KEEPING OUT OF WAR

Keep the United States out of war! That is the burden of many prayers, and the earnest hope of every good American, particularly those who are old enough to remember the horrors of the World War. The wish is father to the thought, but how many thinkers and how many observers honestly believe that we will be that fortunate. On the matter of neutrality will Congress stand pat or will it let down the bars? The peoples of all nations have their ears to the ground for the purpose of catching the momentous answer.

A TURKEY SURPLUS

The New England Crop Reporting Service tells us that there are 22 percent more turkeys available this season than there were a year ago—31,937,000, to be exact. Perhaps it may not be a bad idea to have two Thanksgivings, after all.

"THE WEATHER"

Pretty soon we are going to put our Weather Man on the job. With overpowering heat in the West and bona fide snowstorms in the North, somebody ought to be doing something about it.

"FOR TRAINING PURPOSES"

Uncle Sam is sending an undefined number of his warships to Hawaii. For "training purposes," the despatches say. But in these days of strategy one cannot be too choosy of his words.

"JITTERY" OVERDONE

The word jittery is being sadly overdone in the newspapers and the magazines, but we suppose it will have to stand until somebody discovers another fancy catchword. Just think how long the press correspondents sent airships "roaring" into the night.

WAR COST TO AMERICA

(Boston Transcript)

The recent upsurge of the New York stock market was a heady tonic. It stimulated imaginations and whetted appetites for the possibility of a war-time boom that would spell profits, re-employment of millions of Americans and the reduction of cotton, wheat and other agricultural surpluses. Such vistas may persuade many to go impatient with neutrality legislation and call for unrestricted war trade.

It is at such a moment that the neutral nations should be reminded that war is essentially destruction of wealth. The last war is estimated to have cost the nations as high as $340,000,000,000—more than the entire wealth of the United States. For the participants, war is a direct loss. For the non-participants, war is only an illusion of profit.

If commodities are sold to the belligerents on credit, the warring nations are so impoverished that they are likely to default, as the billions of dollars of uncollected World War debts disclose. If they are sold for cash, there is undoubtedly a temporary benefit to the exporting nation. But dislocations in the social, financial and economic life of the world that follow from war sooner or later touch every nation and blot out for the mass of people any temporary advantage that may have come to them.

America probably could not survive actual participation in a war without serious upheavals. Should she enter the war she would start not with ration cards but with a national debt that has risen from $16,000,000,000 to $40,000,000,000 since 1930. Expenditures arising directly or indirectly from the World War play a major part in the present huge national debt. The war cost the United States directly $26,250,000,000 between 1917 and 1921. Since that time indirect war costs involving such items as veterans' pensions, hospitalization, disability benefits, death benefits and naval and military insurance have added another $34,000,000,000. It is estimated by economists that the ultimate costs will rise to $100,000,000,000. Beside these figures the national debt that is causing the nation so much concern, seems puny.

What man with a shred of caution or with any vision for the future of his nation would risk adding the costs of another war to these unmet debt from the last war? War's terrible drain on the wealth of the world may be concealed by speculation. But it is merely talcum powder on a wound. Sooner or later the costs are made patent. Nations pay in taxes, in social discord, in suffering, and in distraught nerves and bankrupt culture for every battle.

Russia knows this. She shrewdly hopes to be the arbiter of the desolation that impends. She shrewdly waits for the capitalistic nations to spend themselves and she will then write the prescription for reconstruction. If the United States is equally wise she will keep her institutions as healthy and unscathed as Russia intends to keep hers.

If we err in our judgments, let us err on the side of caution, not on the side of risking American involvement. The costs of another war added to those of the last and to the advanced stage of social and economic unrest would be too high. America must preserve herself in sanity and in social and economic stability. Only thus can she serve herself and the world.

THE FARNSWORTH MEMORIAL BUILDING

Trustee Asks That Certain Changes Be Made In Plans Specified By the Will

Ever since the death of Lucy C. Farnsworth speculation has been rife as to when the proposed William A. Farnsworth Memorial Building, corner of Main and Elm streets would be erected.

The trustees have not been idle in the matter, and carefully reviewing the terms of Miss Farnsworth's will have come forward with a proposition which, in their appearance will better serve the plan which Miss Farnsworth had in mind, as well as the public, which is to profit thereby. The proposition is outlined in a bill in equity brought by the Boston Safe Deposit and Trust Company, trustee of the Estate, against Franz U. Burkett as Attorney General and those contestants of the will with whom a settlement was made after the hearing in Knox Probate Court.

The proposition in brief is to erect a two-story building at the corner of Main and Elm streets in place of the contemplated three-story structure and to have therein the art gallery which, under the terms of the will would be housed in a back room of the three-story Farnsworth block on the east side of Main street.

The general public is familiar with the terms of the Farnsworth will by virtue of their publication in this newspaper at the time the will was filed, and their reputation in the report of the Probate Court hearing.

That portion relating to the Memorial Building called for a three-story structure costing $75,000, having the frontage on Main street of the buildings which were destroyed by fire and extending back from Main street approximately 100 feet. The basement and ground floor would be used for stores; the second floor for offices, with a library in the rear room; and the third floor for a hall.

The net proceeds from the rental of the stores, offices and hall would be used for the maintenance of the proposed library, art gallery and homestead. The library would be open Mondays, Wednesdays, and Fridays, the books not to be removed. The will specified that the structure should be known as the "William A. Farnsworth Building and Library."

The terms of the will, with reference to the homestead, and the four days on which it will be open to the public are well known.

The first rear room on the third floor of the Farnsworth building on the east side of Main street to be put in condition for use as an Art Gallery, in which will be hung portraits of Miss Farnsworth's father and brother. Other portraits and statuary to be placed there. The building referred to is located at 431-433 Main street, a short distance south of The Courier-Gazette office.

