Knox County Camera Club At The Fair

The display of work by members of the Knox County Camera Club of Rockland drew many interested spectators throughout the week at Union Fair. Several pictures were taken from the club's popular exhibit of last Spring and arranged for fair visitors by Elmer Barde of Rockland. Subjects ranged from marine scenes to several pictures of Union Fair of 1951 and other subjects chosen for the showing.

Wednesday Crash

Two Out Of Six In Rockland Car Injured On US 1 Near Warren-Waldoboro Line

Four persons were treated for injuries and property damage of $900 resulted in a collision between two cars on Route 1 in Warren about a mile from the Waldoboro line early Wednesday night. One car, which State Trooper Lawrence Chapman said was operated by Oredore Beaudoin of Biddeford was heading East when it collided with another operated by Mrs. Sylvia S. Snowman, 9 Rockland street, Rockland, which was going West.

Beaudoin, who was alone was treated for a cut right arm. Mrs. Snowman also was cut on the left arm and Mrs. Etta Thompson, 198 South Main street, Rockland, received lacerations of the hip and legs. Mrs. Rose Niles, 12 State street, Rockland, suffered a cut on the head. All the injured were treated by Dr. Franklin Randolph of Waldoboro.

Also riding in the Snowman car, but uninjured, were Thomas McKinney, 11 Knott street, Rockland, Mrs. Margaret Knight, 12 State street and Mrs. Helma Lammi, 67 Cedar street, Rockland.

Bowman Three Time Pulling Winner

Don Bowman of Jefferson and his prize pair of oxen with which he took first honors in the six foot six inches class with a pull of 177 feet five inches Thursday. Bowman won three first places in all in the pulling contests. In addition to the six foot six class, he took top prize in the six foot two inch class and in the five foot ten inch class for steers.

Union Fair is rolling along to its close Saturday night after what officials class as a better year than average in attendance.

Highlight of Saturday will be the appearance of Governor Frederick G. Payne, Burton Cross of Augusta, Republican gubernatorial candidate; Senator Margaret Chase Smith and Congressman Charles P. Nelson in the evening.

The party will appear on the stage before the grandstand at 7:30 with all scheduled to speak briefly.

Auto Daredevils

Following the speakers, Joie Chitwood's auto thrill drivers will repeat the show of opening night which saw a crash and hospitalization of one of the troupe of daredevils. This angle of the show the management hopes to avoid tonight.

The Waterville Legion Band will play between dashes of the racing program in the afternoon and will be on hand in the evening for the political rally.

Pulling Contests Thursday

The second day of pulling saw both oxen and horses in the pulling ring before a crowd which is reported to have been a record for the popular event. Seven events, including three classes each of oxen and steers were run off, plus one for draft horses.

A certain inmate of State Prison, says the Mentor, upon receiving a letter from his wife complaining that she couldn't find anyone to plow up the garden so she could plant potatoes, wrote her back (knowing what procedure would be followed) and told her that under no circumstances was she to get anyone to plow up the garden because he had some money and guns hidden there.

A few days later the inmate received another letter from his wife telling him that the FBI had been out and dug the garden all to pieces, and asked what to do now.

He answered her letter, saying to go ahead and plant the potatoes.—Boston Globe.

A million Summer visitors with the season; best week still to go is the proud record of the city of Portland. Mr. and Mrs. Leon Jaffe of New Jersey ranked as the "millionth" and were given a royal reception for two days.

A Rockland man saved a one-cent bridge toll in coming from Thomaston, but the experiment was costly. Crossing the river on the railroad bridge, the passage was so narrow that he got down on all-fours, and his wallet containing $700 in "notes and valuables," slipped from his pocket and went down stream.—E. A. Moore in the Press Herald, reviving memories of 75 years ago.

"Tale Twister" is the title of the new bulletin issued by the Rockland Lions Club. The breezy publication contains much information of interest to the levantine fraternity.

Signed "A Loyal Knox-Lincoln Twilight League Fan," and dated-lined Warren comes a long and critical communication. The strict policy of this newspaper is not to publish an unsigned communication. The letter will be used the moment the writer's name reaches us.

That well known and little read publication the Congressional Record occupied 35,999 pages during the last session and cost the taxpayers $3,059,915. Senators talked for 1,648 hours 10 minutes during 287 days in session. House members talked 1,162 hours 15 minutes, while in session 274 days.

John Gould's letters in the Thursday editions of the Christian Science Monitor treat largely of common form incidents, and in such manner as to invoke much amusement. His story in the current issue tells of "The Re-bottled Skunk"—a tragedy which often befalls the odoriferous critter.

Well remembered in Knox County is Howard Berry, former secretary of the Rockport YMCA, who two years ago completed 47 consecutive years of YMCA work, and who is now manager of a dry goods store in Alburgh, Vt. Howard called at The Courier-Gazette office Thursday and it was my luck that I missed my old friend! Mr. Berry was accompanied by his wife, the former Ethel Clifton of Rockland, his son James and the latter's wife. They were enroute to Alburgh after visiting the ancestral Berry home in Lamoine.

12 blue ribbons and four red. Arthur Hutchinson of Carthage won seven red ribbons and four white ribbons.

DRAGGED TO DEATH IN SEA BY CAR

Ibrook Cross' Body Found Close To Submerged Vehicle At Waterman's Beach Mid-Afternoon Thursday

Ibrook L. Cross, 70, a retired employee of the New England Telephone Company drowned Thursday afternoon at Waterman's

Beach in South Thomaston in an unusual accident.

Mr. Cross is thought to have parked his car on the beach, back to the water, while awaiting a boat to come in with lobster bait which he intended to purchase. Apparently, he got out and attempted to wedge a large rock behind the rear wheel when the car rolled back and he was caught by either a door handle or the fender and dragged into deep water with the car.

His body was found shortly after 3 p. m. floating near the Ralph Rackliffe wharf, by Peter Peppicello of Holiday Beach. His watch had stopped at 2:40 p. m.

Knox County Medical Examiner Charles North pronounced death due to accidental drowning.

Randall Hopkins of South Thomaston was the last person known to have seen Cross alive as he passed shortly after 2 p. m., and saw him sitting in the car apparently listening to the radio.

The large rock and footprints near where the car was parked led observers to believe that he had been trying to put the rock behind the wheel.

A collie dog inside the car survived even though the car was completely submerged in the water 60 feet from where it had been parked. The dog escaped through a window when the tide receded enough and swam ashore.

Mr. Cross was born in Rockland April 2, 1882 to George and Frances Sparks Cross.

Surviving are his widow, Mrs. Lella Spear Cross; one daughter, Mrs. Mary J. R. Harlow of Rockland.

C-D Leaders

Elmer E. Barde

Another of our citizens working for Knox County Civil Defense is presented today. Major Elmer E. Barde, Marine Corps, retired, is the public relations chairman of the commission.

Being married to a Rockland girl, Beatrice House, it was only natural that he should settle here after 35 years service in the Marine Corps. The inactivity of retirement did not appeal to him and he has entered many civic and community activities to which he gives his whole hearted support.

As a member of the C-D group he uses every available means to publicize the need for preparedness, such as press releases, speakers, posters, etc. He is the author and photographer of the series of weekly sketches of personalities in C-D recently carried by The Courier-Gazette.

PITCHED NO-HIT, NO-RUN

So Into Hall Of Fame Goes Jim Halligan Of the Warren Tigers

(By Bob Mayo)

Jim Halligan of Warren entered the local baseball Hall of Fame Thursday night when he twirled a no-hit no-run game to lead the Tigers to a 2-0 win over St. George. It was the first no-hitter in local circles since Johnny Dana did the trick, also against St. George, four years ago. Jim slid his fast ball past 12 strike-out victims and gave up five walks. He also drove in one of the Warren runs with one of his three hits and later scored the other.

He ran into trouble briefly in the seventh when two walks and a fielder's choice that failed. However the next batter grounded out and he fanned the third. The first Warren run came in the third when Leo Laukka singled and stole second, from where Halligan drove him in. Halligan doubled in the eighth and came around on an error and Stan Hanna's field out. Art Kinney allowed only six hits and hurled well enough to win most games. Score: St. George, 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0-0-0-1; Warren, 0 0 1 0 0 0 1 x-2-6-3.

Kinney and Smith; Halligan and Hanna.

