14th The subject of difficulty was brought before the council and the witnesses produced on both sides after duly conversing the subject voted it is the judgment of this Council that the evidence is not sufficient to support on either side against the other and considering the length of time which has elapsed since the occurrences took place and the complex situation of the subject and the probability of forgetfulness from the infirmity of nature it is our advice to the Church that they require those brethren to be reconciled to each other and in as much as in the view of the Church and in the view of this Council case is not clear we think it is the duty of the parties for the honour of Christs Cause and for their happiness to bury the controversy in everlasting oblivion

Signed in behalf of the Council —

Robert Low Moderator
