Under the direction of Allen V. Sawyer, district deputy grand master, the annual meeting of District No. 16 was held Tuesday in Tenant's Harbor. Seven lodges were represented, with a total attendance of 65, and the meeting was one of the most successful in recent years.

The supper was served by Puritan Rebekah Lodge, and the visitors found it altogether to their liking.

Among the prominent Odd Fellows present were: Wallace W. Rodenick of Waterville, deputy grand master; George E. Nichols of Camden, grand junior warden; Luke S. Davis, of Rockland, past grand representative; R. Bliss Fuller of Union, district deputy grand master of District No. 15; Chester C. Ellis of Waterville, G. M.; and Hugh F. "Dave"

David S. Beach, letter carrier on Route No. 6, is a product of the Nutmeg State, having been born in Bridgeport, April 14, 1891. After graduating from the High School in that city he became a salesman for the Royal Typewriter Co. and was employed as a candy salesman for Kibbe Bros. in Springfield, Mass. when the World War started.

He enlisted in the Merchant Marine and was one of the first 50 recruits on the training ship Calvin Austin, in Boston Harbor. He was promoted from assistant to chief engineer and after graduating was for eight months deck engineer on S. S. Pollux, a Dutch ship seized by the United States Government for use in the war and sailed for Chile for nitrate to make gun powder. The signing of the Armistice was not known for 10 days until the ship reached the Canal Zone when the good news was flashed aboard.

Beach came to Rockland in the employ of the East Coast Fisheries Co. He entered the carrier service in 1920. Was secretary of the Maine State Association of Letter Carriers for five years and is now State vice president of the National Association.

Beach is married and has two daughters in High School, Elizabeth and Ellen.

He belongs to the Congregational Church, the Masonic Fraternity, Baptist Men's League and National Association of Letter Carriers.

He acknowledges two hobbies—gardening and attending conventions. He has visited various parts of the country as a delegate, and rumor says that he has long eyes fixed on the West Coast.

Jury Did Not Agree

A United Press despatch from Philadelphia says:

A Common Pleas Court jury failed to agree whether James Gribbel, 17, of Chestnut Hill, was shot accidentally or committed suicide at the family's Camden Me. summer home last August.

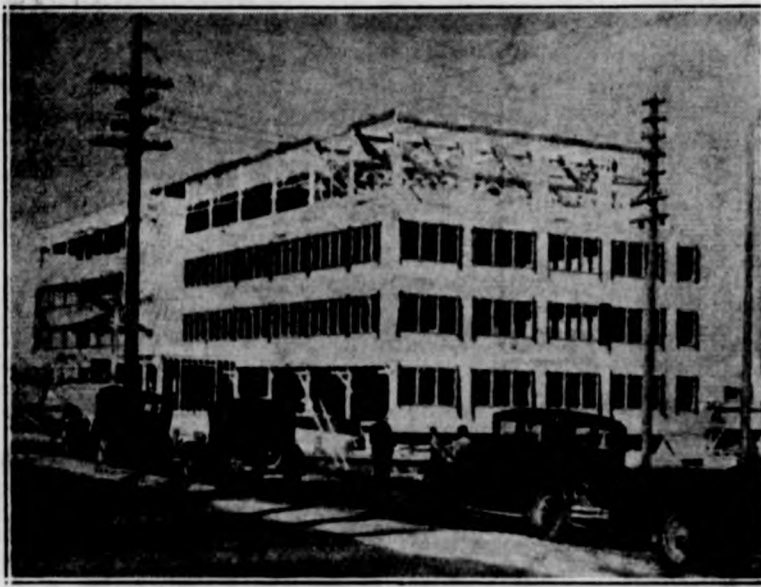

"John Gribbel, 2d, a brother, brought suit to prove that death was accidental, to collect a $25,000 insurance policy from the Penn Mutual Life Insurance Company. The firm charged that the youth committed suicide because of 'family troubles.'"

BLACKIE'S LECTURE

FINN NEWSPAPERMAN HERE

Hugo Makinen, Born In Rockland, Has Risen High In Profession In His Own Country

A Rockland boy of Finnish extraction, who went back to the land of his fathers to eventually engage in newspaper work, has been spending the past week with relatives in Long Cove and renewing acquaintance with friends of his family in Rockland.

Hugo Makinen was born in this city July 9, 1908, son of Urho Makinen. When he was four years old the family moved to Worcester, Mass., where he obtained his public school education.

Finland meantime had gained its independence and thither the boy went with his parents who planned a brief visit to the homeland after an absence of 20 years. The brief visit lengthened far beyond expectations; in fact the parents are still there, together with Hugo's brother and two sisters.

Nine years were spent by the family in an industrial city of 75,000 population known as Tampere—the "Manchester of Finland."

Hugo went to school there, a social High School he describes it, with a ranking of a college or university. What did he study? Journalism, literature, constitutional law and politics.

And then he took up newspaper work which specialized in social reforms and in the course of which he handled the exchange from Anglo-Saxon countries. Today he represents the Finnish News Agency in Helsinki and is attached to the Labor News Bureau. His newspaper labors know no limit, however, and the young man with his ability and prepossessing personality, is rapidly climbing that ladder which is labeled "Success."

To The Courier-Gazette reporter he talked optimistically of Finland—a country of 3,800,000 population which numbers only a few thousand of unemployed. Its chief industries are lumbering, cellulose and paper, and it exports great quantities of butter and cheese. The cheese comes even to the United States and some of it may be found today in Rockland stores.

When The Courier-Gazette reporter referred to the well known fact that Finland is the only country to pay its war debt to the United States, Hugo Makinen's face was illuminated with a smile.

"How does this happen?" asked the interviewer.

"It was only natural," was the modest reply. "Finland's total debt to the United States will be paid within the next few years."

Discussing the troublesome international situation—somewhat gingerly to be sure—Makinen told how Sweden (largest and richest of the Scandinavian countries) Norway,

Denmark and Finland had formed a neutral bloc of their own, resolved not to become involved in any of the great wars of the powers.

"Does your country fear a possible invasion from Germany?" Makinen was averse to discussing even the probability.

