COMMUNITY BUILDING CHANGE

City May Operate Plant; Control Finances, Personnel; Five Man Board Established

The municipal government is moving to accept administration of the Community Building and its personnel. The first step was taken Thursday in a special session of the City Council when an amendment to the city ordinances was made in title only.

Long in the planning, the system now proposed will retire the present unwieldy 39 person governing board and establish one of five persons.

The policy making of the recreational center will still rest with the YMCA board which will have the balance of power on the board with three members against two appointed by the city.

The city will take over the operation of the building, the general management and financial responsibilities, plus control of the personnel.

City Manager Farnsworth said Friday that the building will doubtless be placed under the direction of the municipal recreation department which now has a staff and director.

The YMCA group, which donated heavily of funds and the land on which the building sits, at the time of construction, will still be very much a part of the establishment's policy governing force.

The date of a public hearing before the City Council and final reading of the ordinance change to permit the city taking over the building has been set for March 12.

Dr. Allen Named Gets Camp Bomazene Post; New Officers Elected For '51-'52

Dr. Robert Allen of Rockland was named Thursday evening to the Board of Trustees of the Camp Bomazene committee as representative of Knox District Boy Scouts. This announcement was made by Robert Gregory, chairman of Knox District Committee at monthly meeting held at Camden Congregational Church. This is the first time that this area has been represented on the board although most scouts from this area attend the Summer meetings at Bomazene.

Also at the District Meeting, the Camden Scout Troop 200, reviewed their charter for the coming year. This was presented to Clinton Gifford, Rockland by Lawrence Tilford of Camden representative of the Camden Lions Club, the sponsoring institution, and W. W. Monroe, the scoutmaster of the troop. They were assisted in the review by three other Lions, William Kelly, Robert Lake and Douglas Kelly all of Camden. The review was approved by the committee and a charter presentation was scheduled for the near future. The nation wide scout clothing drive was also discussed and final arrangements were made for the central-

The Rockland Kiwanis Club presented a portable iron lung to the city Thursday morning in a ceremony held at the fire station. Fire Chief Van E. Russell accepted custody of the lifesaving unit, which will be added to the emergency equipment already operated by the department.

Kiwanians have raised nearly all of the $1,000 purchase price of the unit and are still accepting donations toward defraying the cost of the lung. Donations and club fund raising projects will complete payment for the unit.

The lung is entirely self contained, having its own pumping unit. It will be available where needed in an emergency in any section of the coastal area.

Presentation to the city was made by President Edwin Donovan of Kiwanis with members Dr. Wesley N. Wassgatt, Dr. Edwin Scarlott and George Brackett present. Brackett, also a member of the fire department, has been trained in the use of the lung.

The unit is one of the first, if not the first, to be donated for public use by a service club in the State. As far as is known, no other fire department in Maine, as well as equipped for emergencies as they may be, has one of the iron lungs ready for instant use.

GUEST EDITORIAL

By Rev. Theodore Swetham

Pastor of the Thomaston Baptist Church

PLACING OUR TRUST IN GOD

Today's crisis is unprecedented in all history. America has faced other crises but none so grave and involving so much as the one that now confronts us. But this we do know, God's war judgements are falling on America. It is not now a matter of America humbling herself under the hand of Russia but under the mighty hand of the Lord.

Even now the Lord is waiting for His people in America and the world—to act upon His command and to call upon His Name and seek His face so He can forgive our sins and heal our land of the wounds war is inflicting upon us.

Captain Rickenbacker's warnings to our nation in a recent editorial says, "America is on the brink of World War III. It will mean the economic ruin of this land of ours and therefore the economic ruin of the world. If World War III comes it will mean the drafting of men, women and children. Capital will be drafted. All worldly goods that you and I own will be commandeered and drafted. Captain Rickenbacker warns that the Communists use the 'lie' as their major weapon and that many Americans are being deceived by the 'lying Legion' and that that trend was America's gravest danger. But he declared 'There is every hope that a new global war can be prevented by unity of purpose, through faith and prayer,' of all those of every creed and color who will rise up against the forces that seek to destroy our blood-sought liberties.

