in March from Jonesport to Campbell, N. B., and two loads were also taken from the Grand Manan pound to the same place. Pounds of local dealers at Grand Manan, Friendship, Dyer's Island and elsewhere have been exhausted and cannot be restocked until there is a big improvement in fishing conditions.

"Lobster fishermen have been catching from six to 29 pounds of lobsters a day this past winter, as compared to the 40 to 70 pounds they get in a normal year. One fisherman recently hauled 130 traps in a day and got only three lobsters. The next day he hauled them and got one lobster.

"Early in February wholesale lobster prices went to 35 and 45 cents a pound. The rose to 45 to 55 cents in the middle of the month and as high as 65 cents late in the month. In March the price jumped to the level at which it now stands, the highest since the winter of 1918-19.

"Groundfish prices have remained low, because the supply has been maintained by beam trawlers and vessels of the Boston and Gloucester fleets. The vessels have rarely been able to make two consecutive sets, because of the weather. This has caused them to incur bills and has put them in arrears.

"Gill-netters have been fishing nearly all winter with line trawls and have not gone back to their nets, because fish are not running near shore. Small Hampton boats land occasional fares."
