Franklin & Somerset Trainings Postponed

Both trainings have been postponed until the fall. We are hoping to build full enrollment for September 24-25 in Skowhegan and October 7-8 in Farmington. Please help spread the word and recruit new volunteers for the team! Our goal is to have registered volunteers in each Maine county who can respond to local community disasters. To encourage full registration, we are planning to schedule IS-100 & IS-700a shortly after each two-day training. Emergency Management Directors encourage the presence of disaster behavioral health in their counties and support the post training IS course offerings.

Consortium Growing Steadily

The State Disaster Behavioral Health Consortium continues to grow. Eighteen states are now members, signifying a desire to develop a stronger more unified voice with a presence in national forums. The consortium is developing a website where states can contribute resources for the use of all consortium members. The states of Pennsylvania, New York and most recently New Jersey have each held a forum to promote sharing of resources, networking and collaboration.

VOLUNTEERS NEEDED! Participate in Knox County Full Scale Drill

Disaster Behavioral Health is included in the full scale drill being planned in Knox County for October 17th. DBH volunteers will be setting up and manning the Family Assistance Center at Pen Bay Hospital as well as working in the field as needed. This will be an excellent opportunity to practice skills and put to use the training you’ve had. SAVE THE DATE! We will work collaboratively with the American Red Cross (Midcoast Chapter) volunteers who will be manning an off-site shelter and assistance center. We want to take advantage of opportunities for full-scale drill participation because the planning and number of people involved exceeds our capacity for our own drills. EMA Director Ray Sisk has included disaster behavioral health in every aspect of the planning, so let’s make a good showing! We are applying for CEU’s. The formal drill will be completed by 12:30 p.m., but plan to stay a while for the post drill review debrief and barbeque lunch. More details will follow and we will schedule a pre-exercise telephone conference to review our duties. Don’t miss out on this!