Fully awake and alive to the dangers that confront our homes, our children, our liberties, before another holocaust descends upon us, let all who read these lines covenant with God to pray day and night for the Spirit's Outpouring until revival is sweeping through our land and the forces of world-revival are checking and challenging the forces of world-revolution. God's purposes and plans are thus revealed in Joel 2:18-20.

If we pray, we will not perish! If we do we shall not die! Without a moment's delay let the Church be the center of activities, spiritually and materially and the prayer rooms and homes be opened to prayer. Let the people be summoned to prayer.

Our Sufficiency is of God. Our resources are there. The greatest one of all, is God Himself. Have you diminished your opinion of God? Is God's arm shortened? Is it weak that He can do nothing any more? Has God lost his omnipotence? Is the God of Abraham to whom came the announcement 'Nothing is impossible with God,' is He dead? Is the God of disciples who said, 'With God all things are possible' is He dead? The God of Jeremiah who said, 'There is nothing too hard for me,' where is He living? If He is the same God yesterday, today and forever? He is the God who can answer your prayers and the prayers of the remnant of the people in your church for revival. He can send the power once again. God delivers us from trouble; from those who rise up against us, Psalm 18:39. This is the Hour of Decision for America. The destiny of this country, of your own soul lies with you, this Hour. Place your trust, your faith in the Living God, and attend the Church of your own choice, and seek Divine guidance at this Hour of Destiny.

SUPERIOR COURT SETS TUESDAY

Seventy-Five Divorce Cases Filed—Two New Criminal Cases Added On Thursday

One of the lightest criminal court terms of Knox Superior Court in recent years will open next Tuesday. However, there are a number of civil cases which were carried over from the November term or which have been entered since that term.

Two additional criminal cases were added to the term Thursday with the finding of probable cause against two Owl's Head men, on breaking, entering and larceny charges by Rockland Municipal Court. The men involved are Clarence Goulding, 34, father of six children, and his brother-in-law, William Brown, also of Owl's Head. The men are charged with the theft of 4400 pounds of scrap iron in old derrick equipment from a storage shed of the Rockland & Rockport Lime Company on Upper Park street. Two separate warrants were brought against them which placed the value of the iron at $26 in one and $48 in the other. Both men are free on $500 bail each for appearance in court next week.

A total of 75 divorce cases are on the docket. Fifty-two were on the docket at the opening of the term while 23 have been added since that time.

In Municipal Court

Friday morning, Thomas E. Prouty of Dennyville was fined $5 and costs of court on charges of failing to obey the traffic light at the junction of Park and Union streets on Thursday.

Robert McMann of Owl's Head was freed of charges of passing on a curve on a technically pointed out in a warrant obtained by State Trooper Henry Roper.

Thursday, Forrest Brown, Rockport and Ray L. Tracy of Clarendon street, Rockland were charged with failing to report an accident in which their vehicles were involved. Each was fined $10 and costs of court of $5. Both fines were suspended on payment of costs.

William A. McLellan of Camden was fined $10 Wednesday on charges of passing another vehicle on a hill. The complaint was entered by State Police who alleged that the violation took place on Route 1 in Rockport.

THE BLACK CAT

By The Roving Reporter

Frances R. Snow and Marion E. Harvey both Rockland born and bred, but now teaching school in Milton, Mass., took my remarks about "no schools" in Massachusetts too seriously. They write:

"We read something to the effect that Massachusetts has 'No School' every other day. This may be true of other parts of the State, but it certainly does not apply to Milton. We travel up the hill to Vose School through hail, rain, snow, sleet, fire, hurricane and what have you. Last Monday, a week ago, we skated.

"Our Superintendent is a Maine man. Perhaps that explains everything.

"The 'no school' bell never rings in Milton. We just don't wish you to get the wrong impression of the Massachusetts school system."

Misses Snow and Harvey were the only two teachers at Vose School last year, who never missed a day of teaching. The others couldn't take it.

It had taken Zeke an entire morning to tow the tourist's car down to the settlement, says Capper's Weekly, and when he finally returned with his weary old mule, his wife wanted to know how much he had charged.

