Thirty-second Season

Of Old Orchard Camp Meeting Association

THE thirty-second season of the Orchard Beach Camp Meeting Association will begin July 8 and continue until Sept. 5. The following are the officers: Rev. I. Luce, president; F. H. Hazelton, vice president; F. I. Luce, secretary; Rev. H. Chase, treasurer; Hiram Knowlton, auditor. Directors: A. H. Moulton, S. P. Adams, A. E. Luce, Carolyn E. French, Emma G. Randall.

The programme this season promises to be fuller and more interesting than any that has preceded.

An old-time camp meeting, with Evangelist Wm. J. Cozens in charge, will commence July 9 and continue through July 20. This will be Col. Cozens' seventh camp meeting on the Old Orchard grounds.

The old fashioned gospel will be proclaimed in the old-time way and in the old-time spirit.

New songs, new tunes, primitive methods. Col. Cozens will be supported by ministers of various denominations, evangelists from the West and New England. All meetings will be of a thorough evangelistic character.

Evangelist Miss Noble, Miss J. S. Wing and Mr. G. Irving Waltz will assist.

The Woman's Foreign Missionary Society will meet July 21.

The Christian Workers' Convention will be held July 23 to August 1. This will be the 16th annual conference of the "Christian Workers' League."

Professor Rev. L. M. Townsend, D. D., will give six Biblical lectures. Dr. Bates will speak each Sabbath forenoon. Subjects: 1. "Our Nation's Peril and Deliverance." 2. "Is the Church Losing Power? If so, Why, and is there a Remedy?"

The Young People's Societies are expecting an address from Dr. Francis E. Clark, who is expected home July 1 from his gospel tour around the world.

Rev. Smith Baker, D. D., will speak Sunday, July 24, on "Christian Citizenship."

Rev. Edward Mallay will give Bible readings and preach.

Rev. Charles Garland, of the New Hampshire Conference, and many others are down on the programme.

Mr. Robert S. Robson of Boston, chorister; Miss Jennie Shepardson of North Easton, soloist and harpist.

Mrs. Emma Harvey Bates and Mrs. Nellie Roberson will have charge of youths' and children's services, with many helpers.

Evangelists and missionaries will give reports and preach.

The Convention is "Interdenominational" and "Interdevotional." Fourteen denominations took part last year, all in harmony.

The Woman's Christian Temperance Union Institute will hold meetings August 2 and 3, under the leadership of Mrs. L. M. N. Stevens. Many able speakers will be present at each session.

The Woman's Home Missionary meeting will take place August 4.

The Christian and Missionary Alliance convention will be in session for ten days, August 5 to 15. Rev. A. B. Simpson of Newport will be the leader as in former years.

The Music Festival, under the direction of Prof. William Chapman, will be given August 16, 17, and 18. This will be the second year that such a great musical treat has been provided here, and a programme of unusual excellence will be arranged.

The National Holiness Association, Rev. Charles J. Fowler, president, will hold meetings August 19 to 29.

The National Association for the promotion of Holiness has been a providential movement in the interest of Scriptural Holiness,—which was characterized by Dr. Chalmers in his definition of Methodism, as "Christianity in Earnest."

This meeting will seek to promote among the ministers and laymen the devout study of the Word of God, the more "Abundant Life," a love perfect toward God and man.

Dr. Fowler will be assisted in the meeting by Rev. B. C. Wentworth and his ministers, Rev. C. W. Winchester, D. D., president of Taylor University, Rev. J. N. Short, Rev. C. B. Vier, of New York, who will have charge of the singing.

The Convocation will open on the evening of the 19th and close on the forenoon of the 29th, with a daily morning prayer meeting at 6 o'clock, people's meeting at 8.30 a. m., and preaching forenoon, afternoon and evening.

The White Cross convention will extend from August 30 to September 5.

Mrs. Mabel L. Conklin of Brooklyn, N. Y., who is known not only in our own country, but also in Europe for her strong, helpful addresses, will conduct this series of meetings. No speaker on the American platform has stronger testimonials and none will give greater satisfaction. She is superintendent of the White Cross movement in America, the purity work among men; she is club editor of the Home Science Magazine, Boston, Mass., and she is the only woman speaker in America on purity subjects who is admitted to and endorsed by the Young Men's Christian Associations.

SUBJECTS.

Aug. 30. "Reasons Why Young Men Go Wrong."

Aug. 31. "The Social Evil; Its Cause and Cure."

Sept. 1. "That Boy of Yours."

Sept. 2. "Our Country's Greatest Need—A Professional Parenthood."

Sept. 3. "Mistakes of Parents."

Sept. 4. "The New Chivalry, or The White Cross Purity for Men."

Sept. 5. "Immorality Among School Children. How to Cope with It."

Musicales and Sale.

A delightful entertainment and sale was held last Wednesday evening in the Town Hall for the benefit of the Old Ladies' Home Association.

It looked at first as if the bad weather might cut down the size of the audience, but by eight o'clock all the seats that had been provided were filled and the "standing room only" sign was hung out. Every number of the entertainment was heartily enjoyed by the audience, as was shown by the ready applause and frequent encores.

The solos by Mrs. Mortimer Barney of Portland were excellent, and afforded the audience a rare musical treat. Mrs. Barney was accompanied by Miss Marcia McIntyre, late of Wellesley College. Mrs. Sarah Fairfield Hamilton of Saco read, "On the Rapids" and "Aunt Nagg's Duck." Her delivery of these well known humorous selections was easy and clear, and not a point went by, unappreciated by the audience. Mr. Frank E. Kendrie, the talented young violinist of Ocean Park, was received with the usual enthusiasm. He rendered the "Intermezzo" from "Cavaleria Rusticana" in a highly artistic fashion.

After the entertainment chance was given the audience to display its charity and gratify its weaknesses. There was the punch table, the candy and ice cream table to fill the sweet tooth of both old and young, the fortune telling fir, with its forbidden fruit as tempting as ever, and the fancy work table, laden with things the ladies like.

After a short intermission came dancing, music for which was furnished by Mr. F. Glenn Harmon and Miss Ethel Wight.

Change of Management.

Mrs. J. A. Thomas, who for several years has conducted the Western on Old Orchard street, very successfully as a first-class boarding house, has purchased the Linwood of Mrs. Hannah T. Lord. The Linwood is very advantageously located on the sea wall below Hotel Fiske, and is considered to be valuable property. Improvements will be made this fall and the house fitted up as a private residence for Mrs. Thomas, who resides in Portland in the winter.

Besides having been proprietor of the Western for the past few seasons, Mrs. Thomas last summer also had charge of the Staples cottage. Some time ago the Western was sold to Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Kelsea, who will manage it this season on the same plan on which it has been conducted in the past. Mrs. Kelsea is Mrs. Thomas' daughter.

A large addition is in process of construction on the rear of the Western, which, when completed, will be a great improvement and will largely increase the facilities for the accommodation of guests.

Mrs. Thomas has rented her cottage on the corner of Seaside and Odessa avenues to Mr. and Mrs. White and Mrs. Morse of Lancaster, Mass. Mrs. Morse is Superintendent of the State Industrial School for Girls, which is located at Lancaster.

New Waiting Room.

Mr. E. A. Newman, the capable general manager of the Portland Street Railroad Company, ever zealous for the comfort and convenience of his patrons, has contributed one more improvement for the benefit of Old Orchard travelers.

The old store on the ground floor of the Porter Block, corner of Old Orchard and Depot streets, was rented by him this spring and tastily fitted up as a waiting room. The rent has in recent years been utilized by Syrian rug and novelty sellers. It was from the outside an old, dingy shop. The transformation is remarkable. The room was completely cleared of shelves, counters, etc., and thoroughly renovated. It is resplendent in a fresh coat of paint, new paper, hard-wood floor, attractive electric light chandeliers, and commodious oak benches. A broad window was also cut in the Old Orchard street wall, adding much to the light, and view of the room.

This convenient innovation has been open to the public only a few days but THE MIRROR is happy to be able to express the gratitude and appreciation of Old Orchard's permanent residents and summer visitors. The improvement is inestimable, as everyone will agree, who has stood around on the sidewalk near the electric road terminal in all kinds of weather, fair or foul, waiting for the appearance of a Portland or Biddeford car.

Miss Sarah Abbott, who passed the winter in Saco, returned to Old Orchard early in the spring and has been superintending the many alterations and improvements that have been in progress about her property between the sea wall and West Grand avenue. A good-sized addition has been built to the Abbott cottage, while the grading of the surrounding grounds has added much to the appearance of the place.

L. B. Evans and family of Brookline, Mass., have arrived at their delightful summer home on the sea wall. They are among our well known summer visitors and have been coming to Old Orchard regularly for many years.

John C. King, the enterprising young artist from Saco, has been doing considerable business about town. King knows how to handle a brush all right, and does very good work on signs, window decorating, etc.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Goldthwaite, of Charlestown, Mass., have entered upon their second season in charge of Armstrong's News Agency at the Boston & Maine station, where they made many friends last year. Harold Deering of Saco is employed as clerk.

Rev. W. H. H. McAllister returned several weeks ago to Old Orchard from Virginia, where he has been teaching in the Boynton Institute. He will have charge of W. S. Smith's real estate agency on West Grand avenue this season as for a number of years past.

Miss Lucinda Currier of Saco has opened her summer home, "Camp Comfort," on Bay avenue for the season. Miss Currier has been a regular summer resident here for many years. The Woman's Alliance of the Saco Unitarian church held an all day service at Miss Currier's Wednesday. A picnic lunch was served at noon.

C. Wilson Place, a prominent business man of Saco, purchased of the Mrs. George estate, the attractive "Three Gables" on Union avenue early this spring and is occupying it this season, with Mrs. Place and her mother. Mr. Place is well known as the popular freight agent at Saco. At present he is on leave of absence from his duties as agent and is devoting his attention exclusively to his grain mill business.

Albert Wallace and family of Rochester, N. H., will occupy the "Everingham" on the sea wall at the foot of Union avenue this season. This is the first season that the Wallaces have occupied this house, although they have passed the summer season here for a number of years. Mr. Wallace is a prominent shoe manufacturer and one of the wealthiest men in the Granite State.

Miss Drusilla Haines has returned from Boston, where she has been during the winter for several years, and will pass the summer with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Haines. She will have the position of book-keeper at Libby's grocery store this season as for several years past.

Packard Welch of Boston has arrived at his cottage on the sea wall.

Daniel Hanson has been visiting relatives in South Berwick.

Rufus S. Merrill has erected a handsome two-story cottage on Union avenue.

Miss J. E. Reed of Boston has arrived at her cottage at the campground for the season.

Mrs. John Burns and daughter, Eleanor, of Lowell, Mass., have arrived for the summer.

Miss Catha L. Gorham of Old Orchard is employed as cashier in Libby's new provision store on Old Orchard street.

Since the close of last season G. C. Upham has erected a handsome three story hotel on West Grand avenue with a capacity for fifty guests.

John Gifun has charge of the tonsorial rooms at the Old Orchard house again this season. This is Mr. Gifun's second season at that hotel.

The consolidated United Verde Junior Mining Corporation of Arizona has secured the services of Daniel L. Dean, as special representative in their home office at Old Orchard.

Collector Charles M. Moses and family of Saco are to occupy their pleasant cottage on Union avenue this season as for many years past.

Miss Edith Luce, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred I. Luce, and Miss Bertha Wing, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Wing of Old Orchard, are spending a few days in the Green Mountain State.

Elmer M. Allen of Sanford has charge of the American express delivery team this season. He has been employed for some time at the Sanford office, of which George Field, formerly of Old Orchard, is agent. Mrs. Allen is passing the season here with her husband.

Ezra J. Wentworth of Saco is the American Express agent here for the second season. He is a very capable official in this position, giving satisfaction both to the company by which he is employed and to those who come in contact with him in a business way.

Nelson Gague of Lewiston has the management of the Old Orchard drug store on the railroad walk again this season. He has been located there for a number of years and has done a prosperous business. Burton R. Austin, Ph. G., one of Old Orchard's well known young men, is prescription clerk at this store for the present season.

Among the numerous real estate transfers that have been made here this season is the sale of the commodious "Ingleside" house to Mr. Ellis, a well-known resident of Barre, Vt. This valuable property was purchased of J. Q. Sawyer, the Saco grocer, who has been the owner for several years.

John Clifford, of the firm of Clifford & Bearce, Contractors & Builders of Lewiston has purchased of Dr. Austin Reynolds the cottage on Pearl avenue formerly owned by E. K. Smith of Lewiston. This cottage is one of the best appointed and most attractive residences in Old Orchard. The situation is ideal, and the property very valuable. Mr. Clifford is an enthusiastic automobilist, and is building an auto-stable to be used this season.

Mrs. Nettie Shackford of Springvale has been visiting in town recently.

O. P. Currier of Portland has rented the Whitten cottage on Pearl avenue for the season.

Dr. and Mrs. W. B. Clement of Saco will occupy a cottage on the campground for the months of July and August.

The Hot Combination baseball team of Saco was scheduled to play a game with the Old Orchard's here this afternoon.

Miss Ethel Wight of Old Orchard is again employed at Baker's Studio, Old Orchard street, where she will preside over the souvenir counter as in former seasons.

C. Wallace Harmon, Esq., of Old Orchard, a member of the law firm, Seidel & Harmon, Biddeford, was secretary of the Democratic County Convention held at Alfred, Thursday.

A. G. Munro of Portland has the management of the McDonough pharmacy on the Alberta walk again this season. Mr. Munro has made many friends among the guests at Old Orchard during the several that he has been in business here.

Mr. and Mrs. F. R. Baker were among the earliest of the business people to arrive this season. They passed a pleasant winter at Daytona, Florida, where they had a photo studio. Mr. and Mrs. Baker have been coming to Old Orchard during the past twenty years, and their studio on Depot square is now in readiness for the summer business.

Hon. Thomas Goodall, the well known plush goods manufacturer of Sanford, was among the earliest of the summer residents to arrive here this season. Mr. Goodall has one of the most attractive summer homes along the shore, and he has been coming here regularly for about a quarter of a century. In recent years he has passed the winter on his estate in Florida.

Dr. J. E. Littlefield, president of the Kansas School of Optics, Topeka, Kansas, has opened the finest optical parlors to be found in New England at Saco, Maine. Dr. Littlefield makes a specialty of curing headache, stomach trouble, cross eyes and nervous diseases without medicine or surgery. During July, August and September no charge will be made for consultation or tests.

We note with gratification the recent manifestations of the enterprise of our popular summer citizen, F. H. Hazelton of Portland. He has recently erected, near his residence on Central avenue, an extensive series of poultry houses and yards for the accommodation of a large collection of birds, which has cost him considerable time and expense to procure. Mr. Hazelton is one of Old Orchard's most earnest well wishers, and one of the foremost in promoting her success.

C. W. Dennett and family of North Adams, Mass., have arrived at their commodious summer residence on Union avenue. The Dennetts are well known summer visitors at Old Orchard having been here for several seasons. Mr. Dennett is a prominent mill man in North Adams, being agent of the Johnson Manufacturing Co., an extensive plant for the manufacture of cotton goods, and has a promising family of boys, one of whom is a graduate of Brown University.

Charles Milliken of Saco is acting as night watchman at the Boston & Maine station this summer as for several years.

Herbert Field and George Thomas have opened the Union Avenue Grocery store this season, formerly occupied by Albert C. Eames.

F. W. Worcester, who was formerly in the grocery business for several years on Washington avenue, is with Frank H. Libby this season.

Mrs. George Wiseman and family of Lewiston, who have passed several summers here at Old Orchard, have arrived for the present season.

Mrs. Lizzie E. Colley has opened a restaurant in the Day building on Old Orchard street, and is meeting with much success.

O. P. Greene, the well known shoe dealer and chiropodist of Saco who has been in business here for several years, has reopened his store in the Porter block.

Mrs. Etta Powers returned to Old Orchard a few weeks ago, after an absence of several months and is occupying her residence, Good Luck, on Staples street.

Mrs. W. E. Smith of Lawrence, Mass., has recently purchased the Quint property on West Grand avenue, and will conduct a Home Bakery business there this season.

Fred N. Hooper, of Oren Hooper's Sons, Portland, and family have been occupying their cottage on the sea wall south west of Googins' Rocks during the past few weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. William J. Mewer of Staples street are receiving hearty congratulations from their many friends on the arrival at their home Wednesday morning of two tiny girls. Both the mother and her twin babies are getting along very nicely.

John McGuire and family of Worcester, Mass., have recently returned to Old Orchard and opened their pleasant summer home, located between the sea wall and West Grand avenue. The McGuires have been regular visitors here since the purchase of this valuable property a few years ago. They now have one of the best appointed residences at this resort. Mr. and Mrs. McGuire, their daughter, Miss Jennie McGuire, and a young son and daughter constitute the family, who remain here the greater part of the season.

Important Real Estate Transfer.

One of the most important real estate transfers in Old Orchard for a long time was the sale of the large parcel of land located southwest of Union avenue, near Googins' Rocks. This valuable property has been owned since 1898 by Frank P. Shepard of Dover, N. H., and has remained undeveloped.

This property was recently sold through the real estate office of F. A. Sidelinger & Co., to Azro D. Morse, a prominent resident of Barre, Vt. It is not known what use Mr. Morse intends making of his new purchase, but it would make an excellent building site for a hotel as was talked of twenty years ago, or would be equally desirable for private residences. Mr. Morse has been a summer resident at Old Orchard for several years, and erected an attractive residence on the sea wall east of the Lawrence house some time ago.

The Old Orchard Mirror endeavors to advance the best interests and prosperity of Old Orchard Beach, to foster all enterprises looking to the betterment of this rapidly expanding and developing summer resort, and to promote the pleasure and welfare of the increasing thousands who sojourn here annually, from various quarters of the world. Our aim is to accomplish these objects by utilizing all agencies within the province of a public-spirited resort publication.

A. L. JONES,

Editor and Publisher.

W. L. STREETER, PRINTER, SACO, MAINE.

Our Fifth Season.

THE OLD ORCHARD MIRROR is now commencing its fifth season as a progressive summer resort publication, having entered the field of local journalism in the season of 1900. It is not necessary for us to make a long opening address to our many patrons who have watched our career and steady growth during the four years that have preceded. Our aim this season will be identically the same as in the past in all the essential details, namely to publish a paper such as will commend itself to all who are interested in the progress, prosperity and general welfare of this beautiful and constantly developing and expanding summer resort. THE MIRROR takes much pride in feeling that it has been, in a small way, a part of the notable development that has characterized Old Orchard within recent years, and we wish to be in the van of the progress which will surely come in future years.

This paper has been indebted during its existence to many kind friends who have aided it very materially in numerous ways, and we wish to express our appreciation of all favors received. We hereby acknowledge our obligations to advertisers and subscribers who have assisted us in a financial way, and we trust that the benefits have been mutual. The object of THE MIRROR will be to merit the continued approval of the public so long as it continues as a newspaper enterprise at Old Orchard.

The Steel Pier.

The Old Orchard steel pier will be under the management of Mr. Frederick Yates of Biddeford again this season, as during the past two years, and this is assurance enough that everything in connection with that enterprise will be conducted on the high plane that has characterized the management of this great attraction in the past.

Mr. Yates is a past master in the art of pleasing the public and the thousands who have patronized the pier in former years will be glad to know that the management will remain unchanged this season. Since Mr. Yates came into control of the pier he has made numerous changes and improvements which have greatly enhanced its popularity and prosperity. Last year the casino was thoroughly remodeled and put in first-class condition.

The popular manager is planning to make the pier more of a drawing card this year than ever before and a fine class of entertainments will be provided throughout the season.

On the Mirror Staff.

Mr. Edwin L. Harvey of Bethel, Me., has been engaged on the reportorial staff of THE MIRROR for the present season. Mr. Harvey is a prominent and popular member of the class of 1905 at Bowdoin college and enters upon his duties here well equipped for the position, having had considerable valuable experience in literary work of various kinds.

THE MIRROR congratulates itself on having secured the services of such an able writer and any courtesies that may be extended to him will be greatly appreciated, both by Mr. Harvey and the publisher of this paper.

Permanent residents of Old Orchard and others zealous for its prosperity, both insiders and outsiders, can but feel a thrill of satisfaction at the building boom Old Orchard has experienced since the close of the season of 1903. The regular summer resident comes back this year with a smile of delight at Old Orchard's progress and the newcomers find us better equipped and more ready for their entertainment than they had expected. We have grown in part as follows: The commodious and substantial stores on Old Orchard street; the new buildings on the Seaside Park grounds; the score of new cottages. We cannot help noticing at the same time the substantial character of these buildings. They are not mere skeletons but strong, substantial, permanent structures. This means business. It means future business, not of one or two years, but years of prosperity till Old Orchard wins even greater laurels of popularity and thrift.

The Old Orchard Sea Breeze is the name of a bright and interesting little paper that has made its monthly appearance during the spring, having been started by Mr. Edward M. Yates for the purpose of advertising his hardware business in Odd Fellows block. Mr. Yates is a gentleman of wide newspaper experience and his small folder has been perused with interest and profit.

The Glorious Fourth is near at hand. Let us not forget the nation's birthday! Let the bells ring, the guns boom, the small boy shout, and the staid old gentleman thump his cane in youthful glee!

Improvements at the Aldine.

Mrs. Herbert Burbank will have the management of the Aldine hotel again this season as for many years past. The Aldine has been thoroughly renovated from cellar to garret since last fall and it is now one of the most attractive and best appointed hotels at this resort. The work of making the improvements was commenced soon after the close of the season of 1903 and has been continued up to within the past few weeks, several thousand dollars having been expended. The hotel is now in readiness for the accommodation of more guests than ever before.

Ninety-Second Birthday.

Last Wednesday Wm. F. Fernald, attended the celebration of his mother's, Mrs. Jane Fernald's, ninety-second birthday anniversary, at her home in Rochester, N. H. Mrs. Fernald is really a remarkable old lady. When she was in Old Orchard, two years ago, she was more active and sprightly than many of our younger visitors. This vigor she still retains, for she is about the house all day, and does her own cooking. At sight her age would be placed at about seventy. The only mark time has as yet made is a slightly impaired hearing. May she enjoy many more years of youthful health.

Frank W. Blanchard and family, who reside on South street, Biddeford, during the winter, returned to the Montreal house several weeks ago, and have been getting this well known hostelry put in good condition for the entertainment of the large number of guests who go there every season. The Blanchards have conducted the Montreal in a highly satisfactory manner since Old Orchard first came into prominence as a popular summer resort.

Charles A. Monroe will be the office manager at the Irving house again this season. Mr. Monroe has filled this exacting position in a very satisfactory manner during the several years that he has been connected with this well known hostelry.

OCEAN PARK.

"So glad to see you!" (High shake.)

The new sidewalk on Temple avenue gladdens our hearts as well as our feet.

The present season's programme of meetings, classes, concerts and entertainments of various kinds is most attractive at our Chataqua-by-the-Sea. The chief difficulty will be in electing what not to attend.

Mrs. W. E. C. Rich of Boston is visiting Mrs. Linda V. Jordan at Sunshine Lodge. Prof. Rich is master of one of the Boston schools.

Miss L. A. DeMeritte, treasurer of the National F. B. W. M. S., has recently returned from an extended trip to Aroostook county.

Prof. H. B. Davis of Wilbraham, Mass., Mrs. Davis and little Irene, have come to "Fernholme" as usual for the summer. Rev. Mr. Bailey, rector of an Episcopal church in New Hampshire, Mrs. Bailey and their son, are occupying Delano cottage on Temple avenue. Rev. and Mrs. C. K. Flanders have come to their pleasant home in the grove on Colby avenue.

Mr. F. D. Folsom, a merchant of Portland is having a beautiful cottage built on Temple avenue. It is built so substantially, and the heating, plumbing and lighting arrangements are such that Mr. and Mrs. Folsom and their daughters can come out for a few days rest at any season, or have mid-winter house parties at will.

Mr. Jose, builder and contractor of Portland, has bought the large cottage on Randall avenue in the grove, which has been unoccupied for some time, and is making extensive improvements, including the laying of hard wood floors.

Mr. and Mrs. Merryman and their daughter Mildred are enjoying their new summer home on Temple avenue. Electric lights have recently been added to its attractions.

Dr. Mary Lowell, a graduate of the Boston University Law School, who has won the degree of LL.B. has been spending two weeks at the Park in company with her cousin, Miss Chandler of Boston. Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Davis of Augusta, and their son, who is an undergraduate of Bates College, are at their cottage on Randall avenue. Mr. and Mrs. Franklin Metcalf have come to charming "Little Rhody" on Oceana avenue. Their little granddaughter, Dorothy, is their guest.

Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Demeritt are the efficient managers of the grocery store and of Blake Industrial; Mr. J. Y. Demeritt, of Dover, N. H., is the genial manager of the market; Philip Orr is again our station agent; Frank Kendrie is clerk in the post office; Mrs. Caswell looks after the interests of the Book Room, and Mrs. A. E. Roberts, formerly matron of Cheney Hall, is matron of Curtis Home.

Mrs. Sayles of Lowell, Mass., has raised her cottage on the sea wall and in many ways improved both the exterior and interior. Dr. Leland, also of Lowell, has made various improvements on his cottage on Randall avenue. Curtis Home rejoices in a fresh and comely coat of paint. Several cottages have been raised since last season. All of these things are a benefit to the Park as well as to the individual.

Miss Harriet A. Deering of Portland has been in her cosy summer home for several weeks. She recently entertained Mr. and Mrs. Stewart of Hillsdale, Mich., who came East to attend the Convention of Charities and Correction. Mr. Stewart is a banker and a trustee of Hillsdale college. Miss Mary Buzzell, teacher of mathematics in the Lewiston high school, is spending the summer vacation with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles F. Buzzell, in their beautiful all-the-year home on Temple avenue.

There was a very pretty wedding, last Tuesday morning, at Silver-sands, the home of Rev. and Mrs. Willis M. Davis. The sea-facing parlor was charmingly decorated with ropes of greenery, potted plants and cut flowers. The contracting parties were Mrs. Emma E. Lord, who owns one of the finest cottages on the sea wall, and Mr. Bennett B. Fuller, who is in the real estate business in Auburn. The bride was gowned in a handsome traveling suit and soon after the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Fuller started on their wedding trip to Quebec. Congratulations and best wishes!

W. W.

Congressman Amos L. Allen and daughter, Miss Laura Allen, who are among our most prominent summer residents returned to Old Orchard some weeks ago, from Washington, D. C., where Miss Allen has been spending the winter with her father. They are occupying their cottage on Cedar avenue as for many years past.

The Woodbury property comprising the site of the Sea View house, which was burned last season, has been disposed of to the Campground management. Grading will commence at once with a view to enhancing the beauty and value of the property.

HOTEL PERSONALS

Among the Montrealites at the Irving are Miss N. M. and Miss F. M. Collins.

S. J. Briggs and a party of six from Providence, R. I. will arrive at the Velvet the fifth for a stay of several weeks.

John S. Sewall and wife of Bangor have returned to the Abbott for the season. They made a short stay here a few weeks ago.

Phil Eastman of Lancaster, N. H., who was employed at the Sea Shore House as porter for several years, is filling this position at the Aldine Hotel the present season.

Stephen W. Pillsbury and family of Biddeford are at the Revere house for the season. Mrs. Pillsbury managed this hotel very successfully, during the season of 1903.

F. S. Barrett and family of Lawrence, Mass., arrived here about a fortnight ago, and will again have charge of the Lawrence house, which popular hostelry they have conducted with much success for several years.

Walter Emmons, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Emmons of this town, will act in the capacity of clerk at Hotel Alberta again this season. Mr. Emmons has filled this position in a highly pleasing and satisfactory manner for several years.

P. W. Stevens, proprietor of the Atlantic house, has been making several additional improvements at his popular hostelry this season. Mr. Stevens is one of the most progressive and wide-awake hotel proprietors at this resort and is ever on the alert to do everything within his power for the comfort and convenience of his guests. A year ago, he greatly enlarged his house, at the expenditure of many hundred dollars.

The Automobile Races at Old Orchard.

The assurance of the holding of a series of automobile races on Old Orchard beach during the present season is both interesting and pleasing to all Old Orchardites, both transient and permanent. We are told that it is a sure thing.

Frederick Yates, the manager of the Ocean Pier, says that the series will call for two races. In July, two in August, and two in September. There will be both five mile and three mile contests. The start will be at Googins' Rocks, which will not be blasted out as was originally intended, and the finish of the five mile will be at Pine Point near the Nonesuch River. The finish of the three mile will be near Grand Beach, which will give the Portland cottagers at this exclusive resort an excellent opportunity to watch the races. Guests at the hotels and cottages on the sea wall will be directly on the course, at any point of which the races will be interesting. Two spans will be taken out of the Pier to widen the course at that point, and heavy trusses put in for strengthening purposes.

For some time efforts have been made to locate a northern beach suitable for Alfred E. Lussier, B. A., wife and sister of Ottawa, Ont., will arrive at the Velvet the tenth for the season.

Orrin Fitch of Princeton, Me., has the position of porter at Hotel Fiske this season, where he was employed a few seasons ago.

William H. Parsons and Frank H. Libby, the well known grocers of this town, have the management of the Hotel Everett this summer for the second year.

Selden W. Holt of Portland will have the management of the Hotel Alberta again this season. Mr. Holt has been at the Alberta since it was first opened about a half dozen years ago.

Mr. and Mrs. Austin H. Fiske of the Hotel Fiske returned a few week ago from Hot Springs, Ark., where they passed the cold season at the Eastman house, as for a number of winters past.

Seth G. Haley of this town passed the winter at Hot Springs, Ark., and returned here several weeks ago. Mr. Haley is a member of the Sophomore Class at Bowdoin College, where he has made an enviable reputation as a scholar and an athlete. He will have a position in the office at Hotel Fiske, where he made himself very popular last season.

Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Hazeltine and their daughter of Lawrence, Mass., were among the earliest of the cottage colony to arrive, and they have taken for the season, the Olympia cottage pleasantly located between East Grand avenue and sea wall near Walnut street. Mr. Hazeltine has been the capable freight agent at Lawrence for many years, having been in the employ of the Boston & Maine railroad for about twenty-five years. His health not being very good, Mr. Hazeltine is now on a leave of absence from his duties for several months the holding of automobile races in the summer, such as are held in Florida in winter. At last it has been realized that Old Orchard Beach is the natural arena for such contests. Experts have thoroughly examined the course and are very well satisfied. Mr. Morgan, who has so successfully conducted the Ormond-Daytona races in Florida, is very favorably impressed by the beach and will have charge of the races at Old Orchard. His sanction and management mean much for the success of the undertaking.

This project should receive the hearty support of every hotel owner and business man in Old Orchard. It means the bringing to this resort of throngs of wealthy, money-spending people, not to mention the crowds that will be attracted to witness the events. Once these people have viewed Old Orchard with all its natural attractions, and hotel conveniences—they cannot help being pleased—they will come again, and they will bring their friends with them. The fame of Old Orchard will spread far beyond its present limits, and our other ambitious resorts will have to put up sign boards in order to be located. Let us all push our hardest for the success of this great undertaking which will mean so much to everyone at Old Orchard.

The Pastor's Class from Livermore Falls.

The pastor's class of the Livermore Falls Methodist Episcopal church, have been enjoying a four days outing at Old Orchard, or at least a part of the class for though twenty-four young men were in the party it does not by any means include the entire class, for the class numbers over seventy members.

They came Wednesday all equipped for camping out with tents and all the paraphernalia. But the rain was so unpleasant that they accepted the offer of Grove Temple on the Campground and have kept the neighborhood lively with songs, games, class yells, and laughter. A jollier party never made the old grove echo with music.

The Rev. John R. Clifford of Biddeford, who was the founder of the class and its first teacher, with his son, Nate S. Clifford, has shared in all the sports. The other members of the party are the teacher, Rev. S. Alfred Leech of Livermore Falls; H. L. Holt, D. D. S.; Fred O. Shipley, who runs a painting and paper hanging business; F. A. Brown; C. Guy Brown; Roy E. Brown; Roy M. Brown; W. C. Brown; A. H. Taylor; W. F. Burten; C. H. Dow; E. C. Dow; W. L. Dow; F. S. Dow; A. L. Leech; John A. Mitchell; Ralph Mitchell; H. A. Parker; Verne Riggs; Ernest Day; Arthur Day and Claude E. Webber. The president of the class, G. H. Rand, M. D., was obliged to remain at home on account of a severe attack of La-grippe.

The boys have feasted on fish chowder and fried fish caught by themselves, clams in various styles dug at Camp Ellis by a delegation, have bathed twice a day, have viewed all the local sights, caught fish off the pier, made a trolley trip to Saco and Biddeford and with perfect good humor and gentlemanliness, have given the town quite a sensation and kept the people guessing who and what they were. The entire party were dressed uniformly in gray overalls and and jumpers with hats to match. Mr. Liman Towle photographed the company on Friday.

The company took the train for Livermore Falls Saturday, declaring that for a rainy vacation Old Orchard takes the prize.

Held A Reception.

Several ladies and friends of the young men who were stopping at Grove Chapel visited them at the chapel last Friday evening and were royally entertained. The guests included Rev. B. C. Wentworth, his wife and daughter, the family of Rev. John R. Clifford of Biddeford and several young ladies of that city. A camp supper of baked fish with the accessories, cake, cookies, etc., with strawberries was served in the best style of caterer Shipley.

After supper Rev. S. E. Leach took the part of toast master and called on the following list of persons to respond to toasts:

Old Orchard,	E. C. Dow
Biddeford,	F. A. Brown
Livermore Falls,	N. S. Clifford
Grove Chapel and Brother Clifford,	F. O. Shipley
The Ladies,	Guy Brown
The Young Men,	Miss Googins
Song,	Ray Brown

Fishing on the Pier,	Ralph Mitchell
Excursion Athletics,	A. L. Leach
Irish Land,	F. O. Shipley
Deep Sea Fishing,	J. R. Clifford
Male Cooks,	Mrs. Clifford
Plumbing,	B. C. Wentworth

The company then sang the doxology, Rev. J. R. Clifford offered prayer and the entire company joined in the Lord's Prayer, after which the company adjourned to the chapel parlor and spent the rest of the evening in songs, games and social chat. All voted this one of the most delightful evenings ever enjoyed.

Granite State Park Races.

July 5th to 9th, inclusive, the opening meet of the season will take place at Granite State Park, Dover, N. H. There are thirteen classes including a "Free for All," a 2:08 pace, a 2:14 trot and a 2:11 pace

The Devon Club's Ball.

The first annual ball of the Devon club of Biddeford, an organization composed of leading young business and professional men, was held in the large casino on the steel pier Friday night and proved a most delightful social event. The function marked the opening of the pier and of the season at Old Orchard.

The pier was ablaze with incandescent light, while the casino was adorned with Japanese lanterns, bunting, flags, palms and flowers. In one corner were card tables and here those who did not care to dance played whist.

Special trolley cars brought a large number of dancers from Saco and Biddeford, and other guests came from Portland by train or trolley. Guests from some of the hotels were also present.

The floor director was P. J. Dinan and the aids were E. F. Seidel, Linwood Berry, William E. Shaw, Henry D. Evans and Arthur S. Newcomb. The committee of arrangements was composed of S. F. Parcher, Alfred Bonneau, P. J. Dinan, Dr. John S. Fogg, William E. Shaw, G. Frank Twambley, William L. Gerrish, Henry D. Evans, Linwood Berry, Charles Benoit, Arthur S. Newcomb, E. F. Seidel, Stacy Hall, John F. Hannaway, J. Mitchell Maguire and James P. Rundle.

Other guests from over the border that are helping enliven life at the Irving are R. F. Marshall of Stratford, Ontario, and B. C. Johnson, a familiar face among us, also of Stratford. William Mackclair of Montreal is also at the Irving.

Mrs. W. H. Thomas of Montreal arrived at the Irving some days ago for an extended stay.

Mr. and Mrs. F. S. Davidson and son of Boston are among the regular guests at the Irving, in whose presence all are rejoicing this season. Mr. Davidson has the spirit of true good fellowship and his buoyant spirits and ready wit make him the life of any occasion.

charge of its work in New England; Rev. John Galbrith, D. D., pastor of the Bromfield Street M E Church, Boston; Rev. H. P. Rankin, pastor of the Flint Street Church, Somerville; Rev. L. W. Adams of Marlboro, Mass.; Evangelist Charles Noble of Boston; Evangelist Miss Francis B. Adams of Hanover, Mass.; Evangelist R. D. Murphy of Worcester, Mass.

Soloists—Evangelist Charles Noble, Mr. Alexander Heath of Malden, Miss S. Josephine Wing of Somerville, and Mrs. George H. Rogers of Charlton, Mass. Miss Mabelle L. Swint of East Boston, Cornetist.

The season at Camp Ellis this year bids fair to be one of the most prosperous for many years. The cottages have been repaired and a number of new ones built and a large number of people are at the boarding houses for so early in the season.

THE STROLLER

Miss Bernice Cass has gone to Parsonsfield to spend a few weeks.

W. H. Steadman of Brockton, Mass., passed the Fourth at the Pearl cottage.

Mrs. James Costello of Biddeford has arrived at her cottage for the season.

Mrs. D. H. Woodsome of Boston is among the prominent cottagers here this season.

Mrs. Marshbank and daughter of Minneapolis are guests at the Highland house, corner of Union and Washington avenues.

Mrs. Howard Sweet and Mrs. G. A. Jones of Gorham are the guests of Mrs. Ralph Soule at her cottage on Atlantic avenue.

Miss Augusta Burbank of Saco, a teacher in Biddeford High School, is visiting Mr. and Mrs. Charles M. Moses for a few days at their residence on Union avenue.

George C. Webster and family of Lawrence, Mass., have rented a cottage near the Lawrence house. It is now several years since they first began making Old Orchard their summer home.

Miss A. M. M. MacLeod of New York returned here this year early in the season. Miss MacLeod possesses literary talents of no mean degree and is a magazine writer of some prominence.

Harry Casler returned here from Boston early in the season and will remain at the family cottage on the North Shore probably until September. Mr. Casler has been a familiar figure at Old Orchard for several years, and is one of the most popular of the young society men who frequent this resort.

C. M. Whittier and family of Lawrence, Mass., have arrived at their cottage near Googins' Rocks. Mr. Whittier is a successful business man of Lawrence and has been coming here with his family for several years, having purchased a few years ago, the cottage which they now occupy.

Mrs. M. J. Davis of Boston and Mrs. E. D. Bean of Arlington Heights, Mass., are visiting Miss Ida F. Porter of Biddeford at her cottage, the Marina, southwest of the Rocks, and will remain here during the present month. S. H. Davis of West Somerville has been a guest there for a few days and will return home Wednesday.

The annual picnic of the Baxter Sunday school, Saco, was held at Ferry Beach Park Saturday. The children marched from the room in City building to the railroad station, where they boarded the train for Old Orchard. Here they took the dummy train for the park. At noon a splendid picnic dinner was served. The children enjoyed every minute of the day.

Mr. and Mrs. N. C. Brackett and their daughter, Miss Angie L. Brackett, are occupying their pleasant residence near the sea wall at the foot of Camp Comfort avenue this season. During the past few years they have rented this property during the summer months, and have resided at their country place on the Saco road, but this season they decided not to move from their winter home.

Emma L. Jordan of Auburn has taken a cottage here for the season.

Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Walker of Auburn remained here over the Fourth of July.

Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Carver are occupying one of the Thomas Goodall cottages on the sea wall.

Mrs. James A. Smith has a fine line of patronage at her hair dressing rooms on Old Orchard street.

Kodak supplies and finishing for amateurs at Baker's studio. Also the finest portrait work.

Our old friends Mr. and Mrs. B. G. Bartlett of Newburyport, Mass., are with us again this year.

J. Scannel and family of Lowell, Mass., well known figures among Old Orchard summer residents, are with us this year as usual.

Charles Martel of Lewiston will be associated with Nelson Gagne in the management of the Old Orchard Drug Co. as for several years past.

The Fogg brothers, George and Charles, have opened a restaurant in the block opposite the Boston & Maine station. This is Charles Fogg's second season in that place.

City Missionary Gustave G. Hoerl of Biddeford, recently appeared before the Old Orchard police court in behalf of a Biddeford unfortunate, and secured a suspension of sentence.

Ross R. Milliken has opened a store in the Hubbard building, corner Washington avenue and Saco road, for the sale of confectionery, ice cream, light lunches, etc.

The Jefferson Street Free Baptist Sunday School and Society of Biddeford enjoyed a picnic at Old Orchard Monday. Headquarters were at the cottage of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Moulton.

Mrs. Maria H. Mason and her daughter, Miss Aimee S. Mason, who have passed several seasons here, left several weeks ago for Skowhegan, where they are staying with relatives for the summer.

Mr. and Mrs. R. Saibel of Boston, with their infant child born last Christmas day, have returned to Old Orchard for the third season. Mr. Saibel is the proprietor of the tailoring establishment on the second floor in the Porter block.

The travel on the Boston & Maine last Saturday was unusually heavy. All trains were anywhere from fifteen minutes to half an hour late, and all had extra baggage cars. This unusual traffic was due to crowds of people coming home to spend the Fourth with their families, and to the usual rush to Maine summer resorts at this time of year.

Mr. and Mrs. John J. Traynor and their daughter, Miss Grace Traynor, a popular school teacher of Biddeford, were among the earliest arrivals this season, having come here from our neighboring spindle city several weeks ago. The Traynors have been well known residents of Old Orchard for many years and at present occupy their large residence and business place on East Grand avenue, opposite Hotel Fiske.

Clarence Emmons is again employed at Libby's grocery store this season.

Mrs. C. E. Lincoln will occupy her cottage on the Campground this year as usual.

Carroll Perkins of this town is employed as clerk at J. L. Scamman's store this season.

Mrs. G. S. Craven of Lowell, Mass., will occupy a cottage at Old Orchard this summer.

Mrs. S. B. Winchester and Mrs. E. Ve Grais of Portland have arrived at their cottage at the Campground.

Mrs. A. W. Emerson, Miss Alice Emerson and Albert Stanton of Boston are at their cottage on the sea wall as usual.

E. L. Smith and family of Barre, Vt., will occupy their "Granite City" cottage on the sea wall below the Lawrence house this season as for several years past.

Nathan Wolfe and family of Boston will run their souvenir store in the Midway at the Pier entrance this season, as they have done for several years past.

Miss Lillian B. Keene of Cambridge, Mass., and Mary E. Alden of the same city are occupying Miss Keene's cottage on Atlantic avenue.

Miss Emma G. Randall and Miss Mary B. Stackpole of Portland are again at the Randall cottage at the campground where they pass several months each year.

Mr. and Mrs. E. T. Brown and Thornton Brown of Portsmouth, N. H. are here for the season. Their cottage is located near the entrance to the auditorium at the Campground, and they have been here for many years.

M. W. Merrill and family of Newton, Mass., have returned and are occupying their pleasant home on the sea wall near the Rocks. They have been coming here regularly for many years and are well known members of our summer colony.

C. W. Stevens and family of Lawrence, Mass., have arrived at their cottage on Zion's avenue at the Campground. They are among the number of cottagers who have been coming here regularly for about a quarter of a century.

Dr. and Mrs. W. H. Thompson of Portland have leased the Dorman cottage on Union Avenue for the season. They have been coming here for several years. Dr. Thompson is one of the leading dentists in the Forest City.

Mrs. Waldron of Lynn, one of the oldest of our summer residents is here again, occupying her cottage at the Campground. Many will, however, miss the venerable figure of Mr. Waldron, who died during the winter.

The eye of the Stroller was gladdened the other day by the sight of three new signs hung out by F. A. Sdelinger & Co. The set contains a small notary public shingle, a large square sign, advertising the brokerage business of the firm, and a still larger oblong sign for the consolidated United Verde Jr., Mining Corporation. The work was done by E. J. Bolen, Lincoln street, Biddeford, and is in gold leaf, and black sanded background. The signs are distinctly artistic and make a great improvement to the front of the Porte Block and the vicinity of Railroad Square. Who will be the next in line?

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. J. Baker of Waltham, Mass., are here for the season.

Herman Milliken of Saco is a brakeman on one of the short trains running between Biddeford and Portland.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Parkhurst of Cambridge, Mass., have leased the Los Angeles cottage for the season.

C. A. Spencer and family, and Miss Blanche Riley of Lowell, Mass., are occupying the Spencer Villa as usual.

Mrs. J. L. Wyman of Boston and Mrs. A. M. Chambers of South Boston are at their cottage at the Campground.

Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Merrill of Elm street, Saco, will pass the season at their summer home at the Campground.

Mrs. Sarah V. Young of Lynn, Mass., is at her Atlantic avenue cottage and will this season, as in former years, entertain many friends.

Mrs. F. P. Casey, Miss Alice Brown, Miss A. Barry and Miss M. M. Casey are at the cosy Chickering cottage at the Campground for the season.

Mrs. F. A. Johnson and Miss Emma Neally of Cambridge are at the Johnson cottage at the Campground for the season.

George A. Wentworth, a well known dry goods merchant of Main street, Saco, and Mrs. Wentworth will occupy their cottage on Ocean avenue this season as usual.

A. D. Morse and family are again at their attractive residence on the sea wall northeast of the Lawrence house. They have been summer residents here for many years.

Mrs. Frank Kittredge of Augusta has opened her cottage, the "Highland," at the Campground for the season. Miss Varrell of Cambridge, Mass., is also there.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Murphy of Lawrence, Mass., have rented for the season of F. W. Guptill, Esq., of Saco the "Oceanic," located on West Grand avenue near the "Ingleside." This is their first season at Old Orchard.

Miss Emma Haines, who has been a popular teacher in the public schools in Sharon, Mass., for several years, has returned here and will pass the summer with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John F. Haines. Miss Haines was for a number of years a successful teacher in the Old Orchard schools.

Mr. and Mrs. F. C. Bradbury with their son, Edward, and daughter, Pearl L. Bradbury, will occupy their attractive residence on Bay avenue this season as for several years. Mr. Bradbury is a well known undertaker of Saco, while his children are pursuing collegiate studies, the former attending the Harvard Dental School, and the latter having just finished her first year's course at Smith College, Northampton, Mass.

Mr. and Mrs. John C. Pierce of Boston returned early in the season and with Mrs. Pierce's sisters, the Misses Carrell of Syracuse, N. Y., are occupying the "Pastime" cottage. Mr. Pierce has invested during the past year or two quite extensively in real estate in the vicinity of West Grand avenue above the Abbott House. This season he will manage the Ocean House, formerly known as the Drake cottage and pleasantly located near the sea wall.

The Ingleside has been much improved by a fresh coat of paint.

The sprinkler has been doing excellent service about our streets for several days.

Work is being pushed rapidly on the large three story addition being built on the rear of the Western house.

N. P. Renouf, the Biddeford photographer, is passing the season here with his family as usual.

The electric roads running into Old Orchard are having a rush of business for this season of the year.

The lawn in front of the Abbott cottage, which was newly made this spring, is one of the most attractive in town.

E. B. Sears, the well known manufacturer of the famous "Peanutine" molasses candy, reports a constantly increasing amount of business.

Miss Alice L. Gould of Lynn, Mass., is visiting Miss Mary C. Ricker at the Merrill cottage on Central Park avenue for several days.

Miss Florence M. Sherrard of Charlotte, Me., is the guest for a few weeks of Miss Laura Allen, daughter of Congressman Amos L. Allen, at their cottage on Cedar avenue.

Dr. J. S. Burton and wife, of Hartford, Conn., E. N. Burr and wife, of Gardiner, Maine, have rented the Baker cottage, corner of East Grand and Union avenues for the season.

John B. Morin and family are occupying their fine summer residence located on the sea wall near York street. Mr. Morin is one of the leading druggists in Biddeford.

Rev. S. H. Emery, a Baptist clergyman of North Berwick, and formerly pastor of the Main Street Baptist church, Saco, arrived at his cottage here a few weeks ago, and will remain throughout the season as for several years.

William B. Boyden, who had a position in one of the large Boston hotels, during the winter, returned here several weeks ago and will be at the Boyden house on East Grand avenue during the summer as usual.

Miss N. E. Herbert, Miss M. I. Walker and Master Mervin Walker of Cleveland, O., are at the Irving for the season. This is their first summer at Old Orchard and they are enthusiastic in their expressions of pleasure at the attractions of our beach and also of their headquarters, the Irving.

Mrs. Lizzie Jewett Butler of Mechanic Falls, corresponding secretary of the Maine Federation of Women's Clubs and a member of Maine Library Commission, is at "Bide Awhile" cottage for the summer. Mrs. Butler is a prominent club woman, well known in our state and elsewhere. She is a regular visitor at Old Orchard and a prominent figure in all our intellectual events. Mrs. Butler's mother is also passing the season here as usual.

Mrs. Charles Green of Baltimore was this year as usual one of the earliest of our colony of well known summer residents to arrive in Old Orchard. Mrs. Green has been coming here regularly for about twenty-five years and her beautiful residence on the sea wall near Googins' Rocks is one of the best appointed and most substantial of any along the coast. Mrs. Green's philanthropy is well known among a wide circle of her acquaintances.

Arthur Hubbard of Biddeford is brakeman on one of the local trains this season.

Sheriff Newell T. Fogg of Sanford was among those who visited Old Orchard Saturday.

Lewis P. Babb of Saco is employed at the Boston & Maine station as train announcer.

Jay Mackey, son of J. Irving Mackey of Old Orchard, is clerking at Horgan & Abbott's drug store in the Day building.

James P. Rundle of Biddeford is again this season associated with his father-in-law, Fred'k Yates, in the management of the Old Orchard pier.

Albert C. Eames, formerly of Bethel, Me., and well known here at Old Orchard where he was in business for several seasons, has been located at Foxboro, Mass., since last fall. Mr. Eames was connected with THE MIRROR during the summer of 1903.

Miss Hattie Higgins of this town is again in charge of the Leavitt souvenir store on the railroad walk. She has been employed there for many years and thoroughly understands the business with which she is connected.

W. A. Dresser has opened a variety store in his building on Old Orchard street opposite the post office, where he was located several years ago, this store having been occupied in recent years by Fred I. Luce. Mr. Dresser has a large stock of goods.

Rev. Q. H. Shinn, D. D. of Boston the well known Universalist divine, arrived at Ferry Beach Park several days ago. Mr. Shinn is one of the most prominent clergymen in New England, and is president of the summer meetings held annually at Ferry Beach.

R. T. Woodward, the well known landscape gardener and horticulturist, formerly of Boston, erected this spring on Washington avenue an attractive residence. Mr. Woodward is nearly eighty years of age, and a veteran of the Civil War, but he is as sprightly and mentally alert as most men several years his junior.

Mr. and Mrs. L. B. Paine with their three children and Miss Loura Paine, Mr. Paine's sister, all of Berlin, N. H., are staying for a few weeks at the Brackett farm on the Saco road. The Paines are relatives of Mr. Brackett, and Miss Paine is a popular and successful school teacher in Berlin.

Ex-Mayor A. L. Grant and family of Lawrence have returned for their annual sojourn and are occupying their cottage on Bay avenue. They have been included in the list of our prominent summer people for several years. Mrs. Grant's sister, Miss Etta Campbell, is staying with them as usual. Mr. Grant is prominent in the political affairs of his home city and is a widely known manager of theatrical enterprises.

Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Foss of Boston have erected during the present year one of the finest private residences in Old Orchard, the location being on the corner of Atlantic and Longwood avenues. This new house is of substantial and attractive architecture, built for permanent occupancy if desired, and the appointments are most modern in every respect. The erection of such first class buildings means much for the development of this resort. Mr. and Mrs. Foss have been well known summer residents here for many years.

A. C. McGraw is again employed at the McDonough Pharmacy.

Mrs. Ellen Dawson will conduct the Wilton house as last year.

Mrs. A. L. Dorr of Haverhill, Mass., is again at the Dorr cottage.

Mrs. Isaac Baty of Penacook, N. H., has arrived at her cottage on the sea wall with a party.

Mr. and Mrs. M. F. Cushman have opened their cottage near the campground.

Miss Myra Sawyer of Jonesport is visiting Miss Louise Bowen at her cottage near the campground.

Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Matthews and son and Rev. A. E. Pitkin of Malden, Mass., passed the Fourth at Arthur Chase's on Union avenue.

A. J. Whittemore of West Somerville, Mass., has reopened his old photograph studio near the Revere house. Mr. Whittemore has been in business here for many years.

A. S. Smith and family of Peabody, Mass., have returned to their cottage, near the entrance to the campground, where they will conduct a Home Bakery business as usual.

Miss Leda Collins and Mr. Ernest Collins are with their parents Mr. and Mrs. C. O. Collins of Nashua, N. H., at their cottage, as for several seasons past.

Miss Alma Strain and her aunt, Miss Guptill of Somerville, Mass., have arrived at their cottage on Central Park avenue, where they have passed the summer regularly for many years.

Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Furbur of Rochester, N. H., will occupy their cottage on West Grand avenue as usual. They are familiar figures among Old Orchard cottagers.

Dennison Denson and daughter, and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Chapman have arrived at their cottage on Union avenue for the season. The party has spent the winter in Los Angeles, Cal.

Mrs. E. W. Barton of Lawrence, Mass., has arrived at her pleasant cottage, the "Helene," located near the Lawrence house. Mrs. Barton is one of our best known summer residents. This year she has as her guests Mrs. E. B. Osgood and Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Swan.

If you have headache, stomach trouble, cross eyes or any nervous disease you should consult Dr. Littlefield, Saco, Maine. He has cured hundreds who had treated with medicine for years without relief. A regular $5 examination is given free during July, August and September. He can repair your broken glasses or fill an oculist's prescription and give you the best service possible to obtain.

Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Mason of Portland began the occupancy of their residence on Portland avenue early in the spring. This fine place was purchased last year of Mr. and Mrs. Frank W. Goodrich of Somerville, who had been coming here for many seasons. Mr. and Mrs. Mason have been among our best known summer people during a long period and have made their home heretofore at Pine cottage. We are pleased to have the Masons among the constantly increasing number of home owners at this resort. Mr. Mason is a member of the banking house, Mason & Merrill, 120 Exchange street, Portland.

S. F. Hill and family of Biddeford arrived at their cottage today.

Mrs. L. A. Small is one of the prominent Chicageans at the beach this year.

H. D. Metcalf and family of Montreal have arrived at their cottage on West Grand avenue.

Mrs. S. W. Chase of Orange, Mass., a summer resident of several years standing, has returned to her cottage.

The Rev. Silliman Blagden of Boston has arrived for his usual summer visit to Old Orchard.

Allen Joy and N. H. Joy of Richmond, Indiana, are making a short stay at the beach.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Byrd, Mr. and Mrs. H. R. Goldvogle, and V. E. Ryder are among the large number of Montrealers here this season.

The Misses Peyser and maid, J. Frank Peyser and Horace F. Peyser comprise a party from New York which is finding much enjoyment in our sea breezes.

O. H. Wilkins and family of Albany, N. Y., are among the increasing number of out-of-New Englanders here this season.

Dirigo Lodge, Coming Men of America, made up of Old Orchard young men, erected during the spring a building on Central Park avenue.

Miss Lund, superintendent of the Deaconess Home of New York, and Miss Pauline J. Walden, publisher of the Missionary Friend, of Boston are at Miss Oliver's cottage on Union avenue.

A party composed of the Misses Flanders, Franklin, Briggs and Lewis and the Misses Walker, Reynolds, Barker and Parkin and Mrs. Parkin are occupying the Reynolds cottage at the corner of Fern avenue and 3rd street. They take their meals at Arthur Chase's.

Mr. and Mrs. N. C. Brackett and Miss A. L. Brackett entertained a small party of friends at lunch Monday afternoon. The affair took place on the cosy piazza at the Brackett home and was very enjoyable.

Rev. W. I. Nichols and family of Brooklyn, N. Y. are occupying their cottage on Camp Comfort avenue near the sea wall. For several years they have been numbered among our summer residents. Mr. Nichols is the general secretary of the Brooklyn Bureau of Charities, while his wife is a woman of many accomplishments.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert S. Donaldson of Saco with their daughters, the Misses Alsada and Isabelle Donaldson, will occupy for the season their summer home pleasantly located at the foot of Atlantic avenue, near the sea wall. Mr. Donaldson is the superintendent of the Laconia division of the Pepperell cotton mills in Biddeford, and the Misses Donaldson are prominent members of the younger society set in the twin cities of the Saco.

Prof. J. Irving Manatt and family of Providence, R. I., who spent several seasons here camping out in the pines southwest of Union avenue, and who will be pleasantly remembered by many Old Orchard people are now passing their summer at Squirrel Island, where they have been located since June 1. Professor Manatt is a widely known Greek scholar, and is engaged in the instruction of this language at Brown University. The younger members of the Manatt family are all talented in various ways.

The Old Orchard Mirror.

ESTABLISHED 1900.

Issued every Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday during the season, July 1 to Sept. 1, at Old Orchard, Maine.

Terms for the season, by mail, Seventy-five cents. Single copies, 3 cents. Advertising rates made known on application. For sale at all news stands, by newsboys, and at office of publication. Correspondence is desired from residents and visitors relative to any matter of general interest to this resort. Communications must be signed by the real name and address of the writer, not necessarily for publication, but as a guarantee of good faith. Copy must be forwarded Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays, previous to date of publication.

The Old Orchard Mirror endeavors to advance the best interests and prosperity of Old Orchard Beach, to foster all enterprises looking to the betterment of this rapidly expanding and developing summer resort, and to promote the pleasure and welfare of the increasing thousands who sojourn here annually, from various quarters of the world. Our aim is to accomplish these objects by utilizing all agencies within the province of a public-spirited resort publication.

The Fourth of July.

The Glorious Fourth of July, the date on which the anniversary of American Independence is celebrated, has again come and gone. The day at Old Orchard was about all that could be desired so far as weather was concerned, for it was pleasant and comfortable during the greater part of the day, although the wind during the evening hours was somewhat disagreeable.

The visitors to this resort from Saco, Biddeford and Portland began to arrive early on the electric and steam cars and these transient people, added to the number of permanent summer residents, made up an unusually large crowd, one of the largest in fact that ever congregated here on a Fourth of July. There was the usual observance of the day on the part of the young people and during the evening displays of fireworks, bonfires and such things were noticeable in various parts of the town.

An immense crowd came here during the evening hours, the electric cars having a very heavy traffic and a large proportion of these people went to the pier, where they watched the fireworks and later attended the ball in the casino. It is said that there were about 2,000 on the pier while the festivities were in progress.

Good order prevailed throughout the town and everything passed off smoothly. Taken as a whole it was a very satisfactory Fourth of July for Old Orchard visitors and business people.

The Biddeford Record Saturday had the following:

The initial number of the Old Orchard Mirror for the season of 1904 will make its appearance Saturday. The summer paper as usual will be issued Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday of each week and will be filled with interesting news of the resort by the sea. It stands in the front rank of summer publications and as an advertising medium has few equals among similar publications, having many readers along this coast.

The first issue of the Seaside Echo made its appearance Friday from W. L. Streeter's printing office, Saco. This is the Echo's fourth season and it is published by Annie J. Crediford of Kennebunk. It is a bright, interesting and well edited summer resort weekly and reports the happenings at Kennebunkport, Cape Porpoise and vicinity in such a manner as to win the approval and support of advertisers and the reading public generally.

Base Ball Game.

Last Saturday afternoon the Hot Combination base ball team of Saco was defeated by the Old Orchards in a hotly contested game on the Seaside Park grounds, by a score of 7 to 5.

Clarke and W. Jordan made up the Old Orchard battery, while Savage and P. Jordan did their best to serve Saco in the same capacity. The line-up and batting order of the home team was as follows: Mackey, rf., Clarke, p., Blaisdell, cf., Jordan, c., Phillips, ss., Kirkpatrick, lb., Sears, 3b., Snow, lf., Chandler, 2b.

The game was very satisfactory to the home boys, as the Hot Combination has lately expressed its utter disregard for base ball of the kind found at Old Orchard and has loudly asserted its superiority over any team of sand diggers. But Saturday afternoon they were taught a lesson. They found that the Old Orchard team, although not quite so torrid in name, could deliver goods quite as warm as those put up by the Saco aggregation.

A Telephone Exchange.

Mr. G. L. Willman of Boston has been in town recently in the interest of the New England Telephone & Telegraph Company. He has been endeavoring to establish a local telephone exchange and has met with considerable success, having secured about 25 persons who are ready to go into the plan, including the proprietors of business places and the owners of private residences.

Mr. Willman does not expect any great results at the outset, but believes that many will subscribe after they see that the project is working satisfactorily. Having once been established, the system will be continued throughout the year.

Under the new arrangement the pay stations at the various hotels will remain as at present. There can be no doubt that a local exchange would greatly facilitate the telephone service in Old Orchard, and would work a great benefit to all who have occasion to use the telephone, as so many do in these times of progress.

Under the present system the facilities have not been such as to permit the taking of but a limited number of subscribers to the service, but with such an arrangement as has been outlined, it will be possible to accommodate all who desire to enter into the plan.

Hotel Velvet Under New Management.

Mr. Joseph Alonzo Nutter, the new manager of the Hotel Velvet, comes to this popular house equipped both with sufficient experience and ability to make this hostelry, already one of the best known on the beach, not only the best known but also the most heavily patronized of any of our hotels.

Mr. Nutter has been in the hotel business many years and has successfully conducted some of the most prominent hotels in the country. He has managed the Sherwood House, Fifth Avenue, New York, and has also been proprietor of other well known New York hostleries, including the Madison Avenue Hotel and the Hotel Brunswick. Mr. Nutter has also been proprietor of the Manhansett House, Shelter Harbor, and the Clarendon Hotel, Saratoga. All these ventures have been carried through successfully by his unusual ability and pleasing personality, which makes him an ideal hotel man.

Mr. Nutter has able assistance from a carefully selected and able staff at the heads of the various departments. Mr. R. J. Dormer, his private secretary, is a man of good executive ability and a pleasing gentleman to meet. Charles J. Hunt, lately of the Harris Cottages, Lakewood, is steward, and P. J. Lane, a man of similar ability, is second steward. He was for some time at the Grand Union Hotel, New York City.

The excellence of the cuisine is assured by the presence of one of the most famous chefs in New York, Michael Myer, and Emil Boehm, the far-famed pastry cook. Wm. Lapoint, the clerk was connected with Young's Hotel, Boston, for many years. H. M. Miller is room clerk, George Wilson, cashier, and I. Melasky, night clerk. E. T. Hickey is manager of the confectionery, ice cream and soda store, which is run this year in connection with the hotel and is maintaining a standard which it never has before. In this department, as in all others, Mr. Nutter believes in dealing out the best to be had. John C. Nevens has charge of the soda-fountain and personally superintends the manufacture of all the syrups. H. E. Conrad, the head waiter, has been with Mr. Nutter several years in his different New York hotels. The Velvet can boast of an excellent laundry this year under the direction of M. A. Lewis. The public is given the benefit of this and outside patronage is solicited.

The hotel is having an excellent business, as is natural, and the patronage is sure to increase. There are sixty-two guests at present. The cafe is having the biggest rush that this department ever experienced, which is of course due to the excellence of the service and bill of fare which Mr. Nutter has introduced. There is another new feature, which has been established in connection with the hotel, which fills a long felt want, and is becoming very popular. This is the quick lunch on the Midway. Mr. Nutter serves here at the usual prices, food of the same quality as is put before his regular guests.

The hotel orchestra arrived from Cambridge, Mass., yesterday, and will be led by Warren W. Green as for several years past. Mr. Green is not only an able musician, but a capable master of ceremonies. Social life will start up at the Velvet at once, and it will soon be the scene of many enjoyable soirees.

Maine Federation of Women's Clubs.

By invitation of the Women's Club of Bar Harbor, the annual meeting of the Maine Federation of Women's Clubs, will be held at that place in September, probably, September 21-22-23, although the dates are not yet announced.

Special rates will be secured on Railroads and at hotels and a fine opportunity is thus given to visit this beautiful resort.

The sessions will be exceptionally interesting as some of the most talented women of this and other states will be in attendance.

The Federation is in splendid condition and doing valuable educational work in Maine.

Seaside Park.

Wesley G. Smith, Old Orchard's enterprising real estate and insurance agent and the chief promoter of Seaside Park, has made extensive improvements in this popular pleasure ground since last season.

A substantial wooden enclosure has been erected for the Merry-go-round and a large pavilion is in the process of construction for dancing, etc. These buildings will fill a long felt want and will add a great deal to the attractions of the Park. The Scenic Railway will be better than ever this year under the able management of Selectman Charles E. Butler. If the weather is favorable Gorman's Theatre will run, presenting high-class, up-to-date vaudeville. Everything will be done to make this delightful Park System one of the best attractions Old Orchard has to offer, and no pains will be spared to provide for the comfort and enjoyment of its patrons.

At The Bay View House.

The Bay View House will be under the management of Mr. F. I. Ordway of Boston again this season as during the past two years. Since purchasing this valuable property the new owner has made extensive improvements, which have added much to the comfort and pleasure of the hundreds of guests that are entertained at this well known hostelry every year. This season a large number of electric lights were installed throughout, thereby greatly increasing the fine equipment of the hotel.

Rigby Park Is No More.

A crew of workmen has been busy lately tearing down the fences, sheds and other buildings at the once famous Rigby Park near Portland, and the lumber will be sold. Both the imposing towns that reared their shapely dimensions so proudly over the gate are no more. The club house and stables are being removed and a few weeks hence the racing ground will be no more.

The axe that a Maine lumberman has been using in felling trees smells sweet of pine and birch. Pleasant is it to take it up and inhale deep whiffs of the fragrance breathing round it as to smell a wild rose. Forthwith the sense is titillating with the beauty and perfume of the forest. Now, in descanting in poem or novel of such an axe, it is a dreary mistake to fly off in search of some oriental image or other of the sandal-wood self-sacrificingly perfuming the iron of the cruel tool that laid it low. Who in these parts knows anything about the smell of sandal-wood, unless here or there in a sporadic chest imported from India for the storing of furs against the ravages of moths! But dull must he be in sense who does not feel his nostrils dilating with keen delight at the native scent of pine or birch.—

The Maine Central.

The people are here, and they are buying goods somewhere. If you are not getting some share of their trade, it is because you are not advertising properly. People keep on eating and drinking in summer time. They wear clothes, not so many perhaps, but more changes in summer. They also buy goods. Every reader is a buyer. If you have anything to sell them or tell them they will not know it unless you advertise.

At Delightful Hazen-Den

PICTURESQUE Hazen-Den, the beautiful estate of Mr. F. H. Hazelton, manager of the Equitable Life Assurance Society for Maine, will be more attractive this season than ever before, and that is saying a great deal.

A few years ago Mr. Hazelton, who is one of our most public spirited summer residents, began the development of a large tract of land covered with pine growth and located in a delightful spot southwest of Union avenue. Every year artificial attractions have been added to the natural beauties of the place, until now it is one of the most charming retreats to be found anywhere in this locality.

The famous "Log Cabin," which is one of the principal features of the place, has been the center of attraction for thousands of visitors during the several years that it has been opened on many occasions to the public. Numerous musicales and other high class social events have taken place in seasons gone by, and it is probable that these affairs will be continued this season and in future years.

Mr. and Mrs. Hazelton are well known as hospitable entertainers, and they have done a great deal for the social life at this resort. A great number there are who appreciate the many enjoyable occasions that have been provided at Hazen-Den.

A Talented Young Artist.

Mrs. Sophia Dunn and her daughter, Miss Henrietta W. Dunn, formerly of Minneapolis, but in recent years residents of Boston have returned to Old Orchard and are staying at the campground.

They first came here four years ago and returned during the summer of 1901. Miss Dunn visited here last season, and is well known among many Old Orchard people.

She is an artist of recognized ability and has been the subject of frequent sketches of a highly complementary nature in Boston, New York and other metropolitan papers.

Her work is done mostly in water colors and consists of feminine figures of great variety as well as flowers of rare beauty. There is a unique quality and daintiness about her creations that appeal most strongly to everyone who has seen her work.

Bits of History.

