She Chose A Calf

Rather Than An All-Expense Trip To San Francisco Dairy Show

Barbara H. Martin, 13-year-old of St. Albans, farm girl had her choice between a $150 purebred Jersey calf and an all-expense trip to see the Jersey cattle judged at the 1939 National Dairy Show at San Francisco from Oct. 21 to 30 as a guest of The American Jersey Cattle Club. The prizes were offered in a national contest for the best limerick about Jersey cattle.

Barbara sent her regrets to the sponsor of the trip. "I'll take the calf," she decided. "You see, I'd like to be a Jersey breeder and have a high producing herd of my own. This prize will give me a good start. Then, some day my cattle will pay my way to the national show. Maybe I'll even be able to show my Jerseys on the big circuit. I'm starting next year by showing my prize calf at the county and State fairs."

Assembled here for the judging of more than 300 Jerseys and the selection of national champions from the cream of the nation's herds, breeders were disappointed not to be able to meet and banquet Barbara, but at the same time were pleased by the practical wisdom of the young farm poet's choice of prizes. She may make her own selection of a purebred calf up to the value of $150, bred on any of America's 60,000 Jersey breeding farms.

Barbara, who is a member of the Hartland Academy home economics class at Hartland, whose teacher is Miss Rena Allen, submitted her poetic effort in the national Jersey Jingle contest, in which several thousand farm boys and girls from all parts of the United States tried their skill at writing the missing last line of a limerick about Jersey cattle breeding.

VANDENBERG IS GAINING

The European war excitement fails to dim the interest in the forthcoming presidential nominations, now a matter of only eight months away. The survey conducted by the American Institute of Public Opinion shows that Dewey of New York has dropped 6 percent since August, but is still leading the field with 39 percent of the voters listed as his followers. Senator Vandenberg of Michigan has advanced 2 percent and is backed by 27 percent of the voters. Senator Taft, third on the list of potentials, has advanced 2 percent, and has the support of 17 percent of the voters. If the next monthly report shows a continued gain for the Michigan Senator it must be very evident that the man who wins the nomination must be somebody who can beat Vandenberg in the National Convention.

BLUNT ADVICE TO NEW CITIZENS

In the administering of the oath of allegiance to applicants for citizenship the justices of our Superior Courts always give valuable advice—not in a perfunctory manner, but in words that must leave a lasting impression upon the minds of those who are swearing allegiance to Uncle Sam. In Waldo County Superior Court Wednesday Justice George L. Emery explained exactly what citizenship in the United States means, and said that aliens who try to be admitted to the United States as citizens simply to live off the country, while all the time attempting to break down our form of government, have no place among us, and all means to discourage them from ever gaining citizenship should be made. He said this country is for them to support, and if they had come to get naturalization just for the purpose of obtaining a living from this country, it was not the purpose of his Court to admit such people.

FIVE MASTERS ARE GOING

Visitors to that delightful summer region, Boothbay Harbor, will find a strangely altered horizon when those five five-masted masted sailing ships are removed to make way for the development of a yacht basin. The old craft have long been an object of curiosity, especially on the part of the younger generation, which knows little about five-masted schooners, or their one-time achievements. The wind-jammers have had their day, unfortunately, but in this instance their graveyard is to become a mecca for pleasure seeking yachtsmen.

"DUSK ON DAMARISCOTTA"

The Springfield Union and Republican recently published in its rotogravure section a very striking picture entitled "Dusk on Damariscotta," showing a canoeing party of late vacationers, as the sun was sinking behind a pine-clad hill. Pictures like these stress the real meaning of "Vacationland."

LINDBERGH SPEAKS HIS MIND

It is doubtful if many radio fans failed to listen in on Col. Charles A. Lindbergh's broadcast last night; doubtful, also, if many disagreed with most of his premises. It was characteristic of the world's greatest ace that he should strike from the shoulder, and strike he did. Col. Lindbergh is conversant with several languages, but it was unmistakable English he used last night. His talk is summed up in his four-point program, which follows:

An embargo on offensive weapons and munitions.
The unrestricted sale of purely defensive armaments.
The prohibition of American shipping from the belligerent countries of Europe and their danger zones.
The refusal of credit to belligerent nations, or their agents.

Supt. A. F. McAlary attended the meeting of the Maine Water Association in Bridgton this week.

Edwin D. Kenrick is pleased to announce the addition to the staff at Ken's Service Station, (Union street, just north of Park St., and formerly Munro's Service Station) of William E. "Bill" Hodgdon, one of Rockland's veteran automobile mechanics and widely considered one of the ablest. For a number of years Mr. Hodgdon took care of the city owned trucks, was No. 1 man at Central Fire Station and for several seasons operated the Bear tractor snow plow. A number of improvements have been made at Ken's Service station adding to its attractiveness and efficiency.

In Municipal Court Thursday Harold L. Kenniston was fined $100 and costs for attempting to operate a motor car while under the influence of intoxicating liquor. He appealed and furnished bail.

IT'S A MODEL INSTITUTION

State Prison Increasing Its Facilities But Sees Increasing Population

The new State Prison annex has been completed, but thus far has only ten inmates, as no prisoners are being transferred from the old wings for the present. Newcomers will take up their abode there until the time is ripe for relieving the congested wings.

The new annex is 70x40 feet and contains four tiers of cells. It is constructed of brick and steel and follows to the letter the design of the other wings. It is entirely fireproof. The State Prison now has a cell capacity for 352 inmates, but is not keeping pace with the increasing number of arrivals, as shown by the fact that yesterday the population was 414, and when the next six terms of Superior Court are completed it is estimated that the State will have on its hands 450 criminal charges.

Helping to meet this abnormal demand will be the new barracks at the State Prison Farm in South Warren. These are about three-quarters complete and will be ready for occupancy in December. The barracks are 100 feet long and 60 feet wide, and of brick construction. They are designed to accommodate 80 prisoners. The location is nearly opposite the superintendent's residence on the Friendship road. The work is being done by prison labor with the assistance of skilled labor. Fred Gilmore of Augusta is overseeing the job, and Officer Smith is the guard in charge of the prisoners. Four bricklayers and two civilian carpenters are included in the construction crew.

In line with the expansion policy is the new wall surrounding the State Prison, which affords 48,000 square feet of additional yard space. The wall runs west 150 feet, north and south 350 feet and east 150 feet. The wall is 20 feet above ground, built of reinforced concrete. It has a base of one and one-half feet, and is surmounted by a catwalk three feet wide. A convict gaining the top, with a view to escape, would think several times before he would chance the 20-foot drop to the outside.

Warden Welch views these improvements with much satisfaction, and entertains a similar sentiment as he recalls the abundant crops harvested from the prison gardens, and the smoothness with which the prison shops are operating. All are working to capacity, and the wood-working shop is unable to keep abreast of the orders. The chief calls upon this shop for chests of drawers, tables, chairs, and the various small articles which are manufactured from scrap lumber. Forty men are given employment in this department, and more could be used if the space was adequate.

The new 1940 automobile number plates will be ready in one month.

The prison heating system is being altered so as to enable the boilers to carry additional heating space, and a necessary realignment is being made in the fire-room. Automatic stokers are being installed.

The normal consumption of soft coal is 1500 tons, but with the application of the stoker system it is hoped that there will be a saving of about 30 percent. The present chimney is inadequate to care for the two boilers. It is about 80 feet high.

The general health of Warden Welch's institution is surprisingly good. There are only seven prisoners in the hospital, including the convict who recently had one of his legs amputated, and Milo Lewis from whose head was removed the shreds of a self-inflicted bullet. Lewis has undergone two operations, and is making very satisfactory recovery.

Merry, who was recently committed from Hancock County for life imprisonment, is doing general labor at present, not having been assigned to any shop.

Warden Welch receives many compliments upon the improved appearance of the State Prison premises.

Popular Rockland Mason Once More Heads The "Past" Association

The Past Matrons' and Patrons' Association held its annual meeting in Thomaston and the members found a nice chicken pie supper awaiting them, followed by an entertainment. The program included an instrumental duet—John Dana, accordion, and Paul Simpson, guitar; readings, Mrs. Grace Rollins; Scotch songs, William Imlach.

These officers were elected: President—Milton M. Griffin of Rockland.

Vice President—Mrs. Cora Calder of Camden.

Treasurer—Mrs. Carrie Smith of Warren.

Next year's meeting will be held in Camden.

HONOR "FOUR FIRST FRIENDS"

Winslow-Holbrook Post, A. L., Held Ceremonies—Saw Salvage Demonstration

By John M. Richardson

Winslow-Holbrook Post, American Legion, gathered in full force Thursday night to render honors to its four "first friends," Morris B. Perry.

to the momentous meeting and spoke briefly of Legion and national matters. He stressed the importance of strong membership as an absolutely essential factor to the Legion's work and voiced the hope that every service man would join.

He viewed the situation in Europe with gravity, feeling that no person could foresee the events of tomorrow, expressing the hope that this country will not be called upon to assist. He felt that the geographical position of Maine makes us more vulnerable to attack in case of war.

