Low Will Run

Representative Seth Low

A Rockland man who made an excellent reputation as Representative in the last Legislature, has finally concluded to seek re-nomination. The candidate is Seth Low. Mr. Low became an important factor in Rockland business circles when he came from New York some years ago and bought the Huston-Tuttle book and stationery store. His interests, first, last and all the time, are for the welfare of his adopted city. He is president of the Rockland Rotary Club.

ENJOYED BURTON CROSS

Rockland Rotarians Heard Non-Political Talk On Vital State Issues

One of the four Republican candidates for the gubernatorial nominations addressed the Rotary Club Friday. The speaker was Burton M. Cross, president of the Maine Senate, who discussed timely State issues and was very warmly received.

Of far more than ordinary interest to the people of Rockland was the information given by Senator Cross to the effect that there is a growing dissatisfaction among those engaged in the fishing industry to the continuance in Augusta of the office of the Commissioner of Sea and shore fisheries.

In discussing this and allied topics at the Rotary meeting, Senator Cross said:

"There are vital problems that demand your immediate attention. Statistics show that Maine coastal fishing is one of the State's mammoth industries. It is but necessary to mention that in the past ten years the income from fisheries increased from approximately $20,000,000 to $60,000,000.

"Since Massachusetts and Nova Scotia have passed a law increasing the minimum length of lobsters

Burton Cross

Maine must consider whether or not we shall fall in line and take similar action.

"Another very vital subject concerns the location of the office of the Commissioner of Sea and Shore Fisheries. There is a very strong sentiment against this headquarters being in Augusta. With this sentiment I heartily agree. The office of the commission should be at some convenient place on the coast where it may be more easily accessible to all, particularly fishermen.

"I feel too, that the State should immediately establish a policy of greater participation by the State in making a survey of the whole Sea and Shore Fisheries potential in order that accurate information may be obtained regarding the needs of this multi-million dollar industry."

Prize Speaker

Martha Jack First Choice Of Judges In Thomaston Speaking Contest

Martha Jack was winner of first prize in the Junior Prize Speaking Contest held Thursday night in Thomaston High School auditorium. Her subject was "Sue Entertains A Friend." Winner of second prize was Arthur Strout whose speech was titled "Secretary's Report." Third was Faustina Gushee whose theme was "Madam X."

Others who spoke before a large crowd were Gwendolyn Thornton, Elinor Glidden, Jeannine Wooster, Doris Seekins, and Pauline Keizer. Judges were A. Hamilton Boothby, Jr., principal of Rockland High School and Mrs. Diane Pitts of the Rockland High faculty.

The two top winners will compete in the regional speaking contest to be held later and which is sponsored by the Maine Principal's Association.

Over A Million

January 29—Net income of $1,443,785 over and above its fixed charges was earned by the Maine Central Railroad in 1951, it is shown in the yearly financial statement made public at the General Offices of the road here last night. This compares with net income of $1,266,759 earned by the road in 1950. Revenues of the road in 1951 increased $2,298,116 (or 9.58%) and operating expenses increased $1,392,348 (or 7.49%).

Detailed comparisons of revenues freight revenue increased $2,579,552 of 1951 with those of 1950 show (or 12.75%) and passenger revenue decreased $24,203 (or 1.51%).

The ratio of operating expenses to operating revenues in 1951 was 76.01, as compared with 77.49 in 1950.

GLOUCESTER DRAGGER LENGTHENED AT GENERAL FOODS YARD

Closeup of the gap now in the once unbroken lines of the Mary Rose's hull. Workmen are now piecing out the keel, carefully splicing the new section into the original. The picture shows through to the interior of the vessel and its fish holds which will be greatly enlarged when the job is done. Long splices in keel and planking will be necessary together with new frames to fill out the hull. A similar job was done on the lobster smack A. C. McLoon last year by Lash Brothers of Friendship. The Mary Rose was originally built in Southwest Harbor.

There is a major operation going on at the shipyard of General Foods in Rockland. The 33 foot Gloucester dragger Mary Rose has been cut in two with the intention of stretching her out to a 103 footer in the next few weeks. On the small railroad, she was sawed in two early this week and the sections slid apart. While the operation is not a new one, it is always an interesting procedure to watch. Owned by the Clarmetero family of Gloucester, the craft will be some weeks in the yard and will call for all the skills of the yard's shipbuilders to complete the project.

GREATEST CATCH SINCE '89

Lobster Catch Last Year Was the Largest In a Half Century

Sea and Shore Fisheries Commissioner Robert L. Dow said that the 1951 Maine lobster catch would be the largest in more than a half century. Dow based his statement on estimated figures which indicated that the harvest by 4,653 licensed fishermen would reach the 20,100,000 pound mark.

The estimate which was compiled by Louis Cates of the Department of Sea and Shore Fisheries and Arthur McKeown of the Fish and Wildlife Service gave the approximate value of the catch as $7,107,000. Dow said the greatest recorded catch was in 1889 when 24 million pounds of the shellfish were taken from Maine waters—this bumper crop brought $556,733.

In general, 1951 Maine fishery production was down in poundage from the 1950 mark but dollar value had increased Dow continued. The 1950 totals were 353, 279, 886 pounds of seafood products valued at $14,688,742—1951 totals are estimated to be 219,452,000 pounds valued at $15,455,000.

The light 1951 herring catch was the cause of most of the decrease in landings Dow stated. Catch figures dropped from 185,000,000 pounds to 68 million and value from $1,265,467 to $860,000. This unusual decline was reflected in the sardine pack which although one of the smallest in years is one of the most outstanding in quality.

Rosefish (ocean perch) landings dropped from 79 million to 75 million in 1951 but dollar value remained at the three million dollar mark.

Clam production is estimated to be 5,213,000 pounds which is a drop of about a million pounds from the

MOTHERS MARCH NETTED $653.72

One Hundred Twenty Workers Covered City On One Hour Canvass Thursday

The Mothers March on Polio netted collections of $653.72 Thursday evening. Workers in all the wards called at homes throughout the city to receive dimes and larger amounts reserved by the house-holders for the drive.

General chairman of the project was Mrs. Eugenia Annis who supervised work from headquarters at the Hotel Rockland.

Headquarters were established at the hotel through the courtesy of Manager Dan Harris who turned over the hotel's small banquet hall to the March of Dimes committee. In addition to the use of the room, Harris provided refreshments for the workers.

Porch lights were on in all sections of the city signalling collectors that funds were waiting for them to help swell the city and county total.

Ward captains and workers who were out Thursday evening are:

Ward 1—Myra Watts, Captain
Mrs. Elizabeth Parsons, Mrs. Sheldon Eaton, Mrs. Frank Baudanza, Mrs. Owen Johnson, Mrs. Frank Kaler, Mrs. Lucien Green, Jr., Mrs. Jasper Thomas, Mrs. Frederick Tripp, Mrs. Vanorse, Mrs. Earnest Long, Mrs. Douglas McManis.

Ward 2—Mrs. Sally Cross, Captain
Doris Moores, Mrs. Harold Greene, Madeline Philbrick, Etta Rogers, Elaine Webber, Mabel McMahon, Gladys Little, Vera Jones, Arlene Williams, Mrs. Willis Anderson, Priscilla Schofield, Peggy McCarthy, Mrs. John Carl, Maxine Bartlett.

Ward 3—Phyllis Grant, Captain
Mrs. Gladys Rokes, Charlotte Coffin, Inez Harden, Eva Gray, Ida Kershner, Bernadette Manseau, Elizabeth Gray, Mrs. Hamalainen, Mrs. Margaret Haskell, Mrs. Sally Haskell, Mrs. Thomas Chisholm, Alice Crockett, Evelyn Ludwig.

New York is gradually becoming civilized. Motorists may not drive in the city streets with only their parking lights for illumination, and must use the lower, or dim beam of headlights while in motion on the city streets. Dimming the lights is being resorted to a little more frequently in the Rockland area but there are still many motorists who fancy they are a law unto themselves.

Naval Sidelights
Approximately 135,000 Navy personnel have been on duty in the Korean area since June 1950.

By mid-1952 more than 25 modern submarines are expected to be added to our fleet. The navy estimates that between 75 and 100 tons of lead are used in the average submarine.

Navy Secretary Kimball warned that if war comes submarines will be the greatest menace to freedom of the seas.

Railroad Agent—Here's another farmer who is suing us on account of his cows.

Little Girl: "O no, she's one of these modern dolls. When you squeeze her she says, 'O boy!'"

Harold Simmons, wholesale lobster dealer, is about to embark on a nationwide tour which should offer much interest and pleasure. It is his intention to visit his customers in the four points of the compass. Nearly all of them he has never seen and the meeting is expected to produce happy results.

