REPORT OF SELECTMEN AND OVERSEERS OF THE POOR.

---

TO THE LEGAL VOTERS OF THE TOWN OF OLD ORCHARD :

Gentlemen :—In presenting our annual report of the financial condition of the town, we desire to call your attention to a matter which requires thoughtful consideration. The close of the year, Jan. 31, showed the town indebtedness to be $12,921.48. The larger part of this debt was incurred, as we all understand, by the extra outlay required to establish a fire department, a sewer system, to build sidewalks and light the streets. While the debt has not reached alarming proportions, its steady increase since 1890 shows plainly that unless a halt is called, it may get to be uncomfortably large in a very few years.

Shall the debt increase be checked? And if so, how?

These questions are for you to answer. "Keep within the appropriations," somebody says. This is easier said than done. There are certain town charges that must be paid, regardless of appropriations. The selectmen have no choice; they must pay them. In a summer resort town like ours, certain lines of expense are steadily increasing, very much faster than the increase of taxable property, and they must be met.

There are two ways to check the increase of our town debt; first, by an increase of taxation; second, by reducing expenses. We all agree that taxes are heavy enough already. But how and where can we begin to reduce expenses? We are satisfied that by a careful system of economy money can be saved in several of the departments. We begin with the interest department. The larger part of our town debt is here to stay. Ten thousand dollars of our debt, at least, is permanent, and instead of short time notes it should be bonded on ten or twenty years at a low rate of interest. The bonds of this town, with our present debt, would be good as gold, and could be placed at 4 per cent. without a doubt, and possibly lower. This would materially lessen the interest payments and do away with the constant care about renewals and a fluctuating money market.

Next we call attention to our sidewalks department. We have some three miles of plank walk, with quite a stretch of gravel and concrete walk. In the past seven years, since 1890, we have paid out for sidewalks, $5,983.51, an average outlay of $350 a year; for several years this has gone mainly for repairs upon this same plank walk, while repairs upon the gravel and concrete have been next to nothing. It is safe to say that our wooden sidewalks have already cost money enough, in building and repairs, to have covered the entire three miles distance with a permanent walk of concrete or even brick. In our opinion the time has arrived for retrenchment in our sidewalk expenditures. Sidewalks we must have, but let them be of some material more permanent and less expensive than wood. It would be well to replace the plank walks with gravel, or concrete or brick, by degrees, as they become unsafe for travel, and when once the substitution is completed, money will have been saved, and our streets will be safer for foot travel, and far more substantial and ornamental in appearance than they now are.

Many of our people believe that money ought to be saved in our highway expenditures. In the past seven years the town has paid for building and repairing, in round figures, $18,200, an average of $2,600 a year. This department is one about which no man can tell what a day will bring forth, in the way of extra expense. For instance, last year's appropriation was overdrawn by reason of two large items of expense, which were not known about when the appropriation was voted, namely, the collapse of Goose Fair bridge, which had to be entirely reconstructed, and the building of the new county road. No extra work of this kind is now in sight, however, and a reduction of expense in this department is in order. It remains for the tax-payers to say how much it shall be.

Our school department also demands attention. The school account for the past year stands as follows:

Paid for Common Schools,	$1,410 66
High School,	668 73
School Books,	49 69
Enlargement and repairs,	831 09
Total,	<hr/> $2,950 17

Number persons of school age,	167
Number who attend school, about	100

Leaving out of the account the $831.09 paid for the school-house enlargement, the regular school expenses for the year were $2,119.08, being an increase in the common school department of $592.34 since 1890. This gives $21.00 for every scholar who attends school. We doubt if there is a town in the State of Maine that begins to equal the town of Old Orchard in its amount of school money per scholar. The peculiar feature of this situation is that, while this rapid increase of school expenses has been going on there has been no corresponding increase of scholars. To be exact, there are but six more persons of school age in the entire town today than there were seven years ago!

While the State requires us to raise for common schools a certain amount per capita, according to the number of inhabitants, it does not require us to maintain schools of a higher grade than that of a first class grammar school.

During the past twelve years we have maintained, on the financial side, a High school at an average cost of about $700.00 a year.