How did Old Orchard obtain its name? The oldest inhabitant never has been able to answer this question satisfactorily. While all authorities contend that it came from an old apple orchard, no two agree as to the exact orchard. From the early days apple trees of large size have grown here spontaneously, as well as by cultivation on the higher lands, and the logical conclusion would seem to be that the name, "Old Orchard" was itself an outgrowth, not of any particular orchard but of what was the most prominent natural product of this entire seaside region, which was itself little more than an extensive grove of apple trees a hundred and fifty years ago, this being about as far back as the name has a record.

Who were the first white owners of this town? Richard Bonighton and Thos. Lewis, Englishmen. They ob-fall, and after a little work had been done Mr. Luce purchased it. Work on the building was completed early in the spring, and Mr. Luce moved his stock of goods into it from the Dresser store, where he had been located previously. Mr. Luce now has a commodious and attractive establishment, and is carrying a largely increased line of goods.

Continued Progress.

Wesley G. Smith has erected this season on Old Orchard street, near the entrance to Seaside Park, a one story block, with three stores to be rented for business purposes. This is one of the notable to build a new block, and they selected for a site the corner lot on the same street opposite Hotel Everett.

Work was commenced before snow had left the ground and was pushed along rapidly so that the store was in a few weeks ready for occupancy. This new building is a two-story structure, with three stores on the first floor and several good rooms above. It is well constructed and an excellent addition to the number of business places in Old Orchard.

The grocery, meat and provision department is first class in all its arrangements, and there are few more attractive stores of this kind to be found anywhere in this part of the state.

A SCENE IN FERN PARK.

tained the land, which embraced this town and Saco, by grant from King James, through the famous Council of Plymouth. How did James get his title? He never had any. He stole the land from the Indians, who were the true original owners. The grant of James bore date Feb. 12, 1629, old style. It extended four miles by the seashore east of Saco river, running back eight miles by the easterly shore of the river. It was known by the Indian name Sawocotuck, from which we get "Saco."—Old Orchard Sea Breeze.

The Luce Building.

Among the several new structures that have been erected here this season is the two and one half story building on Old Orchard street, occupied by F. I. Luce as a store on the ground floor, while on the second floor are nicely arranged club rooms.

W. A. Dresser purchased the land and started operations on this building last additions of the year to Old Orchard's good buildings.

There has been much development in the vicinity of Old Orchard street and Seaside Park during the past two or three years, and especially this spring, several commodious buildings having been put up. Mr. Smith has had a hand in the greater part of this material increase in Old Orchard's value, and he believes thoroughly that these progressive movements will work much benefit to this resort.

It is really quite wonderful when one stops and thinks about it, to note the great change that has taken place here during the past ten years.

A New Block.

Wm. H. Parsons and Frank H. Libby, who have been associated in the grocery business for several years, having been located in the well known Porter store on Old Orchard street, decided this spring

Alfred M. Cohen, Esq., a prominent corporation lawyer, and family of Cincinnati are expected to arrive here within a few days, having rented for the season, the Homestead, the pleasant residence of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Ryan, located at the head of Old Orchard street. The Senior family of Cincinnati have occupied this place during the past few years.

The residence of Mr. and Mrs. Randall Smith on Fort Hill avenue, has been entirely remodeled this spring and is now one of the most attractive homes in town. It was built for permanent occupancy, and the architectural design is unique and pleasing. This place is located on the ridge southwest of the Old Orchard house and an excellent view can be had of the surrounding country and the ocean.

Mrs. James A. Smith has a fine line of patronage at her hair dressing rooms on Old Orchard street.

THE STROLLER

John Ambrose of Boston is employed at Gifun's barber shop.

Selectman John E. Webber purchased sometime ago a house on Atlantic avenue.

Mrs. Margaret Donovan of Biddeford has returned here for the remainder of the season.

Percy Rich, son of Mrs. Delia Rich of this town, is employed at the Old Orchard house.

The twin babies at the home of State Representative W. J. Mewer are getting along finely.

Kodak supplies and finishing for amateurs at Baker's studio. Also the finest portrait work.

Since last fall Oscar H. Yates has enlarged and otherwise improved his residence on Union avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred McLaughlin, who passed the winter in California returned to their home on East Grand avenue early this season.

T. G. Hill built several months ago a good-sized building near Evergreen avenue at the Campground, where he conducts his large steam laundry business.

J. Frank Lombard and his son, Percy Lombard, who have been in Washington much of the time during the past few years, returned here early this spring.

The vital statistics of this town, for 1903-04, show that there were 7 marriages, 11 births and 28 deaths. Of the latter ten were over 70 years, three were over 80.

Principal E. W. Wright, of the local high school, is acting in the capacity of bookkeeper at the office of the Old Orchard Lumber Company as for some time past.

It seems strange to have what was formerly known as Porter grocery store on Old Orchard street closed this season, after it had been such a prominent business center for so many years.

Willis Roberts and family of Biddeford are occupying their summer home, corner Bay and West Grand avenues, as for several seasons past. Mr. Roberts is employed in the mechanical department of the Biddeford Journal.

Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Smith of Brookline, Mass., will occupy their delightful summer home "The Breakers" on Odessa avenue this season. This is another of the fine residences which add so much to the beauty and attractiveness of Old Orchard.

Mrs. L. H. Dennis & Co., of Dover, N. H., have opened their store in the Jones House for the third season. Miss Annie M. Nute is in charge of the business. The stock of goods includes a beautiful line of embroideries and a fine display of souvenirs.

Patrick Welch and family of Boston will occupy their fine summer residence on the sea wall this season as for several years past. This is one of the best appointed and most attractive summer homes along the shore. It was built about four years ago.

Mr. Dorr of Haverhill has rented the Washington market on West Grand avenue.

Fred I. Luce, town clerk and treasurer, has been in Alfred this week on court business.

Madame Rose Catoma, the well known clairvoyant and palmist, is again located here this season on the pier.

Miss Clara Legro of Rochester, N. H., has charge of a booth on the pier, where a fine line of perfumes is sold.

City Missionary G. G. Hoerl of Biddeford has built during the spring a cottage in the rear of the Campground.

Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Perkins of Berlin, N. H., are occupying for the season the Idle Day cottage near Union avenue.

Phil Eastman, porter at the Aldine hotel, with his wife and their child, is occupying rooms in the Porter block.

Mrs. Charles E. Gould of Boston, a sister of W. G. Harmon of Old Orchard, is occupying the Eureka on Highland avenue for the first season.

Miss Eleanor Mae Wright, daughter of Prof. and Mrs. E. W. Wright, has returned here to pass the vacation from her school work at Hebron Academy, where she has maintained excellent rank during the two years that she has been a student there.

John C. Pierce is making extensive improvements about his property between West Grand avenue and the sea wall. He has purchased a large parcel of land, on which are about eight different buildings, with fully sixty rooms for the entertainment of guests.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Leavitt moved early this spring from Saco, where they reside during the winter months, to their pleasant residence, "Springhurst," on Portland avenue. Their daughters, the Misses Florence and Ella Leavitt, visit there during the season and they entertain a number of guests.

The family of Dennis Wholey, a prominent business man of Lowell, have been occupying since early in the season their fine residence located on the sea wall a short distance northeast of the Lawrence house. The Wholeys have been coming here regularly for several years, and their summer home was built about three years ago.

Fred Goodwin of Biddeford, one of the owners of the Biddeford & Saco Coal Company, is passing the summer here with his family as usual. His father, Hon. Charles E. Goodwin, cashier of the Biddeford National bank, Mrs. Goodwin and their daughter, Miss Rena Goodwin, one of Biddeford's most prominent young society women, spend much of their time here.

Mrs. C. W. Hawkes and daughter, Miss Susie Hawkes, of New Haven, Conn., have returned and are occupying their fine residence pleasantly located on the sea wall between Bay and Camp Comfort avenues. They have been among our best known summer residents for many years. The many friends of the Hawkes family here and elsewhere were sorry to learn of the death of Mr. Hawkes last winter.

Mr. and Mrs. C. G. Moulton of Limerick drove here in a team Sunday.

Have you tried Mrs. Snow's hot buttered pop corn? If not, you should do so at once.

Mrs. Joseph Redford of Lawrence has rented for the season, The Maine, on East Grand avenue.

Colonel Fay, the well known newspaper correspondent of Portland, has been a visitor in town recently.

Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Hazelton and son, Philip of Portland and Old Orchard are passing the week in New York.

There is an unusually large amount of business being done at the American Express office for this time in July.

Trial Justice Frank Colley is again located in the same office that he has occupied for several years in the Day building.

A Japanese tea house in one of the stores in the new block erected near the Seaside Park entrance, is quite an innovation here.

George Hinchliffe is with E. B. Sears, the "Peanutline" manufacturer, this season. For a few years he was employed at Hotel Velvet.

Robert Hayes of Lewiston has been the guest for several days of Robert Donaldson's family at their cottage on Atlantic avenue.

Miss Lena Wing, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Wing of Old Orchard, is employed at Luce's variety store during the summer months.

Charles A. Breck, superintendent of schools, Methuen, Mass., is spending the season with his wife's people at the Sharpe cottage at the Highlands.

The concrete sidewalk on the westerly side of Old Orchard street has been repaired this season and is now in much better condition than for several years.

Mrs. Pauline DeGaite of Saco has taken the "Woodstock" on the Campground for the season. She will conduct a summer business of board and meals.

Work is progressing rapidly on the large pavilion being constructed at Seaside Park. It will be completed in time for the big rush of business, which will not be on for three weeks yet.

Lewis F. Gilson of Farmington, N. H., has accepted a position in the Boston & Maine ticket office. He has had considerable experience in railroad offices although but a young man.

The Philharmonic orchestra, one of the best musical organizations in the state, will provide the music on the pier this season, as during the past two years. Frederick J. Lavigne is the talented leader.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Hanson and their daughter, Miss Ida W. Hanson of Pine street, Lewiston, recently arrived at their cottage here, where they have been regular visitors for many years and have many friends. Mr. Hanson is the paymaster of the Lewiston Bleachery & Dye works.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Stanley Hill of Saco will pass the summer with Mrs. Hill's parents, Hon. and Mrs. C. M. Moses, at their residence on Union avenue. Mr. and Mrs. Hill were married at the Unitarian church, Saco, June 14, and it was one of the most important society events of the year in our neighboring city.

Damage by Lightning.

The shower last Tuesday afternoon was the heaviest this year, and for several seasons past. Much damage was done in surrounding towns and Old Orchard did not escape unscathed.

The "Lyon's Den" at Ocean Park was struch and almost completely demolished, large holes being torn in the roof, chimneys shattered, and shingles scattered, right and left. The accident seems miraculous, as fourteen people were in the house at the time, and no one was injured.

The residence of Charles A. Wing, near the Campground was also struck. Several panes of glass were broken, a chimney knocked down, one end of the house badly shattered, and some furniture broken. Mr. Wing is in California at the present, and although Mrs. Wing was not along during the storm, she received a bad shock. It was at first thought that her condition was due to the lightning, but it was afterwards decided that she was suffering from severe fright. It was soon found that her condition was not serious.

Bowling Notes.

There is as usual much interest in bowling this season, and the best scores to date at the Cleaves alley are:

BIG PINS.

Gents—C. Faulhaber, New York, 203.
Ladies—Miss Mary V. Peyser, New York, 151.

CANDLES.

Gents—J. W. Meldrum, Poughkeepsie, 108.
Ladies—Miss Agnes B. Slamin, Boston, 80.

DUCKS.

Gents—F. Glenn Harmon, Old Orchard, 96.

The Sunday schools of the School street Methodist and the Main street Baptist churches, Saco, held their annual picnic Wednesday at Ferry Beach Park.

It is said that the Boston & Maine is hiring no more men than necessary this summer. Whenever it is possible extra men are not being employed to handle the summer business for the management wishes to curtail expenses so far as possible.

W. C. Taylor and family of Gibson street, Medford, Mass., are occupying the Nestle Inn cottage recently purchased by Mr. Taylor and located on Central Park avenue. This piece of property was purchased through the real estate agency of F. A. Sidelinger & Co. of F. H. Merrill, Portland.

Don't go to Portland, Boston or New York to have your eyes attended to. Dr. Littlefield, President of the Kansas Optical College, now located in Saco, Maine, has the most complete testing parlor in New England. During July, August and September he will give a regular $5.00 examination Free. This is your opportunity. Embrace it.

The Golden Bee.

It is said that when the tomb of Childeric, a king of the first Frankish dynasty in the fifth century, was opened in the seventeenth century hundreds of golden bees were found in it. So when the French empire was established the golden bee was adopted as one of its emblems.

An Animal Story For Little FolksThe Lovesick Hippo

Near the mouth of a large river in Africa there lived a young Miss Hippopotamus. She was not very proud of her looks, and she always wrote her name without the hyphen.

But one day as she was taking a sun bath, with just her nose and flat back above water, there came by that way a very wise professor of natural history, who, seeing Miss Hippo at her bath, seemed full of delight and cried out: "What a beauty! What a beauty! I'd like to take her with me." Poor Miss Hippo was greatly excited and ducked her head at once, as any well mannered young lady would do at such a time. When she came back to the surface again the professor had gone, but his words had turned Miss Hippo's head.

"He meant me, of course," she said to herself. "Then I must be handsome after all, and he did say that he would TOOK A STICK AND WROTE ON THE SAND. like to take me with him. How nice it would be to go off with that handsome man! And he called me a beauty!" Poor Miss Hippo began to be vain. She dressed herself in her very best gown, she put on her Easter bonnet, and, taking her parasol, she waded out on the sandy bank.

"He is not here, but he will come back," she sighed. "I will leave a message for him." So she took a stick and wrote on the sand:

"Please, dear Mr. Man, come back. You can have me any time. I shall be here at this time tomorrow. Miss Hippopotamus." And this time she put in the hyphen.

But when she came back the next day the tide in the river had risen and washed out all her message. Each day she wrote, but each day the water washed out her writing.

The professor never came back, and the poor hippo grew thinner and thinner until her skirts got too big.

"I shall die for love of him," she said.

And she did. Wasn't she foolish?—Detroit Journal.

Pretenders.

Oh, wherefore and why
Do some people try
To seem what they really are not?
Perhaps they're inclined
To think folks are blind
And can't tell a pan from a pot.

He Had Proof.

"Do you think that the good die young?"

"I know it. I have met too many boarding house hens."

The Old Orchard Mirror.

ESTABLISHED 1900.

Issued every Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday during the season, July 1 to Sept. 1, at Old Orchard, Maine.

Terms for the season, by mail, Seventy-five cents. Single copies, 3 cents. Advertising rates made known on application. For sale at all news stands, by newsboys, and at office of publication. Correspondence is desired from residents and visitors relative to any matter of general interest to this resort. Communications must be signed by the real name and address of the writer, not necessarily for publication, but as a guarantee of good faith. Copy must be forwarded Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays, previous to date of publication.

The Old Orchard Mirror endeavors to advance the best interests and prosperity of Old Orchard Beach, to foster all enterprises looking to the betterment of this rapidly expanding and developing summer resort, and to promote the pleasure and welfare of the increasing thousands who sojourn here annually, from various quarters of the world. Our aim is to accomplish these objects by utilizing all agencies within the province of a public-spirited resort publication.

The Present Season.

The indications all point to an unusually good business at Old Orchard this season in spite of the fact that this is "presidential year" and that the Louisiana Purchase Exposition is in progress at St. Louis.

This noted summer resort always gets a large patronage if any does, for it has been a well known vacation center for many years and is becoming more popular each succeeding year. During the past two seasons the extremely cold weather has very seriously affected all the resorts in New England and yet throngs of visitors have come here, our hotels and other business enterprises having in most instances been successful.

The weather has, of course, much to do with the prosperity of a place like Old Orchard and there have been many predictions as to what will be served up to us in the atmospheric line this season, but the majority seem inclined to believe that the conditions will not be so unfavorable as during 1902-03. It hardly seems possible that they could be any worse, and all are hoping that the frigidities of the recent years will take a much needed vacation.

There are many attractions offered the sojourner here during the present season, and ample accommodations together with first-class entertainment will be provided all who desire to come among us.

Our Police Force.

Elmer E. Googins is again this season at the head of our efficient police department, in which position he served with marked ability last year. Mr. Googins has had much valuable experience as a police officer and he thoroughly understands the needs of such a large and constantly developing summer resort as Old Orchard.

The other members of the police force are Lewis M. Fowler, William Taylor and Eugene Littlefield, all of whom have served the public in this capacity in previous years. The Old Orchard bluecoats have always conducted themselves creditably and have managed the immense crowds which congregate here during the busy part of the season, in a highly satisfactory manner.

There is scarcely any trouble arising from the large number of visitors, and this is due in a large measure to the carefulness and vigilance of those who are selected to act as guardians of the peace.

There Was A Delay.

The Tuesday's issue of THE MIRROR was delayed on account of the severe electrical storm that afternoon, which disarranged things at the power station of the York Light & Heat Co., Biddeford. Consequently the dynamo at the Streeter printing office was not in working order for several hours, causing this paper to go to press Wednesday morning.

Here and There.

The mosquitoes might be a great deal worse.

The dust got well laid Tuesday. It is rare indeed that a more severe thunderstorm visits hereabouts.

The baggagemen report a good number of trunks arrived during the present week.

Business is starting up well at Seaside Park and the prospect is excellent for a prosperous season there.

Manager Yates of the Pier is very well pleased with the patronage he has received thus early in the season.

The summer rush is on and Old Orchard was never livelier at this time of the year.

The hotel and boarding house accommodations, not to mention those of the cottages, have been steadily increasing for several years. Many thousand people can be and are entertained at this resort annually. Hotels are enlarged and new business places are opened every year and yet all seem to be prospering.

Street Commissioner Fred A. Whittier has made many improvements on the streets in different parts of the town this year. Nothing is a better investment for a resort like Old Orchard than good roads. The more that is done in this line the greater will be the value of all the property here. There still remains a great chance to do work to better the condition of our streets.

OCEAN PARK

The Ocean Park notes will appear on Thursdays through July.

Rev. and Mrs. E. W. Ricker of Pittsfield, N. H., are enjoying a well earned rest in their cottage on Colby avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. Williams of Boston with their niece, Miss Hobbs, and little Walden have rented the cottage of Rev. G. C. Osgood for the season.

The family of Rev. W. J. Twort of Lawrence, Mass., have come again to the Union cottage on Temple avenue, where they were last summer. Mr. Twort is chairman of the Assembly committee.

The Rev. H. Lockhart of Melrose, Mass., preached in Porter Memorial Hall last Sunday morning to a crowded house. Next Sunday the morning service at 10.30 will be in the temple.

Among the happy children at the Park are those of Mrs. E. B. Eldridge of Providence, R. I., who is staying with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Tilley, in their roomy cottage on Temple avenue.

Mr. L. J. Brackett of Jamaica Plains, Mass, publisher of the Jamaica Plains News and Manager of the Boston office of the C. F. Wyckoff Co., Advertising Agents, 5 School street, with Mrs Brackett and the children are welcomed back to the "Star" cottage on Randall avenue.

Tanglewood with its spacious verandah is again open and occupied by the family of its owner, the Hon. C. A. Milliken, ex-mayor of Augusta. Miss Harriet Milliken has just graduated from Bates college.

Mr. Paul Favor and his sister, Ruth, have come to spend the summer with their grandmother on Randall avenue. Paul has graduated from Dartmouth college and is now ready to take on a little much needed color. Judging from the faces of those who have been here a short time there is plenty of color to be had with no penny-in-the slot for it either.

Rev. Willis Davis, who, with his family, has spent the past year at the Park, is rejoicing in restored health. We hear that he is much liked by the people of West Kennebunk where he has been preaching the past three months.

Mr. K. Iwaya of Tokio, Japan, is spending the summer at Ocean

Park, studying English with Prof. H. B. Davis preparatory to entering the university in the fall.

James Milliken and family of Lawrence, Mass., have come to their beautiful cottage facing the sea wall and on Temple avenue. The fine cottage of Roscoe Milliken of Nashua, N. H., is occupied by the family. Misses Ruth and Pearl, the daughters of the two families are welcomed by the young people.

We are glad to greet Carl E. Milliken of Island Falls, Cheney Boothby, Esq., of Boston, Prof. Blount of Lowell and Harlow Davis of Augusta.

We have known, no, we have heard of its raining pitchforks and guns, but never until Tuesday afternoon have we seen it raining pine kindling wood.

Mr. and Mrs. John McKenzie and daughter, Marguerite, Mr. and Mrs. Charles McKenzie, Mr. and Mrs. Clemence Friedl of Elmwood, Providence R. I., are having a very happy time at the Billow House. They think that Ocean Park is the one place for a really good time.

L.

DAMES AND DAUGHTERS.

Mrs. Clute of the Pettaping House, Essex, Conn., has a copy of the first newspaper printed in America, dated at Boston, April 24, 1704.

The Countess of Warwick has a Shakespeare garden at Warwick castle which is intended to contain every plant and shrub mentioned by the great dramatist in his plays.

Mrs. Freelon Starbird of West Farmington, Me., has a whole set—the blue rosebud pattern—of old fashioned dishes. They have been in her family more than 100 years. They were given by an old aunt to her grandfather in 1794.

The Boston Authors' club visited the Whittier home in Amesbury, Mass., recently. A feature of the event was the presentation to Mrs. Julia Ward Howe of a book which she sent to Whittier fifty-one years ago. The author had underlined and commented on various passages.

Miss Josephine Berry, the fourteen-year-old daughter of James Albert Berry of North Saco, Me., is the champion buttermaker of her age in York county, if not in New England. She makes every week fifty pounds of gilt edge butter, besides performing many household duties.

Mrs. R. J. Burdette, the humorist's wife, is a great traveler. She has in her California home a collection of beautiful bells from every quarter of the world, and she has in her memory a collection of odd incidents and sayings gathered in as many and diverse places as the bells were.

Miss Helen Gould is a brunette, with brown hair and eyes. Her face is not pretty, but it is singularly sweet in expression. Of medium size and a good figure, she invariably dresses in black when in public. Her voice is low and pleasant to hear. She talks slowly and slightly draws her words out.

HOTEL PERSONALS

Miss Mira B. Frantz of New York City is registered at the Velvet.

E. S. Fickett, who is making a short stay at the Aldine, is a bank cashier at Georgetown, Mass.

Harold Stetson of Brunswick, of the class of 1906, Bowdoin college, is employed as second head waiter at the Fiske House.

E. W. Berry, a wealthy mine owner of Spokane, Washington, is spending his first season here at Old Orchard. His headquarters are at the Irving.

V. A. Kerr of Montreal, an old patron of the Irving and a prominent man in business circles in his native city, has arrived for his usual summer visit.

The Everett opened for business Tuesday, the last of the more important hotels to do so. Although the arrivals are few as yet, much business is booked for later in the month.

I. C. Beaudoir and the Misses Beaudoir of Montreal are registered at the Irving. This is their first season at Old Orchard but we feel sure from their expressions of delight that it will not be their last.

R. P. Stuart of Montreal has returned to the Irving for his usual summer visit. Mr. Stuart is a young man, though old as an Old Orchard summer guest. Everybody is always glad to see him come, and this year he is just as jolly a good fellow as ever. He is one of the guests whose parting is never speeded.

Teachers Have Been Re-elected.

Members of the local school committee met at the home of Mrs. L. L. Brackett Monday afternoon and the following teachers were re-elected for the next school year:—Edward W. Wright, high; Miss Annie L. Beard, grammar; Mrs. Lizzie E. Colley, intermediate; Ida M. Elden, primary.

The school officers are:—Rev. O. J. Hancock, chairman; T. L. Cleaves, Mrs. L. L. Brackett, A. L. Jones, superintendent.

The Public Library.

The quarters of the Old Orchard Public Library in the town building have been enlarged this season and now the facilities for doing the work are much improved, while the greater convenience to the public, especially in the use of the reading room, should be much appreciated.

The stack room has been made double its former size, which permits a much better arrangement of the bound volumes and magazines.

The library has been established over six years and the influence of this institution has been recognized more and more each year by our permanent residents and summer visitors, as shown by the constantly increasing circulation.

A number of books and magazines have been donated annually, and these together with money are always gladly received. Mrs. Mary W. Means, the efficient librarian is again in charge, as for several years.

Mrs. C. B. Leithhead of Montreal, an old patron of the Atlantic, has returned to that house for the season.

Rev. J. B. Saer and family of Bridgton are spending the month of July at the Abbott. Mr. Saer is pastor of the Congregationalist Church at Bridgton.

Mrs. J. O. Joseph and daughter of Montreal, who are summer residents at Old Orchard of long standing, have returned to their usual headquarters, the Aldine.

Mr. and Mrs. L. N. Currier of Brookline, Mass. are registered at the Aldine. Mr. Currier is representative for Lord & Taylor, underwear manufacturers, of New York City.

Dr. Sawyer, a prominent dentist of Littleton, N. H., has arrived at the Abbott for a stay of several weeks. Dr. Sawyer is an old guest at the Abbott. He made the trip from Littleton in his smart private team.

E. E. Draper and wife of Troy, N. Y., are registered at the Abbott. Mr. Draper is the son of Representative Draper of New York. The Drapers are accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. F. S. Davis, also of Troy. Mr. Davis has extensive interests in the Boston & Maine.

Charles J. Favinger of Frederica, Del., is employed as night clerk at the Everett. Mr. Favinger is a member of the class of 1906 of Bowdoin college and has all the qualities which should enable him to fill his position with the greatest success.

A Narrow Escape From Drowning.

The first reported instance of what might have been a serious accident took place Tuesday afternoon at the Pier just before the heavy storm. The water was very rough and choppy as it always is at such times, and the surf very heavy.

Nevertheless a member of the Montreal fire department, whose name could not be learned, attempted to swim out to the float under the Pier Casino. He was an expert fresh water swimmer, but knew little about salt water, or the danger he was running. He had covered almost the whole distance to the float, when he became exhausted, but, having luckily kept in close to the Pier, he was able to grasp one of the braces of the steel work. His helpless condition was first discovered by Mr. White, who runs a curio shop next to the Velvet bath house, from which the man started. Fred McLaughlin of Old Orchard and William Cobb, an attendant at the bath house, immediately started to the rescue. A life preserver was thrown from the Pier to the man, but he could not reach it. Finally he was drawn to the float in a badly exhausted condition. A physician was called, and after some labor resuscitation was complete, and the bold fireman appeared none the worse for his experience.

Moral:—Take care. Don't go beyond your depth, and don't insist on swimming to Stratton Island, if you have never been in the surf before.

It was all over, and General Marvin lay under the live oaks, while Miss Rebecca sat alone in the darkened parlor. Now the burden lay with her alone, and she followed wearily the trail of the years that had brought only trouble and loss.

Jessica stood still in the doorway at sight of the bowed head. She couldn't find no words to say, but she drew Miss Rebecca's head down and held her close to her strong, young arms. Miss Rebecca lifted a hopeless face. "Child, I do not mourn for him. It is for you. Jessica, this old house and a pitiful ten acres is all that is left, and even that cannot be sold during my lifetime. There is nothing, nothing! Don't talk to me now. I cannot bear it. I must try to think." And Miss Rebecca crept away to her room.

Left to herself, the girl stood looking out toward the clump of live oaks that towered above the general's grave. She remembered that there had always been little economics practiced by Miss Rebecca, and the days when the general would shut himself in with a mass of papers—always after the visits of those men from town. Now the end had come. But the old home was still theirs, even though shorn of its broad acres, and an idea came to her. That night she wrote the letter that went in the northern mail, signed with the boyish scrawl of "J. L. Marvin."

Business was unusually dull in the office of Repplier Bros., florists, and the morning mail received instant attention. James Repplier tossed a letter across to his brother John. "Read that, John."

Repplier Bros.
Gentlemen—Is there any market for cut flowers direct from the south—cape jasmine, English violets, roses and all varieties of the lily? Can make arrangements for packing and shipping to arrive in good condition. I should be glad to receive orders. Respectfully,
J. L. MARVIN.

Aldana, Miss.
John Repplier laid the letter down and looked up inquiringly. "Might be a good idea. What do you think?"

"Well! We will be pretty apt to need a large supply in the next forty-eight hours, as that Garling funeral will call for more than we can furnish from our own plant."

Ten minutes later the message went off that electrified the household at Bois d'Arc:

Send all available blooms. Letter to follow. Terms guaranteed.
REPLIER BROS.

Miss Rebecca was bewildered at the very idea of money to be gained from the profusion that rioted in hedge and arbor and over the waste of unkempt gardens, but Jessica rallied the idle negroes and worked all night until the dawn, when Uncle Reuben drove down to Aldana with a wagon load of baskets filled to the brim with fragrant merchandise.

Evening brought the letter that made possibility certainty, and busy days followed for Jessica. More land was leased and a little office constructed in the old weighing room of the gin that now served as a packing room.

Miss Rebecca willingly let go the reins of Bois d'Arc into Jessica's hands. Once more Aunt Ailsa rejoiced in a well filled pantry, and bit by bit the old border was restored, excepting always the tall, soldierly figure that had moved out from among them forever.

November had come, and a soft haze lay over the sunny fields, and a tang of frost lurked in the breeze. Jessica lay in the hammock under the pines, her loosened hair blown back in a ruddy halo and the bars of sunlight flecking the smooth olive of her rounded cheek with golden light as she swayed back and forth, a picture that held the intruder silent until the crunching of the pine needles beneath his feet brought Jessica to herself. That he was very good to look at was patent at the first glance. The athletic figure, keen, dark eyes and smiling mouth made James Repplier an interesting study to the mind feminine.

"I beg pardon, but is this Bois d'Arc, the Marvin plantation?"

"Yes; this is Bois d'Arc. I am the manager."

"You? J. L. Marvin?" Repplier stared blankly. "But we had supposed—"

"That I were a man?" she broke in nervously, then, looking at the card that he handed her. "Mr. Repplier?" and a little later Repplier found himself in the dim old parlor receiving the gentle welcome of Miss Rebecca.

He was carried away with Bois d'Arc and its vague air of a better time that dimly expressed the actual assured position that had been his life motive. Self made from the days of drifting waifhood, when the two homeless boys had struggled against the current of the Chicago streets, it had been an uphill fight, with little time for the softer things of life, and here the stately rooms where the sunlight filtered through the small paned windows to fall on faces of dead and gone Marvins, the quaint wainscoted dining room, with its time stained treasures; the white table, with its glitter of silver and glass; the sweetness of flowers and the two gentlewomen so different from all the women that he had encountered in the rush of the city—he decided there and then to linger as long as he decently could, answering abstractedly to the running fire of bright nonsense that Jessica kept up. He felt that somehow he had always known that soft voice and rippling laugh.

He followed her into the garden, where the moonlight gleamed over snowy masses of chrysanthemums that stood in tall ranks. A magic dwelt in the winding alleys of that old garden, walled in by the lush fragrance of roses. Desperately, helplessly, he went down before that small maiden who talked on of flowers and still of flowers and grew very impatient of his irrelevant replies. At last she ventured, "You expected to consult with 'Mr. Marvin' as to the business for the coming season?"

Repplier pulled himself together and came out of the clouds. He had forgotten his errand.

"Yes; I had a proposition to make from our firm. You have been our chief source of supply for several months, and we have decided to offer you an interest if you will agree to work under our supervision."

Jessica drew a long breath.

Repplier went to his room that night in a state of mind that baffles description and lay for hours gazing out into the white night.

Morning—the plantation bell sent its summons far out into the misty grayness. Alas, the fields of Bois d'Arc had passed to alien hands, but the old bell still swung and lifted its voice, as it had done when in answer to its call the dusky file went forth from the gates to toll for the master of Bois d'Arc. Somewhere away off a chorus of hounds responded, and fields began to fill with the cotton pickers.

Jessica was seated behind the urn as he sat down to Aunt Ailsa's hot waffles and fried chicken. As he watched the small sunbrowned hands among the coffee cups the visions of the night came back in full force.

Repplier had no excuse for prolonging his stay, but before Jessica drove him down to Aldana he managed to extract an invitation for the holidays from Miss Rebecca. Repplier had touched her strangely with his half wistful remark, "Christmas is an empty word to me, I have never had a home."

Christmas eve, as Jessica came across the yard from the office, Repplier met her with such honest gladness in face and voice that she forgot her scruples and welcomed him as gladly. A long, happy week, for Jessica, her guard once down, threw herself into the spirit of the hour. Repplier found his crumpled rose leaf, however, in the person of Charlie Carlington, who was Jessica's shadow. "Too confoundingly cousinly," thought Repplier as the swift days flew. He had never cared for dancing, but it was dull work to stand in the shadow while Jessica circled the room in Charlie's arms. But at last the round of dances and merry makings drew to a close. Repplier grew desperate. There was only one day left to him. If Miss Rebecca had earned his gratitude before she now had his undying affection in the hour when she pressed Charlie into service to drive her to the next plantation.

It was one of those dreary, midwinter afternoons, and the open fire flickered cheerily. Jessica commenced a furious onslaught with the poker. "Poking a fire is a positive stimulant on a day like this."

"Is it? Let me try it." He took the poker, and they knelt together on the broad hearth. A merry war of words and then a silence that neither of them dared to break. Jessica gazed deep into the heart of the fire, but Repplier's eyes were on the dark curls. He could not see her face. As he dropped the poker she stretched out her hand to find it caught and held—"Jessica!" It was just a whisper, but the rich color went over her face, and the hand fluttered within the strong grasp that held it prisoner as he went on. "I know it is too soon, but I cannot go and leave my story untold. You know that I have loved you from the moment that I first saw you. I believe that I have loved you always. Above and beyond all law of caste, all difference of north and south, somewhere, somehow, you have belonged to me, and I want my own."

Outside the raindrops pattered against the long windows, then the neigh of a horse as Charlie and Miss Rebecca drove through the big gate. The brown head dropped lower, and the hand in his no longer struggled to escape. Quick to grasp his vantage ground, he drew the slight figure to him. For just the briefest time his lips sought hers; then, flushed and shy, Jessica retreated to the other end of the rug as Miss Rebecca, standing in the open door, read the end of the chapter.

Humor and Philosophy

By DUNCAN M. SMITH

Copyright, 1904, by Duncan M. Smith.

Becoming Qualified.

"What profession is your son preparing for at college?"

"A millionaire, I think, judging from his expense accounts."

Repentance.

After the Fourth is over,
After the final shout,
A fellow then is certain
Next year he'll cut it out.
Upon a stack of Bibles
He swears it to his wife,
But when the Fourth rolls round again,
He's at it large as life.

About Mosquitoes.

The mosquito is no respecter of persons. It falls alike on the just and the unjust and is itself just out when the hand of the irate victim falls on it.

It would as soon turn its hand to a Sunday school picnic as to a collection of wicked fishermen half a mile farther down the river, and a tramp tastes as good to it as a blooming young millionaire just out of the hands of a manicurest and the beauty doctor.

When the mosquito makes a point you are not always able to see it at first, but you can generally feel it later on. It grows on you.

It is not claimed that the mosquito has nine lives, but it crowds so much into the one that it does not feel the need of any more. You often wish that it had the cat's quota, that you might be able to kill it nine times, and once more for good measure, so as to make certain of the job.

Cheer Up.

What's the use of frettin'
When the skies are blue,
Though you are not gettin'
All that is your due?
Cheer up and be plucky;
It's the case, I spec',
Others more unlucky—
Get it in the neck.

Cottagers at Ferry Beach

THE cottagers have been arriving at Ferry Beach, in the vicinity known as Bay View, during the past weeks, and now the cottages are nearly all occupied. There are several fine places there, and the summer residents in most instances own the cottages they occupy.

Mr. and Mrs. F. I. Bumpus of Philadelphia were early arrivals at "The Gables," where they usually remain well into October. Mr. and Mrs. Clarence L. Percy of Saco have been residing for several weeks at their pleasant summer home which was purchased in the Spring of 1903. Lory Prentiss, formerly of Saco, now of New York State, with his family, has arrived at their cottage for the season. Mr. Shepley and family of Lewiston have rented the Mitchell cottage.

The attractive cottage owned by Madame Cappiani, the well-known vocal teacher, of New York, is occupied by the Craig family, also from the great metropolis.

The Burbanks are again domiciled in their cottage. The Graham family of Montreal are well settled in their summer home. Dr. Henry Parker and family of Dover, N. H., have once more come to their cottage. Dr. Parker is one of the leading physicians of Dover and was formerly mayor of that city.

The Buzzells are occupying the Crows' Nest as in former seasons. The Goodale family of Cambridge are among the prominent sojourners at Ferry Beach. Mrs. Goodale is the daughter of Hampden Fairfield, the well-known lawyer and financier of Saco. Nearby the Goodale cottage are located the Freemans of New York. Mrs. Freeman is a sister of Mrs. Goodale. Hon. Luther R. Moore, mayor of Saco, with his family, is occupying an adjoining cottage as in previous seasons. Mrs. Moore is the third daughter of Mr. Fairfield, passing the summer there. Franklin Nourse and family of Lowell are expected to arrive soon and occupy their cottage, for they are regular visitors each year. Mr. Nourse was formerly agent of the York Manufacturing Co. in Saco, and has a similar position in the Lowell Mills.

People Arriving at Grand Beach.

Among the prominent Portland people who will occupy their fine summer residences at Grand Beach this season are: Dr. S. H. Weeks, Messrs. James C. Hamlen and George Fletcher.

Dr. Weeks is one of the most skillful surgeons in Maine, and his beautiful place at Grand Beach was built a few years ago. It is, without doubt, the most valuable private estate in the town of Old Orchard. Several guests are entertained at the Weeks Villa during the season. Mr. James C. Hamlen and family of Portland will pass the summer at their delightful residence, where they have been coming regularly for several years. This is also one of the most pretentious summer homes in Old Orchard. Mr. Hamlen is one of Portland's wealthy and widely known business men. George Fletcher, of the firm Fletcher & Co., who carry on an extensive wholesale grocery business in the Forest City, will occupy his pleasant cottage with his family as for several years past.

THE ABBOTT.

Several other well known summer residents will be found at Grand Beach this year. This is one of the most charming spots hereabouts, and is steadily developing as are all sections of Old Orchard. It was the favorite retreat of the late Hon. Thomas B. Reed, and this famous son of Maine passed many happy hours at his attractive summer home there.

There has always been a select class of sojourners in that part of the town, and those who own property there at present are determined to have it continue as a most desirable location for summer homes.

On The Pier.

The regular Friday Evening ball was held on the Pier yesterday. Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock the famous Canadian band, L'Harmonie, Sherbrooke, P. Q., with 50 musicians, will give a concert. Seymour's biograph pictures will be exhibited at 8 o'clock in the evening.

Atlantic Shore Line Electric Road.

The rails for the Atlantic Shore Line Electric road are laid from Alfred street, Biddeford, to the ledge in the woods out beyond West street, and from Kennebunkport nearly to this ledge. As soon as the ledge is blasted out and removed, the remainder of the distance will be covered by iron and the connection will probably be made by Monday night. Next week it is likely that the work of building the road from Alfred street to the terminus in City square, Biddeford, will be commenced.

Radiator, one of the best school papers in Massachusetts. The Boston Globe, Monday, had a picture of Mr. Ricker and an account of the Radiator. Miss Mary C. Ricker of Old Orchard is an aunt of the young man.

Baggage Statistics.

An interesting bit of evidence as to the increased number of guests at Old Orchard this season is gleaned from the baggage statistics at the Boston & Maine station.

Baggage-Master Johnson says that the number of pieces received during June of this year was far more than during the same period last year. The figures have shown an increase in pieces received over last year ever since the first of July.

Also the number of pieces sent has been decidedly less this year, showing that those who have arrived are making more permanent visits than last year.

Prominent Visitors.

The Sanborn cottage south of the Camp Ground station, is being occupied for the month of July by Mrs. Smith of Manchester, N. H., widow of the late Judge Isaac W. Smith, of the Supreme Court of the Granite State. With her are her daughter, Mrs. Cowan and her two children, of Devonshire, England, her daughter, Mrs. Grace Walker, of Manchester, her son, William C. Smith, assistant master of St. Luke's School, Wayne, Pa., and Dr. C. H. Strout, headmaster of the school. Dr. Strout is 84 years of age, and is a remarkably active man for one of his advanced years.

Bowling Notes.

The interest in bowling is on the increase, and both the Cleaves and the Field alleys are heavily patronized every afternoon and evening.

Nobody has succeeded in beating the excellent scores established at the Cleaves alley the first of the week. They stand:

BIG PINS.

Gents—C. Faulhaber, New York 203.
Ladies—Miss Mary V. Peyser, New York, 151.

CANDLES.

Gents—J. W. Meldrum, Poughkeepsie, 108.
Ladies—Miss Agnes B. Slamin, Boston, 80.

DUCKS.

Gents—F. Glenn Harmon, Old Orchard, 96.

The best scores to date at Field's Alley are:

BIG PINS.

Gents—George E. Wise, Lynn, 196.
Ladies—Mrs. P. E. Smith, Boston, 129.

CANDLES.

Genst—H. H. Crane, Saco, 106.
Ladies—Miss Verna M. Graves, Brockton, 74.

DUCKS.

Gents—James Phinney, Montreal, 89.

Mrs. James A. Smith has a fine line of patronage at her hair dressing rooms on Old Orchard street.

Deacon E. F. H. Smith and wife are among the Gorham people who have been visiting here lately.

Libby & Phillips is the name of a new plumbing firm established on Old Orchard street this season.

Mrs. J. T. Whittredge and Mrs. Cyrus Bean of Lawrence are occupying the Stevens cottage on the campground.

Misses C. Ross and Kate Riley of Lewiston are with the Wisemans of the same city, at their cottage on East Grand avenue.

H. J. Lynd and family of Central Falls, R. I., well known as summer residents here, have arrived at their cottage on East Grand avenue.

Mrs. Heywood and family of Boston have returned to the Oakland cottage on Oakland avenue at the Campground. They have been coming here for several years.

Mr. and Mrs. George Rice and Miss Gertrude A. Hall of Manchester, have returned to C. E. Fogg's cottage, The Evelyn, Staples avenue. This is their second season here.

Miss C. F. Link arrived from Boston Thursday night for a visit with Mrs. Sophia Dunn and daughter, Miss Henrietta W. Dunn, who are occupying the Dean cottage at the campground.

Miss May Bowden, daughter of Mrs. Lucy Bowden of Old Orchard avenue, was taken to the Trull hospital, Biddeford, Wednesday, for treatment. Miss Bowden came home from Massachusetts early in the Spring suffering with a stroke of partial paralysis.

George W. Smith and family of White River Junction, Vt., who have been coming here regularly for several years, are not expected to return this summer. Mr. Smith is a prominent and wealthy business man having a large cracker and confectionery manufactory in his home town. The condition of his health has not been good lately.

R. H. Ingersoll and family of Biddeford will occupy this season, as for many years, their commodious residence, corner Union and Central avenues. Many improvements have been made at this place recently, including the installing of electric lights. Mr. Ingersoll is the treasurer of the York County Savings Bank. He was of the first in this vicinity to purchase and operate an automobile.

O. Donohue and family of Lowell are occupying the Costello cottage on the sea wall.

E. T. Donohue and family of Lowell are occupying Mrs. Starr's cottage on the sea wall.

R. D. Thomes and wife of Buckfield have returned to Old Orchard for their usual summer visit.

Mrs. A. R. Paul of South Berwick, who has recently purchased a cottage here, is occupying it at present with her son and daughter.

The family of Dr. J. A. Girouard of Lewiston have returned for their usual stay at the Girouard Cottage on East Grand avenue.

A. E. Fitkin of Everett, Mass., was in town early in the week making investigations, with a view to locating as a summer resident.

True A. Town of Boston is in town for a few days caring for the property belonging to the estate of the late Ephriam Chapman, a former resident of Old Orchard.

Miss M. E. Pease, teacher at the Brown School, Hartford, Conn., is the guest of Mrs. J. S. Burton and Mrs. E. N. Burton at the Baker cottage, corner Grand and Union avenues.

Mrs. E. M. Lee and daughter, Miss Orpha Lee, of Somerville have arrived at their cottage on Prospect avenue at the campground, where they pass the summer every year.

Mrs. A. Lindsay and family are occupying a cottage on Third street near the campground. Mrs. Lindsay's daughter, Mrs. Harry Keist, is also staying there. The Lindsays have been coming here for several years.

Earle C. McAllister of Somerville, a former resident of Old Orchard, made a flying trip here on the first of the week, accompanied by Mrs. McAllister, who is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry B. Bennett of Portland, formerly well known residents in this town.

J. R. Towle and family of Northwood, N. H., arrived early in the season as usual and have been occupying their cottage on Union avenue. They have been numbered among our summer residents for many years, remaining here for several months.

Dr. and Mrs. Foss of Dexter are occupying the Judkins cottage on Union avenue. They had quite an experience last Tuesday afternoon, when the house was struck by lightning during the heavy shower. Not much damage was done. Mrs. Foss and the other occupants were severely shocked by the bolt.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. LaPointe of Boston are staying at Mrs. Butler's on Old Orchard street for the season. Mr. LaPointe was connected with Young's Hotel, Boston, for a quarter of a century and more recently was proprietor of the Cecil in the same city. He is very popular with the traveling public. At present Mr. LaPointe presides in the office of the Velvet.

Miss Sadie Hill of Rochester, N. H., is passing the summer here.

Many buildings have been much improved this season by fresh coats of paint.

Mrs. W. W. Brock of Summer street, Rochester, N. H., is at Old Orchard for two months.

Miss Jennie L. Allen of Auburn and Miss Lillian A. Brown of Boston are also at the "Frederic."

Henry Kane and family of Biddeford is occupying the Goodwin cottage at Ferry Beach for the season.

Andrew Roberts and family of Biddeford are occupying their cottage on Old Orchard avenue for the season.

James Howland, formerly of Old Orchard is still at Ocean Park, Cal., where he has been located for about a year and a half.

Colonel Cozens and workers arrived today and are domiciled at the Chase residence, corner Union and Central avenues.

Samuel Whitten of Saco is employed as a gate tender at the Boston & Maine station. He was a member of this year's graduating class at Thornton Academy.

Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Sawtelle returned here early in the season this year as usual. Mr. Sawtelle has been in the photograph business at Old Orchard for a number of years.

Mrs. S. H. Lucas of Lewiston has returned for her regular summer stay at her cottage on the Campground. She is accompanied by Miss Elizabeth True, also of Lewiston.

The Men's Club of Christ Church, Biddeford, held its annual field day and picnic this afternoon at Camp Ellis. The members were entertained by Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Armstrong at their cottage. The trip was made in buckboards.

J. E. Shepardson and daughter, Miss Jennie, of No. Easton, Mass., are again occupying a cottage on the Camp Grounds. Miss Shepardson is a talented young vocalist, and is heard with pleasure at the meetings held each season.

H. W. Canover of Boston is again located at the Leavitt Souvenir store on railroad walk, where he does fine work in glass engraving. He is one of the most skilful in this line of work to be found anywhere in the United States.

Capt. Eva Ludgate, daughter of Brigadier Joseph Ludgate of the Salvation Army, is stopping at the "Frederic," the home of Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Sidelinger on Union avenue. Her home is in Denyer, Colo.

Rev. T. P. Adams and family of New Haven, Conn., have arrived for the summer and are occupying their cottage on Oakland avenue at the campground. Mr. Adams is a well known clergyman and has been a summer resident here for many years.

Mrs. J. H. Plumer of South Berwick returned early this season and is occupying her cottage at the Highlands. She has been one of the best known residents at the Campground for many years. Mrs. Plumer has been very liberal in her donations to the Methodist Episcopal church society of Old Orchard, having given several thousand dollars, including the parsonage located at the corner of Old Orchard road and School street.

Ira Whitehead of Saco is employed at Horgan & Abbott's Pharmacy.

F. H. Harvey of Danvers, Mass., is again this season conductor on the Beach railroad as for several years past.

Mrs. N. J. Hardy and daughter, Miss Laurel, of Arlington, Mass., are at Arthur Chase's on Union Avenue.

The Misses M. E. Finn and Helen Finn of Lewiston have returned to their cottage near East Grand avenue, where they have been regular summer residents for several years.

Mrs. L. H. Bucknam and family of Lewiston are passing the summer at their cottage here, as for several years past. They are located on Old Orchard avenue.

Percy F. Googins of Old Orchard, formerly employed for several years in the Boston & Maine ticket office here, now has a position in the American Express office, Portland, as last year.

Daniel Regan and sister, Miss Margaret, of North Andover, Mass., who have been visiting Mr. and Mrs. John Barrett of Dover, N. H., at their cottage the past few days, have returned home.

Mrs. F. M. Burnham and daughter of Biddeford will occupy during the season their cottage on the heights south west of the Old Orchard house. They have been summer residents here for several years.

The office building of the Electric Light & Water Co. on Old Orchard road has been improved since last season. Clapboards were put on some time ago, and a recent coat of paint has made a great change for the better.

Mrs. D. W. Lelacheur of Portland, widow of the late Rev. Mr. Lelacheur, and for many years well known here at Old Orchard, has lately returned and is occupying for the season her cottage on Fifteenth street.

Some highly artistic work has just been completed in putting the gilt letters on the windows of the waiting room for electric car patrons in the Porter block. Surely Old Orchard is improving in the nature of its signs.

A merry party of Vermonters, consisting of the Misses Fillmore, Twitchell and Andrews and Mrs. Young of Bennington, Miss Kenerson of Montgomery, also Mr. and Mrs. Sawyer of Worcester are staying at the Bachelder on Camp Comfort avenue.

Madame Barakat and family returned Thursday and are occupying their cottage near the campground. They are well known at Old Orchard, where they have passed the summer months for several years. Madame Barakat is a well educated and accomplished Syrian woman, and is an able lecturer.

J. M. Thomas and family of Boston are occupying for the third season the F. I. Luce residence on Union avenue. Mr. Thomas is a member of the large produce commission firm of M. Thomas & Sons, located on South Market street, Boston. He has his automobile here and takes much enjoyment with it.

One of the familiar figures about Old Orchard that will be missed here this season is the late H. G. Judkins of Dexter. Mr. Judkins passed away early this spring at the advanced age of about ninety years. He had been coming to this resort regularly for about twenty years, and did an extensive wholesale business selling butter and eggs.

Miss Ada Hill of Saco is clerking at Mrs. S. E. Ladd's store in the Porter block.

Mrs. C. H. Bacon of Springfield, Ohio, has arrived at her cottage on the sea wall.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Martel of Lewiston arrived Thursday at their cottage for the season.

Fred A. Leavitt of Farmington has recently purchased the Wyman cottage on Atlantic Avenue for his own occupancy.

J. S. Collins and family of Waltham, Mass., are occupying one of the cottages recently owned by Mrs. Sidney Smith on West Grand avenue.

The Misses Ruth, Marion and Gertrude Clarke of Manchester have arrived at their cottage on the sea wall. They have as their guest Miss Araminta C. Edgerly of Manchester.

Mr. and Mrs. Ira Worcester, who are well known at Old Orchard, where they have been in business for the past few years, now have the management of the Saco House in our neighboring city.

Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Gilkey of Portland will remain for the season at their pleasant cottage, corner Fern avenue and Third street, near the campground. They are regular visitors of long standing and have a host of friends here.

Captain Adams and the Misses Elizabeth Ann, Georgina B., Gloriana and Catherine J. Adams of Hanover, Mass., have arrived at the cottage on Grand avenue which the Captain bought last year.

George Shorey and family of Fairfield have arrived and are occupying their slightly residence located on the highlands near Longwood avenue. This residence was newly built within the past few years and is one of the most pleasantly located places in Old Orchard.

Mr. Edward C. Goodwin of Washington, D. C., has arrived at his cottage at the corner of Third street and Highland avenue. His mother, Mrs. L. P. Goodwin, has been at the cottage several weeks. Mr. Goodwin is well known as Senator Hoar's private secretary, and passes the summer here every year.

Dr. Nickerson and family of Lewiston are again occupying their spacious residence on Grand avenue. They have been passing the summer season here for many years, coming early and remaining late in the fall. Their residence was thoroughly remodeled and greatly enlarged last year.

Harry E. Record of Auburn returned to Old Orchard early this spring and has been staying at the Weaver cottage at the Highlands, near Washington avenue, Mrs. L. S. Weaver being his aunt. Mr. Record is one of the most prominent officers in the Good Templars, and is highly esteemed among all his acquaintances here and elsewhere.

The Old Orchard Mirror.

ESTABLISHED 1900.

Issued every Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday during the season, July 1 to Sept. 1, at Old Orchard, Maine.

Terms for the season, by mail, Seventy-five cents. Single copies, 3 cents. Advertising rates made known on application. For sale at all news stands, by newsboys, and at office of publication. Correspondence is desired from residents and visitors relative to any matter of general interest to this resort. Communications must be signed by the real name and address of the writer, not necessarily for publication, but as a guarantee of good faith. Copy must be forwarded Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays, previous to date of publication.

The Old Orchard Mirror endeavors to advance the best interests and prosperity of Old Orchard Beach, to foster all enterprises looking to the betterment of this rapidly expanding and developing summer resort, and to promote the pleasure and welfare of the increasing thousands who sojourn here annually, from various quarters of the world. Our aim is to accomplish these objects by utilizing all agencies within the province of a public-spirited resort publication.

A. L. JONES,
Editor and Publisher.

W. L. STREETER, PRINTER, SACO, MAINE.

Dangers of Surf Bathing.

The season of surf bathing at Old Orchard has now commenced and many are enjoying daily plunges into the briny water. This resort is famous for its excellent bathing facilities and thousands come here annually to indulge themselves in this healthful recreation.

Last Tuesday there came very near being a fatal accident to a man who became exhausted while in the water and was rescued just in the nick of time to save his life. Nearly every year there are narrow escapes from drowning, due to the carelessness and negligence of those who venture into the surf. The drowning accidents here fortunately have been few, but on several occasions ready assistance has been the only thing that has saved a number of persons.

Old Orchard is widely recognized as one of the best and safest places along the entire Atlantic coast for bathing purposes, but this does not eliminate the possibility of serious results if people do not use precaution while in the water.

THE MIRROR has called attention to this matter in previous years, and believes that a timely warning is in order at this time.

Base Ball Grounds.

Old Orchard is in need of suitable base ball grounds as well as a place for other athletic sports. Base ball used to be one of the leading pastimes here, but of late it has fallen into obscurity to a great extent. The games arranged between the large hotels fifteen years ago were exciting and aroused much enthusiasm.

ed notes

What Others Say.

A. L. Jones has issued the opening numbers of Volume 5 of his well-managed tri-weekly, The Old Orchard Mirror.—Farmington (N. H.) News.

The Old Orchard Mirror grows better as it grows older. No more attractive seaside paper is published.—Biddeford Record.

La Justice, published in Biddeford, and one of the leading French newspapers in New England, had the following in last Thursday's issue:

La coquette feuille americaine "Old Orchard Mirror" qui en effet, est bien le miroir qui reflete le va et vient de notre belle plage, vient de faire son apparition a nos bureaux. La Justice lui souhaite la bienvenue et lui promet la plus genereuse hospitalite a chacune de ses visites.

A. L. Jones, one of our young men, a Dartmouth graduate, now of Old Orchard, has begun the issue of the fifth volume of his summer journal, the Old Orchard Mirror, sending out a very readable number for July 2. It is published three times a week.—Rochester, (N. H.) Courier.

Mr. A. L. Jones commenced the fifth season of the Old Orchard Mirror Saturday, July 2. It is a bright, newsy sheet and deserves the support of the summer guests and all advertisers.—The Seaside Echo.

Here And There.

Many visitors are arriving every day.

Several new business places of various kinds have been opened here this season.

A great many this season have been enjoying fishing from the end of the pier, and the majority have been quite successful.

Business at the post office is constantly increasing and is now ahead of that done any previous year up to this time. This is one of the straws showing which way the wind blows.

The farmers are now doing their haying.

Now and then a yacht is seen in the bay.

The days have been growing shorter for some time.

The weather this week has not been nearly so bad as it might have been.

There will be more in the entertainment line here this season than ever before.

We are now having one of the most delightful seasons of the whole year.

The lawns in Old Orchard never looked more beautiful than at the present time.

Many new faces are seen at Old Orchard this season. But the same thing is noted every year.

There are indeed few summer resorts that offer a greater variety of genuine attractions than Old Orchard does.

The "To Let" signs have disappeared very rapidly from the cottages and business places during the past few weeks.

A large number are enjoying surf bathing these days, and still there are a great many more who will come here later for that purpose.

Professor R. W. Keays and family of Melrose, Mass., will be located again this season at their cottage near the campground auditorium. Professor Keays is one of the older summer residents, having been coming to Old Orchard for a long period of years. He is a music teacher of note and has had charge of musical instruction in Lawrence, Haverhill and other city schools in the Bay State.

Do you have headache? It may come from eye-strain. It will cost you nothing to consult Dr. Littlefield the Eye Sight Specialist, Saco, Maine. He holds testimonials from physicians, opticians and eminent people in twenty-five different states, having cured patients who had been declared incurable by leading specialists. He guarantees a cure or no pay.

Mr. and Mrs. Eugene F. Lord of Saco will pass the summer at their slightly cottage west of Grand avenue as they have done every season for several years. Mr. Lord is connected with the clerical department of the Biddeford Journal and is the treasurer of the Biddeford & Saco electric road. Mrs. Lord is a teacher at Thornton Academy.

SPORTING NOTES.

Jimmy South, the Canadian feather-weight champion, is anxious to get on a match with any 112 to 118 pound boxer.

G. W. Welch of Logansport, Ind., has Eben Holden, full brother of Ruby Mock, 2:08½, Cracker Jack and Winoma G., both of the latter by Coledridge, in his stable.

Tommy Shortell, who at one time was one of the cleverest of lightweights, is anxious to return to the ring. He would like to meet Dave Holly or any other 145 pound boxer for a six round bout.

Tom Burrows, the famous Australian club swinger, now in this country, who once performed the feat of swinging a pair of two pound clubs forty-two hours without rest, has issued a defi to all club swingers.

Hazlenut, a green pacer, owned by P. C. McGonigle of Bryn Mawr, Pa., with less than three weeks' training, stepped a half mile over the Belmont (Pa.) track recently in 1:09, the second quarter in 33 seconds.

Jack Glenister, the swimmer, who is reported to have successfully swum the Niagara rapids, is out with a challenge in Boston to swim any man or set of men in America or Europe a long distance race for any amount.

Parties at Albuquerque, N. M., are arranging a 1,200 mile relay race for cowboys, open to New Mexico and Arizona riders, the starting point to be Albuquerque and the finish at the gate of the world's fair grounds, St. Louis. The purse will be $1,500.

THINGS THEATRICAL.

"The Orphan and the Heiress" is the name of a new play recently seen for the first time in Boston.

Kitty Clancy of the "Woodland" company made her first appearance on the stage in "Ben-Hur" three years ago. She is still attending school.

Daniel Frawley is in the last weeks of his engagement in South Africa and will soon return to America after an absence of more than two years.

Miss Ella Hugh Wood, for many seasons identified with the role of the spinster in "Way Down East," is playing a summer engagement in vaudeville.

Agnes Cain Brown, soprano of the Bostonians, has declined an offer of six weeks in vaudeville this summer at an unusually high salary for one so short a time in light opera.

Miss Eleanor Robson and her mother, Mrs. Madge Carr Cook, are trying to obtain a few weeks of rest and quiet and really invigorating sea air at Bass Rocks, near Gloucester, Mass.

Anne Caverly, who has been a leading member of William H. Crane's company all this season in "The Spenders," is now in Europe. She will remain a few weeks visiting friends in London.

TRADE TRICKS.

Immense quantities of California prunes are handled in Bordeaux, which is the center of the prune trade of the world, and after being repacked are re-exported to the United States.

Americans pay millions of dollars annually for bogus antiquities imported from Italy. According to the United States consul at Florence, they come second in value among the articles exported to America.

Thousands of hams are sent into Dublin from America, and after being branded with the Irish mark they are exported from Cork and Waterford to England, where they are sold as Irish hams at a high price.

MR. KNOWITALL.

Of all the people drawing breath,
The one I least desire to meet
Is he who talks you half to death—
The man who always has you beat.
In his own mind—he's made of gall—
The man, I mean, who knows it all.

Most any subject that you start,
It always seems, is in his line.
He knows the whole thing all by heart
And has it down all pat and fine.
Right off your bat he takes the ball,
This maddening man who knows it all.

You never get a chance to say
A word or two, or, if you do,
The fellow's sure to make a play
To get the lead before you're through.
The turn on you he's sure to call,
This hateful man who knows it all.

I'm not a bloody minded man—
To this my neighbors will attest—
But I would vote for any plan
To rid us of this horrid pest.
I've suffered long his evil thrall,
This odious man who knows it all.

Not Looking For Promotion.

Percy Pollard, captain of industry in his mind and promoter of the corpulent trust, sat musing in his big office chair as he watched the light, lithe fingers of Marie Montigue, his pretty typewriter, fly up and down the keyboard as she pounded out a letter to an easy gent, telling him that now was the time to invest in mining stock.

Percy did not usually hesitate when he had anything to say, but on this occasion something appeared to have tied a four-in-hand knot in his tongue. "Marie," he said, with a great effort. The girl looked up from her work.

"As I have watched you from day to day I have learned to love you. Will you be my wife?"

"Is that a letter you are dictating," she asked innocently, "or is it straight goods?"

"It is the outpouring of my soul," he replied.

"Words cannot say how much obliged I feel for your kind offer," she said, "but I think not. As your stenographer I draw my $15 per quite regularly or the works stop. As little wife it would be about $3.75 in spending money, out of which I would be expected to buy clothes and a Christmas present for hubby. Not any for me, thank you. What is the name of this gentleman, please, that I am writing to? I can't quite make out the notes."

Eye to Business.

"Boy, which of these roads to you take to go to town?"

"I forget."

"Don't you live around here?"

"Yes, but the last man who asked me gave me a nickel."

A Plentiful Supply.

"Where do you suppose Cain got his wife?"

"Perhaps he went to Boston, where the supply is so large that any one can get one."

Alpine Gardens.

On the summits of the Rigi and Pilatus, Alpine gardens are maintained for purposes of botanic study and for the preservation and propagation of rare Swiss plants.

Mexican Gods.

When the Franciscan friars first brought their religion to the Huicho Indians of Mexico the "new gods" were eagerly accepted by them, but they would not give up their native deities. They fancied that the more gods they had to pray to the surer they were to get their prayers granted.

Leather Trunks.

Leather trunks for transporting clothes were made and sold in Rome as early as the time of Julius Caesar.

HOTEL PERSONALS

D. Gallery of Montreal, who is at the Aldine with Mrs. Gallery, is a member of the Canadian Parliament.

Fred J. Davis of Boston, of the firm of Davis & Farnham, manufacturers of engines and machinery, of Waltham, who is spending the season at the Aldine, has just returned to that hotel after an absence of several days.

Mrs. Charles Hodgins, Georgiana Hodgins, and the Misses Thwing and Hamblet, all of New York City, are stopping at the Western. As the house is not in complete running order yet, they take their meals at the Everett.

The Western, the popular family boarding house on Old Orchard street, to be conducted by Mrs. M. E. Kelsea, this year will be opened for business as soon as the extensive annex and improvements which are in process of construction are completed.

Jonh McCluskey, who is registered at the Irving for the season with Mrs. McCluskey, is a prominent grocery man of Lowell. They are regular visitors at the Irving.

George C. Stetson and wife, of Brunswick, are making their usual summer visit at the Montreal. Mr. Stetson is a prominent dealer in fancy goods in his native town.

J. F. and J. J. Fitzgerald of Springfield, Mass., are making an extended stay at the Irving. This is their first season at Old Orchard, and they appear greatly pleased with their surroundings.

Mrs. Harrison of Montreal has arrived for a stay of some weeks at the Irving. She has for several years passed a few weeks every September at this house, but will this year make two visits, returning for her usual fall visit later in the season.

SIRES AND SONS.

General Joe Wheeler says he expects to live to be 100 years of age.

George F. Bowerman, new librarian of the District of Columbia, is a newspaper man.

Calvin P. Titus, the private soldier who was the first man to scale the wall of Peking in 1900, is one of the star cadets at West Point.

Sir Thomas Lipton is to make this country a visit this year. He will confine himself on this trip to an inspection of the St. Louis exposition.

Lord Rosebery began speechmaking at the early age of fourteen, when he addressed a volunteer regiment and excited much enthusiasm and admiration.

Senator Stewart of Nevada began at sixteen to grow the full beard from which time and evolution have brought his present silvery crop of whiskers. He has never been shaved.

A meteorological station of the United States weather bureau, under the charge of Alexander McC. Ashley, formerly local forecaster at Syracuse, will be established at Honolulu.

Robert D. Davis of Fall River, Mass., who was the senior delegate to the Chicago convention from his state, was also a delegate to the convention that nominated Lincoln in 1860. The Bay State delegates presented him with a gold headed cane while in Chicago.

W. H. Ellis, the Hawaiian Count of Monte-Christo, is a big man, in the prime of life and of even darker complexion than his noted countrywoman, ex-Queen Lil. His slightest purchase is a benefaction, and in the mere matter of cigars he expends from $5 to $10 per diem.

The handsomest man in Pittsburg is said to be William Wearfritz, an ironworker. He stands six feet two inches and weighs 242 pounds. He is as straight as a flagstaff, and there is not an inch of him that is not fully developed into hard white muscle. He has a fine face and the bearing of the Apollo Belvedere.

Consolation.

Because she never gives you a thought
Don't get discouraged and cease to live.
Hasn't experience to you taught
That often they never have any to give?
—New Orleans Times-Democrat.

GOWN GOSSIP.

The surplice, or, rather, waists with V shaped openings at the neck, are coming rapidly into favor.

Pointed bodices are seen everywhere. We are more or less emancipated from the exaggerated drooping belt, but we point just as much as ever in the new girdles.

Word comes from Paris that the flaring hems of our fall gowns are to flare more than ever, and that crinoline and featherbone are to be used to make them stand out.

The latest thing in neck lingerie is the turn over plaiting of mull or china silk. These little collars are usually lace edged and most of them are sold in a set with cuffs to match.

White is being worn more and more for summer mourning. It must be all white, of course, and white of a clear tone. Cream color or any of the becoming off shades are barred as strictly as colors.—New York Post.

CULINARY CAPERS.

Planked sirloin steak, baked like fish on a hardwood board, is a delightful change from broiled or smothered steak.

Beating the cocoa with an egg beater just before taking from the stove is an improvement, and a few drops of vanilla in the cocoa pot will make it still better.

Spanish onions, if parboiled, cut in halves, put into a well greased dish, almost covered with melted butter and baked in a moderate oven for an hour make a delicious supper dish.

Left over hominy provides the base of a palatable entree when mixed with a custard after being smoothly mashed. Bake in a quick oven and add more milk if necessary after the first five minutes.

Common Ground.

The carver at meals and policemen
Certainly have common points,
For with both it is quite a problem
How they may "locate the joints."

A Prayer For Our Country.

Though other nations meet in war
And shed their richest blood,
Though greed and selfish passion mar
Their common brotherhood,
Great God, by whose controlling hand
The worlds' their courses run,
Let peace shine o'er this smiling land,
Effulgent as the sun!

Almighty God, be thou our guide;
Our every act control;
Let peace and happiness betide
While war clouds onward roll;
From thee may we possess the power
To keep thy righteous laws
And bravely in oppression's hour
To strike for freedom's cause!

Though cannon's roar and clash of arms
And martial tread resound,
Though battle's din and war's alarms
On every hand are found,
Eternal God, led by thine hand,
May this land ever be
A shelter from oppression's brand—
Home of the brave and free!
—R. W. Langford in Chicago Inter Ocean.

The Bells of Long Ago.

Through mem'ry they are chiming still,
Those bells of long ago,
With undulating tones that like a peaceful river flow.
At twilight when I sit alone beside my window here
They come like voices from the past in cadence sweet and clear.
Those village bells, those silvery knells,
I hear them sounding soft and low,
Those bells of long ago.

'Tis Sabbath evening, soft with June.
How mellow is the sky!
The bird, to seek its quiet nest, on weary wing goes by.
The rose that opened to the morn and blushed to see its light Droops now and hides the dewy kiss of nature's fond good night.
O peaceful Sabbath bells, what love your echo tells!
Sweet doth your music ever flow,
Dear bells of long ago.