Bob Kane, my demon Waldoboro correspondent, who covers that area like a blanket, sends along some welcome statistics on the Waldoboro Little League, which was by all odds the most successful of the three kid circuits in this area. The leading batter was Dalton Gentner, who sported a gaudy 507 average; in order behind him were Don Wren and Dick Laine at 500 each, Billy Soule 498, Roger Wilson 442, Bruce Atkinson 439, and Dana Verge at 431.

The leading pitcher was Dana Verge who fanned 78 batters in the 42 innings he worked, followed by Billy Dow who whiffed 68 in 41 frames. The leading team in batting was the Bears who belted the ball at a collective .333 clip, followed by the Tigers at .283, the Panthers at .271, and the Wildcats with .256.

Don Wren was considered the league's most valuable player by many fans; he made only four errors in 107 chances, batted .500 and pitched two consecutive one-hitters. He will move to New York State soon, where he has a brother who is baseball coach at a prep school and who has big things in mind for him. Leading prospects who return next year are Dow, Atkinson, and Bob Fish.

Ham Without Rye

In my opinion the split season of the Twilight League is foolishness. The season scarcely gets into high

Big Fight Coming

Marciano To Meet Joe Walcott In Philadelphia Sept. 23

Jersey Joe Walcott, world heavyweight champion, and undefeated challenger Rocky Marciano have signed for a 15-round title bout at Municipal Stadium, Philadelphia, Sept. 23, and promoter Herman Taylor predicted a million-dollar gate.

Herman, staging the battle in collaboration with the International Boxing Club of New York, said that estimate included proceeds from television and other rights which are under negotiation.

For this, his second title defense since he knocked out Ezzard Charles for the championship last year, the 36-year-old Walcott will receive the lion's share of the net proceeds—40 percent—while the challenger from Brockton, Mass., is cut in for 20 percent.

Ringside seats will cost $40 and other reserved seat will go for $10, $15 and $25. Tickets go on sale Sept. 1 in New York, Philadelphia, Brockton, and Providence.

Marciano who earned a title shot with his second round knockout of Harry Matthews of Seattle in Yankee Stadium last month, has expressed confidence he'll take the champion's crown in September.

If Marciano should win, the contract signed call for a re-match within 90 days with Jersey Joe and Rocky taking a 30-30 split of the gate. Both fighters deposited $5000 checks with the commission as a guarantee of their appearance and performance.

gear before one half is over. Take the case of the Warren Tigers for example. They squeaked by to the first-half flag in ten games, whereas if they played a whole season, they would certainly finish no better than fourth, as can very easily be seen by totaling the wins and losses for both halves. In addition the first half winner doesn't strain itself winning games in the second half and some Warren players have said openly that they didn't want to win in the second half. This attitude does nothing to improve the already uncertain quality of baseball as played in these parts. If they want to play post-season games why don't the first four teams play off at the end of the season the way most minor leagues do?

There appears to be some question if the scheduled first practice of Rockland High football aspirants will take place next Tuesday as stated. With all other mass activities banned it will be strange indeed if this goes on, Rockland opens with Bucksport there Sept. 13.

He doesn't get so many headlines doing it but Waldoboro's Don Bowman also handles a yoke of oxen as well as he pitches. He grabbed three first prizes at Union Fair Thursday. Incidentally, the late Ben Houser called Bowman the only really natural hitter he ever saw come out of Maine.

A spy in Rockport reports that a six-footer plus will enroll at the High School this year, which is expected to strengthen the hoop changes of the Goose River gang. They expect to be loaded.

Tod Gibson just joined the faculty of Washington Academy where Win Kenoyer took the job of Principal. He will also coach basketball.

Among other athletics who recently kissed freedom good bye are Camden's Beryl Leach and Kip Burkett who said "I do" to a couple of sweet young things.

Lefty Crabtree, the 16 year old Hope boy who currently twirls for the Camden team, appears to be the pitching find of the year.

Jim Mayo just called to say that the date of the Thomaston-Rockland game has not been set for next Tuesday as stated by Rockland. According to him no date has been set.

POLLY TICKS

The conventions are all over. And the candidates declared. Now comes the slinging of mud and all grievances are bared.

The Democrats are lusty. As they holler in the mike. And all are shouting in accord. Then can, "Get the hide of Ike!"

The Democrats once wanted Ike. And promised him their aid. If he would ride their donkey. And lead off their parade!

Yes, Democrats were after Ike—Sent Miss Democrat to vamp. But, after he refused them. He is rated as a tramp!

At the convention in Chicago. It was, "Geeek and ye shall find." It was "Addie" that was chosen—Ten others left behind!

They will solve all local problems. And talk of Foreign aid. And brag about the 20 years Of Prosperity that they made.

The budget was never balanced. But it would be you could bet—It was promised for the next year. But they haven't done it yet!

Truman brags about his record—Says it was of the best. But his total six years of spending Exceeds that of all the rest!

The Democrats are "honkey donkey." Addie satisfies them all. But, "Addie" and friend, "Sparky" May take a tumble in the Fall!

If we expect to win this contest. We must allay the voters' fears. And show them, all and sundry. We, at last, are dry behind the ears.

A DIAMOND ANNIVERSARY

While the annual family reunions in Knox County have somewhat decreased in numbers many clans still cling to the good, old custom, and notable among them is the Ingraham Family which has just celebrated its diamond anniversary, as completely and interestingly told in another column by its faithful secretary, Mrs. Mabel Rollins. Seventy-five gatherings! What interesting memories they recall.

"GOING ON IN NEW YORK"

Among the many interesting departments which appear daily in the New York Herald Tribune, especially valuable to visitors in the metropolis is the one which is titled "Going On In New York." The Thursday's edition, however, was abbreviated to just six items. It is reasonable to suppose that there were other events in the big burg.

MEN DIE WHILE TALK GOES ON

United States battle casualties in Korea have reached the impressive total of 115,373, including 20,286 deaths. Young men in the flush of manhood, who will never come back. And still the battle of useless words, useless bickering, still goes on.

HAVE MET DIFFICULTIES

The North Atlantic Treaty Organization assures its members that the rearmament goals for 1952 will be reached, with "perhaps a few minor adjustments." Officials admit that they have encountered difficulties in the attempt to have in Western Europe by the end of this year 50 divisions "in appropriate conditions of combat readiness on a D-plus-thirty basis. But they agreed the reasons for the defense build-up remain unchanged and declared there could be no slackening in the NATO defense effort.

QUINTUPLETS IN BRAZIL

The world once more is informed that quintuplets have been born—this time in Sao Paulo, Brazil, which, by the way, is the former home of a Rockland man, Harold L. Karl. The infants were born in the overcrowded home of a poor workman. Will all of them live to achieve the remarkable record made by the Dionne Quintuplets of Calender, Canada, now hale and hearty in their 18th year?

THEY HAD RATHER DIE

What to do with the Korean prisoners who are unwilling to go back to Communism, and almost certain death is one of the stumbling blocks in the way of an armistice. These prisoners say they had rather die than live under Communism again. And President Truman says that the United Nations cannot return them.

Harlow Brown has returned after a visit with his son, through the Summer months, at Methuen, Mass.

Pvt. Joe Robbins and wife, the former recently stationed at Indian Gap, Pa., were in town for several days, returning Friday. They will be in Kansas, where he will receive training as an intelligence officer.

Mr. and Mrs. Malcolm Joselyn of Waterbury, Vt., and four daughters, were recent guests of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lullie Barker.

Guest Speaker and Special Services
The People's Methodist Church had as their preacher on Aug. 17, Rev. Henry S. Hitchcock of Ware, Mass. His sermon topic was "What Do You Think?"

The Rev. Hitchcock, assisted by Rev. Baxter, the pastor, and John L. Howard, lay leader, conducted the baptismal service for his granddaughter, Mariellen Ruth Baxter. The baby wore a christening gown made by her grandmother Hitchcock and a shawl that was worn by her great-grandmother, Mrs. Mary Perry, who is going on 90. Dr. and Mrs. H. P. Hitchcock of Birmingham, Ala., stood as Mariellen's godparents.

Immediately following the infant baptism, Mr. Baxter held the regular service for adult baptism. Miss Faye Imogene Robbins received the sacrament of baptism. Miss Robbins is the organist of People's Methodist Church.

Family Reunion
Rev. and Mrs. John A. Baxter had the pleasure of a family reunion last Sunday, Aug. 17, at their home in Union. Mr. Baxter's parents, Prof. and Mrs. Edward J. Colgan of Waterville, Mrs. Baxter's father, Rev. Henry S. Hitchcock of Ware, Mass., her brother, Dr. H. Perry Hitchcock, his wife and infant son, Malcolm of Birmingham, Ala., were present. Dr. and Mrs. Hitchcock have been house guests during the past week, while vacationing in New England. Rev. Hitchcock arrived from Ware on Saturday to conduct the baptismal service for his new granddaughter, Mariellen Ruth Baxter. The Colgans were present for the services and to attend the family reunion held in the parsonage.