He spoke strongly in behalf of the Legion's Emergency Relief program which has become a far bigger affair than mere assistance in case of disaster and urged 100 percent co-operation by all Post members.

A special feature of the affair was a demonstration of salvage operations as practiced by the Rockland Fire Department. Chief Engineer Van E. Russell, recently returned from an intensive course of study at the Worcester, (Mass.) Salvage School, was in charge, assisted by Capt. James Gray and Herbert S. Day of the fire department. The work of covering furniture was done with amazing ease and speed, showing the careful training of the men.

Chief Russell hoped for the immediate coming of the day when Rockland would have adequate blanket equipment. This is a matter of very small expense but great utility for the water damage invariably exceeds damage by fire. Under this system furniture in homes and merchandise in stores is drawn into compact masses and covered by the waterproof blankets, the water being drained from the floors or absorbed in small quantities by sawdust and brooms.

The Auxiliary under chairmanship of Mrs. Mary Dinsmore served an excellent supper featuring clam chowder and boiled lobster.

The committee in charge of the meeting included Commander Wallace, Adjutant Seabury, Ervin Curtis and Austin P. Brewer.

Department Vice Commander Harold W. Hurley of Boothbay Harbor, brought the greetings of the department and his personal felicitations.

Supt. A. F. McAlary, the Camden & Rockland Water Company's efficient executive, gets some of the queerest calls, so that he was not altogether surprised a few nights ago when a certain luncheon called to say that the water was foamy. Visiting a nearby drug store he found that there was a leak in the pipe supplying the soda fountain. It explained the mystery. The corporation gives its customers high grade water, but is not quite ready to serve chocolate, strawberry or other kind of sodas.

I don't want to be called a carping critic of the radio, but I do wish that some of the stations would carry something besides those serial stories while one is eating or waiting for lunch. The average listener is more in a mood for music than he is for hearing half of a serial story.

The Baptist Men's League begins another season next Thursday night and all of the members should be present to give a fitting send-off for President Axel E. Ingraham and others on deck the new president may receive something of an initiation.

"The Black Cat"

By The Roving Reporter

A typographical tragedy almost occurred in today's issue of this paper. Writing of the acoustic properties of the Mormon Tabernacle it was declared that the dropping of a pin could be plainly heard across the auditorium. This was very interesting but the proofreader was shocked when she read "the dropping of a pint."

Yesterday was Friday the 13th and it brought trouble to some of my feline contemporaries. Read this A. P. despatch from French Lick, Ind.:

The French Lick town board thinks there's enough bad luck in the world right now without black cats adding their share on Friday, the 13th. The board decreed that for 24 hours beginning at midnight tonight, all black cats in this bailiwick shall wear bells so residents may avoid having their paths crossed by these omens of ill luck. Town Marshal Andy Cope was given the task of rounding up and belling the cats.

When John L. Thomas, proprietor of the Star bowling alleys, was a kid he used to hear the members of the family sing war songs. One began with (or at least contained) these lines:

"Hark to the North
The war dogs are howling."

John would like to know the name of that song, and whether anybody has a copy.

Over in London they are having a double-daylight saving system, employees going to work an hour ahead of daylight time. It should be explained, however, that this is being done in order that they may arrive home before the "blackout" begins.

YOUR FAVORITE POEM

A VAGABOND SONG

There is something in the Autumn
That is native to my blood
Touch of manner, hint of mood;
And my heart is like a rhyme,
With the yellow and the purple
And the crimson keeping time

The scarlet of the maples can shake
Me like a cry
Of bugles going by
And my lonely spirit thrills
To see the frosty aster like smoke upon
The hills.

There is something in October sets
The gipsy blood astir;
We must rise and follow her.
When from every hill of flame
She calls and calls each vagabond by Name.

At The High School

By The Pupils

Schoolmates of Norma Philbrick were glad to see her picture in last Sunday's Portland Telegram. The event was the eighth annual Horse Show at the Tomlinson's Riding School in Portland where 1,000 spectators were present to view the beautiful horses belonging to the riding school and those privately owned. Miss Philbrick assisted the judges in awarding the trophies to the winners and pinning the ribbons on the winning horses. She has been riding at this school for a year but began riding at Hillcrest here in this city. She is very fond of the sport, and especially of her mount, "Cinnamon".

At the Student Council meeting Monday morning it was voted to buy two new uniforms of school colors for the girl cheer-leaders of basketball and football.

Because the football game Saturday night between Rockland High and Skowhegan High was such a success, the Student Council discussed having new floodlights for the games. A committee of Perry Howard, James Moulaison and Pearl Leonard was appointed to suggest the matter to the Mayor.

Beverly Bowden

As told in English class by Don Rosengale for an oral speech: "A Spectacular Feast—absolutely true!"

It was on an intensely cold winter day in the middle of December that I experienced an extremely close shave with death.

"I was hunting on a vast snow-covered mountain all alone, when just as I rounded a huge boulder, there stood a large grizzly bear with hunger, mixed with anger, written all over his horrible looking face. I raised my gun, aimed, pulled the trigger, and a lightning bolt, telling me that the gun was empty. I didn't have any more ammunition except a powder charge and I became so scared that large drops of perspiration appeared on my forehead; and as soon as they did, they froze. Due to the extremity of the cold.

"Thinking quickly, I wiped some of the frozen beads of perspiration from my head and jammed them down the gun barrel. Then taking quick aim at the bear's head, I fired. The powder, exploding, melted the drops of ice, but they froze again immediately going through the air and penetrating the bear's skull, he dropped with a loud crash, heard for miles around. An autopsy proved he had died of 'water on the brain'."

What is the most popular name in Senior High? Why, Smith, of course. There's Louise, Matthew (Jack), Minnie, Murdoch, Evie James, Pearl, Russell, Ruth, Robert T. and Robert L. Then next comes Munroe, Young, Spear, and Thompson, good old Rockland names. And how many Joneses are there? Just one, Edwin Jones.

Assisting Mr. Blaisdell in the office this week are Virginia Accardi of the Office Practice class and Belva Robshaw of the Shorthand class. Office boys this week have been George Bodman, Fred Morrison, Harold Walsh, Herbert Hillgrove, Linwood Young, Frederick Ranzquist, Wilbur Hamilton, and Donald Kallach.

A course in psychology has been introduced into the High School curriculum for the first time this year. Classes are held during activity period every Friday morning, and an interested group of seventeen students are ably led by Principal Blaisdell. The textbook "You Yourself," written by Anne Bryan McCall, deals with the introductory principles of general psychology. Already this new course has become one of the best liked subjects in the school—Jessie Olds.

The bouquet of gladioli and marigolds in the typewriting room this week was from the gardens of E. A. Dean, well-known horticulturist, brought by Kathleen Dean.

A Columbus Day program was given at the Junior High Assembly, Wednesday morning by Miss Thompson's room. After devotions, flag salute, and "America, the Beautiful," Austin Ulmer announced: "This is the 44th anniversary of the discovery of America by Christopher Columbus. The first part of our program is in commemoration of that day when Columbus and his discouraged, homesick sailors finally sighted and landed on American soil."

A play "Columbus at the Court of

Promising High School Players

Spain" was presented with these characters: Columbus, Charles Scaman; Queen Isabella, Georgia Stevens; King Ferdinand, Jason Thurston; The Monk, Harlan Rollin; Page, Louis Stockford; Lords and Ladies of the Court, Charles Young, Richard Stevens, Alfred Storer, Louise Veazie, Geneva Thurston, Gloria Witham; Indians, Maurice Swazy, Chester Staples, Benny Shapiro; Sailors, Albert Smith, Sherwood Strout, Robert Sprowl; Vittrice Hayes sang a solo between acts.

The second part of the program was a variety type: duet, Mary Pion and Esther Munro; sketch, Bickford Sylvester, Gilbert Rogers, Benny Shapiro, and Earl Chandler; and Robert Jones; piano solo, "The Old Refrain," Sandra Halliwell; piano solo, "Sunrise Serenade," Albert Havener.

Junior High held a "Friday, the 13th" social last night with Mrs. Grafton, Miss Hughes, and Miss Nichols as faculty advisors. A musical program, announced by Stuart Ames, with James Baum in charge of curtain and lighting was given in the auditorium: piano solo, "Man with the Mandolin," Albert Havener; song, "Over the Rainbow," Sandra Halliwell and Vittrice Hayes; tap dance, Norma Ramsdell; song, "Song of the Metronome," Pauline Havener; Ruth McMahon, Elaine Poust, Shelby Glendenning, Louise Veazie, and Betty Holmes; "All Elucotunist in Love," Faith Long; songs, "My Blue Heaven," and "When Nature Sings Her Lullaby," Ernest Munro; accordion, Morton Estes; song, "Deep Purple," Pauline Havener; harmonica selections, Osmond Palmer; piano solo, "Wishing," Sylvia Adams; tap dance, Murphy Sisters. Records played on the school amplifier were used for games. Committees were program, Betty O'Brien and Marie Berry; refreshments, Vittrice Hayes and Pauline Stevens; decorations, Stuart Ames, Dorothy Childs, James Baum and Elaine Poust. Black cats, figure 13, and other symbols of bad luck were used in decoration.