"The situation in Europe is so complicated," he said, "that it is impossible for anybody to give a very clear idea of it."

The Finnish newspaper man made it quite clear, however, that Finland regards the United States as its best friend, next to the other Scandinavian countries.

Makinen has done much traveling in Europe, having visited Turkey, Russia, Estonia, Latvia, Lithuania, Poland, Romania, Bulgaria, Greece, Denmark, Sweden, England, Czechoslovakia and Norway. These travels have been conducted by air as well as land. There are six international air lines out of Finland, one to the Arctic ocean and three internal air lines.

He relates as a curious coincidence, that while in Moscow last December he met Father Brown, 32 who was a member of the American Colony. Father Brown told him that he, too, was born in Rockland, Me.

The Finnish work week contains 46 hours and the common laborer is paid from $8 to $10 a week. But the cost of living is materially lower with the exception of gasoline which costs from 150 to 200 percent higher than it does in America. The living standard is not as high as it is in this country. Few of the inhabitants can afford to own motor cars and they are unable to rent as many rooms.

Makinen will have delivered a score of lectures in this country, while on his trip.

He made an inspection of The Courier-Gazette plant Wednesday, and was so much interested in it and the character of the paper that he was minded to establish a newspaper in Finland on the same basis. The Finnish newspapers, he said, are more given to publishing worldwide news than they are the social happenings of their communities.

Is the Way High School Golf Team Is Going — Bath Latest Victim

With Capt. Kelsey Benner coming through to defeat Gallagher 1 up, the Rockland High golf team swamped Bath High 6-0 Thursday afternoon at Knox County Golf Club and was the fifth consecutive victory for the home boys. This should make the Portland team sit up and take notice of these newcomers, with an eye on the championship. Carl Kallioch, substituting for William Cummings, who is attending New York World's Fair, played No. 2 position in a grand style of golf. Kallioch and Benner teamed up very well to take Perry and Gallagher, and Robert Call and Paul Horeyseek teamed together to give the Bath No. 3 and 4 men a taste of real golf.

The summary: Benner, R. defeated Gallagher, B. 1 up; Kallioch, R. defeated Perry, B. 1 up; Rockland won best ball 3-1. Call, R. defeated Henderson, B. 3-2; Horeyseek, R. defeated Richards, B. 9-7. Rockland won best ball, 4-3.

Rockland has these remaining scheduled matches: May 20, Winslow High School; May 24, Bridgton; May 26, Bangor; May 29, Bridgton; May 31, Waterville; June 2, Brunswick; June 5, Winslow.

April Was Busy

For Red Cross Nursing Service—Visits Made To 190 Homes

The report for April of the Red Cross Nursing Service shows that 93 nursing visits were made to 29 acutely ill and chronic patients; 15 nursing visits to pre-natal patients; 12 nursing visits to post partum patients; 18 nursing visits to new born; one nursing visit to scarlet fever patient; 134 was the total number of nursing visits made—12 patients were given the tuberculin tests and 35 visits were made to these patients, all tuberculous contacts.

Two adults were visited for adult health supervision; three patients were admitted for social hygiene follow-up work; and three visits were made to these patients; 83 welfare visits were made to infants and pre-school children; two children were admitted to crippled children's clinics, and two visits were made; 50 patients were contacted; 80 infants and pre-schools were contacted. The total number of visits for the month was 250, and 190 homes were visited.

Twenty-four attended the Well Baby Clinics, one child was given the tuberculin test; three children were given Schick tests.

All classrooms were visited in the schools, and classroom inspections were made, including teeth and throats; ten children were excluded from school; six dental clinics were held and 30 children attended.

A complete report of the dental clinics will follow.

A Pre-Natal and Post-Natal Institute was held in Rockland under the State Department of Health and Welfare, at which the Red Cross nurse took part in the program.

Plans for the summer round-up of the Pre-School Clinics are under way. They will be held June 19 and 20. Further details of these clinics will follow.

[EDITORIAL]

THE SENATE SAYS "NO"

The proposed Florida ship canal is a long way out of our territory, but when the U. S. Senate on Wednesday defeated the bill 45 to 36 in face of President Roosevelt's support for it, the situation was indicative of how the country is now feeling toward extravaganzas which do not seem justified. The cost would have somewhere in the neighborhood of $500,000,000. Senator Vandenberg of Michigan led the fight against the "enterprise" and Senators Hale and White of Maine were among the 46 who voted against it. Under the caption, "Slaying Florida's Dragon" the New York Herald Tribune treated the subject editorially in the following manner:

The wayward and erratic United States Senate, which last week added $400,000,000 to the farm bill, has just rejected the $200,000,000 Florida ship canal. For this it deserves the nation's thanks. No need to point out that there are no votes of value in the ship canal, whereas the extra farm bonus is expected to yield a large return. The Senate has refused to sanction an extravagant and wasteful expenditure. This is as it should be. At the same time it has killed—unless the project has a cat's nine lives—one of the greatest of all the Roosevelt follies. This is almost too good to be true.

In retrospect the Florida ship canal and Mr. Roosevelt's stubborn support of it in the face of expert advice and popular clamor would be farcical were it not such a discreditable reflection on the powers-that-be in Washington. The proposal was for a canal which was superfluous if not actually useless, which would have cost a fantastic sum, which was almost certain to be largely non-productive and which might even be seriously destructive. In no other country in the world could such a thing have happened. Under no Administration than this one, with its utterly reckless disregard for obtaining sound values for government expenses, could such a plan not only have been seriously put forward but repeatedly resurrected after numerous deserved defeats.

There is reason to believe that those who from the beginning opposed the project because they feared it would disturb the water table and hence damage agriculture were right. Only a few months ago the people of southern Florida began to realize that once the balance of nature is upset the repercussions are far-reaching. The draining of the Everglades, for example, has led to tremendous pest fires which have not only destroyed the vegetation in hundreds of square miles but have also driven out wildlife and left the region a desert. The particular fear of those in north Florida was that by bringing a large body of salt water through the heart of Florida's porous limestone the water level would be affected and the fresh water might be contaminated. Were this to happen it would be disastrous for all the regions adjoining the canal.