The will of Lucy C. Farnsworth inventoried at $972,564.98 in addition to which was real estate valued at $48,150 and expectant cash receipts of $100,000—so that the total estate was well above $1,000,000.

The trustees have attended to the homestead, but are of the opinion that the terms of the will would better be fulfilled if the treasures of the Art Gallery were housed in a building of fireproof construction. The attorney for the trustees is Charles L. Hutchinson of Portland.

The bill in equity is brought against the Attorney General because it is the duty of that official to see to the proper application of funds in charitable trust. It is returnable to the Supreme Judicial Court in Bath Oct. 3.

And here is what the trustees set forth:
Since the testatrix has died there has been erected in Rockland a (Continued on Page Eight)

"The Black Cat"

By The Roving Reporter

Who remembers when a cog railway ran to the summit of Cadillac Mountain. Any reader of this column use it?

Straw soaked in a solution of caustic soda for 24 hours and then washed out can be eaten by cows and sheep. Possibly it is even better than some of the breakfast foods used by humans.

What do you suppose Admiral Byrd is planning to take on his projected South Pole expedition? Not to keep you in suspense I will tell you that it is a five-gallon ice cream freezer. I should think that hot cocoa apparatus would be more suitable but every man to his taste.

Interest in the Dionne quintuplets is certainly not waning. Another half million of tourists have visited the famous nursery the past summer, making a total of 2,000,000 visitors who have journeyed 200 miles north of Toronto to see the prize-winning quintet. Having had the pleasure I can say in all sincerity that it is a sight worth circling the globe to see.

Many years ago there was a minstrel show in the old Beethoven hall. M. D. Hemenway was musical director, Ferd G. Singhi was stage manager and A. I. Mather was business manager. Among the advertised features were songs by M. D. Hemenway, E. W. Palmer, A. I. Mather, A. Crockett and F. G. Singhi; a clog exercise and original stump speech by Charles Haveren and a comic act by Nat Meservy.

From Bessie G. Wallace in South Waldo comes harvest items of interest: "Delicious watermelons have been harvested at the Wallace Gardens, this being contrary to the belief that watermelons cannot be raised in this State. The flavor of these 'melons is far better than those raised in warmer climates. Alvin Wallace measured a vine from a squash which was 25 feet in length. This was only one runner from the main stalk."

In your idle moments do you ever make a study of the skies. Do you note the rainbows, the sun dogs, the thunder clouds, the eclipses, the sunsets, the circles around the sun and moon, the cloud formations sometimes with queer faces, the mackerel skies, the brilliant planets—and one might go on indefinitely, for the sky is a huge map, furnishing a most fascinating study.

Clifton C. Lufkin of Glen Cove, whose friendship for The Courier-Gazette is a matter of long standing, dodged into the office yesterday forenoon, deposited a Hubbard squash on the counter, and dodged out again. There was nothing unusual about the squash until we discovered that grown into its surface was the picture of a feline, and beneath it the words "Black Cat's Brother." Nature and the owner did a good job, and the fraternal greetings are much appreciated.

Occasionally there is an issue of The Courier-Gazette in which no death notice appears; what a striking contrast was Tuesday's edition in which 13 appeared. Would that they might have been births instead.

A long list of old-time coopers, recalled by E. H. Philbrick, appeared in Tuesday's issue. Since then Mr. Philbrick has recalled the following additional men who worked at that trade.

John Towle, Sam Cargill, Frank Cargill, Charlie Cargill, Waterman Witham, George Witham, Kiser Witham, Joseph Witham, Frank West, Charlie Smith, Allen Newland, Alden Wade, Lewis Speed, Fred A. Turner, Evander Turner, Charlie Turner, Joe Callier, John Nason.

One year ago: Red Cross officials and delegates to the number of 150 held their first regional conference in this city. A record crowd of nearly 2000 attended Union Fair on the "big day."—E. L. Cox and friend Silas Pomeroy returned to Oregon.—C. M. Haveren was elected Chief Patriarch—Edward F. Upham, 78, died in Union—Adelaide L. Piper, 84, widow of David Piper, died at her home on Rankin street.

THE NORTH KNOX FAIR

Sun Shines At Last, and Everybody's Happy—10,000 Braved Yesterday's Storm

THIS IS THE "FIRST DAY"

The management of the North Knox Fair makes official announcement that this is to be considered as the first day of the Fair, which will now be continued through Saturday.

Everybody have a sigh of relief this morning when the sun rose brightly above the horizon, and the broadcasters were heard to announce that this would be a fair day.

Union Fair was getting a break at last.

Tuesday's storm, followed by yesterday afternoon's drizzle was enough to discourage any management, but in spite of adverse conditions there were nearly 10,000 patrons on the North Knox Fair grounds at noon yesterday. The pulling events were held in the forenoon but when the starting judge called for the entries in the first race only four responded, and the downpour led to the immediate announcement that this feature had been postponed.

But the crowd stayed on the grounds and splashing through the mud and took the ill luck good naturedly.

The pulling results were:

Calf steers, driven by boy under 15; first, Alvah Jones of Washington, 344 feet 4 inches; second, Stephen Simmons of Damariscotta, 334 feet 2 inches; third, Burton Kennedy of Union, 301 feet; fourth, Ralph Cunningham of Jefferson, 283 feet.

Year-old steers: First, Donald Bowman of Jefferson, 313 feet 4 inches; second, William Gracie of Warren, 254 feet 6 inches; third, Randall Simmons of Nobleboro, 246 feet 7 inches; fourth, Ralph Hodgkins of Jefferson, 40 feet 3 inches.