John Brann was first in Mrs. Grafton's room to get $10 worth of subscriptions. This means a prize of $1 for him.

These new members have joined the Boys Glee Club directed by Mr. McCarty: David Bicknell, Don Kallach, Sid Munro, Ronald Lufkin, Perry Margeson, William Mack, Arthur Schofield, Dud Cummings, Bill Atwell, Franklin Call, Arnold Fernald, Charles Fernald, Douglas Perry, Sheldon Billings, Milton Wooster, Raymond O'Brien, and Donald Estes.

Wednesday morning individual pictures of all Junior and Senior High students were taken by Wilson Magazine Company of Cambridge, Mass., without breaking the camera. Many amusing expressions were seen on the faces of the pupils: some looked as proud as a peacock, some appeared ready to cry, and many held their mouths open as if they were seeing a ghost—Fannie Copeland.

Junior Business Training classes are grateful to Arthur Shea Company for samples of brass and copper pipes, and to the Central Maine Power Co. for loaning a gas meter used in demonstration purposes.

New Rollerites

About 75 Took Part In the First Overtime Dance Lessons

A class of about 75 roller skaters took part in the first overtime dance lessons Thursday night after the regular session at the Ocean View rink. The steps are simple and a majority of the skaters picked them up nicely. Mr. Young and Mr. McLean have visited all the larger rinks in New England and found that dancing on roller skates is taking the territory by storm. They had the pleasure of watching 800 skaters dancing at one time at Winter Gardens, Boston.

This has all come about in the short space of one season and there is no reason why it cannot be done in this city. It is the intention of Manager Young to promote dancing contests later in the season and the winners may possibly compete in New England championships, also United States title contests if they become expert.

All those wishing to learn these steps are given one-half hour free lesson at no extra cost each Thursday night, with instruction by Messrs. Young and McLean.

A New Sunbeam

Missionary Boat Is Rapidly Nearing Completion At Damariscotta

The new missionary cruiser Sunbeam is fast taking shape in Harry G. Marr's boatshop in Damariscotta and will probably go overboard the last week in November.

The new Sunbeam is one of the strongest wooden vessels ever built in Maine. She is framed with white oak and her skeleton is generously braced and strengthened. Like a fisherman, she is built to stand heavy going. Her planking is selected yellow pine and the fastenings are galvanized iron. Ivory enamel and mahogany trim will make her cabins bright and clean. Powered with a 230-horsepower 3-1 reduction Diesel, swinging a four-foot wheel with a 30-inch pitch, the cruiser is modern from stem to stern.

Her equipment will include a steam-heating plant, shower bath, fresh water, pressure system, 800-gallon fuel oil tank, a fresh water tank with a capacity of more than 1000 gallons, an electric winch on the forecastle, all electric pumps, five watertight bulkheads, and cargo mast and boom of sturdy construction.

Designed by Tams, Inc. of New York, the Sunbeam will accommodate a crew of four in the forecastle and there are two guest staterooms below deck amidships. The pastor's stateroom and office are in the forward end of the deckhouse, with a lounge aft, and then a pilot house on a higher level permitting clear vision all around. The pilot house is located over the forward end of the engine room and the pilot at the wheel will have complete control of the big Diesel engine.

The 1940 Chevrolet

Today Sees First Showing Of Remarkable Car At Sea View Garage

Three completely re-styled series of Chevrolet passenger cars, combining greater length and width with much more massive appearance, and embodying many mechanical refinements, made their formal public bow today at the show room of Sea View Garage, 683 Main street. Over-all length has been increased 4 3-8 inches, a change which makes the new line outstanding for its sleekness and grace.

Except for the difference in front suspension and the use of a slightly higher gear ratio on the Master 85, the chassis of the three series are practically identical. All are of the same wheelbase, and the power plant is the same throughout. It is the time-tried Chevrolet six-cylinder valve-in-head engine, revised in several particulars in the interests of silent operation, smoothness, and long life. These changes affect the oil system, the valve mechanism, and the camshaft, and in the two latter cases involve change in manufacturing practice as well as in design.

In appearance, the 1940 Chevrolet is new from bumper to bumper. Bodies, fenders, hood, and frame are completely re-designed to embody low-slung grace. These changes result also in increased stability, since they lower the center of gravity of the car as a whole. Changes, except for trim and extra equipment, are the same on all three series.

The radiator grille, one of the most obvious outward changes, is much lower and wider. The massive chrome-plated horizontal bars at the lower part of this unit sweep outward to include the fender area formerly occupied by auxiliary louvers. The alligator-jaw type hood has a deep, gracefully rounded nose, and is designed in such a way that the line along which it opens is unnoticeable when the hood is closed. The hood is equipped with a theft-proof lock so that access to engine compartment can be gained only after releasing a control knob under the dash with the car. Releasing of the latter allows the hood's spring-loaded hinges to raise the nose, giving access to a secondary lock which releases it the rest of the way. This secondary lock prevents the hood from being jarred or blown open while the car is in motion, even if the dash lock should be accidentally released.

Front fenders are longer, wider, the crown to the sides of the hood in and deeper, and sweep inward from an almost vertical plane, without valleys. Streamlined headlamps, nearly 20 inches long, are nestled in the fenders at locations almost 10 inches farther apart. This mounting makes for maximum illumination, as well as full protection for the lamps, and easy access for servicing. The new sealed beam headlamp units combining lamp, reflector and scientifically designed lenses, are used on all models. Parking lamps are mounted between headlamp and outer edge of fender. Bodies are larger, inside and out, and are also more rigid. Seats are wider, and leg-room and head-room are increased. Wider doors make for easier ingress and egress. Numerous interior refinements, which vary among the three series, result in luxury, comfort and convenience unmatched in previous years' models. In the Special De Luxe series, these items include an illuminated clock recessed in the glove compartment door, and a light within the compartment which turns on automatically when the door is opened, regardless of whether the other car lights are on or off.

Rustproofing, heretofore confined to sheet metal such as fenders and hoods, is now applied also to the body prior to application of Duco. Bumpers are standard, front and rear, on all models except the station wagons where bumperettes are provided at the rear. Bumper guards are furnished at front and rear on the Master De Luxe and Special De Luxe. Double windshield wipers, and a full complement of instruments including engine heat indicator, are included on all models, as are left-hand sunvisors. The Special De Luxe has, in addition, a right-hand sunvisor, special "T"-spoke steering wheel with horn-blowing ring, stainless steel window reveals etc.

Going Away Gifts

W. C. T. U. Expresses Its Regard For a Departing Member

The W.C.T.U. held its first meeting of the season yesterday afternoon at the First Baptist Church. This was Rally Day, and quotations were given at roll call response. It was also Guest Day, and a number were present, including the county president, Miss Margaret Crandon of Thomaston; Mrs. Etta Fernald, president of the Camden Union; and Mrs. Nina Leach, president of the Tenants' Harbor Union. Miss Alena Young was designated as a "Willard Educator" having obtained five new members. Mrs. Lillian Joyce, soloist, sang "My Task."

Mrs. Hope Brewster gave her final report as local treasurer. Miss Edwina Jipson was elected to act as treasurer for the unexpired term. Delegates to the State Convention convening in Augusta Oct. 24-27, were appointed as follows:

Delegates ex-officio, Mrs. Clara S. Emery, State director of W.C.T.U. speaking contests; Mrs. Hope Brewster, County Treasurer; Mrs. Louise Ingraham, Mrs. Mary Perry Rich, Miss Florence Hastings, Mrs. Bertha Grady, Mrs. Minnie Cross, Mrs. Susie Lamb. Alternates: Mrs. Jeanette Dunton, Mrs. Etta Thompson, Miss Margaret McKnight, Mrs. Edith Gregory, Mrs. Fuy Wilson, Miss Alena Young.

A feature of the program was the reading of High Lites from the address of Mrs. Ida B. Wise Smith, "Some Better Things," given at the recent National Convention in Rochester, N. Y., by Mrs. Clara Emery.

Mrs. Helen Carlson spoke briefly in the interest of the National Youth Activities being carried on in the Community Building.

At the close of the program a Going Away presentation of gifts for Mrs. Hope Brewster, for many years a faithful worker and much loved member in the local and county W.C.T.U. who is leaving Rockland to make her home in Yakima, Wash., was made. A gift from the Rockland Union of a travelers' writing portfolio with supplies of stationery and money was presented by Mrs. Clara Emery with appropriate remarks. Kalocho Class of the Baptist Church gave her a porcelain bedside clock; other friends presented useful articles. Afternoon tea was served from two prettily appointed tables by Mrs. Kate Brawn, Mrs. Etta Thompson, Miss Mabel Spring, Mrs. Hattie Bickmore.