SATURDAY, FEBRUARY 2—8 O'CLOCK
ODD FELLOWS HALL

By Ralph W. Tyler

Some time ago a Camden fisherman, long time friend and former schoolmate of mine ventured a hint that most of the fishing spots mentioned in this column were along the Georges river drainage, and he thought it was about time that Megunticook Lake, the county's largest and most beautiful body of fresh water got a little write-up.

Then a few days later another Camdenite, famous for his loyalty to Megunticook, (an attribute of most Camden sportsmen), called to my attention that I had long ago promised to tell Bill Barrett's version of how the lake got its name.

All in all, it appears I am behind on Megunticook lake from several angles and strange to say, it is the one fishing spot in the county from which I get the fewest reports. My theory for this is, that the lake is serviced by the well organized sportsmen's Club which bears its name, and the admirable attribute of loyalty to the home water which is "their baby," keeps the interesting news of Megunticook centered about the members of that organization.

Pointing to the sportsmen who have the interest of the entire county at heart it is pleasing to note, that there exists between the Megunticook and Knox County organizations, a co-membership indicating the best of relations, but my personal observations are that Camden members of the Knox County Fish and Game Association attend its meetings around the county much more faithfully than do the K.C.F.G. co-members attend the Camden meetings, of which, as a member of both, I set no good example.

In personalizing the above statement I point to Wallace Vinal, George Higgins, Earl Young, George Conant, Ed Richards, Ernest Crie and there are a few others who are faithful to both. Such a condition keeps one club in touch with the other, and Megunticook Lake, although in no need of publicity would probably be mentioned more frequently if I attended more of the Camden meetings.

While at the Preempt meeting of the Maine Fish and Game Association, Inc. I learned that the Megunticook Fish and Game Association had dropped its affiliation with that State-wide group.

President Lew Colony was much troubled over the situation and it seemed that the reason for the decision to drop out after several years of membership was not entirely clear to him or his staff.

Nevertheless Joe Talbot was selected by the nominating committee as Knox County candidate to its board of directors, and in attempting to clarify the situation, Earle Conant moved for an extension of this appointment and several others, to the close of varying fiscal year dates of several clubs.

Knox County's fish and game affairs could well be administered before the State organization by one man. It would be significant of the unity between the two clubs and Joe has the understanding and the business ability to do the job. Getting back to Megunticook Lake—of primary interest is its fishing for the coming season. I feel hardly qualified to make any predictions.

However since Sept. 2, 1948, the lake has received 18,800 mature salmon and 10,000 4 to 6-inch salmon, not including what has been stocked there since June 1951. Besides that 79,500 salmon of various smaller sizes were placed in its waters between Sept. 2, 1942, and 1948, some of which are likely furnishing many of the currently-caught fish.

Salmon, even under ideal conditions, grow much slower than brown trout.

Fish of the 1948 stocking should by now have reached legal length at least. This would indicate that the survivors of this stock will give good fishing the coming season.

Statewide, the majority of salmon taken by fishermen yearly are under five pounds. The "junkies," if there are rarely caught, but do respond to lures just about often enough to hold keen fishing interest.

High and adequate water conditions at Megunticook probably resulted in some natural propagation over the past winter. Salmon fry have small hope of reaching maturity in such a lake, but it must help a little.

Talking with several fish culture men around the hatcheries and various clubs, I shall venture a prediction that the salmon fishing at Megunticook will improve steadily over the coming several seasons. Fish will run largely in the "just legal" to 3 1/4-pound class.

In checking on the stocking at Megunticook, I find an entry of 1500 mature brook-trout stocked on Oct. 22, 1942.

Oh! for the return of those days when brook trout could be caught from most any ledge or boat landing in the Spring. When a trip around the Bang Islands, across the Land's End gravel bar, or through the Chaney Narrows was surefire for a 2 1/4 to 4-pound trout. Let's give the State and Bill Libby credit for such conditions, for the stocking report also discloses that from July 1, 1933, to June 30, 1941, there were 75,000 brook trout released in Megunticook Lake and its tributaries. No waters in the southern part of the State can surpass this record in the period of eight years.

I claim there are still some "Club" trout in Megunticook Lake. The 59,000 chum salmon released in the lake in the late '30's were never heard from. As these fish were 2 to 4 inches, a very bright and active species, they promptly became feed for predaceous fish there, I expect.

What to do to improve fishing conditions at Megunticook? All I can do is to offer my personal opinion. A practice that often finds me facing a disagreeing and irate reader.

First in the line of conservation and the future welfare of the stocking policy would be, the closing of all tributaries of Megunticook to the taking of smelts.

Second, the stocking of brook trout in the tributaries that were year-around reliable in their water supply.

Third, an occasional "shot" of mature brook trout in the upper portion of the lake, perhaps in Norton's Pond.

Fourth, the refusal to accept any salmon to be stocked in the waters that were not mature and capable of survival among predator fish, even if it meant the cutting down of final totals.

Fifth: A game fish creel census (salmon and trout only) that would have direct bearing on the success of the stocking program.

Some sportsmen and department officials frown on fishing derbies as a detriment to stocked waters. The creel census for "derby day" at Megunticook reveals no waste of expensive game fish and acquaints many strangers with the lake.

I believe Norton's Pond, not too well serviced by Waldo County, should receive more consideration in its relation to Megunticook.

Time was, when monstrous trout were caught there. It has many Camden property owners and taxpayers. I see no waste in the consistent stocking of mature brook trout there, at least experimentally.

There are other improvements that might be advisable at Megunticook as a long-range program, such as stream improvement, predator control and introduction of bait fish of various species.

I know little of the food supply in the lake except as given in the Cooper No. 5 survey, but the preponderance of small bass and a large white perch population must place a heavy load on whatever food supply there is, at the expense of the salmon and trout.

Only in Norton's Pond have I noticed any variety of bait fish, fresh water chub, shiners and shore minnows.

The Megunticook Association has one project in which I am particularly interested. The stocking of Hosmer Pond with brown trout. The coming season should see these fish being caught quite regularly and I understand there is no

Rockland Soldier Awarded Bronze Star

Sgt. Myron E. Preston of Rockland who is now enroute to the west coast, has recently been promoted to Sgt. first class. He is the son of Mrs. Amy Preston and the late Arthur Preston, formerly of 12 State street Rockland. Sgt. Preston also has been wounded and received the Purple Heart and has just been awarded the Bronze Star for heroism in the battlefield at Sidamak, Korea. The Bronze Star was awarded with the following citation: "Sgt. Myron E. Preston is cited for heroism in action against an armed enemy on the 10th of October, 1951, near Sidamak, Korea. As Company D was defending its positions against an enemy attack, Sgt. Preston moved about, expertly directing fire on the enemy who had advanced to within 10 to 15 yards of the machine gun. Although exposed to hostile grenade, mortar and automatic weapons fire, Sgt. Preston fearlessly moved around, encouraging his men and directing such a stream of fire on the foe that the entire southwestern portion of the friendly perimeter was denied to them. For approximately three hours, he remained at his post until all but two of his men were killed or wounded. Although injured, he refused to be evacuated until his weapon was in a new position and firing again. Sgt. Preston's heroism reflects great credit on himself and the military service."

Mr. and Mrs. Alford Wiley of Warren received late Tuesday night a telephone call from the west coast, that their son, Sgt. George Wiley 21, had arrived there on rotation of troops from Korea. Drawing a 30-day furlough he will visit one day with friends in Santa Cruz, Calif., and then leave by plane for the East, where he will be guest a short time of his brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. George Beers at Cranberry Lake, N. J., before returning to his home here. Sgt. Wiley has seen service since March 1951, in Korea, with the 802d Engineers, A. Aviation Battalion. Enlisting shortly after graduation in 1949, from Warren High School he received training at Fort Dix, N. J., Fort Belvoir, Va. and Fort Bragg, N. C., before being sent overseas to Okinawa in July 1950, from Camp Stoneham, Calif.

John E. Mills, age 19, Beechwood street, Thomaston enlisted in the U. S. Air Force with rank of Pvt. He was sworn in on Jan. 24, 1952 and will report to Sampson Air Force Base, N. Y., as his initial assignment. Pvt. Mills is the son of Mr. and Mrs. George B. Mills. His parents live at Thomaston. He is a graduate of Thomaston High School class of 1951.

Friends wishing to write to Fred Korpinen may do so at his new address which is: Pvt. Fred Korpinen, RA 11226976, Co. C, 49th Abn. Eng. Bn., 101st Abn. Div., Camp Breckinridge, Kentucky.

Cpl. Edward Maxey has returned to Camp Gordon, N. J. after spending a furlough at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Maxey.

The address of Pfc. Francis Gay son of Mrs. Mary B. Gay of Rockland is: Pfc. Francis Gay, RA 11226760, 599th Comp. Serv. Co., APO 987, P. M., Seattle, Wash.