Grange awards: First, Seven Tree of Union; second, Megunticook of Camden; third, Hope. Awards for farm exhibits included: First, Pleasant View Farm, Union, Frank Calderwood; second, Hereford Farm, Waldo, Mrs. Laura Mank; third, Happy Hollow Farm, Union, Mrs. Elmore Spear; fourth, Sunnyside Farm, Warren, Mrs. Nancy Erickson. Raymond E. Thurston of Union won first prize for sprayed fruit and second award was made to Clarence Whitmore.

Randall Simmons of Nobleboro, as his one year old steers pull 1000 pounds at Union Fair this year. The farmers did not feel that they could afford to raise corn at 1 1/2 cents a pound, when they have received as high as five cents.

Beans have done well. George D. Gerald of Union has raised 17 acres, 15 of which were under contract with a canning concern in Newport. Root vegetables also fared well, the summer having proved especially propitious for them. Potatoes were in good quality and registered a good crop, with little or no rot. The spuds raised in this section are largely Green Mountains and Katahdins. There was an average crop of pumpkins and squashes. Tomatoes flourished.

Union is regarded as one of the most prosperous farming communities in the State. None of its citizens comes under the unfortunate classification of "paupers," although some are receiving assistance. No farms are offered for sale, and if they were, they would be quickly "grabbed up." The Courier-Gazette reporter was told.

Rockland Boy There

Dick Ellingwood a Freshman At Norwich University This Fall

Richard G. Ellingwood, son of Mr. and Mrs. William A. Ellingwood of 67 Talbot avenue, Rockland, is a member of the freshman class at Norwich University this fall, according to information received here from the military college at Northfield, Vt.

In opening the old institution's 121st year, Dr. John M. Thomas new president and former head of three colleges, Middlebury, Penn State and Rutgers, gave an address on "Military Education." He said: "Military science is an intellectual enterprise just as much as in civil engineering or medicine. It is much more than 'military drill.' At Norwich we pursue this subject of military education by the laboratory method. There is as much difference between the R.O.T.C. in a civilian college and the military system at Norwich as between the old text book and recitation method in chemistry and biology and the laboratory methods now universally used in these sciences.

In pursuit of the laboratory method in military education Norwich cadets live in barracks, and the more desirable rooms, if there be such, are assigned on the basis of military rank, not according to what the student's parents can afford to pay. There is no distinction in clothing between the sons of the well-to-do and those who are largely dependent on themselves. No college in the United States is more democratic than Norwich. Our purpose is not to inculcate democracy, but to simulate army conditions as nearly as possible. In every bugle call from reveille at 6:30 to taps at 11 we are training the cadet to get the feel of military life."

Andrew B. Sides, active in New England shipping for 35 years and a former vice-president of the Eastern Steamship Lines, has formed the Andrew B. Sides Company, Inc., general steamship agent, with offices at 75 State street, Boston. Leaving the Eastern Lines in 1930, he joined Thompson's Spa as a vice president and director and later became affiliated with John G. Hall & Co., Inc., steamship agents. Sides is a former Camden boy.

FIRST DAY TODAY

UNION FAIR

FAIR WILL RUN THURS.—FRI.—SAT.

FULL PROGRAM AS SCHEDULED

FIRST DAY, TODAY SECOND DAY, FRIDAY THIRD DAY, SATURDAY

RACES AND ALL OTHER EVENTS

THE TRACK HAS BEEN PUT IN PERFECT CONDITION

Charles C. Wotton will referee the Arnold-Maine football game in Orono Saturday.

Harvey Robshaw is "doing Portland" while having a vacation from his duties as chief operator at Park Theatre.

It didn't make the Union Fair management feel any better Tuesday or yesterday to read that last summer was the driest summer on record. There was no drouth at Union.

Mrs. Lucy E. Holbrook, 137 Union street, who has been a shut-in for 11 years, will observe her 82d birthday anniversary Monday, and it would bring her much joy and happiness to receive cards and letters.

The annual harvest festival service and sale of fruits, vegetables, eggs, canned goods, will be held in The Salvation Army Hall, Saturday at 8 p. m. Money raised from this source is applied to the Army's Home missions and charitable institutions. The foodstuffs were donated in the vicinity of Rockland by local farmers and Adjutant T. Seaver states that the platform of the local hall is filled with good things to eat and he expects to have one of the largest sale in years.

Charles Hill has moved from 28 Pacific street to South Thomaston and is occupying one half of the Oliver Hamlin house.

Rockland Encampment I.O.O.F. elected these officers last night: Chief, Patriarch, Alfred Benner; High Priest, Alfred Prescott; Senior Warden, O. Elmer Pinkham; Scribe, M. V. Rollins; Treasurer, N. F. Karl; Junior Warden, Dr. Blake B. Annis; trustees, Luke S. Davis, O. B. Lovejoy, C. E. Gregory. The installation will be held Oct. 11 with supper at 6:30. Delegates chosen for the Grand Encampment to be held Oct. 17 in Lewiston were C. M. Havener and O. B. Lovejoy. Charles E. Gregory and Nestor S. Brown were named as alternates.

An Egyptian motor car, a gold fish, a New York car and a steamship official from Genoa, Italy, were the far flung elements of a collision at the corner of Park and Main streets Tuesday afternoon and helping straighten it out was one of Rockland's "finest," Frank Bridges. The driver of the Egyptian car was Charles W. Kallioch and in his tender care was the aforementioned gold fish. All would have gone well if the jar containing the glided fish had not threatened to capsize. In attempting to avert that disaster Captain Kallioch lost momentary control of the wheel and his machine collided with a New York car. When Patrolman Bridges brought order out of chaos everybody was smiling including the goldfish.

The Garden Club

Miss Lucy Rhodes Tells Of Her Stay At Audubon Nature Camp

The Rockland Garden Club met Tuesday at the Community Building, with Mrs. Edward J. Heller as hostess. The subject was "Conservation Study" and 28 members attended.