All hail to Senators Vandenberg and Tydings and those other sturdy Senators who stuck by their guns and killed the canal project despite the President's order that it be enacted. They are better friends of Florida than those short-sighted Floridians who saw in the ship canal only the prospect of Uncle Sam's spending hundreds of millions of dollars within Florida's borders. Certainly they are friends of the nation as a whole. If ever there was a monstrous boondoggle to be banned, it was this project to build a canal where none was needed—or wanted. If ever there was a good opportunity not to spend, this was it.

BURY THE HATCHET

Missouri Grand Army veterans got all "het" up the other day because they discovered that a 91-year-old Confederate veteran was in attendance at the G.A.R. encampment. He figured that the war was over, and that byones should be byones. And the "Rebel" was right. The winner can always afford to be generous, and the idea of carrying to the grave the hatred engendered by a war which has been over 74 years seems an utter absurdity and an offense against modern civilization. The late Col. Fernando S. Philbrick, who served as commander of the Department of Maine, and who was level headed on all matters, was strongly in favor of burying the hatchet, but the two national encampments were never merged. On each side are a few hundred surviving veterans, some who wore the Blue and some who wore the Gray—all facing the final mustering out. What a pity that they cannot clasp hands as the curtain rings down.

HAS CONGRESSIONAL ASPIRATIONS

The Lewiston Journal says that State Representative John G. Marshall of Auburn has his eyes on the Republican nomination for Representative to Congress from the Second District. It was not indicated whether Mr. Marshall's aspirations would be guided by the decision of Representative Clyde H. Smith, or whether he intends to go before the primaries regardless of that decision. It is pretty generally recognized that the present incumbent can park his hat in the House Office building as long as he is minded to do so, but his friends will not be sorry when he breaks his silence as to whether he wants to run for Governor or for Congress.

LION'S CONVENTION

June 9 and 10 are the dates for the 11th annual State convention of Lions Clubs of Districts 41A and 41B of Maine. The affair will be held at Lakewood. Speakers as announced will include Donald B. MacMillan, American explorer; Alexander T. Walls, vice president of Lions International; and Capt. A. A. Nicholson, world traveler, lecturer and author. The Skowhegan Club is the host organization.

Coast Guard Speed Boat Brings Accident Victims To This City

The new speedy Coast Guard boat, CG-410, made a hurried trip Thursday night to Swan's Island, in answer to an emergency call to take two automobile accident victims to Knox Hospital.

The boat left Rockland at 6:50, and had returned at 10:25.

The patients were Clifton Watson, who received internal injuries and possibly a fractured skull, and Oakley Smith, who received lacerations on the face and minor injuries.

The accident occurred Thursday afternoon while the two men were returning from work in a truck driven by Smith. Leaving the road the machine overturned and Watson was imprisoned beneath it, forced to remain there until his companion could summon help.

The injured men were accompanied to Rockland by the Delano Federation nurse, Grace Webber, and Watson's father, Andrew Watson.

This morning Watson's condition was reported to be improved.

"The Black Cat"

By The Roving Reporter

George Morton, district manager of the First National Stores found a newspaper in his dooryard the other day "Alas!" he exclaimed, "let's see what has been happening." But to his amazement he found a copy of the Rockland Gazette dated Feb. 20, 1862, so his curiosity as to how the Red Sox were making it was not gratified. The paper did carry a full report of the capture of Fort Henry, a Civil War episode which struck panic to the hearts of the Rebels. Other Civil War news included a story of the fight at Roanoke Island, with the capture of 2800 Rebels; the surrender of Fort Donelson, with the surrender of 15,000 Rebels; and the capture of Savannah. Things were decidedly brighter for the Union cause, but nobody then could guess that two dreary and crucial years were to follow.

Splendid work that Community Club is doing up in Appleton, and best of all those self-sacrificing workers are well along toward the full ownership of the Riverside Hall property. Incidentally it is adding much to the community's social enjoyment.

Parading our streets every day we see kids garbed in cowboy uniforms, and usually toting a couple of guns. Is it due to the movies, the gangster spirit of the age, or is it simply because their dads and grand-dads were kids?—Courier-Gazette.

But granddads never boasted such store outfits as these boys do!—Lewiston Journal.

And grandmas never boasted such hats as they wear nowadays.

The big elm which stood alongside the building at the corner of Union and Spring streets, now known as "The Baccharisette," has been taken down, with three net results—more light for the building, less moss on the roof and greater safety for all concerned. And that is the situation which is coming more and more to be recognized throughout the city. Everybody likes trees, but when they have outlived their usefulness and become an actual menace their removal is advisable.

In many stores along Main street the radios are turned on at 3 p. m. in order that the owners may hear Frankie Frisch broadcast the Boston ball games. The rush of customers of course prevents hearing the full story, but the fans keep pretty close tabs on the batters, and some have become familiar with their life history.

Somebody sends me this clipping from the Boston Herald, adding that the incident might have been in Rockland:

Our admiration for the driver who hasn't tooted the horn of his car once in ten years is tinged with just a bit of sympathy. He must feel himself so different from the rest, when he's caught in a little jam at an intersection.

But nobody can convince me that it ever happened at the junction of Main and Lindsey streets. Nobody ever refrains from tooting there when there's a jam.

The good old reliable Boston Globe prints a black head line stating that the Senate votes "to build 45-ton Battleships." Of course those who read the despatch quickly saw that it was "45,000" ton battleships.

One year ago: Radical changes were about to remove the two upper stories of the Spofford-Woolworth block—The Knox County Alumni Association of University of Maine elected Gerald Beverage as president—The Baptist Men's League re-elected I Lawton Bray as president—The Knox Packing Company was incorporated with E. M. Lawrence as president—Dr. J. G. Hutchins of Camden was appointed a medical examiner for Knox County—Reuben L. Meserve, 81, died in Thomaston—Isaac Headley, 91, died in Vinahaven—Mrs. Harriet Frost was elected president of the Congregational Woman's Association.