Old Dan could talk some Indian, but he wasn't up on Indian adjectives when used collectively. Calling to a native who was among his helpers he asked what "koo-cit-nug-em" meant.

"Ugh! koo-cit-nug-em mean plenty fish, no can catch," replied the native.

Whereupon old Dan reached into a rockpile and withdrew a jug of brandy, and grasping the fisherman's line he "sozzled" the bait several times into the jug, afterwards giving the fisherman himself a big "hooker."

Shoving his canoe away from the bank, the Indian smacked his lips and slowly lowered his line over the side.

At once he had a fierce strike. The water swarmed with salmon and trout and as he brought the first one in over the side of his canoe four others followed the bait out and dropped in beside him.

To keep from having his canoe swamped he tore the bait from the hook and threw it among the ravenous fish.

Now Dan Barrett shouted from the shore "What say you now, Indian?" to which the smiling fisherman yelled back "Me-run-ti-cook," which from that day became its name.

Koo-cit-nug-em is Megunticook in reverse. (Believe it or not.)

WHAT ABOUT MacARTHUR?

What is behind the MacArthur situation, so far as the presidential primaries are concerned? The doughty General of the Army has declared most emphatically that he is not a candidate, and has ordered the withdrawal of his name from certain primary contests. But here comes a despatch from Oakland, Wisconsin, stating that Gen. Wainwright has agreed to run as a favorite son candidate in the April 1st contest, and would turn over any of his delegates to MacArthur.

DISAPPEARING GEMS

New York reports another $100,000 jewelry burglary. Paraphrasing, uneasy rests the bosom on which valuable gems repose.

SEEMS TO MEAN BUSINESS

The decision of Congress to investigate the investigator will probably suit everybody except Attorney General McGrath. The committee is strictly limiting that investigation to "specific allegations and complaints based upon credible evidence," and not on mere rumor and suspicion. Which is as it should be, and which is also provided with sufficient working material. For the public benefit, and the ends of justice, it is to be sincerely hoped that there will be no white-wash bucket.

IN HIS VEST POCKET

When President Truman withdrew his name from the New Hampshire primaries it was probably with no fear as to the general result. He is apparently satisfied that he can win the nomination simply by turning his hand. In fact he says so in words which mean the same thing.

SHOULD WORRY, HIMSELF

Michael DiSalle, who steps down as the Nation's price chief to run for U. S. Senator in Ohio is worried for fear that Senator Taft could not carry his own State if nominated by the Republicans. And it is quite possible that DiSalle may be worrying lest he, too, may not be able to carry Ohio.

THE SALES TAX REVENUE

Well, half a year has passed since the sales tax began operation, and it has brought $6,400,000 into a hungry treasury. Christmas activities boosted the December returns to the point where they exceeded by more than $165,000 the previous high monthly collections.

BOYNTON AGAIN CHAIRMAN

The re-election of George Boynton as chairman of the Knox County Commissioners is a fitting tribute to a man who has made a fine reputation as a member of that organization. The board as a whole is one of the best which has ever served the county.

THE FIRES OF EGYPT

Sunday's uneasy calm over Cairo, after the fierce rioting and burnings of the day before, suggests at least that the government is beginning to accept responsibility for maintaining order and protecting the lives and property of the populace. It has been a disgraceful episode, undoubtedly sparked by terrorists and fed by the inflamed passions of misled youths but at the bottom of it all is a stand of the Egyptian government that has flouted every concept of prudent statecraft and international law. A rupture of diplomatic relations with Britain, if this is not forestalled by a timely change in government, would entail consequences even more serious and of longer range than these wild and irresponsible outbursts.

The slope down which Egypt is descending is the more tragic because a way had been opened for this country to take its place among the controlling powers of the Middle East, on a basis of perfect equality, with every legitimate aspiration satisfied. Egypt last Autumn was offered partnership with Great Britain, France, the United States and Turkey in a Middle East defensive system, and within such an arrangement the problem of Suez, besides many others, could have become soluble. But the jealousies of a new independence were too strong to permit such a course; nationalism, which can be a liberating and ennobling force, led merely to a stupid negative and an indefensible treaty abrogation. It has since led, step by step, to the dangerous situation of today.

Great Britain is evidently reacting with decisiveness and a clear realization that the Suez Canal cannot be jeopardized. The garrison in the canal zone is being reinforced; naval forces deployed, and provisions are being made to protect the thousands of British subjects in Egypt, if the government can not or does not do so. The role of the United States remains that of a moderating force. But there can be no question of where its interests and its obligations lie. The stability of the Eastern Mediterranean, the security of the Suez are international in scope. This country stands back of Great Britain while it acts in this area as the instrument and the guardian of the Western cause.—Herald Tribune.

Cpl. Walter E. Calderwood, son of Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Calderwood, Union, recently arrived in Japan from Korea with the 1st Cavalry Division. The division, now assigned to security duty on Hokkaido, Japan's northernmost island, was the second U. S. division to enter the Korean fighting, making an unopposed amphibious landing at Pohang-dong in July 1950. The unit participated in the sea-saw battles across the Nakdong river and following the Inchon invasion in September 1950, linked up with the 7th Infantry Division to climax a spectacular northern drive.

Calderwood, 22, a mechanic in the 7th Cavalry Regiment, Medical Company, arrived in Korea Aug. 30, 1951 and wears the Combat Medical Badge and the Korean Service Ribbon with one campaign star. He was formerly employed by the International Harvester, Rockland, Maine.

THE FUR WILL FLY

When the Pride Of the Coast Meets the Pride Of the Country

The small school battle of the year is scheduled for next week when the pride of the coast, Rockport, tangles with the pride of the cow country, Union. The game is scheduled for next Friday at Rockland, but due to the fact that Rockland is playing Cony in the Community Building that night, it will probably be shifted either to Thursday or Saturday.

Rockport won handily in the first clash between the two eastern Bulwer League powers, but don't let that fool you. Union is vastly improved since then and it is unlikely that the victory margin of either the boys or girls games will be more than five points either way. The Rockport Whizz Kids took the Union girls by 48-30 in the first meeting and the Rockport boys won by 58-39.

From observation I would say that both Union teams are 20 points stronger then they were on that occasion and both Rockport crews will have to go all out. Union's girls carry a 9-1 record into the game and it is 10-1 for the Whizz Kids who also have a tie with Camden to their credit.

A win for the Rockport teams assures them the division championships and a loss means a play-off. A trip to the small school tourney is also riding on this one for the boys as an added incentive and the fur will fly in large batches all evening.

Saturday Shorts—Chubby Ryder of Camden, ace baseball and basketball player on Mustangs team for four years, will sign with the Washington Senators soon. He recently finished at the baseball school run by that time, and which they invited him to attend; his good showing there won him the proffered contract. They will place him with a fast industrial league team first and later send him to one of their farm clubs. He will play second base.

A play-off appears certain in the K-L between Boothbay and Lincoln, neither of whom are likely to lose in remaining games; each plays Camden at home, while Lincoln goes to Waldoboro and Boothbay to Thomaston. At this point Boothbay is the definite favorite as they have a height advantage.

They are talking of having an independent baseball team in Thomaston this Summer which is a fantastic idea, since the Clippers barely made money last year playing in a league—the Union girls want to play Camden's Crimson Tide in the first half of a projected twin bill dedicating Union's new gym sometime in late February—Floyd Johnson showing much improvement with the Rockland Tigers, and speaking of the Tigers, I forgot their game with Houlton Saturday night in Thursday's predictions so will pick Houlton now by 53-46—with a 2-2 Tuesday record the batting average swooned to .811.

Johnny Cavanaugh, former Rockport High basketball ace and Alec Knight who formerly managed that team, will leave for the Air Force next week. Johnny Mills of Thomaston, doesn't like the silver wing department too well, he claims they have to get up too early.

Doc Biggers brings his Greenville team to play the Mustangs at Jennie Chute and Theresa Chute attended the Waldoboro Woman's Club meeting Tuesday afternoon and were the hostesses. Mr. Leonard Bidwell of West Waldoboro showed interesting moving pictures of Nantucket, Cape Cod and also of this community.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Chute were in Rockland Sunday to visit Mrs. Chute's sister, Mrs. Herman Winchenbaugh and Rev. Winchenbaugh.

Mrs. Ralph Cunningham and children of Jefferson were Saturday guests of Mrs. Cunningham's aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Chute.

Rene Frati of Arlington, Mass., was a Sunday guest at the home of Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Waltz, Mrs. Marion McRae and Mrs. Hazel Blaney.

Camden next Wednesday. The Lakers furnished the surprise of Eastern Maine last week when they edged well regarded Milo 54-53—I was glad to have the point system explained by Bill Macomber the other night but the rest of what he had to say was old stuff. It was all in this space last Fall. The brutal truth is that there is no justification for basketball tournaments other than the fact that they finance other school activities which otherwise would be impossible.