Mrs. Clara Emery announced that white peonies are to be planted at Knox Hospital garden, Thursday afternoon during a centennial observance of the birth of Frances Willard. Mrs. Heller described the attractiveness of the Mattie Ann Shop for herbs and jellies as being very interesting and fascinating.

Mrs. Maud Smith read a short article on rare species of birds and flowers found occasionally in unusual places. She stressed the fact that members should not buy water lilies and wild flowers of the orchid family as the disturbance of their roots extinguishes their originality.

The speaker of the afternoon was Miss Lucy Rhodes, a teacher in the Rockland public schools, who made two weeks' stay at the Audubon Nature Camp at Hog Island, Muscongus, sponsored by the Rockland Garden Club. She described in detail both seriously and humorously the highlights of the boat trips, bird hunts, nature trails, plant hunting trips and other adventures on the surrounding islands, proving that this accomplishment was indeed an asset to the club and to the public schools of Rockland. CROCKETT-WASHBURN

A simple but beautiful wedding ceremony took place at high noon Sept. 10 on the grounds of the Washburn estate, North Perry, when Miss Louise Washburn, daughter of the commissioner of agriculture and Mrs. Frank P. Washburn, became the bride of Lloyd Crockett of this town in one of the most noteworthy fall weddings of that section.

Rev. Albion Beverage of University of Maine was the officiating clergyman. The ceremony took place in a lovely spot, selected from all the acres of this fine old homestead as the most perfect setting for the nuptials. The wealth of fall flowers and foliage formed a charming background.

The bride was strikingly lovely in white lace over satin and carried white sweet peas, roses and baby's breath. She was attended by her cousin, Miss Helen Selwood who wore powder blue accentuated by tulle and roses. The bridegroom was attended by the bride's twin brother Lee Washburn of Perry.

Immediately following the ceremony a buffet luncheon was served prior to the departure of the couple for a wedding trip through Canada. They will make their home at Pulpit Harbor.

Mrs. Crockett is a graduate of Cony High School and attended the University of Maine for three years. She is active in Grange work, has made a name for herself in her home town and vicinity through her interest in horticulture and is well known for her ability as a lecturer on such subjects.

Mr. Crockett is a graduate of North Haven High School, has attended Bridgton Academy and Bowdoin College. He is also particularly active in Grange affairs and now serves as master of Lime-rock Valley Pomona, also is a subordinate Deputy of same. He is also serving his second term as Representative to Legislature and operates a local dairy.

About 50 guests attended the wedding among whom were: Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Emerson of Augusta, Mr. and Mrs. Hanson T. Crockett, Blanche Crockett, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Washburn, Mr. and Mrs. Marshall Washburn, Mrs. Ruth Gupit, Miss Alice Washburn, Lee Washburn, Eric Ebbeson of Bangor, Rep. and Mrs. William T. Smith of Thomaston, Mr. and Mrs. Ardine Richardson of Strong, Mrs. Frank Lyman, Miss Cornelia C. Moody and Mr. and Mrs. Wilson Morg of Northampton, Mass., Dr. and Mrs. Vladimir Simkhovitch and Miss Edith Gerry of Robbinston, Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Raye, Alexander Raye, Irene Wadsworth, Mary Wadsworth, Miss Helen MacLaren and Miss Agnes MacLaren of Eastport, Mr. and Mrs. H. KIDNEYS MUST REMOVE EXCESS ACIDS
Help 15 Miles of Kidney Tubes Flush Out Poisonous Waste
If you have an excess of acids in your blood, your 15 miles of kidney tubes may be overworked. These tiny filters and tubes are working day and night to help Nature rid your system of excess acids and poisonous waste.
When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up middle of night, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with a burning and stinging sensation follow. Here is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.
Kidneys may not help the same as how to, so ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give long lasting relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

A MAID CALLED MILLS
Whom You Will Take To Your Heart When She Talks About Household Matters

BROADCAST BY MARJORIE MILLS
(Monday, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday at 1.30 p. m. over Stations WNAC, Boston; WTAC, Worcester; WCHS, Portland; WTIC, Hartford; WICO, Bridgeport; WEAN, Providence; and WLBZ, Bangor.)

We're still trying to answer queries about mixing paint to get various special colors for woodwork, furniture and odds and ends over which all women like to wield a paint brush. It's not only that you need directions for mixing paint for your own efforts but if you're trying any room effects more startling than ivory or white it's a good idea to stand over the house painter until he arrives at the shade of paint you've dreamed about. He'll classify you as a pest of a woman in his mental catalogue of females but after all you have to live with the paint, when he has finished until you can afford to have it done again.
We wish we could find out for you how to mix colors to get so called Williamsburg greens and blues but we're still working on that project. Here are a few we've found out about. Ming green is arrived at by mixing white with chrome yellow, raw umber, raw sienna, and chrome green. Wedgewood blue is made with white, Prussian blue, ultramarine and raw umber. A fine yellow that's soft and sunny is burn when you mix white with chrome yellow medium and raw sienna. Vermilion and burnt umber mixed with white give you rose beige and it's lovely.
Antique white is smart as anything for walls, mirrors or picture frames or occasional furniture and you can get it, or your painter can, with bits of black and of Indian Red mixed with white. Save these directions for mixing paint if you intend to do boxes, small tables or hanging shelves for friends at Christmas.
Sally Larkin has evolved a set of rules and discoveries for successful painting based on personal experience with woodwork and furniture tackled this summer and you'll find your own sessions with the paint brush simplified if you follow them.
If you are using new plywood and want to paint it easily and cover it well, first shellac the surface with shellac thinned with about the same amount of denatured alcohol. Then give it two coats of flat white and one of enamel. If you shellac the surface you won't have to sand-paper it.
For the last coat of flat paint under enamel, mix it half and half with enamel and you get a smoother surface and a better gloss when the final coat of enamel is put on.
Enamel should be heavy enough to flow on without leaving brush marks and you will need a fairly heavy brush. The enamel should "pull" a little with the brush.
One easy way to keep paint brushes in good order is to drill a hole just above the bristles in the handle. Then after painting, wash the brushes in turpentine or kerosene, and suspend, so the bristles do not touch the bottom of the container having the entire surface of the bristles covered with the fluid.
After the painting is all done, leave in the kerosene overnight, then dry well and wrap brushes in brown paper or cloth and put away in a dry place. A good paint brush is a good investment and will justify the greater cost.