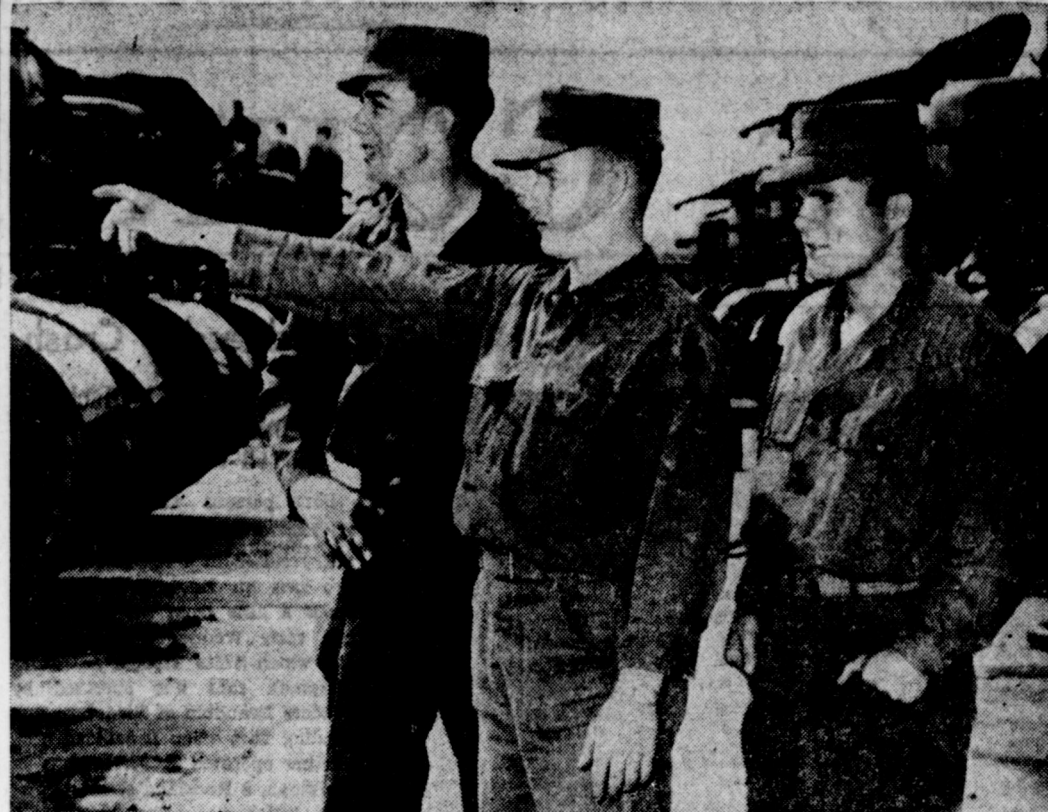

The Hitchcocks left for Ware Tuesday morning. Dr. and Mrs. Hitchcock will return to Birmingham after attending a class reunion at Tufts Dental School in Boston on Saturday.

SMALL FRY HAD FUN AT UNION TOO

Youngsters and merry-go-rounds just go together and this little girl, who was too shy to even give her name, got an early start on the whirling ponies Wednesday. A wide range of rides are offered small fry at the fair which runs through until late tonight.

Warren Soldier Serving In Germany

Three Maine soldiers look over tanks in the motor pool of the 628th Tank Battalion at Leipzig, Germany. The battalion is part of the 28th Infantry Division which is bolstering the NATO defense force in Europe. From left: Corporal Roger L. Elkins, son of Mr. and Mrs. M. S. Bragg, Route 1, Corinna; Private First Class Frank E. Overlock, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Overlock, Warren, and husband of Mrs. Anne Overlock, Union; and Private First Class Peter J. Cameron, Jr., whose parents live in Wilton.

Pvt. Walter L. Hupper, whose wife, Lillian, lives in Port Clyde, is now training with the 24th Infantry in Japan. Private Hupper entered the Army in February and arrived in Japan in July of this year.

The following men applied for enlistment at Bath USA and USAF Recruiting station, enlisting during the past week in the US Air Force—with initial assignment at Sampson AFB, New York.

A/B David N. Murphy, age 18, Appleton, son of Simon D. Murphy of Spruce Head, Maine, and Mrs. Ruby R. Chaples of Appleton, Maine. Airman Murphy graduated in 1952 from Appleton High School.

Pvt. Lawrence C. Nystrom, age 17, 51 Tilton avenue, Rockland, son of John C. Nystrom of Thomaston, Maine, and Mrs. Anneta B. Wall of Massachusetts, Amherst, Mass.

A/B Richard S. Lord, age 19, 25 Linden street, Rockland enlisted in the US Air Force on August 11 1952 and was sent to Sampson AFB, New York, for his initial training.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ronald G. Lord of Rockland, and the husband of the former Miss Ruth Curtis of Thomaston, Maine. Airman Lord attended Rockland High School. His brother, Donald, is also in the US Air Force.

Pvt. Edwards H. Gibbs, Belfast, is now serving on the western Korean front with the 2nd Infantry Division. His unit recently captured "Old Baldy" mountain, northwest of Chorwon, to climax one of the bitterest see-saw battles of the Korean war. Private Gibbs is assigned as a rifleman with the division. He formerly served as a rifleman in Willedeken, Germany.

Younger Draftees

Selective Service Will Dip Into 20-Year-Old Class In October

Maine's October draft quota of 420 men will dip into the 20-year-old group for the first time, the State deputy director of Selective Service said.

Capt. Paul Merrick said the draft pool still includes some men of 21 and a few 22 whose deferments have expired and have not been renewed.

Draft headquarters is ordering re-examination of 100 to 110 men in the 4-F classification each month, Merrick said, and finding about 25 fit for service. Some student deferments are expiring and not being renewed, he said, adding a few more to the eligible group in the 21-year-old bracket and older. Merrick said national headquarters instructed the States not to draft anyone in October who has not reached 20.

The September call was for 219 men, with 265 being sent to induction stations to offset any failures or inability to report.

Maine was asked for about 200 more in October to help meet a national call for 47,000 men for Army induction. County allocations have not been completed, Merrick said.

Ike's Better Half

Gen. Eisenhower's Wife Is Making a Splendid Political Assistant

Mamie Eisenhower, who has had to change her clothes up to five times a day in her new role of a presidential candidate's wife, said it was worth it because "I'm in this thing to win. I'm doing everything I can and so are a lot of other people."

The attractive Mrs. Eisenhower has met such a heavy schedule of personal appearances since her husband became the Republican standard bearer that she has often found it necessary to change clothes five times a day. In addition, she has been answering up to 100 letters a day, but she doesn't mind the grind.

"I'm actually enjoying this campaign," she confided, "all I can

A POLITICAL EMERGENCY

Showing What Is Done In Case a Candidate Dies Before Election

A grim thought but practical: What happens if one of the presidential or vice presidential candidates dies before election day next November?

No presidential candidate of either major party has died before election. One vice presidential candidate died just before election, and another declined the nomination and had to be replaced. The two parties' plans for such an event are similar but not identical.

While the delegates to the Democratic National Convention every four years name the party's two candidates, just before closing they take out insurance by voting to continue a rule adopted long ago.

The rule says that if either of the candidates dies before election day the Democratic National Committee will pick some one in his place. This committee—106 men and women from the States and territories—runs the party between conventions.

The Republican convention delegates, after making their presidential and vice presidential choices every four years, vote to have a replacement made this way if death overtakes one of their candidates:

1. Their Republican National Committee can do it. It has 138 men and women members from the states and territories.

2. Or this committee can call another National Convention, if it wants to and if there is time to do so before election day.

Suppose anything happened now to Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower or Senator Richard M. Nixon. Would the committee call for another convention? It seems unlikely. The time between now and election day is too short for all the arrangements necessary before a convention can even start. So the committee would make the replacement.

But the committee members, most or all of them, would probably want instructions from their states or territories on how to vote. This might cause a bit of a mess.

Neither party has made provision for instruction of committee members by their State organizations. They'd have to work this out by themselves.