Macomber's 1928 basketball team could probably beat the present day Tigers by 40 points and the baseball team would take the current Tigers by 15 runs any day in the week; that was the year Jim Flanagan pitched and won five games in 11 days—the Warren Tigers have lost Bobby Watts, Morgan Barbour, Dick Stone, Ted Cluckey and Charlie Dolham to the service but still are the team to beat with a pitching staff of Jim Halligan, George Bosser, Foster Robinson, Wayne Havenner and Home Run Hall.

The Has Beens continued their domination of the Women's Bowling League last week as they lengthened their lead over the Gutter Gussies. Standings:

The Weather

(as of Friday)

A cold spell which produced a realistic sample of sub-zero weather, quickly moderated into a State of decency, and traveling conditions kept pace with it. Tomorrow (Saturday) is Candelmas Day and you can tell the weather by it just as faithfully as you can by the almanac. "Two Winters this year" says the Old Farmer for early February. Quite likely we have had one already.

A well baby clinic will be held Monday afternoon at the District Nursing Association Rooms from 2 to 4. Dr. Frank Kibbe will be in attendance. Immunizations for whooping cough, diphtheria and tetanus will be given.

Lamont's Barber Shop closed Mondays beginning Feb. 4. 15-17

Remember this date! Thursday February 21. It is the day the Rockland Lions Club is holding their Charity Food — Rummage — and Auction Sale at the Community Building. If you have anything around your place you do not want, cannot use, please bring "it" to the Community Building and Bud Sprowl will be pleased to accept your donation for this worthy cause. 15-17

Manager Field Brings Information Concerning Social Security

A representative of the Social Security Administration field office in Augusta will be at the Rockland Post Office Building, Production and Marketing Administration, every Monday from 12:30 to 2 p. m. His next visit will be Monday, Feb. 4.

Residents of Rockland or near-by towns who wish to make application for Old-Age and Survivors Insurance, obtain Social Security cards, or get information are invited to call upon this representative.

Benefits are not paid automatically; an application must be filed. George M. Field, Manager of the Augusta office stated. When an individual dies, who has worked in employment covered by the Social Security Act, the family should notify the Social Security Office. Field stated. When a person reaches age 65, whether or not he intends to retire, he should learn about his rights under the Old-Age and Survivors Insurance Program.

Daughters of St. Bernards will meet in the church hall Tuesday, Feb. 5 at 7:30 p. m. Rosary before the meeting.

New members of the Rockland Chamber of Commerce are Day's Inc. and Frederick Newcombe of the insurance firm of Clarence F. Joy.

CARD OF THANKS
Sincere thanks to the different Orders in Union for the gifts and cards that they have sent to me. A token from Home means a great deal to the boys in Service. Thanks.

Memorial Service

North Haven Baptist Church Will Honor Memory Of the Four Chaplains

The North Haven Baptist Church will observe with other Churches of our Country, a Memorial Service for the four Chaplains who gave their lives for their Country in the Second World War, going down with the torpedoed US transport, Dorchester. They gave their life belts to enlisted men. The American Legion and the Legion Auxiliary will attend the service in a body. Rev. George R. Merriam announces.

The national commander, Donald R. Wilson, has called upon the 17,333 posts of The American Legion and the 14,000 Units of the American Legion Auxiliary, representing a combined membership of almost 4,000,000 to take the initiative in a mighty and continuing rededication of faith in God, a program urging church attendance every Sunday and prayer for divine guidance every night. Sunday commemorates the 9th anniversary of the fateful day on which the immortal "Four Chaplains" gave their lives when the Dorchester was torpedoed in the North Atlantic.

At the 33rd National Convention at Miami a resolution was passed calling for the recognition of this historic and inspiring event by observing this date, or the Sunday immediately preceding or following it, as "Go to Church Sunday" throughout our nation and encouraging and urging our people to attend the church of their choice and pray to God to hasten the day of enduring peace.

He urges the Chaplain and Commander of every Legion Post and the Chaplain and Commander of every Auxiliary Unit to make every effort to arrange appropriate services in the churches of their community on the designated date. "I hope these services will be the beginning of a continuing movement of church attendance every Sunday and prayer to God every day."

The North Haven Legion commander is Arthur M. Patrick and the Chaplain, James K. Oldroyd. The president of the Legion Auxiliary is Mrs. Kenneth Gillis and the chaplain is Mrs. Lewis S. Burgess. There will be a place for everyone and it is hoped that many will attend this Memorial Service.

Lions At Camden

Camden-Rockport Club Is Again Represented In Korea

Camden-Rockport Lions Club is again represented in Korea, Lion Alton Small having that honor. The latest letter received by the club is dated from Japan, Jan. 5th, but letters are from Korea within a week later. Lion Alton reports a pleasant Christmas in Japan although his thoughts were in Camden. He was pleased about Jim's homecoming (Jimmy Johnson) and read about it in the Camden Herald. Wishes to thank all who sent him Christmas cards and wants to be remembered to all his friends.

He concludes "we are expecting a move very soon, when or where I can't tell you, but I'll tell you it isn't back to San Francisco as much as I wish it were. I want to extend to all members of the club a very happy New Year and with God willing I'll be back in active status by November."

Incidentally there are at least four Camden boys in Korea at the moment. Besides Alton, Buck Hastings, Jr., Francis Eaton and Dick Ames are reported in that war-torn land.

Lion Norm Fuller from Orlando, Florida says "come on down!"

Lion Jim Johnson and Dandylion Peg have the sympathy of their friends due to the misfortune of their young son Philip, who broke his leg in a fall at their home on Knowlton street last week. Philip, with both legs in a traction, and not yet two years old, is a wonderful patient.

Lion Bill Chater is convalescing at his home after his return from Knox Hospital.

A note from Bun LaBarge now in Norfolk, Va., states he is teaching the 7th grade there.

Greater individual interest and activity in government was the theme of an address delivered by Leroy T. Snowdon, Executive Secretary of the Maine Petroleum Industries Committee, Augusta, at the meeting Tuesday night. Mr. Snowdon's remarks were illustrated by a slide film entitled "It's Your Business," which explained the actual operation of the Maine Legislature and the part which individual citizens, through group action, can play in its deliberations. It is our responsibility as citizens not only to vote intelligently but determining the qualifications of candidates for office. The combination of an awakened electorate and an informed legislature will give us what we all want good government.

The Unity Lions Club, which is sponsored by the Belfast Lions, will hold its charter night Sunday Feb. 4. Lions wishing to attend see club secretary Roy Morang. Dick Thomas was initiated into the Camden-Rockport Lions Club. His sponsor was Bob Waterman. The Lions were sorry to hear of the death of Lion Bill Kelley's mother.

WOULD RETAIN COUNTY FORM

Senator Cross Makes An Emphatic Statement To Knox County Sheriffs

"The county form of government should be retained in the State of Maine; any effort to amend it should be constructive and in the line of better efficiency and public relations."

Supplementing this declaration at a meeting of the Knox County Sheriff's Association in Rockland last night, Senator Burton M. Cross of Augusta, president of the Maine Senate and candidate for the nomination as Governor on the Republican ticket in June, said:

"The county system and town meetings are the very heart of our system in Maine. Local enforcement officials close to the people are the final guarantee of our freedom. Centralization of government is not the answer in Maine due primarily to our many rural counties and small towns."

Senator Cross agreed that the present county system is not perfect. There are changes that might be made that would be beneficial both to the State as a whole and to the officials of the county.

"More and more is the tendency developing to toss responsibility into the laps of the higher levels of government," said Senator Cross. "There are those who are continually urging that Maine has outgrown its county system, that many of the duties performed under the present plan could be better handled at the State level."

"I cannot agree with this attitude. To any one who has examined the situation carefully, it is evident that the great majority of county officials are performing their duties in an efficient manner. Law enforcement and the probation system seem to be the special points of attack. To place these under State control would neither make for economy nor efficiency. County or some other political division would have to be set up for administration and personnel would be required to man these points with the result that no actual gain could be made. All county offices, commissioners, clerks, register of deeds and probate are, as noted, for the most part efficient individuals. If poor administration exists it is not basically the fault of the position, but the holder of the office and that is in the hands of the voter directly."

Senator Cross urged that when the Legislative Research Committee meets with the representatives of the different counties as they shortly will that both sides thoroughly and dispassionately discuss all the problems that present themselves and attempt to find a solution. It is certain some way can be found, for instance, of removing the friction that seems to exist between the county enforcement officers and the State Police.

Amendment to the present laws to spell out specifically the "chain of command" in law enforcement should be carefully considered, as there is no question of the duplication of the effort which now exists in this field. An around-the-table attitude to work out common problems is a must if we hope to see the citizen protected by proper law enforcement. Co-operation between the agency, local, county and State is the solution."