HELD ON SERIOUS CHARGES

David Young, 23, of Vinahaven was in Court this morning on serious assault charges involving three Rockland women, the alleged attacks having taken place last night between 7:30 and 10:30. Young was rounded up by Patrolman Bridges after a long chase. Probable cause was found and Young was held in $500 on each case. He was remanded to jail on non-payment of the bail.

Vital Religion

Its Interpretation Given By Several Pastors At Quarterly Meeting

The Quarterly Meeting of the Lincoln Baptist Association was held in Appleton Thursday, the general theme being "Vital Religion".

At the morning worship period, Rev. M. H. Dorr of Morrill said that Christianity is the only vital religion. That the center of Christianity is a living leader, Jesus Christ.

Rev. D. F. Perron, presenting the personal phase of vital religion, showed that such a religion was one where all believers felt a personal obligation to go out preaching the Word. Such is the divine plan, and the secret of the increase of the early church in the face of persecution. Sharing our Christian experience brings joy and strength.

Rev. W. S. Stackhouse said that we become alive to our place in the sphere where God has placed us, when we enter into "the secret place" with Him. As we open our life to Him, we receive His power, and He is able to work through us.

Professor Haynes of Colby College gave a stirring message on the religion that Jesus lived and taught. He said that Christianity is the greatest thing in human history; that it cannot be fully understood or ever exhausted. He commended getting at the heart of Christianity, to let our thoughts center around God, Jesus Christ, and the ideals which He lived and taught. That Christ's law of love is the law of life. Jesus is the way to God, the truth about God. This religion includes all good, excludes all evil. It is a religion of the heart; it involves God, our neighbor and ourself. Jesus taught how to get rid of fears; how to have faith and trust in God. We should emphasize character and conduct, lay high value on human personality, and make religion attractive.

Rev. Henry Ulmer gave an interesting message on the work of the American Sunday School Union, relating many personal experiences of his work, as he went about central and southern Maine organizing Sunday Schools in the otherwise neglected rural sections. He said young people need to be provided with a wholesome social life. That, too often, because there is no Sunday School, their energy is expended in crime. This is a real union work, not a denominational one. Organized in 1844, there are 150 missionaries in the United States. He also spoke of Camp Christian, a leadership training camp for young people, where the Christian life is deepened and strengthened and where many boys and girls find the Lord Jesus Christ as their Saviour.

Mrs. V. W. Dyer, a missionary from Burma, likened the carrying of the gospel by Burmese women to others of Burma, as the ringing of the bells. In the pagoda are bells calling the Buddhist to worship. But in another building are bells calling children to school and on Sunday, calling Christians to worship God. She gave illustrations from life of how the Burmese women are being roused to their responsibility for Burma, and told of great sacrifice to carry the gospel to others. Arranged in native dress, she pictured the costume of these women.

Mrs. J. C. MacDonald, said vital religion is a power that can lift us from our sin. Outside of Christ the world is without hope. By His resurrection we are begotten to a living hope. He died to save us. He lives to keep us. If we have only His example we have not a vital religion. The Christian religion is vital, because we are begotten to a living hope, by a living Saviour, to a life everlasting.

Rev. Daniel Thompson of Bangor said that "the old time religion" was a personal discovery of God, a spiritual adventure, a social revolution, and a religion of strong convictions. We need to dare to stand for the things of Christ.

Rev. M. H. Dorr Jr., and Rev. W. S. Stackhouse, newly come to the Association were welcomed by the moderator.

Chester Wyllie conducted the evening song service assisted by Mrs. Avis Norwood organist and Roger Teague cornetist. Messrs. Wyllie and Teague also sang a duet. Mrs. Barnes of Morrill sang a solo in the afternoon and Mrs. Harold Nutter and Mrs. Hooper were organists during the day.

About 130 enjoyed the hospitality of the church and the helpful messages, and went out with a desire to go and live the life which is made possible only by the Lord Jesus Christ. L. P. C.

This afternoon at 2 o'clock on Tillson Avenue the Rockland Fire Department will give a public demonstration of its activities including hose laying, coupling, ladder work, first aid, etc. The ladder work is especially interesting and spectacular.

In The Churches

SERMONETTE

Its Mission Ended

The Free Will Baptist Church in Auburn is being demolished. Its sturdy timbers are outlined against the sky. It was a stately edifice. It was born in an early day in New England's church history when there were among Baptists sharp difference over the administration of the Lord's Supper. Today in the work of The United Baptist Convention these differences, then sharp enough to call for two Baptist Churches, within a stone's throw of each other, have long since been composed if not entirely forgotten. Convictions marked that era and however much, in glancing back, they may be deplored they were infinitely better than indifference.

The Auburn church stood for the best in the civic life of Androscoggin County where it was located. It had a glorious ministry and cast an influence for righteousness throughout the nation.

Probably its most distinguished pastor was Rev. Stanley Durkee. He was a young man then and today is pastor of Henry Ward Beecher's old church, known as the Newell Dwight Hills Church of Brooklyn, N. Y. Within the walls of this Auburn Sanctuary souls were saved and men, women and children were made happy in Christian service. It was well constructed and the passing years had little marked it.

Reconciliation of doctrines ended its career, but God counts among His jewels the ministers that served and the christian men and women whose sacrifices built this house of God. Its mission is ended but the work it did lives on for that spiritual portion of it was a house built by hands eternal in the Kingdom of heaven.—William A. Holman

At the Nazarene Mission, 280 Main street, Sunday School will be held at noon with preaching services at 3 and 7:30 p. m. Prayer meeting at 7:30 Friday night. James P. Cameron is pastor.

At the Universalist Church 1045 Dr. Lowe will preach on the subject: "A Little Lenten in Life." The Church School under the direction of Mrs. Winola Cooper will meet in the vestry at noon. The nursery department for small children meets in the vestry during the service of worship.

"Christian Unity" will be Dr. Wilson's subject tomorrow morning at 10:30. There will be special music. At 7 p. m. he will speak on the theme "Faith of the Unbeliever." Men's Class will meet at 9:30 a. m. Sunday School and Baraca Class at noon and Epworth League at 6. The midweek prayer service comes Tuesday at 7 p. m.

"Doctrine of Atonement" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon that will be read in all churches of Christ, Scientist, on Oct. 15. The Golden Text is: "If any man sin, we have an advocate with the Father, Jesus Christ the righteous" (1 John 2:1). The citations from the Bible include the following passages: "Behold, my servant shall deal prudently, he shall be exalted and extolled, and be very high. But he was wounded for our transgressions, he was bruised for our iniquities; the chastisement of our peace was upon him; and with his stripes we are healed." (Isaiah 52:13, and 53:5).

At St. Peter's Church (Episcopal) Rev. E. O. Kenyon, rector, Rev. H. B. Pulsifer in charge for the month of November: Holy Eucharist at 8 a. m.; Church school at 8:30.

"The God of this People" will be the sermon topic by Rev. Charles A. Marsteller at the Littlefield Memorial Church Sunday morning at 10:30. There will be a selection by the choir. The Church School meets at 11:45; the Junior C. E. at 5 and the Senior C. E. at 6. Praise service and sermon is at 7:15, the topic being "From Ur to Hebron." There will be special music. Prayer meeting Tuesday night at 7:30. The Ladies Aid meets Wednesday night with Mrs. Frank Gragory.

The final sermon in the series on "Rags or Robes?" being given at the First Baptist Church Sunday mornings will have as its subject: "Robes—Why We Should Wear Them?" There will be special music by the choir. The church school will meet at noon with classes for all ages. The Intermediate C. E. Society will meet at 4:30 with Bernice Stanley as the leader. The Senior C. E. Society will open their Inspiration Hour at 6:15. The people's evening service will open at 7:15 with the prelude and big singing, assisted by the organ, piano and choir. The subject of Mr. MacDonald's sermon will be "The Man Who Lingered."

At the Congregational Church the unified service of public worship and church school is at 10:30, closing at 11:40. The children share in the worship service and attend classes during the sermon, thus enabling parents and children to come and go at the same time. The theme of the sermon by Rev. Corwin H. Olds will be "The Lord of the Lonely". Comrades of the Way will meet in the vestry at 6:30 p. m., with the new officers in charge, Perry Howard as Chief Comrade John and Lucille Cannon as Chief Comrade Mary. The program will be devoted to reports and discussion on Camp Manitou, the Congregational young people's camp which Perry Howard and Jessie Olds attended as delegates this summer. A visiting Comrade who was at Camp Manitou will also participate.

At the Nazarene Mission, 280 Main street, Sunday School will be held at noon with preaching services at 3 and 7:30 p. m. Prayer meeting at 7:30 Friday night. James P. Cameron is pastor.

Sixty Turned Away

Maple Grange Harvest Supper Patronized By 300—A Fine Program

Editor of The Courier-Gazette:— Thinking to go early to avoid the rush at Maple Grange harvest supper what was my surprise to find every place at the table of the 100 that the dining room will accommodate occupied except two, which the wife and I assumed without delay. When ready to retire to give place to others, the passage was so congested it caused a wait of several minutes before we could press our way through the crowd. Well, the result was that after 300 had been fed, the food was still and about 60 hungry souls turned away.