At The High School

(By The Pupils)

The annual Manual Training assembly is underway again. Each year Rockland High School students look forward to this assembly. Looks as if this one might be the best yet. Four years ago, essays were written on four subjects in the department, the best one in each subject being read in assembly along with a stage full of finished projects of very attractive pieces of furniture. Three years ago, "The Old Country Furniture Shoppe" with the split and whittle club adding humor at the proper time throughout the play. Last year an auction was held, which presented plenty of comedy and exhibited many of the projects made that year. This year, a three act play entitled "Moving Daze," which will prove to be a riot, besides the exhibiting approximately 50 projects.

The 8th period Explorers Club met in Room 14 May 11. The usual meeting procedure was followed and then the program was turned over to Helmi Lehto, chairman of entertainment committee. For entertainment Russell Williamson gave a report on strange facts, with an added contribution by Mr. Smith. Freda Woodman gave a report on birthdays. Lucille Melvin, a report on Douglas Corrigan's picture "Wrong Way Corrigan" and Ruth Seabury read one of Edgar Guest's poems. Vivian Johnson, Lillian Savage, Barbara Seaman, and Ruth Seabury all had birthdays during April and May and their birthdays were duly celebrated.—Ernest Harrington

At the regular Tuesday morning assembly Mr. Hatfield, from Castine Normal School, gave a very interesting talk, especially to the seniors. Muriel Baum led the devotions.

Miss Lily Matheson, Field Executive Secretary of Maine, spoke on Temperance at a special assembly Monday morning. Muriel Baum led devotions.

The High School pupils, and four chaperones left Wednesday for New York to The World's Fair. There were 68 in all. They are going to Concord, Lexington and Boston.

Soft ball practice for the girls was held at the City Park Thursday night.

Special interviews are being given to all High School students this week.

Joe Pietroski is the first student in beginners' typewriting to hit the target for more than 40 words a minute. He wrote 41 words a minute with three errors. Others who have scored recently are Neal Grover, 22 words a minute, Fannie Copeland 25, and Beverly Harman 38 words a minute.

Joseph Dondis has been secretary for Principal Blaisdell this week. Office boys were John Thomas, Sulo Salo, Joe Anastasio, William Burns, Alvah Fitzgerald, Malcolm Church, Sheldon Billings and Richard Young.

The Junior High Assembly Wednesday morning was a most interesting and memorable one because of the entertainment presented by Mr. Patt and Mr. Korpinen of the Maine Music Co. The accordion and guitar selections were delightful and the hearty applause by the students and faculty members proved their appreciation for a splendid program. Richard Thomas who announced the program, requested Mr. Patt to tell of his association with Lowell Thomas. Mr. Patt in complying with this request, related several experiences as guest-artist at this famous commentator's home and also listed names of other celebrities he met during that time.

The 8th period Explorers' Club met Thursday. After the opening ceremonies the program was turned over to Donald Chaples, chairman of the entertainment committee. Lucille Melvin covered current events with contributions by Mr. Smith. Anna Staples covered strange facts with Joseph Pietroski helping out and Therese Bragg covered the jokes. Lillian Savage took care of the anniversaries. In ending the evening we had a slogan guessing game.—Ernest Harrington, Keeper of the Ephemeris

Kathleen Blackman of the 8-2 division was the winner of a recent "History Bee" conducted in Miss Hughes room.

Because of inclement weather the Thomaston-St. George game, scheduled for yesterday, has been postponed to next Monday.

The Rockland — Lincoln game scheduled for next Friday will be played June 5.

The Rockland — Camden game which was to have been played in Camden yesterday will be played June 7.

Vinalhaven Takes Two
By winning a double header at Community Park yesterday afternoon Vinalhaven High School became a contender for a first place tie in the Knox & Lincoln League on the assumption, of course, that Vinalhaven is able to defeat Thomaston in next Friday's game at Vinalhaven.

Both contests yesterday were one-sided, but Lincoln Academy "went down swinging" as the saying is. The first game was marred by the accident which befell Johnson, the Vinalhaven catcher who will nurse a badly injured finger the remainder of the season. Alley, who was shifted into the backstop position for the remainder of the afternoon, gave a creditable performance there. Phil Brown pitched the first game and three innings of the second, retiring, somewhat reluctantly when the game became top-heavy in Vinalhaven's favor.

Zest was lent to the afternoon's sport by the sudden appearance of young Rockland hi-jackers who picked the foul balls as fast as they left the grounds. It looked one spell as if the game might have to be suspended through lack of balls.

Barbara Newbert was pleased when she won the spelling match held in Miss Woodcock's room.

A surprise teachers' party was held in Miss Hughes room Wednesday after school. Miss Woodcock of the Junior High faculty was presented with a special gift and entertained by the teacher friends.

Members of the Junior High dramatic club have presented their director, Miss Nichols, with a ring in appreciation of her services with the club this year.

Miss Thompson's room is decorated with striking designs made by the 8th Grade arithmetic classes. Many of these are outstanding in design, color, and neatness.

Miss Brown's geography groups are busy working on a "Maine Project."

The Junior High baseball team under the direction of Coach Rossnagel is showing marked improvement. It beat the Freshmen 6-5 in a 5-inning game. The new men are showing plenty of promise and ability. Soon will be the Camden League game.

Miss Lamb's literature classes are engaged in poster making. These are to illustrate work covering story reading during the year.

The Junior High girl's glee club, under the direction of Miss Lamb, is rehearsing their new selection "Leafy June is There in Beauty."

Rockland High School seniors who took the driver's test yesterday for a license were Bernice Havener, Edith Gray, Norma Havener, Roger Perry, Austin Billings, Roger Voss, Ellis Hastings, Roger Newhall, Henry Dodge, Richard Smith, Paul York, Margaret Shute, Luria Kent, Charlotte Staples, Lucille Thomas, Kathryn Delano, Beric White and Lou Lorraine.

Sheriff Ludwick, County Commissioner Orbeton, Deputy Sheriff Webster, Patrolman Carl A. Christofferson and Deputy Clerk of Courts Pearl Borgerson attended the meeting of Maine Officers' Identification Association in Bangor Thursday. Mrs. Ludwick and Mrs. Webster accompanied their husbands.