"Any change in the present set-up would tend to bring about centralization of Government at the State level," said Senator Cross. "This must not be. We must see to it that local government is continued and that the people as a whole may retain their responsibility of electing officials and by their own votes determine who shall and who shall not administer the laws in their respective counties. Centralized government cannot efficiently administer the affairs of the State's political subdivisions. The local form of government can maintain a closer oversight of all local affairs. The county form of government has stood the test of years. Let's re-examine it, bring it up to date if necessary, but let's stick to those principles that have been the foundation upon which Maine has prospered."

Henry Larson was a resident of Vinalhaven for many years, died on Jan. 24 in Flushing, Long Island after a prolonged illness of several years.

Moving to Flushing, Long Island, in 1944, he and Mrs. Larson have made their home with their daughter, Helene and daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Olaf Johnson. During this period of extended ill health, he was given devoted care to make his latter years as pleasant and comfortable as possible.

Mr. Larson was born in Sweden in 1877 and came to the United States when he was a young man. Most of his life was spent in Vinalhaven where he was employed by the granite industry. He is survived by his widow, four daughters, Mrs. Axel Schlander, Mrs. Olaf Johnson, Mrs. Arthur Melin and Miss Helene Larson; one son, Henry Larson of Sweden, and two granddaughters, Ann and Helen Melin.

Funeral services were held at the Hallett Homestead Funeral Home in Flushing, Long Island on Sunday, Jan. 27, with interment in the family plot at Flushing Cemetery.

Mr. and Mrs. Milton Haskell of Deer Isle have been visiting his sister and brother-in-law Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Turner.

Mrs. Robert Joyce has returned home from Bar Harbor Hospital with her new baby, Laverne Nanette.

Mrs. Maurice Sprague is a patient at Bar Harbor Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Colbeth are the proud parents of a baby girl.

Ralph Closson of Southwest Harbor visited Miss Rose Sprague over the week-end.

FARM AND GRANGE NEWS OF INTEREST IN KNOX AND LINCOLN COUNTIES

SOIL CONSERVATION NOTES

$2,575 In Prize Money Offered Boys and Girls For Essays On "Conservation Farming For Abundant Living"

Roy Gross

The National Grange and the American Plant Food Council are sponsoring an essay contest for 1952 on the subject of "Conservation Farming for Abundant Living."

The contest closes on March 31, and any person who will not have reached their 21st birthday by that date is eligible. In addition to six national cash prize awards of $1,000 for first $500 for second; $400 for third; and $300 for fourth, fifth and sixth prizes, there will be three state awards of $100, $50 and $25 for first, second and third prizes respectively.

Length of essays shall be not more than 800 words and the kind of essay prepared on "Conservation Farming for Abundant Living" is entirely up to each entrant.

The conservation and wise use of our soils are essential to abundant living and the economic well-being of our nation. Therefore, the sponsoring organizations urge that consideration be given to the practical application of the subject to the soils of the community, present and future.

Further details of the rules of the contest can be obtained from the nearest Grange or from the Soil Conservation Service technician in the county. Soil Conservationist in the coastal area is Roy Gross who maintains offices on the second floor of the Rockland post office, together with other government agricultural agencies.

In addition to the cash award, the six national winners will receive an all-expense paid trip to attend the annual session of the National Grange in Nov., 1952.

"The youth of our Nation will furnish the leadership so essential to a productive and profitable agriculture," say the Grange and Council, the sponsors of the contest. Our objectives are to stimulate new, intensive thought and aggressive action (1) looking toward a continuation and improvement of means and methods, emphasizing maximum economical production, while, (2) at the same time stressing the conservation of our natural resources. "In meeting our objectives, we believe our contestants will find the key to more abundant living."

County Agent's Corner

Dear Farmer:

It won't be long until planting time is here again. I've received a dozen seed catalogues (not including duplications) and they are each exhorting us to buy this or that. I would like, again, to emphasize the importance of several points in picking out your seed.

The first is to plant recognized varieties. We have a booklet describing vegetable varieties which should be a help. It tells which ones to plant for canning, freezing, or home storage. The booklet also tells the length of time for this variety to grow in Maine. One variety of corn might take 84 days to mature in one state, might never mature in another. A melon might ripen in Florida but not here.

Don't be afraid to buy the best seed you can get. A dollar spent here may mean a hundred or more at the end of the season.

Buy treated seed. Your germination and plant vigor will be much better. If you have a choice between treated or untreated seed, always obtain the treated seed.

Sincerely,

Gil Jaeger,
County Agent.

Wentworth To Start Series Of Meetings First Week In March For Industry

More than a thousand persons attended the meetings on blueberries held last winter, reports Ralph C. Wentworth of Hope, district blueberry agent, in his annual report to the Maine Extension Service.

Plans are now in progress for another series of meetings which will start the first week in March.

Readers in Knox, Lincoln and Waldo Counties will see announcements of these meetings later in The Courier-Gazette.

Bob Umberger

Bob Umberger, 30, graduate in forestry from the University of Maine this year, has been assigned to the Knox-Lincoln area as the State forester. He took up his duties Friday and will work out of the County Agent's office.

A native of Salem, Ohio, he was stationed at Dow Field in Bangor during the war. As men will, he met a girl, married and settled down in Bangor after the war. Four years at the University of Maine led to his graduation and assignment here as State forester.

He will be available in the future to aid farmers in woodland planning and general forestry problems.

a new furnace and oil burner. The Home and Community Welfare Committee has raised money toward this project and a donation was received from Mr. and Mrs. John Poland.

Meenahga Grange

A regular meeting of Meenahga Grange was held on Monday night with the overseer, Ronald Kennedy, presiding. It was necessary to cancel the plans for holding Past Officers night and special program because of the unfavorable weather and driving conditions, which prevented most of the guests, as well as several of the regular officers, from being present.

A skit by Mr. and Mrs. Richard Barker and Bernard Merry of Hunkton Hill Grange was the feature of the program, arranged by Shirley Bagley.

Glenwood Sukeforth was reported ill. Cards may be sent.

Announcement that the bowling team is now in first place was made by Captain George Soule, Jr.

Future Farmers and Future Homemakers Night will be held next week. Mr. Andrews of the high school faculty will show movies.

Goodwill Grange

The members of Goodwill Grange, South Warren were taken on a mystery ride at the close of the Thursday night meeting which led them to the home of the Lecturer Rachel Raatikainen in Cushman where an excellent lunch was enjoyed by the 35 members present.

A pie sale was held at the close of the Jan. 31 meeting. Proceeds went to the Pollo Drive.

Pleasant Valley Grange

Visitors were present at the Jan. 22 meeting from Wessaweskeag, Millbridge, St. George and Goodwill.

The lecturer's program opened with a prayer by Bernice Hatch. The opening song was "Darling I Am Growing Old," which was followed by a poem by Ruth Thompson.

A feature of the program was a piano solo by Nellie Saunders who was also the composer.

The subject "Do you think it right for parents to choose the vocation of their children?" was discussed at roll call.

Scotch folk songs were presented by Eva Mair, followed by a talk by Crett Robinson and a solo by Barbara Young. Master Clarence Dorman gave a reading which was followed by a quartette comprised of Eva Mair, Clarence Dorman, Orett Robinson and Herbert Richardson.

Limerock Valley Pomona

Limerock Valley Pomona will meet Saturday, Feb. 9 at St. George. J. Herbert Gould of Camden will give the Response and Emma Kinney of St. George the Closing Thought. They will have material on Lincoln, Washington, Valentines Day and Boy Scouts. A very interesting program is planned.

A candy sale will be held for the Lecturers Council and each member is to bring candy for the sale.

The meeting starts at 2 o'clock with St. George Grange furnishing supper at 6, all outside Granges are asked to bring sweets.

In the evening, the host lecturer will furnish a program.

Lets give St. George a big turn out and with the Master (Lillian Rackliff) who has been very sick a speedy recovery. Let our 1952 motto be "see you at Pomona."

GREEN PASTURES ESSAY CONTEST

New England Competition Open To All Boys and Girls Under 20 Years Of Age

Some enterprising Maine boy or girl may have the opportunity to attend the Eastern States Exposition at Springfield, Mass., next September, with all expenses paid and sit on the platform with the governors of the six New England States. That is the principal award in the New England Green Pastures Essay Contest. Rose Elliott, of East Corinth, chairman of the Maine Green Pasture Committee, said today.

Winner of the state contest in Maine will receive a $25 war bond, and $10 will go to the young people whose essays score second, third and fourth places.

The contest is open to all students of public, parochial or private schools in the 9th through the 12th grades. Young people not in school may compete if they are not more than 19 years of age on the closing date of the contest, April 20.