An innovation was put over in the hall after the supper by way of a fine variety entertainment consisting of songs, reading, clog dancing and instrumental music. The Boardman brothers with their songs and music were much in evidence and Mrs. Gladys Burk of South Jefferson gave a highly entertaining reading. But when you come to the high-light of the occasion, it seemed to the writer that the Boynton trio—a brother and two sisters, 5, 6 and 7—took the cake with their song and encore.

The hall was packed to a degree seldom seen in a like entertainment in a rural community. The small sum of 15 cents was the admission fee, but we should judge it to be the clearest net profit of any part of the affair. We would hardly feel to have done justice to the event was the mention of Chester Duncan as the efficient manager omitted.

High School Notes

The big event of the past week was freshman reception held Friday at Community hall.

A banquet started the evening with the whole student body in attendance, together with Supt. Merle S. Jones and the teachers of the Appleton Schools. Speeches by the class presidents, teachers and Supt. Jones were enjoyed. Principal Darroch received a birthday cake from his students "past, present, and future," also with appropriate gifts by his student body.

The "frosh" had the great privilege of cleaning up and washing dishes after the bounteous meal.

Although a severe thunder shower wrought havoc in the minds of some, the freshmen, gaily painted and wearing dunce caps, were escorted to the stage by the sophomores. Then came the initiation which went off in a very creditable manner, even those undergoing the hazing seeming to enjoy it about as much as the audience. Dancing closed the program. The proceeds

THE LEGION'S NEW LEADERS

Raymond J. Kelly, National Commander, the American Legion, is a typical American story of a boy who rose from humble surroundings to positions of responsibility through sheer personal pluck, determination and ability.

Today he is serving his seventh year as corporation counsel of the City of Detroit, the fourth largest city in the United States; is past president of the Michigan Association of City Attorneys, and past president of the Institute of Municipal Law Officers, the national organization of city attorneys. He has also had the distinction of serving as president of the Detroit Lawyers' Club, of being the secretary of the Detroit Bar Association for several terms, and he is a member of the bar of the United States Supreme Court. In 1930 he was appointed general counsel of the Detroit Street Railways, a municipally owned utility, serving three years.

When the United States entered the World War, he answered his country's call immediately, and entered the First Officers' Training Camp at Fort Sheridan, Ill., May 8, 1917. He served with Headquarters Battery of the 323d Field Artillery at Camp Sherman, Ohio, as a sergeant, and attended the Third Officers' Training Camp there. After completing the course, he was sent to the field artillery replacement depot at Camp Jackson, South Carolina, whence he was sent into Overseas duty at once.

Mr. Kelly served almost a year in France, was commissioned second lieutenant of Field Artillery at Saumur, France, and later was assigned to the 62d Coast Artillery. He was the commanding officer of Battery F of that regiment at the time of demobilization. Mr. Kelly has been active in the Officers' Reserve Corps and is at present a major of Coast Artillery assigned to the 536th Coast Artillery (Anti-Aircraft) Regiment.

Following the war, upon his return to civilian life, Mr. Kelly resumed practice of law in Detroit and became active in The American Legion. In 1931 he was elected National Executive Committee member from Michigan for a two-year term, and in 1933 was appointed to the National Legislative Committee, serving as a chairman that year.

of $15.30 will be divided between the Freshmen and Sophomores.

Doris Hustus and Warren Moody have been elected basketball managers.

A new plan for a daily activity program has been worked out by Principal Darroch. The opening exercises are shortened, and the time usually spent for that is added to the former recess period, during which group singing is conducted twice a week, physical education twice, and general assembly period, once.

MARTINSVILLE

Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Chase returned Sunday to Haverhill, Mass.

Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Dwyer of Hebron spent last weekend at their cottage here.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Robinson have returned to Warren, Mass.

Mr. and Mrs. David Irvine are occupying the Gardner Homestead.

Cecil Andrews has returned from a season's yachting on the Talisman.

Mrs. E. R. Maxwell is occupying her winter home.

Norman Stanley and A. K. Meserve, Jr., have employment in Whitinsville, Mass.

Hollis Chadwick spent last weekend with his family here.

Mr. and Mrs. Ivan Simmons and family are visiting relatives in Friendship.

Mrs. Roscoe Hupper and family have returned to New York city for the winter.

Mrs. Harold Hupper entertained the "63" ladies at tea Friday afternoon.

Mrs. Maurice Simmons poured and Mrs. Harding Cold assisted Mrs. Hupper in serving. Others present were Mrs. Howard Monaghan, Mrs. Merton Anthony, Mrs. Cecil Annis, Mrs. Henry Lowell and Mrs. Alva Harris.

Mrs. William H. Corwith, National President of the American Legion Auxiliary has risen rapidly to national prominence in a relatively short span of years.

Mrs. Corwith is a New Yorker by birth, being born at Hillsdale in 1898. She was graduated from the Hillsdale high school at the age of 15, then attended the New York State College for teachers, receiving her Bachelor of Arts degree in 1918.

Becoming a charter member of Rockville Centre Unit of the Auxiliary in 1926 she served the unit in various capacities and demonstrated her ability for leadership. In 1932, upon the death of the Unit President, Mrs. Corwith, as first vice president, succeeded to the office. Service as treasurer and membership chairman and then vice chairman of the Nassau County Auxiliary organization was the first broadening of her horizon beyond her local Unit. From there, she advanced to chairmanship of the Second District, embracing five counties with a membership of 6000. She also served as chairman of the Department Trophies and Awards Committee.

In 1934, Mrs. Corwith was elected as one of the three Department Vice Presidents and entrusted with supervision of the Department's memorial poppy program. A year later she was unanimously elected President of the New York Department. Her administration was marked by strong membership growth and important achievements in many activities. She has since served the Department as Chairman of its Legislative Committee.

For the past three years, Mrs. Corwith has been Chairman of the National Radio Committee. She has improved and expanded the Auxiliary's radio broadcasting from local stations and on national chains and has personally directed many national broadcasts.

When the Auxiliary's national convention was held in New York City in 1937, Mrs. Corwith was Chairman of the National Convention Committee, directing the efforts of 1000 New York women who arranged for and conducted the entertainment of the thousands of Auxiliary women who attended.

Knox Arboretum

Curator Lermond Tells Of Interesting Additions To the Museum

Knox Museum, Oct. 14

Editor of The Courier-Gazette:—Recently we have received several fine rock and mineral specimens from our new Academy member, Dr. Millard B. Long of Camden, who is taking up geology and mineralogy as a hobby.

On returning from Rockland Monday of this week, we found a bag of "curios"—minerals, shells, corals, seeds, etc.—from somewhere and somewhere. No name and no labels.

The Kennebec Valley Garden Club of Augusta sent us $5 for a tree to be labeled as its Garden Club tree. We have ordered a tulip tree of the Hickson's nurseries of Long Island. Eight garden clubs now have trees growing in the Knox Arboretum.

Carl Oxtun of Warren came rushing in his car with a very rare Dytiscidae, a predaceous diving water beetle, taken alive from the middle of a bale of wool that came to the Warren Woolen Mill from Australia. It was pugnacious and put up a stiff fight for liberty and the watery elements, but it gave up its life when subjected to a liberal dose of benzene. We shall place over its grave here in our museum a suitable tablet on its tombstone, inscribed: "The unknown bug from the battlefields of Australia."

Ralph W. Haskell, craft supervisor of the State, was guest speaker Thursday night at the meeting of the Woman's Club, his subject, "Maine Craft Guild." He made a resume of the craftsmanship of pioneer days in this State. Prices of handmade articles are now agreed upon between the maker and the guild, a deduction of 33 1-3 percent made by the guild for a selling commission. In the State there are 400 members and 12 to 1300 craftsmen. This Guild provides an outlet for salesmanship of work which otherwise the makers would not have. Expense in organization of Guilds is divided, two-thirds by the federal government and the State, and one-third by the class. Three things of importance in this work are the originality of the design, usefulness, and low price. Mr. Haskell exhibited several specimens of craft work. Following his talk, a round table discussion was held. At the business meeting the financial secretary was instructed to pay the $200 pledge to the school building fund.

A STORY: "GREAT EXPECTATIONS"

Perhaps, After All, It Was Only a Vinalhaven Bragging Party

Touching off the opening gun of the 1939 bowling season, these battle-scarred veterans the Ganders and the Skippers, held high jinks last Monday evening at the old colonial farm house of Scotty Littlefield, formerly known as the Freeman Coombs place, but which is known to Scotty simply as "Bluff Head." This old landmark commands a delightful view of East Penobscot Bay and of Seal Bay, but the scenery was completely forgotten in favor of the spread of clams and lobsters that the combined efforts of Custodian of the Nose Bag Grimes and host Littlefield had placed upon the table. Following out the theory that it is much better to have something left over than not to have quite enough, the two above named gentlemen managed to make the table fairly groan with food, and as the evening progressed it was not the table alone that was doing the groaning. Even the Goose admitted he could last till bed time, when he would have another snack.