"Fifty cents," said Zeke. "I guess it wasn't too much. Leastwise, he didn't kick up no fuss."

"Fifty cents! I swear, Pa, sometimes I wish you'd do the pullin' an' let the mule handle the executive end of the details."

A lumberman can tell you how many cords of wood in a certain tree, but I wonder if he can tell the weight, say, of a lofty elm. The figure would probably surprise you.

One year ago, Richard E. Reed was re-appointed Commissioner of Sea and Shore Fisheries.—The Cribhaven post office and Nicholas Anderson's store and boat shop were destroyed by fire.—George Wood, Jr., was admitted to the Bar in Portland.—Deaths: Rockland, Angie Gabrielson 70; Scotia, N. Y., Mrs. Richard Damery of Camden 65; Vinalhaven, Porter L. Lawry, 86.

Have Paper Ready

Tomorrow, Sunday is the day of the big paper drive to be staged by the Sea Explorers and the 40&8. All citizens are asked to place all waste paper, cartons etc., tied on their porches or side walks in all sections of the city. The collectors will start at 1 o'clock and cover every street.

There may be citizens with paper in considerable amount that they can't get to the porch unaided. If such persons will telephone 8230 Sunday afternoon the paper will be called for.

The proceeds of the drive will go to good causes—the operation costs of the Sea Explorers and the Charity Fund of the 40&8.

Lobster Feed Supreme

Restaurateur and Lobster Dealers Hosts To 55 At Newbert's Wednesday

Ed Mayo of Newbert's Restaurant, together with lobster dealers Harold Look and James Pease were hosts to 55 business and professional men at a baked lobster dinner at the restaurant Wednesday night. The lobsters, prepared by Mayo and his staff, averaged from two to three pounds in weight and furnished a bumper meal for the guests.

The guests were drawn from the regular patrons of the restaurant making up the breakfast and luncheon groups gathering at the popular eating place each day.

Howard Crockett read a poem written by Everett Blithen. The lengthy document touched upon practically everyone present, causing much merriment and each in his turn was ribbed, poetically by the genial Blithen through the equally genial Crockett who enjoyed punning his banquet mates. Speakers, in a jovial vein, were Edwin Donovan, Alan Crossman, Robert Lindquist, Harold Look, James Connellan, Jim Pease and Curtis Payson.

When the lobsters were served, it came out that Pease and Look had both played a trick on the other which backfired. Each had brought a tiny lobster to be served to the other by Mayo. Keeping mum about the other's intentions, Ed accepted both donations and then served them to both at the banquet. However, there was a giant crustacean, beautifully cooked, waiting for both after their surprise had subsided a little.

All present gave Mayo and his partners in the banquet a rousing vote of thanks for the dinner.

[EDITORIAL]

THE KOREAN KALEIDOSCOPE

That old, familiar expression "now you see, now you don't" finds apt expression in the Korean situation. First we saw the United Nations march roughshod the length of the country, then we saw their stubborn retreat as the vast horde of Chinese Reds took over the North Koreans shattered cause. Now here we are again almost abreast of the 38th parallel and our toes dug into the outskirts of Seoul. Will history repeat itself by ordering a second retreat or will the United Nations go forward to a victory which was beyond our wildest dreams only a few weeks ago? Whatever is to be achieved by the capture of Seoul, except onward progress is beyond the ken of the average layman, for the South Korean capital can scarcely be other than a shambles by this time, besieged by both sides. The best we can all do is to hope that the United Nations will be able to continue the glorious work in which they are currently engaged.

WOULD USE CHINESE NATIONALISTS

We have so consistently agreed with Gen. Douglas MacArthur's policies that we find ourselves in full accord with his reported desire to use the Chinese Nationalist troops against the Red Chinese forces in Korea and elsewhere. A thrust against the Chinese mainland should be supported, MacArthur believes as it would serve to divide the strength of the Red cohorts. It would, or should, be to the liking of Chiang Kai-shek's army.