The exact titles of the essays may vary but they must be on the general subject of pastures and the production of forage for year round use on New England farms. The contest is being sponsored by the New England Green Pastures Committee of which Louis A. Zehner, of the Federal Reserve Bank of Boston, is chairman.

Purpose of the contest is to stimulate interest in greener pastures and better forage production on New England farms. Complete copies of contest rules can be obtained from the Extension Service, University of Maine, or from the county Extension office in the Rockland Post office building.

Sewing Problems and Need For Proper Lighting For Various Tasks Subject Of This Week's News From H. D. A.

Hello Homemaker:

The Hope Extension Association met Wednesday at the home of Mrs. Ellen Ludwig. Mrs. Bernice Robbins opened the meeting at 10:30 a. m.

"Best Health Buys for Your Food Dollar" was the topic presented by the H.D.A.

The Simonton Extension Association had this same topic at their meeting Friday. All participated in preparing the noon meal, serving it streamlined cafeteria style. Mrs. Alma Ulmer, Chairman, conducted the business session after the noon meal.

Home Management leaders, remember the training class on wallpapering that will be held in Rockland next Thursday at the Farnsworth Museum at 10:30 a. m. All of those taking this subject please attend.

Groups adopting the "Care of Children at Meetings" project this year are very pleased with the result, report members of the various groups as they drop in the office for a call.

Shirts For All The Family

Approximately 150 women in Knox-Lincoln have enrolled in the clothing construction schools on the "Shirts For All The Family" being conducted in groups electing these special meetings.

Let's talk about some helpful hints in general. If a homemade coat or suit is to have a professional made-to-measure look, the maker must be able to diagnose and treat any troubles that develop in fitting.

Occasionally a wrinkle or twisted seam or other fitting fault comes from careless cutting or construction, though more often the cause is some irregularity in the wearer's figure.

Before cutting the expensive material, make up a trial garment in muslin or other cheap or used cloth to check the becomingness of the pattern, and to take care of the major fitting problems. This muslin garment need not be completely finished, but when it has been fitted to the wearer, it can be ripped apart to provide a true made-to-measure pattern for the real coat or suit, with chances of saving time, trouble and good fabric.

Do all fitting with the garment right-side out. If shoulders need padding, insert pads for each fitting. Fit over the type of clothing that will be worn under the coat or suit, and be sure it is adjusted correctly on the figure—and fastened or pinned—before you start fitting.

You Need Light To Work

Did you know that as you walk through house or yard you need only enough light to move freely and safely. It takes twice as much light to eat a meal comfortably, find a tool in the shop, or for children to play actively. For pressing a blouse, combing hair at a mirror, leafing through a magazine or tightening a bolt in the shop, the light need again doubles.

Many times as much light as for safe walking is demanded for kitchen work, ordinary sewing, reading, studying, shaving or repairing machinery. And the most light of all is needed for fine needlework, sewing dark material with match ing thread, or reading fine print.

A local man gave his wife a lecture on economy and as a result has had to give up smoking.

New Years' eve celebrators found that the night clubs had what it takes to take what they had.

Mrs. Ralph W. Crawford

Katherine Elizabeth Crawford of Thomaston, wife of Ralph W. Crawford, died Saturday morning Jan. 26, in Union, where she had been a patient for a few days, her health having been failing for several months.

She was born in Thomaston May 26, 1884, the daughter of Edward and Sarah (Boardman) Seavey, and the grand-daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Boardman, who adopted her as a baby following the death of her mother. She spent her early girlhood in Thomaston and attended the schools here, then for a few years she lived in Woonsocket, R. I., with her aunt, Mrs. A. I. Babb.

Following her marriage to Mr. Crawford, Oct. 26, 1909, they made their home in Thomaston. She was a Past Chief of Mayflower Temple, Pythian Sisters. She was also a charter member of Weymouth Grange, and it was at her suggestion that this Grange was named for Captain Weymouth of early Georges River history.

Always she loved music, and her singing voice is cherished in memory.

She is survived by her husband, a sister, Miss Margaret Seavey of Boston, a half-sister, Mrs. Alton Grover of this town, an aunt, Miss Mary Boardman of Boston, and several cousins.

The funeral service Tuesday afternoon in the Davis Funeral Home was very largely attended. Rev. J. Charles MacDonald of Rockland officiated, and brought a message of comfort and Christian fortitude to the family and friends. The many beautiful flowers spoke silently of the deep affection of all who knew her. Burial was in the Village Cemetery.

Bearers were Benjamin Smalley, Rodney Jordan, Frank Lineken, and Anson Pryor.

Merrill, inquiry manager, and J. Henry Johnson, special projects manager, embark for Boston to be ready for the opening day crowds at Mechanics Hall, Saturday.

Maine will again highlight the annual Boston Sportsman's Show when the doors open Saturday noon at Mechanics' Hall to the throngs of eager sportsmen and vacationers spearheading an expected record-breaking crowd of over 200,000 for the nine-day show.

Entirely new this year, featuring both Maine's inland and coastal attractions and covering a floor space of over 100 running feet, the State of Maine exhibit will be the largest State or national exhibit at either of the two major eastern shows.

Bureau personnel on duty at the State exhibit expects that an unprecedented number of inquiries will be stimulated at this year's sports show as all available inroads of the 1952 season point to an even greater influx of visitors for Maine than the State enjoyed during a record-breaking travel business season last year.

The Boston Sportsman's Show runs from Feb. 2-10 and will be followed by the New York Show, held at Grand Central Palace Feb. 16-24. Johnson and Merrill will staff the information booth at both shows to answer inquiries from half million potential Maine Customers from this prime metropolitan market area.

HAIR-DO TO MAKE HUSBAND'S "CLUCK"

Al of Al's Hairdressing Salon
Has This To Say About Advancing Lovelier Ladies For 1952
Versatile Hairstyles Are Provocative—There Are Several Basic Types
FOR EXAMPLES:

Poodle Cut

The most exciting and talked about, Nation-Wide. At our latest Cosmetologists Convention, a lovely lady with a poodle cut, leading a poodle dog on a leash, paraded the lobby and corridors of the Hotel Statler, creating quite a sensation.

Angel Swirl Cut

Cute, gay and pert, with the mischievous look in her eyes calling for an impudent hair-do. She wears schoolgirl collars and hates to dress up. She is gamin in spirit rather than in years. Her makeup is mostly just bright lipstick—naturalness is the keynote.

The Lovely You

Quiet, subdued in manner and action, with her hair worn in a deceivingly simple coiffure achieved with painstaking artistry. Easily managed. Very popular with busy housewives and business women.

P. S. We have many new ideas from this recent convention and are proud to advance free consultation from our professional point of view, to help you make yourself more interesting and attractive.

The Engagement Of Carolyn Lindquist Announced Today At Open House

Mr. and Mrs. Robert E. Lindquist are holding open house Saturday at their Lincoln street home to announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Carolyn Lindquist, to Girard V. Foster of Centerville, Maryland. The dining room will carry out yellow and white in floral decorations with these hostesses, Mrs. Nettie Frost, Miss Charlotte Buffam, Mrs. Joseph Emery, Mrs. Horatio Cowan, Mrs. Donald Leach and Mrs. Francis Orne.

Miss Lindquist graduated from Newton, Mass., High School, attended Westbrook Junior College and received her A. B. degree from the University of Maine Friday, having majored in English.

Mr. Foster is the son of Girard Foster of Wilson, Louisiana and Mrs. William G. McAdoo of Centerville, Maryland. He graduated from St. Paul's Preparatory School in Concord, N. H., and during World War II served in the U. S. Marines. He is now a Senior at Trinity College, Hartford, Conn., and will enter the University of Maryland Medical School, Baltimore, in September.

"SCRAPBOOK FACTS"

In this, our final article on printing, we first answer the duo-question asked in last week's column, "What is 'stereotyping and electrotyping'?"

A process in which the composed type of a page is cast in one piece is called stereotyping. The object is to make re-setting of type unnecessary for subsequent editions, thus saving wear on type.

When we take a metal object such as an iron spoon and dip it into a chemical solution composed of silver we electroplate it. The iron spoon takes on a thin coating of silver over the iron which gives it the appearance of solid silver.

Electrotyping in printing is a process in which the type of page is impressed in a thin sheet of wax which is first dusted with a coating of powdered graphite and then with a coating of iron filings. The wax mold so prepared is immersed in a bath containing a solution of sulphate of copper through which passes an electric current from a dynamo. This deposits a thin film of copper on the wax mold. In a more recent process a substitution of cheaper iron for copper has been developed.

The Odds and Ends of the Congregational Church met in the church parlor Thursday night for a social evening. Mrs. Rachel Hill, Mrs. Dorothy Bird and Mrs. Inez Harden were hostesses.