Dashes Rained Out Friday Scheduled For Today At Union Fair Meeting

Rain forced cancellation of the races at Union Fair Friday with the result that officials have decided to run off the dashes scheduled for yesterday this afternoon. Post time will be 1.30.

The events this afternoon will bring to a close what has been described as one of the best race meetings ever to be held at the Union race track.

Late OPS Rulings

Small Manufacturing Plants Exempted From Price Control

Sales and deliveries by Maine's numerous builders of small boats and canoes were suspended from price controls in an amendment effective Aug. 15, 1952, the Maine OPS has announced. The suspension order (AMEDT 24 to GORP) affects motor boats, rowboats, sailboats, canoes and other marine craft 65 feet and less. The repair and conversion service charges of such craft are still under price control, according to Leo J. Cormier of the Maine OPS Services Branch.

OPS has authorized operators of eating and drinking places who have been selling bottled soft drinks for on-premises drinking for five cents, to increase their ceiling price to six cents, if they also have a six cents a bottle ceiling for off-premise sales.

Several hundred small manufacturing plants in Maine, doing less than $25,000 business annually, have been exempted from price control. Manufacturers of such items as hand and garden tools, cutlery, wooden-ware, can openers, brooms, brushes, jewelry, notions, cabinet work, toys, certain sports equipment and numerous other items made in small or part-time establishments.

Manufacturers uncertain of their status under the change, may oblige the Maine district office in Portland.

OPS officials pointed out that the exemption does not apply to producers of saw logs, pulpwood, wooden mine materials, ties, poles, piling and related forest products. Further study is being given to the question of exempting these and other forest products.

The picture above looks down on the fair grounds from the south with the track in the foreground and the midway, exhibition hall and pulling ring beyond. A bulletin received from M & R Laboratories in Ohio gives some interesting facts regarding "Incorrect Poliomyelitis Diagnosis Common." A relatively high incidence (28.9%) of revise diagnosis in patients suspected of having acute poliomyelitis has recently been reported by Katherine E. Dawson, M. D., and her associates, of the Philadelphia Hospital for Contagious Diseases. Dr. Dawson has found that in a 10 year study, 1420 patients showed symptoms suggesting acute poliomyelitis, but 409 patients were subsequently found to have another disease. Respiratory infections (114 cases); central nervous system symptoms (113 cases) and musculoskeletal diseases (77 cases) accounting for the majority of the diagnostic errors. Other diseases confused with poliomyelitis were genitourinary diseases (18 cases), gastrointestinal symptoms (17 cases), psychogenic disorders (12 cases) and diseases of the skin and allied structures (10 cases). It was felt that difficulties in differential diagnosis are frequently the result of hasty, inadequate examinations and the improper evaluation of signs and symptoms.

The Central Maine Power Company made a survey of the lighting in the Ward units and recommended that the Guth Incandescent Indirect Lights be used. A. T. Thurston has completed the work, and these lights were installed the past week. One of the same type was put in the Nursery, as well as Pediatric units.

Mrs. Shirley Phelps, ward maid, was admitted to the hospital Monday due to a severe case of ivy poisoning.

Miss Lillian Nash, R. N., director State Department of Health and Welfare, visited Knox Hospital last week.

Dr. Priest, from the State Department of Health and Welfare, was here Friday to check the operating and delivery room flooring.

land; and a son, Robert Cross also of Rockland. Also surviving him are two sisters, Mrs. Bertha Walsh and Mrs. Etta Parker both of Cambridge, Mass., and two brothers George Cross of Thomaston and Harry Cross of Boston. Also two grandchildren.

Funeral services will be held from the Russell Funeral Home at 2 o'clock Sunday afternoon with Rev. Merle Conant of the Pratt Memorial Methodist Church officiating. Burial will be in the family lot in Seaview cemetery.

North End Protest

Carlton Ripley Enters a Protest Against Lime Dust "Nuisance"

Editor of The Courier-Gazette:— For a long period of time, the northern end of Main street, and parts of Camden street, in Rockland, has been covered with a heavy coat of white lime dust, and no action has been started that would take care of this menace.

This dust seeps into houses in this neighborhood, in greater volumes than the cement plant ever did, at its worst. If a person leaves his car, for any length of time around this section of the city, it will turn white. Some days, it is so bad that you can even taste it, and it gets all through your clothes and hair. Aren't taxpayers in this section of the city, entitled to a little consideration?

The lime trucks are allowed to drive through the streets, without any covering over their loads of lime and coal.

I wouldn't want to see the Lime Company close down, because this dust problem had to be taken care of, because Rockland needs all the industry it has and more too. It seems as though it could be taken care of without bringing financial ruin to the Lime Corporation. Couldn't the city fathers get together with the Lime Corporation and try to work something out? Many thanks for publishing this letter. Carlton H. Ripley.

the Bingham Associates Fund, to attend the "Diet Workshop" at the Community General Hospital, Fort Fairfield on Aug. 21. Miss Connor is to take part in the program and will discuss "Special Diets in the Hospital."

Mrs. Frances Martel, general duty nurse, began her vacation from Maternity department Sunday the 17th. Mrs. Della Lowell, R. N., is covering for the two weeks period.

The Crippled Children's clinic was held in the Bok Nurses Home Aug. 21 with Dr. Ella Langer in charge.

Miss Sarah Maker, bookkeeper, left Aug. 18 to spend her vacation period at her home in Spruce Head.

Miss Vittrice Carlin, collector, fell while leaving the hospital following work, on Wednesday afternoon. Miss Carlin was bruised, but X-rays showed no bones broken.

FARM AND GRANGE NEWS OF INTEREST IN KNOX AND LINCOLN COUNTIES

4-H's Playing Prominent Part In Union Fair This Year

Youngsters came out with some really fine beef and dairy animals during 4-H Day Thursday. Above at the left is Lincoln Hawes, 10, son of Mr. and Mrs. Schuyler Hawes of Union who won a blue ribbon with his one year old Jersey heifer, Rose. With him and showing their Hereford bulls are, center, Craig Walker, 10, with his six month old polled Hereford bull. At the right is John Walker, also with a six month Hereford bull. The two brothers are sons of Dr. and Mrs. Arnold Walker of the Walker Hereford Farm in Union. John's animal won first prize in the beef class over four months and under one year. Craig was third in the same class.

The 4-H section of the exhibition hall drew much attention during the fair as people studied the results of the many projects in which 4-H boys and girls participated over the past year. The displays ranged from dresses and aprons and other sewing and needlework projects to canned food, gardening, cooking and woodworking. The photo above shows approximately one-half of the extensive display which was arranged under the direction of Mrs. Loana Shibles, K-L 4-H agent. 4-H projects extended into beef and dairy cattle and sheep as well with the youngsters taking part in the judging competition on 4-H Day which was Thursday.

Owl's Head Grange

Owl's Head Grange will hold its first regular meeting of the Fall on Tuesday August 26 at the Grange hall.

It is hoped that as many members will attend as possible as important business will be presented at this time.

Medomak Valley Grange

Medomak Valley Grange entertained Knox Pomona Wednesday night. Snapper was served at the close of the Grange.

Many members had the pleasure of meeting the State Master and Flora, Brother and Sister Gupitill.

A shower was held at the Grange hall Tuesday evening for Mr. and Mrs. John Childers of South Carolina, formerly Faustina Pease of this town. Many useful gifts were received. Refreshments were served.

The Grange has lost two helpful members recently, Sisters Cora Maddocks and Margaret Miller.

Mt. Pleasant Grange

Mt. Pleasant Grange will resume its meetings next Monday, after vacationing for the Summer. We hope all the members who can will come and start our Fall term off with a good attendance.

Mt. Pleasant Juvenile will not resume sessions until the first Monday after school begins.

State Deputy Earl Tolman, who has been confined to the house for eight weeks and in the Bangor Osteopathic Hospital for nine days, is able to be out around a little each day.

Evening Star Grange

Evening Star Grange met in regular session Monday night, with a fair attendance. Under new business, plans were made for doing repair work on hall in the near future.

Discussed and decided on date for Grange Fair, which will be held on Sept. 27. The master appointed a committee for same.

After closing of Grange, members were invited to Grange dining room for refreshments and where a surprise birthday party had been arranged for Mrs. Clara Overlock, whose birthday happened to be the 18th.

A birthday poem, composed and read by the lecturer, announced the event and a beautiful birthday cake, which had been made by Mrs. Della Moore, was presented Sister Overlock, who cut and served it to each member present.