THE WEEK ON KNOX-LINCOLN COURTS

Shirley Putnam Guest Student Columnist; Three Games In Week Put Union In Tough Spot; Rockland Rockets Stirring About

A comparison between a large school and a small school is not the easiest thing to make, but might prove of interest to the readers of this column. So I will try in a few words to compare the two as I have found them. This being a sports column, I would like to compare sports in the two schools. Each type has its advantages but for the average sports enthusiast, who is not an outstanding player, the small school offers more opportunity for participation, thus allowing him to improve through his school years.

Having only lived in Thomaston for five months I have only experienced one sports season, and that is basketball, so my comparison may be somewhat limited.

The size of my class in Massachusetts was nearly 200, as compared with my present class of 23 here in Thomaston. Consequently there was keen competition in making the basketball team. The first team was composed entirely of Seniors and the second team of Juniors and Sophomores.

Here in the Knox-Lincoln League I have noticed that with both boys and girls playing at night there is a good crowd and a very enthusiastic team. The ability of the boys and girls to appreciate an outstanding player on the opposite team is demonstrated in a small school where as the boys and girls on the larger teams fail to notice an exceptional player. I have noticed a distinct difference in the ability of a team to smile and be a good loser. This demonstrates ideal sportsmanship and the smaller schools can usually be commended for it.

As the basketball season draws near a close each hopes that his or her team will come out on or near the top. No matter what the ending we have all gained a valuable experience in learning to get along with others, win, lose or draw. By Shirley L. Putnam.

Author of the above is a guard on the Thomaston High girls' team and a very good one. She is also a daughter of Harold Putnam, the town's first manager.

Notes without comment . . . the column about the Winter season activities of Red Sox players written by the editor of a daily paper Thursday was very interesting, but even more interesting was something he left out—namely, the fact that one of them asked $25 apiece for visiting three hospitals on a visit to a Western Maine community . . . conversation heard while leaving the gym after the Wiscasset-Union game: Lady—"That's what happens when they play three games in one week" (referring to the Union loss). Escort—"You said it!" . . . after sitting next to Tod Gibson and Win Kenoyer that evening it is possible to report that Tod seems to suffer more audibly than Win, which isn't saying the latter didn't bleed inside . . . Dominic "The Great Mouthpiece" Cuccinello has the following message for Rocket supporters—"The Rockets are on the trail," he reports (whatever that means) . . . the Rockland Tiger's basketball system is based on a combination of the Stanford and Kentucky systems, but don't expect me to explain those . . . some observers who have seen the Wiscasset Redskins in action feel the tribe won't go as far in the class S tourney as they did last year when they reached the finals. This year's outfit is slower and weaker, in at least one key position . . . comparison of the Camden girls team of this year with the great Lincoln Academy outfit that went over three years without defeat would seem to give the edge to Lincoln; they went 49 games before they were tied while Camden went 30 . . . Sylvia Farris, blonde Union forward, is sharp in her studies too. She racked up all A's last quarter . . . as you read this Jocko Johnson, Johnny Mills of Thomaston, and Al Bennett of Camden will be competing in the foul shooting championship.

Bob Mayo.

Paper drive starts Sun, Feb. 11 at 1 o'clock. Have paper tied, on sidewalks or porch steps. Benefit Sea Explorers and 40 & 8 charity fund.

A Silver Tea
Will Be Held Tuesday Afternoon At the Bok Home

Mrs. Charles Whitmore and Mrs. Clarence Munsey are co-chairmen of the Silver Tea to be held Tuesday afternoon at 2.30 in the Bok Home, sponsored by the Knox Hospital Auxiliary. They will be assisted in this series of Maine wildlife to give a brief history of our "Seal" that will, I hope, answer a few pertinent questions that are asked me such as "What does Dirigo mean?" "Who designed the seal?" "Why the farmer and sailor?" etc.

Aristocrats and medieval knights of old world tradition all had their coat-of-arms and those familiar with heraldic design know each symbol emblazoned on the shield has some significance in regard to the family history, a sheaf of wheat a fleur-de-lis etc. A coat-of-arms, originally a surcoat embroidered with one's family escutcheon, armorial bearings or devices symbolic of rank or deeds. A similar shield bears the insignia of organizations, city, state, governments, etc.