The first Sunday ball game of the season will be played at Community Park tomorrow when those cocky Pirates will tackle a snappy outfit from Warren. The preliminary games are leading up to a Twilight League.

"Where do those 5480 copies of The Courier-Gazette go?" asked a thinking member of the Rockland High School Press Club on the occasion of that group's recent visit to the office of this newspaper. That question was well put and its answer is of vital interest to every advertiser in these columns, hence it seems well to answer in detail.

In a sworn statement appears the highly interesting information that 1842 copies are bought and paid for in the city of Rockland while in this immediate trade area, including Waldoboro, Warren, Union, Lincolnville, the islands and southern Knox County as extreme boundaries, there are 4209 subscribers and dealer sold papers each issue. The Courier-Gazette has the distinction of being the largest country newspaper in Maine, and the state's only tri-weekly. A detailed glance at the circulation figures will show an extremely heavy coverage of this immediate trade area which Post Office statistics give a population of 37,051. Ten carrier boys serve Rockland with truck service to Thomaston and Camden which also have carriers.

Rockport, for example, takes 196 Couriers. Camden takes 228 including the Lincolnville route. North Haven subscribes to 102 papers including the RFD and Vinalhaven 192. Thomaston, an ever loyal town, has 246 subscribers. Warren, 216 and Union 171 not counting the numerous smaller places, such as East Union, South Hope, Burketville, etc.

As to the smaller places, there are 20 subscribers on Matineux; 38 on Swan's Island; 41 at Spice Head; 28 in Owl's Head; 31 in Tenant's Harbor. Cushing takes 37; Friendship, 54; Port Clyde, 26; Liberty 22; Waldoboro, including the R.F.D.s takes 137 copies. These give examples of the wide spread distribution which touches every town and hamlet in the entire area. Each place has its correspondent for the paper and at almost every town The Courier-Gazette has a dealer.

The remaining copies go to Rockland folk and former residents far and near. Every Maine city is represented including 19 to Bath, 20 to Augusta, and 48 to Portland, all to readers deeply interested in the doings of the old home community and not infrequently sending home substantial orders in answer to advertisements as many regular advertisers bear witness.

Almost every State in the Union is represented in the list of former Knox County folk who still keep home memories green through reading The Courier-Gazette and several distant lands including Hawaii, The Philippines, Genoa, Italy, Guatemala City etc. California has a special fondness for the old home paper, receiving 22 copies each issue.

No accurate figure can be made as to how many persons read each of the 5480 copies but estimates generally go as high as four to six for the reason that the several departments hold widely varied interests. Where one person may be interested in talk of the town, athletics of the three counties, bowling and The Black Cat, another would look first to the social page, the births and marriages or travel stories. Still another would look to the headed articles and may be the classified column. A very large percentage of The Courier-Gazette

The Rotary Club

President Of Belfast Rotary Club In Charge Of Yesterday's Meeting

At yesterday's Rotary luncheon Dr. Webber, president of the Belfast Club presided and in leading some of the singing showed his usual vigor and did it in his inimitable manner.

The speaker was Rev. Frederic Hayes, pastor of the First Federalist Church of Belfast, who gave an account of some eight years of association with Y.M.C.A. boys' camps. His talk was greatly enjoyed.

There were 52 Rotarians present, two of whom were Dr. A. F. Green of Camden and E. C. Long of Belfast. Two guests, F. W. Fuller of Rockland and Leslie B. Dyer of Vinalhaven were present.

An unanimous vote was taken to send the president of the club, Louis A. Walker, to the Rotary International Convention in Cleveland, soon to be held.

The first Sunday ball game of the season will be played at Community Park tomorrow when those cocky Pirates will tackle a snappy outfit from Warren. The preliminary games are leading up to a Twilight League.

WHERE THE "COURIER" GOES

readers are intensely interested in its full coverage of Farm Bureau, 4-H Club and agricultural matters with the town news front and center. A special effort has long been made by this newspaper to give high place to school doings and school notes not only in Rockland but in the towns as well.

Thinking citizens recall that The Courier-Gazette has staunchly put its full weight behind worthwhile community service, notable examples being the recently completed drive for the new factory, community chest, Red Cross disaster drives, and it will be recalled that last year the Maine Press Association gave its highest award to this newspaper for its consistent effort in behalf of Community Building.

All these reader-interest features and factors react directly in favor of advertisers in The Courier-Gazette and make it admittedly a highly effective advertising medium. The productive value of all advertising space depends directly upon circulation and the high or low cost of advertising depends not upon cost per inch of space but cost per thousand circulation.

The Courier-Gazette's local rate of 40 cents per column inch with 5480 circulation is far cheaper than 15 cents per inch for 700 circulation, shown in the list below. A table published in the Maine Press Bulletin offers an interesting comparison of rates, these being Maine Weekly newspapers:

REALM OF MUSIC

by Gladys St. Clair Heistad

From Mrs. Selma Anderson of Owl's Head comes some very interesting material regarding the Finlandia Male Chorus. In this country for a concert tour and to represent Finland at the New York's World Fair. The Finlandia Male Chorus, composed of 70 voices, probably the best male voices in Finland, specially selected from the ranks of several noted Finnish choruses, was organized in 1936 with the specific purpose of preparing for an American tour.

It is under the direction of Prof. Heikki Klemetti, dean of Finnish Choral conductors, and has as its honorary sponsor, Jean Sibeliu. According to Oscar Thompson, editor of The International Encyclopedia of Music and Musicians (1939): "Finland is noted for its superlative choruses. Frequent concerts, great song festivals and student jubilees make choral practice a constant factor in the country's cultural life. Heikki Klemetti, conductor, composer and scholar, is the acknowledged pioneer in establishing the high choral standard."

It is well to say that in this country the Finlandia Male Chorus will represent a people whose songs have long been "made of sorrows" but who now rejoice in their liberty. According to tradition, singing in Finland has always been a source of great power. Through the centuries it is by means of song that the Finns have preserved their learning and poetry from one generation to another, to the accompaniment of their national stringed instrument, the "kantele," and its simple tunes.