Sister Overlock joined the order at an early age at Medomak Valley Grange in Burketville and after marriage became a member of Evening Star Grange. She has always, until the death of her husband in 1947, been active in Grange work, filled nearly all Grange officers' chairs, also served as lecturer, chaplain, and as secretary of the Grange for several years in the early 1900's.

She is a Seventh Degree member of the order and has a Golden Sheaf Certificate for more than 50 years' consecutive membership.

It was a real pleasure to be honored by a group made up of many third generation members, whom she had seen join the order and carry on the work during the past 50 years, taking the plans of the "oldsters" who had "built wisely and well" to keep Evening Star Grange a prosperous Grange and a credit to the community and town in which they lived, she commented.

Dear Farmer:
Poultrymen should start thinking of a winter rat control program. Rats will be invading poultry houses, starting in the middle of September.

Orchardists can look for places to bait for mice while they are picking their apple crop. Watch for places with apples on the ground or a considerable amount of grass. Mice will head for these places.

A recent news release stated that the common army worm does not over-winter in Maine. Actually it is the Fall army worm that does not over-winter in Maine but the common army worm does; therefore the common army worm which has attacked some of our pastures and corn this Summer can be controlled by such cultural methods as plowing under the corn thoroughly in the Fall.

The Norwegian and Netherlands students have completed their work on farms and are now in the county offices. Janke Van Wijland, Inga Steindal, Jan Tiecken, Bouwina Dethmers and Peter Van De Voort are working with the federal, state and private agencies in and around the county.

Many thanks to those who have had them to their farms—the Keenes, Chapmans, Hoppers, Kigels, Spears, and Haves.

Peter Van DeVoort was in Cumberland County. Carl Aartun will be back September 2 from a tour of the mid-West.

Borer Damage
Preventative Steps Urged By Experts To Prevent Spread and Losses

The European corn borer is causing thousands of dollars damage to the Maine corn crop, according to scientists at the Maine Agricultural Experiment Station at Orono. The borers are more abundant this year than they have been for several years, says John Hawkins, associate entomologist.

As high as 75 percent of the corn plants have been found infested in some parts of the state. In Central Maine, 25 to 30 percent infestations are not uncommon.

Hawkins urges immediate action by farmers and gardeners to prevent further damage, since destroying the borers now may help prevent a disastrous infestation next year.

Use of 5 percent DDT or Ryanex dust will control them. Three to five applications five days apart are necessary. Corn dusted with DDT cannot be fed to livestock, however, since the DDT collects in the milk and is consumed by humans.

Eggs of second generation are now being laid and are hatching in York County. Consequently, those having late corn about to tassle should watch their corn for evidence of the pin hole feeding in leaves, in the whorl, and center of the corn plant, the entomologist said. Then consult the County Extension agent, he advised.

The European corn borer winters as a larva in the corn stalks left in the field after harvest. For good control the stalks should be plowed and disced under or burned.

Nothing ages a person so fast as repeating the follies of youth—trying to appear young.

HOME DEMONSTRATION AGENT NOTES

Extension Booths At Fair Showed the Public Accomplishments Of Women In Group Projects Over Year

Dear Homemaker:

Have you seen the very attractive Extension group exhibits at Union Fair? Many favorable comments and praises of the work by the groups could be overheard as spectators passed by the booths. A bit about them for you, that haven't seen them.

The Warren Extension group won first prize with their Warren Hat Shop exhibit. The background for the hats was typical of a hat shop; with a wallpapered room effect and soft rose drapes, around a mirror and table lending a "Shop Atmosphere" to the booth. Hats of different styles and materials were attractively displayed. This has been a project of the group this year, with a member leader. Fifty members out of a membership of 56 participated in this exhibit.

Second honors were won by the Waldoboro Extension group. Their exhibit was "Stenciling" on wood and tin.

Their trays and other articles, painted black with their gold stencil designs of various patterns, were attractively displayed against a white background. This has been a popular project with this group. Twenty members out of a membership of 21 participated in this exhibit.

Winners of third honors went to Simonton Corner Extension group with their display on "Shirts For the Family." This had an eye catching appeal with its life like posters of members of the family proudly wearing the shirt made by mother who is a member of the local Extension Association.

This was an extra project for the group this year, besides their regular scheduled meetings. Mrs. Elizabeth Simonton, clothing leader of their group, conducted these extra meetings.

Another group exhibiting and its theme was: Owl's Head Extension group exhibiting lamp shades. Another interesting booth displaying a particular project that had been popular with their group. Steps of "how to do it" were explained, so one could easily see how the interesting lampshades, made by the group was achieved. Mrs. Edna Wotton, past chairman of this group, was their leader on this project.

North Union exhibited "Refuge Feeding." Diagrams and posters illustrated the work Extension groups have been doing in co-operation with Civil Defense on the "Emergency Feeding" phase this year.

South Waldoboro Extension group exhibited "Shirts for all the Family."

One could see some of the steps involved in shirtmaking by a shirt in the process of being made, that was on exhibit. Shirts made by members were arranged about the booth also. This was an extra project for this Extension group too.

Mrs. Evilo Bain clothing leader, conducted these classes assisted by Mrs. Gladys Patrick, county clothing leader.

Camden Extension group exhibited "Toy Making." Many a longing glance could be noted by children passing this booth with all its things from Toyland.

The Rockport-Rockland Extension group exhibited "Hats and Bags." These hats and bags made from crepe paper are very attractive in their pastel colors, as could be seen by those on display. Ms. Margaret Maker was their local leader conducting this meeting for their group.

Congratulations to all of you for the very fine exhibits. Serving as judges were Miss Ruth McBride, Miss Lucille Nason and Mrs. Samuel Collins, Jr.

Have you seen the revolving tray that turns on ball bearings for your refrigerator? The tray is approximately 15 inches in diameter, unbreakable and rust and moisture proof. It holds 20 to 30 items of average size. It saves you from reaching for jars and cans very handy kitchen gadget.

For your file recipe using left over meat:

Forestry Facts
Quarterly Publication Now To Be Issued Bi-Monthly

"Forestry Facts," the Maine Extension Service forestry newsletter, is now being mailed to farmers, woodlot owners, and industry men in Maine by the county agents, reports Lewis P. Bissell, Extension forestry specialist of the University of Maine. Beginning with this issue of the mimeographed publication, "Forestry Facts" will be sent out every other month rather than every three months, as in the past several years.

News items, market reports, new bulletins, and timely forestry information are covered in "Forestry Facts."

The August issue includes a report of the forest fire situation, with a plea by Austin Wilkins, deputy forest commissioner, for persons to stay out of the woods as long as the fire danger lasts.

ACP Practices

Final Date Set For Orders Conservation Materials

Oct. 15 is the final date for accepting orders for conservation materials to be used in carrying out soil-building practices under the 1952 Agricultural Conservation Program.

Lawrence A. Chatto, executive officer of the State Production and Marketing Administration Committee, made this announcement today.

Chatto said farmers enrolled in the 1952 ACP have until Dec. 31 to complete their conservation practices approved under this year's program, including the use of furnished conservation materials.

Chatto urged farmers to place their requests for ground limestone, superphosphate, or O-14-14 fertilizer well before the Oct. 15 deadline, to permit delivery this Fall.

He said an increasing number of farmers consider Fall application of fertilizing materials especially effective for pasture and hayland improvement.

Fall liming has long been advocated by agronomists as the preferred time of application, Chatto added.

Showers Benefited
A Statement Of Present Day Crop Conditions—Canning Begins

The Maine sweet corn canning season will begin officially late this week, according to a State Department of Agriculture report.

The Maine Department of Agriculture, in a crop condition report, said that heavy showers in some localities indicate corn yields substantially better than were expected two weeks ago, when it was estimated that one-third of the crop in central Maine had been so lost by drought damage. "Show-growers in the dryer areas may be scattered, however, that individual gain very substantial losses," the department said.

Farm correspondents of the department's crop condition reporting service at Corinna, Farmington, Fryeburg and Turner, this week end reported corn in fair condition. A report from Livermore Falls called it poor and one from the Knox County area said it was in good condition and would benefit from recent heavy showers.

Two inspectors from the Maine Department of Agriculture are being sent this week to Vermont and New Hampshire areas where they will inspect corn to be processed by Maine packers.

The squash crop was also expected to benefit from recent rains. Harvesting of snap beans in central Maine has been prolonged by rain, which is also aiding the later dry bean crop, the department said.

Reports from farmer correspondents over the week end in general, indicated dry conditions, except in certain favored areas. Among localities reporting extremely dry conditions were Livermore Falls, Corinna, Farmington and several potato belt towns from Patten to Caribou.