Wheatena Cookies
(Repeated by request)
One-half cup Land O'Lakes Butter, 1 cup sugar, 1 egg, 2 tablespoons milk, 1 1/4 cups flour, 1/2 cup uncooked Wheatena, 2 tablespoons baking powder, 1/2 teaspoon salt.
Cream butter and sugar, add milk and egg, then add all dry ingredients sifted together. Chill, roll into balls and cut in fancy shapes. Cook in moderate oven 350 deg. F. until delicate brown.
Mrs. Noel's Meat Loaf
One and one-half pounds fresh pork, 1 1/2 pounds hamburger, 2 eggs, 1 teaspoon salt, 1 teaspoon pepper, 1 onion, 2 cups bread crumbs, 1 cup milk, one-third cup Blue Label tomato ketchup, 1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce.
Mix all the ingredients together thoroughly and shape into a loaf. Place in pan and bake 1 1/2 hours in a 400 deg. F. oven.
Quince Honey
Six quinces, sugar.
Pare the quinces and drop them in cold water. Cover the skins with boiling water and boil rapidly for half an hour. Drain. Grate the quinces and add to liquor drained from skins. Cook mixture for 20 minutes. Skim and add an equal amount of sugar. Simmer for 10 minutes and then pour into clean hot jars and seal.
Mother's Piccalilli
Two quarts green tomatoes, quarts ripe tomatoes, 3 onions, 3 ripe peppers, 3 green peppers, 1 large cucumber, 2 bunches celery, chopped coarse.
Sprinkle with two-thirds cup salt, leave 12 or more hours. Drain well and add:
Three pints vinegar, 2 pounds brown sugar, 1 teaspoon mustard, 1 teaspoon pepper.
Cook one hour. Put into jars and seal.

Car Was Robbed

Philadelphians On the Way
From Rockport Had Hard
Luck In New York

The car in which Mr. and Mrs. Charles Jaffee were returning from Rockport to Philadelphia last week, was robbed in New York of its entire contents, including the violin said to be valued at $35,000, which Mr. Jaffee played as second violinist in the famous Curtis String Quartet; also a duplicate of the instrument which had been made and presented to Mr. Jaffee for permanent ownership. Clothing and other personal belongings were also lost.

The robbery occurred in broad daylight, Mr. and Mrs. Jaffee having left the locked car to step into a nearby place of business.

Insurance investigators were in Rockport Wednesday in the interest of the case.

Fire Prevention

Camden Department Will Observe Week — Clean
Up Inflammable Rubbish

Fire Prevention week is annually designated by Presidential and Royal Proclamation as the week including Oct. 9, the anniversary of the great Chicago Fire. The Camden Fire Department is asking your help to make this a success in Camden as well as nationally. The program consists of cleanup of inflammable rubbish around your house that will be taken away at no expense to you by calling Town Manager Percy Keller, Percy Luce or Allen Payson any time during the week of Oct. 8 to 14.

Talks will be given any time to service clubs or any group by arrangement with Chief Payson. Watch Prince's window for Fire Display. A public demonstration by the fire department will be held at the water front on Saturday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock.

There will be home inspections, home fire drills, and school fire drills, inspection of all public buildings, stores and manufacturing plants. The department has entered the Inter-chamber Fire Week Contest with the Chamber of Commerce which means that they need all the help that the citizens of Camden can give to make this move a success. Watch the paper for fire prevention news.

Talented Rockland Girl Has Permanent Position With Universalist Church

The Universalist Church School will begin holding its regular sessions next Sunday, at 12 o'clock noon in the vestry.

Early last year, the trustees of the church, together with Dr. Lowe and the Church School workers, began making plans for an extensive reorganization of the school. It was recognized that present day conditions create unusual problems in connection with the religious training of children and young people. It was also recognized that no greater responsibility than that of providing proper religious training for the rising generation, rests upon the Christian Church.

To meet this responsibility the Church officials decided to secure the services of a competent paid worker to supervise and direct the work to be done in the Church School. They deem it a privilege to announce they have secured Mrs. Winona Cooper for the position of Director of Religious Education and that she will begin her duties next Sunday. They feel that with her background of experience as a teacher of music in the public schools, she is admirably fitted for the duties she is to assume.

Mrs. Cooper will be assisted by a fine group of teachers and helpers. Mrs. Esther S. Rogers, supervisor of music in the public schools has volunteered to assist in the kindergarten or nursery department of the school, meeting during the church service hour, Sunday mornings. Children from three to five years, in this department, will thus receive the benefit of carefully planned songs for little folk and suitable religious influences. As the year progresses, various youth activities will be instituted, for the development of youthful personalities.

The religious instruction provided will aim to give children and young people the spiritual equipment needed for successful and happy living, while ignoring the purely sectarian emphasis.

"THE HOTTEST THING ON EARTH"

This has long been the slogan of the famous "Andes" furnaces and it is true in the literal sense. They ARE the hottest, most efficient, most economical heaters in the hot air field.

The Andes "M.D.N."

A nation's standard of efficient, easily operated, economical heating. Nothing to freeze or get out of order. Inexpensive in first cost and last cost.