With so small a pupilage as we have at Old Orchard, it may well be questioned whether a school above a first class grammar grade is desirable, especially when we remember that we are located within easy reach of Portland, Saco and Biddeford, where there are three of the largest and best equipped high schools in Maine, which offer better advantages for our scholars than we can possibly afford them.

The tuition for the small number of Old Orchard students who desire to take a full grade high school course, would cost but a very small part of what we pay yearly for our present high school. Would it not be of untold advantage to our scholars seeking high school honors, as well as a financial help to our taxpayers, to furnish them tuition free to the schools of Saco, Biddeford or even Portland? As a matter of fact, more Old Orchard scholars have graduated from the high schools of Biddeford and Saco than have graduated from our own high school, since the town was organized. Many of our scholars prefer to go to one of the out of town schools and pay their own tuition.

It would seem to be the clear duty of the school committee, in view of the present financial condition of the town, to formulate some plan whereby our school expenses may be materially reduced, and at the same time help our ambitious boys and girls to obtain better school privileges, in all the higher grades, than they now possess.

Another source of supply to the town debt are the taxes uncollected. The Treasurer's report shows the amount of taxes now remaining uncollected to be $3,375.06. The average increase, since 1890, has been about $500 a year. In a small town like ours this annually increasing deficit is no small matter; in fact it means so much a year added to the town debt, for who does not know that taxes left uncollected year after year, soon become dead, past resurrection, and must eventually be abated. The law provides that every dollar of a tax levy shall be paid in, and there can be no reasonable excuse why every tax levy should not be collected down to a very close margin within the year.

The selectmen make their expenditures and draw their orders against the appropriations; if their full face is not in the treasury, the money to make up the deficit must be borrowed, and as we have already seen, this means so much added to the town debt.

At our last annual meeting the town passed a code of by-laws from which resulted a marked improvement in the government of the town, last season. On account of an adverse decision before the Saco police court, in a complaint made by the town for violation of the carriage license act, a report has gained currency that the whole code of by-laws had been declared illegal. This is not true.

The chapter on carriage licenses is the same, word for word, that has been in force for the past six years. The action brought under it was for doing business without a license. An examination of the State law showed that it had been amended so that town by-laws, relating to carriages, must be printed in some newspaper in the county once before taking effect. This publication had not been complied with, and the action failed.

The requirement to print in a county newspaper only applies to by-laws concerning carriage licenses. It applies to no other by-law in the book. With this exception they are all in full force and effect. It is now proposed to amend this by-law about carriages, have it duly published, and then go on with an entirely legal code of by-laws.

These suggestions are submitted solely in the interests of true economy and the future welfare of the town. We trust they will be so received and acted upon. We close as we began, with the remark—if we propose to check the increase of the debt we must do one of two things—reduce expenses or increase taxation. Which shall it be?

CHIEF ENGINEER'S REPORT.

TO THE SELECTMEN OF THE TOWN OF OLD ORCHARD :

In accordance with the requirements of the town ordinance, governing the Fire Department, I respectfully submit my annual report for the year ending February 1st, 1897.

I have the melancholy duty to record the occurrence of three quite serious fires during the past year, one of which totally destroyed the Imperial Hotel, one of our oldest landmarks, and one of our most successful hotels, under the management of Mr. D. H. Swan. The fire breaking out very early in the morning, had gained such headway that the firemen could do nothing to stay the progress of the flames, although they were promptly on the scene after the alarm was given, and combined their efforts to saving the surrounding buildings.

The two other fires were, one in the Windsor block, which caught in the basement and was subdued after two hours hard fighting, with considerable loss to the lower floors of the building and the contents, mostly by water damage.

The next and last fire was an alarm from the two and one-half story house on Hotel street, owned by C. D. Blair, which was promptly responded to by the department, and although the fire had gained great headway in the interior and the flames had burst through the upper windows, the major portion of the house was saved after several hours hard work.

Too much credit cannot be given to several of our citizens as well as to the members of the fire company, who certainly did very efficient work during the several fires.

Also our thanks as citizens of Old Orchard should be extended to the fire departments of Saco and Biddeford, for their prompt response to our call for aid at the Imperial House and Windsor block fires, who by their timely assistance prevented a disastrous conflagration, which at the commencement seemed inevitable.

