

C. R. TUPPER, ESQ., OF BOOTHBAY HARBOR.

I f you're looking for a lawyer, down in Lincoln by the sea,
 Or a man to do your business, as your business ought to be;
 To draw a will, to fit the probate; sue a man or make a writ
 Or, as counsel in your troubles, give you counsel, that is fit;
 Join with you in business-projects, for the welfare of the state—
 Large affairs of public progress, you'd not choose to litigate,—
 Where the man of keen prevision and unerring business-sense,
 With a mind of legal training, must be full in evidence:—
 Go to Tupper at the Harbor—you will find him just the man;
 He will meet you, more than half way, in your honest business plan;—
 A director, you will find him, in corporations and in banks—
 Marks of confidence, to show you, in a measure, how he ranks
 In her sports a vigorous hustler, takes a turn in real estate
 In short, an active factor for the welfare of the state.

If you're looking for a lawyer, down in Lincoln by the sea
 —I think that's how I put it in my opening threnody,
 You must find another lawyer, if the case is of the kind
 Where you're held as the respondent, to be duly judged and fined
 For the grand jury of the county, with its panel, good and true
 Finds its "True Bills" at his bidding—and, if one of them be you,
 Why, I hardly need to tell you or so much as indicate
 You cannot find your lawyer in the Counsel-for-the-State
 And you'll wish that Lincoln County had not shown such common sense
 As to corral this able lawyer, to get out the evidence.