Harvesting of oats has begun in Mars Hill and Patten in the north and in Fryeburg in southern Maine.

It's Good Advice

"Operation Roadwatch" Is Meant For Children's Safety

The Maine State Police Division of Traffic and Safety is issuing an earnest plea to all motorists to enroll in "Operation Roadwatch." The operation will go into effect early in September.

At specific times each day, Monday through Friday, between 10.00 and 180.00 youngsters will be traveling back and forth from school on Main streets and highways. They will be walking, running, playing, riding bicycles, riding in private vehicles or buses. Group excitement will be running high among them. Because they are young and inexperienced, they will often forget to be careful.

"Operation Roadwatch" is an attempt to reduce the toll of death and injury to children in traffic. Enrollment in the activity is based upon one requirement: that drivers pledge themselves to exercise great care and more vigilance than ever.

Accidental death and injury, always tragic, seem more pointless and wasteful when children are the victims. These children lack the judgment of maturity. Energetic and unpredictable, their presence in or near traffic is always a hazard and demands ceaseless caution on the part of the motorist.

"Do your best to keep these youngsters alive and well," urge the Maine State Police. "Join Operation Roadwatch."

Federal Budget

Is Four Billions Less Than President Truman Had Guesseed

President Truman has revised his 1953 budget and reported to the nation that the Federal deficit for the current fiscal year ending June 30 will be $10,300,000,000. This is $4,100,000,000 less than he estimated in his Jan. 21 budget message, but $6,300,000,000 above the actual deficit for the last fiscal year.

In a statement reviewing his 1953 budget—that for the current year—Mr. Truman said Federal income will be $23,000,000,000 less than he estimated in January, while Federal spending will be $6,400,000,000 below the January figures.

The spending slash is due largely to a Congress which started slicing away at the Presidential budget before it was formerly submitted, and which carried through on its threat. But, the President warned tonight, he probably will be back asking for more money.

The President's January budget was $14,500,000,000 more than the spending for the fiscal year which ended June 30 and $43,300,000,000 above the level of the fiscal year 1950, the last preceding pre-Korean war year. It was the third largest budget submitted in the nation's history, being exceeded only by two World War II combat years.

Even as it was submitted, Democrats as well as Republicans criticized it harshly, and one, Senator George D. Ga., chairman of the Senate Finance Committee, predicted on Jan. 21 that it would be cut by from "five to seven billions." It was cut, by $6,000,000,000.

Tonight, Mr. Truman said almost 85 percent of estimated receipts for the current year will come from direct taxes on corporations and individuals. However, he said, direct corporation taxes are expected to yield $24,800,000,000, a drop of $3,000,000,000 from his January estimate.

LOUISIANA SUPPORT

Louisiana Democrats voted today to put Gov. Adlai Stevenson under the Traditional "Rooster" emblem on the party ballot but refused to recommend him to the voters.

The State Democratic Central Committee also rejected five sections of the national party platform including those on civil rights, tide lands oil and the aid and assistance program.

What They Say About the New Hudson Safety Feature

An exclusive Hudson safety feature that enjoys high popularity with Hudson owners are the anti-slip jack pads built into the four corners of Hudson's Monobilt body-and-frame.

The pads, or sockets are of hardened steel and welded directly to the frame at points most convenient for jack use. This eliminates any guess-work as to the proper placing of the jack for wheel changing.

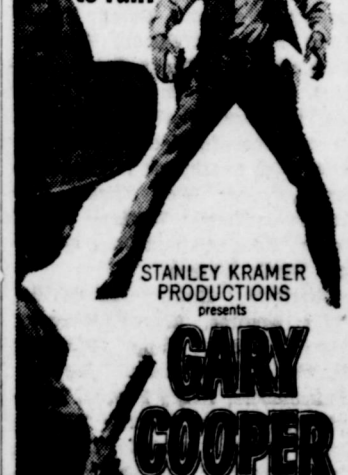

Easily accessible from both front and rear, the jack pads provide a secure grip for the jack lifting arm, preventing any possible shifting or slipping as the jack is raised or lowered.

The unique jack pad system was developed by Hudson engineers as part of the continuing program to offer greater safety and convenience to Hudson owners.

Sees An Armistice

But Gen. Harrison Doesn't Know When Agreement
Will Be Reached

Maj. Gen. William Harrison, senior U. N. Command armistice delegate said yesterday he thought "an armistice is possible but I haven't the faintest idea when."

He made the observation at a news conference shortly after U. N. and Communist negotiators traded acid words for an hour at Panmunjom ad made "no visible progress" toward settlement of the true-blocking issue of prisoner exchange.

On chances of the talks to succeed, Harrison declared:

"I've thought the Communists do want an armistice. It is a matter of how, much they are willing to pay for it."

Harrison said, it was possible for Reds to accept the U. N. position on prisoners. "They could give us a good cussing out and then accept our offer," he declared. "They never would have to agree with us on the principle of no forced repatriation."

Little does it profit chance-takers who attempt to save a minute and pay with their lives.

ITS DIAMOND ANNIVERSARY

The Ingraham Family Holds Its 75th Reunion At Glen Cove

The 75th annual reunion of the descendants of Job, Joseph, Josiah and Nancy Ingraham was held at Penobscot View Grange Hall, Glen Cove, Aug. 7.

This being the diamond anniversary of the yearly meetings of the Ingraham Family Association, the hoped for good attendance was realized, and there pervaded a happy anniversary atmosphere throughout the entire social, dinner, business and program hours.

Before seats were taken at the bountifully-laden tables, the family bowed in a silent grace, which was followed by the Lord's Prayer in unison. Because of the thoughtful efficiency of Oliver P. Ingraham, Rockland, chairman of arrangements committee, the noon meal was quickly and easily served.

President Coyt M. Ingraham of Knox, called the business meeting to order shortly after 2 o'clock. Following the singing of "America," Miss Carol Cash at the piano, and giving the Salute to the Flag, President Ingraham made a few introductory remarks and referred to the meeting as of unusual importance, for it was the celebration of the Diamond Anniversary of the Family Association's annual gatherings.

He recalled the excellent family characteristics such as courage, energy, industry, integrity and the desire of assisting and sharing with one another, ascribed to the English ancestors before leaving the British Isles, and paid a compliment by inferring that these traits still persisted even now and cited, by way of illustration, an incident which occurred that very day.

The chair appointed Miss Louise V. Butler, South Thomaston, Professor Edwin B. Rollins, West Somerville, Mass., and Charles A. Tolman, Portsmouth, N. H., a nominating committee to prepare a slate of officers for 1953 to suggest a place of meeting.

The secretary's minutes of the 1951 meeting were read and approved. The secretary, referring to the 75-year-old record book, gave some "high lights" of the history therein recorded and touched briefly upon the 25th anniversary and also the 50th.

A rising vote of thanks, followed by loud applause, was given to Chairman Oliver P. Ingraham, Rockland, in appreciation of arrangements made.

When President Ingraham called the roll, it was found there were present 21 of Job's descendants, two of Joseph's and one of Nancy's.

A collection of $9.70 was taken, John Ingraham telling.

Mrs. Monira Crockett Pillsbury, a descendant of Job Ingraham, through the line of Joseph Ingraham, Jr.'s (or 2ds) line, thoughtfully and generously presented the Association with the family Bible. Six generations of the family are traced on one of its leaves. A hearty vote of thanks was tendered Mrs. Pillsbury for this precious "Diamond Anniversary" gift. It will be carefully kept with other much prized family heirlooms.

At 87, Mrs. Annie Ingraham Deane of Camden, still claimed the distinction of "Senior Member" and received the annual bouquet. The youngest present was five-months old Rodney Ingraham, grandson of Vice President John W. Ingraham, both of Knox.

Those coming the longest distance were Miss Jennie Crockett, Newton, Mass., and Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Tolman, Portsmouth, N. H.

Necrologist, Mrs. Clara I. Whitcomb of Belfast, reported the following deaths: Mrs. Annie Lente Blanchard, born Oct. 25, 1884 and died March 6, 1952; Richard Herbert Ingraham, son of Richard Bartlett Ingraham and Lydia Dyer Ingraham, born in San Francisco, Feb. 4, 1870, died in January, 1952. Fond and grateful memories of Mrs. Blanchard, who had always so gladly and ably entertained us, and members, filled the minds of all who of Mr. Ingraham, one of the oldest stood as a tribute to the dear departed ones.