The total loss sustained by the three fires was as follows: on Sept. 12th, the Imperial House, $14,500.00; Sept. 30th, the Windsor block $4,750.00; residence of C. D. Blair, $1,698.00; making a total of $20,943.00.

The advantage in providing ladders for the department was very plainly shown in the Imperial House fire. By their assistance we were able to save the stable adjoining, which had caught in the roof, and also at the residence of Mr. Blair, without the ladders we should have been unable to check the flames until all the upper part of the house had been burned out, if at all. But by means of the ladders which were promptly on hand the firemen were able to carry the hose to the second story and play on the fire at short range, with good effect.

I would recommend the purchase of five hundred feet of new hose, as we have only one thousand feet that can be depended upon at present. At the two last fires we had every available foot of hose in use, and needed more badly. Some of our houses are situated so far from the hydrants that with our present supply of hose we could not reach the buildings.

We also need some small accessories, such as axes, crow-bars, lanterns, etc., and should have smoke protectors for the leading hosemen.

I would also recommend the purchase of the fifty-foot extension ladder that we have had the free use of for two years, as it can be bought very cheaply, in fact much less than one-half price.

The probable cost of the above necessary additions would be as follows:

500 feet of hose, at 45c per foot,	$225 00
One 50-foot extension ladder,	35 00
Tools and other articles,	65 00
For painting hose wagon and ladder truck,	35 00
	$360 00

I trust the members of your honorable body and the citizens of Old Orchard, will consider the absolute necessity of providing the supplies as set forth above, as the only chance we have for the prevention of excessive insurance rates on our property is the capability of the fire department.

I would state that the membership of the department is complete ; all take an active interest in keeping up the standard of efficiency of the company.

Respectfully submitted,

J. I. MACKEY,

CHIEF ENGINEER.

REPORT OF SUPERVISOR OF SCHOOLS.

---

TO THE CITIZENS OF THE TOWN OF OLD ORCHARD:

As required by law I herewith submit my report as Superintendent of Schools for this town for the current year.

By the action of the town at the last annual meeting the school board was reduced from five to three members, in consequence of which action no members were elected last year to take the places of those whose term of office had expired. J. A. Randall, J. W. Duff and W. H. H. McAllister have constituted the school board for the present year. The terms of office of J. A. Randall and J. W. Duff expire this year by limitation, and their successors will have to be chosen at the approaching election.

J. W. Duff has served the board as president, and W. H. H. McAllister as secretary ex-officio the present year. W. H. H. McAllister was elected superintendent for the year.

I refer you to the Treasurer's report for the financial condition of the school treasury. Notwithstanding the increased expenditures incurred in maintaining a new department, and the expense of transporting the scholars from the Milliken Mills neighborhood, there is a very satisfactory balance in the common school treasury.

Owing to a large falling off in the amount of aid received from the State in support of the high school, we come to the end of year with that amount slightly overdrawn. Unpaid tuition, however, will more than make good the deficiency. For both the common and the high schools larger appropriations will be needed the coming year. The estimates will be found in their proper places.

In consequence of the action of the town at the last annual meeting we now have another school room. The overcrowded condition of the primary school has been relieved, and the high school room is now used for purely high school work. Our schools are now graded in four departments—Primary, Intermediate, Grammar and High, with three classes in each department. Instruction extending through twelve years are thus provided for, with the choice of a business, a literary-scientific, or a classical course in the high school. While we are not at present organized for full college-preparatory work, we can give our scholars such a start that a year spent in some other school ought to give them the necessary preparation.

Mrs. Means, Miss Haines, and Mr. Nichols have been retained in their respective departments. The intermediate department during the fall term was in charge of Miss Shackford; it is now in charge of Miss Nichols. While the schools are doing good work in the main, we have not yet reached our ideal. It is to be hoped that the regrading of the schools will greatly increase their usefulness. After the school officers and the teachers have done their utmost, we shall still fall short of the desired success unless we can have the hearty co-operation of the parents. The way children are allowed to spend their time out of school will largely determine the benefit they receive from the school. In order to derive the highest benefit all harmful and diverting amusements should be prohibited during term time.