During the meal that irrepressible spirit of fun that is always present in the true bowler, made itself manifest in song, story and dance, the dancing being taken care of by Goose Arey's imitation ballet (which looked like a cross between the hootchie-kootchie and the can-can), the stories by Gene Hall, and the songs by the entire company.

After the viands had been suitably punished, there was a short and sweet business meeting at which the only business transacted was the re-election of Gander Grimes as Custodian of the Nose Bag for another term. Steam rolling all opposition, due to his efficient management of the difficult job, Captain Grimes was duly elected, and was then inducted into the honorable office by Skipper Drew as King Pin assisted by Skipper Les Dyer as Grand Lord Marshal and Skipper Hall as the All High Roller. Cap'n Grimes claims his books are one of the very few sets in the town to show black ink this year. After the business meeting the boys let off some of their pent up steam by telling what they were going to do for themselves and against the opposition, the coming season. Following are some of the loose ends overheard by a certain mouse in the wall.

What the Ganders are going to do—as a team—They expect to win three out of every five games played. The team will average five pins a man better this year, than last. With Captain Grimes secure in his elected position and nothing to worry about from somebody gunning for it, his game should improve by at least 613 per cent. After winning the championship they will all give the Skippers the merry ha-ha. The Goose is offering odds of 2 to 1 that he leads the league in eating, sleeping and talking baseball, with no takers.

What the Skippers are going to do: They say—They expect to win three out of every five games played. The team will average five pins a man better this year than last. With Gene Hall's new and improved delivery his game should improve at least 613 percent. After winning the championship they will give the Ganders the merry ha-ha. The Skippers agree to a man that the Goose will do as he says.

Individually the stories ran something like this—Cap'n Grimes of the Ganders—"After a hard summer of big fish catches, late hours and Orange Dances I am in the pink of condition. I am simply going to knock 'em for a loop this season." "Watch me smoke." The Goose—"After a correspondence course in bowling I feel prepared to take on the Champion of Knox County. If I do not lead the flock in everything from high average to low spirits, it will be because the eye and hand of the old Master have lost their cunning."

Link Sanborn—"I am making no predictions, but we'll beat 'em every time." "Vic" Shields—"I have taken on ten pounds the past summer and am in the pink. No Skipper ever lived that can take me over." Scotty Littlefield—"I have patented a gag that I am going to use on Gene Hall, and with this working in my behalf I'll simply bowl his pants off." To balance the scales Cap'n Skip of the Skippers pipes up with "I have had a good long rest, and have improved the time by figuring out some new tactics. We will simply rush those Ganders off their feet, and feed."

"Pete" Peterson—"When an irresistible force meets an immovable body the Skippers always win."

"Viv" Drew—"After many deep sea voyages on Pleasant River I feel in tip top condition. My Charley horse is better, I have been fitted with new glasses and expect shortly to get some new teeth. If I could only get some new hair there would be nothing impossible for me on the alleys. I really feel sorry for those Ganders. Les Dyer—"G-r-r-r-r-r. Let me at 'em. Those guys ain't seen nothin' yet. A Skipper may be sunk, but he never surrenders. G-r-r-r-r. Let me at 'em."

Gene Hall—"In all my 50 years of bowling I never entered a season with the confidence of this one. A fortune teller once told me that 39 was my lucky number, and I believe it. If I can't average 30 I'll eat three lobsters. As for that gag of Scotty's he'd better watch out. I know a few gas myself." And that ladies and gentlemen, is the way the two teams feel about it.

Before leaving for home Gene Hall climaxed the evenings entertainment by calling up his good wife via his wireless telephone, and the one way conversation that Gene put on convulsed his hearers. It was a good thing perhaps there were no wire connections for they undoubtedly would have burnt out.

Sub Walter Lyford, Scorer Harvey Tolman and guest Howard Snowman of Claremont, N. H. also had their feet under the table. Sub Everet Libby was unable to attend on account of illness, and the boys figured he must have been pretty darn sick.

After The Poachers

Night Crews Are Bent Upon Stamping Out Night Deer Hunting

Maine's fish and game department, stirred by reports of widespread poaching, moved swiftly Monday to organize its entire warden force into night crews bent on stamping out night deer hunting.

The wardens, who will operate in practically all of the State's 16 counties, will hide in wooded areas in wait for persons who illegally hunt deer by attracting them with flashlights.

The deer hunting season does not open until Oct. 21.

Approximately 100 wardens will "prowl around" during the frosty autumn nights, stopping all cars which they believe carry persons engaged in poaching. Chief Warden Lester E. Brown said:

"Already this fall," Brown said, "there has been considerable poaching going on in various sections."

"With the deer now coming out at night into open spaces and wood roads more than usual, poachers have an excellent chance to put the light on them and shoot 'em down with no difficulty at all."

"The deer have become rather brave in facing flashlights as the result of some law-abiding citizens, getting a kick putting a light on the animals and watching their movements just for the fun of it, carrying on this practice while riding through wooded sections at night."

"These people inadvertently have caused the deer to become used to the lights and therefore better targets than ever for poachers."

Brown said the number of deer slaughtered last year by poachers was "very sizable" and added approximately 270 persons were convicted for such illegal practices.

HEATING HINTS

I RECENTLY explained how to adjust the Turn Damper of your furnace to reduce Chimney Loss to a minimum, by leaving it as nearly closed as possible. Now the Turn Damper should be left in this position throughout the burning season.

Do not use it to regulate your fire from day to day.

The only time you should ever move the Turn Damper, after finding the ideal position for it, is at the beginning of the very cold season and again at the beginning of the very mild season—to take care of extreme changes in outside temperature.

For daily regulation of the fire—to speed up or slow down the rate at which the fire burns—rely on the Ashpit Damper and Check Damper entirely.

"The sky had been washed with rain and scrubbed with wind." Did you read that description a while ago in Reader's Digest and do you think of it now when you look at the world after the fall rain? We can't call up Nature's house-cleaning forces to help with the annual scrubbing even though we sometimes feel like "Mrs. Atlas" with all the world on our shoulders in the way of things to be done. Just keep the house slicked up as you can without letting it wear you out; let us help all we can with short cuts and bright ideas and answers to questions having to do with house-cleaning and remember another line someone sent us from "The Modern Parent": "Care less about what the unexpected guest may think of your house than of what she may think about the happiness and loveliness of your children."

There are women, you know, who keep a house so clean it's as forbidding and treacherous as a too highly polished floor. Dad and the kids scurry around miserably trying to keep up with mother's inflexible standards of neatness. Oh well, try for a happy medium, somewhere between "poison neatness" and "painful negligence."

Washing blankets? Someone telephoned to ask why hers had emerged stiff and shrunken from the process and a little questioning revealed the fact she had given them half an hour in her electric washer, followed by a rinse in cold water. No wonder they came out as stiff as boards. A rich, foamy, not too hot suds is the first bath for blankets. Squeeze and press the suds through gently, washing one blanket at a time. Don't wring or twist woollens as you value their soft, fluffy texture.

If you use the washing machine don't give the blankets more than three or four minutes and use second and third washings in fresh suds if blankets are very soiled. Rinse two or three times in water of the same temperature, here again sousing them gently. Dissolved soap flakes or three tablespoons of glycerine to the gallon of rinse water will help fluffiness. In fact we've heard four or five tablespoons of glycerine in the original washing suds will help restore pliability to stiff, shrunken woollens but we can't tell you from personal experience.

That same glycerine dropped around the glass stopper which sticks in your perfume bottle loosens it after a little too. And if you scorch woolen garments in pressing them or scorch woollen slightly with a cigarette the material should be rubbed with glycerine and left for several hours. Wash with warm water and the scorch, if not too deep, will disappear.

Mystery Dessert

Take a large sponge cake which has been baked in a round pan, cut off the top carefully and scoop out inside, leaving sides perfect. Make a filling consisting of one pound marshmallows, a quarter pound of pecan nutmeats and one-quarter pound of candied cherries. Mix all together, stir in one pint whipped cream. Let stand several hours to blend thoroughly. Fill the center, replace top and cover cake completely with whipped cream. Decorate with cherries and bits of pineapple or nuts, using cherry as centerpiece. Six almonds arranged around it petal-like make it very festive.

Heavenly Slaw

One young cabbage, 1/2 cup cream, 1/2 cup sugar, 1/2 cup vinegar, 1 teaspoon salt.

Beat cream, sugar, vinegar and salt together thoroughly until the dressing is like whipped cream.

Discard outer leaves of cabbage, shred rest finely and combine with dressing just before it is ready to serve.

Baked Potato Soup

Bake three or four medium-sized potatoes and meanwhile prepare a quart of well seasoned soup stock (from stock or canned chicken soup). Put your freshly baked potatoes through a sieve into the chicken soup. Thicken with the yolk of an egg.