The Finns of old believed that nothing surpassed the wisdom of these songs; and according to the Kalevala, the national epic of Finland, it was under their inspiration that their most heroic deeds were performed. Even in a duel singing might often play its part, and it formed the weapon of the greatest of those mythical characters when he fought his opponent and forced him up to the girdle into swampy ground. Nor were those ancient times veiled in the mists of poetry, the only era of song. In the course of the last century, when the Finnish people were awakening to a consciousness of their national destiny, it was again men singing that made their hearts beat the faster in harmony with their thoughts and ideals. The land echoed with the thunder of song, for in song an oppressed people could voice their longing for freedom. And when at last they had won that freedom, and Finland was an independent nation, their song resounded more powerfully still. Finland's songs are songs of Finland's freedom, and it is in the joyful inspiration of this freedom that the Finlandia Male Chorus made the trip across the ocean to America, a country where it knows Finnish music and Finnish songs are appreciated.

Quoting from one of the clippings Mrs. Anderson has sent me, English reviewers have said of the Chorus following concerts in London: "The chorus, good in all departments, is superb in its bases, who give a magnificently strong foundation to the whole concert. It is the singing of a people proud of its tradition, of its music and its poetry, and a foreign audience cannot fail to be stirred by so brilliant a performance. . . . 'Singing surpassed anything heard before from a male chorus in nuance, balance of parts and eloquence. . . . 'Sensitiveness of rhythm which made it possible to listen to them as artists and not as a chorus.'"

A Worcester friend has just sent me a booklet of the Finlandia Male Chorus following concerts in London: "The chorus, good in all departments, is superb in its bases, who give a magnificently strong foundation to the whole concert. It is the singing of a people proud of its tradition, of its music and its poetry, and a foreign audience cannot fail to be stirred by so brilliant a performance. . . . 'Singing surpassed anything heard before from a male chorus in nuance, balance of parts and eloquence. . . . 'Sensitiveness of rhythm which made it possible to listen to them as artists and not as a chorus.'"

And speaking of Leon Zawisza, a letter from him came only this week saying that he is already in Hollywood for the summer, with his address at 4733 Ambrose avenue. Leon says: "I'm here in Hollywood for the summer to do some good work and to 'bum' around in my spare time. Our season with the Indianapolis finished up some weeks ago, winding up with Mozart's 'Requiem.' It was certainly a successful season and it was rather sad to see it close. However, there are many nice plans in the offing for next season and I'll certainly be looking forward to that."

Following the article about "Darling Nelly Gray" which appeared in this column some weeks ago, from information sent me by Mina Caswell of Portland, our loyal friend, Mrs. Delora Morrill of Rockport, sent me a note in which she writes: "In a book of minstrel songs (1882) given me by Oliver Dilton Co. in the same year, there are a number of pieces by Stephen C. Foster but 'Darling Nelly Gray' appears under the name of B. R. Hanby as composer. It was one of the first pieces I learned to sing in my childhood. I am now 87 years old. I do not get out to walk, but do my own work without help, so far. My fingers are not quick to play on the piano, but I do play chords and sing. I had a caller the other day and she wanted me to sing for her, and she said to me afterward: 'Your voice is like a girl's.'"

Mrs. Morrill spoke some very kind words concerning the music column, which prompts me in making thanks to express once again my sincere appreciation of all the pleasant and inspirational comments and expressions made to me. Such expressions are treasured and cause me to strive more than ever to please you all.

Legion Poppy Day

Read What the Little Crepe Flower Has To Say About Itself

Saturday, May 27, is American Legion Poppy Day, and Mrs. Catherine Libby, president of Winslow-Holbrook Unit No. 1 of the American Legion Auxiliary announces that Mrs. Mary Dinsmore will be the chairman, assisted by Frank Emery, chairman for the Post; and by a large committee. Dinner will be served at noon for all workers.

Poppy Day is among the country's most important anniversaries. One can never forget what the little red poppy stands for—the supreme sacrifices of our young men upon the battlefields of France—

Let us forget:

IN FLANDERS FIELDS

In Flanders fields the poppies blow
Between the crosses, row on row,
That mark our place, and in the sky
The larks, still bravely singing, fly
Scarce heard amid the guns below.

We are the Dead. Short days ago
We lived, felt dawn, saw sunset glow,
Loved and were loved, and now we lie
In Flanders fields.

Take up our quarrel with the foe:
To you from falling hands we throw
The torch; be yours to hold it high;
If ye break faith with us who die
We shall not sleep, though poppies grow
In Flanders fields.

Poppies by the millions will be worn in memory and honor of America's World War dead on Poppy Day this year so do your bit, and wear a poppy for our buddies who lie in Flanders fields.
"I am not just a crepe paper flower. I am the glowing symbol of the sacrifice made by that gallant flower of American manhood who marched away at the call of country twenty-one years ago and who sleep here and over there under their white crosses row on row, where poppies sway and toss, to kiss each cross. In remembrance of America's heroic dead and in helpfulness to her living disabled and dependants, wear me, on Poppy Day!"

The American Legion Auxiliary of Winslow-Holbrook Post meets Monday night at 7:30, with election of officers, and appointments of delegates to the State convention in Bangor June 30 to be made. Refreshments will be served, and birthdays observed.

Lawrence Miller called at The Courier-Gazette office yesterday to make it plain that he had no hand in the prosecution of the two boys who stole goods from his storehouse. While the item did not say so, even indirectly, this paper is glad to publish Mr. Miller's statement. The detection of the crime and punishment of the boys was entirely the affairs of the sheriff's department.

The game between Rockland High and Vinalhaven High which will be played at Community Park next Tuesday afternoon ought to be one of the best attractions of the Knox and Lincoln League's season. Rockland's record is not much to write home about perhaps, but even the Vinalhaven spectators admitted that Rockland should not have lost the game on the island, so maybe Coach Matheson's boys will redeem themselves.