Another picture comes to view, a joyous and a bright;
I see a gay and happy throng in concourse of delight.
They're marching to the little church, shy
miss and bashful swain, While friends with blossoms strew their path—it is a marriage train.
Glad wedding bells, their cadence swells
In sweetest tones that hearts may know,
Love bells of long ago.

But now there comes a sadder scene that lingers through the years,
To touch the heart with sorrow's pang and fill the eyes with tears.
A grave is in the churchyard made, and,
though the earth be fair,
One who was more than dear to me at sleep is resting there.
O pitying bells, 'tis hope that tells Heaven's message in your peaceful flow,

The Northwest.

Oh, would ye hear, and would ye hear
Of the windy, wide northwest?
Faith, 'tis a land as green as the sea,
That rolls as far and rolls as free,
With drifts of flowers, so many there be,
Where the cattle roam and rest.

Oh, could ye see, and could ye see
The great gold skies so clear,
The rivers that race through the pine shade dark,
The mountainous snows that take no
mark,
Sunlit and high on the Rockies stark,
So far they seem as near.

Then could ye feel, and could ye feel
How fresh is a western night!
When the long land breezes rise and pass
And sigh in the rustling prairie grass,
When the dark blue skies are clear as glass,
And the same old stars are bright.

But could ye know, and forever know,
The word of the young northwest!
A word she breathes to the true and bold,
A word unknown to the false and cold,
A word that never was spoken or sold,
But the one that knows is best.
—Molra O'Neill.

CURIOUS CULLINGS.

One Way to Win a Wife.
James Barrie's "Admirable Crichton" has had a counterpart in real life. At least the resemblance is striking. He was a butler who for nearly twenty-five years cleverly managed the affairs of three Englishwomen, even to investing their money for them. Through all the years, although he knew how important he was to that little household, he never forgot that he was the butler and always preserved the most respectful attitude toward his mistresses. Suddenly, however, one morning he appeared before the women and "gave notice." He had saved up some money, he said, and wanted a home of his own. The household was appalled at the prospect. Finally one of the women gasped, "Have you met any suitable person?" "No, ma'am," answered the butler. "Not up to now. But I must make it my business to seek her." The three women felt the foundations of their domestic happiness tottering, and in desperation the most "suitable" of the trio asked the butler to marry her. After a pause he accepted her hand in his old respectful manner, and for twenty-five years longer, in the position of master, he stayed in the house where he had been for many years at service.

AN OLD-TIME CAMPMEETING

THE Old-Time Campmeeting opened last Saturday afternoon very auspiciously under the able leadership of Evangelist W. J. Cozens. Large crowds have been in attendance daily and the meetings are proving a success in every way.

What is developing into one of the most popular features are the chalk-talks by Rev. J. A. Bowler of Saxonville, Mass. These talks were originally intended for the children, but they are becoming very popular with the grown folks, many of whom are in attendance every morning. They will be held every forenoon at 9.30 in the Tabernacle until Saturday.

Last Saturday the object lesson was, "A Soldier Asleep on Duty," illustrating the text, "Awake thou that sleepest." On Sunday Rev. Mr. Bowler's illustration was a street scene of children bearing a banner with the device, "Tremble, Tyrants, We are Growing Up." A locked book was used as an example of Ignorance. A pipe, cigar, cigarette and bottle for Self-Indulgence, and a serpent in the form of a letter S for Satan, the worst tyrant of all. Sunday afternoon the chalk-talk was on Moses, illustrated by such scenes as the "Babe in the Bull-rushes," and the "Burning Bush." The contrast was drawn between Moses' condition in Egypt and among the Hebrews, by means of these pictures: crown with shepherd's crook, wealth and poverty, honor and ingratitude, pleasure and affliction, oblivion with crown of life.

Monday Rev. Mr. Bowler's subject was, "Bible Trees." At the young people's meeting he talked on "Time," using as the central figure a cuckoo clock. The lessons taught were "Youth, the Time to Serve God," and the "Best, Easiest, Glad, Important Time—Now."

The stereopticon views which have been shown every evening to illustrate the topic have been very instructive and interesting. Tonight's meeting will be especially worth attending. The subject is "A Temperance Talk that is More than a Talk." These stereopticon lectures are accompanied by vocal music by an excellent quartette composed of well known campmeeting attendants, Mr. Alexander Heath, Malden, Rev. Mr. Bowler, Saxonville, Miss S. Josephine Wing, Somerville, Mrs. George A. Rogers, Charlton, Mass.

The meetings of Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday of next week will be particularly interesting, as Mr. Herbert Booth, son of General Wm. Booth and brother of Ballington Booth, will be present on these dates and give his usual excellent lectures. On Tuesday and Wednesday evenings he will illustrate his lectures with life models and moving pictures. His subject for Monday night is the "Moral Ambulance and the Smitten Citizen," being a talk on the social problems of the hour. This is a theme in which everybody is interested, and Mr. Booth should have a large audience on this date.

Miss Mabelle L. Swint of East Boston is calling forth expressions of approval by her excellent performances as cornet soloist.

3.00 p. m. Address by Evangelist Murphy. "God's Way with Me."

7.30 p. m. Song Service.

8.00 p. m. Sermon by Evangelist Cozens. "The Judgment Day."

The Palmer Shoe Company of Portland will display a full line of samples in fine footwear, including tennis and outing shoes, at the Fiske Hotel, between 9 and 12 o'clock Wednesdays during the summer.

Has Made an Excellent Record

In the Lewiston Journal Saturday there appeared a half tone cut and the following interesting account of Mr. Charles J. McGraw, who is again this season, as during the summer of 1903, the courteous and efficient clerk at the McDonough pharmacy on the Alberta promenade:

Young men who, by the force of their own personal energy and quick intelligence, bring themselves to the front in the race for success are none too numerous. Augusta, however, has a young student, by name, Charles J. McGraw, who by dint of his own efforts and unaided financially or otherwise, has won remarkable scholastic honors during the past three years of preparatory college course.

During June of this year he was graduated from Williston Seminary, Easthampton, Mass., having taken the four years' curriculum in three years. Out of a class of fifty young men he was the valedictorian. At the same time he carried off three prizes—a $25 prize for the best senior oration, a $20 prize for the best translation of Ovide into English, and a $10 prize (which was divided with another) for the best rank in Greek and Latin for the senior year.

During his second year he won a $50 prize in oratory and during his first year, a $20 prize in the same department.

It is understood that Mr. McGraw will enter Yale University in the autumn continuing to work his way along by tutoring and other means within the power of the aspiring young student who goes in to win. He will enter Yale at twenty-three years of age, the early years of his youth having been spent in earning sufficient money to enable him to prepare for college. Born in the capital city of Maine, he is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John McGraw of that city. He received his early education in the public schools of Augusta and had finished one year at the Coney high school of the city when he left to earn money so that he could prepare for a college course. For three years after he left the Coney high he worked as clerk in the leading drug store of Livermore Falls where he was given one of the best diplomas for industry, faithfulness-to-the-task-in-hand and honesty.

It is understood that during the present summer he will take a vacation by going to Old Orchard and clerking at one of the largest drug stores where he was employed last summer. Many people of this section of Maine, who had occasion last summer to seek the cool refreshment of a glass of soda at Old Orchard's favorite spa, will recall the bright-eyed, efficient and gentlemanly young clerk who stood behind the counter. It is pleasant to be able to record such good old fashioned true stories as these, for it is such simple but significant facts that make up the biographies of the Maine men and women who are heard from in enduring ways.

State of Maine Party For World's Fair via Grand Trunk.

The first large party from the State of Maine for the World's Fair having chosen their route via the Grand Trunk Railway System, left Portland, Me., in special sleeping cars on Monday evening, June 27th, spending Tuesday in Montreal and proceeding west on the evening of June 28th. This party was composed of about 100 school teachers of the State of Maine who attended the National Educational Association Convention.

The special attractions offered by the Grand Trunk in the way of a double track route, unexcelled roadbed, interesting points through which the line passes, charming side trips and perfect train service, was the means of securing this influential delegation.

THE STROLLER

Mott H. Gove of Biddeford is ticket seller on the pier this season.

Misses Sybil Smith and Florence Fogg of Buxton have arrived here for the season.

Charles J. Milliken, son of H. A. G. Milliken, is clerking at the postoffice again this season.

Kodak supplies and finishing for amateurs at Baker's studio. Also the finest portrait work.

A party from Old Orchard went to Basket Island, Sunday, where they enjoyed a lobster bake.

The first annual Field day of the Portland Real Estate Dealers Association was held here today.

Evangelist Miss Adams of Hanover, Mass., arrived in town Sunday and is staying at Arthur Chase's on Union avenue.

The Pinewood cottage, formerly known as "Sleepy Hollow," on West Grand avenue, has been much improved by painting.

George B. Filgiano, auditor of passenger accounts for the Grand Trunk Railway, arrived some time ago for an extended stay.

The female orchestra which has furnished music at the Old Orchard house for several years, arrived at that hotel last Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. L. M. Adams, M. T. Adams, Misses Fannie Finnigan and Annie Hogan of Portland have been enjoying a sojourn here.

Will Guilford, who has been ill at his home on the Saco road since last fall, has been gradually improving since the advent of warm weather.

Dr. Henry Reynolds and wife of Livermore Falls are again occupying their pleasant summer home off Union avenue and overlooking the ocean.

Miss Mollie Moore, daughter of ex-city clerk Dayton T. Moore of Biddeford, entered upon her duties Saturday at the Bay View house, where she has been engaged as pianist for the season.

George L. Wentworth of Saco, formerly of Old Orchard, recently returned from a month's sea voyage to New York and the New Jersey coast. He had a pleasant trip and visited a number of interesting places.

Rev. Mr. Bowler will end his chalk talks at the campground on Saturday next, when he will leave for Montwait, Mass., where he will give talks of the same nature at the New England Chautauquan Assembly.

The Lewiston Journal, speaking of the International Sunshine Society, had the following, Saturday: Miss Nellie L. Guilford, Sec. of Old Orchard branch, writes that very serious illness in her immediate family has prevented her from sending a report of the lovely work done by that branch. She hopes to do so very soon. The lovely sunshine spirit manifested to her has cheered her constantly during it all. We deeply sympathize with her and trust that very soon all will be sunshine in the home circle.

Miss Fannie Dickey of East avenue, Lewiston, arrived at Pine Point, Monday.

Mr. Welch of Boston visited at the home of his brother, Patrick Welch, over Sunday.

The family of J. B. Couture, editor of Le Messenger of Lewiston, has arrived for the season.

Mrs. E. P. Langley of Lewiston has arrived with her little daughter for a stay of several weeks.

Mrs. Edmunds of Boston recently arrived at the Roxbury cottage on Fifteenth street for a visit.

Mrs. Beard and daughter, Miss Annie L. Beard are at the Elden cottage, Ocean avenue, for the summer.

Mrs. L. S. Mathie of Springfield, Mass., is at the Boardman cottage with her family for the season.

Dr. C. W. Pillsbury and family of Saco are occupying for the season, their cottage on Union avenue.

Miss Davidson of South Manchester, Conn., is spending some weeks at Arthur Chase's on Union avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. John W. Maguire of Biddeford are occupying their cottage on the sea wall, below the Lawrence house.

Mr. and Mrs. Cushman of Portland, prominent heirs to the Stevenson estate of that city, are at the Stevenson cottage on Ocean avenue.

For hair dressing, shampooing, and manicuring of the best kind you should visit Mrs. James A. Smith's parlor on Old Orchard street.

Mrs. Cozens, well known to all Old Orchard campmeeting goers, is with Col. Cozens and is assisting him in the present meetings at the campground. They are staying at the Chase residence on Union avenue.

Rev. Howard A. Clifford, who was pastor of the Old Orchard Methodist church for three years, 1899-1902, and for two years was located in South Portland, now has a pastorate at South Paris in Oxford county.

Mrs. Noah of Boston, a writer of no mean ability, for many years with Mrs. Sylvester on Ocean avenue, has this year bought, and remodeled a cottage at the head of that avenue, where she will make her summer home in the future.

Are you nervous? The trouble may be with your eyes. Many people having perfect sight often have a great strain upon the delicate muscles of the eyes that saps the nervous energy. Dr. Littlefield of Saco would be pleased to have you call and let him examine your eyes. Avoid nervous prostration by removing the cause. Consultation and tests free.

Mrs. Sara E. Keniston of Somerville is occupying the "Summer Villa" on Ocean avenue. This is the fourth year she has been at this neat little cottage, owned by Mrs. Delia Rich. She has as her guests Mrs. Susan Parsons, Miss Emma Parsons, and Edgar Doyle of Somerville; Belle Wiswell of West Somerville; Mr. and Mrs. Henry Ashton of Watertown, Mass., and Miss Claire Milner of Somerville are also there.

Mrs. Thomas Sherry and Miss Eva Sherry are at the "Breakers."

Hon. and Mrs. J. F. Warren of West Buxton are staying for a few days at their cottage here.

Evangelist Murphy of Worcester arrived Monday noon to take active part in the Old-Time campmeeting in session at the Campground.

Prof. W. H. Pillsbury, superintendent of schools of Falls City, Neb., has arrived for the month of July, with his wife and two children.

Miss Florence Hodgson of Lewiston is passing the summer at Pine Point. Miss Bessie A. Lugin of the same city is her guest for a week.

A daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. John C. Pierce of West Grand avenue, Sunday morning. Both mother and child are getting along nicely.

Mr. and Mrs. Elroy H. Mitchell are occupying for the season their cottage on Old Orchard avenue. Mr. Mitchell is a well known jeweler in Saco.

Fred H. Pitman of Somerville, Mass., has joined his family for a short visit. They have been at the Foss cottage on Old Orchard avenue for some time.

Mrs. Minnie Warren Sprague of Lyman has rented the Roberts cottage on Cedar avenue, where her husband will join her during the remainder of his vacation.

Evangelist and Mrs. Charles Noble arrived today from Montwait, Mass., where they have been taking active part in the campmeeting held at that place.

The Old Orchard Lodge, Daughters of Rebekah, which was instituted here early in the spring, is in a prosperous condition and has a large and increasing membership.

Rev. Jason C. Briggs, presiding Elder of the Boston District of the Evangelical Association church, arrived today and will attend many of the meetings at the Campground this week.

Mrs. F. M. Jacobs of Jaimaca Plain, Mass., the well known manicurist, has arrived at her cottage on Old Orchard avenue, where she will practice her profession this season as usual.

Staples cottage is under the management of Mrs. L. F. Kelsea again this season, as for a number of years past. This is one of the many pleasant and homelike boarding houses located here.

N. C. Field of Auburn has got his bowling alley and shooting gallery in good running order. He has been in business here for many years, and is well known to the older visitors at Old Orchard.

Dr. J. A. Girouard of Lewiston spent Saturday and Sunday with his family at the Girouard cottage on East Grand avenue. They are here for the season and the Doctor comes down Saturdays and stays till Monday.

Mrs. W. H. Parkin of Lisbon Falls recently chaperoned a party of Bates college girls at the Reynolds cottage. In the party were Misses Elsie Reynolds of Livermore Falls, Maude E. Parkin of Lisbon Falls, A. Louise Barker of Wayne and Alta C. Walker of South Paris; also Messrs. J. C. Briggs of Caribou, A. B. Lovis of Springfield, J. K. Flanders of Franklin Falls, N. H., and P. H. Rankin of Wells.

She Paints "Frivolous Girls."

The Biddeford Record recently had the following concerning Miss Dunn, comments on whose artistic talent have, on several occasions, appeared in THE MIRROR:

Miss Henrietta Whitfield Dunn, who at her studio, 117 St. Botolph street, Boston, paints "Frivolous Girls" during the winter months, has just arrived at Old Orchard Campground, where she will rusticate with her mother, Mrs. Sophia Dunn, for several weeks.

Interesting as her pictures are, and they all have laughing eyes and rosy cheeks, the artist is even more so, and is as pretty as she is jolly and entertaining. She has friends in Saco, whom she visits every year and she has a large circle of acquaintances in the two cities.

Miss Dunn has the distinction of being the youngest member of the American Allied Arts association. Born in Milwaukee, she began to study art in Minneapolis, and she continued her studies in the Boston Art Museum. From Boston she went to New York where she studied at the Art Students' league.

Next she journeyed to Paris, where she studied under Mme. Real del Sarte. She has created a type of girl different from anything that she was taught at school. She paints just as she pleases and whatever pleases her. Men she declares she never paints. This is the reason she gives for not so doing: "Men you know are not pretty and men don't sell." This seems to be a good and sufficient reason.

Since she has completed her studies she has painted hundreds of pictures. She works rapidly. While the painting mood is on she is as busy as a honey bee, when it is off she throws down her brush and goes for a walk or drive.

College girls have been her greatest success. Summer girls are a favorite with this charming young artist. She likes them much and while at the town by the sea she keeps her eyes open for new types. The originator of "Frivolous Girls" has sold some of her pictures to Mrs. Jack Gardner of Boston, and it is presumed that they occupy a place on the walls of her home in the Fens.

The Lakewood House.

The Lakewood house at Sebago Lake, Maine, has been opened this season by Mrs. Helen S. Leighton, who formerly resided at her residence on Union avenue, and is well known among Old Orchard people.

Mrs. Leighton purchased this hotel early in the spring, and has made many alterations and improvements to the property. It has been entirely remodeled and put in first-class condition for the accommodation of guests.

This hostelry is situated in a most charming place near the picturesque Sebago Lake and its delightful surroundings. Fishing, boating and hunting may be enjoyed abundantly. There are registered guides and a first-class livery connected with the hotel.

There is a long season for tourists in the lake region, and the house will be kept open for their entertainment through October. Anyone desiring to visit a place that offers advantages for real pleasure and genuine recreation could not do better than tarry for a while at the Lakewood, where all the comforts of home may be obtained at reasonable rates.

The Old Orchard Mirror.

ESTABLISHED 1900.

Terms for the season, by mail, Seventy-five cents. Single copies, 3 cents. Advertising rates made known on application. For sale at all news stands, by newsboys, and at office of publication. Correspondence is desired from residents and visitors relative to any matter of general interest to this resort. Communications must be signed by the real name and address of the writer, not necessarily for publication, but as a guarantee of good faith. Copy must be forwarded Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays, previous to date of publication.

The Old Orchard Mirror endeavors to advance the best interests and prosperity of Old Orchard Beach, to foster all enterprises looking to the betterment of this rapidly expanding and developing summer resort, and to promote the pleasure and welfare of the increasing thousands who sojourn here annually, from various quarters of the world. Our aim is to accomplish these objects by utilizing all agencies within the province of a public-spirited resort publication.

A. L. JONES,
Editor and Publisher.

W. L. STREETER, PRINTER, SACO, MAINE.

Patronize Our Advertisers.

The advertisers in THE MIRROR this season, as in previous years, are worthy of confidence and patronage, and we hope that those who have business to do and money to spend, will give the preference, so far as possible, to the list of business enterprises represented in these columns.

There are several who have given their support to this paper since it was first established, and the fact that they are with us still is pretty fair evidence of the returns that they have received for their advertisements. Some may drop out for one reason or another, but new additions are made each year, and our advertising patronage is on the increase each succeeding season. There are many here and in neighboring places who should support THE MIRROR, not only on general principles, but more particularly as a good, safe, reasonable business proposition. However, there are some who wouldn't expend $5 in advertising, if they were almost absolutely sure that it would yield 100 per cent interest within a month.

THE MIRROR feels entirely satisfied that it is not losing nearly as much as several who are not doing business with this paper. But this is merely a side issue. What we wish to impress upon the minds of our many readers is the fact that they will exercise excellent judgement, if they will first take into consideration THE MIRROR's advertisers, when contemplating the transaction of business along any lines indicated in this publication.

Among Our Exchanges.

The opening numbers of "Among The Clouds," Mr. Frank H. Burt, editor and publisher, have made their appearance for the season of 1904. This publication was established in 1877 and is issued daily on Mount Washington, N. H. It claims to be the oldest summer resort newspaper in the United States, and the only newspaper printed on the summit of any mountain in the world.

The Casco Bay Breeze is one of the best summer publications in this vicinity. It is now on its fourth year and is published every Thursday afternoon from June to September at 146 Middle street, Portland.

The first number of The White Mountain Echo, published at Bethlehem, N. H., came to our office Saturday. This weekly was established in 1878, and has always been in the front rank of summer resort journalism. This season it is under new management with Amy Lyman Phillips, managing editor; Chester E. Taylor, manager; and Charles W. Towne, editorial department.

John Collins Emmons issued Saturday No. 1, Vol. 18, of The Wave, a weekly, published at Kennebunkport, Me.

We acknowledge the receipt of the first number of The Hill-Top, published at South Poland, Me. This is a weekly and makes its appearance on Sunday, the editors and proprietors being Mr. Frank Carlos Griffith and Miss Nettie M. Ricker. The Hill-Top is starting on its eleventh season.

The Biddeford Journal Monday said:

A. L. Jones, formerly the Journal's Saco reporter, now has the Old Orchard Mirror well established for its fifth consecutive season. The sheet is more attractive than ever before, and is being read with pleasure by a very large number of summer visitors as well as the permanent residents of the town.

Here And There.

The number of bathers is increasing every day.

Subscribe for THE MIRROR. It will give you accounts of the principal events taking place at this resort.

There are quite a good many visitors arrived here already, but still there are accommodations for several thousand more.

The hotel proprietors are not exactly jubilant now, but the majority of them have an air of contentment with the manner in which business is starting up.

The arrival of nearly every train makes an increase in the size of our summer population.

There are no indications that Gorman's theatre will be opened here this season.

Reports of the annual appearance of the festive sea serpent are now in order.

Several of the plank sidewalks about town are greatly in need of repairing.

The water running across the beach from the brook a short distance southwest of the Seashore House is this year, as it has always been, a great nuisance to pedestrians, and all who have occasion to pass along the beach, and the condition should be remedied.

It would add much to the entertainment here if some interesting base ball games could be arranged.

There are many delightful places in the vicinity of Old Orchard to which the sojourner here may make pleasant excursions.

Googins' Rocks, one of the most historic locations at Old Orchard, are as popular this season as ever with many of our visitors, who delight to sit on or beneath them.

The Hurdy-Gurdy man has made his appearance on our streets with a varied assortment of popular airs in stock.

The Sunday crowd was of very fair size considering the threatening condition of the weather.

The sweet scent of new mown hay fills the air in the rural districts.

It is reported throughout the Pine Tree state that the crops of vegetables and fruits are in a flourishing condition.

There are many blueberry pickers in the surrounding country these days.

The Boston Globe Monday said:

It is a sure thing that a profitable meeting could be given at the Old Orchard kite track the week preceeding Readville's grand circuit meeting.

The Camp-meeting season has commenced and there will be no cessation of interesting programmes until in September.

The automobiles are receiving much attention in the White mountains, and they will be due to arrive here within a short time.

Russell Sage, the New York multi-millionaire, who has devoted his long life to the getting and hoarding of money, recently declared his scorn of vacations, saying that they do more injury than good. How many people at Old Orchard share in Uncle Russell's belief?

OCEAN PARK

The family of Rev. W. A. Bartlett, D. D., of Chicago has been at the Red Cottage on the sea wall for some weeks. Rev. Mr. Bartlett arrived last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Coffin and Miss Maude Weymouth are at the Coffin cottage on Oceana avenue.

Messrs. A. L. Templeton and J. F. Boothby of Lewiston passed Sunday with their families at Ocean Park.

Mr. and Mrs. William Yeaton and Miss S. J. Messer are at the Tacoma Cottage on Oceana avenue.

Mr. Baty of Penacook is occupying one of his cottages with his family. Mr. Mason and family, also of Penacook, are at Mr. Baty's cottage on the sea wall.

A largely attended and enjoyable vocal and instrumental concert was held at the Granite State Hotel last Friday evening. The feature of the evening was the readings by Miss Maude L. Briggs.

Auto Race up Mt. Washington.

The severest test in the way of hill climbing that has ever been given automobiles in this country was inaugurated Monday morning, when the ascent of Mt. Washington was commenced.

This was at one time looked upon as almost impossible, but since last season it has been made by several machines, and that, too, in such remarkable time that it is not now a question of whether or not the climb can be made, but rather of how low the time record can be reduced.

The class of vehicles entered for the climb range in price from $650.00 to $15,000.00. Some thirty machines have made entry for the climb, as well as for the tour, and included in the number are machines and operators who became famous in the great events of the past year or so. The start was made at six o'clock Monday morning, only one machine being allowed on the hill at a time.

Once the machines reach the summit they are side tracked until the events of the day are concluded.

Four days will be consumed in the record work, and on the two days following will come the tours through the mountains, which will give the machines the hardest kind of a road test. Gold, silver and bronze medals are given for each class in the record work, also for the two days' tour, which consists of about eighty-five miles one day and sixty-five the second.

Well Known Montreal Party Has Returned.

A large party of well known and prominent Old Orchard summer residents has arrived at the Atlantic, consisting of the families of Daniel McNicoll and T. A. Trenholme of Montreal. This is their sixth season at the Atlantic, and this fact indicates strongly their fondness for Old Orchard and their favorite hotel.

Mr. McNicoll is one of the vice-presidents and general traffic manager of the Canadian Pacific Railroad. Mr. Trenholme is a prominent and wealthy figure in business circles in West Montreal.

Mr. and Mrs. McNicoll will be abroad this summer, and were prevented from stopping off a week here by illness before the party left Montreal. The rest of the party will remain the season.

Miss McIntire Will Wed.

The marriage of Miss Marcia C. McIntire, a well known and popular young lady of Saco, as well as of Old Orchard, to Mr. Henry O. Osgood, a successful editor of Peabody, Mass., will be one of the principal society events in Saco next month. Their marriage intentions were filed with City Clerk Tapley of Saco, Saturday. Miss McIntire is a graduate of Wellesley college and has musical accomplishments to a high degree. She has passed the summer seasons here for many years, staying with her aunt, Miss Lucinda Currier, at Camp Comfort cottage.

Pine Cottage.

Pine cottage, for many years the pleasant home of the late Mr. and Mrs. Edson H. Milliken, has been leased this season by Mr. C. D. Sargent of Lebanon, N. H.

This place is in a charming location on Portland avenue, with beautiful surroundings and an excellent view of the ocean. Mr. and Mrs. Milliken lived there for many years, throughout the year, and in the summer months conducted a home-like boarding house of the first order.

This is the twenty-seventh season that the house has been opened to the public, and Mr. Sargent intends to maintain in every respect the excellence that has characterized it in the past.

Bowling Notes.

The bowling of the past few days has been fast and some excellent scores have been reached, although there are but few changes to be recorded in last Saturday's records. The scores to date are, At the Field's Alley:

Mr. and Mrs. James M. Robinson of Somerville passed Sunday in town and called on Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Goldthwait at the Armstrong news stand. Mr. Robinson is the manager of the Armstrong news stand at the North Station, Boston.

Sunday at Old Orchard.

There was a good-sized crowd of visitors here Sunday, although the weather was rather unfavorable.

The first excursion of the year was run from Sherbrooke, P. Q., over the Grand Trunk Railway. L'Harmonie band from that place was present and gave a concert on the pier in the afternoon, and this was well attended. In the evening Seymour's biograph pictures were exhibited in the casino.

The electric cars and frequent trains transported a large number of people, and taken altogether it was a busy day for so early in July.

Human Beings.

Statistics prove that this earth has been inhabited by no less than 66,627,842,337,075,266 human beings since the beginning of time.

Their Original Homes.

Oats originated in north Africa, onions in Egypt, parsley in Sardinia, peaches in Persia, peas in Egypt, potatoes in America, rye in Siberia, spinach in Arabia, sunflower in Peru, tobacco in America and walnut in Persia.

HOTEL PERSONALS

D. Gallery of the Canadian Parliament, who is summering at the Aldine, is on a short business trip to Montreal.

The Misses A. L. Welch and E. M. Milne of Hotel Berkley, Boston, are spending the season at the Montreal.

Wm. H. Sweetsir of Manchester, an old patron of the Montreal, has arrived at that house for his usual summer visit.

Miss Mattie Wellman of Rochester, N. H., arrived here Saturday and will remain at the Jones House during the season.

L'Harmonie, the popular Sherbrooke band, which is making a pleasure tour of the state and entertained the crowds on the pier last Sunday afternoon, made its headquarters while here at the Montreal. They left Monday for Lewiston.

Mrs. E. M. Kerr and her daughter, Mrs. F. S. Murdie, of Montreal are making an extended stay at the Irving.

J. B. Ball and family, J. B. May and wife, and Wm. Edwards and wife compose a pleasant party from Waterville, P. Q., which is enjoying a short stay at the Irving.

Harry Watson, Mrs. Watson and Jack, Annie and Gertrude M. Watson of Hinsdale, N. H., are spending their first season at Old Orchard this year. They are registered at the Montreal.

Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Harriott and Miss Ida Florence Boyden of Norwood, Mass., are making an automobile tour of the surrounding country with headquarters at the Aldine. Mr. Harriott is a prominent jeweler of his native town.

An Animal Story For Little Folks

Bunny Was Too Smart

Bunny Cottontail was a hungry "bun." There was no denying that. He did not try to deny it, but set out at once to fill that aching void.

Presently he came upon the trail of a good ripe turnip. His sniffy little nose told him it was turnip, and presently also he came upon that turnip. But what a bitter disappointment to find that it lay inside a trap!

It was a "foxy" trap, and Mr. Bun knew that to get that turnip would mean a great deal of hard studying, not on the problem of the angles made by the cord of the trap, but on how just to get that turnip without being got himself.

He studied and studied, and the more he studied the hungrier he got. "I have it!" cried he at last. "Just watch me. First you pull one peg like this, then the other like this." And, suiting his deed to his word, he pulled out first one and then the other. The cord tightened up, drawing the turnip with it. "And now," said Bun, "you pull out the last, and you have the prize." Grasping the pin with his teeth, he pulled slowly and carefully. The pin came at the first pull, the trap sprung up, and, alas for our best laid plans, the turnip went too! Caught securely in the corn, it hung dangling in the air too high to be reached. "There's many a slip 'twixt the cup and the lip," sang a jaybird in the branches. "That's so," said Bun sadly. "Next time get a stick."—Worcester Post.

White Bread.

White bread supplies more available nutrients to the body than bread made from graham, entire wheat or any other kind of flour milled at the present time.

Fry In Olive Oil.

Olive oil makes a superior frying medium to lard or butter. It is cheaper than butter and does not scorch as easily as butter does. Smelts, shrimps, potatoes, bananas—in fact, almost everything that is fried in a shallow pan—tastes better for being cooked in oil.

An Exciting Shave.

A Parisian barber, to win a wager, entered a cage containing a lion and a man and composedly shaved the man while the lion interestingly viewed the operation.

The House Fly.

The house fly, with a total life of about ten days, develops in these periods: Egg from laying to hatching, one-third of a day; hatching to larva to first moult, one day; second moult to pupation, three days; pupation to issuing of the adult, five days.

The Biggest Leaves.

The biggest leaves in the world are those of the Inaj palm, which grows on the banks of the Amazon. They reach a length of thirty to fifty feet, and are from ten to twelve feet in breadth.

The Papyrus Plant.

The historically interesting papyrus plant is nearly extinct in Egypt, and the only place where it is now to be found in abundance is along the Anapo river in Sicily.

Roasting Eggs.

When a fire is made out of doors for boiling coffee try roasting eggs in the old fashioned way. Half bury the eggs in the hot ashes, placing them in an upright position. When a drop oozes out in the top of the shell they are ready to eat.

Doctor and Dying Patient.

In an address before the American Medical association an eminent physician, speaking on the question, "Shall a Physician Tell a Patient He Is Going to Die," said:

"The truth is not always so alarming to the patient, painful as it often is to the physician. In fact, it seems to me this is one part of our duties that does not become less trying with increasing experience. To the sick man whose thoughts have been turned toward the end longer than others suspect, intimation of a fatal end often brings no shock, but rather relief from the ending of a painful uncertainty. According to the rulers of the Roman Catholic church a timely announcement should always be given, and those who have witnessed the last days of members of this faith can confirm the statement that good often follows, speaking merely from a medical standpoint, and rarely harm, while the same thing is true of many of other faiths or of no faith. Even where we have to give a fatal prognosis there are certain mollifying influences that can be introduced, aside from those that spring from a tender heart. A hope can be expressed based on the fallibility of human knowledge in general and medical knowledge in particular."

The Rocking Chair in the Dark.

Although the name of the man who invented the American rocking chair has been lost to us in the mists of time, it is considered highly probable that new arrivals on registering in the hereafter will be able to see it emblazoned on the scroll of fame in letters of brimstone and surrounded by an asbestos wreath of laurel. This is the view shared by all who have encountered an American rocking chair in the dark. A rocking chair may be the instrument whereby weary persons attain comfort; it may be the joy of the flippant youth and the solace of blase age in the daytime or when the gas is burning, but by some miraculous agency it changes its nature completely when darkness falls, becoming an instrument whereby the ruler of evil recruits his corps of coal shoveling imps. No longer, when night falls, it is a padded bit of furniture. It is composed wholly of rockers, and the rockers are composed entirely of sharp ends which fly forth and strike the shin for choice with devilish accuracy of aim. This is one of the wonders of modern life which so far is inexplicable.—San Antonio (Tex.) Express.

Kit Carson's Rifle.

It is perhaps not known to all the world that the rifle of Kit Carson, the great western hunter, scout and explorer, is carefully preserved and may be seen by those who know its whereabouts. At the time of Kit Carson's death he left this rifle to Montezuma lodge, F. and A. M., of Santa Fe, N. M., in whose charge it has remained ever since, an object of great interest and very highly prized by all members of that society.

Montezuma lodge is one of the oldest organizations of that nature west of the Missouri river. It was organized as long ago as 1849, at which time the ancient town of Santa Fe was just beginning to take in part the color of the western bound Anglo-Saxon civilization. Fremont's first trip to the Rocky mountains was made in 1842. There were few white men in all that part of the west at the time of the founding of Montezuma lodge, but Kit Carson was one of these early members. To his brothers of the society he left what may have been one of his most cherished possessions.—Field and Stream.

Gems In VerseThe Russian National Hymn.

God the All Terrible, thou who ordainest Thunder thy clarion and lightning thy sword,
Show forth thy pity on high where thou reignest,
Give to us peace in our time, O Lord.

God, the All Merciful, earth hath forsaken Thy holy ways and hath slighted thy word;
Let not thy wrath in its terror awaken,
Give to us peace in our time, O Lord.

God the Omnipotent, Mighty Avenger,
Watching invisible, judging unheard,
Save us in mercy and save us in danger,
Give to us peace in our time, O Lord.

The Wild Ride.

I hear in my heart, I hear in its ominous
pulses,
All day the commotion of sinewy, mane
tossing horses,
All night from their cells the importunate
tramping and neighing.

Let cowards and laggards fall back, but alert to the saddle,
Straight, grim and abreast, vault our weather worn, galloping legion,
With a stirrup cup each to the one gracious woman that loves him.

The road is through dolor and dread, over crags and morasses;
There are shapes by the way, there are things that appall or entice us.
What odds? We are knights, and our souls are bent on the riding!

Thought's self is a vanishing wing, and joy is a cobweb,
And friendship a flower in the dust, and glory a sunbeam.
Nor here is our prize, nor, alas, after these our pursuing.

A dipping of plumes, a tear, a shake of the bridle,
A passing salute to this world, and her pitiful beauty!
We hurry with never a word in the track of our fathers.

I hear in my heart, I hear in its ominous
pulses,
All day the commotion of sinewy mane
tossing horses,
All night from their cells the importunate
tramping and neighing.

We spur to a land of no name, outracing
the storm wind;
We leap to the infinite dark, like the sparks from the anvil.
Thou leadest, O God! All's well with thy troopers that follow.
—Louise Imogen Guiney.

My Two Friends.

I have two neighbors who have dwelt
For years and years right side by side.
There's very little one has seen
But that the other, too, has spied.
They are congenial in their tastes;
In everything they quite agree,
And what one loves to look upon
The other, too, is pleased to see.

Together they have traveled far
And viewed the sights in many lands.
Whatever one can comprehend
The other, likewise, understands.
Like brothers they have shared their grief,
Like brothers joined in their delight,
Together roamed the fields by day
And gazed upon the stars by night.

But, strange as it may seem, these friends
Who have been closely linked for years
And in their sympathetic way
Have ever shared their smiles and tears
Have never seen each other; yet
That fact need cause no great surprise
Because these two observing friends
Of whom I speak are my two eyes.

The Universalist National Summer Meeting

THE twenty-third annual summer meeting of the Universalist national organization will be held under the auspices of the Ferry Beach Park Association from July 31 to August 7.

These summer meetings were conducted for sixteen years at Weirs, N. H., three years at Saratoga, N. Y., and during the past three years at Ferry Beach Park.

The officers are: president, Rev. Q. H. Shinn, D.D., Cambridge, Mass.; vice presidents, Rev. A. J. Patterson, D.D., Roxbury, Mass.; Rev. C. Gore Miller, Jamaica Plain, Mass.; Rev. H. A. Markley, Swampscott, Mass.; Rev. W. J. Taylor, Lewiston, Me.; Mrs. B. F. Smith, Portland, Me.; secretary, Rev. Charles E. Lund, Deering, Me.; assistant secretary, Miss Alice H. Nelson, Portland, Me.; treasurer, Rev. O. H. Perkins, New Bedford, Mass.

The following are the officers of the Ministers' Institute: president, Rev. T. E. Potterton, Brooklyn, N. Y.; vice president, Rev. G. G. Hamilton, Everett, Mass.; secretary, Rev. C. E. Lund, Deering, Me.; treasurer, Rev. Eleanor B. Forbes, Gray, Me. Programme committee for Institute and Ferry Beach Park Association: Rev. T. E. Potterton, Rev. G. G. Hamilton, Rev. C. E. Lund; committee on music, Mrs. B. F. Smith, Miss Alice Curtis, Dr. Paul H. Shinn, Miss Bertha C. King; committee on grounds, Rev. H. F. Moulton, Russell F. Lund, Rev. C. G. Miller; committee on hotel, Rev. H. F. Moulton, Mrs. Oluf Tandberg, Rev. Frances A. Kimball.

The twenty-third annual meeting of Universalists will be conducted by Rev. Q. H. Shinn, D.D., their Southern missionary, and again the leaders of the Universalist church will be present, and the clergy and laity in even greater number than last year, the most successful of the meetings.

A great spiritual and expansive revival for the Universalist church has been planned by the Field Secretary and State Superintendents at the August rally. The Ministers' Institute has already secured the services of the foremost educators of the Universalist theological schools, and lectures of great value will make the meetings a summer school that cannot afford to be missed. Dr. H. P. Forbes, Dr. A. P. Hervey, Dr. C. E. Nash and others will participate. For the Summer Meetings and Services in the Grove representative preachers from many states will be present. Laymen's services will also be made a feature this year.

It has been proposed to hold a Union Portland Service at Ferry Beach Park on July 31st, uniting the congregations of the parishes of Congress Square, Church of the Messiah, All Souls, Westbrook, Woodfords, South Portland and Biddeford for the day.

The choirs of these churches will be combined in solo, quartet and chorus work. Dr. J. F. Albion, Rev. J. M. Atwood, Rev. C. E. Lund, Rev. H. F. Moulton are expected to attend.

CAMPGROUND AUDITORIUM

Automobiles Ascend Mount Washington.

Great interest has been manifested in the automobile races which have been in progress at Mount Washington, N. H., since Monday morning.

There have been a large number of competitors and hundreds of visitors have assembled to watch the record-breaking contests. Nothing, not even the famous coaching parades, has ever stimulated so much enthusiasm among the tourists in the mountains.

A number of automobilists who in Monday's contest up Mount Washington broke the previous record of 48 minutes, 59 seconds, for the eight miles up the mountain, Tuesday continued the competition in an endeavor to lower Monday's mark. F. E. Stanley in his six-horse power machine, with which on the first day he came out ahead of all others, having ascended in 31 minutes, 15 seconds, succeeded Tuesday in clipping almost three minutes from his previous time, by making the ascent in 28 minutes, 19 2-5 seconds.

L. J. Phelps beat his time made Tuesday, going up the mountain in a little over 44 minutes. The Phelps machine is operated by gasoline. Webb Jay in a 10-horse power steam car ascended in 42 minutes, 19 4-5 seconds. H. W. Alden's time in a gasoline machine was 51 minutes, 50 2-5 seconds.

A. E. Morrison of Boston, on Tuesday, with a 24-horse power gasoline car, broke all records for that class of machines and nearly equaled in corrected time the work done by Stanley with a climbing Mt. Washington and the contests are practically ended. Today and Friday will be given up to touring, the program for today including a run of 35 miles around the base of Mt. Washington and that of Friday to comprise a tour of the Presidential range, a distance of about 95 miles.

Continued Popularity.

The sessions of the Old-Time camp-meeting are continuing in their early popularity. The attendance is large and enthusiasm strong. Following is the program to Saturday night:

FRIDAY, JULY 15.

- 7.00 a.m. Prayer Meeting. Evangelist Adams.
- 10.30 a.m. Address by Evangelist Murphy.
- 2.45 p.m. Song Service. Mr. Heath.
- 3.00 p.m. Address by Evangelist Cozens. "A Sudden Call."
- 7.30 p.m. Praise Meeting.
- 8.00 p.m. Sermon by Evangelist Noble.

SATURDAY, JULY 16.

- 7.00 a.m. Prayer Meeting. Evangelist Noble.
- 10.30 a.m. Sermon by Rev. H. P. Rankin of Somerville. "The Power of the Cross."
- 2.45 p.m. Song Service.
- 3.00 p.m. Preaching by Evangelist Miss Adams.
- 7.30 p.m. Praise Meeting. Mr. Heath.
- 8.00 p.m. Sermon by Evangelist W. J. Cozens. "A Dance and Its Consequences."

A Once Familiar Figure.

A. A. Bowdoin of Manchester, N. H., one of the old residents of Old Orchard, and a well known and prominent figure here several years ago, is about town greeting old friends.

He has not resided in Old Orchard for about twelve years, although he has visited here several times since his departure. He is now on a flying trip visiting his daughter, Mrs. F. H. Colley of Old Orchard, and a sister in Portland.

Mr. Bowdoin covered part of the distance from Manchester on his wheel, and has in past years made the entire trip to Old Orchard by bicycle. He is an enthusiastic wheelman and athlete, and an exceptionally active man for one of his years, being nearly sixty-three years of age. He is as straight and sturdy as a man of forty. Mr. Bowdoin is a delightful conversationalist, and it is indeed a pleasure to hear him discuss with his old friends the Old Orchard of the former days.

A party of Lewiston young women, composed of Misses Florence Scott, Jennie Tetlow, Sadie Steele and Winnie Laflamme are to visit here for a few days.

steam vehicle. He made the ascent in the actual running time of 31 minutes, 6 4-5 seconds, but he was allowed two minutes on account of having to turn out to pass a car ahead of it and his mark was placed at 29 minutes, 6 4-5 seconds, Morrison's elapsed time was 8 1-5 seconds better than Stanley's record Monday and within 45 2-5 seconds of Stanley's new steam car record made Tuesday.

Harry S. Harkness with a 60 horse power Mercedes, costing perhaps $15,000, caused a great sensation late Tuesday afternoon by the phenomenal performance of his machine which made the ascent in the remarkable time of 24m. 37 3-5 sec. Nothing like this record was approached by the other contestants.

Rain Wednesday prevented the attempts to break previous records in Alpha Hamor is in charge of one of Whittier's express teams again this summer.

Harry Ricker of this town is night watchman at the Old Orchard house this summer.

Charles Clark is employed at Mrs. Colley's restaurant in the Day building on Old Orchard street.

Mr. and Mrs. John Nutting of Skowhegan are guests at Rev. B. C. Wentworth's on Union avenue.

Mr. Kemp and Mrs. Houghton of Montpelier, Vt., are visiting at the Smith cottage on the sea wall.

Those having lock boxes at the post office are requested to bring their keys when coming for their mail.

Mrs. W. F. Bodge, with her daughter Glenn of Waterville, is visiting her mother, Mrs. Daniel Lucas on Union avenue.

The restrictions on the shooting of plover, snipe and sandpiper will be off August 1. The open time is from that time until May 1.

Miss Emma Haines, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John F. Haines of this town, has the position of cashier at the Seashore bath house this season.

Walter J. Gilpatrick continues to hold the important position of agent at Old Orchard for the Electric Light and Water Co., as for several years past.

Rev. Alexander Dight of Natick, Mass., arrived in town today and will take the place of Dr. Gailbraith in the Old-Time Campmeeting. The doctor is unavoidably detained at home and will not appear as scheduled.

The leaders in the Old-Time campmeeting have been holding beach meetings and chalk-talks for the last few evenings near the Hotel Velvet through the kind consent of Proprietor Nutter. Large and appreciative audiences have been in attendance.

Mrs. Elizabeth Malborn is slowly convalescing after a severe attack of rheumatism. Mrs. Malborn is at her cottage on the campground, where she has been located every summer for several years.

Miss Florence Leavitt of Boston, one of Old Orchard's most attractive young women, is making her annual summer visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Leavitt at their pleasant residence, "Knollhurst," on Portland avenue.

W. L. Libby has charge of the fish department at the Libby grocery store this season. This is the first season for about twenty-five years that one of the Herrick family, father and three sons, hasn't been connected with this business.

Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Jameson of Boston are again enjoying their annual visit of a few weeks here at Old Orchard, where they have been well known guests for several seasons. Mr. Jameson is one of the active and enterprising young business men of the Hub, and now has the responsible position of vice president of the Whitlock Printing Press Manufacturing Co., which does an extensive business. He has been selling agent for this company for several years.

Kodak supplies and finishing for amateurs at Baker's studio. Also the finest portrait work.

Dr. John S. Fogg, formerly located in Biddeford, has an office in the post office building as last season.

A party of thirty-six Biddeford ladies enjoyed a picnic at the Anthoine cottage at Camp Ellis, Wednesday.

Collections are made from the boxes away from the post office where mail is deposited, at 8 a. m. and 3 p. m. week days, and 3 p. m. Sundays.

Percy N. H. Lombard, an Old Orchard young man, is a brakeman on the New York Express, running between Portland and Worcester.

For hair dressing, shampooing, and manicuring of the best kind you should visit Mrs. James A. Smith's parlor on Old Orchard street.

Mrs. S. A. Dinsmore and family of Skowhegan returned here Tuesday and are occupying the Skowhegan cottage on Wesley avenue at the campground.

Miss Lena Lord of Saco, with her family and friends, will occupy Mrs. McKenzie's cottage, corner of Bay and Grand avenues during the rest of July.

Miss Rose McIntire, one of the assistant teachers of the Skowhegan High school, and her mother are in town for a few weeks. They are located at Rev. B. C. Wentworth's on Union avenue.

Miss Ida Hanson of Pine street, Lewiston, who has been visiting Miss Helen Sawyer, formerly of Auburn, at Togus for a few days, returned to the family cottage on Fern avenue last Tuesday afternoon.

Arthur M. Chase is again filling the position of janitor at the town building this season as during the past few years. Visitors desiring to visit the several departments at this building are cordially invited to do so.

Alfred M. Cohen, Esq., and family of Cincinnati arrived at the beach Monday and will be located at the "Homestead" for the season. Mr. Cohen is a prominent corporation lawyer and politician of his home city.

Mrs. Lucy L. Miller, wife of Dr. Miller of Dorchester, Mass., is visiting her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. George S. Lowell, at the Cedar Brook cottage, West Grand avenue. Mrs. Miller, nee Lowell, formerly resided here, and is well known by the Old Orchard people.

Miss Mabel L. Jordan of Boston is a guest this week of George T. Fogg. She is delighted with Old Orchard and its attractions, especially the bathing. It is reported that Miss Jordan has gained about twelve pounds during the last four days, and that she thinks the bathing here is superior to that at Revere.

Have you a cross-eyed child? Cross-eyes are often the result of defective eyes and can be quickly cured without the use of a knife or medicine. We owe it to our children to relieve them of suffering and disfigurement. Don't put it off another day. Dr. Littlefield of Saco guarantees a cure by his new painless method or no pay.

The public library is open Wednesday and Saturday afternoons and evenings from 2 to 8.30 o'clock.

Captain Eva Ludgate of the Salvation Army, who has been staying at the "Frederic" on Union avenue, has unexpectedly been called to her home in Denver, Col.

John F. Lombard, formerly of Old Orchard, after having been here during the past few months, has joined his family who are now residing in Washington, D. C.

Mrs. J. H. Clarke and daughter, Mrs. M. A. Gilbert, of Bethlehem, N. H., are sojourning for a while at Mrs. Powers' residence, "Good Luck," on Staples avenue. They formerly had the management of the Highland house at Bethlehem, but have rented the property this season, the present managers being Danforth & White.

The Ocean House.

It has been about a dozen years since there has been a hostelry called the Ocean house in Old Orchard, previous to this season.

Mr. John C. Pierce, who recently purchased the Drake cottage on the sea wall near West Grand avenue, has so named this house, which has been remodeled and put in first class condition for the accommodation of guests, and with the four adjacent cottages it will be possible to provide for a large number of people. The dining room in the Ocean house will be for the use of all the guests, whether they have rooms in the main house or the cottages.

Prof. James M. Chapman of Oxford, Ohio, and F. F. Dunfield of Bates college will have charge of the hotel business, the former acting in the capacity of host. Professor Chapman is connected with the department of rhetoric and oratory at Miami University in Oxford, and is a widely known elocutionist and lecturer. He has been a regular season visitor at Old Orchard since 1873, the year that the Boston & Maine railroad was first put through here, and has seen this resort develop from humble beginnings to its present important place among the great vacation centers of the country. Professor Chapman has a wide acquaintance among the permanent residents and summer visitors here, especially those of long standing. He was for a number of seasons at the old Lawrence cottage, which was located near the Lawrence house, and in recent years he has made his summer home at the Drake cottage.

The professor left Oxford June 18 and arrived at Old Orchard Monday, after a visit with his sister at Center Harbor, N. H. The Ocean house will certainly enjoy a first class patronage under its present capable management.

A Poem In French.

The following poem in French was composed by Dr. J. A. Girouard of 91 Pine street, Lewiston, whose family are occupying a cottage here this season:

A OLD ORCHARD.

A l'horizon monte la lune,
Un jour bien chaud vient de finir.
Allons, doucement, a la brune,
A pas lents, nous entretenir.

Dans le ciel bleu la lune est blonde.
Allons parler un peu tout bas.
Sur cette plage unique au mode;
Amie, allons a petits pas.

En face de nous l'Atlantique,
Sera notre unique temoin;
Son murmure melancolique
Conduira nos penses bien loin.

Devant l'immensite de l'onde,
Allons ensemble insoucieux.
L'air est serein la lune est blonde,
Allons en presence des cieux.

Dans ces chateaux, la sur la greve,
Les rires vont bientot finir
Chacun agite de son reve,
Combien de coeurs vont s'endormir?

Les uns pleins de folle tristesse,
Appelant le bonheur qui fuit.
Les autres remplis d'allegresse
Riront peut-etre dans la nuit.

Un dernier groupe se balance;
De musique tous sont grises.
Mais bientot finira la danse
Qui comptera les coeurs brises?

De cette foule devoree
De tant de plaisirs et d'amour;
De cette jeunesse doree
Qu'en restera-t-il donc un jour?

Un si peu de poussiere grise,
Que pour l'ensevelir dedans;
Il suffira qu'elle soit mise
Dans un creux fait par des enfants.

Reportons nos regards sur l'onde
Elle qui demeure ici bas
L'air est serein la lune est blonde,
Amie, allons a petits pas.

DR. GIROUARD.

The Beef Trust.

Tuesday the Beef Trust magnates struck terror to the souls of many people by ordering a flat increase of four cents a pound in the price of beef. This includes all sorts and condition of cattle and makes the prices range from 10 to 13 cents per pound, the highest that have ruled in this country for several years.

Table Etiquette.

It isn't good form to put your knife in your mouth under any circumstances. Neither is it considered proper in polite society to slip it in your pocket when the host is not looking.

Never ask for a second helping. Reach for it.

Don't pick your teeth with your fork. Ask the man next to you for the loan of his gold plated toothpick.

Don't talk with your mouth full of hot soup.

Remember that it sets the hostess at ease to tell how much nicer silver and cut glass they have at your wife's mother's.

Don't say carelessly, "Seems like we can't get tender beef any more."

It is unlucky to drink thirteen cups of tea.

Don't unbutton your collar at the table on the plea that you like to have freedom while you eat.

Don't put your feet on the table when the chairs have been shoved back until the host has set the example.

The Kite Track.

There seems to be as yet no active movement on foot to re-open the Old Orchard Kite Track this season, and many are afraid that this famous mile course is destined to have the same fate as Rigby, which was built near Portland a few years ago at great expense and has now been entirely abandoned.

The Old Orchard race course was opened about a dozen years ago, after several thousand dollars had melted away in constructing it, and for a number of seasons race meetings were held there annually during July and August, and some excellent sport was provided. But the great set back for the management of this track was the unfavorable weather that existed year after year, and brought discouragement and financial losses to the horsemen and the promoters of the track. Mr. M. F. Porter was the manager up to the season of 1903, when for the first time since the track opened no races were held, neither Mr. Porter nor anyone else caring to tempt fate that year.

However, many having missed the entertainment and good sport provided by the races, and others realizing the extra amount of business that has been done when these events took place here, have wished that something might be done to revive interest in the Kite Track which has now been dormant for nearly two years.

THE MIRROR hasn't learned that anything definite has been done towards holding race meetings here this season, although frequent accounts have appeared in the Boston papers during the past year in regard to the advisability of having some experienced race track managers take hold of this proposition. It is the general belief among those who are supposed to know what they are talking about that, properly managed and with any kind of favorable weather, this enterprise could be made a good paying investment.

Send In Items.

THE MIRROR would be pleased to receive contributions from people here relative to matters of special interest to Old Orchard.

It is not possible to devote space to lengthy articles, since we have such a wide field to cover, but brief accounts of happenings, and information as to people who are staying here will be gladly received.

THE MIRROR does not regularly publish the arrivals nor personal notes for the hotels and boarding houses that do not care to advertise in this paper, but of the large number of cottagers we desire to get as much information as possible. In a large resort like Old Orchard, where there are so many strangers each year, with hundreds going and coming frequently, it is impossible to report nearly all of these events. With the assistance of those who care to have items published we shall be able to cover the ground much more thoroughly.

Here And There.

Many handsome turnouts are again seen about our streets.

The baggage continues to arrive on nearly every incoming train.

The circulation of books at the public library is steadily increasing.

Several faces familiar at Old Orchard in previous years haven't been seen here yet this season.

The trains on the Beach railroad are carrying a large number of passengers for this time in July.

Nature did a great deal for Old Orchard and man has added a great many artificial attractions.

The auto races to be held at Old Orchard will surely create as great interest as those at Mount Washington. No events in the mountains have ever aroused more widespread enthusiasm.

How do you like the bathing suits this season?

The genial hotel clerk is beginning to have troubles of his own.

Several parcels of real estate have changed hands here this season.

The programs at the Old-Time Campmeetings are of increasing interest.

The waiting room for the electric road patrons is found to be a great convenience.

A crowd gathers at the post office every evening to await the distribution of the mail.

Let Old Orchard people do business so far as possible with those who advertise in THE MIRROR.

A large number gather at the station to watch for arrivals on the trains, especially in the evening.

The Scenic Railway is proving a greater attraction this season than during the two previous years that it has been in existence.

A little rain now and then to lay the dust. The sun doesn't always shine for us at Old Orchard, which is also found to be the fact in other places.

Attractive souvenir postal cards with numerous views of places of interest about Old Orchard are having a ready sale here this season.

The St. Louis Exhibition will not keep everyone away from Old Orchard this season. There are probably only a few who doubt this statement.

The big rush of business usually sets in at this resort during the last week in July. The hotels were never completely filled during the first ten days, however much some people may try to make you believe this.

A cross walk should be constructed for Old Orchard street at a point opposite the new waiting room in the Porter block. Such a walk has been needed for many years, and there is now greater necessity for one than ever before.

Many collegians are employed in various capacities in the hotels and other business enterprises here this season as usual.

The Cascade located about two miles from Old Orchard is one of the favorite points of interest among summer sojourners here.

The Canadian visitors are commencing to arrive in goodly numbers. Several of the Dominion cities are represented at this resort by large delegations annually.

Lots of land along the shore are now bringing gilt edge prices. Within a few years present figures wouldn't be considered for a moment by those who happen to be the fortunate owners of the property.

Old Orchard is happy. It is going to have those automobile races which were at first said to be impossible because the sand of the beach is too soft.—Waterville Sentinel.

OCEAN PARK

Plenty of blueberries, but—a picker for each berry!

The mails leave the postoffice at Ocean Park at 8.00, 10.45, a.m., and 4.00 and 6.30 p.m.; they arrive at 9.00, 11.30, a.m., and 5.00 and 8.00 p.m.

The bridge at Guild Park is having a new coat of paint. The grove just beyond the bridge reminds me of a "temple not made with hands."

The Temple was open, for the first time this season, last Sunday, because the audience has become too large for Porter Memorial Hall. Rev. Mr. Lockhart preached.

Dr. Bartlett of Chicago is at his summer home on the sea wall. He will preach next Sabbath at 10.30 a.m. We are glad to welcome him as he is in sympathy with the work of the Park.

Rev. W. J. Twort is the new managing secretary of the Chautauqua Assembly. He is a man of excellent executive ability, and we look for excellent results of his work.

Cottage owners are coming rapidly. Among them are Professor Priest of St. Lawrence University, Canton, N. Y.; Mr. and Mrs. Hayes of the "Nautilus;" Rev. Mr. Wilson and family of "Bidea-Wee;" Mr. and Mrs. Maines of the "Maine's," and Mr. and Mrs. Metcalf of "Little Rhody." Dr. Bryant's cottage is occupied by Mr. Adams of Pittsfield, Me., and Dr. Cushman of Claremont, N. H.

Miss Hattie Milliken has gone to Silver Bay to attend the Young People's Missionary Workers Convention. Miss Etta Costello is with her sister, Mrs. Doe. She has recently returned from Calcutta, India, where she has been at the head of an Orphanage, belonging to the Union Missionary Society. Mrs. Whitney, who is with Mrs. Bassett, at one time lived and voted in Colorado. She speaks as if the best women in the state use the franchise. Mrs. and Miss Hartley, recently of St. John, New Brunswick, spent last Saturday at the Hermitage; Miss Hartley is private secretary of Mrs. L. M. N. Stevens, President of the National Women's Christian Temperance Union. We were glad to receive a call from Miss Anthony, daughter of Professor Anthony, the other day. She, with several other young people of Lewiston, has been enjoying a house party at Pine Point.

The Summer Assembly will begin Saturday, July 23, opening with a reception in the Temple at 7.45 p.m. to which all are cordially invited. Prof. Davis, who is well known here, will be the reader of the evening. The Minister's Institute will begin Monday, July 25. Dean J. H. Howe, D. D., will preside. It will continue till the following Saturday. Such men as Dr. Bartlett of Chicago, Prof. Pratt of Hartford Theological Seminary, President Chase of Bates College, Professor Anthony of Cobb Divinity School, Hon. G. F. Mosher, ex-consul to France and Germany, and Rev. H. E. Wyman and G. H. Hamlen of India will have a part in the Institute. The programs of this part and of all of the Assembly can be secured by calling at the Book-room on Temple Avenue, near the station. They are distributed gratuitously.

Portland Real Estate Association.

The Portland Real Estate association held its first field day Tuesday afternoon and evening at Old Orchard. The party including the real estate proprietors and clerks with friends left Portland at 12.45 o'clock on an Old Orchard electric car.

The following were in the party:

George T. Edward, W. H. Waldron, E. W. Motley, A. C. Libby, W. F. Dresser, F. S. Vaill, E. G. Vaill, Thos. L. Rackleff, J. H. Edwards, L. M. Leighton, V. S. Hillis, W. P. Carr, Henry S. Trickey, G. W. Davis, Roscoe Phillips, Geo. F. Junkins, Charles A. Skillings, C. B. Dalton, R. H. Boynton, Wesley Snow, G. F. Alexander, Edmund J. Young, F. B. Shepherd, Mr. Motley, S. Edgar Whitaker, Wm. H. Willard, F. H. Pierce, C. P. Waldron, M. W. Kent, F. H. Smith.

On arrival at Old Orchard the party was met by Wesley G. Smith, well known in real estate circles in Old Orchard and Portland. Mr. Smith very kindly furnished the party a field which was used to very good advantage as a ball ground. The first event of interest was a game of baseball, played between nines composed of the Middle street and Exchange street real estate dealers.

Only two innings were played as a shower came up to interfere. The game when time was called stood 8 to 2 in favor of the Middle street nine. The remainder of the afternoon was spent in bowling. After the dinner, which was served at 6 o'clock at The Alberta, the monthly business meeting of the association was held at which only routine business was transacted. The party returned to the city on the late electric car well pleased with their outing.

Well Known Guests.

Dr. and Mrs. R. D. MacArthur of Chicago arrived early in the week for their annual sojourn at Old Orchard. They have for many years been among our prominent and highly regarded summer visitors, and always receive a cordial welcome on their return to our shores. Dr. MacArthur is one of Chicago's well known physicians. The MacArthurs usually remain until about September 1.

Bowling Notes.

HOTEL PERSONALS

Mrs. M. Fitzgerald and Annie F. Fitzgerald have arrived at the Irving for the season.

Mrs. A. G. Cookson of Washington, D. C., is registered at the Irving for a stay of several weeks.

Mrs. E. L. Gnaedinger and Masters Leslie and Herbert Gnaedinger of Montreal have returned to the Montreal house for their annual summer visit. They have been patrons of the house for some years.

Miss Marian Louise Carey of Detroit has arrived at the Ocean house for the season. Miss Carey has great admiration for Old Orchard, and has been a guest here, having stayed at those two former hostels, the Lawrence cottage and Drake cottage for nearly ten seasons.

Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Carey, Mr. and Mrs. Frank J. Sherwood, and Carey Sherwood arrived at the Ocean house Tuesday for the season. They have been for a number of years popular guests at this house, formerly known as Drake cottage. It is said that at this hostelry Mrs. Sherwood is generally called "Frank J. Sherwood's wife."

G. G. Barrie and C. D. Leary of Montreal are making an extended stay at the Irving.

Mr. John Barker and Miss Sallie C. Crombie of Peterboro, Mass., old summer visitors here, have returned for their usual stay. This year they are at the Irving.

John Foley, the well known contractor of North Andover, Mass., has arrived at the Oceanic for an extended stay. Miss O. Leary and Mr. and Mrs. P. Sheeley of Lawrence and George K. Danton of Boston are also at the Oceanic.

C. D. Sargent now has the Pine cottage ready for the reception of guests. He will have a porter at the trains immediately, and is doing everything to get a first-class business. The house is excellently furnished and combined with the admirable location, this should make an ideal place for people seeking rest and quiet. At the same time it is near the heart of the town and the amusement centers. Mr. Sargent already has many guests booked for the next few weeks.

An Animal Story For Little Folks

What Greedy Got

Greedy was a strange creature. In the first place he was the only one of thirteen eggs that old Mrs. Speckle was able to hatch.

To say he was ugly would be but poorly to express it.

His head was like a duck, for he was at first a duck's egg. But his tail was wonderfully like Mrs. Speckle's. His feet were like paddles on a steamboat, and his appetite was enormous. His poor mother did so much scratching in the garden to satisfy his greed that they shut her up in a coop.

"See what you have brought me to by your greediness," said his poor mother.

POOR BILL GAVE UP THE CHASE.

But he only grinned and gobbled all the corn placed before his mother's coop.

"You needn't scold," he cried. "You brought me here with my appetite and I must eat."

"But please be careful," she answered anxiously. "One day you eat Paris green and nearly die, another you fill yourself with pebbles, another—"

But just then along came little Bill. He had a pleased expression on his face, for in his hand he carried a brand new watch, given him for his birthday.

In a moment Greedy saw it. "It looks like crackers," he squawked. "I shall get it if I can."

Bill put the watch proudly in his belt, and just as he did so spied Mrs. Speckle in the coop. Leaning over to scratch her topknot, the watch dropped out. In an instant Greedy was at it. He opened his great flat beak, took it in and started on a run. Bill saw him and gave chase.

"Drop it! Drop it! You horrid thing!" he cried.

"Not if I know it," squawked Greedy, paddling along.

Poor Bill gave up the chase and sat down to cry, while Greedy in the quiet seclusion of the meadow grass began to eat the watch. It was one of the "dollar" type.

"Not much give to it," he grunted. But just then he met his doom, as his mother had said he would, for the watch spring suddenly broke loose and went off with a terrible bang. Whirr-r-r!

Greedy's head went with it. His paddle feet gave a few kicks, his tail a few feeble wags, and he was dead.

His greed had killed him.—Atlanta Constitution.

"What Once Lives."

Come what come will,
What once lives never dies—what here attains
To a beginning has no end, still gains
And never loses aught; when, where and how—Lies in Law's lap. What's death then?
Even now
With so much knowledge is it hard to bear
Brief interposing ignorance? Is care
For a creation found at fault just there—
There where the heart breaks bond and outruns time,
To reach, not follow, what shall be?
—Robert Browning.

Music hath charms to soothe the savage breast,
To soften rocks or bend a knotted oak.

The Heart of the Woods.

I hear it beat in morning still
When April skies have lost their gloom,
And through the weeds there runs a thrill
That wakes arbutus into bloom.

I hear it throb in sprouting May—
A muffled murmur on the breeze,
Like mellow thunder leagues away,
Or booming voice of distant seas.

In daisied June I catch its roll,
Pulsing through the leafy shade,
And fain I am to reach its goal
And see the drummer unafraid.

Or when the autumn leaves are shed,
And frosts attend the fading year,
Like secret mine sprung by my tread
A covey bursts from hiding near.

I feel its pulse mid winter snows,
And feel my own with added force,
When red ruff drops his cautious pose
And forward takes his humming course.

The startled birches shake their curls;
A withered leaf leaps in the breeze;
Some hidden mortar speaks and hurls
Its feather missile through the trees.

Compact of life, of fervent wing,
A dynamo of feathered power,
Thy drum is music in the spring,
Thy flight is music every hour.
—John Burroughs.

Love.

Love has her temple on the shores of
Time,
And, like a siren, by her sweet bell's chime
Draws weary mar'ners, and her luring smile
Bids them to stop and rest a little while.

Who sail upon life's stormy, beaten sea,
All come at last unto Love's sunny lea.
Some find the peace Love promised, but some die
And strew the shore where their wrecked vessels lie.

Love's hands are soft, yet can they smite like steel.
Love's eyes are bright, yet they can make you feel
With one swift glance the agony when drove Through shrinking souls the thunderbolts of Jove.

Love is a goddess, giving endless peace.
Love is a fickle vixen of caprice.
Love breathes on one a warm, immortal breath
And smites the next one with the bitter death.
—Lowell O. Reese in San Francisco Bulletin.

The Light That Never Fails.

Far down the somber shaft, where scarce
a gleam
Of rosy daylight ever finds its way,
By day or night, the miner, looking up,
Can see the star's far penetrating ray.

And oft, while in some darkened vale of life,
When grief or gloom our peace of mind
assails,
We turn our tear stained faces to the skies,
To find in heaven the Light that never fails!
—Charles Edey Fay.

Of plain sound sense life's current coin is made,
With that we drive the most substantial trade.

—Young.

LAW POINTS.

Where a husband conveys his property to his wife in fraud of his creditors, with her knowledge, and it is sold to an innocent third party, personal judgment may be entered against her for the proceeds of such sale. (95 N. W. Rep. 1015.)

Where a common carrier receives goods to be shipped over its line to a point beyond its terminus, in the absence of a special contract, it has discharged its duty when it has delivered them safely to the connecting carrier. (67 N. E. Rep., 538.)

Representatives of financial standing of a buyer, made to induce a sale on credit, when acted upon by the seller to his injury, will, if untrue, constitute fraud, voiding the sale, although the buyer did not know that they were false. (44 S. E. 97.)

A TRI-WEEKLY JOURNAL OF BEACH EVENTS.

VOL. V, No. 7.

OLD ORCHARD, MAINE, JULY 16, 1904.

PRICE 3 CENTS.