The "Seal of Maine" was designed by Dr. Benjamin Vaughn of Hallowell, June 9, 1820. It was adopted by Legislature. That same year Maine became a State.

OUR GREAT STATE SEAL

"Dirigo" I direct

In my work I have been commissioned at various times to draw, reproduce our "Great Seal" of Maine. My latest effort, newly-designed shoulder patches for the Maine State Police, includes the "Seal of Maine," so "I'll take a pause in this series of Maine wildlife to give a brief history of our "Seal" that will, I hope, answer a few pertinent questions that are asked me such as "What does Dirigo mean?" "Who designed the seal?" "Why the farmer and sailor?" etc.

Aristocrats and medieval knights of old world tradition all had their coat-of-arms and those familiar with heraldic design know each symbol emblazoned on the shield has some significance in regard to the family history, a sheaf of wheat a fleur-de-lis etc. A coat-of-arms, originally a surcoat embroidered with one's family escutcheon, armorial bearings or devices symbolic of rank or deeds. A similar shield bears the insignia of organizations, city, state, governments, etc.

The "Seal of Maine" was designed by Dr. Benjamin Vaughn of Hallowell, June 9, 1820. It was adopted by Legislature. That same year Maine became a State.

At each side of the seal . . . to the left is the "Husbandman," to the right side the "Man-of-the-Sea." The farmer holding his scythe and the sailor who rests on his anchor represent agriculture, commerce and fisheries, indicating to the world at large Maine is supported by these occupations of its inhabitants.

The woods in the background shows a tiny portion of our vast forests from which came the tall masts and the wood that built our ships that carried our lumber to all ports of the seven seas.

Study our wonderful Maine, her famous people, her achievements . . . for to know Maine is to love Maine.

PENOBSCOT'S MEN OF STEAM

A pre-view of the tales of the men who operated the ships and the Steamboat Lines mentioned in Steamboat Lore of the Penobscot

by John M. Richardson

Today's problem: Who is who?

It took a youngster to solve last week's problem. His name is Arthur Adolphsen and he said the steamer was the Katahdin, passing Dice's Head. The answer was correct and he had the two Strand Theatre tickets in short order. A gratifying number of answers came in and fooled such experts as Bill Fifield and Bert Fletcher.

Today's picture is no puzzle because only a miracle could have all the persons accounted for, but there is a chance for limited identification, so here goes. Two Strand tickets will be sent to the person first identifying the Steamboat Editor, by mail, of the name of the steamer and of one person in the group. That should be easy. To any person who can correctly name more than one person, either two Strand tickets or a pound of candy will be given. The photograph was contributed by Edward Rowe Snow. It was one of several and contests will be run on two of the group, one with cash awards.

Last week's Katahdin picture was contributed by Henry C. Williams.

Belfast offers for its second Community Concert the 18-year-old pianist, Ervin Laszlo, who won acclaim in his Carnegie Hall recital last October. Reviewers said of him at that time: "A remarkably mature artist at 18, Laszlo displayed an amazing structural grasp in his playing... excellent technique and tone... Mr. Laszlo has talent—plenty of it. He has a strong rhythmic sense, much musical propulsion, and the right ideas about the music he is playing."

The Belfast concert will be given Friday, Feb. 16 in the auditorium of the Crosby High School, and it is hoped that many of those in this area holding Association tickets will attend.

In the New York Sunday Times in the music section appeared a picture of the famous 'cellist, Gregor Piatigorsky, with his accompanist, Ralph Berkowitz, both familiar figures in the Rockport colony when it was flourishing. Piatigorsky conducted a master class there, and who could ever forget the concert given by Mr. Berkowitz and Vladimir Sokoloff for one piano four hands! Mr. Berkowitz was also heard during this period as accompanist for Felix Salmond, 'cellist, in appearances in Rockport, Camden, and at the Samoset.