The nominating committee's slate was accepted and these officers elected: President, Coyt M. Ingraham; Knox; first vice president, Elden L. Vose, Thorndike; second vice president, John W. Ingraham, Knox; third vice president, Lawyer Gilford B. Butler, South Thomaston; secretary, Mrs. Mabel K. Rollins, West Somerville, Mass.; treasurer, Mrs. Marian E. Cash; historian, Mrs. Frank H. Ingraham, Rockland; committee chairmen: Arrangements, Oliver P. Ingraham, Rockland; entertainment, Miss Louise V. Butler, South Thomaston; necrology, Mrs. Clara I. Whitcomb, Belfast. Place of 1953 reunion, Penobscot View Grange Hall, Glen Cove.

Miss Louise V. Butler, assisted by Mrs. Marian E. Cash, presented a delightful, informative and varied program, consisting of piano numbers by Mrs. Dan Newman, Rockland, and Miss Carol Cash, Rockport, and clarified by Miss Cash; accordion, Miss Joan Norwood, Rockport. Mrs. Marian E. Cash, Girl Scout leader, explained scouting in general and her particular work in Rockport. Mrs. Effie I. Veazie and Mrs. Nancy I. Compton, helpers in this very worthwhile work, were there to aid and answer questions, while Carol and Joan told of scout achievements in badge work and demonstrated their accomplishments.

Appreciation was keen and applause frequent for this entertainment, and as the final notes of Kathleen Newman's last number were played, with one accord all stood while handclapping. It was then and there voted that Mrs. Newman should be made the Association's "Mistress of Music." In its history of 75 years, the family has numbered many of high musical ability among its members, but none more talented or more graciously generous with talent or time. The secretary was instructed to make mention of this act in her "Diamond Anniversary" records.

Miss Butler thanked those who had so kindly participated in the afternoon's program.

Mr. and Mrs. Harvey E. Sleeper, Winthrop, Mass., and South Thomaston, and good friends of the family, expressed pleasure and thanks for the day's pleasure.

The request was made and assent given, that before adjournment, all sing "God Be With You Till We

OUTDOOR AROUND KNOX COUNTY

By
RALPH W. TYLER

Wild mothers and their unusually courageous devotion to the little ones they bring to maturity and understanding each year is a subject I never tire of watching.

One of the mysteries in the everlasting cycle of bird life is the noteworthy ability of a mother to tell which is her own offspring among a flock of mixed families.

Picture the young of a dozen families of barn swallows sitting side by side along a stretch of telephone wire. Each one looking so much alike that "peas in a pod" can scarcely equal the similarity.

The little ones are capable of flight but prefer to eat from mothers' bill and they flit about and change places often while mother is foraging over the grass tops for some tasty insect.

One by one each mother comes to the long line of precisely alike youngsters who all clamor in the same voice for the tid-bit in her bill. She stops without hesitation in front of her own and places it tenderly in his gaping mouth without alighting and hustles off for more.

The procedure is repeated scores of times until the breakfast hour is over without a single mistake or one slighted baby.

Occasionally a noisy truck passes by and 50 little barn swallows sweep off the wire in panic and confusion to circle high over the housetops. One by one they settle back on the wire precisely the same distance apart, each facing the same direction but hopelessly "shuffled" from my point of view. I am bewildered at what the mothers will think of this new arrangement, but they are not in the least confused and the feeding goes on as before.

I can only scratch my head in wonderment and pity the poor little barn swallows if feeding them was up to me.

You know the eel is a slippery critter just about everywhere. His snakelike shape and heavy protective coat of viscous slime makes him a tough object to hold on to, but it can be done and the few of those fish-eating birds which include the eel in their daily summer diet usually overcome him and swallow him whole. I have often wondered how a live eel feels in the stomach with his ability to wiggle even after he appears dead.

The blue heron and the "shag" (comorant) consume a great many eels, especially those of a foot or less in length.

Recently near the Anderson Creek on the Keag River a shag dove and came up with an eel about a foot long. The shag had seized the eel about half way of its length.

Once on the surface the problem was to so manipulate the slippery eel so that it could be swallowed head first, a procedure generally necessary and quite simple in consuming ordinary fish. This eel was no ordinary fish however and it promptly took a turn around the shags face with its rear half.

The shag took off the eel and dove as it escaped his hold. Again he came up with the eel and through my glass it looked as if he had it near the tail.

There was considerable thrashing about but this impossible hold was brief. Another escape and another capture and the shag was holding the eel by the head.

Once surfaced it was a case of work and wait. With the head already part way down the shags throat and the tail end whipping about the shag's face he straightened his long neck and as the eel relaxed the least bit he just caused it to disappear inch by inch. It must have taken three minutes before Mr. Shag gave the final gulp in the process, which was definitely a hard way to get one's dinner.

Never in my memory have there been so many small eels in Keag River as now.

They infest my bait pond and rob my traps.

I usually remove them by grasping with a dry cloth. One sure way to stun them is to crack them sharply with a stout stick near the tip of the tail.

Now is the time to go for blackberries which grow along country roadsides and in open pastures. Such berries are not yet evenly ripe all over the vines but the large terminal fruits which hold the best flavor are just right for picking.

The elder cover and shaded area crop will be along in another two weeks. The July dry spell has had a dwarfing effect on closely crowded blackberry patches, but fruit maturing in the shade should be up to usual standards for a normal season.

Most exposed raspberry patches have long since had their fruit dry up on the vines. Shaded areas are now producing the last of the small 1952 crop.

Stepped into a store tonight and paid 64 cents for a can of salmon. Referring to a pre-war cash account the same quality and size cost me 35 cents in 1941. I started casting about with that old gripe, "the high cost of living."

Then the "little woman" who has a way of remembering things that I conveniently forget, asked me if I knew what the few salmon we caught while fishing this season cost us.

Portsmouth I started "figgering." When the cost had reached $2 per pound I laid down my pencil and quit at verbal estimate of $3.

Was I surprised some time later to read in a sporting goods magazine that the salmon caught in Maine waters in 1951 represented an average expense of $15 per pound. Wow!

There is some question if Knox County gets any stock trout for its brooks and streams this Fall. Water conditions all over the county nearly parallel those of recent dry years when Fall stocking was not approved.

Warden's reports on running water conditions directly after the close of the present season (Aug. 15) will probably govern the State Hatcheries decision to stock or not.

Unsuitable conditions in brooks and streams may mean more trout in ponds and lakes for this area and I am in hopes we may get another "shot" of mature brook trout for Alford Lake.

The usual stocking of brown trout will start around Oct. 1, I expect, and the Knox County Fish and Game Association has pressed the desire of most of the county's fishermen to continue heavy stocking in the ponds and lakes of Georges River basin and Chickawaukie Lake.

Some browns of recent Lermond Pond stockings have made their way into Alford Lake, a condition not considered desirable in view of salmon stockings there.

Lermond's is now on the inactive list until a favorable survey or definite proof of continued brown trout stocking advisability is in the hands of the Department.

Dog Eat Dog

Out in Potters Mills, Penn., Mrs. J. Roy Smith killed a 32-inch water snake which had partly swallowed a 12-inch brown trout.

Later the same year a 26-inch brown trout was caught in Jordan Creek which had a 15-inch water snake in its stomach.

REALM of MUSIC

by
Gladys S. Heistad

The Baptist Church in Damariscotta, with its noble proportions and beautiful lines, is one of Maine's finest "meeting-houses."

In the auditorium of that church on Friday night of last week the third and final offering of the first Damariscotta Concert Series took place. This had a strong local appeal since the featured artist was Philip Wentworth, young tenor, of Cleveland, Ohio, and Hope, one of our favorite singers. The audience contained many music lovers from Hope, Camden, Rockland, Thomaston and other Knox County towns, who were there out of admiration and affection for Phil, not as a clique.

When Phil sang in Camden a year ago, his voice and artistry showed a marked improvement resulting from study with Donald Johnston, a singer of note in New York and a highly successful teacher in the music section of the American Theatre Wing. So it was a little disappointing the other night to note that little or no further outstanding progress was present in either voice or artistry. However, this can be readily understood when the overall picture is reviewed.

Phil is now located in Cleveland, an entirely new ground for him, where he is employed in a television studio (Station WXEL.) In addition to "learning the ropes," which requires thought and concentrated attention, he had a show of his own through the Winter and Spring months—incidentally this show won excellent reports from TV reviewers. He has a church position, and picks up occasional engagements in night club work and in other phases of the entertainment field. He is studying, of course, and with a teacher highly recommended, yet not in the class with Don Johnston, so Phil feels. With all this—the always pressing need to earn a living—you can judge for yourself how much is at his disposal for study and practice.