When serving, place a half cup cream and a tablespoon of chopped parsley in the bottom of a warmed soup tureen and pour the potato and chicken mixture over it. Sprinkle paprika on top and serve at once.

Creamy Chocolate Sauce

One square unsweetened chocolate, 1 cup sugar, 1 cup water, few grains salt, 1/2 to 1 cup light cream, cinnamon if desired, 1 teaspoon vanilla.

Cut chocolate into small pieces.

Woman Appearing At Bath Hospital Had Purchased In Rockland Store

A girl amnesia victim, between 18 and 21 years old, is under observation by two physicians in the Bath Memorial Hospital, where she appeared early Thursday night, asked for the head nurse and then informed the latter that she could not remember who she was.

All that she could recall was that she had been in a restaurant a short time before, got some hot chocolate and then asked the waitress to direct her to the hospital. The only possible clue that might lead to establishing her identity add sugar and water, add salt and let boil about five minutes. Remove from fire, cool and add flavoring and cream. Makes a delicious creamy sauce for ice cream or cottage pudding.

At 4 o'clock in the Swedenborgian Chapel in Cambridge, Miss Anna Locke was married last Saturday to Stephen L. Lavender, son of Dr. and Mrs. A. W. Peabody. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Leslie D. Pennington of the First Parish Church, Cambridge, and the bride was given in marriage by her brother, Horatio Locke of Monmouth, Ill.

The bride wore a cream-white satin wedding gown belonging to her aunt and a lace cap belonging to another aunt, with a tulle veil caught with orange blossoms. Her bouquet was roses and lilies of the valley. Her cousin, Mrs. Arthur L. Peck, Jr., of Cambridge, the matron of honor, wore blue taffeta over tea rose with a blue turban. Miss Barbara Thomas of New York, the maid of honor, wore sheer tea rose over blue with a tea rose turban. They both carried African daisies and delphinium.

John Creighton of Alburnham was Mr. Lavender's best man, and the ushers were Frederick E. Drake of Bath, Edwin Estle of North Brookfield, Frederick J. Purdy of South Weymouth and Donald D. Sloan of Marblehead. The ushers and the best man all attended Bowdoin College and were members of Mr. Lavender's fraternity, Psi Upsilon.

A reception immediately followed the ceremony at the Hotel Commodore.

The bride is a graduate of Smith College with the class of 1935. Mr. Lavender was graduated from Bowdoin College in 1932 and is now associated with the Liberty Mutual Insurance Co. in Kansas City, Mo. Mr. and Mrs. Lavender will be at home at 3614 Harrison Boulevard, Kansas City.

Rosalind Russell, Norma Shearer, Phyllis Povah in "The Women"

Dramatically turning the spotlight on women, their lives and what they do with them, "The Women" starring Norma Shearer, Joan Crawford and Rosalind Russell, and based on the smash Broadway stage play, begins an engagement at the Strand Theatre for a run of three days.

In the story of "The Women," Norma Shearer, happily married for eight years, finds it impossible to continue life with her husband after she discovers from idle beauty-shop gossip that he has become enamored of a perfume salesgirl, portrayed by Joan Crawford. Goaded on by Miss Russell as the gossip, she finally goes to Reno to seek a divorce and the custody of her daughter, little Mary. Following the divorce, husband Stephen marries the "other woman" and broken-hearted Miss Shearer returns to New York. During the next year she discovers that all is not well in her husband's home and that his new wife is carrying on an affair with a cowboy radio crooner. Realizing that she should have fought in the first place she decides to stage a late campaign to win him back again. Cleverly she tricks Joan Crawford into an admission of her infidelity, and the fast-moving comedy-drama concludes on a happy note.—adv.

A Radcliffe Tribute

To the Memory of the Late
Annie F. Frye, Who Died
In Rockland

The Radcliffe Quarterly, current issue, paid the following tribute to a Rockland woman who died recently:

On Resurrection Sunday, April 9, our classmate Annie F. Frye was translated quickly and quietly from the complexity of this mortal life into the life beyond. Courageous to the last, in spite of frail health she attended an Easter service of worship in the morning followed by a long afternoon out of town visiting friends. Returning to the College Club in the evening, weary and spent, a beneficent Providence brought to her a blessed oblivion from care and the peace with passeth understanding.

Few realized that Annie Frye was in her 78th year, so indomitable was her spirit, so great her enjoyment of the younger generation, so keen her interest in the current events of the day. Endowed with a fine mind and with the high ideals of her generation, as a teacher of English she stimulated in her pupils a sympathy with the best in life and literature. When already past her 40th year, she set her heart on obtaining at Radcliffe an A.B. degree, and with characteristic energy and determination she permitted no obstacle to bar her from her goal. Her courage was only equalled by her loyalty, which never wavered throughout her long and useful life—loyalty to her ideals, to her friends, to her classmates at Abbot Academy and at Radcliffe College, within whose walls some of the happiest hours of her life were spent. Her trim, slender little figure, dressed always in the best of taste, was a familiar sight at the college reunions, which she rarely missed. Her dignified bearing and quiet manners which marked the true gentlewoman of the Old School, were pleasant to see; her meticulous, refined speech a delight to hear.

Our 35th reunion in June, to which Annie Frye had looked forward faithfully and hopefully, will not seem the same without her friendly presence, but her distinctive personality, expressing the best in the New England tradition, her cheerful, courageous spirit which never faltered, will remain for us always a happy memory and a lasting inspiration.

"So be my partner!
My task accomplish'd and the long day done,
My wages laid in my heart
Some late lark singing
Let me be gathered to the quiet west
The sundown splendid and serene."

This And That

By K. S. F.

Kansas a pioneering State in the cause of prohibition, is made the butt of many jokes because of its dry attitude. It is no joke, however, what Kansas has reaped as a result of its bone dry law. In Kansas there are 54 counties without any feeble-minded; 96 counties without any poorhouses; 53 counties without any persons in jail; 56 counties without any representatives in the State Penitentiary. No joke on Kansas!

During two exploring trips in the Sahara Desert, an explorer captured alive 115 lizards, 35 snakes and 76 amphibians.

To England went the honor of furnishing the new president of the World's Baptist Alliance. He is Dr. James Henry Rushbrooke of London.

The United States Office of Education estimates that the nation's investment in educational plants, endowments and other trust funds is more than $12,000,000,000.

St. Louis tells us one of her most flourishing small businesses in that city is one engaged in making and selling coal oil lamps.

Way back in the 12th century oil they were pressing linseed oil out of flaxseed for use in paint.

"Daddy, what do you think is the most brutal about football?" "Well, Jimmy, I guess it's the price of the seats to watch the game."

A crowd gathered at the station recently and were guests of the Hilt. Coffee and sandwiches were served to 25.

A large number of guests attended the Sterling-Walker wedding and reception last Saturday evening in the Presbyterian Church in Portland. After a wedding trip Mr. and Mrs. Sterling will reside at Morning street, Portland.

Mrs. Charles Sterling and Mrs. Fred Brackett of Peaks Island called last Saturday evening on R. T. Sterling and family.

Mt. Desert Rock

Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Wallace were called home recently due to the death of Mr. Wallace's mother in West Jonesport. Mrs. Wallace remained for the winter to be with their son, Myron, who is attending school.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Wass and children Bobby and Betty recently left the station for eight days' leave. Mrs. Wass and children will remain ashore for the school year.

Mrs. Blanchard Lakeman of Jonesport was guest of Mr. and Mrs. Wass for two weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. Merrill Frost are on 16 days' leave. They plan to visit friends and relatives in Massachusetts and Rhode Island.

The mackerel seiner Marilyn has been a frequent visitor to the Rock. Large schools of mackerel have been around for the past month.

E. E. Estes was a recent visitor at the station for several days making repairs on the radio beacon and radiotelephone.

Supt. H. M. Ingalls was at the station on regular fall inspection Sept. 20.

John Allen of Machias is guest of Robert Wass for several days.

Ed. Spinney, lighthouse carpenter, spent a week on the "Rock" repairing the boathouse floor and setting up a new gasoline tank.

Tender "Ilex" was at the station recently with kerosene.

All the keepers will be glad when the supply of coal arrives. The days are getting colder and the buck saw getting duller!

Pblock have been scarce around here lately. Keepers Wallace and Wass have caught a few for winter.

Harvard Beal of Southwest Harbor has arrived at the Rock with lobster traps and will begin "winter fishing."

Several large ocean liners have been sighted between here and Duck Island—going east—evidently being well inside of any possible submarine attack.

Mr. Wallace has recently bought a fine new radio which is being thoroughly enjoyed.

Friends of Mr. Wallace and Mr. Frost will sympathize with them in the loss of their mother and sister.

The "Rock" wishes the keepers on Duck Island the best of luck with their new power boat. Don't go speeding too much, Mr. Freeman.

STEAMBOAT DAYS

This is one of the luckiest boats ever to walk the waters of Penobscot Bay. She plodded back and forth to Bar Harbor for a faithful quarter century and then sought new adventures in New York.—Photo through courtesy of James I. Stinson of Stonington.