The Andes "B.R.N."

This is tops of the whole hot air heating field—tops in efficiency, incomparably so—tops in economy—tops in convenience and ease of operation. This is the famous "Brian." No better hot air furnace was ever built.

We are agents for these heaters. Installations promptly made with a minimum of disturbance to your household.

It is better to misplace our charity on nine unworthy persons than to deny alms to one who is really in need, and this is a Turkish proverb.

It was the State of Oregon that started the custom of State gasoline tax way back in the year of 1919. Since then it has spread to every State and billions of dollars have been collected, most of it going to new and better roads.

Development in recent years of five United States mineral industries such as natural gas, helium, natural carbon, dioxide, potash and sulphur is attributed largely to underground explorations for more oil. All these minerals help keep this country more independent from Europe.

The great blue heron is a famous night fisherman, and he carries a lantern in the form of some peculiar phosphorescent feathers on his breast. He eats nothing but fish. He summers in the North but starts South after the first freeze.

Rockland League Of Women Voters and Activities At Large

The National Board of the League of Women Voters announces active League support of revision of the Neutrality Act by repeal of the present embargo section and substitution of provisions for control of all trade under restrictions of "cash and carry" or some similar proposal for trade under conditions that tend to safeguard the United States.

Miss Wells expressed the wish that support of such neutrality legislation be an occasion for clarifying the issues. In a letter to State presidents, she said:

"Many people still do not realize that the question of changes in embargoes, does not mean change in our status as a neutral, which has been proclaimed by the President and could have been proclaimed had there been no so-called 'Neutrality' act. Many people also are under the false impression that the present embargo provisions of the act safeguard us against incidents likely to lead to war. The present embargo provision is only upon munitions of war. Incidents are as likely to occur from our foreign trade in other commodities. Putting all trade under control and adding the restriction of 'cash and carry' ought therefore to make less likely incidents that might incite the United States to war. People are also greatly stirred by talk about the inhumanity of providing guns and bullets to be used in wounding and killing. Yet those who use this argument do not propose embargoes upon raw materials. We ought to realize that such material used to sustain war results also in death and wounds. I will mention one additional argument underlying most of the talk against embargo changes. It is based on a question of psychology where there is room for a difference of opinion. It is commonly assumed that opening our trade in a way that obviously discriminates in favor of one set of belligerents will result in an overwhelming urge to go into war on their side. It is possible that the contrary is true. A vast majority of our people are known to favor the English-French belligerents, both out of sympathy and out of convictions about what is best for civilization. It is possible that if we persist in depriving them of necessary commodities, feelings of frustration or regret might, if the situation becomes desperate, bring about just what it sought to avoid."

AUTUMN ADVANCES
(For The Courier-Gazette)
Where has summer flown its care,
Heavy-laden with perfume and air,
Bee and butterfly in mute despair
Seek for honeyed blossoms rare.
Midst ripening seeds and tinted leaf,
While katy-dids thrum out long hours
Into breaking winds and pleasant shower.

Bronzed gold and reds o'er western sea,
Cumulus clouds hover close,
Soon set the million star-jewels free
To blink their jeweled light in ecstasy.
While sparkling down on goldenrod
And yellowing banks of mellowed sod.

Summer in her final days
Fashioned purple aster sprays
Into feathery seed pods and
Puffy balls of downy fluff.
While bamboo stems with mild intent
Give one last gesture to the larkspur.

WITH EXTENSION AGENTS AND THE KNOX-LINCOLN FARM BUREAU

Agriculture
Albert Elwell of Orff's Corner, has a fine flock of pullets. He plans to remodel his henhouse by putting on another floor. Mr. Elwell's son Calvin, a former 4-H Club member, is working on the farm.

Among the remodeled poultry houses in Lincoln County this year, is the barn of A. L. Paquet of North Edgcomb. Mr. Paquet has put in another floor and now has 1500 birds housed. He has torn out the old dropping boards and installed pits.

Several farmers in the county are considering planting for next year on waste land for Christmas trees. Arrangements are being made with County Agent Wentworth for demonstrations in the spring.

The four farm checkers in connection with the Agricultural Conservation Program are now at work among the farmers of the county. They are checking work done in 1939 and also assisting farmers in making out grants for lime and super-phosphate. The men are: Harold Allen, Hope, and Henry Kontio, West Rockport for Knox County; and Norris Waltz, Damariscotta and Herbert Spear, North Nobleboro, for Lincoln County.

A very interesting meeting on land use was held at North Nobleboro community building, Sept. 21. Those taking part in the discussions, which were opened by County Agent Wentworth, were: H. A. Clark, South Jefferson; Wallace Spear, North Nobleboro; Paul Pieri, Waldoboro; Herbert Spear, North Nobleboro; and Fred Reed, Waldoboro.

Miss Esther Dunham, home demonstration agent, will hold a meeting on "Aids in Clothes Buying," Sept. 29, at the North Edgcomb schoolhouse. Mrs. Elizabeth Caswell and Miss Anna Cate are on the dinner committee.

There will be two training classes next week, the subject to be an Appie A Day, at the Farm Bureau hall in Rockland, and at East Union Grange hall, Oct. 3 and 4 respectively. Delegates who will attend in Rockland are: Mrs. Connie Gould, Camden; Mrs. Edna Packard, Friendship; Mrs. William Brown, Hope; Mrs. Albert MacPhail and Mrs. Blanche Mann, Owl's Head; Mrs. Eunice Morse, Rockland; Mrs. Mary Spear, Rockport; Mrs. Henry Carver, Simonton; Mrs. Josie Conary, Tenant's Harbor; Mrs. Ruby Makinen, South Thomaston. Delegates who will attend in East Union are: Mrs. Lizzie Hawes, Union; Mrs. Amelia Dornan, East Union; and Mrs. Nettie Grinnell, Burketville.