The Meetings are Increasing in Interest

THE Meetings of the Evangelical Association continue to awaken much enthusiasm. The audiences still continue to be large and appreciative beyond all previous expectation. The beach meetings are very interesting. The chalk-talk last Wednesday evening near the Velvet was very apropos for the seashore, the subject being, "The House on the Sand." The vocal solos of Miss Wing and Miss Rogers at the daily meetings in the Auditorium are calling forth much praise.

As a prelude to the service tomorrow forenoon Evangelist Cozens will speak of the work accomplished by himself and Evangelist Noble during the past year. During this time these two men have co-operated in evangelical work with capital results and Mr. Cozens will tell of the towns and cities visited and the various conversions brought about.

The principal figure of next week's meetings will be Herbert H. Booth, son of General Booth of the Salvation Army. His principal subjects will be those dealing with early Christian heroism and social problems. All his evening lectures will be illustrated by moving pictures, stereopticon views and life models.

The pictures which are an important part of Mr. Booth's lectures, are pronounced to be the finest of the fine. In the two lectures, which are on the subject of "Early Christian Heroism," there are to be two hundred stereopticon pictures and thirty moving pictures. These have all been made from life models and taken especially for these lectures. Mr. Booth spent a large amount of money in having the pictures made, it being necessary to have actors of ability pose for the stereopticon pictures and to act out the scenes for the moving pictures.

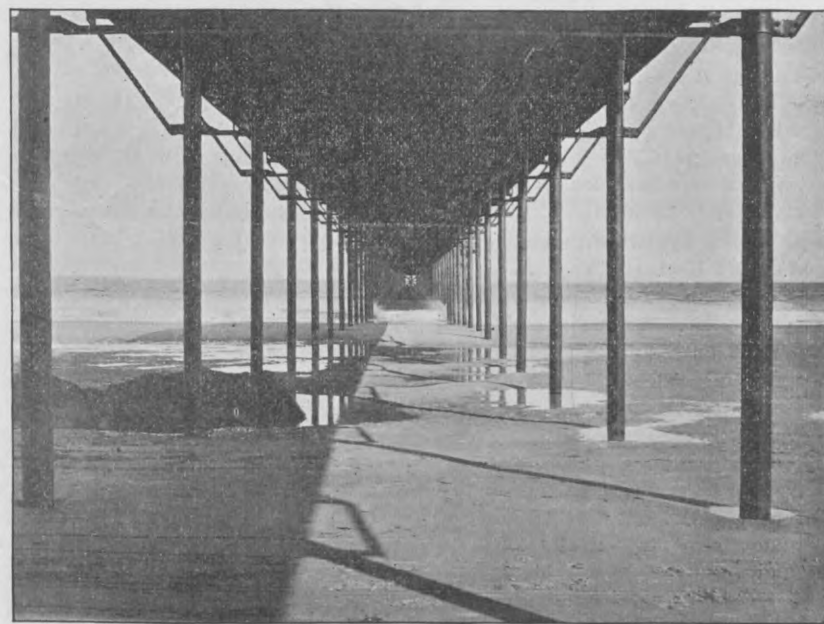

The lecturer has a wonderful command of the English language and an oratorical ability which makes his descriptions of the pictures not only interesting but thrilling and entrancing.

Mr. Booth has studied sociology widely, in almost all the countries of the world, and his terse and interesting way of expressing himself may be seen from the following characteristic utterance:

"I am an American. I was born in the extreme southwest of England and as near America as I could get. But though American I am human. Wherever there is a son of man, black, red or white I am interested in him. I have known and loved so many of them you see. The Englishman, the Scotchman, the Welshman, the Frenchman, the Scandinavian, the Indian, the African, the Australian, the Canadian, I have worked very much of a muchness, all have hearts, good and bad tempers and are wonderfully influenced by a dollar bill.

"Australia is a wonderful country where most of the wild animals as well as the men go on two legs, the trees shed their bark instead of their leaves and the summer sun shines in December.

UNDER THE STEEL PIER

"Socially and governmentally she leads the world. Her commonwealth constitution is a combination of all the best statute laws on earth. The governments are the parent of the people. In New Zealand strikes are illegal, the railways are the property of the state, so are the telegraph companies. So is much of the life insurance. The state's attorneys department is the poor man's lawyer and the man who pays his nickel to the street car conductor is helping to pay his taxes. That country is 200 years ahead of this in beneficial social legislation. The latest movement in New Zealand is towards the public ownership of coal and natural mineral deposits. The things we are dreaming of here are realized over yonder.

"What is the wickedest city in the world? Of those I have been to I should say it is a race between London and Chicago. I think Chicago leads because Chicago is more up-to-date. In Paris sin is a fine art; in Chicago it is a grim business. In London crime is the after effect of misery and poverty. In Chicago it is more of an enterprise. I believe that in crime as in commerce Chicago is right on time. The latest invention in hell is telegraphed straight to Chicago."

The program for the meetings for the next few days is as follows:

SUNDAY, JULY 17.

- 7.00 a.m. "Watch and Pray." Led by Evangelist Noble.
- 10.00 a.m. Testimony Meeting. Led by Miss Adams.
- 10.30 a.m. Sermon by Evangelist Cozens. "Repentance."
- 2.30 p.m. Praise Service. Evangelist Noble.

10.30 a.m. Address by Evangelist Cozens.

"A Woman who was told a secret and could not keep it."

2.45 p.m. Song Service.

3.00 p.m. Sermon by Mr. H. Booth. "A Gigantic Fool."

7.30 p.m. Prayer and Praise.

8.00 p.m. Lecture by Mr. Booth.

Bowling Notes.

Bowling is now booming. Everybody is taking a roll and the interest is lively.

One of the most enthusiastic bowlers at the Cleaves Alley is Mrs. Charles Locke of Toledo, Ohio, who is spending the season with her family at the Velvet. She has succeeded in tying the candle score for ladies, and we expect soon to see her raise this.

The scores now stand:

At the Field Alley:

BIG PINS.

Gents—George E. Wise, Lynn, 196.
Ladies—Mrs. P. E. Smith, Boston, 129.

CANDLES.

Gents—H. H. Crane, Saco, 106.
Ladies—Miss Florence E. Wise, Portland, 79.

DUCKS.

Gents—Harold White, Old Orchard, 107.
Ladies—Maud H. McNeal, Montreal, 76.

At the Cleaves Alley:

BIG PINS.

Gents—C. Faulhaber, New York, 203.
Ladies—Miss Mary V. Peyser, New York, 151.

CANDLES.

Gents—H. H. Crane, Saco, 111.
Ladies—Miss Florence P. Leavitt, Boston, 81; Mrs. Charles Locke, Toledo, Ohio, 81.

DUCKS.

Gents—F. Glenn Harmon, Old Orchard, 96.

Old Age Statistics.

Only one in 3,000,000 persons will reach the age of 104; just one in 5,000,000 can expect to see 105 birthdays, and as to living to be 106 years old, estimates place that contingency out of the range of practical calculations.

Transplanting Flowers.

In transplanting flowers soak them well first, then lift them out carefully with a trowel, taking a generous supply of earth with them.

An Unlucky Find.

A German tinker named Landsberg found a purse containing $110 at Rostok. He took it to the police station, where its owner claimed it and gave Landsberg a quarter. The disappointed finder shot himself.

- 3.00 p.m. Preaching by Evangelist Cozens. "The Marriage of the King's Son."
- 7.30 p.m. Song Service. Mr. Heath.
- 7.45 p.m. Sermon by Rev. Alexander Dight of Natick, Mass.

MONDAY, JULY 18.

- 10.30 a.m. Address by Evangelist Noble.
- 2.45 p.m. Song Service. Mr. Heath.
- 3.00 p.m. Sermon by Rev. Mr. Dight.
- 7.30 p.m. Praise Meeting.
- 7.45 p.m. Address on The Social Problems of the Hour. Mr. Herbert Henry Booth. Entitled, "The Moral Ambulance and The Smitten Citizen."

TUESDAY, JULY 19.

- 7.00 a.m. Testimony Meeting. Led by Miss Adams.

THE STROLLER

Professor Elliott of Montreal is sum-mering here.

For hair dressing, shampooing, and manicuring of the best kind you should visit Mrs. James A. Smith's parlor on Old Orchard street.

Dr. Dunn of Beacon street, Boston, who has recently returned from a European trip, is domiciled at "Good Luck Cottage" on Staples avenue.

James A. Edgerly, Esq., of Somersworth, N. H., was about town Friday.
Mr. Edgerly is one of the prominent attorneys-at-law in the Granite State.

The hotels at York are enjoying an unusual amount of patronage for July.
The Marshall house, Yorkshire Inn and the Varrell house have more guests than is usual at this time of year.—Biddeford Journal.

Mrs. L. H. Bucknam, the Misses
Grace and Annabelle and Master Earle
Bucknam of Lewiston are at their cottage on Old Orchard avenue. Mrs.
Bucknam has been coming here for twenty years.

C. P. Trickey, the well known piano dealer, 211 Tremont street, Boston, has been staying at the Mineral Spring house, Kennebunk Beach, during the present month. Mr. Trickey has many friends here, where he has visited and done business for a number of years.

The members of the Urban club of Portland and invited guests enjoyed a field day here Thursday. A cottage was engaged and the day spent most enjoyably. At noon a shore dinner was served and in the afternoon there was a short business session. The party returned home late in the afternoon by electric.

Mrs. Julia Sullivan and nephews Daniel and Willie Sullivan of Boston are occupying for the season their cottage on Cedar avenue. The young men are the sons of Daniel F. Sullivan, who was formerly in business here, having conducted the drug store opposite the depot.

Mrs. Adeline Emmons of Biddeford is at Old Orchard for the months of July and August in her old position as hostess at the Biddeford house, property of the Biddeford Foss street M. E. church, which she has held for the past twelve years. Several rooms are now occupied and one of the most interesting occupants is a bright old lady who is passing her nineteenth outing at the "House on the Ridge."

Mrs. Weller of Boston recently arrived at the Wiseman cottage on the sea wall near East Grand avenue.

Courtney Page, son of Elmer E. Page, agent of the York Corporation, Saco, is a frequent visitor here.

E. D. Abisalih of Biddeford is engaged in the fruit business on the railroad walk again this season.

A. L. T. Cummings, the well known newspaper correspondent of Portland, was a recent visitor here.

E. Cochran of the Adams Express
Co., Boston, is passing part of his vacation here, being located at "Good Luck Cottage."

Miss Ethelyn White of Jamaica Plain and Mrs. L. Hutchins and child are visiting Charles A. Clark, manager of Haley's express.

A gentleman who has travelled not a little, says that the table at the Ocean house is the best he has ever found at the price, and altogether excellent.

Mr. and Mrs. D. L. Bartlett of Ames-bury, Mass., returned here Thursday afternoon, and are occupying for the season their cottage on Zion avenue near the campground.

Lieutenant Roscoe C. Moody of the United States Navy, and family of Biddeford have rented a cottage here for the season. Lieutenant Moody is the son of Charles A. Moody, president of the First National bank, Biddeford.

Mrs. D. B. Keene of Buckfield returned to Old Orchard Thursday and is located on Wesley avenue as in former years. Mrs. Keene is one of our oldest summer residents, having been coming here for twenty-two seasons.

Miss Mildred Robbins of Lewiston has arrived at her cottage near the campground for the season. She has been coming here regularly for a number of years. Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Free of Lewiston also stay at the Robbins cottage during the season. Mrs. Free and Miss Robbins are sisters.

Rev. J. Roy Dinsmore of Manchester,
N. H., arrived in town Wednesday.
Rev. H. P. Rankin, pastor of Flint street M. E. Church, Somerville, Mass., arrived Friday. They are taking active part in the meetings of the Old-Time Campmeeting. They are staying at Arthur Chase's on Union avenue.

Hon. B. DeLaBruere and wife are visiting their son, Dr. DeLaBruere of Biddeford, who with his wife is staying here. Mr. DeLaBruere is minister of public instruction in Quebec and for a number of years carried on a newspaper in Canada. Miss Josephine Ledoux of Biddeford is also the guest of Dr. and Mrs. DeLaBruere.

Mrs. Munroe of Malden, Mass., the well known spiritualist and trance medium, has established herself here this season, being located on the beach near the pier and in front of Hotel Velvet.
Mrs. Munroe is the president of the Malden Spiritualist association, and is widely recognized as one of the leading spiritualists in Massachusetts. She has met with much success and created much amazement by her seances here and elsewhere.

There will be an excursion here from Bangor and way stations Sunday.

Major H. D. Fillmore of Bennington,
Vt., arrived at "The Batchelder" July 10.
This is his second season here.

Miss Florence Dolby of Elm street,
Saco, has been visiting at the Armstrong cottage, Camp Ellis, this week.

Hiram E. Ordway, ticket agent at Pittsfield, Me., with his family is passing a two weeks' vacation at Ocean Park.

The family of Miss Alice Shorey of Fairfield have arrived at their attractive summer home on Longwood avenue.

Mrs. J. P. Murphy and daughter arrived here Thursday and are occupying their cottage on Eighth street at the campground.

Mrs. John Smith, with her two daughters, and Miss Maude L. Ayers, of Barre, Vt., are staying at "The Batchelder" on Camp Comfort avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Ripley of Malden,
Mass., are staying at Camp Ellis. Mr.
Ripley was baggage master on the Beach railroad last season.

The lawn in front of "Stapleshurst," the pleasant residence of Mr. and Mrs.
C. F. Staples near the Old Orchard house, is one of the best in town.

Mrs. E. H. McKenney will entertain the usual number of guests at "The Castle" on Union avenue this season.
This is one of the many good residences here.

The family of Philip H. Butler of Newton Center arrived here Wednesday and are occupying with M. W. Merrill his residence near Union avenue on the sea wall. The Butlers have been coming here for several years and are among our well known summer residents. Mr.
Butler has an extensive marble business in Boston.

Miss C. E. Lincoln of Boston has taken Webcowet Lodge on Park avenue for the season. She will entertain friends, giving several house parties during the summer. Her sister Alice will join her very soon and will assist in entertaining. Miss Lincoln is charmed with Old Orchard and thinks the location of her cottage is superior to that of any other cottage in town.

Do you have stomach trouble? In Sanitariums where they make a specialty of this disease it has been discovered that ninety out of every hundred patients have Eye-strain. When this is relieved with properly fitted glasses a cure is effected. Dr. Littlefield of Saco makes a specialty of curing stomach trouble.
Functional Nervous Diseases cannot be reached with medicine. Remove the cause and Nature will cure.

Sumner C. Parcher, cashier of the York National Bank, Saco, Mrs. Parcher and daughter, Miss Lucia E. Parcher, are occupying for a few weeks the Fifield cottage in Fern Park. Miss Parcher is entertaining Miss Louise Wadleigh of Battle Creek, Mich., one of her college friends. This is Miss Wadleigh's first season at the seashore and she is delighted with Old Orchard and its attractions. The party also includes Mr. and Mrs. Carl C. Parcher.

IF ONLY.

If the roses only grew without thorns,
If the daisy could shed her bugs,
If the soft-eyed Jersey had no horns,
If our shoe-lace would stand our tugs!

If summer days were ne'er spoiled with showers,
If the winter was always bright,
If no creepers infested our cozy bowers,
If we always chose the right!

If the tempest ne'er surged o'er the old grey sea,
If our sailing was always calm,
If trouble ne'er came to you or me,
If cash always lay in our palm!

If men were always brave and true,
If women were always sweet,
If we always did the best we knew,
If the tares could be kept from the wheat!

Oh, what a world we would live in now,
How smooth our lives would be,—
What milk-sop ninnies, you'll allow,
We'd turn out,—you and me!

New Innovation on Grand Trunk.

The Grand Trunk Railway System, ever on the alert to inaugurate new innovations that are conducive to the comfort of patrons travelling on their lines, have added to their principal trains a staff of train porters, who will be located in the first class coaches to look after the welfare of passengers. This new system has been installed on the "International Limited," leaving Montreal 9.00 a. m. for the West, and the fast train between Toronto and Montreal arriving Montreal 6 p. m. The system has also been established upon the fast trains between Toronto and Detroit, Niagara Falls and Port Huron, and Montreal, Toronto and Chicago. The Grand Trunk are the first line in Canada to install this new idea, and the public will appreciate the great convenience it will be to first class coach passengers who will have a porter to look after their needs, give information, and do all he can for their comfort en route. This new feature will be especially recognized as a boon to the travelling public by ladies travelling alone and with children.

The Music Festival.

The large number of music-loving visitors who come to Old Orchard every season will be pleased to know that Director William R. Chapman of the Maine music festivals has arranged to hold a three days' program of vocal and instrumental music at the Campground auditorium here again this season about the middle of August.

The music festival was first attempted at Old Orchard last season and it met with unqualified success as an artistic triumph, reflecting much credit to Mr. Chapman and his company of accomplished musicians. It was feared, however, that the financial results were not sufficiently good to warrant the famous conductor in making another trial of it again this season, but the people at this resort who realize of how great importance these festivals are feel much interested in having them continued. It behooves each and everyone to talk this matter up and to endeavor to assist in making the coming event more successful by far than the preceding one.

It is not necessary to review the many urgent reasons why all should strive to make these great musical treats a permanent feature of our summer entertainments. The great enjoyment afforded the guests at Old Orchard and the largely increased number of visitors induced to come here by such an attraction, are matters worthy of careful consideration.

From an artistic and commercial standpoint the music festival will surely accomplish great things for us, and nothing should be left undone to encourage Mr. Chapman, who devotes much time, labor and expense to securing for Maine audiences some of the most talented artistes in this country. Let all work for the coming festival!

THE MIRROR wonders if there has been a season during the past twenty years when many of the people haven't complained, during the first three weeks in July, that there were not so many people here and that business was poorer than the preceding year.

Here And There.

The great majority of the residences and other buildings that have been erected in Old Orchard during the past few years are of a better style of architecture, more substantially constructed and much better appointed in every way than those that were built several years ago.

The number of automobiles seen at this resort is constantly increasing.

Old Orchard combines a variety of attractions impossible to find at many other resorts.

A large number of careless persons take great risks in crossing the railroad tracks in front of rapidly approaching trains. It is a great wonder that hundreds are not seriously injured here during the season, but the constant vigilance of the employes about the station prevents many accidents.

Tennis playing hasn't started up very briskly yet.

There are probably few states in the Union not represented at Old Orchard now.

Old Orchard seems to have as great a patronage as any of the other summer resorts at this season of the year.

The Endurance Contests.

The first of the two days of the endurance contests held in connection with the "climb to the clouds" at Mt. Washington took place Thursday.

Some 20 machines participated in the outing, which, starting as a pleasure excursion, really terminated in a race through the mountains.

The party left Bretton Woods at seven in the morning and toured by Fabyans to Whitefield, where a warm reception awaited it. Entering the town, the machines passed under a triumphal arch erected in honor of the autoists, and thence to the town square, where the people were gathered en masse.

On the Common were seated the school children, dressed in white, waving American flags. When the column had halted, Ex-Gov. Jordan and Col. H. O. Kent welcomed the visitors and then Gov. Bachelder, on behalf of the autoists, thanked them for the courtesy and took occasion to extend his official welcome in behalf of the state to the visitors from abroad.

Following the experience at Whitefield the party swung around the circuit for 84 miles and were treated royally at every place they stopped.

From Whitefield, the party toured to Lancaster, thence along the Connecticut river valley to Littleton, thence over the hills of the Indian Brook road to Franconia. Then came a ride to the summit of Franconia pass and to the summit of the Profile.

At the Profile house, Gen. Greenleaf had prepared the finest kind of entertainment for the visitors.

Then came the homeward trip, passing again into the valley of Franconia, thence to the Forest Hill house, thence to Bethlehem and Maplewood, and back to Bretton Woods, where the party was dismissed.

Observers traveled on each car to report stoppages between controls and all of the rules of endurance contests were lived up to the letter. Any speed was allowed, and the pace Thursday was fast.

The cars and drivers on the run were: James L. Breeze, 40-h. p. Mercedes, with Gov. Bachelder and O. H. Lamont. Harlen W. Whipple, 40-h. p. Mercedes, with Charles J. Glidden and J. Anderson.

Alexander Winton, with Miss H. A. Winton, J. C. Kerrison and Fred Shaw. Harry Fosdick (Winton), with Mrs. Fosdick, Oscar Hedstron and A. G. Bachelder.

L. B. Phelps, with Charles A. Towne and Miss Phillips.

Otto Nestman (Stevens-Duryea), with C. C. Hildebrand and E. O. Windsor. Percy Pierce (Great Arrow), with C. McGuire and W. J. Morgan.

Frank Nutt (Haynes-Apperson), with F. Ed. Spooner.

Arthur Gardiner (Rambler), with F. A. Ross.

H. W. Alden (Columbia), with Mr. and Mrs. S. M. Butler.

Webb Jay (White), with R. C. Emery, E. J. Denner and J. J. Hantak.

George H. Lowe (White), with W. Schmunk and John B. Parkinson.

L. D. Spier (Winton), with Miss Spier, Gen. Waldron of the governor's staff as observer and Mr. Nicols.

John Prouty (Winton), with Mrs. Spier, Miss Mason and J. D. Porter, F. E. Stanley and Mrs. Stanley.

Fourteen automobiles, all well filled with members of the party spending the week in the White Mountain region, started from there Friday on another endurance run. Four of the machines which participated in the trip through the mountains Thursday were left behind at Mt. Washington. The route arranged for the day lay through Jefferson, Randolph, Gorham, The Glen, Pinkham Notch, Jackson, Intervale, North Conway and back through the Crawford Notch to Mount Washington. The tourists returned during the latter part of the afternoon.

Under False Colors

By W. W. HINES

Copyright, 1904, by W. W. Hines

Ogden could not recollect having lost any uncles lately, and it was a distinct surprise to be greeted as a nephew by the stern featured old man in the puffing automobile.

"Come here, you young rascal," the old man almost shouted as the automobile drew up to the sidewalk.

Without knowing why, Ogden went. Perhaps it was curiosity, perhaps it was because he did not happen to think of anything else to do. At any rate he stepped up to the automobile and took a good long look at its occupant.

"Get in here at once," said the old man.

"Why?" asked Ogden.

"Why?" repeated the old man. "Because I tell you to do so. Here I have been looking for you for the past two weeks and now you want to run away when I find you. That is a pretty way for an only nephew to treat his uncle!"

"So you are my uncle?" said Ogden quizzically. Then the spirit of adventure, which had been his guiding star all his life, seized possession of him, and he stepped into the vehicle, which started, puffing, down the avenue toward Washington square.

On the way down he puzzled with himself as to the part which he was acting, or rather being forced to act. As nearly as he could gather from the conversation of the old man, he was his nephew Rodney. The last name had not been introduced into the conversation. Rodney seemed to have come from the west for a visit and to have left the house without warning, after a more or less violent quarrel with his uncle.

"What did you want to run away for, you young rascal? The girl is certainly as pretty a girl as you will find in the whole country, sir. It was only to be expected that she should show some coquetry about accepting you, but I am surprised that any nephew of mine would be such a fool as to run away from a pretty girl. Why did you do it, sir?" The old gentleman was very irate.

Taking his cue from the fragmentary information furnished him by these remarks, Ogden, resolved to carry through the comedy, straightened himself up and remarked, with his most dignified air:

"Because I trust that I am too much of a gentleman to force my attentions in any quarter where they are not wanted." He had read this sentence in some old fashioned book and thought it might go well with this elderly uncle.

The old fellow looked rather pleased and said:

"I should have understood it, my boy. The sentiment does credit to your blood and your breeding, sir. But my heart is set on this match. Just tell the girl you won't take 'No' for an answer and she will come around in time. Eh, sir, when I was your age I would have been delighted with the coquetties she has used on you."

By this time the automobile had come to a stop in front of one of the old houses along the north side of the square, and the two passengers alighted.

Entering the house, the old man, with Rodney in tow, made for the drawing-room, where they could hear some one playing on the piano. The room was rather dark, but as they entered the light was good enough for Rodney to make out the uncommonly pretty girl seated at the piano. She got up hastily as they entered the room and ran to greet the old man. Then she turned to Ogden and said:

"So you have come back, Cousin Rodney? I was under the impression that you had left the city."

Feeling rather ashamed of himself for carrying on the deception, but overpowered by the desire for adventure, Ogden sat down and joined in the conversation, fencing carefully for time whenever he was asked a question the answer to which might betray his identity. Whenever he got a chance he stole a glance at the girl. He fancied once or twice that he detected a flicker of amusement upon her face. She was evidently watching him narrowly, and the conviction grew upon him that she suspected he was an impostor. The girl was certainly a beauty, and he could not understand why the real Rodney had been callous enough to run away from her society, even if he had found his presence more or less unwelcome.

By and by the old gentleman excused himself upon the plea that he must take his regular afternoon nap and left the two young people alone. The moment he was safely out of hearing the girl broke into a peal of laughter and said:

"Did you think he had fooled me?"

She was taking it very nicely, thought Ogden, and he braced himself up enough to say:

"No; I knew you recognized my imposition. But, believe me, I am not an intentional impostor. Your uncle picked me up on the street and swore up and down that I was his nephew. It would not have been proper to accuse him of falsehood, so I just came along."

The girl grew serious and said:

"You know uncle is a bit near-sighted, and he will not, under any circumstances, consent to wear glasses. You do look wonderfully like his nephew. But don't you know who you are supposed to be?"

"No more idea than the man in the moon," asseverated Ogden solemnly.

"Why, you are supposed to be Rodney Phillips. You know him, don't you?"

"Rodney Phillips! No; I don't believe I do. But stop. Why, 'Chesty' Phillips that I used to room with at Yale. His right name was Rodney, but no one ever called him by that name. So that explains the resemblance. The fellows used to call us the 'Two Dromios.'"

"Yes," said the girl, laughing heartily, "and you are Ogden Harwood. Cousin Rodney has shown me pictures of you a dozen times and commented on the resemblance."

"But tell me," interrupted Ogden—"why did Rodney run away from you?"

"Because he is engaged to a very dear friend of mine, and uncle won't hear of his marrying any one but me. Rodney hasn't a cent except his slender salary and the allowance uncle makes him, so he has to dissemble."

"I would like very much to see the girl Rodney is engaged to," said Ogden.

"And why?" asked the girl.

"She must be very beautiful indeed."

"How do you know?"

"Is it proper to pay compliments upon short acquaintance?"

"You may answer my question when you have known me longer."

"Thanks, since that means you are not going to cut me when next we meet."

"But you had better leave before uncle comes down from his nap."

"And when can I be properly introduced to you?"

"Didn't you know Raymond Pearson at Yale?"

"Yes, but why?"

"He is to be married to a friend of mine next week, and I am to be the maid of honor. Can't you get him to invite you?"

"I am in town to be his best man."

"What a coincidence! But you must go now."

"All right. Then I'll just say au revoir until we are properly introduced."

"Yes, au revoir until the rehearsal of the ceremony next Tuesday."

And Ogden was down the steps and into the street, conscious of the fact that he was looking forward to the wedding of his friend Pearson with much more interest than even a best man is supposed to take in such an event.

An Animal Story For Little Folks

The Grasshopper's Sign

Who would think that anybody had a better right to play around in the bright green fields than the grasshopper? And yet when he made his appearance in the meadow the other day he was confronted with a sign which read:

KEEP OFF
THE GRASS.

"Now, who could have put up that sign?" meditated the grasshopper, as he sat on a blade of grass and thought.

"I am sure it must have been Mr. Butterfly," he continued, "because he doesn't like me at all. But I can't

HE SAT ON A BLADE OF GRASS AND THOUGHT.

Keep off the grass. This is my home, and I am not able to climb trees or live in the water.

"But there's that sign," he added; "what am I to do about that? I suppose the best thing is to use it in some way to keep the butterflies from worrying me any more."

So off he went to a paint shop and got a bucket of paint and a brush. Then he returned to the field where the sign stood, and at the bottom of it he painted these words, "Hopper's Flowers."

And now the sign was altogether different, for it read:

GRASSHOPPER'S FLOWERS.

When the butterflies came along that way and read the new sign and saw Mr. Grasshopper marching about the field with a big club in his hands they decided that it would not be wise for them to stay around there any longer, and they had to go to another meadow to find flowers to feed upon.—Pittsburg Dispatch.

Humor and Philosophy

PERT PARAGRAPHS.

Would it be proper, if a woman's hair is blond ardent, to call her brass mounted?

Doubtless the reason that truth is stranger than fiction is because the truth is so seldom met with.

A man's idea of generosity is doing as he pleases and letting his wife look out for herself.

The chronic borrower loveth a cheerful giver.

A pretty woman sometimes has a way of making herself plain, in which case she is always understood.

Some people are so slow that old age overtakes them while they are yet in their prime.

Some women do their marketing at the store where the color of the trading stamps matches the color of their street gown.

Between the ice man and the coal man the weather man has a hard time.

When a man gets his wife trained to give him the benefit of the doubt he feels that he has not lived in vain.

It is a sign of approaching disaster to contradict a bigger man than you are.

Postmen are often tale bearers.

A Perfect Lady.

Oh, the fair lady sits in her mansion up there;

She's surrounded by wealth and by art,
But her listless look and her world wearied air
Do not speak of a blithesome heart.

There's a maid at her hand to respond to her call.

Of her lightest request to take heed,
And of servants a score are below in the hall
To respond to her whim or her need.

But the lady is sad and her head is bent down.

And her waiting maid begs her to say
What's the source of her grief, what's the cause of her frown
(Oh, the maid is but earning her pay).

And the lady replies, "It is hard work to smile.

To exertion I never was used;
Therefore try to get some one with humor and style.

Who will laugh for me when I'm amused."

Time Made a Difference.

Teacher—If John had three apples and Willie had three, how many would they both have?

Pupil (after figuring five minutes)—Four.

Teacher—Perhaps you are right. I think each would have at least eaten one apple by the time you had finished figuring the result.

Didn't Know Them.

"She wants to take her husband to a watering place for the summer."

"Must be under the impression that they drink water at them."

O'CONNELL

MY first acquaintance with O'Connell was formed in the district school at Old Orchard. He was of Irish parentage, and when a small boy became an inmate of the Reform School, his greatest offence, probably, being that he was poor and friendless. From this institution he was taken by a kind-hearted farmer, with whom he found a good home.

He was a bright, wide-awake boy, quick to learn and full of fun. Old Orchard was a quiet place in those days before the Civil War. There were but few hotels here then, and the nearest railroad station was four miles distant—little did the boys and girls of the school dream of the changes that were to come! But we enjoyed the simple life of those days, and pursued our few studies in the plainly furnished schoolroom. Our playground afforded us a fine view of the ocean and the beach was near, so our surroundings were as pleasant as we could wish.

It was the custom then to have a summer term of school, lasting a few weeks, taught by a female teacher, and a longer term in the winter taught by a male teacher, who was supposed to be better able to govern the large boys, who worked on the farms in summer and attended only the winter term.

O'Connell, in due time, attained the dignity of being a large boy, doing the work usually assigned to such boys and enjoying the rights and privileges customarily accorded to his rank and station. He took an active part in sports at school; he could throw a stone or a snowball with very accurate aim; and he soon became a leader of the smaller boys, a party of whom he attracted very much to himself, and they were spoken of in the school as "O'Connell and his tribe." Many and amusing were the pranks of the light-hearted boy. But there grew upon him a spirit of restlessness; he longed to be out in the great world; he was like a caged creature eager to break through the bars and be free. The sea had attractions for him and he talked of a sailor's life.

But the Civil War came. He saw comrades and neighbors going to the front, and his mind was filled with glowing fancies of a soldier's life. Time went on and he enlisted, but he was small of stature and somewhat under weight and was rejected. Afterward, however, the exigency of the service being greater, or, perhaps, his weight having slightly increased, he was accepted on a subsequent enlistment. For a time he was stationed at a fort near Portland and was afterward sent south.

He was once seen by a former neighbor who was serving in the army to whom he confided that he had "seen about enough of this thing." The sad reality of war had proved a different thing from the visions of his boyhood. O'Connell afterward received a gunshot wound, from the effects of which he languished in a hospital and finally died.

How many young lives like his have been given for their country! Surely the nation owes a deep debt of gratitude to such as he, and should ever cherish their memories, for they gave their lives and sacrificed the high hopes of youth in the service of their country.

Poor O'Connell! May the southern flowers bloom in their rarest beauty and the birds sing sweetly over his grave!

Automobile Terms.

Mr. Charles J. Glidden furnishes the following statement as to the use of certain technical terms in connection with automobiling adopted by English clubs, which will be a great relief to those who are struggling with borrowed French:

"The servant who accompanies an owner of a motor is now termed in England the engineer instead of a chauffeur or mechanic, and the place of retaining motors is now described as a motor house instead of garage."

The owner, when he drives himself, we understand, is still a "chauffeur." We heartily commend the adoption of the simpler words, which seem to express perfectly the desired meaning.

—Among the Clouds.

O. P. Greene Is Happy.

"When O. P. Greene first came to town, He didn't have a dollar; He had a homespun suit of clothes, And wore a paper collar."

Thus run the lines composed by the genial subject of this sketch, in regard to his financial condition when as a callow youth he set forth from his native town of Naples, near the beautifully flowing Songo river, imbued with the spirit of youthful enthusiasm and determined to win fame and fortune on this mundane sphere.

But that was at a remote period, several long years having elapsed since O. P. began treading the gold bricks on Easy street.

Having cast aside the fishing rod and shot gun, his constant companions, Mr. Greene located in Saco in April, 1877, starting a moderate retail shoe business, which has steadily increased year after year until now he has one of the most extensive and widely known establishments in Maine. He has been occupying during these past twenty-seven years the same store in which he first started in business.

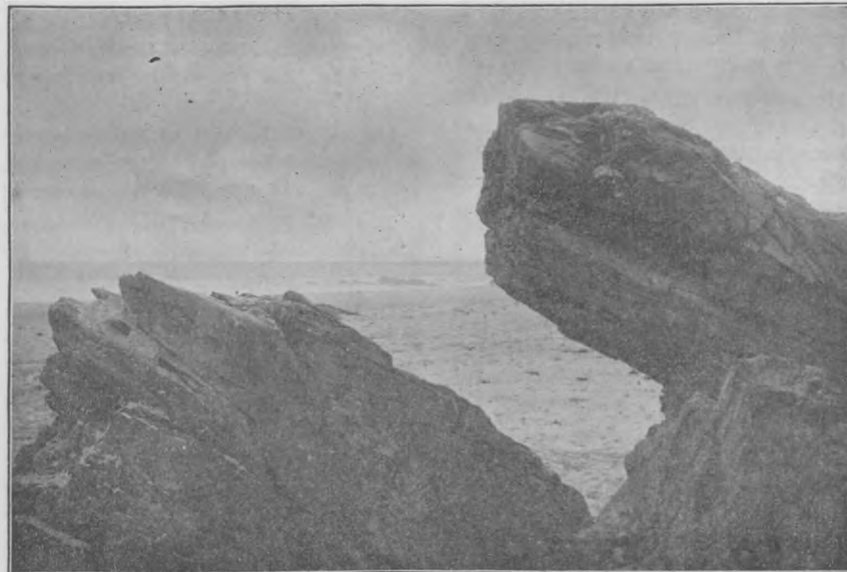

Mr. Greene opened a branch store at Old Orchard about fifteen years ago, and has been coming here with the regularity of the seasons, having been located in the Porter block opposite the depot. He is such a familiar and well known figure at this resort, that it would no longer seem the same delightful old place, without his genial presence and bewitching smile.

Here at Old Orchard as in Saco Mr. Greene carries an extensive line of boots, shoes, slippers, rubbers, hand bags, dress suit cases, trunks and bathing goods. He also practices chiropody, having had great success with thousands of difficult cases.

As an optimist "O. P." is in the front rank, and you never hear him "knocking" Old Orchard nor complaining about poor business. He isn't built on that plan, and then again his constantly increasing trade wouldn't permit him to make, conscientiously, any hard luck statements. Up to last Saturday his receipts were $200 ahead of the corresponding date a year ago. At this pace what will the result be at the end of the season? But then the genial shoe dealer has experienced enough of prosperity so that he will be able to stand considerable more of the same thing without being spoiled.

James Mulvey of Saco has entered the employ of Manager Yates of the pier.

A. Cutter Perkins of Boston is spending a week's vacation with his mother, Mrs. E. A. Perkins, at her cottage on Atlantic avenue. Mr. Perkins formerly resided here, and was one of our most popular young men. He has been connected with a stock brokerage office in Boston during the past few years.

GOOGINS' ROCKS

The Closing Day.

Tomorrow will be the closing day of the Old-Time campmeeting which has been conducted since July 9 by the Evangelical Association.

The meetings have been successful in every sense of the word, and the leaders are completely satisfied with the results of the session. Mr. Booth, who is the prominent figure of these closing meetings, is drawing large audiences and bringing much praise to himself.

The programme for the closing day is: WEDNESDAY, JULY 20.

7.00 a.m. Love Feast, Evangelist Cozens.

10.30 a.m. Addresses, Evangelists Noble and Adams.

2.45 p.m. Song Service.

3.00 p.m. Sermon, Mr. H. H. Booth. "Grace Abundant."

7.30 p.m. Praise Meeting.

8.00 p.m. God's Heroes, Mr. Booth. Including the Thrilling Story of the Scotch Covenanters. Illustrated by Life Model and Moving Pictures.

A Large Crowd.

The largest number of visitors for this season came to Old Orchard Sunday, and the town looked as it usually does when the mid-summer-rush is on.

Excursions were run from Bangor, Farmington and way stations, bringing several hundred people. The travel on both electric roads was very heavy, and large numbers of people came in from all the surrounding towns.

The Campground, the Pier and Seaside Park were visited by a great many, and the beach presented an animated scene throughout the day.

The weather was ideal for an outing, and it is doubtful if there was even a greater number of transient visitors here the middle of July than throughout Sunday.

The Public Invited.

The public is invited to attend a lecture by Evangelist Thomas E. Cullen at "Minnie's Rest," near Union avenue Wednesday evening at 7.30. The subject will be "Peru and the Indians."

THE STROLLER

Mrs. Jessie Robertson of Chicago is here for her annual visit.

The Auburn marketmen will hold their annual outing here Wednesday, July 27.

Mrs. D. A. Creasor and Mrs. H. E. Crawford are here from Winnipeg, Manitoba.

Mr. and Mrs. F. L. Alden of Middleboro, Mass., have been staying here for a few days.

Merton Snow of this town is employed at the Boston & Maine freight office again this season.

W. T. Henderson, Esq., a well known barrister of Brantford, Conn., is making an extended stay here.

C. Wallace Harmon, Esq., of Old Orchard went to his home in Limington Saturday for a few days.

Mr. and Mrs. Chaput, Melvin H. Davis and family and Mrs. Richardson are here from Montreal.

Miss Bessie Bennett, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Bennett of Portland, has been visiting here this week.

Mr. and Mrs. R. G. Leighton, Mr. and Mrs. E. N. Clancy and Mr. and Mrs. John A. Sanford arrived from Boston recently.

Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Hudson, Mr. and Mrs. P. C. Elden and Mrs. D. A. Stanley are numbered among the New York arrivals of recent date.

Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Sanborn, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Watson, and Mr. and Mrs. A. S. Lang arrived here from Lawrence a short time ago.

Clyde Batchelder of this town commenced his duties Monday as clerk at the post office where he has been employed in previous years.

Mr. and Mrs. L. R. Jacobs, Mrs. F. F. Anderson and Mr. and Mrs. M. Chering are Bostonians who have been in town for several days.

L. N. Ellis is managing the "Ingle-side" successfully this season. This house is pleasantly located on West Grand avenue near the sea wall and a short distance from the depot.

Mr. and Mrs. P. Blaskoff, Mr. and Mrs. W. M. McRai, Edward Todd, Jr., and family and Mr. and Mrs. W. O. Chapman are among the well known New York arrivals of the past week.

Lawrence Pettengill of Lewiston is the clarinet player in the orchestra at Hotel Velvet this season. Mr. Pettengill has been a member of various musical organizations here during the past twenty years, having played at the Old Orchard house and in Given's orchestra which furnished music on the pier for several seasons.

Mr. and Mrs. P. A. Renaud have once more returned here from their southern home in New Orleans. A good number of people from the "Crescent City" come to Old Orchard every season, but none are better known or more popular than Mr. and Mrs. Renaud. They have been coming here regularly for several years, and always receive a cordial welcome on their arrival. They are hospitable entertainers and highly esteemed by all their acquaintances.

A new plank walk has improved conditions at the campground railroad station.

Mr. and Mrs. D. L. Goldberg are New Yorkers who have been staying here for a few days.

Mr. and Mrs. M. S. Morton, Winthrop Coffin and E. J. O'Neil of Boston arrived here Friday.

A guest of the Ocean house says that the beds alone are enough to bring a person to that house.

Mrs. Seth S. Carll of Waterboro is occupying for the season her cottage on Old Orchard avenue.

J. Wesley Duff of Salisbury, Mass., formerly of Old Orchard, has been visiting here recently.

Mr. E. B. Phillips, a well known banker of New Castle, Ind., and Mrs. Phillips are occupying a cottage near the Lawrence house.

Mr. and Mrs. S. I. Coy of Boston are visiting Mrs. S. G. Dorman at her residence on Union avenue.

Albert Scannell and sister, Miss H. T. Scannell of Lowell are occupying a cottage near East Grand avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Walker and Mr. and Mrs. F. F. Swett of Haverhill are among the late arrivals from the Bay State.

Among those sojourning here from New Orleans are Mrs. S. W. Weis, I. Weis, Joseph E. Friend and Miss L. Friend.

Mrs. George Reynolds of Lewiston is occupying the "Band Box," corner of Third street and Fountain avenue for the season.

J. E. Leighton of Portland was calling on friends here Sunday. Mr. Leighton is with the John W. Perkins Co., wholesale druggists.

For hair dressing, shampooing, and manicuring of the best kind you should visit Mrs. James A. Smith's parlor on Old Orchard street.

Mr. and Mrs. S. B. Shepard and Mrs. Webster of Bar Mills, and recently of Chelsea, are at their summer cottage on Atlantic avenue for the season.

Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Jellison of Saco are at their cottage on Central Park avenue. They had for guests Sunday Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Wormwood.

Mr. and Mrs. Calvin C. Perkins of Dorchester are domiciled at the Clifford cottage off Atlantic avenue, and have for a guest Samuel Holmes of Boston.

Mr. and Mrs. M. J. Garty, Miss Moer, Miss Gummell and Mr. and Mrs. M. E. Holton comprise a party of well known Chicagoans who recently arrived here.

Abram T. Lord and family are occupying a cottage on Bay avenue for the season. Mr. Lord is a member of the firm, Lord & Linnell, dealers in stoves and tinware, Saco. He is also the city auditor in Saco.

Mrs. L. G. Block, Miss Katherine Block, George W. Harris and family and A. Rheimstrom are among the guests from Cincinnati who have been sojourning here during the past few days.

Mrs. F. E. Kirby, Russel F. Kirby and Mrs. J. N. Thorp of Detroit are guests here.

W. H. Holden and family and Miss M. Alma Jones are among the Detroit visitors in town.

Mrs. Alfred Oppenheimer and Mr. and Mrs. O. J. Bushnell are among the late Chicago arrivals.

Kodak supplies and finishing for amateurs at Baker's studio. Also the finest portrait work.

Mrs. George E. Avery and Miss Bessie Avery are included in the list of Detroit people here.

Mrs. Mary Safford, Mina Urann and Luella Paul of Kittery have been passing a few days in town.

Mr. and Mrs. Alvah E. Bail of Saco are occupying a cottage here for the season, at the Campground.

Mrs. G. E. Williams and Miss Ethel M. Williams of Braintree, Mass., are among the late arrivals here.

Mrs. G. W. Chamberlain, Master Guy Chamberlain, Miss Florence Smith, Miss Mildred Smith and Miss Alberta Barney of Weymouth, Mass., have taken the Gray cottage on Maplewood avenue for the month.

Mrs. Mabel C. West and child of Newton Center are again summering at M. W. Merrill's residence on the sea wall near Googins' Rocks. Mrs. West is a daughter of Mr. Merrill and a sister of Mrs. Philip H. Butler, who also passes the season here.

Dr. Austin Reynolds of Farmington, Me., has recently purchased of J. M. Ryan, the "Shamrock Cottage," corner Atlantic avenue and Third street. Dr. Reynolds is well known at Old Orchard, having been a summer resident here for several years.

Do the lines of reading blur? This is one of the first signs of failing vision. It should not be neglected for how dreadful it must be to lose sight. Dr. Littlefield of Saco can restore your sight and make reading a pleasure. Remember a $5 examination is given free and glasses recommended only when absolutely needed.

Messrs. D. J. Haylon, J. T. Gorman, R. M. Rodgers, S. J. O'Herron, James Connor, E. H. Russell and W. S. Harvey of Pittsfield, Mass., and F. C. Gillespie of Albany, N. Y., are making a two weeks' stay at the Aldine. They are all in the employ of the Pittsfield Electrical Supply Co.

The Magic Loom.

Fact and Fancy met one day,
One to work, the other to play,
Weaving the web of a story.

Fancy's thread was gold and fine,
Fact's was coarse and common twine,
Better for use than for glory.

In and out the shuttles flew,
Weaving in the pearls of rue,
Gold of joy and threads of duty.

And when all the work was done,
Light and darkness were as one—
Fancy was truth and Fact was beauty.
—Town and Country.

Baby's Grievances.

Oh, I'm sorry I came to this funny old world,
To be jiggled and joggled and trotted and whirled;
Unless I'm asleep, or pretend to be so,
These giants all think I must be on the go!

If I'm hungry or cry when I wake from my nap
I am soon taken up into somebody's lap
And trotted and shaken and tossed to and fro,
And then I'm expected to laugh and to crow.

When the nurse takes me out in my carriage bye, bye,
You would think I might quiet and peacefully lie;
But, no; as she wheels me along through the town
She joggles the springs so I jump up and down.

If I wriggle and squirm and howl for relief
She still seems to hold her mistaken belief,
But changes her tack—back and forth I am rushed
Till for sheer lack of breath my wailing is hushed.

Oftentimes my wee mouth is as dry as a chip,
And of fresh, cooling water I long for a sip.
Not a draft do I get, because they don't think
A baby can ever want water to drink.

Our wants are not many, but one thing is sure—
If grown people knew what we babies endure
They'd very soon learn to interpret each tone,
And when we are good they would let us alone.
—Frances P. Carson in Presbyterian.

The Spinner.

The spinner twisted her slender thread
As she sat and spun.
"The earth and the heavens are mine,"
she said,
"And the moon and sun.
Into my web the sunlight goes,
And the breath of May,
And the crimson life of the new blown rose
That was born today."

The spinner sang in the hush of noon,
And her song was low:
"Ah, morning, you pass away too soon.
You are swift to go.
My heart o'erflows like a brimming cup
With its hopes and fears—
Love, come and drink the sweetness up
Ere it turn to tears."

The spinner looked at the falling sun.
"Is it time to rest?
My hands are weary—my work is done.
I have wrought my best—
I have spun and woven with patient eyes,
And with fingers fleet—
Lo, where the toil of a lifetime lies
In a winding sheet!"
—Mary Agul De Vere.

A sunburnt man in a new straw hat looks like a black calf under a new pine shed.

The business that doesn't pay is usually run by the man who doesn't pay.

Not every woman holds the mirror up to nature when looking at herself in the glass.

When one man works another, an explosion occurs sooner or later.

The Business Outlook.

The business outlook at the present time is much brighter than it was a week ago, and all feel much encouraged at the prospect for a prosperous season. Up to within the past few days the hotel registers, especially those of the larger houses, haven't shown a great number of arrivals, but conditions have changed since Saturday, when many visitors came here, and the influx has continued up to the present time.

Not many of the hotels are behind in their quota of guests, and several are having better patronage this season than heretofore. Many other resorts have been having a dull season, and Old Orchard is maintaining its usual lead among all the other vacation places in the Pine Tree State.

The increased number of hotels, boarding houses and other business places here every season naturally divide to a greater extent the income from our army of summer visitors, but any other statement than that this resort is constantly increasing in its patronage annually, is misleading and far from the truth, it would seem to THE MIRROR.

The tide of summer travel has set Maineward, without a doubt, and if Old Orchard fails to get a good share of all who came into this state, this will be the first year that such a thing has happened in a generation.

Here And There.

The number of vacant cottages is constantly growing smaller.

Which will be the first hotel to organize a baseball team?

The hotel registers are beginning to present a more satisfactory appearance.

Sunday was a profitable day for those doing an ice cream and soda water business.

The "season" is rapidly approaching the period when it will be at its height.

Sunday was about as near a perfect day as we ever have the privilege of enjoying.

The advantages of Old Orchard's surf bathing are appreciated more and more each passing day.

There was one of the old time crowds here Sunday. It was one of the largest ever seen at Old Orchard the middle of July.

There should be some races at the Kite Track this season. Such a good piece of property ought not to remain idle any longer.

This is certainly a "presidential year." We hope that this fact will not work any injury to Old Orchard's varied interests.

Old Orchard's ozone-laden atmosphere is as invigorating this season as ever. None tarry here but to gain an increased store of vitality.

At the St Louis Exposition is a very desirable field in which some advantageous advertising of Old Orchard's many attractions might be done.

More extensive and systematic advertising wouldn't do this resort a bit of harm. There still remain a few places where Old Orchard isn't generally known.

The hops at the hotels will soon be in progress, but this form of amusement has experienced a great decline during the past decade and is not indulged in nearly as much as in former years.

The July number of the Portland Board of Trade Journal is a work of art, and contains many interesting articles about the Maine summer resorts. Old Orchard receives much attention, and is the subject of an excellent sketch. Mr. Maurice C. Rich is the able and progressive editor of this worthy publication.

Mr. John A. Guilford of Old Orchard, who has in former years contributed many excellent and delightful articles to THE MIRROR, has favored us this season with another story having a local interest, which appears in this issue.

Within a short time there will appear in THE MIRROR an interesting bit of Old Orchard's history, written by Edward M. Yates, Esq., for many years a prominent newspaper editor, and one of the most highly esteemed residents in this town. This article refers particularly to the time when Old Orchard became separated from the city of Saco, twenty-one years ago.

The Best Guide to World's Fair.

The handsome publication which the Grand Trunk Railway System has issued descriptive of the World's Fair, St. Louis, Mo., has been very much admired by all who have seen it, and the Company are deluged with requests for copies of the publication. The book is a very useful one, giving as it does a brief, though comprehensive description of the $50,000,000 Fair, including the best maps of the World's Fair Grounds, the City of St. Louis and the Grand Trunk Railway System showing variable routes to and from the "Ivory City." No one should miss securing a copy which will be sent by Mr. J. Quinlan, D. P. A., Bonaventure Station, on receipt of four cents in stamps.

F. A. Sidelinger has purchased the McGregor farm in Manchester, Me., well known in this section as productive of excellent crops. Mr. Sidelinger will utilize the farm by raising his yearly supply of vegetables, etc., and by taking an outing there with his family in the fall.

Speaking of desirable locations, etc., how is this for Ocean Park? Friday night, just at dusk, I heard a rap at my door. Upon enquiring what was wanted, a voice answered, "Are the Angels building a cottage near here?" I answered in the affirmative and assured him that he had only to pass between the hotel and the cottage to find the building. Upon closer inspection I found the team to be loaded with lumber and heard the voice say to the driver, "This way, here they are." Prof. T. L. Angel of Lewiston is the owner of the cottage.

A Promotion.

"Is your husband a captain of industry?"

"He was, but I think since he organized the last trust that he is at least a colonel."

Literal.

"I believe in plain living and high thinking."

"I suppose your home is on the plains and you go up on the mountains to think."

Expensive.

To sit and dream of girls and cream
Is really quite a pleasure,
But oh, to have them on the string,
That takes a bale of treasure.

Wanted Exercise.

"I never would marry a baldheaded man."

"Want the pleasure of pulling his hair out yourself, I suppose."

An Animal Story For Little Folks

How Fido Was Avenged

Fido was a good dog, but Fido had one enemy. He made no enemies himself, but this one happened. It was Terence Muldoon, who lived on the next street and who took a special delight in tying tin cans with strings to the stubby tail of Fido.

One day Terence had cornered Fido and in spite of his growls of protest had tied an unusually large can to his poor tail. Down the street Fido tore, the can hanging and bumping along over the stones. It was a hot day, and Fido's little tongue hung out of his mouth helplessly. Every one stood and laughed. But Fido was going mad. He frothed at the mouth; his eyes stuck out. People cried "Mad dog!" and at last, after many attempts, a policeman shot him. They buried him in Dog cemetery. But that night Terence Muldoon could not sleep. He dreamed that he stood at the end of a long street paved with cobblestones, wondering how far it was to the other end, when he heard a whirring sound, as of wings, behind him, and, looking around, he saw a sight that made his hair stand on end. There in the air above him, with a ribbon round his neck and a halo above his head, like a saint, was Fido, supported on two gorgeous wings of snowy white. His eyes were big and staring, and he wore a most fearful grin. Terence did not stop to look again, but at once took to his heels and ran. Suddenly he heard something clattering on the stones behind, and, turning, he saw that he had tied to him a huge can. He saw also that the dog spirit was flying after him. He thought he heard it yell "Mad boy!" Just then the winged Fido made a great swoop down at him. He yelled "Help! Help!" and woke up. But the other dogs in Terence's street are now sleeping safely and without fear.—St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

HE HAD TIED TO HIM A HUGE CAN.

Wanted Relief.

"How soon will they be married?"
"Pretty soon, I guess. He is getting tired of minding her."

Extenuating Circumstance.

Oh, stealing is a dreadful crime,
And one without a match,
Unless you happen on some time
A watermelon patch.

But when men think they most in safety stand
Their greatest peril often is at hand.
—Drayton.

PERT PARAGRAPHS.

Some people would do anything—but they can't.

When a girl has a winning way she seldom loses out.

In many cases divorce may be taken as evidence that marriage, as a general proposition, is not a failure.

Any salesman can sell you the thing you want, but it takes a clever one to sell you the thing that you don't want.

If somebody is bound to be mad, always give the other fellow a chance at it.

It does no good to call a man a fool; if he knows it he isn't one, and if he doesn't know it he will think you are one.

HOTEL PERSONALS

C. T. Moses and wife of Corinna are making a short stay at the Irving.

Miss Ada Klayfield of Boston is registered at the Velvet for the season.

Miss Bertha Swan of Montreal, who has spent several seasons at the Irving, has returned this year for a few weeks' stay.

Mrs. J. P. Trafton and family arrived Friday from Los Angeles, Cal., and they are domiciled at the Bay View for the season.

Miss Alice Merrill of Gorham has been a recent guest at the Jones house, where she has been a regular visitor for several years.

W. G. Farrell of Montreal is proving one of the most popular young men in the pleasant home party at the Irving. He will stay several weeks.

Thomas Montgomery and family and Mrs. T. A. Hall of Montreal have returned to the Lawrence for their usual summer visit. They are old summer visitors here and regular patrons of the Lawrence.

J. J. McCullen of Montreal is registered at the Irving for a stay of several weeks. Mr. McCullen has not been at Old Orchard since the season of '94, which he passed very pleasantly at his present headquarters.

Madame and Mademoiselle Beullac of Montreal, who have been patrons of the Montreal for several seasons, have returned for their usual summer visit. Sickness prevented them from visiting Old Orchard last year.

Mrs. S. S. Reynolds of Minneapolis was in town Saturday and engaged rooms at the Montreal for the season. She arrived from Boston yesterday with her family. The party spent the season of 1900 at this popular house.

Mrs. W. A. Atwood and daughter, Theodora, of Ayer, Mass., who have spent several seasons at the Lawrence, have returned to that house for the present season. Mr. Atwood is a prominent judge in his native state.

Mrs. W. H. Seaver and daughter, Mary, of West Somerville are passing their first season at Old Orchard this year with headquarters at the Irving. They are delighted with everything and express themselves as doubly pleased with our bathing facilities.

Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Anback of Sabattus, Me., are visiting their daughter and her husband, Mr. J. C. Pierce, proprietor of the Ocean house, at Mr. Pierce's attractive private residence, "The Pines," situated on the Ocean house grounds. Mr. Anback has been for many years the agent of the Webster Woolen Co. of Sabattus.

F. Homer Wingate, son of Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Wingate of Nashua, N. H., left the Ocean house Monday. Master Wingate is a son of whom any parents might be proud. While he is as much boy as any other boy, he possesses a manliness of manner quite unusual for one of his years. The Ocean house has previously entertained members of the Wingate family who will always be welcome guests.

Mr. and Mrs. Harrison I. Norton of Bennington, Vt., are at the Ocean house.

C. H. Baldwin, the prominent Boston politician, is spending a few days at the Velvet.

S. E. Lederer and J. Frank of New York arrived at the Velvet today for the season.

Mr. and Mrs. S. G. Smith of New York arrived at the Velvet today for a three weeks' stay.

Peter Baker and family of nine, of Worcester, arrived at the Velvet today for an extended stay.

W. W. Douglass of Montreal, an old patron of the Irving, is spending a few weeks at that house.

Messrs. N., T. and P. Greenburg of Lewiston are spending the season at the Lawrence as for several years past.

L. R. Eaton and wife of Springfield, Mass., who are spending their first season at Old Orchard, are registered at the Irving for a stay of several weeks.

A. T. Harriott of Norwood, Mass., completed his automobile tour today and left for home with the rest of his party. They were quartered at the Aldine.

D. Sallery of Montreal, who is spending the season at the Aldine with his family, has been called to Ottawa for the closing session of the Canadian parliament.

Among the Bostonians registered at the Bay View house are: Mrs. J. H. Fitzpatrick, Miss M. J. Newman, Miss E. B. Gill, Walter Fitzpatrick and Miss M. A. Flatley.

James Erskine, W. K. Tasher and Gordon C. Hutchings of Montreal, a pleasant party of young men who spent the season at the Irving last year, have returned to that house for an extended stay.

Rev. G. L. Demarest, D.D., of Manchester, N. H., is a guest at the Atlantic, this being his second season at that hostelry. Dr. Demarest has been coming to Old Orchard for many years, and although advanced in age he continues to possess unusual activity of mind and body. He is the general secretary of the governing body of the Universalists.

Education In Japan.

It is curious that, no matter how exclusive a Japanese family may be in other ways, in education the tendency is democratic. Schools are much preferred to private governesses, even among the nobility, and girls of royal blood meet daily in the schoolroom with the daughters of well to do commoners.

Pentecostal Conference of Christian Workers

The sixteenth Pentecostal conference of Christian Workers occurs July 22 to August 1, at the Old Orchard campground, L. B. Bates, D.D., leader, assisted by Rev. B. C. Wentworth, presiding elder of the Portland district.

Prof. Rev. L. T. Townsend, D.D., will give six Biblical lectures. Dr. Bates will speak each Sunday forenoon. Subjects:

1. Our Nation's Peril and Deliverance.

2. Is the Church Losing Power? If So, Why, and Is There a Remedy? The young people's societies are expecting an address from Dr. Francis E. Clark.

Rev. Smith Baker, D.D., will speak Sunday, July 24, on Christian Citizenship.

Rev. Edward Mallory will give Bible readings and preach.

Rev. Charles Garland of the New Hampshire conference and many others are down on the program.

Robert S. Robson of Boston, chorister, Miss Jennie Shepardson of North Easton, soloist and harpist, will provide music.

Mrs. Emma Bates Harvey and Mrs. Nellie Robson will have charge of the youths' and children's services, with many helpers.

Evangelists and missionaries will give reports and preach.

The convention is interdenominational and international. Sixteen denominations took part last year.

Following is the order of service:

6.30 a.m.—Every morning, morning watch.

7.30 to 8 a.m.—Cottage and home prayers.

9.00 a.m.—Social devotional services.

10.30 a.m.—Bible lecture by Dr. L. T. Townsend.

1.30 p.m.—Youths' and children's service.

2.30 p.m.—Preaching of the gospel of the blessed God.

6.30 p.m.—Spiritual communion with the Holy Spirit.

7.30 p.m.—Proclamation of the glorious gospel.

On both Sabbaths there will be love feasts at 8.45 a.m.

On Friday evening, July 27, at 7 o'clock, Dr. Bates will preach, subject, The Promised of Today.

On Monday evening, Presiding Elder Wentworth and Dr. Bates will speak upon the General Conference.

Young people's and children's meeting every day, directed by Mrs. Emma Bates Harvey, Mrs. R. S. Robson, Miss Jennie Shepardson, Rev. Charles Garland.

"Mr. Barnes of New York."

"Mr. Barnes of New York"—not as presented by the thrice admirable Byron Douglas Stock Co.—but the original himself has arrived at Old Orchard. Now Mr. Barnes is very much here, as all will testify who know him, especially the fair ones, who are one and all suffering from heart-burn and the sigh that wont come off. His patronymic can be found among the list of arrivals at the Velvet on the eighth page of No. 4, Vol. V. of THE MIRROR, same being the issue of July the ninth, nineteen hundred and four. We are thusly explicit because for many days said Mr. Barnes has threatened our sanctum sanctorum with a fate unto which that of Port Arthur would be as nothing, if we did not proclaim to the populace that he had arrived. And now that we assure Mr. Barnes that he is really here, let us hope that he will remain for many long, languorous summer days, to beguile the moon bewitched maidens, and reap his Apollobelviderean harvest of summer girl hearts.

Bishop O'Connell Here.

Among the many distinguished summer residents at Old Orchard this season is Rt. Rev. William H. O'Connell, D.D., bishop of the diocese of Portland, which embraces Maine.

The following statistics will give some idea of the importance and responsibility of Bishop O'Connell's duties as a dignitary in the Roman Catholic church:—There are in this state about 100 churches, 30 chapels, 125 priests, 1 college for boys, 5 academies for girls, 3 orphan asylums, 21 parochial schools, with an attendance of 9,000, 1 home for aged women, and 3 schools for Indian Children. The Catholic population is about 100,000.

Bishop O'Connell rented, Monday, through the real estate agency of J. M. Ryan the beautiful and commodious residence of William J. Mewer, located on Staples avenue. Several priests will pass the summer here in company with Bishop O'Connell.

Old Orchard Beach.

The following beautiful poem, entitled "Old Orchard Beach," which appeared in The Christian Advocate and later in The Morning Star, is republished for the benefit of the readers of THE MIRROR:

OLD ORCHARD BEACH.

In summer, when the clouds are all asleep
'Neath the horizon tents stretched far away,
I wandered o'er the glistening sands that keep
A trackless path for me from day to day:
And where the coast lies vapor-veiled and dim
I stop and listen to the sea's low hymn.

Sometimes I linger till the sun climbs high
To shoot his golden arrows to the sea,
That mimics wondrously the blue of sky,
And smiles beneath the harmless archery;
While myriad ripples breaking through the mist
Smooth themselves out on shores they oft have kissed.

And, when, too, autumn doth its bugles blow,
And wakes the clouds the sky to clamber o'er,
I seek old ocean, though it riots so
Its boisterous sweep is heard far up the shore,
And quivering sands and dainty shells wave-worn
Mingle with tangled seaweed strandward borne.

And as the gale increases, moustier waves
In fury fling themselves on beach and bar!
Then join the sea that loudest moans and raves
Where hidden wrecks and rocky indents are;
And awed am I, while I my lone watch keep,
By the mad grandeur of the mighty deep!

An Odd Sign.

A sign which is not infrequently seen over the doors of shops and restaurants in Paris which are undergoing repairs and refurnishing is the following: "Closed on Account of Reopening."

THE STROLLER

Guy Kendall of Bethel is visiting relatives at Ocean Park.

Miss Viola Drown of Gorham has been passing a few days here.

Miss Susie Smith of Biddeford is passing her vacation at Ferry Beach.

William Smith and family of Auburn are to pass a two weeks' vacation here.

Judge and Mrs. Clarence Hale of Portland have been guests here for a few days.

The Paine family of Portland are occupying their cottage on Old Orchard avenue.

Mrs. H. H. Hazen of Manchester, N. H., is occupying a cottage on Highland avenue.

Miss Mary E. Alden of Cambridge is staying at Miss Lillian Keene's cottage on Atlantic avenue.

Harold V. Wilson, son of Rev. H. C. Wilson of Lewiston, has accepted a position in Hotel Fiske.

Congressman Amos L. Allen recently visited at Freeport, where he was the guest of W. C. Fogg.

Mr. Shedd and family of Boston are occupying the Fairview cottage on Cedar avenue for the season.

Butler Libby and family of East Waterboro are occupying their cottage on Old Orchard avenue.

Miss Marjorie Skillings of Roxbury, Mass., who has been the guest of Ex-Judge and Mrs. Foster in Portland is visiting here.

Mrs. H. B. Skinner and daughter, Miss Grace Skinner of Lewiston, will pass a couple of weeks at the Hanson cottage, Fern avenue.

The family of Mr. William Barrett of Everett, Mass., is occupying the Chapman cottage, corner of Evergreen avenue and Seventh street. Mr. Barrett will spend part of the season with his family.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Ware and daughters, Misses Carrie and Mayme, and son Tony of Waterville are occupying the "Idle-day" cottage near West Grand avenue. They have as guests Miss Zelica Saucier and Miss Dora Nelson of the same city.

The very active young man employed at Scamman's store this season, as in former years, is Clarence Hamor, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Hamor of Old Orchard. The little lad who sells THE MIRROR about town is his younger brother.

Mr. and Mrs. T. Lyons and daughter of Brookline, Mass., have taken the Dolby cottage off Union avenue for the season. Their daughter, Mrs. Harry E. Smith, and Mr. Smith has arrived at the Breakers on Odessa avenue. Their niece, Miss Thompson, is with her as usual.

The Homestead cottage is occupied this summer by Mr. and Mrs. Alfred M. Cohen and family and Mrs. Cohen's mother and sister, Mrs. and Miss Phillips, all of Cincinnati, Ohio, who for many seasons have cottaged at Mackinac Island, Mich. While they have lost none of their love for the fairy isle of the lakes—as Mackinac is justly called—the whole family is fairly charmed with their first visit to Old Orchard.

Mrs. Owen of Laconia, N. H., arrived Tuesday at her cottage on Fern avenue.

Emily DeMarr of Haverhill, Mass., has arrived at her cottage near the Campground.

Kodak supplies and finishing for amateurs at Baker's studio. Also the finest portrait work.

Miss A. B. Warren of Congress street, Portland, entertained a number of friends here early in the week.

Mrs. B. T. Newman and son, George, have returned to their home in Fryeburg after a week's visit here.

Mrs. W. W. Sanborn of Lewiston, after a visit to Washington, has been passing a couple of weeks here.

George Ellsworth, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. S. Ellsworth of this town, is employed at Hotel Everett this season.

For hair dressing, shampooing, and manicuring of the best kind you should visit Mrs. James A. Smith's parlor on Old Orchard street.

Wednesday was an unusually hot day, both in the inland towns and along the seashore. Numerous cases of prostration in the cities have been reported.

James A. Smith of Boston and Old Orchard has been away on a three weeks' trip, including a visit to Pennsylvania, looking after some investments in which he has an interest.

Ernest Collins of Nashua, N. H., who is spending the summer with his parents on Atlantic avenue, gave a Dutch lunch and bonfire on the beach recently to a party of lady friends.

Clarence Bradbury and family of Portland are occupying their summer home, the Dresser cottage, Old Orchard avenue. Mr. Bradbury is a mail clerk on the Maine Central railroad.

Do you see floating spots before your sight? This is a warning Nature gives you that there is something wrong. You should consult a specialist at once. Dr. Littlefield of Saco has the best equipped optical parlor in New England and is prepared to give you valuable advice free. Many people have gone blind from neglecting these warnings.

Mr. and Mrs. Alonzo W. Sturges of Pine street, Lewiston, returned here Tuesday from New York, where they have passed the winter months during the past two years, and will remain for the season at their cottage at the Highlands. Mr. and Mrs. Sturges are among our best known and oldest summer residents, having been coming here regularly during the past twenty-five years. Mr. Sturges was for many years the foreman of the Lewiston Journal composing room, and has written many articles that have had a wide reading. THE MIRROR has been indebted to him on numerous occasions. Ralph Sturges, Esq., and Dr. Leigh F. Sturges of New York will visit their parents here during the season.