Speaking of Salmond brings to mind that Leonard Rose, solo 'cellist with the New York Philharmonic-Symphony, is leaving the orchestra at the end of the current season to pursue an independent career as a concert artist. Rose joined the Philharmonic as assistant soloist back in the 1943-44 season, I think, and moved up to the first desk the next year. He is April 9, "La Traviata" (Verdi), with Mme. Rigal one of the newcomers at the Met. April 10: "Magic Flute" (Mozart), with Eleanor Steber. Jerome Hines whom we often hear over the radio is also in the cast. April 11: "La Boheme" (Puccini) with Mme. de Los Angeles, who has won such notable acclaim since her debut; for the Barber of Seville" (Rossini), with Lily Pons, Eugene Conley, Baccaioni. April 12: "Fledermaus" (Johann Strauss) with Patrice Munsel. April 13: "Don Carlo" (Verdi) with Mme. Rigal, and Blanche Thebom. April 14: "Madame Butterfly" (Puccini) for the matinee, with Dorothy Kirsten and Eugene Conley. For the evening performance, "Faust" with de Los Angeles. The Sunday matinee (April 15) "Tristan and Isolde" with Astrid Varney and Sven Svahnholm. It has been a long time since such a notable array of operas and singers has been offered by the Metropolitan in Boston, and a word to the wise is to get your order in early. Chances are that "Fledermaus" will be the drawing card.

Fortcoming in notable films is "Of Men and Music," the first American full-length film concert, which will have its world premiere in New York Feb. 14. In the cast will appear Arthur Rubinstein, pianist; Nadine Connor, soprano, and Jan Peerce, tenor; Jascha Heifetz, violinist; and Dimitri Mitropoulos, conducting the New York Philharmonic-Symphony. The introductory narration will be given by Deems Taylor. Let's hope it comes to Rockland.

At a follow-up of the comments about Vaughn Monroe and Ernest Johnson, Newsweek in a recent number carried an article pertaining to Monroe's introduction on television. It says in part that Monroe's group is "the biggest current money-maker of all American dance bands. Much of Monroe's million-dollar-a-year business has come from the grueling grind of local one-night appearances. In the past 11 years, Monroe, his 22 instrumentalists and six singers, have taken only one real vacation from routine that often hit seven towns in seven days." Now Monroe has dropped barnstorming for 13 weeks at least to appear on television.

It seems inherently the band is poor TV material and was further prejudiced by the "unspectacular personality of its star." But Monroe, tall and confident, promptly turned the handling of his TV appearances over to experts who in turn built the show around Monroe's easy-going nature. Careful integration has produced what they call a relaxed "musical revue" which is certain to have appeal. It would be interesting to hear from someone who has seen the TV show.

It is strange what mass thought will produce. The Don Cossack Chorus, composed of 30 White Russians who fought the Reds in the revolution, have again indirectly become victims of the Reds. Several concert managers have canceled their appearances for fear the "Russians" would be boycotted. Paul Stoes, manager of the Chorus, states that the Cossacks sang for the USO; six of them were in service; two wear the Purple Heart. Some concert managers are being shamed and re-scheduling the Cossacks. This chorus has been touring this country, practically living all the time in it, for years—I wish I could remember the year I first heard them—it must be close to 20 years ago. Considering their terrible experiences in Russia, it would seem they must be entirely weaned from Russia in all its aspects.

Twenty years ago the famous Russian dancer, Anna Pavlova, died in The Hague of pleurisy after an illness of only three days. Also 20 years ago Lily Pons made her debut at the Metropolitan Opera in Lucia di Lammermoor. The reviewers said of her: "The young French coloratura made good among the Mad Scene as few new singers have in recent years at the Metropolitan. There was a spontaneous quality that seemed to win the audience's favor even in the first act."

THE WIND
The oldest voice in the world is the wind. When it murmurs in Summer's leaves, it seems an idle trifle. When in the night it goes wandering by, setting the old house faintly to groaning, it sounds like a pilgrim that has lost the road. When you see it fitfully turning the blades of a mill lazily to draw water, you think of it as an unreliable servant of man. But in truth it is one of our masters, obedient only to the lord sun and the whirling of the great globe itself.—Donald Culross Beattie in "A Cup of Sky."