The annual meeting of Chapin

Class, was held Tuesday night at the Universalist vestry, 45 members and guests enjoying an excellent supper in charge of the officers after which a business session was in order. The various committees reported a very successful year, finishing 16 comfortable, two crib quilts and numerous articles of baby clothing which were given to the Red Cross and Miss Corbett. The group later was entertained by pictures, taken by Mr. and Mrs. Charles T. Smalley, on a recent Southern trip. Officers elected for the ensuing year are president, Mrs. E. P. Berry; vice president, Mrs. Burton E. Flanders, secretary, Mrs. S. M. Bird; treasurer, Miss Ellen Cochran; work committee, Miss Jane Trussell and Mrs. Ralph Smith co-chairman; Mrs. Elmer Bird, Miss Margaret Robinson, Mrs. Emma Hall, Mrs. Ralph Calderwood and Miss Harriet Parmelee. The class also made a donation to the church budget, with a substantial balance left in the treasury.

A New President

A. E. Brunberg At Head of Baptist Men's League—Large Crowd Hears Rev. W. J. Day

The Baptist Men's League closed its season in a blaze of glory Thursday night, with the largest attendance in many years, made possible by the fact that it was "ladies' night" and many wanted again to have the privilege of listening to a former beloved pastor of the church, Rev. William J. Day of Winthrop, Mass.

Retired from active ministry, but with no apparent loss of the vigor and forcefulness which has always characterized his pulpit utterances. His subject on this occasion was "Anvils and Hammers" and his story was that of the Jew, his present day predicament, and the Bible's prophecy concerning the race.

Commenting upon the fact that there are 4,000,000 Hebrews in this country, the speaker said: "We have anti-Semitism here in America, but the Jew doesn't do a thing that the Gentile does not."

The women put on an especially good supper, flanked with the delicious strawberry shortcake which has come to be the lodestar of the May meeting.

The annual report of Secretary A. E. Brunberg showed that eight meetings had been held during the year with a total attendance of 439. The report of the treasurer, Osmond A. Palmer showed a small balance in the treasury.

These officers were elected: President—A. E. Brunberg. Vice Presidents—Joseph E. Blaisdell and Edward J. Heller.

Secretary—David S. Beach. Treasurer—Osmond A. Palmer. Auditor—Charles A. Emery.

In presenting the report of the nominating committee Chairman Winslow paid tribute to the two excellent administrations given by President I. Lawton Bray. The surprise of the evening rested upon Mr. Brunberg who had been figuring in a "plot" to nominate somebody else for president, only to discover that he was the committee's choice—and a very popular one it proved. Mr. Brunberg has long served the League as its secretary, an office upon which most of the work devolves, and his faithful and efficient efforts have been much appreciated.

The other members of the nominating committee were Osmond A. Palmer and Elmer B. Crockett.

Mr. Day prefaced his address with a quotation from Longfellow's "The Village Blacksmith." He then referred to the fact that anvils and hammers of more than one sort have played an important part in human history and cited the Bible Anvil, the Church, and peoples and races. He showed how the two former had endured, while the hammers had been broken. It was particularly of the Anvil of peoples and races, upon which the hammer blows of prejudice, intolerance, and hatred have rained, that Mr. Day dwelt; especially of the Jews as seen in the Anti-Semitism of the day. He treated the matter under the following heads: (1) The Jew is an ethnological miracle. (2) A historical miracle. (3) A physical miracle. (4) A prophetic miracle.

Mr. Day expanded each of these at length; showing the Jewish people to be a unique race who have survived every attempt to annihilate them, and will. And they are fulfilling prophecy to the letter, the present evidence of which is seen in their remarkable increase in numbers, and their exploits in Palestine. Their future, as the leading people of the world, is assured from the Word of God. They will become the head of a world theocracy which will take the place of present democracy and dictatorship, which is yet to increase.

In closing Mr. Day recalled Adolph Hitler's broken hammer, when laying the foundation stone of the New Art Gallery at Munich on a certain Sunday several years ago. He raised his silver hammer to strike three times upon the stone, but at the first blow the hammer broke leaving the handle in Herr Hitler's hands. Without saying a word, he turned and returned to his seat. That is prophetic of Hitlerism, and Mussolinism, and Stalinism and all similar isms. When all of these have passed, the Jew will still be here fulfilling his divine destination. The Jewish Anvil will stand, while all the Anti-Semitic hammers will be broken.

CHURCHES

SERMONETTE

Inter-Faith Groups

There is in Portland a Catholic weekly journal called "The Church World." It carries many helpful Christian articles and in the Jan. 13th issue it carried one which must have brought joy to the Heavenly Father.

I have spoken of the "Good Will Tour" made by Rabbi Morris S. Lazaron, Rev. Everett R. Clinchy, and Father Michael J. Ahern, S. T. who toured the country from coast to coast. They were in Portland and I talked with each of them. Shortly after this Tour, three prominent New York Clergymen, Rev. Dr. W. Russell Bowie, rector of Grace Episcopal Church; Rev. Phillip J. Farling, vice president of St. Patrick's Cathedral College; and Dr. Abraham Le Feinberg of Mount Nebo Temple united in a nation-wide broadcast stressing the same sound principles in furthering God's work.

And now comes the good news in "The Church World": "The creation of inter-faith groups on every college campus to promote the principles of democracy, achieve social justice and eliminate religious and racial prejudice." The Catholic World says there were 57 Protestant, Catholic and Jewish student delegates from 29 colleges and universities in the East.

They had a three day conference at Drew University and were informed by Dr. Everett R. Clinchy that the organization would shortly add to its staff a traveling secretary to help organize inter-faith groups and provide such groups with programs. It was agreed by the delegates that all groups of students could work together for these ends. With such groups on every college campus Communism and Fascism need not be feared.

A religious renaissance—true workers for God.

With The Grangers

During the year 1938 more than 1,000 joint Church-Grange services were held in the United States, drawing an immense audience, chiefly of rural people; and an even greater number of such services are planned for 1939.

In Clark county, Washington, a unique contest is on, with a lively bunch of Grange men already participating and further entries certain. Prizes are offered to the Granger who grows the longest beard; the handsomest; the curliest; and the most anemic. Some quite prominent Patrons in the county have announced their intention of winning the contest and no feature of the coming golden jubilee event at Vancouver is likely to attract keener interest than this unique competition from Clark county.