Poor Asset.

"Her face is her fortune."
"How much less than nothing does that make her?"

Pounds It Out.

"Does she play by ear?"
"No, by main strength, I think."

Gems In Verse

God, the Poet.

For us the poem of this world God wrote—
The blank verse of the heavens, the remote
And awful rhythmic measure of the sea,
All nature's discords wrought in harmony.
His books that run instinctively in rhyme,
His leafy boughs that beat accordant time,
His rolling seas, his hills and plains of verse,
His rhythmic stars, that still in song rehearse
The epic of creation—these, indeed,
In God's own language teach our human need,

Our need of him.
—Grace Adele Pierce.

Water and Laurel.

Deem not, O son, that glory once attained
Will last forever, spotless and unstained;
Neglected laurel speedily grows dry;
Unwatered, soon 'twill wither up and die.

Not Fame's mere works can make Fame stand alone,
Nor keep its name on the remembrance stone;

It needs a hand to visit day by day,
To cut the weeds and brush the mold away.

Fame is a fabric delicate and frail,
Cracked by a breath and shivered by a gale;
No height too great from which it may not fall;
A word may jar it from its pedestal.

Deem not that thou hast risen over men
So high that naught can pluck thee down again.
Who stands the highest on the social walls
Shall strike the earth the hardest when he falls.

Plant thou thy mem'ry in the human heart,
Marked by some sculpture of diviner art;
Leave deeds of love to clear away the grime
And grave anew thy name through changing time.

Thus shall thy glory and thy fame endure
Upon the earth, immaculate and pure;
Time then shall serve but to enhance thy deeds,
And Mem'ry's hand shall clear away the weeds.
—Lowell O. Reese in San Francisco Bulletin.

The Lake Isle of Innisfree.

I will arise and go now, and go to Innisfree,
And a small cabin build there, of clay and wattles made.
Nine bean rows will I have there, a hive for the honeybee,
And live alone in the bee loud glade.

And I shall have some peace there, for peace comes dropping slow,
Dropping from the veils of the morning to where the cricket sings;
There midnight's all a-glimmer, and noon a purple glow,
And evening full of the linnet's wings.

I will arise and go now, for always night and day
I hear lake water lapping with low sounds by the shore;
While I stand on the roadway or on the pavements gray
I hear it in the deep heart's core.
—William Butler Yeats.

Aspiration.

Thy daily duty rightly done,
No matter what the station,
Is preparation well begun
For future coronation.

To do thy part, and do it well,
Though humble toll may bind you,
Will train the virtues that excel
Till nobler spheres shall find you.

'Tis not by sudden bounds we reach
The goal we often sigh for;
'Tis not the dreams we lightly preach
That we would care to die for.

We slowly climb the upward way
And scale each opposition;
We turn the darkness into day
And win by transposition.

And every honest labor brings
Us nearer our endeavor,
And all our glad awakenings
Have songs of the forever.
—United Presbyterian.

The Summer Girl.

Dear little summer girl, pretty and sweet;
Dear little summer girl, dainty and neat;
Dodging the freckles and courting the tan,
Falling in love with most any old man,
Having the time of her life while she can.

Dear little summer girl, reckless and pert;
Dear little summer girl, oh, what a flirt!
Spending dad's money on ruffles and lace.
Marry? Yes—he'll have a ten-a-week place—
Then there's an end to the summer girl pace.

—Cleveland Leader.

Even So!

"He is a very uneven poet, is he not?"
"Well, I should say he wasn't even!
He is by long odds the worst poker player in the city!"—New Orleans Times-Democrat.

Revised Version.

Teacher—Do you remember that expression, Tommie, about fools and angels?

Tommie—Yes, ma'am—fools butt in where angels fear to tread.—Yonkers Statesman.

A Question of Bias.

A maid in the country to board
Met a gentleman cow who abhorred
Her red gown very much.
His own bias was such
He determined that gown should be gored.
—Philadelphia Press.

Experienced.

"What position of authority have you held?" was one of the questions asked of a recent candidate for appointment as a police matron.

"Authority over my husband," was the reply.

Took the Hint.

"She said if any man kissed her without warning she'd scream for her father."

"What did you do?"

"I warned her."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Suspicious.

Tess—But her name, with the date of her birth, is in their family Bible, is it not?

Jess—Yes, but the entry is in her handwriting.—Philadelphia Press.

Slight Interruption.

He kissed her once, he kissed her twice;
He was the happiest of all men.
No doubt he would have kissed her thrice—
But her papa came in just then.

Sweetest Things.

The sweetest flowers are the flowers that bloom
In the busy haunts of life;
That fill the air with their sweet perfume
In the midst of the toil and strife.

The sweetest songs are the songs we sing
In the ceaseless rounds of care,
Where sad hearts thrill with the cheer they bring
To the weary toilers there.

The sweetest joy is the joy to give
Of the best our lives afford,
And just to trust each day we live
In the fullness of the Lord.

Sources of Recreation.

Those who have passed one or more seasons amid Old Orchard's delightful surroundings can easily realize why this resort has such a strong hold on the affections of all its patrons who have any sense of appreciation of those things best calculated to afford an enjoyable and profitable vacation.

Old Orchard's location is well nigh ideal, with the invigorating breezes from the Atlantic Ocean mingled with the health giving properties of the luxuriant pine forests. The combination of shore and woodland, marine and rural scenery, water and land sports, indoor and outdoor entertainment of great variety, numerous high class attractions—all these conspire to make Old Orchard the charming and popular vacation center that it has been for over thirty years.

Many opportunities are afforded here for taking short excursions to surrounding places, which offer much in the way of pleasure and interesting experience. By steam and electric cars, row boats, yachts, automobiles, bicycles, teams, and afoot one may set forth in any direction, sure to find many desirable places for an outing. Our beach is par excellence the greatest attraction here, being surpassed by no other in the country, so it has been stated many times by travelers. But in addition to the beach there are many other things, as already noted, that will induce the sojourner to tarry here within reach of all that is necessary to give one a period of recreation in all that the word implies.

Here And There.

The persistent advertiser gets returns.

Very good beach weather during the past few days.

This is a great season for politics, county, state and national.

How much have you gained in weight since you arrived here?

There are a great many amateur photographers here this season as usual.

Fine opportunities are afforded hereabouts for getting excellent views.

The automobiles are more numerous here this season than ever before.

How many believe that this will be Old Orchard's banner year for business?

There are but few empty cottages along the shore from Prout's Neck to Camp Ellis.

The rural drives about Old Orchard are one of the attractive features of this resort.

The transportation facilities here are about all that could be expected of one summer resort.

The trolley lines are doing much to afford recreation for our summer visitors and to develop the rural districts.

Another series of meetings will commence at the campground this week, and a large attendance is promised.

Buckboard parties are again resuming their popularity, in spite of steam and electric cars as means of transportation.

Old Orchard contains about 900 buildings of various kinds, large, medium sized and small, having ample accommodations for 15,000 people.

Wonderful changes have taken place at Old Orchard during the past decade, and in the great majority of cases they have been in the right direction.

Old Orchard is a small community of about 900 inhabitants in the winter months, while during the summer it is transformed into a busy municipality of from 10,000 to 20,000 population.

Bowling Notes.

Much praise is due Miss Florence P. Leavitt for her excellent bowling during the past week. For some days she was the undisputed holder of the candle record, having broken her tie with Mrs. Locke by one pin, establishing the score of 82. She was beaten only by the remarkable work of Mrs. Cowling, who recently rolled 85.

Miss Leavitt now holds the duck record undisputed. She formerly resided in Old Orchard and is well known here. The score now stands:

At the Field Alley:

BIG PINS.

Gents—Fred C. Marsh, Rochester, 203.
Ladies—Mrs. P. E. Smith, Boston, 129.

CANDLES.

Gents—H. H. Crane, Saco, 106.
Ladies—Miss Florence E. Wise, Portland, 79.

DUCKS.

Gents—Harold White, Old Orchard, 107.
Ladies—Maud H. McNeal, Montreal, 76.

At the Cleaves Alley:

BIG PINS.

Gents—C. Faulhaber, New York, 203.
Ladies—Miss Mary V. Peyser, New York, 151.

CANDLES.

Gents—Fred A. Knight, Portland, 116.
Ladies—Mrs. F. W. Cowling, Lynn, 85.

DUCKS.

Gents—F. Glenn Harmon, Old Orchard, 96.
Ladies—Miss Florence P. Leavitt, Boston, 77.

Woman's Foreign Missionary Society.

The Woman's Foreign Missionary Society of the Portland District is holding a meeting at the Campground today. The Standard Bearers have prepared a very interesting hour for this afternoon's session. There will also be an address by Mrs. Ina Moses Culler, recently returned from South America.

In the evening Miss E. R. Bender of Japan and a native girl from India will speak. Miss Shepardson will take charge of the music.

The Eyes.

The eyes should be distant from each other exactly the breadth of an eye. A greater distance, according to an authority, indicates stupidity; a less, low cunning.

Fish as Food.

Food experts say that fish is no more useful as a brain food than cabbage or roast beef. They admit, however, that it is easier to digest and assimilate than meat, and this fact doubtless explains the preference which brain workers have manifested for such food.

Milk For the Face.

In the middle ages it was considered injurious to the complexion to wash the face with water. Ladies used a few drops of milk and a soft rag to remove any traces of dirt.

Cicero's Books.

Cicero was the greatest book collector of antiquity. One of his letters is extant in which he urges Atticus, a learned friend, who was compelled from poverty to sell his library at auction, not to dispose of the books at public sale, but to keep them until the writer was able to purchase them.

OCEAN PARK

Mrs. Thomas of Saco has taken a room for the season with Mrs. Jordan, Temple avenue.

Many are illuminating their cottages by electricity and still there are more to follow.

The book "Hypatia" is being re-read in anticipation of the readings by Prof. H. B. Davis as programmed.

The travelling libraries are now open in the class room of Curtis Home, in charge of Mrs. Moulton-Cheney. For the safety of the books one dollar is deposited by the reader which is returned when called for, thereby furnishing free reading to those who may desire.

Hon. L. M. Webb, president of the association, with his family is at their cottage for the summer.

Prof. L. G. Jordan and family are expected to arrive some day during the present week.

C. A. Milliken of Augusta has just made us a flying trip on his new automobile.

Miss DeMerritte and Mrs. Whitcomb are away for a few days' outing.

Mrs. Chick, widow of the late Geo. Chick, with her son and family, is at the Chick cottage. Mr. Chick is much missed at Ocean Park, both for the absence of the sound of saw and hammer, and his cheery countenance. He built at Ocean Park more than thirty cottages of an attractive architecture. Professor Armstrong of Winthrop, Mass., has bought the last one built. Professor and Mrs. Armstrong are most desirable persons to have locate in our midst.

The gardens of Mr. Libby and Deacon Wade are in their usual flourishing condition and compare most favorably with any gardens to be found in all the country round. "Honorable mention" is also deserved by one who, though an amateur bids fair to become a formidable rival in horticulture. His vines are said to have produced the first sweet peas of the season, but his floral specialty is the nasturtium, and he is already canvassing for the marketing of an anticipated bountiful crop of cucumbers. Suffice it to say that he is a merry man and hath a merry countenance.

Sunday morning in the temple Rev. W. A. Bartlett of Chicago gave an interesting, uplifting, patriotic sermon, after which all joined in "Our Country 'tis of Thee."

Mrs. Doe of Somerville at the organ and Miss Florence with her sweet young voice added much to the service. The afternoon meeting of prayer and praise in Porter Memorial hall, led by Rev. A. E. Wilson of Dover, N. H., was participated in by many and must have been helpful to all present.

The free entertainments at Granite State hotel are being continued this season on Tuesday and Friday evenings, but will discontinue at the opening of the assembly that nothing may detract from the success of the meetings. Much credit is due Mr. and Mrs. Kendrie and others who have so kindly contributed to these entertainments. We have been pleased to again hear Miss Alice Ralph, a sweet voiced singer; Mrs. Small, whose lullaby was a delight; Miss Carter, a charming pianist, and others of whom space will not permit mention. The cornet of Mr. Kendrie and Frank's violin assure the success of the orchestra. The violin solo at the last entertainment was exceedingly fine and the encore seems still re-echoing.

Please do not waste sympathy on persons who may be found sleeping in hammocks or on couches on the various verandas of our small hamlet in the early morning hours, for they are not "poor way-faring men of grief" denied admittance, but zealous fresh air enthusiasts who are wont thus to take their nightly rest—so hush! Step lightly—the Fourth of July is a thing of the past.

The many friends of Rev. J. Burnham Davis will be pleased to learn of his gradual return to health after months of wearisome sickness. Mr. Davis spent the winter at Bradford Inn, Gonic, N. H., under the care of Dr. Neal of Rochester. April 15 he went to Provincetown, Mass., where Dr. and Mrs. Wm. Birge, specialists, have transformed their charming home into a sanitarium for a few patients, who receive the individual attention of the two physicians. Mr. Davis will probably remain until early autumn.

The Automobile Races.

We hear so many vague and interesting rumors concerning the coming automobile races, that it is decidedly satisfactory to know just how matters are progressing.

Frederick Yates, manager of the pier and the prime mover in the promotion of the Old Orchard races was seen by THE MIRROR Wednesday. Nothing definite has been decided as yet, but W. J. Morgan of the staff of the Automobile Magazine, who managed the recent successful contests in the White Mountains, will arrive here sometime this week, and final arrangements will then be made. THE MIRROR expects to be able to give the public something definite early next week.

Mr. Yates has succeeded in persuading the town authorities to lay a broad plank drive way from the beach to Old Orchard street near Hotel Velvet. This will be found to be a great convenience for carriages and bicycles, as well as automobiles. A similar walk should be laid at the end of every avenue leading to the beach, as it is practically impossible for Circumstantial Evidence.

"Would you believe this man under oath?" asked the judge.

"I would hate to say I would not," replied the witness, "but I see him go by my house every Sunday morning with a fishing pole, so you can judge for yourself."

Burglars are not apt to be doing business in a tenement house row.

Swimming.

An Austrian physician, Dr. F. Mueller, has made experiments which demonstrate that swimming is harder work than mountain climbing.

Belgium's Waterways.

The total length of the navigable waterways of Belgium amounts to 1,360 miles. As the total area of the country is 11,373 square miles there is one mile of waterway to every eight and one-half square miles of territory. Eighty-five per cent of the navigable waterways is under the control of the state.

HOTEL PERSONALS

Mrs. Roger Randles of Trenholmville, P. Q., has returned to the Irving for her usual summer visit.

Mrs. J. E. Long and son, Herbert, of Worcester, have arrived at the Western for the season. This is their second season at this pleasant family house.

Emil Belanger and wife of Montreal are registered at the Irving for an extended stay. Mr. Belanger is editor of La Presse, one of the most influential papers of his native city.

Mrs. William LaPointe, who with her husband is spending the season at C. E. Butler's on Old Orchard street, takes her meals at the Western. Mr. LaPointe is the head clerk at the Velvet this season.

H. E. Conrad, for twelve years at the Fifth Avenue Hotel, is head waiter at the Velvet this season. Mr. Conrad is a veteran at the business, and is, naturally, the ideal man for his present position.

George H. Williams of Alfred is again behind the desk at the Irving as day clerk. This is his sixth season with that house, and his obliging conduct has endeared him to the crowds of regular summer patrons of the Irving.

Mrs. William S. Surtees and daughter of Ottawa have arrived at the Lawrence for the season. They are old patrons of the house. This year they have with them, Mrs. W. J. Kennedy and daughter and Mrs. Calvert also of Ottawa.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Wood and grandchildren, Misses Helen and Mary Jacques, are making their usual summer stay at the Montreal. They have been regular patrons of this house for many years.

The Misses F. and M. H. Young, with their brother, Howard, of Montreal, have returned to the Montreal for another season. They are old guests of the house. This year they have with them their mother, Mrs. D. Young.

Miss Blanche Hobbs of Portland has arrived at the Western for her second season at that house.

On Monday evening last the guests of the Western enjoyed a very pleasant session with the new game "Flinch."

Mrs. T. J. Lasier and son, Emery of Washington, D. C., have arrived at the Western for the season. Mr. Lasier and daughter are expected soon.

Mrs. C. H. Heintzman and family of Brookline are again at the Lawrence. This is their fourth consecutive season as guests of this house.

Miss Minnie F. Hall of Farmington, N. H., and her cousin, Miss Louella Chapman of East Dennis, Mass., are relatives at the Jones house for a few days.

On account of his lateness in getting in line for the summer trade, Mr. C. D. Sargent of the Pine cottage has not many arrivals as yet. However, there are many rooms booked for the last of the week, and very soon Mr. Sargent expects to be able to report a rushing business.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Lane and daughter, Alice, of Whitefield, N. H., are registered at the Western. The family has spent ten seasons at the other end of the beach, but this is their first summer in the heart of the town. They are delighted with everything here. They have with them Marjorie Stoughton, also of Whitefield.

H. I. Norton, wife and daughter of Bennington, Vt., left the Ocean house on Wednesday, much to the regret of the large number of friends they have made during their stay. Mr. Norton is in the employ of the Hartford Insurance Company, and his territory is extensive. This was the first visit of the Nortons to Old Orchard, their summers having been largely passed on the Jersey coast, but they confidently expect to return to this resort.

Behind the Scenes.

"Why didn't the swiftest horse win the race?"

"Because the swiftest young men had been betting money on it."

The Logical Place.

"What are you doing?"
"Waiting for something to turn up."
"Why don't you hang out around a turnip patch?"

Proof Enough.

George Washington did not some
Go fishing on the sly,
For it was said of him, you know,
He never told a lie.

Cause and Effect.

"I feel twenty years younger than I did last week."
"May I ask the girl's name?"

It Was His Trade.

"Do you believe in second sight?"
"Of course I do. I am in the spectacle business."

By Ear.

"Russian is such a lofty language."
"Yes, it runs so to ski."

Metempsychosis.

If I could look ahead to that gray day
(Heaven haste it not) when all my mortal clay

Sinks back to earth, * * * and, parting company
From this poor husk, which once, alas, was me,
My soul takes flight and seeks another shape,

I would not care—again—to be an ape,
A horse or cow or cat or fish or frog.
Nay, rather let me choose to be a dog.
A Boston bull, bat eared and undershot,
With strenuous jaw and temper swift and hot,

The replica of that which tugs and rasps
At the stout leash which dainty Phyllis grasps.

Thrice happy brute, and, oh, thrice woe-ful I,
Who for her smiles must ever vainly sigh!

What bliss * * * to hear her call me
"lambkin pink"
And "muzzer's pet" and "lickle popsy-jink!"

To feel upon my face her cheek's wild rose,

Return the kiss she candidly bestows,
With condescension, * * * as befits the race
Of brindle pups whose lineage I trace,
And—sweet revenge—with menaced look and leap,

With wrinkled hide and grim growled curses deep,
Keep all my hated rivals from her side. * * *

'Twere joy enough to know that I had died.

An Animal Story For Little Folks

Little Jim Bear

Little Jim Bear had a kind father and a kind mother, and they always taught him to be good, to take care of himself and to keep out of the way of gunners. They gave Jim a good home, too, but in spite of all this early training he wanted to see the world.

"I shall go where there are no gunners," said he as he left his father's roof. He traveled and traveled until he came to a great field, in the center of which was a sign, and it read: "Notice! No bear hunting!"

JIM READ THE SIGN.

"Ah, ha!" said Jim. "This is the place for me. I shall be safe here."

And then he curled himself up and lay down to sleep. I do not know whether he slept an hour, a day or a week, but when he awoke the barking of dogs could be heard on every side, and Jim, raising his head, saw hunters coming rapidly in his direction.

"See here!" cried Jim. "Can't you read? Look at that sign over there, 'No bear hunting!'"

And what do you suppose Jim got for an answer?

Why, one of the hunters raised his rifle to his shoulder and sent a bullet through the little bear's heart. And Jim did not have a chance to think how foolish he had been to disobey his parents and leave his home. That is the sad tale of little Jim Bear.—St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

Not His Color.

She—I wish you could go to the pink tea with me.

He—Huh, I prefer going to a red liquor any day.

Troubles For Him.

THE LOST COPY.

[WITH HUMBLE APOLOGIES TO THE AUTHOR OF
"THE LOST CHORD."]

Seated one day at my typewriter,
I was weary and ill at ease,
And my fingers flew like lightning swift
Over those tapping keys,—
I know not what I was writing,
Nor what I was dreaming then,
But I struck the keys in my onward flight,—
Then rolled back my carriage again.

There in the crimsoning twilight,
Amid the shrill ring of the 'phone,
I worked till my fevered spirit
Grasped only the thought of home.
Without, where the shadows lengthened
In the infinite calm of night,
The stars peered out, as the sun sank red,
And gave forth their feeble light.

But now the last page I had conquered;
I was done, and the sheet covered thick
With letters and figures and co-signs
That would make both the head and heart sick,—

And I turned me to look at the letter
I had written with infinite toil,
Touching it ever so gently
So that nothing those fair leaves might soil.

I looked,—and the sight will ne'er leave me,—
My eyes ache e'en yet with the strain
Of the copy I wrote off so carefully,
In spite of the fevered brain;
I gazed, but comprehension
Had failed,—and my golden crown
Will ne'er kill the dreadful memory
That I wrote with the shift-key down!

Bowling Notes.

Miss Florence Leavitt has again added to her bowling honors by beating Mrs. Cowling's score of 85, and thereby winning back the candle record for ladies. Miss Leavitt is certainly proving a hard person to beat. The scores now stand:

At the Cleaves Alley:

BIG PINS.

Gents—C. Faulhaber, New York, 203.
Ladies—Miss Mary V. Peyser, New York, 151.

CANDLES.

Gents—Fred A. Knight, Portland, 116.
Ladies—Miss Florence P. Leavitt, Boston, 86.

DUCKS.

Gents—F. Glenn Harmon, Old Orchard, 96.
Ladies—Miss Florence P. Leavitt, Boston, 77.

At the Field Alley:

BIG PINS.

Gents—Fred C. Marsh, Rochester, 203.
Ladies—Miss Henrietta Beullac, Montreal, 130.

CANDLES.

Gents—H. H. Crane, Saco, 106.
Ladies—Miss Florence E. Wise, Portland, 79.

DUCKS.

Gents—Harold White, Old Orchard, 107.
Ladies—Maud H. McNeal, Montreal, 76.

Forest Fires.

Fire broke out in the woods back of Ocean Park, near the residence of Melville H. Kelly on the Saco road, early Wednesday afternoon, and it became necessary to call out the fire department.

It was found impracticable to use an engine, and a party with shovels, etc., was hurriedly collected.

The fire was finally checked by hard work on the part of the fighters, with loss only to the timber owners.

Another alarm was rung in Thursday forenoon, the blaze having become started again, and a crew of men went up and got it under control. The burned area has been smoking since the fire first broke out.

The Region for Tourists.

That Maine and New Hampshire are the Mecca for those seeking rest, recreation and summer pleasures in all their most popular phases is fast becoming known to the whole tourist travel world.

It was well illustrated last week in the Union station, Portland, when a prominent citizen had received a telegram from a friend in Chicago asking him to meet at the station other friends who were coming from Chicago and Detroit seeking the cool breezes that ever blow along the Maine coast, "the Gulf of Maine," fresh and cold from the melting icebergs that form the Arctic current that flows from cape Sable nearly as far south as cape Cod, where it joins the gulf stream.

mountain and valley, ragged sea coast and forest primeval, or is it these collectively, rather than individually?

Certain it is that people are flocking to Maine by the thousands, filling up her boarding houses and hotels and her camps and farms with a merry, life-enjoying throng that will go back home again in a few weeks with a rich brown in place of the pale cheek, muscles girded for the winter's toil, brains refreshed and bodies rested for the great work in which we are all engaged that gives the United States its place as the leader of all nations.—Boston Globe.

G. M. Patterson of Lawrence has a cottage at the Campground.

ST. MARGARET'S CHURCH

Readings by Prof. Chapman.

The Ocean house dining room was well filled on Tuesday evening, it being the first of a series of readings by Prof. James Madison Chapman. The programme was made up of selections from Shakespeare, Tennyson, Hood, Gray, Eugene Field and the Detroit Free Press. There are few people who have been often at Old Orchard and have not heard of the Professor; and thousands have listened to his readings. For thirty summers his services have been given to every charitable entertainment, and hundreds of dollars have thereby been added to the receipts, while the guests of the several houses with which he has been connected have gladly given up any proposed entertainment for the privilege of listening to him.

A lady who has for many years been familiar with his efforts said after his last performance, "The Professor shows improvement every year."

En route to the dining room for lunch the party met two lady friends from Little Rock, Ark., and with them was a man from Memphis, Tenn.

One of the ladies, looking around the dining room, soon exclaimed: "Why there is Dr. — from Birmingham, N. Y." To add to the number, the man who had received the telegram, which was the means of bringing together these men from distant parts of our country, had that day received a letter from a friend in Norfolk, Va., signifying his intention to visit Maine next month.

This little incident suggested a train of thoughts as to how many other towns and cities were represented in that one station that noon. Doubtless there were travelers from every quarter of the western hemisphere.

And what is it that brings so many to this far northern state? Is it the clear, bracing air, the cool nights the pure water, the magnificent scenery of lake, Accident on the Beach Train.

As the 7.25 train was pulling into the campground station Thursday morning the springs on the forward truck of the tender gave way, pitching the whole weight of the coal onto the cab. The truck gave way completely and was crushed onto the rails. The train was moving slowly for the stop, and not a car left the iron.

A wrecking crew was immediately dispatched to the scene, and it was found that it would take some time to straighten things out. After the wreckage had been cleared away, new rails had to be laid, and the first train out of Old Orchard on the branch did not run till 11.50.

A new engine was ordered from Portland. The damage will be covered by a new truck and a little paint and polish.

A party of five from the Batchelder enjoyed a trip to Biddeford Pool, Wednesday.

THE STROLLER

G. W. Conlon of Biddeford is employed as a drug clerk here this season.

J. M. Fairfield of Boston is occupying the Rose cottage on West Grand avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Fenderson of Biddeford are occupying a cottage here.

The "Arcade" the new building being erected by Wesley G. Smith in Seaside Park, is fast nearing completion.

G. T. Bell of Montreal, G. P. & T. A. of the Grand Trunk Railway System, was one of the prominent visitors at Old Orchard Thursday.

For hair dressing, shampooing, and manicuring of the best kind you should visit Mrs. James A. Smith's parlor on Old Orchard street.

The wedding of Miss Marcia C. McIntire of Saco and Old Orchard and Mr. Charles O. Osgood of Peabody, Mass., will take place August 2.

Two baseball nines from Biddeford, the Nationals and Hustlers, are scheduled to play off a tie on the beach in front of the Fiske this afternoon.

Mrs. F. D. Huntoon of Worcester is in town for a week's stay, putting her cottage in readiness for its occupancy by a party from Pawtucket, R. I.

Arthur K. Winslow, son of Burton H. Winslow of Saco, is ticket seller on the pier as during the past two seasons. Mr. Winslow is a member of the class of 1907 at Colby college, Waterville.

A. A. Cunningham and family of Lowell have rented of John C. Pierce for the season the Carrell cottage near West Grand avenue. Mr. Cunningham is a member of the well known Yorick Club of his home city.

The guests of the Ocean house have various opinions upon the following question: A conductor takes a counterfeit dollar-bill for a five cent fare. The mistake is, of course, discovered. How much does the conductor lose?

Mrs. J. Crowley of Worcester has rented, through J. M. Ryan's real estate agency, a portion of the waiting room of the electric railroad in the Porter block. It will be used as a lunch room, also for the sale of confectionery, fruit and cigars.

Henry H. Dresser and family of Boston are staying in town for several days. Mr. Dresser is a well known capitalist and is the secretary of the syndicate of Boston financiers who are promoting the building of a pier at Nome City, Alaska. Mr. Dresser is familiar with the property of the United Verde Jr. Mining Corporation of Arizona and speaks most highly of it.

Mrs. Frank E. Stevens of Augusta who has been passing ten days here was summoned home Wednesday by the death of her daughter, Miss Pearl Stevens, who committed suicide by shooting herself with a revolver. Mrs. Stevens was prostrated by the terrible news, and she has the sympathy of her many friends in her bereavement. She has been a regular visitor here for several years as had her daughter who was twenty-three years of age. Miss Stevens made many friends during her visits at Old Orchard.

Mrs. B. F. Horne of Lawrence is occupying the Hiawatha cottage on Atlantic avenue as for several years past.

Miss Vivian E. Mathews of Manchester, N. H., is spending a week with the Clark sisters at their cottage on the south shore.

Mr. and Mrs. Harlan P. Bean of Arlington Heights, Mass., are visiting Mr. Bean's mother and aunt at Ida F. Porter's cottage.

The arrivals at the Batchelder this week include, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Sutherland and son, Ernest, and Mrs. Frank Cane and son, all of Barre, Vt.

Miss Alice Leavitt of Boston is visiting here. She was the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Leavitt who conducted a souvenir store here for many years.

Dr. and Mrs. G. A. Bragdon are among the Bay State people here, being located at the Malvern house, near Union avenue. They have been coming to Old Orchard regularly for many years.

Mrs. C. A. Jones has recently had put in the Jones house dining room a fine assortment of choice confectionery. The candy department is very nicely arranged and presents an inviting appearance.

M. Kenny of Brooklyn will occupy for the summer the Fairview cottage on Cedar avenue, which was rented through the real estate agency of F. A. Sidelinger & Co. This is the first season that the Kennys have been here.

Owing to serious illness, Mrs. Boynton of Somersworth, N. H., will be unable to occupy her cottage on the corner of Union and Grand avenues this season. Before Dr. Boynton's death, he and Mrs. Boynton, were regular visitors here for many years and she will be greatly missed this year by her many friends.

Do your lids smart, burn, or itch? Many cases of blindness started in this way. These are Nature's ways of warning us that something is wrong. Sight is the most precious of our five senses. The care of the eyes should be entrusted to a specialist. Dr. Littlefield of Saco will be pleased to advise you free.

Among the guests registered at the Ingleside are: N. E. Springstead, Boston; Miss B. Burnham, Portland; Wm. Burns, Richard Crowe and Beny Bennett, New Britain; Geo. Brown, wife and child, New York; Florence McKay and Mrs. W. H. Fuller, Lowell; E. Hinkley and wife, Auburn; Miss Mabel C. Frost and Miss Eliza A. Thornton, Fall River; W. C. Skillin, Lewiston; Dr. Gracie Jordan and Miss Jane Russell of Walden.

Samuel Mullen, the popular young porter at the Alberta, was the host of the employees of that house Friday evening. A very delightful hay rack ride was enjoyed by the party numbering about thirty-five. The start was made early in the evening, and the jolly crowd proceeded to descend upon Saco, Biddeford and vicinity. A stop was made at Biddeford for refreshments. The party returned to Old Orchard at a late hour, tired but happy with "Sam" more popular than ever.

Mr. Miller, the photographer at Baker's Studio, will do your group work at your residence or on the beach.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Magrath and Miss Lillian Magrath of Saco have been staying here for a few days this week.

The Atlantic Shore Line railway is advancing steadily. The rails have been hauled and dumped along Crescent street, Biddeford.

Mrs. Parker O. Haley, Mrs. Minnie Parsons, Mrs. B. B. Tupper, Mrs. N. H. Wade and Mrs. Lottie Bailey of South Portland have staying here this week.

The well stocked and tastily arranged store of L. H. Dennis & Co., in the Jones building opposite the depot, is visited by an increasing number of purchasers each day. The embroideries, souvenirs and great variety of artistic goods are greatly admired by all who see them, and an inspection usually results in a ready sale. At this store it is a pleasure to show the goods to visitors, whether they purchase or not.

An Excursion Sunday.

The Maine Central railroad will run an excursion to Old Orchard Sunday by way of the Crawford Notch of the White Mountains, which will bring many people to this delightful resort.

Methodist Service.

At the Old Orchard Methodist Episcopal church next Sabbath morning Mrs. Onrico De Grys of Portland will render a solo by request.

The pastor, Rev. Fred A. Leitch, A.M., will preach. Subject, "The Kingdom Cometh, but not with Observation." The public is invited.

A Hebrew Feast.

The Hebrew feast of Ab, which commemorates the downfall of the temple of Jerusalem, began Wednesday. All orthodox Hebrews will abstain from eating meat for nine days.

The meat famine will not bother the Hebrews during the lamentation, as the Jewish religion prohibits the consumption of meat during the nine days of Ab, but fish is permitted.

When the devil lets a man go, he always gives him a return ticket.

One does not have to have much practice to be a good loser.

A homely one is apt to be of the opinion that beauty is no deeper than the powder box.

It is a sign of good luck to find a $100 bill.

Humor and Philosophy

By DUNCAN M. SMITH

Copyright, 1904, by Duncan M. Smith.

HER SUMMER TRIP.

Comes the time when wife muses,
As to rights her house she sets,
On the joys her husband loses
And the fever that he gets
Every time she goes away,
And she worries night and day.

How she hates to leave, and sorrows
Over lots of little things;
Troubles many fondly borrows,
Sadly to her husband clings,
Saying how she hates to leave him,
Asking will her absence grieve him.

Then her husband, smooth and wily,
Tells her that she must not mind
(While himself he's hugging slyly);
Guesses he will have to find
How to get along without her,
Though he knows he'll grieve about her.

When she's gone no time he loses;
Hurries out to meet the boys;
Comes and goes just as he chooses,
All unquestioned, knows the joys
As the ruddy wines commingle
Of the man that's free and single.

Raising Potatoes.

In order to raise potatoes successfully it is necessary first to plant them.
This might seem like a trifling detail, but it is attention to details that brings success.

Some people insist that potatoes should be planted in the dark of the moon, while others say that is getting the planting and stealing time mixed.

When the tender leaves begin to shoot, if you can train them to shoot potato bugs the problem will be much simplified.

As soon as the vines have grown large enough to notice things they should be carefully hoed. This is work of such delicate and skillful nature that it should only be intrusted to a hired man.

Don't hold an umbrella over the vines when it rains, for they are ungrateful and will not appreciate a favor of this sort.

When full grown, cook, serve and eat.

A Model Son.

"Gentlemen of the jury," said the attorney for the prisoner, "this man is not wholly bad. He may have done wrong, but he is good to his mother."

"Yes," replied the attorney for the state. "He gives her everything he steals."

Time by the Forelock.

Oh, buy your Christmas presents now,
Avoid the rush and hurry,
So, when the Christmas rush is on,
You will not have to worry.
If shy of cash you chance to be,
Say "Send it Christmas, C. O. D."

Gone For Good.

"He dropped his money in Wall street."

"No use, then, going back to look for it. There is a man there whose business it is to pick up and keep such things."

A Misnomer.

"Why do they call the policemen
"the finest?"

"Who is more deserving of the name?"

"The judge is. Isn't he the fine-est?"

Taking A Vacation.

During at least two months in the year a large proportion of the people, especially those residing in the cities, desire to take a vacation for longer or shorter periods, according to the condition of their purse and other considerations.

Now is the gala season of the year for enjoying a much needed rest from the ordinary routine of business and other cares that beset all throughout every twelvemonth. The necessity for this relaxation and change of scene and habit seems to be becoming more and more urgent among a great number of our people each succeeding year.

The strain, both physical and mental, of our hurried American life makes it very important that a halt should be called at intervals in order that a renewed vigor and an added stock of energy may be stored up for the work that is always in store for busy and industrious persons.

Vacations should be so planned as to promote in every way the general well being of the individual, and in this, as in all things, it will, of course, be found that tastes differ greatly. What is suitable for one may be without benefit to another, and so all should aim to obtain what is most needed.

It has always seemed to THE MIRROR that Old Orchard offers special advantages to all seeking a period of rest, pleasure and recreation.

Here And There.

It seems as if the surf bathing was never much more thoroughly enjoyed than during the past few days.

It is possible to behold the beauties of Old Orchard by moonlight these evenings.

The number of visitors here is constantly on the increase.

The trip from Camp Ellis to Biddeford Pool and return is a pleasant one, and is being enjoyed by many of our summer people.

The cottages at the Campground are filling rapidly now that the meetings are getting well under way.

Old Orchard hotels are all enjoying a very good patronage and some of the smaller have been filled for some time. This is surely one of Maine's greatest resorts, and 1904 is certain to be a record breaker for the hotel men.—Board of Trade Journal, Portland, Me.

Among our exchanges is the Old Orchard Mirror, a paper issued three times a week in the interest of the summer tourists at that famous resort. The Mirror is neat, bright and newsy, and is ranked high in the list of summer resort papers.—Casco Bay Breeze.

Biddeford City Mission Picnic.

The annual picnic and day's outing of the Biddeford City Mission will be held at Old Orchard Thursday, July 28th. City Missionary Hoerl, who resides at the campground, and Mrs. M. A. Farwell are being besieged every day by groups of little ones who are anxiously awaiting this day of recreation and pleasure.

Mrs. Farwell will assist City Missionary and Mrs. Hoerl in the solicitation of supplies and a committee of cottagers will assist in preparing the food contributions of cake, and donations toward the purchase of ice cream will be cheerfully accepted.

Last year it required to satisfy the little ones, 450 sandwiches, 60 loaves of bread, 30 pounds of ham, 20 pounds of corned beef, 10 gallons of ice cream, 45 gallons of lemonade, 33 cakes, 6 water-melons and two bunches of bananas.

The children will be conveyed here in two electric cars and will make a visit to the Pier and about the beach, after which refreshments will be served in the woods as last year. A very enjoyable day is expected.

For Congressional Honors.

Hon. Luther R. Moore, Mayor of Saco, was nominated as Democratic candidate for Congress at the district convention held in Saco City hall Thursday. Mr. Moore and family pass the summer season at their cottage at Ferry Beach. J. M. Ryan and W. G. Harmon were the Old Orchard delegates to the convention.

A Tour Around the World.

Among those at the Summit House, Mt. Washington, N. H., to witness the recent motor contests was Mr. Charles J. Glidden of Boston, who is touring the world in a 24-horse power Napier automobile, with Mrs. Glidden and his engineer, Charles Thomas of London. The suitable months of six years will be required to make the journey of 40,000 miles, of which 16,200 miles have been covered to date in 16 countries, as follows:

Austria,	627
Bavaria,	295
Belgium,	160
Bohemia,	315
Denmark,	306
England,	2,639
France,	4,565
Germany,	1,546
Holland,	435

Italy,	508
Scotland,	200
Spain,	30
Sweden,	1,540
Switzerland,	1,097
Wales,	427
	16,200

The party were the first to cross the Arctic Circle in an automobile, August 16, 1903, after a 1,540 mile drive almost directly north in Sweden. The countries yet to be included are: The Hawaiian Islands, New Zealand, Australia, Tasmania, Philippines, China, Japan, the Asiatic Archipelago, including Malay, Borneo, Java and Sumatra; Ceylon, India, Egypt, Palestine, Greece, Turkey, Hungary, Italy, Sicily, Tunis, Tripoli, Algeria, Spain, Portugal, and France, returning to England and America in 1906-07. The party start westward from Boston Monday, for the Pacific coast.

TANGLED THREADS

"And that was three years ago, wasn't it?" Miss Travers said. "It doesn't seem like it."

"No," he replied; "it seems—thirty." "Thanks! Have I really aged so much since then?"

"I mean until I saw you it seemed thirty," he explained.

"Three years—it goes very quickly. You haven't changed much."

"I? I haven't changed at all."

She regarded him critically. "No, you haven't—in looks."

"I haven't in any way," he replied earnestly and with an undertone of intention in his voice. "And you—you are all I imagined."

"I imagined? Then I was not a reality three years ago. I was a mere figment of your brain. What do you mean?"

"I mean—why—that in all these years I have been imagining you—in all sorts of ways, you know."

"Oh! Sometimes as fair haired, I suppose, and sometimes as dark haired, sometimes with a hump and sometimes cross eyed."

"Nonsense!"

"Well, it's what you said, 'all sorts of ways,' and yet—do you remember the silly speech you made me when you went away?"

"Of course—only it wasn't silly. It was the frozen truth."

"It didn't seem very frozen then, but perhaps it does now, however, at this distance. You haven't answered my question yet, though. What was it you said?"

"Why—that—what's the use of my telling you over again if your memory is so good?"

"It's your memory that's in question, not mine. Confess you don't remember."

"But I do, of course. It was that I wouldn't forget," he said triumphantly. Miss Travers dropped her eyes, raised them again for a brief fluttering moment and again dropped them with a pensive little smile.

"And you remember what it was I said to you then?" he asked impressively, leaning nearer and looking down at the bent head.

"You said—of course, you were just saying it—but you said you would remember every word I had said to you, every look of my eyes, every tone of my voice. You were quite sentimental that night."

"It was meant, every word of it. No man could forget. I know it now."

"Now? Didn't you know it then? What do you mean? You talk as though you were not the same man you were. Aren't you?"

"Well, every man changes, you know, every seven years. Scientific fact, I believe."

"But it hasn't been seven—only three."

"Oh, of course, not really change. I was joking. What I meant was that knowing you, having your image before me these years, has made a changed man of me—changed the whole course of my life," he said earnestly.

"Ah, and you have that photograph of me yet?"

"Of course. As if I wouldn't! It has never been out of my keeping since I stole it from—"

"I thought I gave it to you myself?"

she said, with some surprise in her voice. "Have you forgotten how you begged it from me that night?"

"Of course I haven't forgotten," he replied heartily. "I know you gave it to me." But she was not listening. Her eyes were looking off into the distance beyond the dark glass of the conservatory.

"How beautiful the moonlight was on the water that night, and far off some boating party was singing! It was perfect!"

"Yes, perfect, at least to me."

"Do you remember when we glided into that stretch of lily pads and I lifted them dripping from the water, each drop like a diamond, and you said—"

"And I said I wished they were real so that I could give them to you," he said boldly.

"Did you? I thought it was that the drops would spoil my gown—the gown you admired so much."

"I did admire it. I have always seen you in that gown—and your face luminous in half shadow, the glint of your hair and your arms gleaming in the moonlight as you trailed your fingers in the water and made silvery ripples over the polished black mirror of the—er—river."

He drew a long breath when he finished, as one who felt relieved.

"And it was as we neared home, wasn't it, that you told me that you wanted my picture?"

"Yes."

The corners of her mouth twitched a little. "What a splendid memory you have," she said, "a marvelous memory I call it. I wish I had one like it, though it's not what I would call accurate—if that's a sample—because, you see, you didn't ask me for my photograph that night. It was fall when you left, and it rained hard that afternoon, and we could not go out, but instead sat in the drawing room by the fire. Except for these little details, your recollection of what happened is wonderfully clear."

"But you said yourself—"

"Yes; I did. I just wanted to test you. Now I commence to doubt that you really still have my picture."

"I can show it to you."

"Are you certain it's not some other girl that you've mistaken for me? One is liable to mistake one person for another unless there's a special reason."

"No danger. There's not another girl in the world like you. I knew you the moment I saw you."

"Knew me?"

"Yes, across the ballroom."

"You had forgotten me, then?"

"I mean," he exclaimed slowly, like one who picks his way, "that I knew you—for the one girl I cared about."

"Oh-h! But was it at a ball we first met? I remember your telling me that three years ago, but I didn't think it was at a ball that that knowledge came to you. We met first—let's see—where was it?"

"At—at—it's idiotic, but for the life of me I can't remember for the moment. You were the important matter, all else—"

"It's hardly to be expected you should recollect," she said, compassionating his confusion. "It was at the Thorntons'."

"Of course, the Thorntons. I knew, but I couldn't think of the name. I remember Harry telling—"

"Harry? What Harry?"

"Er—Harry—Harry Thornton, of course."

"Oh, I never knew there was a brother. And he told you—"

"That he wanted me to meet you. He said, 'Phil, there's a'—"

Harry, but possibly that's changed in three years too. You used to be called Harry."

"A man may have two names, mayn't he?"

"It seems like it."

"I mean he may have more than one name. My name is Henry Philip Morton. All my old chums at college called me Phil."

"I might have understood—so stupid of me. So Mr. Thornton was a chum of yours at college?"

"Yes. Great friends we were."

"And that's how you came to know his sisters? Charming girls, weren't they?"

"Very, very charming, only I don't want to talk about them now. It's such a waste!"

"Why, have you quarreled?"

"No, not exactly."

"I thought perhaps you had, because Clara Thornton just passed, and neither of you spoke. I thought it curious."

"Yes. Of course I saw her—but—it's rather a painful subject with me, and so if you don't mind let's get off it."

He looked off sadly, with a perturbed expression of countenance, due naturally to the pain he was feeling. There was silence for a moment or so, and then, hearing a little sobbing sound, he turned toward her.

She was bending over, her face buried in her hands. Like a flash it came over him what was the matter. She cared for him and thought he cared for the Thornton girl.

"Margaret," he said, "Margaret, dear! It was nothing of that kind. I've never cared for any other woman but you—honestly."

Suddenly she lifted her face. There were traces of tears in her eyes.

"Oh, you fraud!" she cried. "You utter fraud!"

"I tell you—"

"You impostor! And you fancied I believed you?"

She drew a folded letter from the folds of her gown and found a place in it.

"Read that, Mr. Philip Morton, and then—"

Morton read the part she indicated.

"—And now the greatest news! Of course, you sly puss, I know of your flirtation with Harry Morton three years ago and that you gave him your photograph. Well, my dear, it seems that Harry's twin brother, Phil, saw the picture and rescued it when Harry was burning his scalps just before his marriage. Phil's kept it on his mantel for three years. Now he is going west, and what do you think? He proposes to stop off at Glendale and pretend he's Harry, stay at the Johnstons and pick up the ends of the affair with you right where he dropped them. Isn't that impudence? He has made a bet with Harry that he can do this, and he should be taught a lesson. He is exactly like Harry, as good looking and nicer, and I'm afraid—"

"You needn't read the rest," Miss Travers interrupted. "It's nothing to do with you." She turned a severe countenance toward the culprit. "It is a very nice trick to try and play on a girl, isn't it? So gentlemanly!"

"I suppose it wasn't fair, but—"

"But what? I want to be just."

"Well, it wasn't all a lie. The picture was all I said to me, and I have known ever since I met you that I cared for you, but I suppose you are awfully offended, and it's all over."

"It should be, shouldn't it, as a punishment? There ought to be some punishment surely."

"I shall lose my bet. Isn't that enough unless you'll let me win it?"

"Why, how can I?"

"The threads, you know. Let me pick 'em up where Harry dropped them. Then I'll win. You said you were going walking, weren't you, that day, and you couldn't because of the rain? I fancy tomorrow will be a fine day. The stars are very bright. Look up through the palms there. Mayn't I come tomorrow for you?"

"You don't deserve it, and I won't promise, but I shall be home at 3 and—Your waltz, Mr. Ackerly? Yes, so it is. Too bad you had such a hunt for me. I was just going in."

Miss Travers' hand fumbled for a moment adjusting her roses, then she moved away to the ballroom, leaving behind her on the floor a bud just opening to the world.

Morton picked it up and put it in his buttonhole.

"I am quite sure tomorrow will be a pleasant day," said he.

Messrs. Hutchings, Tasker and Erskine have returned to the Irving after a short trip to Boston. These young men are from Montreal and are helping to liven things up a great deal.

Andrew Philips, Senior and Junior, and the Misses O'Brien and Bovard of New York are spending a couple of weeks at the Irving. They were in Portland earlier in the season.

Mrs. I. Harris and daughter, Bertha, of Fall River are registered at the Irving for the season. They have spent several summers at Cottage City, this being their first at Old Orchard, but they are not backward in their praises of everything here.

A. Baumgarten, one of the leading shoe merchants and most prominent residents of Saginaw, Mich., was in town Thursday, and will return to the Ocean house next week for the season. Mr. and Mrs. Baumgarten have been coming to Old Orchard for eight seasons, formerly to the Lawrence Cottage and afterwards to the Drake cottage, now a part of the Ocean house. Mr. and Mrs. Baumgarten did not visit Old Orchard last season, having gone abroad for several weeks.

Miss Minnie F. Hall of Farmington, N. H., and Miss S. Louella Chapman of East Dennis, Mass., returned home Friday afternoon after a pleasant visit with relatives at the Jones house.

Mrs. Frank E. Banks of Biddeford and Mrs. Grace Wakefield of Springvale have been visiting friends at the Jones house this week. Mrs. Wakefield is an accomplished vocalist and pianist.

J. N. Packard and wife of Auburn are making an extended stay at the Irving. Mr. Packard is a baker and confectionery manufacturer and one of the leading business men of his native city.

Now,
Can anybody tell me how
I'm to get any fun
Out o' this vacation when every one
O' my family has a different plan
Concernin' a boy 'n' how he can Best spend his vacation improvin' his mind?

I find
'T each of 'em is intendin' to try a separate invention, warranted to spoil any boy's vacation, on me.
Hully gee!
They may think it's grand,
But if they think I'll stand

They've got another think comin'. Say!
It's me to the woods when they try to See?

I won't take no dancin' lessons either,
Nor go to no elocution teacher neither.
What d' they think a boy is made of any-

I ain't no jay,
'N' I won't stand for no polishin' up like I'd just come in.
Guess 'tain't no sin
To just have a bully good time all day

I don't see nothin' wrong
'F I don't comb my hair more'n oncet a

I'll just speak
My mind right out and let 'em know how I feel
If they don't let up on this improvement deal.

'N' dad, he seems to think a boy
Ought to get joy
Out o' runnin' a lawn mower all day.
It might 'a' been play
When he was a lad,

But now it's put to the bad,
'N' I ain't in it.
Not for a minute.
When it comes to runnin' that kind of a

I think it's mean
For 'em to try to make me take lessons in drawin'.
It'll take more jawin'
Than it's worth to get me even to cut my

That's flat.
So, hurrah!
Whoop la!
They'll have to tighten their grip
If they ketch me this trip.

An Animal Story For Little Folks

HOW MR. SNAPPER FIXED THE STYLES

Old Mr. Snapper wandered leisurely out of the pond one bright spring morning and made for the back yard of the farmhouse. He had lain in the mud all winter and was now glad of the chance to get out and see something. While he was meditating in his slow fashion as to the probable crop of spring gnats he was startled by loud caterwauls.

He crawled to where the noise seemed to come from, and there, on the top of the chopping block, were Tom and Jerry in a most awful dispute.

"It ought to be six inches, and you know it, you horrid thing," said Tom.

"No, sir, it oughtn't to be but five. That's the style at Newport, and I don't care what you say!" yelled Jerry.

"They're quarreling about the length of their tails, I do believe," said Snapper to himself. "Did you ever hear anything so stupid? Well, I'll just fix the styles for them myself."

Tom was standing with hatchet raised to cut his tail off at the length he considered fashionable. Jerry's tail was hanging temptingly over the edge of the block. Snapper grabbed the hanging tail in his iron jaws.

HE MADE A LEAP BACKWARD.

"Wow! Kiyi! Fizz!" yelled Jerry, and, making a gigantic leap in the air, he knocked the hatchet out of Tom's paws, which, falling on Tom's luckless tail, cut it off about halfway up. He gave a yell of pain and made a leap backward. Jerry made a brave attempt to tear his tail free, but Snapper was too quick for him, and like a pair of scissors his jaws closed on his caudal appendage and severed it completely.

"Oh, oh! What shall we do?" sobbed both kittens as they sat down and looked at their stumps of tails.

"Never mind," said Snapper, crawling up to where they sat. "They're both the same length now."

"That's so. We hadn't thought of that," they said and went on their way sorrowfully.—Worcester Post.

Compliance.

Then speed, thou rapid time,
With ordered flight sublime,
Sweep on and bear me like a bubble
hence;
Through winter's frost and rime,
Through golden summer's prime,
My heart now questions neither why nor whence.

For life is but a dream;
Things are not what they seem.
Then why should I desire to linger here?
Me, like a broken gleam,
Bear down thy silent stream
Through cycles of the ever shifting year.

The Coming Brotherhood.

There shall come from out this noise of strife and groaning
A broader and a juster brotherhood;
A deep equality of aim, postponing
All selfish seeking to the general good.
There shall come a time when each shall to another
Be as Christ would have him—brother unto brother.

There shall come a time when brotherhood grows stronger
Than the narrow bounds which now distract the world;
When the cannons roar and trumpets blare no longer,
And the ironclads rust, and battleflags are furled;
When the bars of creed and speech and race, which sever,
Shall be fused in one humanity forever.

A Gem From India.

Single is every living creature born,
Single he passes to another world,
Single he eats the fruit of evil deeds,
Single, the fruit of good, and when he leaves
His body like a log or heap of clay
Upon the ground his kinsmen walk away;
Virtue alone stays by him at the tomb
And bears him through the dreary, trackless gloom.

The fellow who has no ax to grind
Isn't soft soldering any one.

An Old Orchard Candidate

AMONG the names most prominently mentioned for the Republican nomination as sheriff of York County is that of William J. Mewer, one of Old Orchard's best known residents. He has resided here for several years and has been active in the business, political and social life of the town.

As the time for the convention, which will be held at Alfred, Thursday, August 4, approaches, the friends of Mr. Mewer in this vicinity are feeling greatly pleased and encouraged at the strength and support he is receiving generally throughout the county. His record as an executive officer and as a legislator is one of which his many friends here and elsewhere are justly proud. He served Old Orchard very faithfully and efficiently as the head of its important police department during three years, and could have remained in office longer had he desired the position. He was also elected as a member of the Maine legislature in September, 1902, having a good majority over the able and popular candidate on the Democratic ticket, and in that body has discharged his duties with credit to his constituents and himself.

The Republicans of Old Orchard feel that their town is justly entitled to some recognition in the division of county officers, and that Old Orchard, as a Republican stronghold during the past twenty years, is a forceful and unanswerable argument in support of this claim. Old Orchard has never received anything in the line of county officers, and without faltering has always stood loyally by the party, giving large majorities for its candidates in every election,—in fact making one of the best showings of any town in the county in proportion to its population, by out-numbering the Democrats fully 5 to 1 in county, state and national elections.

The citizens of Old Orchard feel that a place of the size, wealth and prominence of their municipality should, for various reasons, cut some figure in the disposition of county officers.

Old Orchard can reasonably claim priority of existence, so far as can be ascertained, over any other town or city in Maine, having been settled by Richard Bonython about 1613, or seven years before the landing of the Pilgrims at Plymouth Rock. Therefore, it may be justly regarded as the parent settlement of our great state.

This town has been instrumental in spreading broadcast the attractions, advantages and progress not only of old York County, but also of the entire Pine Tree State. It was the summer home of that distinguished son of Maine, and one of the brightest luminaries in the Republican party, the late Hon. Thomas B. Reed. It is at the present time, as it has been for many years, the abiding place for several months in the year of Hon. Amos L. Allen of Alfred, congressman from the first Maine district; Hon. Thomas Goodall, the famous plush goods manufacturer of Sanford; Hon. Charles M. Moses of Saco, collector of customs in Portland; and many other legislature against the resubmission of the prohibitory law, should entitle him to the respect and confidence of all who believe that the present law should be retained. Mr. Mewer is personally very popular and would, in the opinion of his supporters, if nominated, unite the factions that split on the Republican ticket two years ago, and throughout the county he would attract a good following and poll a heavy vote. He has received many assurances of support from influential quarters, and is in the race to stay until the finish.

Mr. Mewer's host of friends in Old Orchard and elsewhere are confident that the convention will make no mistake in nominating him as its candidate for sheriff.

WILLIAM J. MEWER

Old Orchard Republican Candidate for Sheriff Nomination

distinguished leaders of the Republican party. Moreover, in the beautiful auditorium at the Campground the political campaigns have been opened for many years, and the noted Republican spellbinders have there addressed thousands of people. McKinley, Blaine, Reed, Lodge, McCall and numerous other of our foremost orators have been here in the past. Surely Old Orchard has always done its whole duty by the Republican party.

As for Mr. Mewer, he has shown himself to be a fearless, energetic and conscientious officer, and has been successful in business as well as in politics. The firm stand taken by him in the last

The Christian Workers' League.

The convention of the Christian Workers' League, the first of the regular summer campmeetings here, is now well under way, and interesting sessions are held each day.

A preliminary service was held Friday evening, and Saturday the formal program was begun. Rev. Dr. L. B. Bates of Boston, father of Gov. John L. Bates of Massachusetts, is president of the league and has charge of the meetings, as for a number of years past. He delivered the opening address Saturday.

On account of the unfavorable weather the attendance was not as large as usual on the opening Sunday, but Dr. Bates and his workers expect a very successful series of meetings. His sermon Sunday was a powerful discourse on Our Nation's Peril and Deliverance. He spoke of the great wealth and natural resources of America, the tendency toward corporate greed, the devotion to worldly pleasures, and the need of the frequency of discord between capital and labor and the need of application of the Golden Rule. What the country needs, he said, is a leader who will rise above party.

The Jenkins Orphan Boys.

The Jenkins Orphan Boys' band from Charlestown, S. C., was at Old Orchard Sunday and played several selections during the afternoon at Seaside Park. The band was made up of colored boys and they played very well. They have been playing and singing at various churches in Portland recently and have received much praise.

Rev. Mr. Jenkins is engaged in a most worthy work down South among the children and Booker T. Washington among the youth. The cause the band and singers represent is a worthy one. Dr. Smith Baker had the children at the Williston church, Portland, on Sunday night. The children perform remarkably well and are from an asylum that represents an enrollment of 436 orphan and destitute children in the orphanage and school, Charlestown, S. C.

They will return to Old Orchard next Monday and play at Seaside Park. On the following Tuesday evening they have arranged to give a concert in the town hall, which should be well attended. It is said that the jubilee singers are especially good.

Half-Tone Illustrations.

Half-tone illustrations of several of the attractive residences at Old Orchard have appeared in THE MIRROR from time to time in previous years, and others will be used this season.

There are many fine places here that are well adapted to purposes of illustration, and we would gladly run half-tones of these if the owners would provide the cuts, which cost on an average about $2.00

Lecture on Burma.

Rev. J. E. Cummings of Saco, will deliver an illustrated lecture on Burma at "Minnie's Seaside Rest," on Wednesday evening. Mr. Cummings returned a few months ago from Burma, where he has been engaged in missionary work. The public is cordially invited.

Walter Breck of Somerville made a flying visit to his brother on Ocean avenue over Saturday and Sunday.

Mrs. Joseph Pitman of Somerville will spend the remainder of the season with her son, F. H. Pitman on Old Orchard avenue.

Gems In Verse

Old Fashioned Philosophy.

Scorn not the homely virtues. We are prone To search through all the world for something new,
And yet sometimes old fashioned things are best—
Old fashioned work, old fashioned rectitude,
Old fashioned honor and old fashioned prayer,
Old fashioned patience that can bide its time,
Old fashioned firesides sacred from the world,
Old fashioned satisfaction with enough,
Old fashioned candor and simplicity,
Old fashioned folks that practice what they preach.

—J. A. Edgerton in National Magazine.

Retrospect.

Brother, whate'er the world hath taught—
Howe'er diverse our feet may roam—
Our love can center in one thought
Which leads us to our youthful home.

A humble roof with honest hearts,
Contentment, graced with willing hands,
More beauty to a home imparts
Than heritage of house or lands.

What though no art our windows stain,
Nor costly carpets spread the floor?
The lilacs peeped in through the pane,
The grass grew green about the door.

No paintings graced our narrow hall
With mimic mountain, wood or rill.
The greatest Master of them all
Had hung his work on ev'ry hill.

From boughs where robins build and sing
Like snow the apple blossoms fell,
The wild grape twined above the spring,
The poplars shook above the well.

The sparrow built his modest nest
And sang no song prescribed by rule;
The swallow smoothed his slaty crest
Or dipped it in the crystal pool.

The little plot our mem'ries till
Bright poppy bloom and saffron yields;
The wild rose gems the craggy hill
And yarrow clothes the scanty fields.

Some sunny gleams our hearts recall
That vandal time cannot decay;
Some shadows o'er our mem'ries fall
That sunlight ne'er can chase away.
—J. Judson Lord in Springfield (Ill.) Journal.

Why Worry?

Why do we worry about the nest?
We only stay for a day
Or a month or a year, at the Lord's behest,
In this habitat of clay.

Why do we worry about the road,
With its hill or deep ravine?
In a dismal path or a heavy load,
We are helped by hands unseen.

Why do we worry about the years
That our feet have not yet trod?
Who labors with courage and trust, nor fears,
Has fellowship with God.

The best will come in the great "To be,"
It is ours to serve and wait,
And the wonderful future we soon shall see,
For death is but the gate.
—Sarah K. Bolton.

Prayer or Blasphemy?

You who have called up war from its red lair,
You who have thus flung wide the doors of hell
And harassed all the fiends by your dread spell—
Rulers and kings; whilst thus God's wrath you dare,
And plunge the earth in misery and despair,
And, from the fragments of each murderous shell
For progress forge its latest manacle, Say, is it meet to beg God's aid with pray'r?

Death and the furies now control each day.
Your cause, like all fell things, is in their care,
But God's pure favor is a thing unwed
To rage and slaughter and the lust of sway;
Make, if you must, the fair earth bare and red,
But crave not God to bless you while you slay!
—Black and White.

ESTABLISHED 1900.

Issued every Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday during the season, July 1 to Sept. 1, at Old Orchard, Maine.

Terms for the season, by mail, Seventy-five cents. Single copies, 3 cents. Advertising rates made known on application. For sale at all news stands, by newsboys, and at office of publication. Correspondence is desired from residents and visitors relative to any matter of general interest to this resort. Communications must be signed by the real name and address of the writer, not necessarily for publication, but as a guarantee of good faith. Copy must be forwarded Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays, previous to date of publication.

The Old Orchard Mirror endeavors to advance the best interests and prosperity of Old Orchard Beach, to foster all enterprises looking to the betterment of this rapidly expanding and developing summer resort, and to promote the pleasure and welfare of the increasing thousands who sojourn here annually, from various quarters of the world. Our aim is to accomplish these objects by utilizing all agencies within the province of a public-spirited resort publication.

Old Orchard's Valuation.

The value of Old Orchard's real and personal estate has increased greatly during the past few years. When this town was set off from the city of Saco in 1883, the valuation was estimated at about $500,000, and for ten years there was no remarkable change in these figures, the policy having been to assess property at a low valuation, which kept the tax rate rather high.

After carefully revising the assessors' books a few days ago, the valuation figures were increased by many thousand dollars, and the great building boom of the past decade has brought them up to about the million mark. Even now property is not assessed highly, and the real value of Old Orchard property is undoubtedly fully $2,000,000.

Old Orchard ranks about ninth in valuation among the cities and towns in York County, and at the present rate of increase, it will not be many years before it will be several steps nearer the head of the list.

Here And There.

The enormous advantage to Maine through its summer tourists, is hardly appreciated by the natives. How quickly some of them would notice it if the business should leave suddenly, while they are idly holding their hands and clutching their purse strings lest a stray dollar should escape to advertise the state.—Casco Bay Breeze.

THE MIRROR thoroughly agrees in the opinion expressed by its contemporary.

The hotel proprietors are looking for about five more weeks of good business.

There is a good demand for cottages during the month of August.

Less than a week more of July, 1904.

The local trolley lines have been doing an excellent business during the present month.

The Canadians have been arriving in goodly numbers during the past week. Montreal, Toronto, Ottawa, Sherbrooke and other cities are well represented here.

A better system of street signs in Old Orchard would be greatly to the advantage of everyone here, both permanent residents and summer visitors.

There is an Old Orchard road of rather indefinite location, an Old Orchard street and an Old Orchard avenue, all within the town of Old Orchard.

There are but few who will deny that Old Orchard is the most noted and popular of Maine's summer resorts.

The permanent resident in this town is very frequently asked by the transient population:—"What do you find to do in the winter?" Winter seasons in Old Orchard are passed pretty much the same as in other places.

Summer tourists leave several million dollars in Maine each year. More thoroughly advertised, the receipts would amount to twice the present figures.

The new branch of the Atlantic Shore Line Railway from the Kennebunkport town house to Biddeford, is open for travel this week and it will afford summer visitors hereabouts an opportunity to take many new and attractive trolley trips. The trip will be much of the way through a dense forest and will afford charming views of landscape. At Biddeford connections may be made for Saco, Old Orchard, Portland and points beyond. The old trolley road gives a pleasant trip to Cape Porpoise, Kennebunk and Sanford, and the new branch with its connections will no doubt tend to greatly increase its patronage.

The weather has been somewhat unpleasant during the past few days, but we have been treated very fairly, considering the summer as a whole.

The number of Sunday visitors was comparatively small.

Ocean Park in Summer.

The following interesting article, entitled "Ocean Park in Summer," written by "Stanhope" (Miss Ruth Milliken), who passes the summer season at Ocean Park, appeared in The Morning Star:

When Nature dealt out her various glories, she most benevolently showered them upon a little stretch of land, on the Maine sea-coast, which is called Ocean Park. Here, without ceasing, the mighty Atlantic rolls its great billows onto the brown sands which glisten in the summer sunshine. The beach is dotted with many colored spots which, upon close examination, prove to be gay hats and dresses and sun-umbrellas owned by happy, care-free people who are enjoying the sea-breezes and beautiful landscape. Perhaps they are watching the manoeuvres of a group of porgy fishers as they lay their nets and haul them in; or it may be a number of innocent little white-sailed boats gliding along over the blue waters. Possibly it is merely the distant shores that jut out against the horizon and rest so calmly beneath the cloudlets that crown them. On the soft sands groups of children dig and build breastworks of massive structure which brace against the incoming tide only to be ruined and smoothed into nothingness.

Along the shore cozy cottages neighbor with each other in cheerful fashion, and out from them whiffs of happy laughter and true merriment wander. No doubt there is a crowd of young people playing games while the fudge is cooling, and surely on some piazza there is a band of ladies met to embroider. Of course with the round of news there are boxes of Peanutine and Velvet Molasses Kisses in circulation. Perhaps a pitcher of lemonade is at hand. Back from the shore dozens of cheerful cottages cluster together until the little settlement merges into the pine woods.

Here Nature has fitted up in grand style. She has carpets of green patterned with bright-red bunch-berries, fragrant checkerberry, blueberry bushes, partridge-berries, and cool green ferns. Overhead the whispering tree-tops form beautiful fresco against the blue of the heavens. From respectful distances giant pines gossip with each other and lovingly protect the treelings that surround their brawny trunks. There is always a grand chorus of birds chiming together in tones delicate and sweet. Occasionally a timid squirrel or chipmunk joins in. At Guild Park the pavilion and crude seats complete an ideal spot for picnickers to spend a few hours' outing.

Ocean Parkites make their own good times. At eleven o'clock in the forenoon Neptune is fully patronized by old and young. Then boys try athletic feats, girls run races, men shiver, and women scream. Three times a day the post-office is the center of attraction. "Going to the mail" is an event of importance. At nine A. M. a few people go, at eleven forty-five A. M. more people go, and at eight P. M. whole crowds of people go. While waiting for the mail to be distributed, they laugh, sing, stroll up Temple avenue, chat on the hotel steps, and patronize the pop-corn stand. Then everyone meets everyone else, and friendships are made which last a life-time. After the evening mail many seek the beach. Joss-sticks and bon-fires are built to keep away the mosquitoes, and, sad to relate, often fail.

Perhaps a crowd of young people are having a marshmallow-roast or a corn-roast. Then great slices of juicy water-melons are passed around, and with them go the college songs and popular ditties of the day. Perhaps three or four poles have been stuck into the sand and cords fastened from one to the other. Japanese lanterns are strung up and when the fire dies down these are lighted, and weird, enchanting shadows surround the revelers.

In the afternoon the playgrounds are lively with the boys, who are trying for honors in baseball or the athletic contests. On the tennis court "love" and "deuce" are shouted like common everyday words. In Temple Grove the little youngsters swing and laugh to their heart's content.

The first of August the Chautauqua Assembly opens, and then the feast of good things begins. Sermons, lectures, concerts, recitals, cantatas, receptions, spelling-matches, and all such things come along in quick succession. All are well attended, and all are certainly worthy of the applause that succeeds each number of the program. With the closing of the Assembly, people begin to leave Ocean Park, and gradually the fall and winter settles down upon this place so blessed by Nature.

STANHOPE.

Marketmen's Association.