This is a handicap countless gifted and ambitious young musicians labor under, where the necessity of earning their living enters in, even though they continue to struggle to get ahead in the field they have chosen. It is best not to get me started on this, as it is a subject about which I feel deeply, realizing that such talent cannot prosper at the rate it should under such conditions. Lack of money and the time element can work cruelly against progress, and often does.

Perhaps one might say that Phil is at a static point in his progress at the moment, although we are positive that he can and will go ahead given the opportunity, for he is gifted, deeply musical and a worker. He still retains that lovely tenor quality in his voice which is so distinctively his own, with its exquisitely controlled pianissimo effects and lovely line.

There are glimpses of moving legato phrasing, his diction is exceptional for its effortless clarity, and always is present great intelligence in projection. Always present, too, is his great charm and manner and personality. While these qualities are distinct assets for the recital field, we still feel that Phil's real flair is for musical comedy or operetta, for which he seems to have all the requirements, a fine voice, musicianship, good looks, charm, grace and poise.

In his program at Damariscotta his best work was done in the French group, "Extase" (Henri Duparc); "Reverie" (Reynaldo Hahn); "Dune Prison" (Reynaldo Hahn); and "Toujours" (Gabriel Faure). He possesses a peculiarly sensitive feeling for French vocal writing, presenting these songs with great beauty, in tonal quality projection and diction. Of this group "Dune Prison" was notably done, and giving effect to the song was the soft sound of bells striking the hour of nine somewhere in town which preceded the words "the bells softly ring"—it was most effective, unintentionally so.

Other outstanding numbers on the program were "Nocturne" (Pearl Curran) and "O That It Were So!" (Frank Bridge). Encores were added at the close of the program, one of which was Bartlett's lovely and moving "A Dream" which Phil sang with much beauty.

It was easy to see that the audience liked Phil and his singing tremendously. The applause was generous and spontaneous, and he was accorded a most cordial informal reception at the close of the concert.

Phil was especially fortunate in having as his accompanist Bess

Batley Gowdy of Thomaston, who stands unquestionably as one of the most accomplished pianists in this part of Maine. Her accompaniments were done with skill and understanding, and her group of solos—"Concert Study in D flat" (Liszt); "Nocturne in F sharp" (Chopin); and "The Chase" (Liszt) were greatly enjoyed. Mrs. Gowdy, too, added an encore, a tone poem entitled "Night Winds."

Mrs. Gowdy was handsomely gowned in green, in the particular shade of green which is so becoming to her blonde coloring. Edward B. Denny, Jr., who has acted as organizer and general chairman of this first concert series, spoke briefly just before intermission, expressing his gratitude for the response that had been shown in initiating the series and the success that this first attempt had elicited.

It is sincerely hoped that this concert series will become an established activity. It is a heartening thing to see the smaller towns making such an effort. There is much talent right here in the State which should be available for programs—for instance, Bowdoin College and Colby College are notably fine music departments and are always generous, I believe, in co-operating in musical undertakings. Then, too, the music clubs—the Rossini of Portland, the Rubinstein of Rockland, the Cecilia of Augusta, and so on, should have outstanding musicians to present. This first series was far from being hackneyed in its material—an orchestra for its first offering, a reader for its second and a singer for its third and final.

It was my good fortune to be in the group at the home of Ralph and Helen Wentworth in Hope last Sunday and to meet among the guests Frances Beal and Mary Lane of Columbus, Ohio, who are spending a few days in Rockland as guests of Miss Carini during a tour of Maine. Miss Beal and Miss Lane are musicians of prominence in Columbus—Miss Beal a pianist who during her studies was fortunate in having a season's study with Dame Myra Hess, in London, one of the great pianists of our age; Miss Lane, a violinist. Both Miss Beal and Miss Lane maintain studios for teaching and are active in orchestral and chamber music organizations.

I understood they were girlhood friends—in music—of Elizabeth Carini and Mrs. Wentworth and during their Rockland visit have had a very happy time renewing old ties.

Much is being written about the celebration accorded Mrs. Marian MacDowell for her 95th birthday Aug. 15—her actual birthday does not occur until Nov. 22 but her neighbors and friends just couldn't wait, for it seemed more auspicious to hold a celebration while the MacDowell Colony at Peterborough was in full swing, which of course is during the Summer months.

So on Aug. 15 not just Peterborough, but the whole State of New Hampshire paid tribute to this marvelous little lady who has so valiantly carried on the work, envisioned by her husband, the late Edward MacDowell, America's first internationally famous composer.

The MacDowell Colony was founded 45 years ago, and through the tireless efforts of Mrs. MacDowell has steadily grown financially and artistically. In this work Mrs. MacDowell has bestowed upon the State of New Hampshire and the nation one of the foremost cultural centers the world knows.

Among the speakers for the celebration were U. S. Senators Styles Bridges and Charles W. Tobey, and Blaylock Atherton, representing Gov. Sherman Adams of New Hampshire; Thornton Wilder who gave an admirable reading from his drama "Our Town"; Mrs. Ada Holding Miller, president of the National Federation of Music Clubs; Carl Carmer, president of the Edward MacDowell Association and others. After the speeches John Kirkpatrick played selections from MacDowell's music.

The final event, perhaps the most dramatic, was Mrs. MacDowell herself, who despite her great age spoke with a spontaneity, resonance, a clarity of thought and an eloquence of address for more than 20 minutes. She is in excellent health, vigorous and alert—really possessing extraordinary energy and mentality.

Marian Griswold Nevins studied piano with MacDowell in Germany and was married to him in 1884. Speaking of those early days she remarked in her speech—"In those days we lived in two small rooms, and my husband was working so hard." She said they both realized that a "creative artist needed an environment of quiet and freedom" adding that her husband found his greatest inspiration at Peterborough. She feels that the retreat is needed now more than in MacDowell's time—"Life was quieter then. Now it is so hurried and complicated, with such a multiplicity of things and demands. The artist, write and musician needs escape from it, not into isolation but into stimulation that follows from working with others in a variety of arts.

I sincerely hope that you have the Camden Men's Chorus concert on your engagement calendar—Sunday, Aug. 24, Camden Opera House, at 8:15 p. m. This promises to be perhaps the outstanding concert which this very able group under the direction of "Bob" Laite has given. Naturally great interest centers in the guest artists—Orlando Cole, cellist of the Curtis String Quartet, and Grace Lenfest, harpist, of Camden.

"Landy" Cole, in addition to being a superb artist, is a grand person and has countless friends in this area made during the Summers he and the other Quartet boys were in Rockport. And Camden has every reason to be extremely proud of Grace Lenfest. Beginning the study of the harp with the famous Carlos Salzedo at an early age, she has devoted diligent attention to it and has developed into an artist of real ability. Mr. Salzedo speaks of her accomplishment with great pride.

Keith Crockett, who has recently resigned his position as principal of the Huse Memorial School in Bath to accept the superintendency of Union 72 (Cushing, Friendship, Owl's Head, St. George and South Thomaston) is one of the "Musical Crocketts" of Rockport—my pet name for them.

We all know the notable work of his brother, Vere, has done organizing and directing school bands in this area. Now comes brother Keith of whom it was said when his Bath resignation was made known: "Mr. Crockett has stimulated interest in music in local schools for several years. He had been director of the Morse High School Band and Orchestra. Three years ago he organized and has since directed a junior orchestra.

It may be that Keith will organize some school orchestras in this section, a project that has somehow languished in late years. Anyway may we not expect heartwarming results now that the two brothers are near in location to make possible a combination of their efforts and talents?

Meet Miss Telephone Operator of 1965.

We've unanimously decided to hire her.

For she already knows one of our "musts"—that a telephone employee must be courteous. And she likes to "play telephone". That means she'll enjoy the job when it's serious business, come 1965.

She'll have spirit—the spirit of service that makes telephone operators stay in burning buildings, and linemen go up on poles during blizzards... the spirit that makes all telephone people perform willingly and quickly in any emergency.

In her long hours of training, she'll learn how to handle emergencies. First thing most people do when an emergency arises is to pick up the telephone and call for help. So telephone employees must know what to do in an emergency.

Courtesy, spirit, efficiency—she'll meet our standards. It'll be a few years before she can become another "voice with a smile"—we'll wait.

Your telephone—big in value—little in cost.