NO 16

A grand old paddler is presented today in one of the most famous boats of yesteryear, S.S. Mount Desert. Affectionately called "the old Mounty" this veteran made her triumphal entry into Penobscot waters in June, 1879 and continued an active life of service with a perfectly amazing freedom from difficulty up to her replacement in 1904 by the sumptuous J. T. Morse S.S. Mount Desert, a wooden hulled craft of 457.16 gross tons, was built in Bath in 1879, going directly into service for the Rockland, Mount Desert and Sullivan Steamboat Company. She was 162 feet long, 27 foot beam and drew 9.6 feet. She was powered with a 428 horse power beam engine and was by no means a slow boat.

She made her first trip east on June 19, 1879 and it was made something of an event by her owners. Over 150 guests from far and near were aboard when the lines were cast off in spite of the fact that a blustery June rain storm was in progress. The passengers were delighted with her trip across the western bay for she proved a good seaboat and a fast stepper. Half hour stops were made all the way down with special festivities at Green's Landing and Southwest Harbor where lobsters were provided for all hands. An ovation awaited the ship at Bar Harbor and there was a grand party at Sullivan that night where Mount Desert tied up. On the next day's return Mother Nature relented, providing smiling skies and a tranquil sea. To make the trip perfect S. S. Lewiston of the rival Portland-Machias line undertook to race the new ship across eastern Penobscot Bay but was beaten to a frazzle by the Mounty. Lewiston afterward ran successfully on the main line (Boston to Bangor) which speaks well for the ability of the Mount Desert.

One of the strangest angles to local steamboat history is that when a ship had outlived its usefulness "down east" in Penobscot Bay, it was sent to the Hudson River or some of the Providence, Long Island Sound lines and there run on and on forever like Tennyson's celebrated brook.

That was true of Mount Desert. After being replaced by the Morse, she appeared during the summer of 1904 on the Boston-Nahant run and next appeared running down New York Bay for a decade as an excursion steamer under the name of Arion, shuttling back and forth to Glen Island under the house flag of that famous old steamboat operator,

John H. Starin. When fine highways and new bridges ruined the business she was sold down Cape May way, her name once more changed, and for all I know, may be running yet.

It is a peculiar thing the way our old boats gain a renewed youth when shipped west and renamed. The old Frank Jones went to New York and became the Fenimore finally blowing up during the World War while hauling ammunition for the Navy. Our old Penobscot which was always too wide and ungainly became a Hudson River excursion boat, the Mohawk and was engaged in a great war by C. W. Morse, afterward being cut down into a barge. The old Kennebec joined this same Manhattan line and became Iroquois, a day liner. In more recent times Scur de Monts became General Matthews, S.S. Moosehead, the Mayflower, J. T. Morse, the Yankee, world without end, even to our own beloved Belfast and Camden which a strange fate has made the "Crack triple-screw modern luxury liners" Arrow and Comet on the Colonial Line, Providence to New York.

Contributions on S.S. Mount Desert will be welcome and will be printed with a different view of the grand old boat. J. M. R.

A Plea For The Aged

Thomaston Woman Protests the Slaying Of Old Men In the Streets

Editor of The Courier-Gazette:—One more fatal accident in the village street in Thomaston. Are we to go on and on allowing our old people to die violent deaths simply because we are too lax to do something to protect them? It will be said that they were careless; that they were not looking. The real facts are that they are aged, their senses are dulled, they are slow to grasp the danger that lurks on every side. Is the world then only for the young? Because they are old must they be refused the pleasure of their trip to the "corner" to discuss the gossip of the day with their old friends? Is there no way to safeguard the lives of our older citizens? We are willing to spend large sums for fire engines to save our homes, but we should first take care of the old people as well as the children. Surely that is as important as to keep our homes from burning. The only precaution that has been taken is a small sign at each end of the business section which is seldom noticed by tourists.

I have watched cars pass through this street at a speed of at least 40 or 50 miles and hour. I know of no other town where such conditions are allowed. It has reached the point where we watch old men go up the street with a prayer in our hearts, wondering if they will be brought back in such a condition that their own families may not recognize them.

Hazel Morse Anzalone.

THE LYRIC MUSE

Publication Limited to Brief Poems of Original Composition By Subscribers

From Interested Reader

Editor of The Lyric Muse:—A little selection of verse appearing in The Lyric Muse column of the Oct. 10 issue of The Courier-Gazette under the title "Autumn" was so fine that it seemed quite possible your readers might enjoy the opportunity of reading the other three verses of the beautiful poem from which this selection was taken.

"EACH IN HIS OWN TONGUE"
By William Herbert Carruth (A clergyman of Lawrence, Kansas)
"A fire mist and a planet,
A crystal and a cell,
A jelly-fish and a saurian,
And caves where the cave-men dwell;
Then a sense of law and beauty,
And a face turned from the cloud—
Some call it Evolution,
And others call it God."

"A haze on the horizon,
The infinite tender sky,
The ripe, rich tint of the cornfields,
And the wild geese sailing high—
And all over upland and lowland
The glow of the goldenrod—
Some of us call it Autumn,
And others call it God."

"Like tides on a crescent sea-beach,
When the moon is new and thin,
Into our hearts high yearnings
Come welling and surging in—
Come from the mystic ocean
Whose rim no foot has trod—
Some of us call it Longing,
And others call it God."

"A picket frozen on duty,
A mother starved for her brood,
Socrates drinking the hemlock,
And Jesus on the road,
And thousands who humble and nameless
The straight, hard pathway trod—
Some call it Consolation,
And others call it God."

ESSAY ON POETRY

Readers of this column, as well as contributors, will garner enjoyment and instruction from material which Sarah N. McCullough of Rockport, presented in a paper at a recent meeting of the Woman's Educational Club. Excerpts are here quoted:

"Why is poetry written? Why does one read poetry? No matter what the work of the artist may be made to teach, its first object is to increase enjoyment. Literature is an art with its object primarily, pleasurable appreciation, not merely the collecting of information. Once beyond the stage of enjoyment, poetry demands more. First and last, it demands an open mind and a sympathetic attitude on the part of the reader.

"The adequate reaction to a poem lies partly through the head and partly through the heart. Poetry stimulates one to imagine the scene, appeals to sense of rhythm or cadence, and commands a recognition of the compressed meaning of the word or phrase.

"Because poetry is so intensely personal, there will always be certain poems that appeal to one reader more than another. An understanding of the craft adds greatly to its enjoyment.

"How does poetry differ from prose? The arrangement of words in poetry, is made on a definite principle of order or pattern. There is a regular recurrence of accented and unaccented syllables in the lines, as regular as the tick of a watch. The continuous flow of ac-

Rockland League of Women Voters

The Rockland League of Women Voters opened their fall season on Monday afternoon at the home of Mrs. William D. Talbot when Miss Adelaide Pearson of Bluehill addressed about 100 members and friends.

Miss Pearson although neither Maine born or bred has done a great deal toward the cultivation of art education in her adopted town of Bluehill. To stimulate an interest for the appreciation of Maine landscape art classes were formed by Miss Pearson several years ago. Some 90 odd persons take advantage of the opportunity to learn drawing, wood-working, wood-carving, sketching and painting. No fees are charged for these classes but in order to hold interest in the various projects absentee members are fined one dollar for each absence from class.

Miss Pearson spoke at length of the Rowantrees Kiln which she built as a co-operative experiment for the further continuation of art education. At this Kiln pottery is made which is produced almost exclusively from local material. Two sorts of unmixed clays, glazes produced with a foundation of Bluehill granite colored with copper manganese from the abandoned mines of the township are molded into expressions of lovely form by village workmen and children. Nowhere else in the world, as far as is known is there anything approaching in originality the work of the Rowantrees Kiln. For the pleasure of her audience Miss Pearson showed the different methods of shaping clay by molding raw clay which she brought with her. Finished pottery was also exhibited as examples of the various glazes produced.

Miss Pearson's talk was further illustrated by three reels of film. The first two depicted various classes in Bluehill at work in painting and sketching while the third reel displayed the potters of Asia at work in a market place. Miss Pearson, who took the latter pictures when she was in Asia last year, contrasted the devices employed by the Eastern potters with those of the Bluehill potters. While Asia potters are very skillful in molding their clay Miss Pearson pointed out that they know little about firing. One picture showed a woman making plates which she produced at the rate of 18 every 15 minutes.

The wealth of information imparted by Miss Pearson, her charm, enthusiasm for her work and natural wit left a lasting impression on her audience.

At the close of the lecture tea was served under the direction of Mrs. Rupert Stratton. Mrs. Carleton Snow, vice president of the league and Miss Charlotte Buffum, finance chairman, poured.

cents and non-accents produces what is known as rhythm, and constitutes what is the essential difference between poetry and prose. Rhythm is also met with in prose, but the range is so wide that mostly one cannot anticipate it.

"The poet can make the past live; he can give a vision of the future; and he can interpret the whole of life and show its real meaning."