The annual outing of the Lewiston and Auburn Marketmen's Association will be held here tomorrow. The party numbering about one hundred and fifty will arrive on the 9.05 train. A shore dinner will be served at eleven o'clock at Hotel Velvet, and the return to Lewiston will be made late in the day.

THE PICNIC GIRL.

The picnic season is at hand,
When to the music of the band,
With merry shout,
The girls go out
To get their pretty features tanned.

They wander to the woodlands, far
Off from the noisy trolley car,
And romp away
At tomboy play
And give the older girls a jar.

Or in their natty bathing suits
They wet their rosy tootsie toots,
Or on the sand
Come out and stand
And talk to some great horrid brutes.

Then speedily they don their clothes
And after lunch, you may suppose,
High in the swing
They sail and sing
And show the latest thing in hose.

And when the evening shades come down
They do not hurry back to town,
But sit and spoon
Beneath the moon
With dandy, yokel, dude or clown.

Man's days in life for joy are o'er
When picnics are to him a bore.
Give me a maid
Who's not afraid
Of bugs, and I will ask no more.

Looked Suspicious.

He—Nature never makes a mistake.
She—Pray, how do you account for yourself?

Get the Right Doctor.

When love sick and in blank despair,
And no relief you see,
Don't telephone the doctor
Unless he's a D. D.

PERT PARAGRAPHS.

It is often the case when the girl who thinks she is musical deserves it that the piano gets the punishment.

The War Correspondent.

When you see it in the report of the war correspondent, it may be so and it may not. The chances are about six to one and a nickel and a cent to the other.

The war correspondent likes nothing better than facts, and that he may be certain of their quality he makes them at home. By this means they fit in where he may want to use them without having the edges filed off or the corners rounded.

It is a mistake to think that the war correspondent has a prejudice against the truth, for he will readily use it if it fits in as well as something else, provided he does not have to go out of his way to get it. Of course if the truth is elusive or a man with a gun is standing guard over it the war correspondent always has something on hand equally good to use in its place.

Let us not judge the war correspondent too harshly. Remember that he is being paid money for what he does.

A Quiet Event.

"The doctor says I must avoid excitement."

"Go out once a week and watch a yacht race."

The Modern Way.

I want to be a granger
And with the grangers ride;
Upon a three horse sulky plow
Across the fields to glide.
To ride upon the mower,
The reaper and beside
The planter and the binder
To ride and ride and ride.

A Full Supply.

"His wife gave him a piece of her mind."

"She'll never miss it. She has plenty left."

Thomas Marks and wife of Lachine, P. Q., are at the Irving for the season. They have passed the summer at this house for many years.

Eugene Crepeau and daughter, Beatrice, and Miss Eugenia Feliatrecault of Arthabaska, P. Q., are registered at the Velvet for the season.

Mr. Abrahams and family of Boston are spending the season at the Velvet. The family has been here some time, and Mr. Abrahams arrived Saturday.

The Heintzemann brothers of Boston are at the Lawrence on a visit to their mother and two sisters, who are spending the season there. They will remain several weeks.

The guests at the Abbott held a delightful dancing party Saturday evening. Mrs. M. C. Whall of Auburndale, Mass., and Miss Cormack of North Bay, Ont., presided at the piano.

J. A. Archambault of Montreal, whose stage name is Henri Palmerie, is registered at the Montreal. He is director, artist and leading man at the Theatre National Francais, Montreal.

G. F. Barker of Montreal is registered at the Atlantic. Several years ago Mr. Barker was a regular patron of this house.

Dr. W. H. Hawkins and wife of Lewiston are registered at the Irving for a short stop off from an extended automobile tour.

Edward Kerr of Montreal, a well known traveling salesman, is again at the Irving. He has spent his vacation here for several years.

The Misses Provost and Bromley of Montreal have arrived at the Irving for their usual summer stay. They have been at this house for several seasons.

Harriet J. Haddell of Montreal has returned to the Atlantic for her annual summer stay. This is her sixth season at this house.

Mr. A. Snell of Montreal, an old patron of the Atlantic, has returned for his usual summer stay. He is accompanied this year by his mother, father and sisters.

William Minto and family of Westmount, Can., are at the Montreal for another season. They are old patrons of the house. Mr. Minto is secretary and treasurer of his native town.

Thos. J. Feeney, wife and three children are registered at the Ocean house and occupying pleasant rooms at Ocean cottage. Mr. Feeney has been a valued reporter for the Boston Herald for the last thirteen years, and is a brother of Mayor J. P. Feeney of Woburn. With the Feeney party are Miss Mary E. Flynn, sister of Mrs. Feeney, Miss Margaret A. Feeney, sister of Mr. Feeney, Miss Julia F. Holland, a teacher in the public schools of Boston, and Miss Frances Healey. The little Feeneys, Thos. J. Jr., Mary and Margaret are bright and interesting children. The residence of the Feeneys is at Woburn, Mass., and the other members of the party reside in Winchester, Mass.

Under Difficulties.

"Do you keep hens?"
"I try to, but there is a colored settlement a quarter of a mile below my place."

Her New Diamond Ring.

Do you notice that I'm smiling?
Rather broadly, it is true,
And my air is quite beguiling,
Although that is nothing new.
I have practiced manners fetching
Till the limit I am stretching.

But the wherefore of my smile is Something really good to see,
And my temper all the while is Joyous, happy, glad and free,
For I've captured such a treasure,
Just to see it is a pleasure.

Now my days are spent in scheming
For a splendid, gay trousseau.
One might think that I am dreaming
Of my handsome, natty beau.
But I'm not; that thing is stupid—
Yes, it is, in spite of Cupid.

No gloves now my white hands cover,
And the hands quite busy are.
Here, they flutter; there, they hover;
On the left hand, like a star,
Gleams a diamond, gayly flaunting,
Proudly my engagement vaunting.

Men there are with songs unsung,
Strains that ne'er escape the tongue;
Broken aims and dreams that lie
Hidden from the careless eye;
Secret, passionate, deep enshrined,
Undeveloped, thwarted, blind—
Thus the world's unchanging way
Since the world began.

Shall such some day rise and take
Meed denied by earth's mistake?
No more waiting, spurned of fate
Shall they come, though it be late,
And by strange paths to their own—
No more despised failures known—
On some other kindlier shore,
Aliens nevermore?

An Animal Story For Little Folks

Mary's Little Ram

Of course you all remember about the dear little schoolgirl whose mother was not well "up" on names and so called her little daughter just plain Mary and who had the little white, woolly lamb that seemed to insist on going everywhere Mary chose to go?

And how one day, when the lamb wandered into the village school and raised such a fuss that there was pretty sure to be a vacation if things continued, the schoolmaster arrived with a baseball bat and gently requested his visitor to "Shoo?"

But you never heard what that lamb said to himself as he went limping

INTO THE POND HE WENT, HEAD FIRST. down the road, nursing the spot where the bat hit him. It was something like this:

"You just wait, you mean old thing! I shan't always be such a little, helpless thing. Mother says my horns will grow some day, and I shall be a fine ram and can bat with my head. Then I'll watch for you and get even."

And of course, as the days went by, Mary's little lamb became Mary's powerful ram.

Each day the schoolmaster would walk down the road, carrying his lunch box, and each day Mr. Ram would say to the little lambkins: "See him! He's the fellow I told you all about; mean as dirt. I just wish he'd come over in this lot just a little minute only."

Then one day the schoolmaster was collecting flowers for the botany class and spied some iris growing at the edge of the fence and began to pick the purple flowers. Mary's ram saw him. "Watch me!" he cried to the admiring lambkins. Putting his head between his feet, he started toward the master with an automobile speed. The master did not see him.

"Bang!" they came together. Over the fence went the master, and into the pond he went, head first.

The master rose, dripping and scared. "Excuse me," said the ram. "Teachers often need to be taught. Good morning!"—Pittsburg Dispatch.

Aliens.

Some must take and others pay,
Some until the judgment day
Solitary, waiting stay—
Thus the world's unchanging way
Since the world began.

Men there are who never sip
Warm red wine of fellowship,
Fearing lest the cup pass by,
While another drains it dry,
Gayly uses, gayly breaks
What his brother's heart blood makes—
Thus the world's unchanging way
Since the world began.

When a man gets ahead of a woman she generally lets him, so she can do things behind his back.

If the way to reach a man's heart is through his stomach, the way to reach his so called intellect is through his pocketbook.

Begin Now!

You will read in song or story
Of the men of sturdy will
Who have fought for gold or glory
And have scaled achievement's hill,
But to make the application
And to draw the moral true
If you'd win that lofty station,
Start today! It's up to you!

A SUMMER & SHOWER

A HOT summer day, the ground parched from lack of rain, the roads dusty, and owing to the heat, exertion becomes wearying, burdensome, exhausting.

The wind blows from the south, and, as the day wears on and the heat increases, black clouds are seen rising in the northwest. Soon the roll of distant thunder is heard, while the clouds rise higher in the sky. There is a hasty closing of doors and windows; travellers on the highway quicken their pace; fowls seek their place of shelter; the trees sway in the freshening breeze; the sun is darkened and all nature seems in a state of perturbation.

The rain is seen in the distance; enveloping a forest in its misty veil, sweeping across the fields, it comes pattering on the roof and dashing against the window pane. What a din of thunder! Crash after crash, while the gloom of the storm is illuminated by a flash of lightning. Tiny streams of water are soon running in driveways, and pools are seen in little hollows. The reverberations of thunder continue and the lightning flashes at intervals—a grand display of the power of Nature's forces.

Gradually the rain ceases, the thunder is heard in the distance. The clouds break away. What a scene of beauty the sun shines on! Every leaf is fresh and green, the daisies gladly lift their heads. The buttercups are aglow in sunlight among the grass—beautiful blending of green and gold! The air is cooler. It has been freed from dust and impurities by the force of the sudden storm. Life seems brighter; exercise is again a pleasure. All vegetation starts to newer life, and the birds make the woodlands ring with their carols of joy.

The rain and the sunshine! Each is a blessing given freely for all; no man so rich or great as to be above the need of these; no man so poor that some drops of mercy may not fall for him, or some gleam of Heaven's brightness shine across his pathway.

THE STROLLER

John H. Bowie of Gardiner has been passing a few days at Old Orchard.

Mrs. E. E. Wentworth of Sanford, accompanied by her daughter, has been visiting in town.

Mrs. Edgar E. Norton and her daughter, Genie, of Gardiner are passing a part of the summer here.

Mr. and Mrs. Jesse C. Connor of Pittsfield, Me., are passing the summer at the cottage at Ocean Park.

Mr. Miller, the photographer at Baker's Studio, will do your group work at your residence or on the beach.

A new telephone was placed Wednesday in F. A. Sidelinger & Co's., real estate and mining offices in the Porter block.

Carpenters and painters are still at work on W. G. Smith's building at Seaside Park, putting on the finishing touches.

Mrs. George Wilson of Biddeford has returned from her cottage at Fort Hill, and will spend the remainder of the summer at Old Orchard.

Mrs. Walter Thomas of Somerville, whose husband has charge of the State Armory located at West Somerville, is occupying the Webber cottage near the Revere house.

Mrs. Mary A. Wentworth and son, Harry H., of Saco are staying here for the season at the Butler residence on Old Orchard street. Mrs. Wentworth and Mrs. Charles E. Butler are sisters.

Mrs. James A. Smith is having first-class patronage at her hair dressing parlors on Old Orchard street. Facial and scalp treatment carefully attended to. A chiropodist in constant attendance.

Charles A. Breck, superintendent of schools of Methuen, Mass., has returned home for a short stay, to complete preparations for the work of the coming school year. He will return about the middle of August.

The new arrivals at Mrs. S. E. Keniston's cottage "Summer Villa" are: Edwin E. Copeland and Miss Sarah E. Copeland of Malden; Mrs. Minnie Bruce and daughter, Winnie, and Miss Mary Rongane of Somerville.

Miss Agnes Flynn of Lewiston is passing the summer here.

Mrs. S. H. Watson of Sanford has been here the past week.

Miss S. H. Cutter of Westbrook has been visiting here recently.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Trickey of South Portland have been passing a week in town.

Miss Emma Waldron of Farmington, N. H., has been visiting at Ocean Park recently.

Hon. E. T. Willson, a prominent business man or Farmington, N. H., and Mr. E. H. Thomas, editor of the Farmington News, have visited here and at Ocean Park this week.

G. L. Gilman of Reading, Mass., is a conductor on one of the local trains again this summer, this being his second season here. Mr. Gilman runs between Boston and Reading during the winter, and has many friends among the traveling public.

Two delivery teams are now used by the local American Express Company, the second one having been put on Tuesday, which is a little earlier than was done last season. Ralph N. Perry of Saco is the driver of this team.

Mrs. Charles Messer of East Boston has been visiting her mother, Mrs. Hezekiah Chase, Central avenue, during the past two weeks. Mr. and Mrs. Messer were here for several years, Mr. Messer having been a conductor on one of the local trains.

Did you ever stop to think what a tax it is upon the eyes to take note of every dot and line on this printed page? The eyes are the hardest worked of any of the organs of our body and should be cared for by a specialist. Dr. Littlefield of Saco is prepared to give your eyes a scientific examination free.

Rev. Fred Winslow Adams, pastor of a Methodist church in Schnectady, N. Y., with Mrs. Adams, who is a talented vocalist, and their child, has been visiting his parents, Rev. and Mrs. T. P. Adams at the Campground for several days. He will leave within a short time for Lake Wilton to pass the summer.

Though he is called the iceman
Because he handles it,
He should be called the price man
Because the name would fit.

PERT PARAGRAPHS.

People who are honest and industrious do not have to proclaim it.

When a child is not constantly overstepping the bounds of parental authority, consult a physician.

It is lucky for some people that they never have an idea, for they wouldn't know what to do with it.

A counterfeit dollar is apt to be affected with poor circulation.

The reason some children are so mean is because they have made an injudicious selection of relatives.

When children quarrel they hold the mirror of nature up to their parents.

To prove that time is money just reflect that you can't have a time without money.

Plenty of people would be glad to go in training for the strenuous life of a millionaire.

PERT PARAGRAPHS.

A tramp might be called a necessity in that he knows no law.

The hired man does not see any beauty in the sunrise, but he does observe a restful calm in the sunset.

Some men run an automobile about as gracefully as a city man milks a cow.

Baldheaded men would not contribute very liberally to a fund to buy spiked shoes for the flies.

If one half of the world knew how the other half lived it would come to the conclusion that it had a snap after all.

Drawing on the imagination is not quite as satisfactory as drawing on the bank if a man happens to be nungry.

Where there is much smoke there is apt to be a drummer's convention in session.

An honest man is the noblest work of an election board.

She Caught Him at It.

He looked around with careful glance,
Then shook his head and sighed.
Again he cast his eyes askance
As though he'd like to hide.
He leaned against the back yard gate
And seemed to muse and meditate.

He felt within his inmost soul
A most consuming wish
To seize some bait, his fishing pole,
And hike away to fish;
But still he lingered round the lot
As if he could not leave the spot.

But, finally, with look intent,
He gathered up his lines,
And riverward the man was bent,
If one could read the signs.
It seemed that he'd made up his mind
To do just as he felt inclined.

Just then a woman's voice called "Jim!"
Just that word "Jim!" it said,
But, my! how it affected him!
He to the wood pile fled,
And there he seized the saw and buck
And sawed and sawed and blamed his luck.

Brought Her to Time.

"How is Charley coming on with that girl who insisted that he must do some heroic deed before she would marry him?"

"All right; they are engaged now."

"Did he perform some deed of valor?"

"No, he began to flirt with another woman."

Injured His Line.

"Talk about er hot campaign injurin' trade, dis quiet campaign is going to ruin our business."

"Dat's right. No free drinks in sight, and if it keeps on votes will not bring more dan two bits."

Their Annual Outing.

City Missionary Gustave G. Hoerl of Biddeford is giving a large number of the children under his charge their annual outing here today.

They reported at the mission room, Alfred street, Biddeford at 8.30 this morning and at 9 o'clock took the electric cars for Old Orchard, free transportation having been furnished.

Mr. Hoerl has provided for the children a day of enjoyment which they will long remember. He expresses great gratitude at the readiness of help in his endeavor to cast a ray of sunshine into many young lives. The day's pleasure includes a visit to the pier which is always open to Mr. Hoerl and his large family, through the benevolence of the management.

Donations include a 14-pound ham from the employees of Armour & Co., ten gallons of ice cream from Mrs. J. N. Coffin and 40 loaves of bread from G. G. Calderwood, Biddeford.

The Mirror on Sale.

THE MIRROR is on sale at the following places: Armstrong's and J. L. Scamman's news stands, Old Orchard house, Irving house, Ocean Park Reading Room, Bay View house, and W. L. Streeter's, Saco. Also by newsboys, and at the office of publication, Porter block, opposite the depot.

The Old Orchard Mirror.

ESTABLISHED 1900.

Issued every Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday during the season, July 1 to Sept. 1, at Old Orchard, Maine.

Terms for the season, by mail, Seventy-five cents. Single copies, 3 cents. Advertising rates made known on application. For sale at all news stands, by newsboys, and at office of publication. Correspondence is desired from residents and visitors relative to any matter of general interest to this resort. Communications must be signed by the real name and address of the writer, not necessarily for publication, but as a guarantee of good faith. Copy must be forwarded Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays, previous to date of publication.

The Old Orchard Mirror endeavors to advance the best interests and prosperity of Old Orchard Beach, to foster all enterprises looking to the betterment of this rapidly expanding and developing summer resort, and to promote the pleasure and welfare of the increasing thousands who sojourn here annually, from various quarters of the world. Our aim is to accomplish these objects by utilizing all agencies within the province of a public-spirited resort publication.

Telephone Exchange.

The New England Telephone & Telegraph Company have made arrangements for a local telephone exchange, which is already in working order, the central station being located in the Baker Photo Studio on Old Orchard street.

Several subscribers to the service have been secured, and it is expected that others will be obtained during the season.

This new departure will greatly facilitate the telephone service, both locally and in long distance communications, and will be appreciated by the large number of people who have occasion frequently to use the telephone.

The Trolley Cars.

There doesn't now seem to be nearly so much opposition to electric car lines as there did a few years ago, especially at summer resorts, where such conveniences were supposed by some people to be a great detriment to the best interests of these places.

The trolley car has long since demonstrated its great usefulness, and its advent into new localities is now hailed with delight instead of being met with strenuous opposition. It has been seen what an important factor this method of transportation has been in the development and progress of every community where it has been introduced.

The electric roads traverse the country in every direction and even in Maine several new lines are now springing into existence yearly. The Portland Railroad Company extended its service to Saco and Old Orchard within a year or two, and this week the Atlantic Shore Line was opened from Biddeford to Kennebunkport, greatly increasing the transportation service throughout this section. The expansion of electric roads in this part of the State has been phenomenal during the past decade, and many out of the way places have been made easily accessible.

It is now possible to travel from Brunswick to Boston by electric cars, with the exception of a few miles between Cape Porpoise and York Beach, and this gap will, no doubt, be closed within a short time.

Extended trolley trips are very frequently taken by tourists these days, and much enjoyment is found in this mode of travel.

Here And There.

The word "days" in the editorial on "Old Orchard's Valuation," in THE MIRROR Tuesday, referring to the revision of the assessor's books should have been years.

Many of the smaller hotels here are filled with guests, every room having been taken for several days.

Not very much horseback riding thus far this season.

There are numerous fine croquet grounds here, and this game is a favorite pastime with many of our visitors.

Wouldn't you like to know how many guests Old Orchard could accommodate, crowded to its limit? It would surely require several thousand people to accomplish this, for the amount of room is increased amazingly when cots are placed in the parlors, attics and hallways.

Many miss the coming of the Salvation Army, which had put in its annual appearance here for many years up to the season of 1903.

Once in a while a straggler from the backwoods will arrive in town and vehemently assert that Old Orchard is a slow place.

The political pot is beginning to get warm. It will be very torrid within a few weeks.

It is fortunate, considering the scarcity of beef even at high prices, that there is a good supply of vegetables and fish in the market.

The indoor amusements take the lead in rainy weather.

Several tennis tournaments will be played here during August.

The Merry-Go-Round at Seaside Park is well patronized, especially by the children.

Old Orchard offers many excellent opportunities for the investment of capital.

More united effort and less envy and jealousy among the business people of Old Orchard would result in much more satisfactory conditions.

The time has now arrived when some are saying that their business was never so good as this season.

About two weeks more and the height of the season will have been reached.

The frisky sea-nymphs are here in bewildering variety.

Republican Caucus.

The Republicans of Old Orchard will hold a caucus at the town hall this evening at 8.15 o'clock, to choose four delegates to attend the county convention, to be held at Alfred one week from today.

OCEAN PARK

Had we poured oil on the troubled waters of our swamps early this spring, there would be more news for this column. As it is the mosquitoes hold the monopoly of the place. We would gladly chronicle their departure, but we see no immediate prospect of such an event.

Among the summer guests at the Park are: Mrs. Page and daughter of Providence, R. I.; Mrs. Hastings and two daughters of Palmer, Mass., all staying at the Bassett cottage.

Mrs. Houston with her little dog "Skip" is at the Nautilus on the sea wall,

The Bowens of Lowell, Mass., have the Davis cottage on Randall avenue.

The Misses McClench of Hallowell are at the Brown cottage on the sea wall.

Miss Florence Lowell of Auburn, Bates 1900, and Miss Ethel Vickery of Pittsfield, Bates, 1901, are staying at Sunshine Lodge for a week or two

Mrs. Berdine and her daughters, Miss Agnes and Miss Annie, with Miss Dorothy Marshall, all of Cambridge, Mass., are spending the summer at the Goodwin cottage. Mr. Berdine and Mr. Marshall spent Sunday here.

Miss Lena Baldwin, who has been the guest of Miss Olive Sullivan, Wellesley, '03, for the past two weeks, returned to her home in Foxboro, Mass., on Wednesday.

Miss Ruth M. Milliken, who has been spending ten days in Northfield, Mass., attending the Sunday school convention, returned to the Park on Tuesday.

Miss Hattie Milliken has returned from the Young People's Missionary conference at Silver Bay, Lake George.

It is a pleasure to welcome again Miss Stevens of Boston, superintendent of one of the departments of the Berkeley street Y. W. C. A. She is enjoying her first summer in her new home on Colby avenue.

The Butlers of Boston are again occupying the Tasker cottage.

Paul G. Favor, A. B., Dartmouth, '04, is as usual spending the summer with his grandmother. Mr. Favor has been laid up with the rheumatism for the past two months.

The Folsom house among the pines is nearly completed. It is a very attractive place with its cupola, broad verandas and electric lights.

Our faithful beach train gave out one day last week. Some people found it dusty walking.

The bathing is unusually good this year.

Miss Howe, Miss Louise Howe, Miss E. A. Partridge of Waltham, Mass., and Miss Helen Warren of South Acton, chaperoned by Mrs. Howe, are enjoying a short stay at the Sullivan cottage on the edge of the grove.

Forest fires filled the air with their fragrance before the rain.

You are not in style these days if you don't take your pail and go up into the blueberry fields for at least an hour each day—a good way to get the so much coveted "beach tan."

We see a vast improvement in the grounds beside the reading room. Neat little gardens are outlined in big white shells.

On Wednesday afternoon, July 20th, Miss Etta Costello of Calcutta, India, gave a very interesting and instructive talk on her work in India. She had with her a collection of Indian curios. The other speakers were Mrs. Tilly of Providence, R. I., and Mrs. Thomas of Saco, Mrs. White of New Hampton, N. H., and Mrs. Buzzell sang.

On Saturday evening was held the opening reception of the Ocean Park Assembly. Tho' the weather was inclement, many attended and enjoyed Professor Davis' excellent readings. Very neat little autograph books were presented to all.

Last Sunday Rev. E. A. Wilson of Dover, N. H., was the preacher of the morning, Rev. L. W. Raymond conducting the evening service.

The Ministers' Institute began on Monday. The course which continues this week promises to be a pleasant and profitable one. Rev. W. A. Bartlett, D.D., of Chicago and President G. C. Chase, LL.D., of Bates College, gave the opening lectures. The following lectures were given by Rev. H. E. Wyman of Midnapore, India, and Hon. G. F. Mosher, LL.D., editor of The Morning Star of Boston.

On August 1 the C. L. S. C. course of lectures, concerts and entertainments begins. The season tickets which include everything during the summer are $3.00. The $2.00 tickets are good only until the 14th of August. For those who are to be here a short time only, $1.00 tickets may be obtained to last a week beginning at any time.

The last of a series of concerts under the supervision of Mrs. Kendrie was given Friday evening. The music room was as usual decorated with ferns and the seating capacity was insufficient for the large demand. The programme was unusually good. The evening opened with a bright and catchy selection by the orchestra, followed by a piano solo, "Goodnight," by Miss Lolo Stevens, a solo, "Where the Sweet Magnolias Bloom," by Mr. Sidney Barton of Lowell, Mass., and another selection by the orchestra. Then Mrs. Briggs, who was charmingly gowned in white, gave us a story of the winsome Sister Alice of the Shaker Settlement and was warmly applauded. Miss Florence Parsons gave a delightful piano solo, followed by an exquisite rendering of Raff's Cavatina by Mr. Frank Kendrie, ably accompanied by Miss Parsons. Mr. Barton sang again, and Miss Fay gave "The Last Rose of Summer" with variations. Mrs. Briggs read again and the evening closed with another selection by the orchestra.

Don't forget the college social on next Monday afternoon.

Little Kindnesses.

If you were toiling up a weary hill,
Bearing a load beyond your strength to bear,

Straining each nerve untiringly, and still Stumbling and losing foothold here and there,

And each one passing by would do so much

As give one upward lift and go his way,
Would not the slight reiterated touch
Of help and kindness lighten all the day?

If you were breasting a keen wind, which tossed

And buffeted and chilled you as you strove,

Till, baffled and bewildered quite, you lost
The power to see the way, and aim to move,

And one, if only for a moment's space,
Gave you a shelter from the bitter blast,
Would you not find it easier to face
The storm again when the brief rest was past?

There is no little and there is no much,
We weigh and measure and define in vain.

A look, a word, a light responsive touch,
Can be a minister of joy to pain.

A man can die of hunger walled in gold,
A crumb may quicken hope to stronger breath,

And every day we give or we withhold
Some little thing which tells for life or death.

Her Reward.

"The brute!" exclaimed the bride of a year.

"Have a cup of tea, dear," said her fondest friend, "and tell me all about it. What has he been doing now?"

"You know I told you he has been encouraging me in learning to cook, has praised my nice little entrees, takes me to the theater as an occasional reward and all that."

"No good ground for a separation in that, I imagine," said the dearest friend, with slight sarcasm.

"Your sympathy is worse than your tea," retorted the bride, who was obviously out of sorts. "But I'm going to tell you anyway. Not long ago he promised me a surprise if I would turn out a nice dinner cooked all by myself, from soup to coffee. Last night I did so. Everything pleased him."

"My pet," he remarked, "I believe I promised you a surprise on an occasion like this."

"Yes, darling," I answered. "Oh, do tell me what it is?"

"I shall discharge the cook at the end of the month," he said.—New York Press.

Accident on Electric Road.

A collision occurred between an electric car of the Biddeford & Saco Railroad company, driven by Harlan Hanson and a milk team, owned and driven by Joseph E. Grant of the Buxton road, Saco, early Wednesday morning, near the corner of Union and Somerset avenues, Old Orchard, in which the team was smashed and Mr. Grant received several injuries.

It was the first trip of the car in the morning from Old Orchard to Biddeford and the car had turned into Union avenue and proceeded a few hundred yards when the collision occurred. The motor-man was running the car at a moderate rate of speed when he saw the team of Mr. Grant directly in front of the car on the track. He yelled to the driver and immediately applied the brake and also reversed the power in his endeavor to stop the car, but was unable to do so in time and it struck the milk wagon about in the middle of the body, throwing Mr. Grant to the ground. The boy, who was on the back end of the team, was thrown in the air and was not badly hurt, one of his arms being bruised. He is the son of Rev. D. F. Faulkner of Saco, whose family are at Old Orchard for the summer.

The milk cart was pretty generally smashed up and about 45 cans of milk were spilled, while the horse escaped any injury.

Mr. Grant received a cut on the head and his body and legs are somewhat bruised, but no bones were broken.

The accident happened at about 5.20 o'clock, just below the residence of E. M. Yates off Union avenue.

Marketmen's Annual Outing.

The annual outing of the Lewiston and Auburn Marketmen's Association took place here Wednesday and was attended by 250 visitors, all having a most enjoyable time.

Shortly after 6 o'clock in the morning the Lewiston marketmen met at Lewiston city park where they formed in line and, headed by Payne's Second Regiment band, marched to the Auburn station and boarded the special marketmen's train, which left for Old Orchard at just 7.25.

At Old Orchard an informal program was carried out. The pier was hired for the day by the marketmen and their guests. Dancing began immediately after the excursionists arrived and continued during the day as desired. A shore dinner was served for them at Hotel Velvet.

The committee of arrangements was as follows: Colonel A. B. Nealey, A. M. Penley, A. W. Peables, C. H. Cloutier, Regis Provost, E. Condreault, H. E. Vosmus, E. Patry and John W. Sturgis.

The party after their fine holiday left for the return trip at 5 o'clock in the afternoon.

The Bates Meetings.

The sixteenth Pentecostal conference of Christian Workers is well under way at the campground, very interesting and well attended meetings being held under the leadership of Rev. Dr. Bates, with other noted clergymen.

Friday evening at seven o'clock Dr. Bates will preach on the subject, The Promised of Today.

HOTEL PERSONALS

Frederick H. Connor of Bangor is a guest at the Pullman on Staples street.

Mr. and Mrs. S. W. Moran of Brookline, Mass., who are well known at Old Orchard, have been staying at Pine cottage this week.

Mrs. H. F. Hanson of Montreal is at the Montreal for the season. Mrs. Hanson is one of the most talented singers of her native city.

Mrs. Carl Ludwig of Montreal has returned to the Everett for the season. She has passed several summers at this house. Mr. Ludwig will join her here sometime in August.

C. F. Bell and F. E. Martin of Boston are at the Irving for a stay of several weeks. They are popular young men, and everyone is enjoying their stay. They come here from a short visit at Lake Winnepesaukee, N. H.

Frank P. Ritchie of Montreal is at the Everett for the season, being an old patron of the house. He recently had as his guests there a party of Montreal people, including the Misses Robinson, Peters, Slack, Messrs. W. G. Slack, W. J. Carmichael and family, and W. H. Thompson. The party is staying at Willard Beach. Messrs. Carmichael and Slack are connected with the Bell Telephone Co., at the Montreal branch.

Miss J. McDonald of Lynn has arrived at the Irving for the season.

I. N. Goldsmith and family of Roxbury are again domiciled at the Aldine.

A. L. Mellen, a retired merchant of Lawrence, Mass., is registered at the Aldine.

Dr. J. Acharette, a well known physician of Montreal, is registered at the Lawrence.

Miss L. S. Cleaves, proprietor of the Arlington at Kennebunkport, was registered at the Everett this week.

S. H. Lyon of New York, who is registered at the Irving, is an actor of some note. He was located at Boston's great Howard Athenaeum last winter.

John V. Walker of Denver, Col., is making a stay of several weeks at the Aldine. He is a young man with exceptional ability as a vocalist, and his singing always draws a crowd around the piano.

Another of those pleasant little entertainments, for which the Irving is noted, took place at that house last Tuesday evening. The parlor was filled with guests and friends who were entertained with a delightful programme of music and readings. Arrangements are being made for an entertainment and dance to be held in the dining room this evening.

EXPLANATORY.

This is one of the most interesting mining propositions ever presented to New England investors. Through the recent death of the former owner of the "Jeffries' Claims," (consisting of 4 producing mines), the property reverted to the only heir, a resident of Portland, Me. The above syndicate closed negotiations for this mining property and are rapidly making arrangements to resume work and shipping which was discontinued only last December, 1903. Extensive operations have been conducted in these mines the past five years, and the last 50 tons of ore shipped to the smelter, 14 miles away, returned $136.50 per ton in gold and copper. The ore already blocked out will reach into the hundreds of thousands of tons. Any one of the 4 mining claims is a stupendous mining proposition in itself. The dyke of ore measures 80 feet wide and extends over four-fifths of a mile long covering four foot hills of the Bradshaw Mountains in the World-famous "Verde Belt." No such mineral wealth has ever been discovered in any other section in the country. In a few brief weeks the Bradshaw Mountain R. R. will reach our property, and we have letters from smelters desiring to purchase all our ore because of its high grade; and we have other evidences to prove beyond contradiction, this to be one of the most magnificent mining proposition of recent years. Scores of visitors have already investigated, and subscribed for stock at 50c per share. The allotment is growing smaller and is very limited. Everybody is invited to investigate, also use our Information Department to look up the value of their present holdings in stocks or bonds.

Ferry Beach Park.

This summer resort is more lively this season than for years. The Universalist association under the management of Rev. Q. H. Shinn, D.D., has bought the hotel and it is now open and nearly full of boarders. Among the guests are Rev. C. G. Miller and family, Jamaica Plain, Mass.; Rev. F. T. Nelson and family, Salem, N. Y.; Rev. Oluf Tandberg and wife, Gardiner, Me. There are guests from the South and West. All of these people with new arrivals have come for the Universalist summer meetings which will begin next Saturday in the beautiful grove near the hotel. Several tents have been erected near the hotel for the accommodation of guests. The Yates cottage is filled with a party of Universalists from New Bedford, Mass., in charge of their pastor, Rev. O. Howard Perkins.

The rooms at the hotel are being sold for $100 each and they become the property of the owners. They can be used or rented or sold, subject to certain rules of the association. About ten of the twenty rooms at the hotel have been sold. Mrs. Mary E. Dutton of Boston is looking after the restaurant part of the hotel and she is giving fine satisfaction.

Been Here for Many Years.

Mr. and Mrs. James W. Hill of Manchester, N. H., who are among our best known summer visitors, returned here the first of the week for their annual sojourn, which usually terminates about September 1.

Mr. and Mrs. Hill have been coming to Old Orchard regularly for nearly a quarter of a century, this being their twenty-second season, we believe. They have a wide circle of friends, who are always pleased to greet them on their return to this delightful place, for none are more agreeable entertainers and congenial companions.

Mr. Hill is one of Manchester's leading business men, and for many years has very successfully conducted one of the most extensive department stores in New England.

He is a student of the problems of capital and labor, and as an employer of skilled labor for many years, has always been most considerate of his employes, and taken great interest in their welfare, with mutually beneficial results.

Standing Invitation.

Visitors at the beach are invited to call at the offices of the Consolidated United Verde Jr., Mining Corporation, whose offices are in Porter's Block, Railroad square, and thoroughly investigate the proposition of the above corporation any day or evening. (See ad this issue.)

Also through the information department visitors may have free access to reliable data of any securities, listed or unlisted, dealt in on any stock exchange or otherwise, embracing over 75,000 stocks and bonds. Those desiring to investigate some of their holdings will be interested in looking up the real value of the same, gratis.

That love is better than spite,
And a neighbor than a spy;

That the rulers must obey;
That the givers shall increase;
That Duty lights the way
For the beautiful feet of Peace,

And that somewhere beyond the stars
Is a love that is better than fate.

The Dennett Residence

ONE of the most beautiful and costly of the many attractive and finely appointed residences in Old Orchard, is that owned and occupied by Mrs. Flora J. Dennett, which is very pleasantly located at the Highlands, off and desirable one in every particular. It is spacious, well arranged and contains all the most modern and scientific appliances. It is situated on a commanding elevation, from which vantage point a grand view may be obtained of the entire Saco bay for miles around and in every direction the prospect is excellent. The surroundings are in keeping with the fine quality of the residence, there being numerous shade trees and a spacious lawn that always indicate how much careful attention is Extremes Meet.

The article in THE MIRROR of July 28, entitled, "The Region for Tourists," emphasizes the fact that the world is a "wee bit place," after all, and that nearly every part of it pays tribute to the Maine coast in summer. It also recalls a series of happenings, early in the season, which seemed to some of us rather curious, not merely because so many localities were represented, but also so many professions and interests, in so short a time.

the West, who has large business interests which have taken him abroad many times, called and the conversation was almost exclusively of work in the Orient in which all the participants are intensely interested. Sunday, a flying visit was made by a professor in Howard University, Washington, D. C., the first colored man, we are told, who has been appointed, by the President, on the Board of Charities of the District of Columbia. Monday, a Doctor of Divinity from Michigan arrived. He had been

RESIDENCE OF MRS. F. J. DENNETT, WASHINGTON AVENUE

Washington avenue. This valuable place a half-tone illustration of which appears in this issue of THE MIRROR, was constructed several years ago and was one of the first of the more expensive and substantial houses to be erected at Old Orchard, a most worthy example having been set when this superior class of buildings began to come into existence.

Nothing was left undone to make the Dennett residence a most convenient devoted to keeping them in first-class condition.

Mrs. Dennett is one of our best known townswomen and largest property owners, and has occupied this residence for several years, both summer and winter.

THE MIRROR doesn't now recall a better example of the more desirable and substantial class of residences at Old Orchard, for permanent occupancy, than the one just described.

The inmates of a certain cottage at Ocean Park, received, among other callers, on a Friday morning, the wife of a physician "Up in Maine," herself a skilled musician. In the afternoon, Massachusetts was represented by two ladies, one of whom was a young woman lawyer, a graduate of the Boston University Law School, on whom several degrees have been conferred since her graduation. Saturday, a gentleman from travelling in the South, and told of an educated and christianized man, whom he met, who was once a cannibal in a heathen land. That same evening, there came to call two people from the same city in Michigan where lived the Doctor of Divinity, and they were greatly surprised to meet in Maine. The newcomers were a banker and his wife—she a fine dramatic reader, and both active—

THE STROLLER

John T. McGuire of West Grand avenue went to Worcester Friday afternoon.

Mr. Miller, the photographer at Baker's Studio, will do your group work at your residence or on the beach.

Mrs. Charles Messer, who has been visiting her mother, Mrs. H. Chase, during the past two weeks, returned to her home in East Boston Friday afternoon.

The King's Daughters of the Congress street Methodist church, Portland, are having an outing with Miss Emma Randall at her cottage at the campground this afternoon. The members took the 1.15 car from Preble street, Portland, arriving here about 2.30 o'clock.

Mr. and Mrs. John C. Miles returned to Old Orchard the first of the week from their winter home in Los Gatos, Cal., where they have been for about five months, and they are now occupying their pleasant summer home, "Springhurst," near Portland avenue. This is one of the most extensive and desirable estates in Old Orchard, with charming surroundings. Mr. and Mrs. Miles have been coming to Old Orchard for many years, and have a wide acquaintance among the people here. Both are accomplished musicians, and Mr. Miles, in addition to having devoted much time to professional singing, has been actively engaged in official business connected with several of the large railroad corporations.

Methodist Episcopal Church.

The Methodist Episcopal church located on Washington avenue, Old Orchard, is a little gem of architectural design and internal finish. The many summer visitors, who find their way to this place of worship, are delighted with the church and express their appreciation quite freely.

The church was built during the pastorate of the Rev. H. A. Clifford, and the good work was financially sustained by a liberal people and the munificence of Mrs. N. Plumer, one of the esteemed visitors at Old Orchard.

The services are so well patronized that the ushers, Messrs. Fred I. Luce and H. A. G. Milliken, are kept busy seating the attendants.

Mrs. Fred Cram of Saco presides at the organ and this part of the service is admirably sustained. During the summer months Mrs. Onrico de Grys, one of Portland's favorite sopranos, leads the singing and renders solos.

The pastor, Rev. Fred A. Leitch, A.M., is a graduate of the Wesleyan Theological college, Montreal, and the Wesleyan University of Illinois, and represents a wholesome and helpful modern scholarship. In his pulpit ministrations he breaks with the irrational school of higher criticism and parts company with the ultra traditionalists and non-progressive dogmatists. If representative congregations demonstrate appreciation, then the intelligence and sound piety of church attendants at Old Orchard stand in favor of progressive living and thinking. The doors of this church stand open to all on Sabbath morning at 10.30.

Mrs. N. B. Runnels of Pittsfield is visiting at the "Frederic," the home of Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Sidelinger on Union avenue.

The usual jolly crowd is occupying the "Maryland Ridge" cottage near the campground. The party includes Charles E. Pickett of North Berwick, and Mrs. James C. Furbush and daughter of Wells.

Mrs. Ethel Whittredge, nee Stevens, of Lawrence has returned here for her annual visit and is staying at the Stevens cottage near the campground. She has been passing the summer at Old Orchard with her parents for about twenty years.

Do you know that there is just as much difference between glasses as there is in any other kind of goods? There is, and it is of the greatest importance that you have the best quality and have them perfectly adjusted by a specialist. Dr. Littlefield of Saco uses only the best quality of glass. He guarantees a perfect fit. Consultation free.

F. A. Sidelinger & Co., real estate agents, have recently rented to Mrs. M. Kenny and daughter, Catherine, of Brooklyn the cottage, corner of Fern avenue and Third street, formerly owned by the late Irving J. Brown. They have as their guests the Misses Anna and Catherine Dougherty and Miss Mamie Feeley, also of Brooklyn. The party will remain for the remainder of the season.

Bowling Notes.

Among the excellent strings recently rolled is that of P. Hanley of Brookline, which tied the high candle score of Fred A. Knight of Portland, at the Cleaves Alley. At the same alley, Miss May Davis of Portland, after winning out in hotly contested ladies' candle rolling, has beaten her own score of 88 and raised the record to 91. The score:

At the Cleaves Alley:

BIG PINS.

Gents—L. B. de LaBruere, Biddeford, 209.

Ladies—Miss Mary V. Peyser, New York, 151.

CANDLES.

Gents—Fred A. Knight, Portland, and P. Hanley, Brookline, 116.

Ladies—Miss May Davis, Portland, 91.

DUCKS.

Gents—J. E. Bassett, Old Orchard, 97.

Ladies—Miss Alice Warren, Brooklyn, 95.

At the Field Alley:

BIG PINS.

Gents—Fred C. Marsh, Rochester, 203.

Ladies—Miss Henrietta Beullac, Montreal, 130.

CANDLES.

Gents—H. H. Crane, Saco, 106.

Ladies—Miss Florence E. Wise, Portland, 79.

DUCKS.

Gents—Harold White, Old Orchard, 107.

Ladies—Miss Annie Watson, Hinsdale, N. H., 81.

We feel in duty bound to state, as a foot note, that Miss Beullac's score on big pins has been badly beaten, but through modesty and lack of desire for notoriety the fair bowler desired to have her name not appear in these columns.

An Animal Story For Little Folks

MR. ROOSTER LEARNS SOMETHING

Mr. Rooster finished his breakfast and picked up a book to read. He was a great reader and he liked books. "This is good," he said, as he glanced down the page.

"What is?" asked his wife.

"I'll read it," answered Mr. Rooster, and he read:

"Never let a day go by without learning something."

"That is very good," said his wife.

Mr. Rooster laid the book down and strolled out into the street.

"I wonder what I can learn today?" he said to himself.

Several boys were gathered in the street about a big red thing that looked like a very fat bologna sausage to Mr. Rooster. As he looked on the boys turned and ran away.

"That is foolish," said Mr. Rooster. "They should have waited and learned

IT SENT HIM FORTY FEET IN THE AIR. what the thing is. Now I shall go over there and learn something."

So he strutted over to the big red thing and looked at it all around and at both ends, but he couldn't make out what it was.

"All I see," said he as he perched himself on top of the affair—"all I see is a little fizzing fire over at this end."

At this very moment there was a terrible explosion as the firecracker went off.

Forty feet in the air it sent Mr. Rooster. Every feather in his tail and half the feathers on his back were blown out. His eyes were filled with powder; his feet were burned to blisters.

When he landed on the ground he didn't know whether he was dead or alive.

He finally pulled himself together and hobbled home to roost as best he could.

"Have you learned anything today?" asked his wife as he entered the chicken house.

"Yes," he answered. "I've learned something, but I don't know what it is."—Pittsburg Dispatch.

An Improvement.

The modern lover does not please By getting down upon his knees And calling on the starry skies To witness to his pack of lies. Now, when he wants to shoot hot air, He plumps him down upon a chair And sits the girl down on his knees So they can frame it up with ease.

More Blissful Ignorance.

"Is a man ever too old to fall in love?"

"If he is, he never finds it out."

Discussing the Season.

Nearly everybody in Old Orchard and vicinity is now discussing the amount of business being done at this resort at the present time, and comparing it with previous years. One hears many opinions expressed, and some who have but little idea as to the extent and multiplicity of Old Orchard's varied interests, set themselves up as accurate judges of the total receipts and expenditures in this town year after year.

There may be fewer people here than there were last year or ten years ago at this time, but THE MIRROR wouldn't know to whom to turn for anywhere near exact knowledge on this subject.

If Old Orchard isn't getting an increased patronage each season, it is certainly supporting more business places every year, and all seem to make a fairly good thing of it, at least the great majority of them return here to try their luck each succeeding year.

Here And There.

There are many transient visitors at Old Orchard every day now.

The remarkable incidents recounted in the article, "Extremes Meet," printed in THE MIRROR today, will be read, no doubt, with great interest.

There is a lady at one of the Old Orchard hotels who has been coming here for 29 consecutive years. This record is surely one that is rarely equaled here or at any other summer resort.

Everyone is anxiously looking forward to the August rush of business.

There are tonic properties in Old Orchard's atmosphere, such as are rarely found elsewhere.

The hotel porters, carriage drivers and baggage transfer men make a merry din, at nearly every incoming train.

The summer days are swiftly gliding by, and each and everyone should endeavor to get the utmost good out of each passing hour.

The Dr. Bates meetings at the Campground are attracting good crowds of people, who find the services very helpful and interesting.

Standing Invitation.

Visitors at the beach are invited to call at the offices of the Consolidated United Verde Jr., Mining Corporation, whose offices are in Porter's Block, Railroad square, and thoroughly investigate the proposition of the above corporation any day or evening. (See ad this issue.)

Also through the information department visitors may have free access to reliable data of any securities, listed or unlisted, dealt in on any stock exchange or otherwise, embracing over 75,000 stocks and bonds. Those desiring to investigate some of their holdings will be interested in looking up the real value of the same, gratis.

Friday Evening Ball.

The regular Friday evening ball on the pier was largely attended, and a most enjoyable occasion it proved for all present. The weather was delightful for a visit to the casino, and the dancing was participated in by a large number.

The Mirror on Sale.

THE MIRROR is on sale at the following places: Armstrong's and J. L. Scamman's news stands, Old Orchard house, Irving house, Ocean Park Reading Room, Bay View house, and W. L. Streeter's, Saco. Also by newsboys, and at the office of publication, Porter block, opposite the depot.

Corn.

All kinds of corn are altered by heat, but only in the popcorn is the structure such as to favor an explosion, which gives to the popcorn its name.

The Bamboo.

The bamboo is not a tropical plant, as commonly supposed. It grows in regions where the snows are so heavy that they often break down the young stems and where the thermometer drops to 15 degrees F. below the freezing point.

Jew's Ear Fungus.

The Jew's ear fungus, which grows on stumps of the elder, is so named from its unmistakable likeness to a human ear.

ly interested in college and benevolent work. That closed the succession of events; but many an afternoon, the callers represent several states.

Still earlier in the season, the hostess of this same cottage, started to attend the Maine Music Festival in Portland. On the way, a lady, evidently a stranger, asked her some questions, and as they were going to the same place, they naturally fell into a musical conversation, so to speak. They discovered that they were in Chicago at the same time, at the Columbian Exposition, when that magnificent chorus of over one thousand voices gave the Oratorio "The Creation," with Nordica and Plunkett Greene as stars; and that they had each gone to the organ recital in Buffalo, at the time of the Pan American Exposition, on that fateful Friday when President McKinley was shot within the walls of the Music Building.

Instances might be multiplied where extremes meet, in our own Pine Tree State; but one more must suffice, this time. Two inmates of the cottage referred to, recently went to Green-Acre, Me., for a few days. While there, they met a lady who had lived and voted in Colorado, a New York physician, a Boston artist, a French countess, a noted Persian and his interpreter, several women who have been to "The uttermost parts of the earth," and another artist, an animal painter, who resembles Rosa Bonheur so greatly that she used to be mistaken for her on the streets of Paris, where she studied. In speaking with one of the lecturers on how interesting it was to find so many nationalities and ideas represented in one small place, and wherever you go, you are sure to discover some one with whom you have a common friend, she said the most amusing experience of the kind she ever had was once in New Orleans. After her lecture, a gentleman came to her and said, "I am going to ask you a question that will make you laugh, but it cannot do any harm and it is something I very much want to find out;—do you know John Smith of New York?" Of course she did laugh, but she replied promptly, "Yes, I know him, he is a near neighbor!" It did not occur to her that it could possibly be the same John Smith, but a series of questions and answers revealed the astonishing fact that it was the very same "John Smith."

Truth is, indeed, stranger than fiction, and sometimes our everyday experiences sound, when recounted, like a fairy tale; but these things have happened within a short time and in a small space of territory. Doubtless, many a person who reads this paper could tell of similar experiences.

Those Auto Races.

After much delay the final arrangements will soon be made. Mr. W. J. Morgan will arrive at Old Orchard Monday or Tuesday to confer with Frederick Yates. His coming has been delayed by his work at Long Branch, N. J., where he is instituting a series of races similar to those which it is hoped will be held here.

The Interstate Woman's Christian Temperance Union institute and temperance conference, will be held at Old Orchard, August 2 and 3. Mrs. Lillian M. N. Stevens, president of the National and Maine W. C. T. U., will be general director.

Following is the programme:

TUESDAY MORNING, AUGUST 2.

9.00 to 9.45—(Tabernacle). Devotional hour led by Mrs. Ida M. Read, president Vermont W. C. T. U.

10.00—(Auditorium). Hymn. Prayer. Mrs. J. G. Harvey, president Old Orchard W. C. T. U. Opening remarks, Mrs. L. M. N. Stevens, Maine. Words of welcome, Rev. I. HOTEL PERSONALS

J. A. Brennan and wife of Boston are registered at the Lawrence. Mr. Brennan is connected with the Boston post-office.

Mrs. P. Shaw and daughter, Mildred, of Mt. Bethel, Pa., are registered at the Montreal for the remainder of the season.

The Oceanic has a house full of roomers. Many are from the neighboring hotels, whose room accommodations have given out.

The Misses May and Barbara E. Smith of Meredith, N. H., are at the Jones house for the season. The former is a student at the Laconia high school, and the latter at the New Hampton classical institute.

George Heintzmann and Benjamin H. Mason, son of Judge Mason of Boston, both of Brookline, have been at the Lawrence for a few days' visit. They are on an extended yachting trip up the Maine coast, and are at present stopping off at Biddeford Pool.

Entertainment and Dance at the Irving.

Last Thursday evening the guests and their friends at the Irving, to the number of one hundred and twenty-five, assembled in the parlors, and were delightfully entertained by the talent of the house.

There were songs by Master Butler, Worcester, Mass., Miss Florence Barnard, New York, Miss F. Beaudoin, Montreal, and Miss Harris of Fall River. Miss L. Beaudoin, Montreal, contributed a piano solo, and Mr. Hutchings, Montreal a mouth organ solo. There were also readings by Messrs. Erskine and Brown, Montreal, and an original monologue by S. Howard Lyon, New York.

After the entertainment, all adjourned to the dining room, where dancing was enjoyed to the accompaniment of Harmon's orchestra. Refreshments were served during the evening. The feature of the dancing was a very artistic cake walk by Mrs. Booth and Miss Barnard of New York, and Messrs. Brown and Erskine of Montreal.

Mrs. James A. Smith is having first-class patronage at her hair dressing parlors on Old Orchard street. Facial and scalp treatment carefully attended to. A chiropodist in constant attendance.

On this evening will be held the first social hop of the season for the guests and friends at the Lawrence.

F. E. Gilman of Montreal, a member of the Canadian parliament, is at the Irving for a stay of several weeks.

Mrs. Emily M. Brown, Mrs. Edith E. Crane and Miss Gladys Crane of Boston have been at the Jones house for a few days.

Katharine and Minnie E. O'Brien of Boston have returned to the Lawrence for their usual summer visit. They are old patrons of the house.

J. O. Bourcier and wife of Montreal and J. A. Faulener and wife of Ottawa are pleasant young couples making an extended stay at the Montreal.

Mrs. J. A. Dugan, Miss J. E. Halsey and A. E. Hanshatter and wife of Medford, Mass., are again at the Montreal for a stay of several weeks. Some years ago they were regular guests at this house, but have not visited Old Orchard for several seasons.

Republican Delegates Chosen.

The Republican caucus to choose four delegates and four alternates to attend the county convention which takes place at Alfred next Thursday, was held in the court room of the town building Thursday evening.

Montrose E. Hill called the meeting to order, and William A. Whittier was chosen chairman and F. A. Sidelinger secretary of the meeting.

The following delegates were elected: Frank H. Colley, Montrose E. Hill, H. A. G. Milliken, Fred I. Luce. The alternates are: F. A. Sidelinger, Frank H. Titcomb, E. B. Sears, J. C. Bachelder.

The delegates were instructed to work for the nomination of William J. Mewer, the Old Orchard candidate for sheriff of York county.

Prominent Canadians Here.

W. S. Calvert, a prominent member of the Canadian Parliament who is spending the season at the Lawrence, returned to that house today from a short trip to Ottawa for the closing business of Parliament. He was accompanied by Mr. William Surtees of Ottawa, who is Minister of the Interior. Mr. Calvert's position in Parliament is designated as that of "whipper-in," which corresponds to our chairman of the general state committee for calling votes.

EXPLANATORY.

This is one of the most interesting mining propositions ever presented to New England investors. Through the recent death of the former owner of the "Jeffries' Claims," (consisting of 4 producing mines), the property reverted to the only heir, a resident of Portland, Me. The above syndicate closed negotiations for this mining property and are rapidly making arrangements to resume work and shipping which was discontinued only last December, 1903. Extensive operations have been conducted in these mines the past five years, and the last 50 tons of ore shipped to the smelter, 14 miles away, returned $136.50 per ton in gold and copper. The ore already blocked out will reach into the hundreds of thousands of tons. Any one of the 4 mining claims is a stupendous mining proposition in itself. The dyke of ore measures 80 feet wide and extends over four-fifths of a mile long covering four foot hills of the Bradshaw Mountains in the World-famous "Verde Belt." No such mineral wealth has ever been discovered in any other section in the country. In a few brief weeks the Bradshaw Mountain R. R. will reach our property, and we have letters from smelters desiring to purchase all our ore because of its high grade; and we have other evidences to prove beyond contradiction, this to be one of the most magnificent mining proposition of recent years. Scores of visitors have already investigated, and subscribed for stock at 50c per share. The allotment is growing smaller and is very limited. Everybody is invited to investigate, also use our Information Department to look up the value of their present holdings in stocks or bonds.

BASCOM'S ARISTOCRACY

By JASPER COLINGWOOD

Copyright, 1904, by E. Warner

When Herbert Bascom's effects were moved into the Holbein studios the other occupants gathered in the front windows and jeered openly. Bascom, whose hearing was singularly acute, caught the comments as far up as the third floor. What those on the fourth floor thought was scarcely of importance. The singular unanimity of opinion among the dwellers of the three lower floors argued that those up above would scarcely be moved to comment approvingly in defiance of their fellows.

The only trouble with Bascom's effects was that they were new—distressingly new. From the oilcloth for the tiny kitchen to the Persian rugs and Turkish hangings they all came from first hand stores. The Holbeinites were unaccustomed to such extravagances. They had bought second-hand things when they had first set up and thereby had acquired merit in the eyes of those already established. It was unbohemian, as Tolliver expressed it, to have glaring new furniture and things in one's studio. It argued the possession of unseemly quantities of money and small artistic merit. From the moment that the first delivery wagon backed up to the door Bascom lost his surname, so far as his fellows were concerned, and gained the title of the Aristocrat. It was Tolliver's nickname, but it spread rapidly, and no French communist ever hated the name more than the Holbeinites.

As soon as the place had been settled Bascom went around one morning delivering invitations for a studio tea that afternoon. There were many moved to accept the invitation, for the delivery wagon of a leading grocery had unloaded much that looked attractive that morning.

But Tolliver made a personal canvass, and when Bascom hurried home that afternoon, laden with additional packages, he was met by a neat pile of regrets carefully pinned upon his door. As a result of Tolliver's activity it had been decided to snub this aristocrat who sought by means of the tea to flaunt his rich possessions before their eyes. It was unbohemian, and, while his presence had to be tolerated, friendship and fellowship should be withheld.

Bascom was no fool. He readily perceived why he was being snubbed and quietly accepted the situation. He nodded friendly to the men when he met them in the halls and gravely removed his hat when he passed the women. For the rest he went to work and found in this an absorption which did not permit him to worry about the attitude of his neighbors. He missed their companionship, but he had letters in plenty. Since the artistic colony refused to recognize him he devoted himself to his society engagements when time permitted, thereby bringing forth additional comment as to the gorgeousness of his garments.

Then came Miss Alice Caswell. She was but a decorator of china, but her effects were pitifully meager, and she was at once accepted by the rest of the inhabitants as a bohemian.

She was a bright, brisk, even tempered girl, and before the week was out she had made friends even with the janitor, a feat hitherto supposed to be impossible. She had the studio across the hall from Bascom, and before she had learned of his isolation had already formed a friendship with him. She had needed some material which she did not have time to go out for, and he had generously supplied her wants. She had noted with approving eye his skill as a draftsman and fine sense of color. After that she soon acquired the habit of dropping in to ask his advice about her designs, finding his wide experience of great value.

By the time the other dwellers in the studio building had thought to warn her of the intruder in their colony the intruder had become her mentor, and she grieved greatly as one after another the rest of the artists let slip some caustic fling.

"But he is a really clever man," she assured Tolliver one day as he sat perched in the window seat declaiming against the Aristocrat. "I assure you that his paintings are very much above the average."

Tolliver snorted contemptuously. "My dear child," he remarked paternally, "you do some very clever china work. Don't try to get beyond it and set up as a critic. There never was a man who settled here with new furniture. He can't be an artist." Then the conversation dropped. There was no arguing with Tolliver when he called one "dear child."

A few weeks later she had a birthday party. Early in the morning the occupants of the other studios began to arrive, each with some little token and the invariable inquiry as to whether Bascom had been invited to the evening festivities. It seemed odd to her that they should be so interested in his possible appearance, but she readily answered that he would. No objection being offered, she personally rounded up Bascom when the time of the party arrived and got him across the hall on the plea that she needed help in the preparation of the supper.

Bascom had interposed many objections when she had invited him, but she had pleaded with him, and on her assurance that the attitude of the others had materially changed he decided to risk it because she wanted it.

She never realized that the abatement of the criticism was because she was openly his champion and the rest had decided to respect her "delusion," as they termed it. She was so happy getting the spread ready that she never noticed the clock until all of the preparations had been made.

"Why, it's 9!" she said wonderingly. "I asked them to come in about 8. I'll take a little run down the hall and remind some of them."

Bascom sank into the easy chair in front of the canal coal fire. Canal coal was a luxury in the Holbein flats, but he had sent two scufflebuts that morning in honor of the event. Alice ran down the hall to Tolliver's door. There pinned to a panel was the sign, "Gone to the theater." She retraced her steps to the stairway. On every door was some card giving notice that the owner had gone out. She descended to the lower floors. Apparently not a soul remained in the building. Bascom by the fireplace was startled by the tiny figure that darted in and sank sobbing upon the homemade cozy corner.

It took small questioning to get at the trouble. The cause he already knew. The form the opposition had taken was all he needed to ask.

"I wouldn't have minded so much," she sobbed, "only I did so want them to meet you and see how nice you

"Did you get it all up for me," he demanded eagerly.

She nodded. "That isn't the worst of it," she confessed. "I even invented the birthday. Mine was seven months away and I couldn't wait. I thought they would be more apt to come to a birthday party. Now I have all their presents and they wouldn't come."

"He drew the tearful little face down upon his shoulder. "Little girl," he said gently, "don't you think they would be more apt to come to a wedding?"

"I couldn't invent that," she protested in a muffled voice.

"It's very easy," he persisted. "Just say 'yes.' I will look after the rest. I have wanted to ask you for a long time."

Even Tolliver came to the wedding and led the chorus of "He's a jolly good fellow" as he poured several quarts of rice down the elevator shaft after the departing pair. James had discovered that Bascom really had to work for a living, and that the studio had been furnished by a maiden aunt, who insisted that he be started right.

JINGLES AND JESTS.

The Summer Girl.

I look into her dreamy eyes
And think I see her soul's depths
through them.
She seems indeed a perfect prize,
As girls do mostly when you woo them.

She lets me glimpse a tender glance;
Then with her flirting fan she screens it.
She says my love's her life's romance.
I wonder if she really means it.
—Somerville Journal.

Curiosity.

Mrs. Pyke (in carriage with her husband)—George, who was that woman who just passed us and who gave you such a peculiar look?

Mr. Pyke—That's just what she will ask about you the next time I see her. Women are such curious creatures!—
Boston Transcript.

How He Got It.

Blake—Queer that Charley Mohter could acquire such an automobile face. He never drives his machine over eight miles an hour.

Jinks—I know, but he got it when his first month's bill for the repairs came in.—Cincinnati Commercial Tribune.

The Penalty.

Once a man who was vanity mad did
Try to flirt with a girl from Madrid.
He got an awful bump
Somewhere—the chump!
Who kicked him? By golly, her dad did!

Universalist National Summer Meeting

THE Universalist National Summer meeting, under the presidency of Rev. Dr. Shinnat at Ferry Beach Park, called out large audiences Sunday. The morning sermon was delivered by Rev. W. G. Schoppe of Webster, Mass., and was an eloquent appeal for a forward movement long all lines of church work, in the spirit of Christ.

Rev. F. E. Barton, the state missionary, presided at the afternoon meeting. Rev. O. R. Perkins of New Bedford offered prayer and Chester G. Miller of Jamaica Plain led the congregational singing.

The afternoon was especially devoted to Portland and the Portland ministers were the speakers. Rev. S. G. Davis and Rev. H. E. Townsend were unable to be present.

Rev. Charles E. Lund spoke of Universalism and Its Message to the Worker. He said that the message of the Universalist church is not a new thing, it is the gospel of Christ applied to life. It is the story of the love and the justice of God. It is a call to men to follow Christ. Too few of the people of this country have heard that message, and it may be that they will not until the ministry is fired with the zeal of the Salvation Army, and proclaims the gospel wherever hearers can be found.

Rev. C. L. Waite spoke in a very interesting way of the message of the Universalist church to the citizen. He said that in these days people sometimes say that the church of Christ is not to meddle with the things important to the citizen and to society, but must present its message to men as individuals.

There is no double standard of life possible for a Christian. He can not be individually good, and yet be connected in any way with a dishonest or debasing business. He can not range himself under the banner of the Prince of Peace, and still encourage industrial war. He can not be a true man, and yet consent to an evil and corrupt practice.

At a time of great seeming prosperity it is easy to forget God. It is easy for an official to take an oath and not keep it. It is easy for a lawless mob to lynch a man. It is easy for selfish manufacturers to unite in employing child labor, and in sending many to an early grave. But God lives, and he demands much at our hands, and will not hold us guiltless if we fail to proclaim the fullness of the gospel, not only to men but to nations.

Rev. John Murray Atwood spoke of the message of the Universalist church to the sinful. He said that it is all important to know what a Christian church has to say to a man oppressed with a sense of sin, who feels that he has sinned against God and men; who knows how weak he is in the presence of his besetting sin; who feels that he is unable to make any real effort. What it has to say to a man who has fallen very low.

THE PINE COTTAGE

We have heard too much about this man or that being no good. We have heard too much of this despairing talk. The lower down a man goes, the harder society makes it for him to come up again. This is not the spirit of the gospel, and must not be of the church. We can say in words applied to Christ, "The bruised reed he will not break, and the smoking flax he will not quench."

Too often we ascribe to the sinner, blame we ought to lay at the doors of those who mis-directed him. Not vengeance, but reformation should be our aim in dealing with the criminal class. The philosophy of the convention of Charities and Corrections, was that of Christ, that the sinner be made to see the beauty of a good life. God be praised that this thought of the master is applied to sinners against society.

The Universalist church comes to sinner with still greater comfort. It says to him that whenever a man ceases to do wrong, does the things that are lawful and right, and sets his face Godward, then God, Christ and all the powers making for good, will help him that he will not stand alone or in his own strength.

"Saviour I Follow Thee" was sung, and then Rev. Dr. J. F. Albion was introduced to speak of the message of the Universalist church to the doubter. He said that he hardly saw the necessity of taking up the time of those present. He could not believe that doubters were there because Dr. Shinn is a great magnet of hope.

Ten or fifteen years ago, the Universalist church had doubters, but not many today. Then the people listened to sermons about doubt. Young fellows in the schools were told of the discovin simple trust and confidence she drew close to him and found peace.

Perhaps I might not, for example, be able to say that I could absolutely believe that Christ actually walked on the water. What shall I do? Wait. Face that doubt. The Bible is full of Christ, and I come, it may be, to see that his power over the forces of nature were surpassingly great.

A man I knew doubted the personality of God, the existence of a living Christ, and a conscious life after death. I did not rebuke his doubt, but I told him to hope and to investigate. At last he came to me with his doubts all removed, and ready to unite with the church a Christian believer.

Balance your doubt with your confidence. Place the things in which you do not believe, in the scale with the things you do believe.

Many times when a boy I thought "Would that God would write on the sky 'I live,'" but he did not, and I have not yet seen God. Stop. May I not say that we all have, because have we not all in times of great temptation or sorrow, when all other help has failed, been driven to him, and heard him whisper peace and comfort?

Faith is greater than doubt, and the honest doubter finds at last God revealed through Jesus Christ, and is at rest.

Mr. Barton said a few closing words, "Till We Meet at Jesus Feet," was sung and the benediction was pronounced.

Automobile Racing.

The Boston Herald, Sunday, had the following:

The idea of holding automobile races on the sand at Old Orchard every other Saturday is being brought to a focus by the automobile enthusiasts of that section. It is proposed to in the near future inaugurate the series of contests by one great race meet, at which efforts will be made to bring about a meeting between H. L. Bowden and J. E. Stevens, the two men between whom the competition at Ormond was so keen and close. Just how successful the scheme will be remains to be seen, but it will not be surprising if a day of beach racing is announced soon.

Resides in Kansas City.

P. S. Brown, Jr., of Kansas City is registered at the Irving for a stay of several weeks. Mr. Brown belongs to one of the best known and most influential families of his native city. His father is one of Kansas City's leading lawyers, and Mr. Brown himself has been offered the democratic nomination for mayor, and is, at the present time, chairman of the municipal committee on Public Works. This is Mr. Brown's first visit to Maine, and he is much pleased with that part of the state which he has had an opportunity to see.

Eye sight is precious. It is dreadful to be blind. Many people take better care of their dog or cat than they do of their eyes until blindness overtakes them, then they spend their money freely but often to no profit. Dr. Littlefield of Saco offers you his services free and you should avail yourself of this opportunity to have your eyes examined.

Open Through October

Opening of The Arcade.

The Arcade at Seaside Park, of which great enterprise Wesley G. Smith, one of Old Orchard's most progressive citizens, is the capable manager, was formally opened to the public for the first time Monday evening.

A large number of invitations had been sent out in Old Orchard and surrounding towns, and a large attendance was the result. The spacious and attractive building, which has been in process of erection for several weeks, presented a fine appearance, and was crowded to its utmost capacity with a merry company. The dance hall is on the second floor, and is finely adapted to terpsichorean pleasures.

A concert was given by the fine orchestra under the able leadership of F. Earl Bishop of Portland, and the music provided for the dancing was most excellent. A great many enjoyed the dance program for about two hours, and all pronounced the New Arcade a great success.

Recital at the Sea Shore.

A delightful vocal recital was given in the Sea Shore parlors last Sunday evening by Mrs. Hanson, nee Martin, of Montreal. She was assisted by the hotel orchestra, and gave a fine rendering of several Italian and French airs. Her work has always been mostly along these lines.