For the three months ending March 31 the total number of new and reorganized Granges in the United States was 96, distributed over more than a score of states, with Iowa and Wyoming tied for first place in the organization of new subordinate units, and with Ohio, Pennsylvania and New York ranking highest in the order named in the institution of new juvenile Granges. It is expected that the quarter ending June 30 will show an even larger number of new Grange units started and that the National Grange year ending Sept. 30 will be one of the best along organization lines for a quarter century.

Few States the past year have shown greater progress in Grange organization and activity than Missouri, and among the counties where such advance has been made Randolph takes high rank, as many of the subordinates now functioning in that section are less than one year old, although rapidly "getting their stride" in Grange accomplishments. One of the latter has been the recent organization of a mutual fire insurance company, whose policyholders represent 20 subordinates and two Pomona Granges in Randolph and adjoining counties.

During the past year Granges in the New England group have been busy collecting tinfol, which has been turned over to the Shriners' Hospital for crippled children at Springfield, Mass., Connecticut so far leads in this work, having collected almost four tons of tinfol during 1938. Two members at Bellows Falls, Vt., alone turned in 240 pounds, and inasmuch as over 400 cigarette packages are necessary to produce one pound of tinfol, it is apparent that collection of such material in ton lots is no slight accomplishment.

The Pomona Grange of Crawford county, Pa., is taking practical steps toward remedying the aggravations of the milk situation in that county, and at a recent meeting following energetic discussion the Pomona appointed a committee of seven of its strongest men to formulate a policy for the best interests of milk producers in Crawford county. Subordinate Grangers throughout that area have voiced vigorous complaints from dairymen over the whole milk situation, and an appeal was made to the Pomona to take definite action looking toward relief.

Camden One Of The Towns Which Has Applied For State Co-operation

The Maine Department of Agriculture will start work at once to eliminate the heavy infestation of gypsy and brown tail moths in the central and western part of the State.

The insect control program sponsored by the State Department of Agriculture and carried out under the direction of the W.P.A. officials is drawing to a close this season. More than $75,000 has been spent in painting gypsy moth egg clusters and in cutting out brown tail webs in areas where W.P.A. labor was available.

To complete this work it will be necessary to spray in the heaviest infested areas and this work will be started as soon as the foliage is large enough to hold spray material. It will be necessary to hire commercial machines for spraying and tree experts from the State department will do the work.

Twenty cities and towns have made application under Chapter 43, section 10 of the State Law for cooperative spraying agreements. The State machines will spray park and shade trees in Camden among other places.

JUNE: SAFETY MONTH

STATE OF MAINE

PROCLAMATION BY THE GOVERNOR

In designating the month of June as Safety Month for the State of Maine, I hope to enlist the co-operation of every individual in the State in the realization of a much-hoped-for reduction in automobile fatalities.

If each individual will take unto himself the vow to conduct himself in a manner to safeguard not only his personal welfare but the welfare of his friends and neighbors, I am confident that still further improvement can be made on Maine's already enviable record.

At this time preparations move forward for the entertainment of a record number of summer visitors. This will, of necessity, increase the traffic over our State highways, and I can but press the urge that the rules of safety be followed to the letter.

If our citizens and those visiting us exercise due care and caution in the operation of their motor vehicles, Maine is definitely started toward further accomplishment in the way of reducing in number and severity the daily list of automobile mishaps.

Annual Convention In Appleton, Finds Two New Unions In Line

The 32d annual meeting of the Knox County W.C.T.U. was held in the Baptist Church, Appleton, Monday. All officers and many of the county directors of departments were present. A fine day, and the well known hospitality of the Appleton folk brought out a good sized gathering.

Morning worship service was conducted by Mrs. Hope Brewster of Rockland. Greetings from the State president were read and greetings from the local union extended by Miss Lucy Moody. Response was made by Mrs. Clara Emery of Rockland. The corresponding secretary reported seven active unions, two newly organized this year—known as Willard Centenary Unions. The new presidents, Mrs. Mary Ware of Union and Mrs. Nina Leach of Tenant's Harbor, were introduced to the convention. The county quota of 60 new members had been exceeded by five and it is expected to enlarge upon that number before State convention.

A fine report for Alcohol Education was given by Miss Alena Young, who stated that active effort had been made to bring temperance instruction into the schools, with good co-operation on the part of the teachers. Especially good work was done in the rural schools by Miss McKnight.

A colored portrait of Frances Willard had been presented to Appleton High School with appropriate exercises. The educational movie film "The Pay Off," had been shown by James Coney in the High Schools of seven towns, and in Rockland High School by Principal Blaisdell. Mrs. Clara Sawyer of Thomaston, reporting on department of International Relations stated that war propagandists were using the moving pictures in which they had free use of units of the United Army and Navy to promote militaristic sentiment in this country and antagonistic feeling abroad.

The county institutes were reported by Mrs. Brewster, held in Camden and Rockland. Mrs. Clara Emery, department of Press and Publicity, said 14 columns of printed items in local papers had been noted. An expression of appreciation was made to The Courier-Gazette and Camden Herald for courtesies in giving space for articles, and for their continued policy of excluding liquor ads from their publications. Mrs. Hubert Leach of Thomaston reporting for Sunday School Work, said five unions sent in reports showing active educational work being done and many pledge cards signed.

Miss Lily G. Matheson, convention speaker, was introduced and called attention to the fine display of new literature promoting fruit drinks, jingles for little ones. Guy Bunny Books, Pioneer Girl, Top Form for High School coaches, Bible and Word Wine for Sunday School workers, pictures of Frances Willard and many others.

Mrs. Mary Ware of Union led the worship service of the afternoon session. Miss Margaret Crandon, county president gave a brief address on "Entering Open Doors and Some Accomplishments," saying in part—the W.C.T.U. would continue to put before the children of Maine what alcohol is and what it does, teaching temperance in every available manner. High School teachers have called the movie films "the best thing ever." We must complete the Centenary Fund that more teaching can be carried on. The help and co-operation of the W.C.T.U. is being sought by other organizations. There are more towns in Knox County to be organized.

The Memorial service was conducted by Mrs. Clara Sawyer, Mrs. Eva Robinson of Appleton, remarks by Mrs. Elizabeth Newbert.

This And That