At the last census there were one hundred and sixty-seven children of school age, the largest number thus far in the history of the town. Of these ninety-seven attended school in the spring term and one hundred and seventeen in the fall. The average daily attendance for the spring term was eighty-one, for the fall term ninety-four. There are registered for the present term one hundred and six.

Some changes in the courses of study have been necessitated by the establishment of a new department. These have not been so far completed as to be embodied in this report, but they are being worked out practically by the several teachers under the supervision of the superintendent with the existing courses as a guide. By the close of the year it is hoped they will be ready for publication.

It enters into the plan of the revised course of study to prescribe courses of collateral reading under the supervision of the several teachers, with certain requirements which will give them a positive educating value. A few books for class use on this line have already been purchased. More will be needed as the plan develops. For more general reading nearly two hundred volumes have been secured by gift and purchase without expense to the town and put in the several schools. These are of a highly useful and entertaining character, and because they find their way into the homes, both children and parents are partakers of the benefit. The expense thus far has been met by the receipts of our school exhibition at the close of the spring term and by private benevolence. There is still an outstanding balance to be met, and any contributions to this worthy object of either money or suitable books will be thankfully received.

The faulty sanitary conditions complained of in the report of my predecessor in office have in their worst features been relieved. As soon as the town can afford the expense, there should be water closets put in the basement of the large school house. Whether this shall be done this year or at some future time, I leave for your decision under the advice of the board of health and the selectmen.

In behalf of the schools, thanking you for your generosity in the past and soliciting the same for the future that the highest good of the oncoming generation may be subserved, I respectfully submit this report for your consideration and action.

W. H. H. McALLISTER,

SUPERINTENDENT OF SCHOOLS.

REPORT OF BOARD OF HEALTH.

---

In making this our first annual report we do so with some degree of satisfaction. In taking hold of the work we found many nuisances to be removed. The health of our town is shown in the following table :

Number of deaths,	18
Contagious diseases,	4
Accidents,	1
Suicides,	1
Number of residents,	11
Number of non-residents,	7
Decrease over last year,	2
Population,	877

The above table will be of much interest not only to those residing here the year round, but to those who visit our resort, and more so to those who are looking for a healthy and desirable home. You will find by the above table that out of eighteen deaths only eleven were residents, five were sick when they came here ; one accident and one suicide cuts down the actual number of deaths by sickness to sixteen ; seven non-residents from the sixteen leaves only eleven deaths among the yearly residents. This is certainly a remarkable showing and one that should be recognized by all, that our resort stands upon a plane far above the average in point of health.

The water supply has been carefully looked after. We have had two wells analyzed which were found unfit for use and had them closed. (See table.)

Total solids,	9.2
Loss of ignition,	4.8
Hardness,	3.90

Chlorine,	1.6
Free Ammonia,	.298
Organic Ammonia,	.013
Nitrites,	Trace
Nitrates,	Trace

Also the water of the Old Orchard Water Co., which by analysis proves to be pure and of excellent quality. (See table).

Odor,	None
Color,	None
Total solids,	5.8
Loss of ignition,	2.2
Phenomena of ignition,	None
Hardness,	1.95
Chlorine,	.9
Free Ammonia,	.000
Organic Ammonia,	.003
Nitrites,	Very slight trace
Nitrates,	Very slight trace

The number of complaints increases with the growth of the town and efforts that are made to improve the sanitary condition of the same. The following will show a part of the duties of the board :

Number of complaints, written,	47
Number of complaints, verbal,	81
Number of visits, twice,	31
Total complaints,	159
Number of letters written,	28
Number of houses quarantined,	7
Number of cases contagious diseases,	4
Number of houses and barns disinfected,	4

We have endeavored to keep the expenses of the board within the appropriation as far as possible.

The expenditures of the board were as follows :

Printing by-laws and receipt books,	$16 00
Disinfectants,	4 45
Removing waste,	185 00
Burying calf,	1 00
Lumber for notices,	1 75
Sign for B. of H.,	1 65
Distribution of by-laws,	5 00
Thomas Lynch, for labor,	1 00
Dr. J. R. Randall, services as health officer,	18 00
R. F. Chalk, services as secretary,	20 00
Total,	<hr/> $253 85

R. F CHALK, Secretary.

J. A. RANDALL, M. D., Health Officer.

G. W. BUTLER, Chairman.