About fifty guests and friends of the house were present, and were enthusiastic in their praises of Mrs. Hanson's work. The patrons of the recital were T. A. Griffin, known to fame as the "Car-wheel King" and Mrs. Griffin, New York, Charles A. Gibson and wife, Bangor, and Mr. and Mrs. Renaud, New Orleans.

Mrs. Hanson has an admirably light as well as powerful soprano voice of great range. She has studied with Marchesi of London.

Opened an Office in Portland.

S. J. Bassford, M. D., formerly of Biddeford, and one of the best known and most successful physicians in this vicinity, has recently had fitted up fine offices in the Y. M. C. A. building, Congress street, Portland, and has begun the practice of medicine as a specialist in that city, with office hours from 9 to 12 a. m. and 1 to 5 p. m.

Dr. Bassford's many friends in Biddeford, Saco and Old Orchard regret his going from this vicinity, but it is believed that Portland will offer many superior advantages to him.

The doctor makes weekly trips to Monmouth, where Mrs. Bassford and Miss Helene Bassford are occupying their cottage for the season.

Hendrickson Party.

August For Vacations.

The month of August has arrived and now the real vacation period will be in full swing for several weeks. This is the period when the great majority of people leave their homes for a sojourn at the seashore and mountain resorts, although the latter continue to attract a large number of visitors during September and October.

August is the month of the year that is most eagerly looked forward to by those who have a few weeks out of the year for a vacation, and it is the time that is depended upon by the hotel proprietors and others in business at the various summer resorts, to make good in their cash account.

Those who come at this season are for the most part having two or three weeks to spare from their work, and they leave the cities in multitudes, taking all the accommodations at our hotels and boarding houses along the Maine coast and elsewhere in New England.

It is the August rush of business that is planned for from year to year, and if it proves a failure; then there results great loss and disappointment to all the business enterprises at Old Orchard and the other resorts.

The Mirror on Sale.

THE MIRROR is on sale at the following places: Armstrong's and J. L. Scamman's news stands, Old Orchard house, Irving house, Ocean Park Reading Room, Bay View house, and W. L. Streeter's, Saco. Also by newsboys, and at the office of publication, Porter block, opposite the depot.

Dr. F. E. Clark, the Principal Speaker Here Sunday.

Rev. Dr. F. E. Clarke, founder of the Christian Endeavor movement, was the principal speaker in the Sunday meetings of the Christian Workers' league at the campground. His address related largely to Christian Endeavor work and the conditions of young people throughout the world.

He took occasion to criticize some of the conditions at Old Orchard. He could not understand how the many weekday amusements are allowed to run Sundays. He especially deprecated the "midway" attractions near the pier. He said he saw three little girls there playing pin pool, and the prizes they won were of a character closely bordering on indecency. He urged the worshippers at the campground to take action with a view to bettering the Sunday conditions at the beach.

Rev. Dr. L. B. Bates of Boston preached on the subject, Is the Church Losing Power? If So, Why, and Is There a Remedy? The evening sermon was preached by Rev. Charles C. Garland of Claremont, N. H.

Concert at the Town Hall Tonight.

The concert company of Negro children from the Jenkins Orphanage and Reformatory, Charleston, S. C., will make their appearance at the Old Orchard town hall this evening.

This is a very deserving organization, engaged in a good work, and they will give a rich and high-class concert of jubilee and plantation song sketches, campmeeting and southern dialect, a whirlwind of fun and mirth for the people. The program consists of overture by the band and chorus by the entire company. Price of admission, 25 cents.

Tennis Tournament.

A tennis tournament is being arranged for the first two weeks in this month. The games will be played on the courts of the Rev. Julian K. Smythe, whose cottage is on the sea wall west of the campground station. Mr. Smythe, who holds a high place in the Swedenborgian denomination in the United States, is one of the best tennis players at the beach.

METHODIST EPISCOPAL CHURCH

In this issue appears a half-tone illustration of the attractive Methodist Church on Washington avenue, Old Orchard, an interesting description of which appeared in last Saturday's issue of THE MIRROR.

Standing Invitation.

Visitors at the beach are invited to call at the offices of the Consolidated United Verde Jr., Mining Corporation, whose offices are in Porter's Block, Railroad square, and thoroughly investigate the proposition of the above corporation any day or evening. (See ad this issue.)

Also through the information department visitors may have free access to reliable data of any securities, listed or unlisted, dealt in on any stock exchange or otherwise, embracing over 75,000 stocks and bonds. Those desiring to investigate some of their holdings will be interested in looking up the real value of the same, gratis.

Among the vacationists from New Haven are, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Weiss-baith, who registered here last week.

Owners of cottages desiring to rent them by the week or month should list their property with F. A. Sidelinger & Co., Porter's Block, at once, as the demand for accommodations is rapidly increasing, and the supply growing proportionally small.

Gave Second Reading.

Professor Chapman, host of the Ocean house, gave his second reading on Friday evening, which proved, as always, an occasion of rare enjoyment to the many guests.

The reading was in honor of Mr. and Mrs. A. T. Mathews of Montreal, who were to depart for their home on the morrow.

During the evening, Professor Chapman gave an interesting account of the changes which have occurred at Old Orchard since the advent of the railroad in 1873. The occasion was also interesting because of the presence of Mr. F. F. Dunfield, the genial manager, who had, on that day reached the twenty-seventh anniversary of his birth, which fact was recognized by generous applause when made known to the assembled company. At the close of the entertainment Mr. Thomas Feeney of the Boston Herald moved a vote of thanks to the entertainer, which was unanimously and heartily adopted.

Mr. and Mrs. O. P. Wright of Denver, Col., are among the arrivals of recent date from the West.

A man is not guilty until he is proved so and a woman until she admits it.

When a man eats a lobster the lobster always gets revenge.

Old authorities taught that a peer, if he wasted his property so as to be unable to support the dignity, could be degraded by the king. It is now held that degradation can be effected only by vote of his peers.

Dancing Losing Favor.

The Old Orchard correspondent for the Boston Herald had the following in last Sunday's edition:

"The social demands at a summer hotel have changed materially within the last 10 years," said one of Old Orchard's best known hotel men. "Dancing used to be a most popular pastime here; now it is very little indulged in. Our summer visitors used to want at least two full-dress balls a week; now they are satisfied with two a season. For many years a regularly employed master of ceremonies was as essential as a chef; now there is little use for such an attache of the house, the guests being content to manage their own social entertainments.

"There are a number of reasons for this change. In the days when dancing was so generally indulged in we had no trolley lines, no surf pier, no automobiles. The outdoor attractions have been multiplying and people who pay good prices for summer board have come to recognize the fact that outdoor pleasures are more beneficial to health. They can get dancing and parlor pleasures enough at home in winter. Then, too, the patronage of the summer resorts is more transient than it used to be. Our patronage used to consist largely of families who came from long distances and remained all summer. Now our rooms are most generally let for two or three weeks at a time, and then comes a change of occupants. Tourists are not content to settle down in one place from early July until September; they prefer to be on the move, spending a fortnight here, another in the mountains, and cover two or three other points in a single summer. This has a tendency to make the patrons of a hotel less like a large family and less interested in mutual pleasures."

Bowling Notes.

The most notable thing in connection with the recent bowling is the way in which the interest and patronage are kept up despite the scorching hot weather.

It will be noticed that the scores at the Field alley have been raised considerably. S. Dillon of Montreal is to be commended on his excellent duck score which ties him with Mr. White at 107. The scores stand:

HOTEL PERSONALS

Mrs. W. H. Eddy and sister of Worcester have returned to the Velvet for the balance of the season.

Thomas N. Doughty the well known temperance lecturer of Boston and Worcester, is registered at the Irving.

Dr. P. W. Bush and wife are making a two week's stay at the Velvet. Dr. Bush is a prominent New York physician.

T. F. Gorman and family of Boston are making a stay of several weeks at the Irving. Mr Gorman is connected with the Boston Herald.

Mrs. W. P. Downey and Miss Raith of Montreal have arrived at the Montreal for the remainder of the season. They have passed several seasons at this house.

J. W. Hartley and wife of Auburn are making a short stay at the Irving. Mr Hartley is an extensive dealer in furniture, connected with the mammoth B. Peck Department Store corporation of Lewiston.

C. A. Monks and wife of Boston are again at the Irving for a short stay. Mr. Monks is a well known travelling salesman and a jolly good fellow. He is an old patron of the Irving, and his annual visit is always enjoyed by everyone.

G. A. Slater and family of seven children, with his eldest son's wife, arrived at the Western some time ago for the remainder of the season. Mr. Slater is a prominent shoe manufacturer of Montreal and one of the most wealthy and influential citizens of the city. He has returned to his native city, but will come back to Old Orchard for a few days the last of the month. Miss Dolly Slater is a living example of her name and has endeared herself to all the guests at the Western. The family spent last season at this house.

George Fall, a prominent restaurant man of Boston, has returned to the Irving for his usual summer visit. He is an old patron of the house.

Andrew B. Cross and family of Maplewood, Mass., are again at the Montreal. They have passed several seasons at this popular house.

Father Thomas F. Hefferman and brother, P. J. Hefferman, of Montreal are making an extended stay at the Everett. They have passed several seasons at this house.

C. H. Heintzemann of Boston has joined his family at the Lawrence, where they have been staying for some weeks. He will spend his vacation with them here.

B. B. Nickerson and Charles S. Crosby of Providence and H. S. Morse of Meriden, Conn., who are making a short stay at the Irving, are all well known travelling salesmen.

Mrs. Fred Birchell and family of Lawrence have returned to the Montreal for their usual summer stay. They are old patrons of the house. Mrs. Birchell is the wife of a prominent Lawrence Physician.

H. R. Charlton and family of Montreal have arrived at the Montreal for their usual summer visit. They are old guests of the house. Mr. Charlton is advertising agent for the Grand Trunk Railway System.

We note with interest that John D. Rockefeller and J. P. Morgan were recently registered at one of our larger houses. THE MIRROR is always glad to recognize genius, but would suggest to those desirous of having their names appear in our arrival list, that it is not always well to let one's imagination run away with one's sense of humor.

Mrs. Stevens Will Not Attend.

To the great regret of the members of the W. C. T. U., Mrs. L. M. N. Stevens, the national president, will not be able to attend the institute which began here today. Her presence is now demanded at the national headquarters, at Evanston, Ill.

Lost Years.

"How old did you say she is?"

"She says twenty-four."

"But the family record says she was born in 1870."

"Yes, but she lived ten years in Philadelphia, and of course she doesn't count those."

Wants a Witness.

EXPLANATORY.

This is one of the most interesting mining propositions ever presented to New England investors. Through the recent death of the former owner of the "Jeffries' Claims," (consisting of 4 producing mines), the property reverted to the only heir, a resident of Portland, Me. The above syndicate closed negotiations for this mining property and are rapidly making arrangements to resume work and shipping which was discontinued only last December, 1903. Extensive operations have been conducted in these mines the past five years, and the last 50 tons of ore shipped to the smelter, 14 miles away, returned $136.50 per ton in gold and copper. The ore already blocked out will reach into the hundreds of thousands of tons. Any one of the 4 mining claims is a stupendous mining proposition in itself. The dyke of ore measures 80 feet wide and extends over four-fifths of a mile long covering four foot hills of the Bradshaw Mountains in the World-famous "Verde Belt." No such mineral wealth has ever been discovered in any other section in the country. In a few brief weeks the Bradshaw Mountain R. R. will reach our property, and we have letters from smelters desiring to purchase all our ore because of its high grade; and we have other evidences to prove beyond contradiction, this to be one of the most magnificent mining proposition of recent years. Scores of visitors have already investigated, and subscribed for stock at 50c per share. The allotment is growing smaller and is very limited. Everybody is invited to investigate, also use our Information Department to look up the value of their present holdings in stocks or bonds.

OCEAN PARK

Dr. W. H. Bartlett preached in Boston Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Allen of Providence have been visiting at "The Anchorage."

Sunday morning Rev. D. B. Martin preached from I John 3:2, "We shall be like Him." In the evening Rev. G. H. Hamlin, for the last ten years a missionary in India, spoke.

We are glad to welcome again Mrs. Jackson and her five children of Wakefield. They arrived August first, but Miss Ethel, a Junior at Mt. Holyoke, came Saturday as she was a member of the committee in charge of the college social.

The first of August several Lowell families came to Ocean Park. Mrs. Doherty, her son and two daughters are in "Bide-a-Wee," Lawyer McEvoy's family and the Misses Alice and Katherine Murphy are in "Up-to-date Cottage," and Mr. Samuel Thompson's family again have the Woodman cottage on Winona avenue.

Today the children's Bible class and the classes in oratory and physical culture begin. We are glad to welcome both Miss Lane and Miss Porter again. Miss Porter, who was called home for so sad a reason last summer, was greatly missed during the assembly of nineteen-three.

It has been several years since we have had the genial Prof. Albert P. Briggs with us. We are very happy to extend to him and his assistants a most hearty welcome. The first concert of the season under his direction comes next Thursday evening and Miss Alida Donnell is scheduled as reader.

We are very sorry to learn of the serious illness of an old Ocean Park boy, Mr. Brainerd Dyer of Portland. Mr. Dyer is a student at Amherst College. In the last six weeks he has passed through two very critical operations which have left him in a dangerous condition.

Our Chautauqua Assembly has opened for its twenty-fourth annual session. The platform talent is costing over $1200; therefore as liberal patronage as possible is desired. Mr. Twort, in this his first year as superintendent, has proved himself an efficient one, and we can find in the program no event worth missing.

Tuesday and Wednesday evenings Prof. George Riddle is to entertain us. His recitals are always most brilliant.

Monday evening Prof. William G. Ward of the Emerson College of Oratory, Boston, gave a very interesting and instructive illustrated lecture on "Egyptian Art." At 2.30 Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday afternoons he is to give a series of lectures on a most timely subject, "The Clash of Two Civilizations—Russia."

Monday afternoon a College Social was held in the temple which was gay with college colors and banners. Cozy corners were arranged, each representing a well known college. In the Dartmouth booth Miss Ruth Favor displayed her skill in palmistry. Miss Jackson, in charge of Mt. Holyoke's corner, tested her victims' knowledge of literature. Miss Harriet Milliken of Bates and Miss Priest of Tufts "kept people guessing." Miss Annie Bradeen and Miss Dorothy Marshall had a sort of Harvard art gallery, and Miss Orr, for Yale, had an advertisement display. Miss Bowen, a Smith girl, presided over a dainty marshmallow roasting contest, and Miss Buttrick and Miss Sullivan of Wellesley, carried on a unique musical story. Some of the girls were in cap and gown, giving the temple quite an university atmosphere. Everyone joined with a vim in college songs and yells, and the alumni renewed their youth. The committee owe no small degree of the social's success to the young ladies who ushered and the young gentlemen who helped in numerous ways.

Sunday at Old Orchard.

Sunday was one of the most pleasant days of the season at Old Orchard, and the weather was ideal for visitors, a great throng of whom came here during the afternoon and evening hours.

The electric and steam cars were heavily loaded and hundreds came in teams, so that it proved to be a record breaking crowd for this season.

The beach was, as usual, the rendezvous for thousands, while a great many were interested in attending the religious services at the campground and at Ferry Beach Park. The pier was sought by an unusually large number of sightseers.

Long Automobile Tour.

C. E. Wilkins and wife, B. C. Russell and Louis R. Bostwick of Omaha, Neb., have been passing a few days at the Everett. The party made the entire trip to Old Orchard by way of automobile. With short stop overs they were about three weeks coming from Omaha. They expect to make the return trip in about six weeks, including a visit to the St. Louis Exposition.

Strollers

Mr. Mandleson and son of Nashua, N. H., arrived in town last week.

W. A. Plummer and family of Lacomia, N. H., have been enjoying a stay in town for several days.

Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Wadleigh of Burlington, Iowa, who have been among our best known summer visitors for many years, returned here a few days ago for their annual stay of several weeks.

Among the many guests from New York during last week are: Mr. and Mrs. O. B. Gilmore, Mrs. Kera O'Brien, John T. Reardon, the Rev. P. E. Reardon and Miss Madge R. Connelly.

The half past four train from Boston arrived yesterday afternoon in two sections, which is unprecedented for a day so early in the week. More baggage arrived yesterday than for many days past.

Mrs. James A. Smith is having first-class patronage at her hair dressing parlors on Old Orchard street. Facial and scalp treatment carefully attended to. A chiropodist in constant attendance.

Among the prominent Bostonians who arrived at Old Orchard last week are: Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Alexander, Mr. and Mrs. A. Place, Mr. and Mrs. D. C. Buckley, Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Campbell, Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Paul and H. H. Desnoyers.

Among the arrivals of recent date from Massachusetts towns are: James E. Blake and family, Attleboro; Mrs. A. H. Tuttle, Cambridge; Mrs. C. O. Roberts, Malden; Miss Delia M. O'Connell, Marlboro; Mr. and Mrs. F. N. Young and P. A. Faye, Arlington.

Among the recent arrivals at Old Orchard from Massachusetts are Mr. and Mrs. C. Wilkins, Boston; Miss Mary Mahoney, Lawrence; Mr. and Mrs. G. M. Bowers, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. G. D. Whetford, Brookline; Mr. and Mrs. F. W. C. Wood, Cambridge; Alfred J. Knight and family, Melrose.

Sail Boat Wrecked.

A small sail boat, said to have been owned by a man named Holland of Biddeford, got aground on the beach and was broken to pieces near Hotel Fiske Monday.

GEORGE LEE, Prop., Staples Ave., near R. R. Station

From the Billow House to Googins' Rocks.

From Ocean Park to Old Orchard race the rector and the pedagogue in pursuit of that feminine appliance—a parasol! And even then the race was not to the swift, for a youth attired in a sweater carries off the prize.

All this sounds sensational, and smacks of "yellowism," and as it has always been the policy of THE MIRROR to avoid any such tendency, it would seem best to state the facts of the actual episode. Once upon a time a worthy and honored man, Rev. C. R. Bailey, who has charge of the services at St. John's-by-the-Sea, during the month of August, betook himself unto Ocean Park, there to visit and brotherly commune with an old friend and fellow townsman, Prof. George H. Libby, principal of the Manchester, N. H., High School. They met and hid them to the beach to partake of the mild zephyrs wafted from the breast of Father Neptune. So when they had proceeded even so far as abreast the Billow House, sportive breezes asserted themselves and wrested from the fair hand of its carrier, a parasol. This took place in the very immediate foreground of our two adventurers. The gallants started in pursuit. Away hurtled the parasol, and away rushed the would-be capturers—with the vision of the reward of a fair smile ever before them. On careened the parasol and on galloped our two heroes. The chase was getting interesting. Sun bathers along the course took in the situation and it seemed to appeal to their sense of humor.

The worthy pedagogue is not so slender as he used to be, and his wind is not what it was when a boy. The pace began to tell on him. His strides became uncertain in length and he took on a similitude to the bicycle face. The rector, being of Troy rather than of Avoirdupois, fares better. But the race was destined to end at the break-water near Googins' Rocks. Here the cause of all the furore vanishes, even into space. But our heroes are not to be beaten. They institute an official search of the surrounding landscape. It is of no avail. The ever present small boy has gathered knowledge from the fullness of his curiosity. Finally one of him advances the information, on his own responsibility, that if a parasol had strayed from its usual haunts and was the object of so much concern, a "feller in a red sweater" had just gone up the beach with one under his arm.

This was enough, in fact, too much. The signal was given for an orderly retreat and the vanquished left the field in a manner which would have gladdened the heart even of Kuropatkin had he been there to see.

The Convention at Ferry Beach Park

THE Universalist national summer meeting at Ferry Beach Park is remarkably well attended. Rev. Dr. Shinn, the president, is a great organizer, and he has made the people feel the importance of success.

The opening of the minister's institute was held Monday morning, and Rev. Dr. J. F. Albion took for his subject, "The Church and Men." It was a straightforward and direct talk, and made a decided impression.

He believes that every man should do his part in the work of the church, but at the same time he holds with great confidence that the church ought to have a distinct and plain message to the men. That it should deserve their co-operation and should stand for something in the world.

The preacher should not only be direct and practical, but should deal with the life that now is, and should be helpful and encouraging.

Dr. Albion spoke of the importance of making the message from the pulpit a strong one, dealing with the realities of life. In short, the old story of the Bible.

He was listened to with close attention, and there was a general discussion after he closed. Everybody said at least a few words, and the result was the getting at the opinion of the ministers present.

Dr. Albion was the preacher at the afternoon session. He said that in his birth and early life Christ only followed a rule almost universal since His time. The unexpected happens constantly, and great men, the leaders, teachers and reformers of the world, come up from the common people.

His address was eloquent, abounded in telling illustrations and quotable passages. Those who were able to be present were well repaid for the effort. The sermon was a masterly production and worthy of the high reputation of the speaker.

At the evening session Mrs. N. W. P. Smith of Newfields, N. H., read a fine paper on the literature of the Old Testament. Rev. C. E. Lund spoke of the Social Hour session of Maine, illustrating his talk with stereopticon views.

While the addresses were, of course, the great features of the day, there were many other attractions. There was a very solemn and impressive consecration service and the devotional services of the day were well attended.

Miss Agnes M. Safford led a class in physical culture and for an hour, from 10 to 11, the beach was crowded. The social element is not wanting and there is plenty of innocent amusement and fun for children and others.

The attendance is increasing and promises to continue so. People are coming from a wide distance around, and every meeting is well attended.

Rev. Dr. C. E. Nash not having arrived, Rev. Mrs. Athlia L. J. Irwin of Pensacola, Fla., delivered the afternoon sermon.

It was an earnest and thoughtful production and was listened to with close attention. She spoke of her own religious experience. The daughter of a minister of an evangelical church, and for years an earnest member, she came to doubt the truth of much taught in her church, and for a time lost her interest in religion. At last she turned to the Universalist church and became again anchored on the rock of God.

She said that of the old time faith nothing valuable in time or eternity,

Two Donkey Parties.

Last Tuesday evening very successful "Donkey Parties" were held at the Montreal and the Lawrence.

At the Montreal the affair was under the management of Miss Henrietta Beullac of Montreal. The children of the house, all of whom were present, were particularly interested participants. The adult prizes were awarded to Miss Watson, Hinsdale, N. H., 1st, and L. Reynolds of Boston, 2nd. The children's prizes went to Rudolph Morton, Montreal, 1st, and Meta Cross, Malden, 2nd. Through the kindness of Mrs. P. P.

WOOD ISLAND LIGHTHOUSE

It is a real campmeeting, with many of the old time features and all of the old time devotion and earnestness. Some of the best speakers of the Universalist church will be heard before the meetings end.

Rev. Dr. O. F. Safford, Tuesday morning, spoke earnestly and ably of the Sunday school problem, and there was a general discussion.

Rev. Oluf Tandberg of Gardiner led the afternoon devotional meeting and the consecration service was earnest and helpful.

Rev. Dr. G. L. Demarest of Manchester, N. H., the oldest Universalist minister in active service, was present and was given a fraternal welcome.

Rev. H. F. Moulton of Biddeford presided at the afternoon meeting, and there was fine and very general congregational singing. Rev. Merrill C. Ward offered prayer.

has been disturbed by the modern faith. The love of God, the priceless gift of his son, Jesus Christ, the leading of his spirit, everything remains.

The great error of sin remains. The necessity for pardon and help is the same. Sinners must be called to repentance through Christ and helped to become one with God in working for the uplifting of the world. Very earnestly she spoke of the value of a true and consecrated life. Her sermon was one of the best since the meetings began, and there will be general interest felt in her sermon to be delivered next Sunday, the closing day.

There was a social hour Tuesday evening held at the edge of the woods, and termed a camp fire. Rev. D. Shinn was the leader. There was much singing, and the old familiar hymns were used. The speaking was bright and to the point.

Martin of Montreal, consolation prizes for the children were awarded. Mabel Cross, sister of the little miss who won the 2nd prize, and John Drewry of Montreal were the happy recipients of the consolation prizes.

At the Lawrence the party was ably managed by Miss Tansy of Montreal, with the assistance of a few other ladies and gentlemen. All the guests of the house were present, and it proved to be a very jolly evening.

The 1st prize was awarded to Mrs. Atwood of Ayer, and the 2nd to Mrs. Surtees of Ottawa. The "booby" turned out to be G. F. Perham of Boston, who got so completely turned about that his pinning was done on the opposite side of the room from the object of his search.

This was followed by other games, for the children, and the evening ended with a short order of dances, accompanied by the hotel orchestra.

THE STROLLER

Miss Addie Trounant of Augusta is at the "Glen" cottage near the campground.

Dr. Weeks and wife of Blackwell's Island arrived at Arthur Chase's, Union avenue, Wednesday for a short stay.

Mr. Dinsmore and a party of friends from Skowhegan are occupying the Dr. Henry Reynolds cottage off Union avenue.

There is to be a Home Missionary rally at the campground this afternoon. Sessions at 2 and 7.30 o'clock. An interesting program has been prepared.

Rev. Daniel Onstott, pastor of the M. E. church, Skowhegan, has taken the Reynolds cottage on Ocean avenue and will spend his three weeks' vacation there with a party of his parishioners.

Mrs. James A. Smith is having first-class patronage at her hair dressing parlors on Old Orchard street. Facial and scalp treatment carefully attended to. A chiropodist in constant attendance.

S. H. Brown and family of Portland have taken for the month of August the seaward side of Mrs. McKenzie's double cottage, corner of Grand and Bay avenues. Mr. Brown is manager of the Marks Printing establishment of Portland.

Mrs. W. G. Harmon has been entertaining at "Home Cottage" on Atlantic avenue the following guests: Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Ball, Barre, Vt., Mrs. F. C. Hovey, E. Randolph, N. Y., Mrs. Mary Woods, Mrs. F. S. Woods, Misses Helen and Winifred Woods, Master Edwin Woods, Mrs. C. E. Somerville, Master Paul Somerville, St. Johnsbury, Vt., Mrs. T. R. Herbest, Thomas R. Herbest, Jr., Mrs. B. L. Webb, Newport, Vt., Carl W. Woods, Washington, D. C., Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Dole, Danville, Vt.

Bowling Notes.

It will be noticed that today's scores show a few which are remarkably good. Z. P. Benoit of Montreal has succeeded in establishing the exceptionally large score of 242 on big pins at the Field Alley.

Among the most enthusiastic bowlers and most regular patrons of the sport at the Cleaves Alley is the party of Charles Locke of Toledo, all of whom are summing at the Velvet. Mrs. Locke has figured in this column more than once in the past few weeks, and we still have hopes for her future work. Mr. Locke proves to be a better coach than personal bowler, as is shown by his turning out the best bowler of the season so far, in the shape of J. H. Baker of Worcester, a member of the above mentioned bowling party.

Mr. Baker, the other day, rolled 221, getting three strikes on the last block, amid the rousing cheers of his backers and of the spectators, thereby smashing Dr. de LaBruere's 209 all to smithereens. The score at present stands:

B. K. Read and family of Colorado Springs, Col., have taken Mrs. McKenzie's cottage, corner of Grand and Bay avenues for the rest of the season.

The best photo work is always done at the Baker Studio on Old Orchard street. Groups taken at your residence, if desired. A fine line of beautiful souvenirs constantly on hand.

Mr. George E. Damon and family of Melrose are located at the "Glenarm" cottage on Wesley avenue for the remainder of the season. Mr. Damon is president of the Thorp & Martin Company of Boston.

If you have a broken lens to be replaced, an oculist's prescription to be filled or need a frame mended, call on Dr. Littlefield of Saco, who is prepared to do all kinds of optical work. If you wish to have your eyes tested, call upon him as he makes no charge for examination and recommends glasses only when actually needed.

Mrs. Clara Staples and Miss Edna Larrabee of Bridgton, Mrs. Whidden and daughter, Miss Alma Nason of Malden, Miss Miskelly of Somerville, Miss Helen Dorr of Boston, Mrs. Tilden of Brockton, Miss Dora Knowles of Waterville, Miss Mary E. Stearns of Woburn, and Lewis H. Perley of Washington, D. C., are being entertained at the residence of Arthur Chase on Union avenue.

Mr. Charles W. Brown and wife of Lowell, with a party of friends from the same city, are occupying the "Carrell," one of the J. C. Pierce cottages, and taking their meals at the Ocean House. Not the least interesting member of this party is "Bola," a magnificent white Angora cat, for which Mr. Brown has been offered large sums of money. "Bola" has travelled extensively, its former owner having been with Sousa's band, and in all his travels always had "Bola" with him.

Old Orchard's Attractions.

Old Orchard for many years has been noted for the great variety of its attractions, and it is due to this fact that this seaside resort has become so famous and popular. People of greatly different desires and inclinations come here annually in pursuit of business or pleasure, and perhaps both combined.

No one need lack for means of genuine enjoyment and wholesome entertainment while at Old Orchard, unless they are very peculiarly constituted. Those coming in search of quiet restfulness may find most congenial surroundings, while those looking for a greater degree of entertainment and social pleasures will discover that there are numerous opportunities to indulge their propensities along these lines.

Old Orchard's natural beauties have ever been conspicuous, both on account of their number and variety, while the artificial aids to these have been increased year after year with excellent results.

A sojourn here may be passed at as reasonable an expenditure of money, as anywhere else in New England, and the returns from the investment can nowhere be surpassed.

The general good order maintained in this town has frequently been the subject of favorable comment, and it should be the constant aim of all good citizens to make this delightful spot of earth as progressive and wholesome as possible, in order that the best class of patrons will continue to come here in ever increasing numbers.

Verestchagin, Russia's Noted Painter.

The following account of Vassali Verestchagin, Russia's famous artist, was written by Rev. Silliman Blagden, the well known exponent of Christian Unity.

Rev. Mr. Blagden has been staying at the Sea Shore house, Old Orchard, this summer, as during the past few years. He has for several years contributed many articles to the magazines and newspapers, which have enjoyed a wide reading. The impressive story of his meeting with the renowned Russian artist is of special interest.

This article appeared in The Sunday Democrat, New York, April 24:

Dear Mr. Editor: I am exceedingly grieved to read in this morning's paper, that the great Russian Painter, Vassili Verestchagin, lost his life in the most terrible disaster of the sinking of the Russian battleship, together with his great and distinguished Admiral; and it may interest your readers to read the following little piece of history in connection with this distinguished painter.

When Verestchagin was in Boston some years ago, exhibiting his magnificent paintings in the old Cyclorama Building on Tremont street, I visited them frequently, together with the great crowds of many thousands that also came to behold these realistic marvels of the painter's art! Verestchagin's forte was Realism; he did not paint in accordance with his own whims, fancies, theories, or imagination; but on the other hand, he carefully studied his subjects thoroughly, and with exhausting research, so as to get all the facts respecting them, before he began to even think of painting them; and then, having gathered all the facts in general and especially in detail, he then set himself to work to paint his subjects in exact accordance with these facts thus precisely and laborously gleaned. Hence his pictures are, as I said above, wonderful marvels of an exactness to Realism, and fascinating portrayal of the truth of things, that is probably without a likeness, and certainly without a rival in the world!

As a Minister of the Gospel, my attention was naturally much absorbed with and given to his picture of the Crucifixion. This is a magnificent picture, and full of inspiration, and Spiritual touch; but I wondered at the time of his treatment of this great subject, because, to be brief, he gives most space on the canvas to the Wall of Jerusalem and to the personality of the crowd, which the Gospels tell us were present when our Dear Lord was Crucified; and he puts the three Crosses, with our Blessed Saviour in the middle away off on the extreme side of the Picture; and I wondered why he did this. Because reasoning that Verestchagin's forte was Realism, I could not but say to myself—Oh, I should love to see his Realistic portrayal of Jesus Crucified! And why, therefore, did he not give Christ Crucified the centre and most important place on the canvas? Why did he not spend all his time and effort and skill and art, upon the portrayal of Christ Almighty Crucified?

Well, to make a long story short, in course of time I made a personal appointment to meet him in Washington, D. C., at his hotel; and when I met him, I was impressed with his fine personality, tall and straight and above six feet in stature, with large handsome face and full beard, and venerable appearance, I felt at home at once with him, remembering that he was both a member of and a Communicant in the Greek Church, which believes in, loves and obeys, and endeavors to glorify the very same Jesus, that we do. Therefore, I plunged into my subject, so to speak, "In medias res," and I said,—Dear Sir, realizing that your great forte in painting is Realism, I have wondered, why, in looking at your magnificent Picture of the Crucifixion, you did not give the Figure of our Lord Crucified, a more conspicuous place upon your canvas? and especially so when I think that if in your portrayal of Christ, you had followed your wonderful Realistic genius and gift, you would have given to the world a great and marvelous Inspiration! For instance, if you had taken a large blackboard, and carefully written upon it all the hundreds of different Titles given to Jesus, from Genesis to Revelation, and then taken pains to follow verbatim et literatim both the letter and the Spirit of "The Word of God" in this supernatural and divine Word-Painting of our God and Saviour, remembering also to give the exact personal description of Christ's physical appearance, as recorded in Canticles, fifth Chapter, 10th to 16th verses, wherein "It is written" THAT HIS HAIR WAS BLACK AS A RAVEN, (which you will observe is so entirely different from the ignorant and mistaken way many painters have pictured the color of His hair!); and then letting your eye rest and feed upon all these many hundred different Word-Pictures of Christ, and also in your mind and heart praying in the Holy Ghost at the same time, Almighty God would give you the Divine Inspiration, skill, knowledge, wisdom, and power and ability to put upon the canvas a picture of Christ our God and Saviour, which would startle and captivate the world!

The great Painter, Verestchagin, listened to me most attentively and earnestly; and finally a look of distress and pain passed over his fine features, and putting his hand to his brow he exclaimed,—"O YOU DO NOT KNOW HOW HARD IT IS TO PAINT GOD!"

And in that bitter cry from his heart, I found my answer to the question, Why he put the three Crosses with Jesus away on one side of the picture, as it were, in such an insignificant place! It was because his own Realistic ability however great and profound, was not yet equal to the task of PAINTING GOD as he realized Christ should be depicted upon canvas.

And now this great and good Painter, Verestchagin, has "crossed the Jordan!" May he Rest in Peace! And may God grant him the fullest entrance into the Bliss of Paradise!

"One Army of the Living God,
To Whose command we bow,
Part of the host have crossed the flood,
And part are crossing now!"
Amen.

MINNIE'S SEASIDE REST

This beautiful house, built by Mrs. Charles Green, of Baltimore, for many years one of Old Orchard's best known summer residents, as a summer resort for missionaries who need rest, is pleasantly situated on the shore near Googins' Rocks at Old Orchard Beach. The beach is six miles long, hard and smooth, offering the finest facilities for bathing and driving. The climate is clear and bracing, and the country, in the rear, with its fine carriage and electric roads, is a garden of grass and flowers. The water is exceptionally pure, and is freely used for all domestic purposes.

The house contains fifteen comfortable rooms, most of which have two single beds. Guests pay only for table board. All other comforts and privileges are free, including the dressing rooms for sea bathing. They bring their own suits and bath towels. Missionaries pay four dollars and other guests six dollars per week; children not received. Minnie's Seaside Rest opened July 1 this season, as in former years.

THE QUIET CAMPAIGN.

What ho!
No two ringed show
This year?
Dear, dear,
The times are out of joint
If we can't point
With pride
To our all wool and a yard wide
Campaign
And explain
To foreigners that it is the way
That we govern ourselves. Pray,
What is the reason
We can't whoop 'er up this season?
What insane
Willie boy started the notion of a quiet campaign?
Why, from time immemorial or Before That
Every man with a hat
Was privileged to throw it on high
And to tear holes in the sky
With his voice.
In fact, there was no choice
For him but to yell
And with bell
And horn
From early morn
Until far in the night
Raise a din to keep things running right.
But a quiet campaign!
Shades of George Francis Train
And some more
War
Horses, what are we coming to? Or, to come out flat,
Where are we at?
No cheers
Of course means no beers;
No jokes,
That stands for no smokes.
Oh, lackaday!
The thing will never do. Take it away!

He Followed Her.

"How entrancing is nature when dressed in the gorgeous robes of summer?" said the romantic young girl as they drove along the country road behind a team of sober sorrels. "Intermingled in the roadside tangle are the rich tints of yellow and red and green as no artist, however inspired, could imprint them on canvas. In the composite whole of nature's rugged panorama there is no jangling note. Though here and there may be a dash of color in profusion that the hothouse landscape gardener might not approve of, yet taken in its entirety there is a harmony that could not be brought about by a studied design. Don't you think so, John?"

"It is all of that," replied John, groping about, somewhat dazed, but determined not to show it. "I said this morning that Bascom would get himself talked about for not mowing down the weeds along his hedgerow, and he deserves every word of it."

Their Salaries Show It.

EXPLANATORY.

This is one of the most interesting mining propositions ever presented to New England investors. Through the recent death of the former owner of the "Jeffries' Claims," (consisting of 4 producing mines), the property reverted to the only heir, a resident of Portland, Me. The above syndicate closed negotiations for this mining property and are rapidly making arrangements to resume work and shipping which was discontinued only last December, 1903. Extensive operations have been conducted in these mines the past five years, and the last 50 tons of ore shipped to the smelter, 14 miles away, returned $136.50 per ton in gold and copper. The ore already blocked out will reach into the hundreds of thousands of tons. Any one of the 4 mining claims is a stupendous mining proposition in itself. The dyke of ore measures 80 feet wide and extends over four-fifths of a mile long covering four foot hills of the Bradshaw Mountains in the World-famous "Verde Belt." No such mineral wealth has ever been discovered in any other section in the country. In a few brief weeks the Bradshaw Mountain R. R. will reach our property, and we have letters from smelters desiring to purchase all our ore because of its high grade; and we have other evidences to prove beyond contradiction, this to be one of the most magnificent mining propositions of recent years. Scores of visitors have already investigated, and subscribed for stock at 50c per share. The allotment is growing smaller and is very limited. Everybody is invited to investigate, also use our Information Department to look up the value of their present holdings in stocks or bonds.

OCEAN PARK

Mrs. E. H. Frothingham of Arlington Heights is the latest arrival at Sunshine Lodge.

The Biblical Institute under the able direction of Dean Howe of Bates, is being greatly enjoyed by the students of church history who are sojourning at the Park.

We are glad to see the genial face of Prof. G. B. Files of Lewiston in our midst once more. He is making his headquarters at the Billow house.

The opening of the School of Oratory and the physical culture classes promises well. We are glad to have Miss Porter with us again as instructor in these branches, and the fact of her presence insures success.

Prof. W. G. Ward, who comes to us for the first time, is making a very favorable impression with his illustrated lectures of Greek and Egyptian art, and he handles his subject, "The Clash of the Two Civilizations" in a masterly manner.

Prof. Albert Briggs, musical director, is again in charge of the chorus, and his coming is hailed with delight by his friends of former years. A grand concert will be given Saturday evening under his direction by the Assembly artists assisted by Prof. Herbert Davis, reader.

The twenty-fourth annual session of the Chautauqua assembly, which opened Monday, bids fair to excel, if possible, and aims to preserve the same high standard of previous years. With the Rev. W. J. Twort as presiding officer, each session is opened with characteristic promptness and energy and all details looked after.

The board of managers of the Free Baptist Woman's Missionary Society is holding morning sessions at Curtis Home this week, and much important work is being done. The national president, Mrs. Mary A. Davis of Ocean Park, is presiding. The other members present are Miss L. A. DeMerritte, Mrs. Mary R. Wade, Mrs. O. W. Fulham, Miss H. A. Deering, Mrs. M. W. Thomas of Maine; Mrs. C. A. Ricker, Mrs. M. G. Osgood, Mrs. A. M. C. George, Mrs. G. C. Waterman, Miss Flora Tuck, of New Hampshire; Mrs. E. A. Page and Mrs. F. S. Mosher, of Massachusetts; Mrs. A. M. Metcalf and Mrs. E. H. Andrews of Rhode Island and Mrs. L. M. P. Durgin of Minnesota.

Miss L. C. Coombs of Midnapore, India, is attending the meetings of the F. B. W. M. S. Board.

Dr. and Mrs. Frank Durgin of Winnebago City, Minn., called upon friends at the Park recently.

Miss Lane, who has been so successful in other years, is again doing good work with the children.

Mr. George F. Andrews, a business man of Providence, R. I., Mrs. Andrews, publisher of the Missionary Helper, and their daughter, Lydia, have arrived at the Bassett cottage for the month.

The signs "To Let" have disappeared from nearly all the cottages, showing that our season is at its height and that a prosperous year is assured. On Monday between forty and fifty trunks were received at the little station.

The beautiful summer home of F. D. Folsom of Portland, just completed on Temple avenue, is now occupied by the family. We note with pleasure the increase in the number of fine, well built houses which help to make the Park more attractive.

Miss Mabel Young, a 1904 graduate of Storer college, is spending a few days at "Pinehurst," Randall avenue. Miss Young is a colored young woman of promise, and an honor to the institution which stands as an enduring monument to the memory of John Brown.

Prof. H. A. McDonald, president of Storer college, W. Va., with Mrs. McDonald and little Frances, is to spend the month at the Park. They are located at the Baker cottage on Randall avenue. Mrs. Mosher, wife of Hon. G. F. Mosher, editor of the Morning Star, is spending the week with them.

A Through Sleeper.

People do not generally understand that there is now a through sleeper running between Portland and St. Louis, via the Maine Central and Wabash lines, leaving Portland every Monday and Thursday at 9 p. m., the trip being made in 41 hours, reaching St. Louis Wednesdays and Saturdays at noon.

This car seems to afford most excellent accommodations for the return of summer tourists now sojourning in Maine, the service being first-class in every respect, opportunity for meals being provided in dining cars attached to the train on which the through car is run.

The Mirror on Sale.

THE MIRROR is on sale at the following places: Armstrong's and J. L. Scamman's news stands, Old Orchard house, Irving house, Ocean Park Reading Room, Bay View house, and W. L. Streeter's, Saco. Also by newsboys, and at the office of publication, Porter block, opposite the depot.

The W. C. T. U. Institute.

The Interstate W. C. T. U. institute and temperance conference opened at the Old Orchard campground Tuesday and continued until Wednesday night. Words of welcome were spoken by Rev. Israel Luce, president of the Old Orchard Campmeeting association, and Mrs. Gertrude Stevens Leavitt of Portland for Maine. The response was by Mrs. Cornelia B. Forbes, president of the Connecticut union. Then followed the organization of the institute, appointment of committees and other business. A number of interesting topics were discussed at a symposium.

Mrs. L. M. N. Stevens of Portland, president of the National and Maine W. C. T. U., who was expected to preside, was detained at the national headquarters at Evanston, Ill., by important business. A letter expressing her regret was read.

Mrs. Katherine Lent Stevenson, president of the Massachusetts state W. C. T. U. presided at all the sessions. The state presidents of Connecticut, New Hampshire and Vermont were also present. The forenoon session was devoted largely to a consideration of the question of promotion of co-operation between officers and members, the duties of members and how to increase union membership. The papers were by Mrs. Cornelia B. Forbes, state president of Connecticut; Mrs. Stevenson, state president of Massachusetts; Mrs. Sanderson of Canada, treasurer of the World's W. C. T. U.; Dr. Lurena Chubbuck of New Bedford, Mass.; Mrs. C. M. Abbott, state president of New Hampshire; Mrs. M. E. Cheney of Boston.

W. J. Thompson, state lecturer of the Maine state grange, delivered an address in the afternoon, in which he took an optimistic view of the evolution of national reforms and highly praised the work of the organization. Mrs. Callie H. Howe, national organizer, spoke against the license system. She referred to its entrenchment in politics and declared that the license law is as frequently and grossly violated as the prohibitory law.

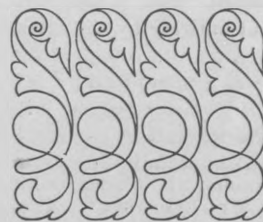

The addresses Tuesday evening were by Mrs. Ellen R. Richardson of New Hampshire, Mrs. C. B. Forbes of Connecticut, Mrs. Stevenson of Massachusetts and Miss Cornelia Dow of Portland. "What Maine Has Learned Through Prohibition" was the subject of Miss Dow's address, a subject upon which Mrs. Stevens, the national president, was assigned to speak.

What An Experienced Editor Says.

Mr. Edward M. Yates, in his bright and interesting publication, the Old Orchard Sea Breeze, refers to THE MIRROR in the following generous words:

The SEA BREEZE greets the annual return of its big brother, the Old Orchard Mirror, with a glad hand and a vote of thanks for its prompt recognition. No seaside resort of the size of Old Orchard is well equipped without an up-to-date summer paper. It supplies desired information and entertainment for both landlord and guest, obtainable from no other source, while it aids materially in the attraction of new patrons by making known to the outside world the desirability of the local resort as a summer home. As in other enterprises with a financial side, rivalry among New England summer resorts is sharp to a degree, and the best known, most judiciously advertised summer retreat, by the sea or on the countryside reaps, as a rule, the largest dollar harvest. While the ideal newspaper has not yet materialized, it is not overstating the case to say that The Mirror ranks well up among the best summer papers in New England, and Mr. Jones, its painstaking publisher, certainly deserves commendation and a liberal patronage.

Entertainment At The Irving.

The guests and their friends at the Irving enjoyed another of those delightful entertainments last Tuesday evening from eight to ten o'clock. The parlors were crowded, and a programme was carried out entirely by the talent of the house.

There was a piano solo by Miss May Gorman of Roxbury, whose father is on the reportorial staff of the Boston Herald; a violin solo by her sister, Miss Lilly Gorman; and a vocal solo by their mother, Mrs. Gorman. There were also vocal solos by Claire Butler of Worcester, and Robert Davidson of Roxbury, accompanied by his mother. The Misses Fisher of Mansfield, Mass., contributed a delightful vocal duet.

A. Fall of Boston made a great hit by his singing of the famous coon song, "Please Go 'Way and Let Me Sleep." Mr. Fall's whistling of the "Mocking Bird" was enjoyed by all.

Annual Convention of Christian and Missionary Alliance

ONE of the religious features of New England is the Old Orchard Convention of the Christian and Missionary Alliance. This always draws great crowds to the vast auditorium among the pines at the campground. This campmeeting has an old and famous history.

It was for many years the meeting place of Dr. Cullis' work, and has drawn the largest crowds of Christian workers for more than a quarter of a century. In recent years it has become widely celebrated through the great missionary offerings of the Christian and Missionary Alliance under the direction of Dr. A. B. Simpson of New York.

This year the Alliance Convention will be held for ten days, having begun Friday it will continue until August 15. This is a fine season of the year and large crowds are expected. Special preparations have been made for a most attractive programme. Every night stereopticon views of all the mission fields of the world will be given just after dark in the large auditorium, embracing Palestine, India, China, Japan, Africa, South America and the Islands. These will be followed by an evangelistic service on the grounds, conducted by Rev. P. W. Philpott of Hamilton, Canada, one of the most successful of modern evangelists.

There will be a daily session for Bible study conducted by such well known teachers as Rev. F. W. Farr, Rev. Kenneth Mackenzie, Rev. R. V. Miller of Georgia.

Dr. Simpson will have a daily hour as usual, for a special address. Twelve missionaries from India, China, Africa, South America, etc., will be present, and one or two addresses will be given on mission fields every afternoon.

Rev. Dr. Troy, pastor of the Sumner avenue Baptist church of Brooklyn, will be one of the special preachers of the campmeeting.

Mrs. Katherine Brodie of London, Eng., a most gifted lady, will hold a woman's meeting every day and give frequent addresses besides.

Rev. Dr. Wilson will hold his delightful children's meeting every afternoon. Other speakers will be Rev. Milton M. Bales, New York; Rev. A. E. Funk, New York; Rev. Ira David, Brockton.

A special collection of new hymns has been prepared for this great meeting, and the Service of Song will be very ably represented under the leadership of Rev. Henry Kenning, singing evangelist, aided by Mrs. M. Agnew Stevens, Miss Margaret Simpson and others, with instrumental accompaniment and a variety of solos and quartettes.

The opening exercises last evening at 7.30 o'clock consisted of a testimony meeting, in which Dr. Simpson made an address. Dr. Simpson will preach next Sunday morning, and the following Sunday the annual great offering for missions will be received. Saturday, August 13, the testimony to the reality of divine healing will be given at a meet-

Miss E. Louise Fernald led the devotional meeting in the morning. Rev. Chester Gore Miller of Massachusetts delivered a very interesting address to the ministers.

His address was earnest in tone and thoroughly practical. It received the warmly expressed approval of the ministers present.

Miss F. N. McLean, president of the Cumberland association, presided at the afternoon meeting devoted to consideration of the work of the young people and their part in the church.

The question, "Why Unions Succeed or Fail?" was taken up but the discussion took a wide range.

General Secretary H. A. Hersey of Tufts Divinity school made a very earnest and thoughtful address. He said that financially the unions have raised

Rev. C. E. Lund made a very earnest talk. In some way the young people should come to feel that the pastor has a right to say: "In the name of Jesus Christ I ask you to help on this cause."

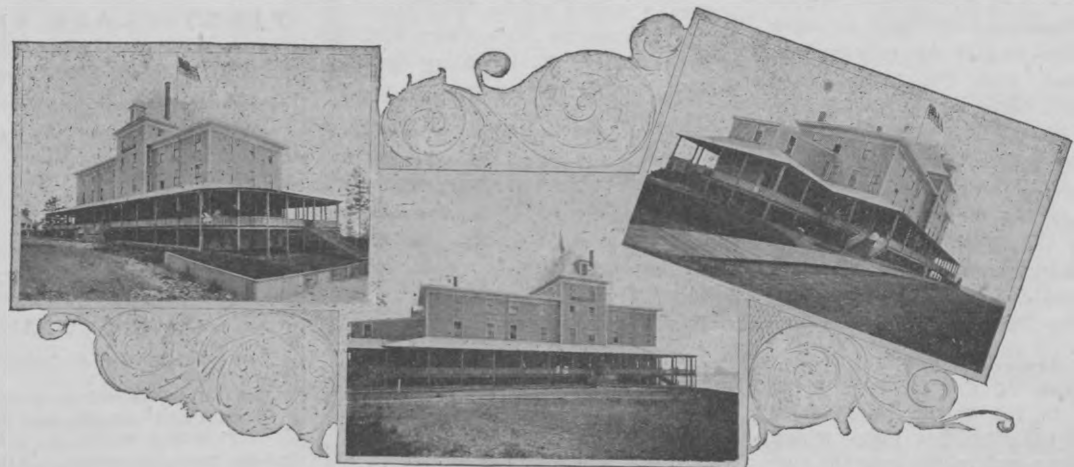

Miss Ellis strongly urged the importance of bringing in new members. The members of the unions today must bear the burden of the church work ten years from this time.

Minstrel Show at the Velvet.

On Friday evening, August 12th, the employees of the Velvet will present an up-to-date minstrel show for the guests and their friends of that house.

The show will take place in the commodious hotel ball-room. Admission will be charged. The program will comprise songs and dances and a maming at which Dr. Wilson will preside, and the anointing service will follow immediately.

Dr. Simpson will from day to day conduct the service for the teaching on deeper truth and life. At 5 o'clock each day there will be a meeting for the sick seeking divine healing.

The Ferry Beach Park Meetings.

The Universalist national summer meetings led by Rev. Dr. Shinn scored another decided hit or rather series of hits Thursday. The attendance was large and there were a series of interesting meetings.

The day apart from the session of the ministers' institute, was devoted to the Young People's Christian Union, and the members showed their interest in their special work by their attendance and words.

more than $100,000 for local churches and $75,000 for mission work. Better than all this there has been a deepening of the religious feeling and a stronger desire on the part of the young people to do something for the Master.

Miss A. S. Graves, the state president, said that the success or failure of a prayer meeting does not, as Dr. Abbott recently said, depend upon numbers but on the devotional fire and spirit. There must be a unity of thought and a desire to attain a higher spiritual life.

Mr. Williams of Georgia spoke earnestly of the necessity of enlisting young people in the work.

Dr. Nash spoke approvingly of the address of Miss Graves and Rev. John Murray Atwood added hearty words of commendation of the unions.

Dr. Shinn spoke briefly. He would use all possible methods by which young people can be made interested in the work.

moth cake-walk. All will be under the personal direction of Nat Woolfe. Nat has had some experience in this line and knows how a successful minstrel show should be conducted. Many of the regular visitors here will remember the show that was held at this same place during the season of 1901.

The program will appear in an early issue of THE MIRROR.

Standing Invitation.

Visitors at the beach are invited to call at the offices of the Consolidated United Verde Jr., Mining Corporation, whose offices are in Porter's Block, Railroad square, and thoroughly investigate the proposition of the above corporation any day or evening. (See ad this issue.)

Also through the information department visitors may have free access to reliable data of any securities, listed or unlisted, dealt in on any stock exchange or otherwise, embracing over 75,000 stocks and bonds. Those desiring to investigate some of their holdings will be interested in looking up the real value of the same, gratis.

THE STROLLER

Mrs. James York and Mrs. Willis Cole of South Portland have been passing a few days here this week.

Mrs. James A. Smith is having first-class patronage at her hair dressing parlors on Old Orchard street. Facial and scalp treatment carefully attended to. A chiropodist in constant attendance.

Mrs. N. W. Fiske and Miss A. Adams of Springfield, Mass., Mrs. O. H. Jasper and Mrs. A. L. Noyes of Tilton, N. H., Mrs. Maud Bowie and Miss Kittie Colcord of Waterville are guests at the "Frederic" on Union avenue.

Captain Gaskins of station 2, Boston, who has been a visitor here during the week, has spoken most highly of the good order that is maintained at Old Orchard during the summer, with the large number of people that come into the town.

Among those who attended the Republican county convention at Alfred Thursday were the following from Old Orchard: W. J. Mewer, M. E. Hill, F. I. Luce, H. A. G. Milliken, F. H. Colley, W. A. Whittier, E. B. Sears, F. A. Slidelinger, A. M. Chase and A. L. Jones.

Are you discouraged? Have all other opticians failed to give you relief? You should consult with Dr. Littlefield of Saco. He has testimonials from people who have consulted with the best specialists of Boston, New York, Philadelphia, Washington, Chicago and St. Louis, stating that he fitted them perfectly after these others failed. He makes no charge for examination.

An Armenian Legend.

Ararat, one of the most majestic mountains in the world, rises 17,000 feet above the vast flat plain which bears its name and reigns over the surrounding mountains. Early in the morning, while all the valleys of Ararat and the neighboring mountains are buried in shadow, the white top of the Scriptural mountain gleams beautiful in the first beams of the sun.

The Armenian people tell this story about the inhabitants of Pharbee:

Once the devil and a Pharbee man laid a wager as to which should first see the sun. The one who saw it first was to box the other's ears. "Very well," said the Armenian, and he lay down and slept sweetly, while the devil, itching to punish his enemy, stood looking eastward, and with eager eyes watched the whole night for the sunrise. Early in the morning the Pharbee man rose and pointing to the top of the Ararat, which was already shining in the sun, cried joyfully, "I see it!" The devil was vanquished. The Pharbee man, with his strong hand, boxed the devil's ears. Ever since that time the devil has been afraid of the people of the Armenian village of Pharbee.

On the Way Back.

"There is one good thing about playing the races."

"I can't see that it has a redeeming feature."

"You know walking is such healthful exercise."

City clerk Slattery of Lewiston has been passing a few days in town.

Rev. W. P. Lord and family of South Portland are passing the summer at Old Orchard.

Miss Anna W. Morse of Hartford City, Ind., is one of the music pupils of Mrs. Lucia A. Huff.

Mr. L. T. Block of swimming fame is to make a sensational dive from the end of the pier this afternoon at four o'clock.

The best photo work is always done at the Baker Studio on Old Orchard street. Groups taken at your residence, if desired. A fine line of beautiful souvenirs constantly on hand.

The Cygnet, Captain Clarence Goldthwait, Biddeford Pool, which has been undergoing repairs, is again running between Camp Ellis and the Pool.

Rev. J. True Crosby, pastor of the High street Methodist church, Auburn, and Mrs. Crosby, have been guests in town for a few days. Mr. Crosby was formerly pastor of the Methodist church in Saco.

One of the most distinguished visitors here this season is Miss Grace Smith of Boston, a cousin of the Marchioness of Donegal, formerly Miss Violet Twining of Frederickton, N. B. Miss Smith is located near the campground.

The Rev. C. R. Bailey, who has had the charge of St. John's-by-the-Sea during July, returned yesterday to his home in Manchester, N. H., his successor for August, Rev. P. C. Manzer of Gardiner, is expected soon.

A Great Forest Belt.

The northern belt of forests is perhaps greater in extent than all the other timber belts and reserves of Canada combined. It extends from the eastern coast of Labrador north of the fiftieth parallel in a northwesterly direction to Alaska, a distance of some 3,000 miles, with an average width of perhaps 500 miles.

How High Birds Fly.

Balloonists say that birds' flight is limited to 1,315 feet above the surface of the earth.

Rameses.

The greatest builder in the world is depicted in a well preserved statue in the British museum. Despite the wonders of modern architecture and building construction there is no question who deserves this title. His name is of course Rameses and his immortal work the pyramids.

To Test Steel.

The simplest way to tell iron from steel is to pour on the metal a drop of nitric acid and allow it to act for one minute. On rinsing with water a grayish white stain will be seen if the metal is iron; a black one if it is steel.

While there may be such a thing as Platonic love, the average healthy person would not think it worth while.

Love it not blind; it can see things in a man or woman that no one else can see.

An Animal Story For Little Folks

A True Patriot

Toby was the baby of the family, and, though they made a clown of him, he was no fool.

More than that, Toby was a great patriot.

His trainer had dressed him up in the stars and stripes, and Toby was very proud of that.

"Greatest day of my life when I got into them jeans," he used to say. "Mean to stand up for the flag, and anybody who steps on that suit of mine will have to step on me," all of which was literally true.

One day the clown came into the ring dressed as a Spaniard, with a funny Spanish hat on one side of his little head.

"Ought to be ashamed of himself," argued Toby, "to wear such a rig as

"HIT ME, BUT SPARE OLD GLORY."

That in the presence of the stars and stripes. I just won't act with him; that's all." And Toby sat down on his ample haunches.

"Get up, you!" shouted the clown.

But Toby never winked.

"G'wan out er here," cried the little fellow, "or I'll bang yer one!"

This was too much for Toby.

"He's insulting the American flag," he muttered. "I don't care for myself, but no feller in the Spanish rig is goin' er hit this flag." And he put back his two enormous ears.

"Hit me if you will, but spare Old Glory," said Toby in true Barbara Fritchie style.

The clown was angry. He brought his whip down on Toby—thwack!

Toby knocked him down with his left ear and spanked him with his right. As he did so he cried, "That's Manila Bay, and that's Santiago!"

They never saw that Spanish rig again.—Atlanta Constitution.

An Attraction.

The honest, worthy farmer,
With houses, barns and lands,
Who has an only daughter,
Who by her father stands,
Has never any trouble
In getting harvest hands.

Not Impossible.

"Is there such a thing as an honest alderman?"

"Possibly. You know accidents will happen."

Too Polite.

"How old do you think I am?"

"Old enough to know that I wouldn't say what I thought if I were to guess."

Force of Habit.

The statesman dead doth lie in state.
We honor thus the good and great.
When he's alive and roaming free,
He lies wherever he may be.

ESTABLISHED 1900.

Issued every Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday during the season, July 1 to Sept. 1, at Old Orchard, Maine.

Terms for the season, by mail, Seventy-five cents. Single copies, 3 cents. Advertising rates made known on application. For sale at all news stands, by newsboys, and at office of publication. Correspondence is desired from residents and visitors relative to any matter of general interest to this resort. Communications must be signed by the real name and address of the writer, not necessarily for publication, but as a guarantee of good faith. Copy must be forwarded Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays, previous to date of publication.

The Old Orchard Mirror endeavors to advance the best interests and prosperity of Old Orchard Beach, to foster all enterprises looking to the betterment of this rapidly expanding and developing summer resort, and to promote the pleasure and welfare of the increasing thousands who sojourn here annually, from various quarters of the world. Our aim is to accomplish these objects by utilizing all agencies within the province of a public-spirited resort publication.

As To Advertising.

There is a gigantic amount of advertising done nowadays, and great sums of money are devoted to this form of commercial enterprise by all the most progressive and prosperous business people in the United States. No doubt many thousand dollars are expended annually without accomplishing good results, but on the other hand there are other thousands that are spent in such a way as to greatly benefit the advertisers.

No person or combination of persons can successfully conduct a business in the present age without putting before the public frequently and in a generous way, the nature of the goods they wish to dispose of or the services they desire to render.

No one can controvert the statement that what little exploiting of Old Orchard's attractions and advantages has been done in the past, has resulted in great benefit to this resort, but there would be a far greater number of summer visitors here each season, and our income from this source might be doubled within a few years by a well directed campaign of advertising.

In reference to the financial support that has been accorded THE MIRROR locally, it has in many instances been quite satisfactory, but there are several engaged in business here, who for many years have been blinded to the necessity or advisability of encouraging a newspaper in this town, and as for announcing occasionally in the metropolitan press their continued existence and present location on this good earth, that is a needless detail, they think, and so they continue year after year to gather in what falls into their hands, but to reach out for an increase in business is something rarely thought of, and still more rarely put into practice.

The Republican County Convention.

The Republican County Convention was held in the town hall at Alfred Thursday, and was one of the most intensely interesting and largely attended conventions ever held in the shire town. Old Orchard people were especially interested in this convention since one of our well known and popular townsmen, William J. Mewer, was one of the leading candidates for the sheriff nomination.

One of the first things the convention did was to adopt resolutions, prepared by Dr. John C. Stewart of York, a Judge of Probate—Nathaniel Hobbs, North Berwick.

Register of Probate—Harry B. Ayer, Biddeford.

Eight nominating speeches for the eight candidates for sheriff were made, and some seconding speeches were thrown in.

The first ballot was as follows: George O. Athorne, Eliot, 45; William J. Mewer, Old Orchard, 30; Bodwell J. Grant, Acton, 28; Simon S. Andrews, Biddeford, 23; Edward A. Anderson, Limington, 21; Freeman E. Rankin, Wells, 18; Charles A. Durgin, South Berwick, 9; Col. James A. Place, Berwick, 8.

Before the next ballot, Candidates Place and Durgin withdrew. The vote stood:

Athorne, 52; Mewer, 37; Grant, 33; Andrews, 23; Anderson, 19; Rankin, 17.

The Biddeford candidate, who had been given the solid support of his city delegation, now withdrew, and Biddeford went over into the column of the Old Orchard candidate. Mr. Rankin also withdrew and his strength was had done in his behalf, announced his withdrawal from the field, and expressed a hope that the best man would win. Bedlam broke loose. Mr. Mewer at once, by his well directed remarks, won the favor of the convention and was cheered to the echo. The mercury climbed higher. Collars wilted and neckties were burst asunder as the delegates howled the names of their respective candidates.

When the committee figured up the tally on the sixth ballot the total number of ballots cast was 184, which was two more than the total number of delegates present, and the whole boxful was thrown out. But Athorne had so many votes to spare that it was plain he would win. He had captured practically all of Mewer's strength.

The seventh ballot stood: Athorne, 103; Grant, 78; Mewer, 1.

The convention cheered, Lawyer Asa Richardson of Kennebunk, a Grant leader, moved to make it unanimous, and the convention so voted.

Then the treasurership fight was taken up at 3 o'clock, and dragged through prominent temperance man, who headed the resolutions committee. This platform declared, among other things:

"That we pledge to the candidates for county attorney and sheriff, and all others whose duty it is to enforce the prohibitory law, our hearty and united support in all their efforts to strictly and impartially enforce the same, and shall hold them strictly to account for the faithful and impartial performance of that particular duty, as well as every other duty by statute or good government imposed upon them."

Another plank of the platform opposed resubmission of the prohibitory amendment.

These nominations were made by acclamation:

Senators—Fred J. Allen, Sanford; John B. E. Tartre, Biddeford; Joseph W. Simpson, York.

County Attorney—George L. Emery, Biddeford.

County Commissioner—Edwin A. Hobson, Buxton.

Clerk of Courts—Willis T. Emmons, Saco.

divided between Athorne and Grant. This ballot stood:

Grant, 63; Mewer, 57; Athorne, 56; Anderson, 5.

Biddeford now took a new turn, casting its 22 ballots for Athorne, in order to show him a friendly spirit, and because the vote of Candidate Grant was getting dangerously near the winning mark. Mr. Grant gathered some more strength and the mercury went up several degrees. This vote stood:

Grant, 81; Athorne, 68; Mewer, 31; Anderson, 1.

On the fifth ballot Athorne and Grant gained a little, and Mewer's support faded perceptibly. The figures were: Grant, 85; Athorne, 74; Mewer, 23.

Grant was now within seven votes of the number necessary to nominate, and it was plain that if something wasn't done by Mewer's men Grant would be the nominee. The ballots had begun to drop when Old Orchard's ex-chief of police climbed on a settee, got the attention of Chairman Higgins, and having thanked his supporters for what they an hour or more, Deacon Palmer A. Twambley of Kennebunkport winning on the fourth ballot. The vote stood:

First ballot—George M. Phenix, Alfred, 56; J. Merrill Lord, Parsonsfield, 55; Palmer A. Twambley, Kennebunkport, 27; Parker C. Wiggin, Kennebunk, 17; Ferdinand E. Tripp, Lyman, 3.

Second ballot—Phenix, 65; Lord, 40; Twambley, 39; Wiggin, 3; Luce, 2; Tripp, 1.

Third ballot—Phenix, 51; Twambley, 42; Lord, 37; Wiggin, 2; Luce, 1.

Fourth ballot—Twambley, 67; Phenix, 46; Lord, 1.

The convention adjourned about 4 o'clock, and a large crowd congregated on the beautiful, well shaded lawn in front of the court house, to listen to speeches by Hon. William T. Cobb of Rockland, Republican candidate for governor, Congressman David J. Foster of Burlington, Vt., and Country Attorney George L. Emery of Biddeford. Congressman Amos L. Allen of Alfred, who resides at Old Orchard during the summer months, presided over the exercises.

Dr. Medina and mother of Lowell have arrived at the Aldine for the rest of the season.

The family of J. B. Sidley of Lawrence has arrived at the Aldine for the rest of the season.

Mrs. A. H. Gilman of Lawrence is again at the Aldine. She has spent several seasons at this house.

Frederick Kerr of Montreal, another member of the Kerr family which has patronized the Irving so long and faithfully, has arrived at that house for a short stay.

The Misses Marguerite and Abbie McMorrow of Woburn, Mass., have arrived at the Irving for their usual summer stay. They have been guests of the house in former years.

Mrs. A. L. Byers of Providence is again at the Irving. She is an old guest of the house and her pleasing personality always makes her coming looked forward to and her stay enjoyed by all.

Mrs. G. G. Clough of Worcester, with her son, John A. Clough, and daughter, Cora B. Clough, is registered at the Irving. The son is an attorney and real estate man of some prominence in his native city.

The Misses Bertha and Theresa Lautenbach of New Haven, Ct., are spending their first season at Old Orchard this summer. They are at the Irving and are very favorably impressed with our various attractions.

Mrs. W. E. Everett of Worcester has arrived at the Aldine for an extended stay. She is an old guest of the house. Mrs. Everett adds much to the enjoyment of the guests at the Aldine by her excellent singing.

Last Thursday evening there occurred at the Velvet one of the most delightful hops which Old Orchard has seen for some time. It was the usual full dress affair but everybody seemed to enter into the spirit of the occasion and dance as they had never danced before. A new feature was added in the shape of german figures.

Bowling Notes.

And still they roll, and still the records go up. Miss Peyser has raised her own score of 151 to 159 in big pins at the Cleaves Alley.

Two of the most persistent bowlers at the Field Alley are Mrs. Harry Watson and her daughter, Annie, of Hinsdale, N. H. Miss Watson has for some days held the ladies' duck record at 81. But the other day her mother beat her out by one pin, and Miss Watson has had to surrender her laurels. Scores now stand:

At the Cleaves Alley:

BIG PINS.

Gents—J. H. Baker, Worcester, 221.
Ladies—Miss Mary V. Peyser, New York, 159.

CANDLES.

Gents—Fred A. Knight, Portland, and P. Hanley, Brookline, 116.

Mrs. Beaudoin and daughter of Montreal have returned to the Irving from a short trip to Boston.

