Respectfully Submitted,

J. D. BAKER, N. A. NICKERSON, W. M. BAKER,
Selectmen of Orrington.

Orrington, Feb. 22, A. D. 1887.
DISTRICT No. 1.

Summer and Fall Terms.—Miss Annie C. Hamlin, Teacher. The careful examinations were supported by pleasing recitations by the older pupils. The schools appeared to have been under prudent discipline and thorough instruction, resulting in profit to all attending.

Winter term.—Miss Blanche K. Bolton, Teacher. All that could be expected was done in this short term of four weeks. The term was supplemented by a private school of five weeks under the same teacher, which commends her as an efficient worker.

DISTRICT No. 2.

Summer Term.—Miss Jennie C. Snow, Teacher. The closing visit was one week before the end of the term, and when the larger scholars were at the State Muster, so that the progress of the school was not seen; but those present did fairly well, and the general report is that it was profitable.

Winter term.—Mr. S. S. Smith, Teacher. Only thirteen scholars of the twenty-eight registered were present at the close. Fair progress was made. For some reason the school was not worked up to its willing capacity. We do not think it advisable for boys and girls to sit together in school hours, but do think it advisable, and a duty, for a teacher to appear before his class fully equipped for the lesson in hand.

DISTRICT No. 3.

Summer Term.—Miss Josie W. Buckley, Teacher. A good work was done here. The larger scholars were fresh and thorough in their studies and the school bore a very creditable examination. The instruction in Reading was unusually good.

Winter Term.—Mr. A. P. Stubbs, Teacher. The school was willing and anxious to advance, but could not overcome the extreme inertness of the teacher. His book knowledge was abundant but not energized. The fair progress made should mainly be credited to the scholars themselves.

DISTRICT No. 4.

The Summer and Fall Terms included the Grammar and Primary schools united, and were under the care of Miss Allie M. Shaw. Well organized and efficient work was done. The larger scholars appeared interested and at the closing examinations reflected great credit upon themselves and the school. It is seldom that a teacher is called upon to put forth more effort than was here demanded, but she fully met the responsibility.

Winter Term.—Grammar. Mr. S. S. DeBeck, Teacher. Only four boys and fourteen girls attended this school when there should have been twice the number. It is a grave mistake for boys to think themselves "too big to go to school."

The review was very carefully conducted by the teacher and showed systematic work in all departments of study, especially in Physiology. The discipline was exacting, and the scholars deserve credit for their attainments.

Primary.—Miss Allie M. Shaw, Teacher. This also was a very successful school. Good order prevailed and all was accomplished that could reasonably be desired by scholars and teacher. This district should feel pleasurably satisfied with its schools for the past year.

DISTRICT NO. 5.

Summer and Winter Terms—Miss Minnie L. Richardson has taught in this district the past two years with great profit to her pupils. Her quiet and persistent manner conduces to scholarly deportment and progress. The last term was especially satisfactory to your committee.

DISTRICT No. 6.

Summer and Fall Terms.—Miss Rosa E. Bowden, Teacher. These were small schools but the closing examinations very satisfactory, showing general improvement in all the studies. We think the teacher competent for a large school.

DISTRICT No. 7.

Summer Term.—Miss Nettie J. Stanley, Teacher. No preparation for examination was made by reviews or special assignments. For this reason the scholars were somewhat slow in answering and lacked that assurance of correctness they ought to have had.
The school was well governed and much useful instruction outside of the Text book given. It was a profitable term.

Fall Term.—Miss Perdita L. Chapman, Teacher. Miss Chapman took hold of her work zealously and skillfully, meeting the cordial approbation of her pupils. From report she taught a good school. We regret that want of notice deprived us of the anticipated closing visit.

Winter Term.—Mr. E. Lenfest, Teacher. Mutual satisfaction from the beginning to the close of the term was enjoyed, resulting in large profit to the school. Combined effort, under a tactician, is a powerful factor for good, when directed to that end. As in most of our schools, the girls here take the lead in all branches of study.

DISTRICT No. 8.

Winter Term.—Miss Nellie E. Chapin, Teacher. This was a term of seventeen weeks and the only school for the year. The examinations showed thoroughness and a liberal view of the principles and facts gone over, especially in Reading, Physiology, and Arithmetic. This school shows one of the cleanest Registers of the year.

DISTRICT No. 9.

Summer Term.—Miss Minnie L. Devereaux, Teacher. This was a well organized and instructed school. General, rather than specific advance was made. The oral lessons in Arithmetic and Grammar were profitable, and much enjoyed by the younger pupils.

Winter Term.—Miss Hattie E. Reed, Teacher. The classes in Physiology and Book-keeping were especially proficient, and the Algebra was well digested. The school did well under its firm discipline and aggressive instruction.

DISTRICT No. 10.

The scholars in this district attended school in No. 5.

CORNER DISTRICT.

Summer Term.—Miss Winnie J. Bragdon, Teacher. For reasons, difficult to explain in this Report, a lack of mutual interest and sympathy between scholars and teacher was early manifested in the term, which the latter could not overcome either by persuasion or discipline. After a few weeks it was thought the crisis was past and an improvement shown, but this hope gradually weakened and the term closed to the relief of all concerned.
Fall Term.—Miss Jennie C. Snow, Teacher. A fairly good school was obtained. The class in History did well; in Arithmetic and Geography quite well. The examination was conducted under the discouragement of much whispering and moving about the room.

Winter Term.—Miss Snow taught this school also; by a misunderstanding as to the time of its close, but one visit was made, and that at the beginning of the term. From reliable information obtained during the term and since its close, there was a great lack of force and discipline. The teacher was well qualified to instruct, but failed in the direction above indicated.

FREE HIGH SCHOOL.

The Corner District maintained a High School taught by Mr. J. Wyman Phillips. It proved a profitable term, and we think it much more economical to educate in this way than to send our scholars abroad. It would seem that the town can well afford to support such a school and that it should do so.

From the foregoing detailed reference to the schools it will be seen that they have been generally very successful. The partial failures have resulted wholly from the want of a just appreciation of the duties which teachers owe to the town and more immediately to their pupils. Scholars have been respectful and obedient, while some teachers have left the impression that the school room is a choice resort for physical rest from a summer’s toil. This is a poor way to piece out a subsistence or obtain a reserve.

It may be entirely useless but we cannot omit the fact that our people are very remiss in visiting the schools; especially has this been the case the past year. Rarely have more than two visitors been present at any examination, and generally not one. This ought not to be and we all acknowledge it, but still persist in our indifference. There is no influence more stimulating and elevating to our schools than the frequent presence of parents in the schoolroom.

We are glad to note the comfortable condition of the school houses in No. 4, and suggest that thorough repairs must soon be done in other districts.