Montsweag will have a meeting on Pictures in the Home, Oct. 5, at Mrs. Dorothy Wilson's. The meeting will be in charge of Mrs. Gertrude Munsey and members will discuss pictures suitable for different rooms and well-known painters. Mrs. Ethelyn Shea, Mrs. Helen Crocker, and Mrs. Archie Wishart will serve the dinner.

4-H Club Notes

One hundred twenty-five attended the 4-H local contest program presented Sept. 21, by six clubs of Washington, Union, Razoville, and Burketville at the Grange hall in Washington.

Donald Armstrong, leader of the Washington Boys' Club, was announcer of the program which consisted of a table setting demonstration by Harriet Wellman and Esther Grinnell of Washington; a demonstration on sandwich fillings by Frances Crummett and Irene Lenfest of Razoville; a short play by members of both boys and girls clubs in Washington; and a play by the Burketville girls' club. There were musical selections, both vocal and piano, and several stories relating to the 4-H year's work read by the members who wrote them.

Miss Lucinda Rich, club agent, awarded re-enrollment ribbons to every club member who had completed his project and had joined for 1940.

Clubs participating, and their leaders, are: the Medomak Merry Makers, (girls), with Miss Louise Linscott, leader; Hill and Valley Boys, with Donald Armstrong, leader, both of Washington; the Ambitious Maids (girls), with Mrs. Loretta Rich, leader; and the Junior Farmers (boys), with John Howard, leader, both of Union; the Mountain Top Maids of Razoville, with Miss Maud Turner, leader; and the Bonnie Boosters of Burketville, with Mrs. Carolyn Leigher, leader.

Dr. Coombs of Waldoboro, formerly of the State Department of Health in Augusta, spoke on vitamin C and other nutrition essentials and the effect on the body if diets are deficient in these essentials on the 4-H local contest program given in Orff's Corner, Friday evening, Sept. 22.

Mrs. Delbert Andrews of Jefferson, also a speaker on the program, pointed out that a true 4-H'er, if he were to have a well-rounded personality, should practice all of those things which he repeats in the 4-H pledge: "I pledge my Heart to clearer thinking; my Heart to great loyalty; my Hands to larger service; and my Health to better living for my Club, my Community, and my Country."

The five clubs taking part in this contest, with their leaders, are: the Jefferson Cheerio (girls), with Mrs. Margaret Bond; the Jeffersonian Farmers (boys), with Chester Turnbull; the We-Can-Do-It (girls), with Mrs. Lulu Miller; and the Medomak Maine-laf, with Philip Lee, both of North Waldoboro; and the Orff's Corner Bear Club, with Albert Elwell. Each club took part in the program contributing music, 4-H club stories, a short skit, and several humorous stunts put on by the boys. Frank Flagg of Jefferson and Clayton Hoak of Orff's Corner told of their trip to State Camp at Orono. Sixty-five attended the contest.

Mr. Grover of the Fish and Game Department at Augusta, showed colored pictures of Maine at Whitefield, Sept. 23, at a joint local contest of the Best Maids club of that town and the Happy Homemakers club of Head Tide. These clubs are led by Mrs. George Hausen and Bernal Jewett, respectively.

The Best Maids club furnished a short playlet demonstrating table setting. Songs and club stories were also given by members of both clubs. This is a new club applying this year for a charter and first seal of achievement. The Happy Homemakers will earn its fourteenth seal this year. Both of these clubs finished 100 percent of their projects. A food sale for the benefit of the 4-H club was held by the ladies of the community following the program.

At Sheepscot, Sept. 19, 90 persons gathered for the program furnished by three clubs of Sheepscot, West Alna, and Newcastle, led by Mrs. Ruth Leighton, Clifton Walker and Mrs. Doris Reed, respectively. Two short plays furnished by the girls clubs, club stories and group singing made up the program. Lucinda Rich, club agent, gave a few remarks and awarded re-enrollment ribbons to those members who had completed their club work and signed their card again for 1940. A social hour followed, exhibits were examined and games played.

building known as the Community Building which contains a large assembly hall on the street floor (seating approximately one thousand persons on the main floor) well adapted for large gatherings and also a smaller hall on the second floor known as the Tower Room which is well adapted for smaller groups. The Trustee is informed and believes that most of the church buildings in said Rockland are available for lectures, concerts and conventions and that at least two of the fraternal organizations in said city have halls which are available when not in use by the societies and that there are other halls in Rockland not enumerated.

The Trustee believes and therefore alleges that the purpose of the testatrix in providing for the construction of a hall in the library building was to assist in providing funds for the maintenance of the charitable purposes set forth in her will and codicil and said Trustee believes and therefore alleges that the erection of a hall in the library building would be futile from a financial standpoint in that there would be no adequate return on the investment.

The Trustee is informed and believes and therefore alleges that the City of Rockland already has a public library which is giving satisfactory service. A county law library is also maintained in the court house in said city. The testatrix has expressed a desire that the books shall not be removed from the library and under these conditions and to avoid duplication of existing libraries the library which the trustee is called upon to erect and maintain would naturally be of specialized character requiring less space than a large circulating library but requiring adequate room to house those consulting the library; that if a three-story building is to be constructed the space designated for use as a hall might more advantageously be used for library purposes or for offices, or possibly in conjunction with an art gallery.

The trustee believes and therefore alleges that after making ample provision for the maintenance of the homestead and making provision for a library, there will be a substantial amount of income in excess of all expenditures.

That the trustee believes and therefore alleges that, for the present at least, it will be desirable to maintain both the library and the art gallery in the new library building.