Mrs. Robert Burns and Mrs. Carl Stipphen were co-hostesses Thursday at a luncheon at the home of Mrs. Burns, 485 Old County road to benefit the Ways and Means Fund of the Methebesec Club. Prizes were won by Mrs. J. A. Jameson, Mrs. Ralph Wiggins, Mrs. Albert Levensaler and Mrs. Earl McWilliams. Mrs. Jameson also won the door prize. Others present were: Mrs. Ralph Smith, Mrs. David Beach, Mrs. Arthur Haines, Mrs. H. P. Blodgett, Miss Caroline Jameson, Mrs. George Bean, Mrs. Wendell Hadlock, Mrs. George Avery, Mrs. Hector SStaples and Mrs. Frank French of Rockland and Mrs. John Kinney, St. George Road, Thomaston.

Mrs. Adelbert Clark, 17 C street place, Rockland, donated a lovely lace table cloth to the "R.N." Club to be used at the card party, which will be given Feb. 14 at the Nurses' Home. The nurses are trying to earn enough money, with this party, to complete their project, re-decorating, and remodeling the First Floor Duty Station.

Wednesday afternoon Rosalie Halligan and Barbara Whitehill, Girl Scouts, from Troop 10, came to the hospital after school to read stories to two of the little patients. Mrs. Whitehill, the Girl Scout leader, was here at the hospital, to meet the girls and help them get started with their stories.

Red Cross Home Nursing Course, with Mrs. Esther Long, R.N., as instructor, will have its first class Feb. 7, at 7:30 p. m. in the Bok Nurses' Home. Mrs. Elita Andersen is chairman of the committee to recruit the students, and also to secure the supplies needed for the classes.

Chris Naum, Sylvia Davis and Sylvia Harjula have been doing volunteer nurses' aide work in the hospital the past week. Sylvia Harjula lives in Thomaston and comes over on the bus after school every Tuesday to work from 4 p. m. to 7 p. m.

E. E. Barde, 23 Amesbury street, Rockland, brought in a supply of current magazines for patients and visitors.

The medical staff meets at 11 a. m. on Monday, Feb. 4.

Charlotte Dean, High School Senior, covered the switch board on Wednesday night for Mrs. Irene Adolphsen.

FROM MEMORY'S REALM

Here Are Some Very Old Items, But Still Having Local Interest

(By Frank A. Winslow)

Some years ago Margaret Elwell of Spruce Head contributed to The Courier-Gazette a series of interesting items clipped from Portland Transcript issues published in 1852, 1853 and 1854. The papers being treasured property at that time of Fred Batty of Two Bush Island Light Station. Because of the interest the article may have for present day readers, I am hereby republishing it.

June 22, 1853: Bangor was lighted for the first time with gas.

Jan. 8, 1853: The weather has been so warm in New York that the mosquitoes were out.

Jan. 15, 1853: There were eight ships building at Richmond, Me. June 25, 1853: A new steamer to run between Rockland and Machias is now receiving new engines in New York. She is expected to be ready about July 5, commanded by Capt. E. S. Blaisdell.

April 9, 1853: During the past two years, two million casks of lime have been sent from the kilns of Rockland.

Oct. 9, 1852: Several American ships have been rigidly searched at Havana.

Jan. 22, 1853: Shipbuilding is a great business just now. In every yard in Maine can be heard the sound of saw and hammer.

Oct. 16, 1852: Potatoes were 25 cents a bushel.

Oct. 30, 1852: The cabin of the schooner Avenger was burned out on a trip between Boston and Bangor. Capt. Lane lost a large sum of money.

Sept. 11, 1852: Rufus Porter has a flying ship nearly completed in which he plans to fly soon.

Nov. 12, 1853: Launched at Rockland last week was the Red Jacket, a splendid ship of 2400 tons—the largest ship built in Maine. Rockland is a smart place.

Nov. 12, 1853: In Camden the stories and stocks of Mrs. L. G. H. Raunson, J. C. Coombs, G. L. Folanbee, E. C. Daniels and R. McFarlan were destroyed by fire.

Dec. 17, 1853: Launched at Rockland, a barque of 462 tons called the William T. Sayward. It was built in 75 working days.

Dec. 18 1852: Lady Franklin is fitting out another expedition in search of her husband.

Feb. 4, 1854: Launched at Thomaston, built by Oliver and Williams, a brig of 250 tons called the Morris Bliss, to be commanded by Capt. Simon M. Long. (This item does not state where this man belonged. I wonder if it was Tenants Harbor. I heard my father speak of several Captain Longs.)

Feb. 25, 1854: The remarkable passage of the ship Red Jacket has put another feather in the cap of Rockland. This ship built at Rockland, made the trip from New York to Liverpool in 13 days, 1 hour, 25 minutes.

Oct. 16, 1852: Mrs. Polly Hemmingsway died in Northbridge Sept. 30, at the age of 83. She had never been but 15 miles from the home of her birth, a singular fact in these days of locomotion. (I presume the ways of traveling were by stage coach in those days.)

Jan. 28, 1854: Butter was 22 cents a pound and eggs were from 20 to 30 cents a dozen and scarce.

Deaths were: July 15, 1853, Capt. Joshua Spaulding, aged 85 years; Aug. 9, 1853, Capt. Joseph Piece of the brig Swan, aged 53, of Rockland; Oct. 25, 1853, at Rockland, Ella Augusta, infant daughter of Edward H. and Sarah C. Elwell.

March 4, 1854: Statistics showed that in the United States there had been built in the year 1853, 299 ships, 95 brigs and 681 schooners. Sloops and clippers, 394; steamers, 272, total 1711; tonnage 425,572. Of the ships 132 were built in Maine and 73 in Massachusetts.

June 5, 1852: Echoes from over the sea—Louis Napoleon is not yet Emperor. May 10 passed without his acclamation. The day however came off with great eclat with 60,000 troops in the field. The Eagles were blessed by the clergy and restored to the National Guard.

C-D Home Nursing

Knox Hospital Staff Nurse To Hold Classes Twice Weekly At Bok Home

Mrs. Etta Andersen, Red Cross home nursing director for Knox County has arranged for a Civilian Defense Home Nursing Course which will start on Feb. 7 at the Bok Nurses Home.

Classes will be held on Mondays and Thursdays and enrollment is already large. A total of 12 hours will be given in the course.

Those wishing to join the classes may contact Miss Madeline Philbrick, Director of Women's Activities in Civilian Defense.

LUCY D. WINSTON

Mrs. Lucy Dorman Winston, 75, wife of Thomas Winston, and native of Union, died in Waldo-boro, Nov. 16, at the home of her only son, Thomas Winston, Jr. Funeral services were held Nov. 19 in Rockland, and interment was made at East Union Cemetery. Mrs. Winston was born at Union, March 1, 1876, daughter of James and Lucy Bunker Dorman.

She attended Union schools, and Castine Normal School, following which she taught for a number of years before going to Pittsburg, Penn., where she was employed in a millinery establishment.

It was here she met and married Mr. Winston, and the two located in 1910 at Mechanicsburg, Pa., where they conducted a retail dry goods store. They built a home at 221 East Main St., that city, shortly after they became residents. Mrs. Winston was active in local civic affairs and was past president of the Woman's Club there. She was a member of the Mechanicsburg Presbyterian Church. Prominent in local, county, and State Democratic politics she was a candidate for secretary of Internal Affairs in the Commonwealth of that State at one time.

Following retirement from the retail dry goods business they became engaged in the manufacture of knitted baby goods in that city. On return to Maine, in 1930, they bought a home at South Hope, and Mrs. Winston worked for a hosiery firm for several years, until her health failed. The past few years they had been living at a newly-purchased home at 14 Spruce street, Rockland.

Besides her husband, and son, she leaves three sisters, Mrs. Jennie Payson, East Union, Mrs. Maynard Bowley, South Hope and Mrs. Leo Howard of Rockland, and several nieces and nephews.

Haverhill, Mary Sullivan, formerly of Vinalhaven; St. Petersburg, Emma Kennedy, formerly of Waldo-boro, 81; Sidney, Mrs. Minnie (Currier) Pettee, 60; Camden, Harriet S. Burgess, 98; Windsor, Laura Ward Fuller, formerly of Washington, 81.

I'm just a little shaver—and it's big people like you who run the world.

But I sure do wish you would think about me, 'cause I have to live in this world when I grow up.

I know it's not your fault that things are the way they are. But if you want to give me a break, you might start improving the world now.

The Church up the street can help you improve yourself. And pretty soon I'll be there too, learning the lessons I need. And the family next door, we could invite them to go with us every Sunday. And the rest of the folks in town—we can give them a sample of what we believe by treating them the way we like to be treated ourselves.

Understand . . . I don't know all the answers. But God does!

Just listen to Him—that's all I ask!

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . .

ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

STEAMBOAT YARNS of Ships and Men

John M. Richardson

J. T. Morse at Underwood's Wharf on the eve of her departure forever from Penobscot Bay waters.

(By Jay Allen)

In 1936 she ran on the same route from July 2 to Sept. 8, inclusive, according to the printed schedule. The schedule was about the same, except that the Saturday afternoon sailing from Montauk was at 6 p. m., and that from New London on Sundays and holidays was at 3:30 p. m. The same season and schedule obtained the next Summer except that she ran to the international yacht races off Newport, R. I., on Saturday, July 31, and on the following Monday. These special excursions were "strictly limited to 500 persons," according to an announcement which also stated that "meals will be served at a reasonable price and there will be dancing and other refreshments." The Saturday trip left Montauk at 3 a. m., D.S.T., in time to catch the start of the races at noon. Fare was $6. On Monday she presumably left New London at the same time, but the fare was to be only $4.

I use the word "presumably" advisedly because according to an Associated Press despatch in the Bangor Daily News for August 1, "Five hundred passengers bound home from the International Yacht Races off Newport, were stranded for nearly four hours off the tip of Long Island last night and early today when the steamer Yankee ran aground in a heavy fog. As Coast Guard cutters from New York, Boston and New London, Conn., were rushing to her aid the Yankee, a 33-year-old paddle-wheeler, freed herself, and continued on to her dock here (Montauk)." Another clipping from an unidentified source dated at Montauk, August 2, added, "She was inspected yesterday for possible damage. Employees of the ferry line said she would probably return to service today." I have no information as to whether she did make the Monday trip. Can any Courier-Gazette readers enlighten me?

On the afternoon of Saturday, May 28, the converted freight-car ferry Mandalay was bringing a load of excursionists back to New York City from Atlantic Highlands, New Jersey. It was a day of spotty but thick fog banks. While engulfed in one of these banks the Bermuda-bound Eastern Steamship Liner Acadia drove her bow fifteen feet or more into the starboard side of the Mandalay. All the 300 excursionists were safely transferred to the Acadia, but the Mandalay promptly sank, thereby creating a problem for her owners who had no spare boat for their Atlantic Highlands run. Within a day or two, however, they had chartered the Yankee, which had been acquired during the Winter by the Gotham Steamship Corporation, apparently for the Coney Island and/or Far Rockaway Summer service. Whatever the business arrangements were, the Gotham Steamship Corporation was operating here in July on a schedule that called for her to leave the Battery, New York, at 9:30 a. m., and 2:30 p. m.; leave Atlantic Highlands at 11:15 a. m., and 6:30 p. m.; and to leave Highlands, N. J., at 12:00 noon and 6:00 p. m. There was also a "moonlight showboat trip" to Atlantic Highlands at 8:30 p. m. Round trip week-day fares were 60c and 75c respectively, and 75c and 90c on Sundays and holidays. The Yankee was also available for $300 for moonlight or all day excursions, including floor show and orchestra "on any of our open dates," to such places as Rockaway Beach, Roton Point Park, Bear Mountain and Poughkeepsie. Capacity was stated as 1080, and we read further: "Fast and commodious S. S. Yankee . . . equipped with two Dance Floors, Public Address System, Refreshment Bar and Cafeteria, Modern Rest Rooms, and manned by a thoroughly efficient crew, under management of F. W. Luckemeyer who as former Assistant Gen'l Manager of the Iron Steamboat Co. has been serving charter parties in this vicinity since 1904; and whose policy still is not to make promises that cannot be fulfilled."

I have information on only one mishap that year as reported in a clipping of July 1, apparently from the New York Times. Evidently she was on her 6:30 trip back from Atlantic Highlands on Sunday, the 10th, with about 850 passengers. At 8:10 one of her paddle wheels was damaged when she was off 71st Street, Brooklyn. "The steamer was 500 feet offshore," we read, when the accident occurred. Then it drifted in the tide to 400 feet off the foot of Sixty-ninth Street and onto a mud flat, which threatened to strand the boat and her passengers for some time. A police launch, a Coast Guard cutter and the fireboat William J. Gaynor took the excursion boat in tow, however, and dragged the 780-ton vessel slowly to the dock at Sixty-ninth Street. The excursion steamer Belle Isle was tied up at this pier for the night, and "arrangements were made" for her to take the Yankee's passengers to their original destination—the Battery, at the southern tip of Manhattan Island.

On Portland Tour

Rockland Commercial Club Visited Portland High and Northeastern

The Seniors and Juniors of the Rockland High School Commercial Service Club spent Monday in Portland where they visited Portland High School and Northeastern School of Accounting. At Portland High, they were separated into three groups and taken through various class rooms.

At the business school, the courses offered were explained to them and they were given an idea of what to expect if they chose to attend. After the tours of inspection, the group went swimming at the Portland YMCA.

Those making the trip were: Marilyn Keefe, Jacky Rogers, Barbara Kaler, Mandy Tootill, Ruth Tootill, Carol Russell, Dianne Murrill, Mary Jean Glendenning, Miriam Cole, Judy Campbell.

Lee Dudley, Shirline Lord, Priscilla Skinner, Christen Naum, Nancy Hamlin, Maude Nelson, Judy Burns, Shirley Nelson, June Gardi, Helen Pinkerton, Alice Crie, Christen Roberts, Shirley Steele.

Marilyn Seavey, Gloria Bohn, Anne Ludwig, Mr. Hillgrove, Anne Reed, Betty Adams, Peggy Grispi, Carol Kent, Charlotte Dean, Alice Caven, Patricia Bisbee.

Edith Dennis, Gracie LaGrassa, Pete Surek, Chickie Valenta, Christen Gallant, Rita Provencher, Manly Hart, Patricia Achorn, Carol Elwell.

The Call To Youth

Community Worship Service At The Methodist Church Sunday Night

Christian youth and their adult leaders of Rockland will link themselves with an estimated one million youth across the nation when they respond to "The Call to United Christian Youth Action" at a Community Worship Service, Sunday, at 4 p. m. in the Methodist Church.

Taking part in the worship service will be young people chosen by the youth fellowships of the co-operating churches Dale Knight representing the host church, Methodist; Marion Cole, Universalist; Raymond Wixson, Little-

GREEN STREET SCHOOL

PERFECT ATTENDANCE

Rebecca Robertson, principal of Thomaston's Green Street School reports the following list of children who have had perfect attendance during the past nine weeks: Grades Three and Four, Mrs. Starrett: Maureen Carroll, Linda Fernald, Elonia Grafton, David Harper, Clayton Howard, Sonia Korhonen, Charles Wadsworth, Virginia Winslow.

field Baptist; John Ware, Congregational. Some of the adults who have served on the Call Committee will help to reinforce the message, with Mrs. Robert Hybels and Samuel Collins speaking on the day's theme "United! Committed! In Christ!" Ronald Thurston leading the act of dedication, and Rev. Merle Conant as pastor of the host church giving the benediction. A light supper will be served after worship.

By responding to "The Call" the Christian youth of Rockland will commit themselves to a united program of community wide action in our community. Starting this Spring they will work together on specific projects of sharing their faith with others and finding their places as Christian world citizens.

Our youth will also share in a series of national and world projects as each youth and adult leader contributes one dollar, or as much of one as he can, as a part of his commitment. These projects will include such things as a sustaining, nation-wide radio program, a ministry to youth in the armed forces, and supporting Christian youth work in countries around the world.

"The promotion of 'The Call' has had the support of an unprecedented number of church groups. Representatives from four churches have been actively promoting 'The Call' and it is expected young people from almost every Protestant church to be among those responding," stated Mrs. Hybels, chairman of the Community Call Committee.

"The Call" is sponsored nationally by the United Christian Youth Movement on behalf of 39 major Protestant denominations, 11 youth-serving agencies, and interdenominational youth councils across the country.

Everybody admits that honesty is the best policy, only a lot of folks differ as to the precise definition of the word.

SOUTH SCHOOL NEWS

COMING BACK MONDAY?

"So long, Joe—see you Monday." Sure, you take it for granted that you'll be back on the job bright and early Monday morning. Always have been—well, 'most always. There was the time on a picnic when you fell off a rock and sprained your ankle—and oh, yes, the auto accident that put your arm in a sling for a couple of weeks; but nothing really too serious.

Don't count on it! Every year 32,000 workers are killed, over 2,500,000 injured in off-the-job accidents. That's almost double the number of deaths caused by accidents on the job.

It's great to have fun. Relax and enjoy yourself over the week end, holiday or vacation. But remember—somewhere during every two-day holiday, 175 workers will be accidentally killed and 15,000 injured, many maimed for life. One of these could be you. A large part of these casualties will be caused by traffic accidents, but drownings, falls, firearms, poisons, burns and other accidents will help to swell the total.

Coming back Monday? The chances are all in your favor—if you just use plain common sense in what you do and how you do it over the week end.

Think safely on-the-job, off-the-job, always!