For the foregoing reason others the trustee is informed and believes and therefore alleges that the general charitable purposes of the testatrix will be much better served if in carrying out its trust the trustee should depart in certain minor respects from the exact wording of the will, especially in erecting the art gallery; and the trustee is informed and believes and therefore alleges that the testatrix herself recognized that such a contingency might arise and therefore made the following provision in paragraph twenty-six of the codicil, to wit:

"If, for any reason, any object specified in my will is not capable of being carried out, I desire that the funds applicable to this purpose should be applied to the other objects mentioned in the residuary clause of this will, according to the discretion of my Trustee."

That the heirs-at-law and next of kin of said Lucy C. Farnsworth, to wit, Flora I. Carney, otherwise known as Flora A. Carney, and Flora Sprague Carney, of Newcastle in the State of Maine, Hannah Hodgdon Baker Thomas of Bath in the State of Maine, William Sprague of Waldoboro in the State of Maine, and Winifred Stimpson of New York in the State of New York, for a valuable consideration entered into an agreement with said Boston Safe Deposit and Trust Company, Trustee, whereby said heirs received the aggregate sum of Sixty Thousand Dollars ($60,000) "in full settlement and discharge of whatever their respective and several distributive shares in said estate would be, in case said will and codicil were not allowed, and in full settlement and discharge of all claims and demands whatsoever against said estate and the Boston Safe Deposit and Trust Company the executor and trustee thereof named in said codicil, saying only the legacies provided in said will and codicil which are not in any way affected by this agreement."

A copy of said agreement marked Exhibit "C" is filed with this bill (being bound with Exhibit A).

Wherefore, the plaintiff being in doubt as to the proper method of accomplishing the charitable purposes of the testatrix, prays this Honorable Court to direct and instruct it upon the following questions, viz:

First: Will the Court authorize the plaintiff Trustee not to locate the art gallery provided in the said will and codicil in the first rear room in the third story of the Farnsworth building on the East side of Main street in Rockland numbered 431-439 inclusive on said Main Street?

Second: Will the Court authorize the plaintiff Trustee for the present to locate the art gallery provided in said will and codicil in said library building?

Third: Will the Court authorize the plaintiff Trustee to omit the construction of a hall in the third story of the library building?

Fourth: If the Court authorizes the plaintiff Trustee to omit the construction of the hall in the library building, will it authorize the plaintiff to construct a library building of two stories instead of three?

Fifth: That the plaintiff prays for such other and further instructions and relief as the case may require.

Sixth: And may it please the Court to grant unto the plaintiff a bill of subpoena directed to said Franz U. Burkett, in his capacity as Attorney General of the State of Maine and to said Hannah Hodgdon Baker Thomas, Flora Sprague Carney, William Sprague and Winifred Stimpson in form required by law and rules of this Court and in duty bound your plaintiff will ever pray.

Boston Safe Deposit and Trust Company, Trustee under the will of Lucy C. Farnsworth, by Roscoe R. Perry, Vice President, L. S. Cook, Hutchinson, Pierce & Connell, Solicitors for Plaintiff

A Modern Magician

Loring Campbell To Star At The Waldo Theatre Saturday

Coming to the Waldo Theatre on Sept. 30, is the Loring Campbell Company, presenting "A Modern Arabian Night". Mr. Campbell is ably assisted by Kathryn Campbell in presenting a most comprehensive program of the modern and ancient secrets of what was once known as the Black Art. There will be a matinee performance at regular admission prices and a slight advance in the evening prices to 50 cents all over the theatre, although children's prices will remain the same—25 cents. Please note there will be two full shows in the evening.

The public, says Mr. Campbell, loves to be fooled, and he feels it his duty and privilege to help it along in this. Everyone knows that there is a trick and a real explanation to every apparent mystery of the magician, but people come again and again to see billiard balls taken from the end of their neighbors' noses, and to have rabbits pulled from ordinary hats, and to see eggs produced from places there were never eggs before. As for card tricks—Mr. Campbell says no social group of more than three people ever got together but what one of them wanted to do card tricks for the other two.

All the above items are on Loring Campbell's schedule, and many more, such as broadcasting a solid object, the Chinese rings, the Chinese chop-sticks, the guillotine illusion, the magic soda fountain, magical marksmanship, and so on. Mrs. Campbell assists throughout, and is an integral part of many of the tricks.

A most spectacular feature is the escape work of Mr. Campbell, when he gets out of mail-bags, straight-jackets, chains and handcuffs. This part of the program is very strenuous and often somewhat dangerous, but he says he has never yet been foiled in his attempts to free himself. All of his effects are performed in full view of the audience, and in his 18 years of professional experience he has mystified hundreds of thousands of people—adv.

HEATING HINTS

.. by John Barclay

"Tossing on a few shovelsful" is the common way of refueling a furnace, but it is not the proper way, nor is it the way to obtain the most economical heat. Try this method next time you find it necessary to refuel:

First, shake the fuel bed gently, until you can see the first red glow in the ashpit. Don't shake the fire roughly or allow red coals to fall through the grates. Then take a shovel, or hoe, and pull a mound of live coals to the front of your furnace fire-box, just inside the fire door. Do not disturb the layer of ash under the live coals.

Now you have a fire bed sloping downward, from the lower edge of the fire door, toward the back of your furnace. Into the hollow formed by this slope, put the fresh charge of coal—shoveling it carefully toward the back of the furnace, leaving a mound of live coals in front near the fire door. These live coals in front will ignite the gases arising from the contact of the fresh coal with the hot coal, and will cause them to burn without odor.

Next remove the ashes from the ashpit, and reset the dampers. The Turn Damper in the smoke pipe should be as nearly closed as possible; the Check Damper should be closed; the Ashpit Damper should be open. It is also advisable to open the slide in the fire-door slightly—about the width of a wooden match stick. (2)