Will J. Eaton, clerk of the Hotel Ramsdell, Warren, Mass., is a guest at the Lawrence House.

A very pleasant little hop was enjoyed by the guests and their friends at the Everett last Thursday evening.

Mrs. and Miss Bradley of Toronto are again at the Abbott. They have been at this house for several seasons.

Robert Gilford, a prominent hotel man of Woburn, Mass., is at the Irving with Mrs. Gilford for an extended stay.

D. McHaffie and wife of London, Ont., are again at the Irving after a long absence. They were regular guests at this house some years ago.

During August the Velvet orchestra will give a concert for the guests in the spacious sun-room of that house every Sunday afternoon from three to five.

William Gailbraith and family of Montreal have arrived at the Velvet for the remainder of the season. They have been at this house for several summers.

Mrs. T. P. Talpey and daughter of Passaic, N. J., are registered at the Irving. This is their first visit to Old Orchard and they are greatly pleased with everything.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Osborne of Montreal are expected at the Western soon to visit the Slater family. Mr. and Mrs. Osborne were at the Western last year with the Slatters.

The Ocean House, J. C. Pierce, proprietor, is enjoying an excellent patronage. There are almost twice as many guests in the hotel as can be seated in the dining room at one time.

The Everett is able to supply in a measure what has always been lacking at Old Orchard—young men. This house is the proud possessor of seventeen, all young, lively and unmarried. They have organized a base ball team and a schedule of games is being arranged. They would like to hear from any amateur team that is near enough to make the playing of a game practical. This is a step in the right direction. Let us hear of other hotel nines.

Ladies—Miss May Davis, Portland, 91.

DUCKS.

Gents—J. E. Bassett, Old Orchard, 97.
Ladies—Miss Alice Warren, Brooklyn, 95.

At the Field Alley:

BIG PINS.

Gents—Z. P. Benoit, Montreal, 242.
Ladies—Miss May Osman, New York, 134.

CANDLES.

Gents—Bert S. Francis, Old Town, 114.
Ladies—Miss Mayme Ware, Fairfield, 84.

DUCKS.

Gents—Harold White, Old Orchard, and S. Dillon, Montreal, 107.
Ladies—Mrs. Harry Watson, Hinsdale, N. H., 82.

EXPLANATORY.

This is one of the most interesting mining propositions ever presented to New England investors. Through the recent death of the former owner of the "Jeffries' Claims," (consisting of 4 producing mines), the property reverted to the only heir, a resident of Portland, Me. The above syndicate closed negotiations for this mining property and are rapidly making arrangements to resume work and shipping which was discontinued only last December, 1903. Extensive operations have been conducted in these mines the past five years, and the last 50 tons of ore shipped to the smelter, 14 miles away, returned $136.50 per ton in gold and copper. The ore already blocked out will reach into the hundreds of thousands of tons. Any one of the 4 mining claims is a stupendous mining proposition in itself. The dyke of ore measures 80 feet wide and extends over four-fifths of a mile long covering four foot hills of the Bradshaw Mountains in the World-famous "Verde Belt." No such mineral wealth has ever been discovered in any other section in the country. In a few brief weeks the Bradshaw Mountain R. R. will reach our property, and we have letters from smelters desiring to purchase all our ore because of its high grade; and we have other evidences to prove beyond contradiction, this to be one of the most magnificent mining proposition of recent years. Scores of visitors have already investigated, and subscribed for stock at 50c per share. The allotment is growing smaller and is very limited. Everybody is invited to investigate, also use our Information Department to look up the value of their present holdings in stocks or bonds.

OCEAN PARK

We are glad to see Mrs. R. E. Read, mother of Mrs. Albert Briggs, at Ocean Park again.

Mr. Lewis B. Stillman of Providence is registered at the Granite State.

Rev. Lewis Dexter and daughter, Miriam, are here for a few days.

H. W. Berry, a piano dealer in Boston, is with us again this year.

Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Whittemore of Worcester are at the Granite State.

Mrs. Lena Wheeler and daughter, Ethel, of Plainville, Mass., are spending this week at the Park.

Mr. Clarence Bowen, M. I. T. '07, has come for the remainder of the season.

Next Tuesday is Chatauqua Rally Day and all Chatauquans are requested to attend the exercises of the day and wear their badges or class colors. Rev. W. E. Wolcott, who is to make the addresses is an able speaker and an enthusiastic Chatauquan.

The lecture on "Light and Illuminating Engineering," which has been advertised for Wednesday evening, August 10, will be omitted as Prof. W. D. A. Ryan; who was to have given it, is ill with typhoid fever. As fine talent as possible will be secured, however, for that evening.

Prof. Briggs and his wife are just as ready to lend a hand as they were seven years ago. Time seems to have forgotten to anoint them, for their faces are brighter and their voices finer than ever. They have with them several artists who have been here in years gone by. Mrs. Mabel M. Briggs, who was here thirteen years ago possesses a splendid, full, low-toned voice. Mr. Robert Bruce, who sang so well in a cantata several years ago, has the same solid, deep tones and Mr. Robert N. Lister is as fine a tenor as ever. These excellent singers, together with Mrs. Robert N. Lister, whose voice is very pleasing, gave the best concert Thursday that has been given in Ocean Park for years. The assembly chorus of about fifty persons sang very well. Mr. Frank Estes Kendrie played violin solos in a manner which is nothing less than wonderful. Miss Alida Donnell, reader of the evening, won everyone's heart, for she has the faculty of choosing selections which are exactly fitted to her ability.

Miss Ruth Gowen of Wakefield is visiting Miss Ethel Jackson!

Rehearsals are being held every afternoon for the children's cantata, "The Little Gypsy," which is to be given Children's day, August 13.

It is impossible for the Rev. Frederic Harlan Page to keep his engagements for Sunday and Monday next. Rev. Mr. Oliphant of Methuen is to speak in his place.

Mr. Charfes A. Eaton, manager of the Eaton Entertainment bureau, Boston, is here for a week or ten days. The boys are always glad to know that the genial Mr. Eaton has arrived.

Mr. O. M. Jewel and daughter, Caroline, have been here several times before, but this year we have the pleasure of welcoming Miss Jewell as assembly pianist. She is a teacher in the Vose School of Music in Lawrence, Mass.

Monday evening the Beacon Entertainers, Mr. Samuel Thompson Blood and Mrs. Ella Richardson Blood, are to be at the Temple. They are considered "artists of superior order."

Through August the Wednesday morning devotional services are to especially for the young people. Last Wednesday the service which was led by Rev. E. W. Churchill. was very well attended. Next Wednesday Mr. Wesley Paige, a Cobb Divinity student, will lead. Saturday mornings are to be set apart for the children. Mrs. Meriman of Portland presided today. The regular devotional services throughout the week have been so well attended that changing the place of the meetings from the chapel to Porter Memorial hall is being considered.

STANHOPE.

A Through Sleeper.

People do not generally understand that there is now a through sleeper running between Portland and St. Louis, via the Maine Central and Wabash lines, leaving Portland every Monday and Thursday at 9 p. m., the trip being made in 41 hours, reaching St. Louis Wednesdays and Saturdays at noon.

This car seems to afford most excellent accommodations for the return of summer tourists now sojourning in Maine, the service being first-class in every respect, opportunity for meals being provided in dining cars attached to the train on which the through car is run.

The Mirror on Sale.

THE MIRROR is on sale at the following places: Armstrong's and J. L. Scamman's news stands, Old Orchard house, Irving house, Ocean Park Reading Room, Bay View house, and W. L. Streeter's, Saco. Also by newsboys, and at the office of publication, Porter block, opposite the depot.

Entertainment at the Montreal.

A very pleasant vocal and instrumental program was carried out by the guests of the Montreal last Thursday evening. The parlors of the house were crowded with a very appreciative audience composed of the guests of the house and their friends.

There were songs by Mr. and Mrs. LeBel of Montreal, who are staying at the Atlantic, and Mrs. Hanson of Montreal, whose recital at the Seashore last Sunday evening has been so highly spoken of. She is summering at the Montreal. Mrs. Evans of Biddeford and Mrs. J. A. Faulener of Ottawa rendered a delightful vocal duet. Mrs. Evans also played a piano solo. Miss McNamara of New York, who is an elocutionist of no mean ability, contributed readings, as also did Miss Henrietta Beullac of Montreal. With the exception of Mr. and Mrs. LeBel, the talent was all local with the house.

Dedication of a Monument.

The dedication of the monument which has been erected on the site of the old fortification known as Fort Mary, took place at Biddeford Pool Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock, under the auspices of Rebecca Emery chapter, D. A. R., Biddeford, and was attended by many invited guests.

Mrs. Delia Rich of Old Orchard was one of the sextet of ladies who rendered "The Star Spangled Banner."

Fort Mary, which is supposed to have been named for Mary, wife of King William, was built in 1708 on the extremity of the point at the entrance to Biddeford Pool. Some £400 was appropriated by the general court for this object. The fort was demolished by order of the general court in 1733.

Cake Walk on the Pier.

There was a large attendance at the regular performance and cake walk on the pier, Wednesday evening. Over 1,400 tickets were sold, and all who attended were well pleased with the entertainment.

The star attraction was the cake walk between five couples of genuine colored people, who thoroughly understood their business as performers in this line. There were three cash prizees, aggregating $30, given to the three successful couples.

It is said that money talks, but it does not say a great deal for some people.

Some people who loudly insist that honesty is the best policy only have a theoretical knowledge in regard to it.

When opportunity knocks at some men's doors they draw the shades closer and keep quiet, under the impression that it is a bill collector.

A woman would not so thoroughly appreciate being an old man's darling if it were not for the salary that goes with it.

Your argument will convince the most obstinate man if you will show him where it is money in his pocket to believe that way.

Men who smoke five cent cigars usually turn to see if any one is looking when they purchase one.

Taming the Bad Man.

From the Bad Lands, where they muster
Men so mean they will not drown,
Bold, bad Bill, the broncho buster,
Whooped in, shooting up the town.
He was drunk enough to do it,
And he didn't care who knew it.

At the first hint of his sally,
At the first crack of his gun,
Citizens flew up the alley
Or wherever they could run,
Leaving him to have his way,
Boss of all he might survey.

As he shot holes in the village
With extravagance and vim,
Broncho Bill surveyed the pillage,
And the sight was good to him.
He was sorry that they ran;
He'd have liked to eat a man.

But a little woman's figure
Down the sidewalk came full tilt,
And the bad man dropped the trigger—
Clearly 'twas a case of wilt.
'Twas the wife he'd tried to lose,
And he trembled in his shoes.

OLD ORCHARD, MAINE, AUGUST 9, 1904.

PRICE 3 CENTS.

Twenty-One Years Ago

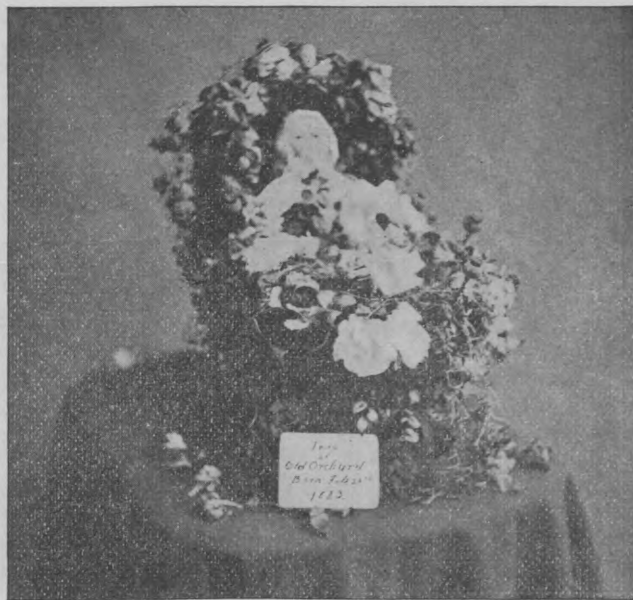

The following interesting sketch concerning Old Orchard was written by Mr. Edward M. Yates of this town:

OLD ORCHARD has a local record three hundred years old. On the 10th day of May, 1603, Martin Pring, an English sailor, came to Old Orchard, being the first white man of record to set foot upon the beach. Although a little early in the season, he could claim the distinction of being its very first summer visitor. His stay was brief, however, owing probably to a shortage of hotel accommodations. Notwithstanding the fact that this beach was nearly if not quite the first landing place of white men in New England, Old Orchard as an incorporated town may be said to have just now attained its majority. It was legally born twenty-one years ago the 20th day of February last, that being the date of passage of its enabling act by the State legislature.

The story of its "set off" from Saco, of which it was originally a part, briefly is this: Prior to the incoming of the Boston and Maine railroad, thirty-one years ago, Old Orchard was little more than an outlying bailiwick, its lands not valuable for farming, and its great beach practically unknown, except locally. With the establishment of communication with the outside world came the pulsations of a new and more progressive life. Lands which before were considered of little or no value began to soar in price, and a building boom was on. Almost as if by magic a summer city sprang up from what had been an arid waste of sinking sand. With the new life came new needs, a demand for local public improvements, which the ancient mother city was slow to grant. Then the resident Old Orchardites, more than one hundred strong, petitioned the State legislature to be set off and given all the rights and privileges of other towns. A vigorous campaign was waged, for it goes without saying that the city of Saco was far from being willing that any part of its ancient domain should be taken away.

Nevertheless, the legislature by unanimous voice granted the petition. To say that the birth of the new town was hailed with delight by the citizens would be putting it mildly. Twenty minutes after the act was signed by Governor Robie in Augusta, a fully fledged street celebration was in progress in Old Orchard. Cheers rent the air, guns were fired, bells rung and flags flung to the breeze. The irrepressible small boy, with drums and tin horns, joined in, and the scene was very like a celebration of the Glorious Fourth. On the evening of March second, an elaborate celebration took place in Littlfield's hall, consisting of speeches, music, a collation and a ball. Among the decorations, which were profuse and beautiful, was an Emblem Cradle, resting on the platform, formed entirely of clusters of smilax and other green foliage, and was imbedded with beautiful white and red roses. Inside the cradle rested a fair doll, to represent a new born infant, emblematic of the birth of the new town of Old Orchard. The sentiment was poetical as well as original. In front of the cradle hung a card bearing the inscription—"Old Orchard, February 20, 1883." Later the cradle and its occupant were photographed, making a handsome picture. Copies of this interesting souvenir are doubtless still in the possession of Old Orchard parties.

THE EMBLEM CRADLE

Mr. J. T. Eltinge Coming.

This famous Boston youth of Cadet and Banker show fame is to appear at the Sea Shore house ball room Wednesday evening, August 17. Mr. Eltinge's two entertainments last season will be recalled as the most fashionable and charming events of the season, and it is needless to say that he will excel his past records. A few new costumes, several new songs and unique dances are mentioned, and he will be assisted by three clever entertainers. Mr. Eltinge is summering at Kennebunkport with Mr. and Mrs. Andros Hawley of Boston.

At Camp Cobbosee.

Mr. H. R. Mooney from Columbia University, New York, has a Camp Cobbosee on Lake Cobbosee, about three miles from Monmouth, Me., a station on the Maine Central Railroad.

He takes boys from good families in the city to board, and this year, which is the second that he has been engaged in this work, he has twenty-eight boys. They have tents pitched in an open space about 200 feet from the shore, and four boys occupy each tent. They have quite a library for their use, a gymnasium to be used only on stormy days, and all sorts of games are indulged in. They boat, sail, fish, and in the evening gather about the camp-fire to write letters, play games, read and listen to stories, all of which they enjoy immensely. The camp opened June 28 and will close September

A Vigorous Campaign.

The nine-weeks summer campaign at the historic campground is in full swing. Col. Cozens, with a detachment of his gospel flying artillery, opened fire, followed by a systematic bombardment led by Dr. General Bates with his park of ecclesiastical big guns. Without giving the enemy time to rally, several brigades of missionary cavalry commanded by Dr. General A. B. Simpson, are to conduct a carefully planned attack, front and rear, and execute a brilliant final assault upon the treasure vaults of everybody in sight, foes and friends alike. Then come the holiness huzzars and white cross legions, an army with banners, marching to rare music a hundred voices strong, and last but not least, the W. C. T. U. hospital corps, with healing in their wings, to bind up, to soothe, to lend a hand. Surely no greater nor better variety has been included in the campground army menu for many a year.—Old Orchard Sea Breeze.

Mrs. Sarah E. McDuffee.

The funeral of Mrs. Sarah E., widow of Charles M. McDuffee, who died at her home in Old Orchard Saturday, after a long illness at the age of 70 years and six months, was held at 3 o'clock Monday afternoon at the Laurel Hill chapel, Saco. Rev. J. B. Jordan, pastor of the Saco Cutts avenue Free Baptist church, officiated, and there was singing by a quartette. The deceased is survived by one daughter, Mrs. John Leavitt of Old Orchard, and one granddaughter, Mrs. H. A. Hildreth of Boston. Interment was in the Laurel Hill cemetery.

Target Notes.

An interesting bit of bull's eye work was executed at the Field Gallery the other afternoon by a party of five. It can be seen that they all proved to be more or less expert with a rifle. The resulting score was:

ADDRESS

H. S. LEIGHTON, Sebago Lake, Me.
Open Through October

A Through Sleeper.

People do not generally understand that there is now a through sleeper running between Portland and St. Louis, via the Maine Central and Wabash lines, leaving Portland every Monday and Thursday at 9 p. m., the trip being made in 41 hours, reaching St. Louis Wednesdays and Saturdays at noon.

This car seems to afford most excellent accommodations for the return of summer tourists now sojourning in Maine, the service being first-class in every respect, opportunity for meals being provided in dining cars attached to the train on which the through car is run.

Dr. Simpson's Meetings.

Rev. Dr. A. B. Simpson of New York, leader of the Christian and Missionary Alliance, preached the principal sermon Sunday at the Campground. This series of meetings is regarded as of the most general interest. The attendance at all the sessions Sunday was large. The convention will continue until Monday of next week, and the annual missionary collection, always a feature of the convention, will be taken next Sunday.

Concluded Sunday.

The Universalist summer meetings at Ferry Beach Park were concluded Sunday. The meetings have been by far the best ever held there, and the attendance has been large.

17th—SEMI-ANNUAL RED FIGURE SALE—17th

Commences Thursday, August 11th

ONCE more the time has come for our popular Bargain Feast making the Seventeenth Red Figure Mark-Down Sale that we've offered the people of Biddeford and vicinity. Twice a year we inaugurate this "Reign of Terror" throughout our excess of stock—it's a thorough cleaning up process before the new season's goods arrive. Every odd lot, every broken, every laggard or slow seller is brought forward and placed on separate bargain tables and marked in Plain Red Figures that all may see. Losses are not given a thought in this BIG SALE. No sacrifice is too great. No nest eggs can be left over for another year; each season must bear its loss. Space forbids us to give prices, we will simply say that you can not spend a few hours at a better advantage than to call on us and see the marvelous bargains we are offering. All cars pass our door.

The Old Orchard Mirror endeavors to advance the best interests and prosperity of Old Orchard Beach, to foster all enterprises looking to the betterment of this rapidly expanding and developing summer resort, and to promote the pleasure and welfare of the increasing thousands who sojourn here annually, from various quarters of the world. Our aim is to accomplish these objects by utilizing all agencies within the province of a public-spirited resort publication.

The Season at Its Hight.

The summer resort business for Old Orchard is approaching the climax and will be at its hight during the next fortnight. There are a great many people here now, although there are ample accommodations for many more, and it is expected that the amount of spare room will be materially diminished before the middle of the month.

The cottages are well filled, better in fact than last year according to general report, and the smaller hotels and boarding houses have been reaping a good harvest during the past three weeks. The larger hotels are now getting nearly their complement of guests, although complaints have been made in regard to their patronage up to within the past week. The large number of business places all seem to be having a fairly prosperous trade, and the proprietors are anticipating better things within a short time.

The social life is up to the mark of former years, and a great variety of entertainment is furnished everyone at Old Orchard. The meetings, under the auspices of the various religious organizations, were never more enthusiastic and successful than this year.

All interested in the development and continued prosperity of Old Orchard should unite their forces to make this the banner August in our history as a summer resort.

An Attractive Home.

"Good Luck Cottage," the summer home of Mrs. M. Etta Powers, is one of the best situated residences in Old Orchard for the enjoyment of those pleasures for which tourists visit the famous seaside resort.

It is located upon Staples street about three to four hundred yards from the edge of tide-fringed, white, sandy beach which stands unsurpassed for beauty by any other stretch of white shore upon the ocean's coast. Facing the cottage is the justly famed Old Orchard house, an imposing caravansary which serves to shelter the Powers home from too rough a visit from the wind. The cottage is three stories high with excellent rooms, and the substantial character of the building makes it a desirable shelter on the cold, rough day, to which the seashore is treated now and then. Comfortably furnished, having been the winter home of Dr. Powers, now deceased, it meets the needs of the visitor, who makes a prolonged stay, and the excellent housekeeping ability of Mrs. Powers insures those creature comforts that a well-kept table supplies. "Good Luck Cottage" affords an ideal resting place, its commodious verandas stretching around two sides of the house are well screened, so that the delightful breeze is enjoyed upon the hottest day, while mosquitoes and flies are effectually barred.

Patronized by a refined, well-to-do class of guests the company is pleasant, while the expense for what is afforded is reasonable. Mrs. Powers is at present entertaining the following visitors:—Right Rev. B. B. Ussher and wife of Dedham, Mass.; Mrs. Nellie Brew of Boston and her son, Master Arthur Brew; Mrs. Helena Wrenn, Mrs. Frederick Wright of Lewiston, Me.; Misses Elizabeth Stevens of Denver, Col.; and Charlotte Ball of Lewiston, and the Misses Helen and Louise Chaplin of Bangor.

The house is very centrally located, being close to the Railroad Depot and Post Office.

Standing Invitation.

Visitors at the beach are invited to call at the offices of the Consolidated United Verde Jr., Mining Corporation, whose offices are in Porter's Block, Railroad square, and thoroughly investigate the proposition of the above corporation any day or evening. (See ad this issue.)

Also through the information department visitors may have free access to reliable data of any securities, listed or unlisted, dealt in on any stock exchange or otherwise, embracing over 75,000 stocks and bonds. Those desiring to investigate some of their holdings will be interested in looking up the real value of the same, gratis.

Bowling Notes.

The interest in bowling is as intense as ever, and the scores are fast getting beyond the competitive point. There is no change to record since our last issue. They stand:

Had an Object.

"Did you see Jones kiss his mother-in-law?"

"No, but I heard him bragging this morning that he would do something yet to earn a slice of the hero fund."

He Has To.

The humblest, if not of hard labor afraid, Can bring himself up to be classed as first grade.

Then don't be discouraged or mope in the shade, For even a bootblack may shine at his trade.

Judged by Sound.

"How many children has Jenks?"

"Three hundred and sixty-five."

"Impossible!"

"Well, he lives in the flat above me and I judge by the noise they make."

Neither; It's a Cinch.

"What profession or trade does he follow for a living?"

"I don't know whether it is a profession or trade. He married a rich heiress."

Mailed Free.

HOTEL PERSONALS

Mr. Thomas Pringle of Montreal is registered at the Velvet.

H. J. Levy and family of Boston have arrived at the Velvet for a short stay.

P. H. Mahoney and J. H. Stack of Boston are again at the Irving. These young men have been at this house for several seasons.

F. E. Young and family have arrived at the Aldine for the rest of August. Mr. Young is an extensive confectionery manufacturer of Philadelphia.

A. H. Gilman has joined his family at the Aldine, where they are spending the season. Mr. Gilman is ticket agent of the Boston & Maine railroad at Lawrence.

Anna B. Killoreen of Dover, N. H., has returned to the Irving for her usual summer stay. She spends a portion of every season there. As usual, she is one of the most attractive young ladies in the house.

Albert A. Cunningham, Esq., and ex-Senator John E. Drury of Lowell, arrived at the Carrell, one of the Ocean house cottages, on Saturday evening, much to the comfort of their wives.

W. T. Drowns and wife of Boston have arrived at the Western. Mr. Drowns is a prominent insurance man and is a lively, wide-awake person. They are friends of the Misses Florence and Ella Leavitt whose home is on Portland avenue.

A party of pleasant young fellows, including Augustine J. Faneuff, West Warren, Mass., W. J. Eaton, Warren, Percy N. Foley, and George E. Fletcher of Montreal made THE MIRROR a short call the other day. They are staying at the Lawrence, and are enjoying themselves to the full extent of their ability.

Mr. Barnes of New York is not reaping all the honors at the Velvet, as we have lately learned. It is reported that H. M. Miller, the Charley-on-the-spot room clerk, is shortly to cast off his vows of celibacy and enter the fold of the benedicts. The charming young lady from Worcester came; he saw; she conquered.

Prof. Chapman's third reading was given in the dining room of the Ocean house on Friday evening, and every seat was occupied. As usual, each selection was received with marked favor, but the most enthusiastic reception was given to the one from Hamlet. This reading was in honor of Thomas J. Feeney of the Boston Herald and his party and the Misses Day and Biglow, of Plainfield, N. J., who were to depart on Saturday.

H. E. Conrad, the capable head-waiter at the Velvet, is becoming more popular with the guests of that house every day. His excellent training and the superb service he gets from his waiters make him very efficient and correspondingly well liked. His ability is recognized by all. Mr. Conrad was chosen as the representative from the Velvet to officiate as judge at the cake walk on the Pier last week. He was unable to attend and Mr. Barnes was selected to fill his place.

Percy G. Crierie of Montreal is again at the Irving. He is an old patron of the house.

George B. Stoddard and family of Oyster Bay, N. Y., have arrived at the Velvet for an extended stay.

Alfred E. Lussier and family are at the Velvet. Mr. Lussier is a prominent barrister of Ottawa, Can.

Frank E. Starke of Montreal is registered at the Irving. He has visited this house for several seasons.

Miss N. A. Collins of Montreal has arrived at the Irving for an extended stay. She is an old guest of the house.

L. Minard and Robert Knox and families of Poughkeepsie, N. Y., are making an extended stay at the Aldine.

Mrs. L. M. Penny and Mrs. C. W. Hawkes of Mechanic Falls have taken the "Lochinvar" on West Grand avenue for the rest of the season.

Quite a little excitement was caused on the beach Monday morning by a small fire in the lunch cart just below the Velvet bath-house. The fire was easily extinguished with a near-by garden hose, and little damage was done.

George D. Googins visited his mother, Mrs. Googins of the Irving, over Sunday. Mr. Googins is a prominent druggist of Portsmouth, N. H. Mrs. Googins' nephew, Howard Googins, also visited her at the same time. Mr. Googins is with the American Express Company in Portland. He is well known and liked here, where he was in the express office for some time. He is an excellent musician, and some of his piano compositions are widely known.

J. T. Branson and wife are guests of the Ocean house. Mr. and Mrs. Branson have been at Old Orchard several seasons, coming first to the old Cleaves house, which was a continuation of the Lawrence cottage, after that house was burned, then to the Drake cottage, which the former owner of Lawrence cottage had purchased, and which is now the Ocean house, a part of the extensive plant of which Mr. J. C. Pierce is owner and proprietor. Mr. Branson is travelling auditor of the Grand Trunk railroad, with headquarters at Detroit.

Whist at the Irving.

A pleasant evening at whist was indulged in by the guests of the Irving last Friday evening. The party was under the management of Mrs. C. A. Monks and Mrs. Davidson of Boston. Nine tables were filled. The prizes were awarded as follows: gentlemen, Mr. George Grant, Montreal, first; Mrs. Davidson, second; ladies, Mrs. Guilford, Orange, N. J., first; Miss Crierie, Montreal, second. A similar party will be held tomorrow evening.

Baseball.

The Everett baseball team played the Old Orchard house nine on the Seaside Park grounds Friday afternoon and won by a score of 12 to 8. More hotels should form teams as these games are always interesting, and this sport is a feature of Old Orchard life which has been sadly neglected recently.

EXPLANATORY.

This is one of the most interesting mining propositions ever presented to New England investors. Through the recent death of the former owner of the "Jeffries' Claims," (consisting of 4 producing mines), the property reverted to the only heir, a resident of Portland, Me. The above syndicate closed negotiations for this mining property and are rapidly making arrangements to resume work and shipping which was discontinued only last December, 1903. Extensive operations have been conducted in these mines the past five years, and the last 50 tons of ore shipped to the smelter, 14 miles away, returned $136.50 per ton in gold and copper. The ore already blocked out will reach into the hundreds of thousands of tons. Any one of the 4 mining claims is a stupendous mining proposition in itself. The dyke of ore measures 80 feet wide and extends over four-fifths of a mile long covering four foot hills of the Bradshaw Mountains in the World-famous "Verde Belt." No such mineral wealth has ever been discovered in any other section in the country. In a few brief weeks the Bradshaw Mountain R. R. will reach our property, and we have letters from smelters desiring to purchase all our ore because of its high grade; and we have other evidences to prove beyond contradiction, this to be one of the most magnificent mining proposition of recent years. Scores of visitors have already investigated, and subscribed for stock at 50c per share. The allotment is growing smaller and is very limited. Everybody is invited to investigate, also use our Information Department to look up the value of their present holdings in stocks or bonds.

OCEAN PARK

Mr. Munger and son, George Munger, of Worcester are at the Granite State.

The committee in charge of the Leap Year Social, which is to be held in the Temple next Friday afternoon at three, have the plans well matured. Everyone will be freely welcomed.

The sermon Sunday from the text, "We are saved by hope," and the lecture Monday on "The Louisiana Purchase," were fine. Mr. Oliphant, on this his first introduction to an Ocean Park audience, made a favorable impression.

The annual meeting of the directors of the Ocean Park Association was held Saturday morning in the Association building. In the afternoon and evening the members of the Association met in Porter Memorial Hall.

The first beach service of the season was held at 6.30 Sunday at the foot of Temple avenue. Prof. Briggs led the singing, and Mr. Wesley Paige sang a solo. It was a most impressive service, a true service of praise. The full tide was humming its bass, and the setting sun was shedding its glory. The bright hues of the western sky were reflected on the eastern horizon and pale pink and blue clouds, draped like sheer veils, rested over the quiet ocean. No breaking billows, but a calm stretch of pastel sea—and on the sands a large gathering of men and women singing praise to their Maker. It is good to worship where Nature has been the only architect.

Last Saturday evening an excellent concert was given under the direction of Prof. Albert P. Briggs. Every number of the program was catchy and unique. It opened with two bright selections by the assembly chorus. The "A B C" duet by Prof. Briggs and his wife, the "apple" song by Mrs. Briggs alone, and the "Good-evening" quartet were especially taking. Mr. Frank E. Kendrie played a violin obligato to a solo of Mr. Bruce's and also to one of Mrs. Briggs' solos. Mr. Kendrie's tones were as faultless as ever. Miss Caroline E. Jewell handled a complicated piano solo with much skill. Prof. Herbert Davis read a most difficult selection from Charles Kingsley's "Hypatia." His rendering of it showed careful study and a thorough mastery of himself and the scenes and characters.

Rev. and Mrs. Tracy and the twins, Olin and Leighton, are at the Maine's cottage.

Ocean Park witnessed the arrival of a bridal party Saturday afternoon. The station platform was showered plentifully with confetti and a much decorated express cart of miniature dimensions conveyed the wedding baggage to its destination.

There was no lecture scheduled for last Saturday afternoon, so about a dozen Ocean Park young people went to Camp Ellis to fish from the pier. There was an elaborate display of fish-lines, but the lines of captured fish were less conspicuous.

We wish to call attention to the fact that the Woman's Convention opens Thursday, August 18. Miss Ellen Stone is to give her lecture on her captivity by brigands, on that evening and we, who have heard Miss Stone's thrilling recital of her experiences, can promise a most interesting discourse.

Next Thursday, August 11, is Recognition Day. The usual procession of Chautauquans will be formed at 1.30, followed by the passage of the class of 1904 through the "golden gate." The address at 2.30 is to be delivered by Rev. P. S. Henson, D. D., of Boston, after which the graduating class will be awarded their diplomas. At 4, in the Hall in the Grove, the annual banquet will be held. Prof. Davis is to act as toast-master. In the evening the cantata, "The Legend of Don Munio" by Dudley Buck, will be given. Prof. Briggs is very much pleased with the energetic spirit with which the chorus have taken hold of the work. The solo passages, taken by the several assembly artists, are alone worth the price of admission, but these together with the fine choruses make an evening of music long to be remembered.

STANHOPE.

Swam Around the Pier.

Charles B. McGrath, of Clinton, Mass., swam around the Old Orchard Pier, on Sunday afternoon. If we are correctly informed, this is the first time this feat has been accomplished, although several times attempted. Mr. McGrath's picture was taken from the end of the pier, while he was in the water, and when he finally emerged, at the completion of his task, hundreds of people assembled on the shore, gave him most hearty cheers. The swimmer was not accompanied by a boat. Mr. McGrath is a guest of the Ocean house.

Even when a man is looking for trouble he finds it in most unexpected places.

It is really scandalous the way some women allow their children to talk back to the women's husbands.

Many a lad who thinks he is the whole cheese is simply a chip off the old block.

A woman never boasts that her husband fell in love with her at first sight until she has him thoroughly trained.

When the heirs of a miser go in mourning it is usually a matter of form.

As a general thing free advice is worth all that you pay for it.

The difference between a boy baby and a girl baby is about a ton of pure deviltry.

It is a mighty obstinate man who will refuse to go in the direction a cyclone is going when he gets caught in one.

A girl who can't cook is about as useful as a clock that won't run.

Democratic Nominee for Clerk of Courts of York County

MR. JAMES M. RYAN, one of Old Orchard's most prominent citizens, received the honor at the Democratic county convention held in Alfred, June 30, of being selected as the nominee of his party for the office of clerk of courts in York County.

Mr. Ryan has been interested in local politics for several years, but did not actively enter the broader field of political affairs in the county until the campaign two years ago, when the fusion ticket came so near defeating the Republicans, especially their candidate for sheriff. Mr. Ryan was the efficient and industrious secretary of the Executive committee at that time, as he is at present, and it was due largely to his efforts that such a strong showing was made by the Democratic party. Having been chosen to fill the same position this year, he is devoting his energies with his usual zeal to accomplish still greater results at the September election.

Having been born in South Carolina about 55 years ago, the subject of this sketch was near many of the scenes enacted in the great Civil War, and witnessed the downfall of Negro Slavery in this country. He received an excellent education in the institutions of the South, and while yet a young man had considerable military experience in the turbulent times of the Reconstruction period following the Rebellion. He read law and is well versed in this great profession, having practiced it for some time. For many years he was identified with the management of large hotels in various parts of the country, and has travelled extensively.

Having located in Old Orchard several years ago on "The Homestead," the residence formerly occupied by Mrs. Ryan's father, the late E. C. Staples, Esq., Mr. Ryan has devoted the greater part of the time to his constantly increasing real estate business. He was the senior editor of THE MIRROR during the seasons of 1900 and 1901, in which line of work he showed marked ability, having had valuable newspaper experience in former years. During his permanent residence of about seven years in Old Orchard, Mr. Ryan has always taken a deep interest in local affairs, and has ever desired to promote those things that make for the advancement and prosperity of any community. He was among the first to favor the construction of the steel pier, and was a valued officer of the company. He was also the leading spirit in the movement to erect a town building, and our present handsome structure which was completed in 1900, is the result largely of his labors.

Mr. Ryan is a gentleman of engaging personality, and has a large circle of close friends. Courteous and genial towards all with whom he comes in contact, charming in manner and speech, a clever writer and a delightful conversationalist, he possesses those qualities which not only beget the characterization "a good fellow," but also indicate a striking individuality. He has the magnetism that attracts people, and once having made a friend, that friendship is likely to increase with the passing years.

JAMES M. RYAN

THE MIRROR has no doubt that the "Colonel," the sobriquet by which Mr. Ryan is best known among his intimate acquaintances, will make an excellent record not only locally, but throughout all York County in his contest for the election as our next clerk of courts, and should be the successful candidate, he will surely discharge the duties of the position with ability and credit.

Last night a delightful evening at whist was participated in by the guests of the Irving. The affair was under the management of Mrs. Davidson and Miss M. E. Burke of Boston. A dancing party is planned for this evening.

Well Known Newspaper Man.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur LaMalice and the former's sister, Miss Rhea LaMalice, of Montreal have recently arrived at the Irving House from Bretton Woods, N. H., and will remain here for a fortnight.

Mr. LaMalice is one of the most prominent young newspaper men in the Dominion, being business manager and having charge of the great advertising department of La Presse, which is admitted to have the largest daily circulation of any paper, without exception, in Canada. He also occupies the prominent and influential position of vice president of the Canadian Press Club, an organization with a membership of several hundred journalists. There was

Bowling Notes.

Plenty of bowling, but not of the record breaking kind. Teams are to be organized among the guests at Hotel Velvet, Hotel Fiske, the Old Orchard House and Sea Shore House, and several bowling contests will take place during the remainder of August. The Fiske team is in readiness now and challenges any of the other three hotels. The score still stands:

At the Cleaves Alley:

BIG PINS.

Gents—J. H. Baker, Worcester, 221.
Ladies—Miss Mary V. Peyser, New York, 159.

CANDLES.

Gents—Fred A. Knight, Portland, and P. Hanley, Brookline, 116.

Ladies—Miss May Davis, Portland, 91.

DUCKS.

Gents—J. E. Bassett, Old Orchard, 97.
Ladies—Miss Alice Warren, Brooklyn, 95.

At the Field Alley:

BIG PINS.

Gents—Z. P. Benoit, Montreal, 242.
Ladies—Miss May Osman, New York, 134.

CANDLES.

Gents—Bert S. Francis, Old Town, 114.

Ladies—Miss Mayme Ware, Fairfield, 84.

DUCKS.

Gents—Harold White, Old Orchard, and S. Dillon, Montreal, 107.

Ladies—Mrs. Harry Watson, Hinsdale, N. H., 82.

The Shriners Coming.

The members of the Aleppo Temple of the Ancient Order of the Mystic Shrine, including Vermont, New Hampshire and Massachusetts, will come to Old Orchard this year for their annual outing. The party including the families of the members, will number about three hundred. The affair will be under the direction of James S. Blake of Boston, Illustrious Potentate.

They will arrive Saturday, September 3rd, and will take in all the attractions that day, particularly the vaudeville and dancing on the pier. Sunday a clam-bake will be held at Ferry Beach Park. The party will leave for home late Monday, the fifth. The Shriners will make their headquarters while here at the Velvet.

Baseball.

The Old Orchard House overwhelmingly defeated the Everetts in the second ball game of the series played on the Seaside Park grounds, Tuesday afternoon. The score was 35 to 6. The Everett was badly handicapped by the loss of some of its best players.

It is expected that the Everetts will meet a Biddeford nine here in the near future.

Whist at the Aldine.

A pleasant little whist party was held in the parlors of the Aldine last Saturday evening, under the management of Misses Ottilia Netsch of Manchester, N. H., and Bernice Moulton of Lowell. Six tables were filled by the guests of the house. The ladies' prizes were awarded, first, Mrs. Tatton, Boston; second, Mrs. G. A. Park, Worcester. The gentlemen's prizes were, first, A. L. Gilman, Lawrence; second, Mr. Sullivan, Boston.

ADDRESS

H. S. LEIGHTON, Sebago Lake, Me.
Open Through October

The Portland Marketmen's Outing.

Wednesday was the annual field day of the marketmen of Portland and all the markets of the city were closed while the employes of the different establishments enjoyed the day at Seaside Park, Old Orchard. Special cars left Monument square at 8.15 a. m. and about 300 grocers, provision and fish dealers and their clerks came here. A fine program had been prepared by the committee, of which Chauncey W. Lombard was chairman, and included an attractive list of field sports and athletic events. The events planned for the forenoon and commencing upon arrival at Seaside park were: two games of baseball and rope pulls, three legged race, sack race, potato race, leap frog race, 100 yards dash, 50 yards dash, standing high jump, broad jump, hop, skip and jump, 50 yards dash, putting shot, pole vault, fat men's race, sack race, candle race, shoe race.

Commencing at 11.30 a. m. and continuing until 2 p. m., a shore dinner was served at the Alberta hotel.

Dancing was in order from 1.30 to 4.30 p. m., in the Arcade, with prizes for the best lady waltzer, best cake walker and best looking couple.

In the afternoon there were two ball games. Prizes were given for throwing baseball, oldest grocer, longest in business, best looking wife of a grocer, attending with largest family, largest eater at dinner and many others.

The committee in charge of the sports was composed of Messrs. Morse, Church, Knight, Gribben, W. Gribben, Bishop and Elliott.

17th—SEMI-ANNUAL RED FIGURE SALE—17th

Commences Thursday, August 11th

ONCE more the time has come for our popular Bargain Feast making the Seventeenth Red Figure Mark-Down Sale that we've offered the people of Biddeford and vicinity. Twice a year we inaugurate this "Reign of Terror" throughout our excess of stock—it's a thorough cleaning up process before the new season's goods arrive. Every odd lot, every broken, every laggard or slow seller is brought forward and placed on separate bargain tables and marked in Plain Red Figures that all may see. Losses are not given a thought in this BIG SALE. No sacrifice is too great. No nest eggs can be left over for another year; each season must bear its loss. Space forbids us to give prices, we will simply say that you can not spend a few hours at a better advantage than to call on us and see the marvelous bargains we are offering. All cars pass our door.

Having a Carnival.

Why isn't the question of again holding a carnival at Old Orchard this season a good theme for fruitful discussion? It seems to THE MIRROR that it is eminently fitting and proper to take this matter under consideration, along with the many other attractions that have been, and are now proposed for the entertainment of visitors to Old Orchard.

It has now been about six or seven years since a project of this kind has been put into operation here, and it seems that the present is an opportune time to make arrangements for another similar event. In former years the carnivals at Old Orchard were prominent features during the closing days of August, and did much to keep many guests in town, as well as to attract a large number of visitors from surrounding places.

The various hotel proprietors and other business men entered into the plan, and the fine parade of beautifully decorated teams and a great variety of other unique and well conceived features made a gala occasion for Old Orchard which all our older visitors will remember.

At the mountain resorts they have their successful coaching parades; Bar Harbor has its famous horse shows annually; Kennebunkport has just observed its yearly water carnival, which excited a great deal of enthusiasm as usual. And so we find that such interesting events are conducted with excellent results in other places where there are summer visitors, and there is no good reason why Old Orchard shouldn't do something in this line, that would equal the efforts of our contemporaries in neighboring places.

Let those who approve of this sort of thing get together and ascertain what can be accomplished.

THE EVELYN

Among the many attractive residences in Old Orchard is "The Evelyn," the property of Mr. Charles E. Fogg, pleasantly and centrally located on Staples street, near the shore and commanding a fine view of the ocean towards the south. This fine place was constructed about a dozen years ago, and has been rented during the past few years. It is now occupied by Mr. and Mrs. George Hall of Manchester, N. H., who were there last season.

Here And There.

Thousands of visitors here are prepared to assert that the bathing was never more enjoyable than it is this season.

There doesn't seem to be a very good outlook for horse racing at the Kite track this summer. It is a matter for regret that such an attraction should not be promoted.

We are well started on the second week in August, and every day now means much to the business interests of Old Orchard.

How very envious some places seem to be of Old Orchard's popularity and prosperity. This resort has always been a winner and is destined to be, so long as this mundane sphere continues to rotate on its axis and to revolve around the sun.

Old Orchard now and then gets some free advertising, in spite of the reluctance of many of our business people to take a hand in such kind of endeavor, along approved and legitimate lines.

A great many inquiries are made daily as to when the automobile races are to be held. THE MIRROR is not able to answer the question.

The dance hall in the Arcade at Seaside Park is well patronized every evening.

THE MIRROR has failed to ascertain definitely whether or not Di-

THE STROLLER

Miss Ida Quinby of South Berwick has been visiting here for several days.

Clarence G. Libby of Ocean Park is employed at West Rochester, N. H., for a few weeks.

George Ricker, whose home is on the Portland road, is one of THE MIRROR'S hustling newsboys.

Mrs. Cornelia Anderson and Mrs. George Dyer of Otisfield are staying here for a few weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Barrows of Otisfield recently visited here, the guests of Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Soule.

William C. Roussin of Biddeford has recently sold to Mrs. Esther Costello of that city his cottage at Old Orchard.

Miss Mary J. Burke, buyer in the ribbon department of the James W. Hill Co., of Manchester, N. H., has been spending a few days here.

Hon. and Mrs. C. H. Adams and son, Winborn B. Adams, of Limerick were the guests recently of Hon. C. M. Moses and family, Union avenue.

At the city clerk's office in Biddeford have been filed the marriage intentions of Frank C. Brown of that city and Miss Mabel B. Robinson of Old Orchard.

Mrs. Amelia Johnson of Syracuse, N. Y., returned Tuesday to occupy her cottage on Central Park avenue for the remainder of the season. Mrs. Johnson has been a regular summer visitor here for many years.

E. B. Sears, the manufacturer of "Peanutine" molasses candy, is occupying a booth at the New Arcade building, Seaside Park, where he is disposing of a great quantity of "kisses" every day and evening.

Rev. J. B. Delaney, recently appointed Bishop of Manchester, including in his diocese the whole of New Hampshire, was at Old Orchard a few days ago. Bishop Delaney is a very intellectual and scholarly man and an excellent linguist, speaking several languages fluently.

Interesting Relics.

Mr. J. C. Batchelder, who resides on Camp Comfort avenue, has in his possession some interesting relics of Old Orchard antiquity, being nothing less than two five-pound cannon balls. While engaged with his son, Clyde, a few months ago in hauling sand from the beach, Mr. Batchelder discovered these grim reminders of the time that tried men's souls embedded in the solid sand, about fifteen feet apart and four feet below the surface, a short distance south of Googins' Rocks. When the heavy coating of rust flakes was removed one of these balls was found to be in a fairly good state of preservation, while the other was considerably rust eaten, showing that they both had lain there many years.

How and when they came there are problems unsolved either by history or tradition. During the war of the Miss Clara E. Hooper of Biddeford is visiting here.

The regular monthly meeting of the Boston & Maine Agents' association will be held at Kennebunk next Saturday at 11.30 a. m. Several places of interest will be visited, including Cape Porpoise and Kennebunkport. Station Agent W. F. Fernald of Old Orchard is the secretary of the association.

Miss Edith Austin Pettingell and her sister, Miss Pearle Pettingell, of Dorchester, Mass., have been enjoying a vacation at Old Orchard recently occupying a cottage near the Campground. They formerly passed several weeks here for a number of seasons and made a host of friends among both the younger and older people whom they met.

It is very important that a person should look through the center of his glasses. Do you? The most perfectly ground lens loses its soothing effect upon the nervous system unless it is properly set before the eyes. Dr. Littlefield of Saco pays close attention to all these little details. You should take advantage of this generous offer and have a $5 examination free.

The picture of the "Emblem Cradle," from which was made the unique half-tone illustration that appeared in THE MIRROR, Tuesday, was kindly loaned the publisher of this paper by Mr. W. F. Fernald, our well known Boston & Maine station agent. Mr. Fernald has had this, as well as several other interesting views of Old Orchard, in his possession for many years.

Members of the reportorial staff of the Biddeford Journal made a tour of inspection about Old Orchard Tuesday evening, visiting numerous points of interest and viewing the many attractions offered in such an abundance at this resort. The trio included Edward Stone, city editor, Michael J. Twomey, Biddeford reporter, and Harry Harford, Saco reporter. They favored THE MIRROR office by a visit, and had an altogether enjoyable time.

Revolution there were families settled along the beach from Googins' Rocks to Saco river; and in 1775 Biddeford and Saco raised a sea coast company for the protection of settlers from attacks by sea, and a fort was built at Biddeford Pool, called Fort Mary. While no record of a naval or land battle at or near Googins' Rocks during that war period is known to exist, undoubtedly British war vessels sailed into Saco Bay, and may have bombarded the scattered settlements without coming near enough ashore to do any great damage. Much the same state of things existed here when the war of 1812 came on, as in 1775. The planting of these solid iron five-pounders in the sand at the "Rocks" may safely, we think, be dated as early as 1775, and not later than 1812. These interesting relics may be seen in one of the windows of Yates' hardware store on Old Orchard street.

It's called the dollar of our dads,
But still the name is hardly fit,
Because the coin is only his

St. Louis 5.00 p. m., carries Buffet, Library and Smoking Car, equipped with Bathroom, Barber Shop and Booklovers' Library; Pullman Drawing-Room Sleepers, and affords unexcelled Dining Car service en route.

The "NORTH SHORE LIMITED," via Michigan Central (Niagara Falls Route), leaving Boston 2 p. m., due Chicago 3 o'clock next day. St. Louis 9.45 p. m., is similarly equipped, and service is of the same high order. It depends only on the hour one wishes to leave and arrive, as to which is the better service.

The "PACIFIC EXPRESS" leaves 8.00 p. m. daily, due St. Louis 7.10; Chicago 7.30 second morning, with but one change of Sleepers, viz., at Buffalo at noon. Dining Cars en route.

HOTEL PERSONALS

J. E. Sullivan and family of Springfield, Mass., are at the Velvet for an extended stay.

Wellington, a capable mimic and entertainer, performed before the guests at the Everett last evening.

Archdeacon Casey of Lindsay, Ont., and the Misses Casey of Ottawa have arrived at the Velvet for the remainder of the season.

Mrs. George Smart and Mrs. Sarah E. French of Lawrence and Leona E. Whittier of East Boston have arrived at the Aldine for their usual summer visit. They are old patrons of the house.

G. A. Park and wife of Worcester are making an extended stay at the Aldine. Mr. Park is a member of the well known insurance firm of Tatman and Park.

Rev. John Gemley and wife of Troy, N. Y., who have been spending a month at the Aldine, are on a short visit to Winthrop. They will return to the Aldine later in the month.

The Misses Marks of New York have arrived at the Velvet for the remainder of the season.

Thomas Reilly of Randolph, Mass., is again at the Irving. He has been at this house for several seasons.

John W. McCarthy and family of North Attleboro, Mass., are spending the season at the Velvet.

E. A. Anderson of Worcester is registered at the Irving. He is a prominent dry goods dealer in his native city.

The management of the Irving report an excellent business, and the demand for accommodations much greater than the supply.

Last Tuesday evening the guests of the Everett were delightfully entertained by the jubilee singers from the Jenkins Orphanage of Charleston, S. C. These are the younger children from the same institution as the boys' band that has been on our streets several times lately.

Velvet Minstrel Show.

The following is the program of the Minstrel Show that is to be held in the ball room of Hotel Velvet tomorrow evening:

Overture. Hotel Orchestra
Opening Chorus
Medley—"Suwannee River."
Ballad—"When I Think of You."
End Song—"Mississippi Mamie."
Messrs. Green and Milford
Vocal Selection—"Good Night, Beloved"
Good Night, Miss Olive O'Dea
Duet—"Tell Me Dusky Maiden."
Miss E. Hancock and Mr. W. Howell
Vocal Selection—"Creole Babe."
Miss Ethel Gailbraith
End Song—"Laughing Water."
End Song—"Hannah Won't You Open the Door?"
Nat Woolf
Grand Finale by Entire Company.
A Cake Walk and Dancing will follow.

Mr. W. Miller will act in the capacity of interlocutor, and the end men will be as follows:—Bones, Miss E. Smith, Messrs. Cornell and W. Howell; tambos, Messrs. Nat Woolf, Green and W. Bailey.

The Music Festival.

It has been reported that in reply to the many inquiries in reference to a Music Festival at Old Orchard this August, Director W. R. Chapman announces that none will be given. It was impossible, so it is stated, for the Camp Meeting Association to arrange for the Festival on Saturday, and equally impracticable to attempt a Festival that did not include that day, so the plan was necessarily abandoned.

An Advance in Price.

At 7.30 o'clock Wednesday evening there was an advance of 20 per cent. in the price of the United Verde Jr. Mining stock, which has been selling for 50 cents per share. Mr. F. A. Sidelinger, the secretary of the corporation, announces that a still further advance may be looked for within a short time.

The best photo work is always done at the Baker Studio on Old Orchard street. Groups taken at your residence, if desired. A fine line of beautiful souvenirs constantly on hand.

Standing Invitation.

Visitors at the beach are invited to call at the offices of the Consolidated United Verde Jr., Mining Corporation, whose offices are in Porter's Block, Railroad square, and thoroughly investigate the proposition of the above corporation any day or evening. (See ad this issue.)

Also through the information department visitors may have free access to reliable data of any securities, listed or unlisted, dealt in on any stock exchange or otherwise, embracing over 75,000 stocks and bonds. Those desiring to investigate some of their holdings will be interested in looking up the real value of the same, gratis.

A Through Sleeper.

People do not generally understand that there is now a through sleeper running between Portland and St. Louis, via the Maine Central and Wabash lines, leaving Portland every Monday and Thursday at 9 p. m., the trip being made in 41 hours, reaching St. Louis Wednesdays and Saturdays at noon.

This car seems to afford most excellent accommodations for the return of summer tourists now sojourning in Maine, the service being first-class in every respect, opportunity for meals being provided in dining cars attached to the train on which the through car is run.

The Mirror on Sale.

THE MIRROR is on sale at the following places: Armstrong's and J. L. Scamman's news stands, Old Orchard house, Irving house, Ocean Park Reading Room, Bay View house, and W. L. Streeter's, Saco. Also by newsboys, and at the office of publication, Porter block, opposite the depot.

Mrs. James A. Smith is having first-class patronage at her hair dressing parlors on Old Orchard street. Facial and scalp treatment carefully attended to. A chiropodist in constant attendance.

EXPLANATORY.

This is one of the most interesting mining propositions ever presented to New England investors. Through the recent death of the former owner of the "Jeffries' Claims," (consisting of 4 producing mines), the property reverted to the only heir, a resident of Portland, Me. The above syndicate closed negotiations for this mining property and are rapidly making arrangements to resume work and shipping which was discontinued only last December, 1903. Extensive operations have been conducted in these mines the past five years, and the last 50 tons of ore shipped to the smelter, 14 miles away, returned $136.50 per ton in gold and copper. The ore already blocked out will reach into the hundreds of thousands of tons. Any one of the 4 mining claims is a stupendous mining proposition in itself. The dyke of ore measures 80 feet wide and extends over four-fifths of a mile long covering four foot hills of the Bradshaw Mountains in the World-famous "Verde Belt." No such mineral wealth has ever been discovered in any other section in the country. In a few brief weeks the Bradshaw Mountain R. R. will reach our property, and we have letters from smelters desiring to purchase all our ore because of its high grade; and we have other evidences to prove beyond contradiction, this to be one of the most magnificent mining proposition of recent years. Scores of visitors have already investigated, and subscribed for stock at 50c per share. The allotment is growing smaller and is very limited. Everybody is invited to investigate, also use our Information Department to look up the value of their present holdings in stocks or bonds.

OCEAN PARK

A Young woman in Japan writes to a friend here, "We are at the most popular missionary summer resort in Japan and the meetings and sports often remind me of childhood days at Ocean Park."

One Parkite claims that after attending meetings and lectures a certain length of time, she has to go blueberrying to "quiet her nerves!" It is amazing that a single berry remains in the happy hunting ground of pickers. They go in squads of young and old, early and late, rain or shine, hot or cold.

Rev. and Mrs. G. C. Waterman, Laconia, N. H., are at Sunshine Lodge for a few days. Miss Jessie Waterman, preceptress of New Hampton Literary Institution, N. H., is with Mrs. Talpey in "Dulce Domum," Readers of the Missionary Helper, representing several different states, have recently visited the editorial sanctum at Ocean Park.

There is quite a colony of Pittsfield people here at present. Miss Farwell is with Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Connor in their pleasant summer home on Old Orchard road; Mrs. Randlett, Mrs. Dow and Miss Hersey are at Curtis Home, also Prof. and Mrs. Landman. Prof. Landman is principal of Maine Central Institute. Mr. and Mrs. Bryant of Bangor, who are graduates of M. C. I., are spending their vacation in the Dodge cottage on Randall avenue. Rev. and Mrs. Dodge are graduates of the same institution, and another graduate, Mrs. Clough of Waterbury, Conn., is visiting Mrs. Pease on Old Orchard road.

The Tennis court on the Park playground has been put into shape and youngsters are enjoying it immensely. We have the nucleus of a fine baseball team and hope in the near future to play fast games with other teams. About twenty of the young people, chaperoned by Mrs. Brackett, enjoyed a fishing trip to Camp Ellis, Saturday afternoon. About sixteen pollock were caught and Miss Bradeen landed a very good sized eel. Although this is a "fish story," it is vouched for by a very reliable young person. By the way, a few, at least, of our young people are doing some pretty heavy reading this summer, as well as playing games and going a-fishing. Ruskin's essays on sociological problems are being studied, and on a certain piazza, if you chance to call at an opportune hour, you will hear philosophical and psychological problems being discussed.

Reference has been made to the "August personages" at Ocean Park. There are so many birthdays under the sign of Leo that it keeps us busy celebrating them. The eighty-first birthday of Mrs. Mary R. Wade came on the eighth. Members of the board of managers of the F. B. W. M. S., of whom she had been one for more than a quarter of a century, and a few friends, called at the "Hermitage" from four to six in the afternoon to offer their congratulations and good wishes. Mrs. Wade's little grandniece, Edna Folsom, received the guests at the door; Mrs. Whitcomb presented them to Mrs. Wade, and Mrs. Folsom presided in the dining room, where light refreshments were served. The rooms were fragrant with flowers, but some of us thought that there was no sweeter flower than the dear little pink-cheeked lady whom all came to honor.

Mr. Jaques, a civil engineer of Dover, N. H., Mrs. Jaques and their little daughter, are occupying a cottage on Temple avenue. Before her marriage, Mrs. Jaques taught for several years in Utah. Her addresses on the Mormon life and problem are intensely interesting. Mr. James Dennison, Minneapolis, Minn., is visiting his brother-in-law, Mr. F. D. Folsom. Mrs. Bonney, wife of Judge Bonney of Denver, Col., has been visiting her nieces, Mrs. Swan and Mrs. Boothby. Miss Randall of Augusta is the guest of Mrs. Charles Milliken at Tanglewood. Rev. Mr. Hamlen and family of Midnapore, India, are enjoying life under the pines, in Mrs. Waldron's cottage on Colby avenue. Rev. and Mrs. John M. Paige, Maynard S. Paige and Leila R. Paige of Livermore Falls, Me., with their guests, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Fallon, Montpelier, Vt., and Mrs. Lester Hill, Starksboro, Vt., have come to Delano cottage, Temple avenue. Clarence Bowen of Lowell has come to spend the rest of the summer.

The "Evening of Fun" on Monday, by the Beacon Entertainers, Mr. and Mrs. Blood, was a great success, if continued laughter and applause are indications. It was innocent and wholesome fun and did the hearers good. Mr. Blood's impersonations are very clever and Mrs. Blood's whistling solos very sweet. They make an attractive team. Extremes meet in our program as elsewhere, but each part has its own place and purpose. Tuesday morning the Bible reading by Rev. Mr. Hamlen was especially helpful. In the afternoon the gilt-lettered red ribbon of the C. L. S. C. enthusiast was in evidence. Rev. W. E. Wolcott, who conducts a large circle in his own church, spoke on the Chautauqua idea and its helpfulness in everyday life. It levels up and levels down, bringing all sorts and conditions of men and women in touch through a common education. In the evening he spoke on Washington's First Public Mission. On Saturday afternoon at three o'clock there will be a children's Cantata, in charge of Mrs. Stevens, and on Saturday evening the illustrated lecture on "The Philippines" by Rev. Peter MacQueen, M. A. Mr. MacQueen spent six months in the islands with Lawton's staff.

The annual clambake of the famous Redberry club at Old Orchard beach is to take place on next Friday afternoon. The members of this famous organization assemble at various times during the month of August at Old Orchard, and this year the gathering promises to be the largest of recent years.

City Messenger Edward J. Leary is the chairman of the committee in charge of the affair, and he will be assisted by Police Captain Gaskin of the City Hall station, ex-Alderman Michael J. Mitchell, Thomas F. Strange and James T. Fitzgerald. This organization numbers many of the men in public life in Lowell, Lawrence, Portland, Montreal, and Toronto.—Boston Journal.

 Steal you, steal you, Bedella, do.

Her Business Head.

"My precious bunch of sugar stock," said P. Jeerpont Sorbum, the hustling young broker, bending over the fair face of Margaretta Muldoon, a beautiful young lady of twenty-one summers, not counting Indian summers nor open winters, "we should capitalize our wealth of affection. It is the age of the trust, and I trust you in everything. Do you consent to the merger?"

Margaretta's eyes grew large. "It looks like 100 cents on the dollar on the face of it," she said, "but I would only consent on one condition."

"What is it, my own honey trust?" he inquired eagerly. "I know I shall be delighted to comply with the condition, but name it."

"It is," she said gravely, "that you do not try to water any of the stock with beer," for she knew his one weakness.

A BLUNDER

The following interesting communication entitled "A Blunder," was sent to THE MIRROR for publication by a well known guest sojourning in Old Orchard:

THE season has been backward and hope has been deferred, making some hearts sick everywhere, but that is no reason that the tongues of the business people in Old Orchard should perpetually wag in lament.

If this is a lean year because of the World's Fair, it is not so lean but what nine out of ten will make a fair living from their profits, while the one who fails will find the cause in his or her sloppy, unattractive way of doing things. To see people sit moping in their stores, rousing only to shake their heads and bemoan poor business, saying "this isn't much like a seaside resort," to be answered back by perambulating indigo, "no indeed, it's a poor crowd in numbers and quality." "Here's the rain," says another, "and I haven't made my salt today." "Old Orchard isn't what it used to be," grumbles out an old oracle who wouldn't make any place worth shucks if it depended on him.

Now what are the facts? What will perpetuate the fame of Old Orchard? Has it not a beach unsurpassed in the world, and is it not the same stretch of beautiful sand that delighted visitors in the past, is it going to run away, wont it be here next season? People come here for the sea air, bathing and a lazy life on the cushioning beach, and they will continue to come for rest and the health giving properties. Old Orchard possesses double attractions—it is backed by a lovely country and when you turn your back on the sea, it is to face inland beauties that lack nothing of the attractiveness that visitors find on the farm or in the village.

Old Orchard is not perfect but this Puritan outcry needs but little heeding. A clear headed, broad minded enquirer has gone around to see the worst, and get specimens of the articles sold that are denounced and the folly of that denunciation on the part of hypercritical people is apparent at a glance. If condemnation comes from the "Alliance," it would be well for it to turn the lime-light upon its own method of "raising the wind," and when they are cleaning the things up, the Church Fair with its grab bags and its fish ponds, its Lotteries and Postoffice attractions (innocent in intention) should receive early consideration.

It is a fact that the Sunday law is violated, so either repeal the law or enforce it, and if there be any illegal, immoral thing, away with it, because Old Orchard wants decent people to come here, not toughs, but let us have judgment rendered by sound business people, not pious cranks whose influence is confined to those of their own kidney, and who are not financially interested in the permanent welfare of a place

"THE BREAKERS."

Among the large number of delightful summer homes in Old Orchard, "The Breakers," the beautiful residence of Mr. Henry E. Smith of Brookline, Mass., and New York City, will easily take front rank. This fine estate, pleasantly located near Odessa avenue and the sea wall southwest of the "Rocks," was entirely remodeled a few years ago, and now it is unsurpassed for attractiveness by any other place along this coast. All the appointments are most modern, and the environs are artistic, charming and altogether delightful. Mr. and Mrs. Smith and their niece, Miss Thompson, have been among the most prominent members of our summer colony for a decade, and they have always been interested in those things that make for the progress and improvement of Old Orchard.

which God created for man's benefit and renovation and which will be rendering Divine and human services as long as the world lasts, in spite of its unjust critics, who will lie low while Old Orchard flourishes.

The Mirror on Sale.

THE MIRROR is on sale at the following places: Armstrong's and J. L. Scamman's news stands, Old Orchard house, Irving house, Ocean Park Reading Room, Bay View house, and W. L. Streeter's, Saco. Also by newsboys, and at the office of publication, Porter block, opposite the depot.

Mailed Free.

A copy of the Prohibitory Law (complete) is being mailed free of charge by the Christian Civic League of Waterville, Me., to every sheriff, deputy, constable, selectman, city marshal and editor in Maine.

The Redberry Club Enjoyed Clam Bake.

The tenth annual clam bake of the famous Redberry club of Boston was held at Pine Point Friday and proved one of the most pleasant outings in the history of the organization.

In the afternoon a baseball game was played between the married men and the bachelors. The game was won by the married men, 9 to 7. Ex-Congressman Fitzgerald was in the box for the married men.

Following the ball game, other sports were indulged in. At 4.30 an old fashioned clam bake was served. The lins, Miss Catherine Delano, Miss Mary Dolan, Miss Nellie McDonald, Miss McQueen of Boston, Mr. and Mrs. Budd Renaud of New Orleans, Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Heilburn of Boston, Rev. W. George Mullin, Rev. Albert C. Mullin of Somerville, Rev. Fr. Mullin, Charles S. Mullin of Cambridge, Rev. T. P. Linehan of Biddeford, Rev. James B. McDonald of Havana and John A. Crowe of Maynard, Mass.

Old Time Visitors Arrived.

Among the old timers at Old Orchard is Mr. M. S. Foley of Montreal who, with Mrs. Foley and their two young daughters, arrived at the Old Orchard house on Friday evening. Mr. Foley is editor and proprietor of the Canadian Journal of Commerce which he founded in 1875 and has been sole proprietor of during the intervening thirty years, with no interruption to its prosperity.

Another member of the family, Mr. Percy N. Foley, has been at the beach since the beginning of the month. Still another, the youngest son, Mr. Arthur M. S. Foley, who has recently been appointed secretary to the Secretary-Treasurer of the Canadian Pacific railway is expected to join the family in a day or two.

Mr. M. S. Foley is one of the largest real estate owners in Montreal, and was the first to introduce tall residential flats in that city. The Bellevue Apartments building in Dominion square (eight stories high) accommodates fifty tenants, mostly families. A magnificent restaurant is included, and one of Canada's new banks, of which Mr. Foley will be a director, will occupy premises on one-third of the ground floor.

Great Reduction.

Great reduction sale at O. P. Greene's Branch Store, Old Orchard, opposite depot. All in want of Boots, Shoes, Trunks, Grips and Bathing Suits, should take this opportunity to buy them. Everything in the store to be run off before September 1st. Come one, come all. O. P. Greene, Shoe Dealer and Chiropodist.

Dublin Tenements.

The cheapest municipal tenements are those owned by Dublin, where two rooms can be rented for 2 shillings a week.

Bee Upholstery.

The bee is an artistic upholsterer. It lines its nest with the leaves of flowers, always choosing such as have bright colors. They are invariably cut in circles so exact that no compass would make them more true.

Letters In the Bible.

The total number of capital letters in the whole Bible is 106,990; of small caps, 6,897, and of lower case, 3,452,593; grand total of letters, including one æ, 3,566,481.

members ate large quantities of lobsters, corn, eggs and sweet potatoes.

John Baker of Pine Point was the caterer. During the "bake" a musical program was given by an orchestra.

The party left on the early evening trains for Old Orchard and Boston. Among those present were Ex-Congressman John F. Fitzgerald, James F. Barry, Deputy Sheriff William A. McDevitt, A. T. Donovan, J. J. Cadigan, E. P. Clark, Ex-Alderman M. J. Mitchell, of Boston, Ex-Representative W. H. Hart, John J. Ryan, president of the water board; E. L. Arundel of Lawrence, Hon. John E. Drury, James F. Owens, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Donahue of Lowell, Miss M. A. McGillicuddy of Worcester, Miss M. Keegan, Miss Annie G. Keegan of Woburn, Miss Agnes McHugh of Holyoke, Mr. and Mrs. A. T. Minstrels at Hotel Velvet.

The minstrel show given in the ball room of the Hotel Velvet Friday evening was attended by a large and enthusiastic audience.

A very creditable entertainment it proved to be, especially when it is taken into consideration that the affair was arranged at short notice. Nat Woolf had charge of the program, and he received many compliments on the good showing that he made in the brief space of time there was for getting the talent together and holding rehearsals.

Mr. Miller, of the Hotel Velvet clerical force, made a capital interlocutor, while the end men and circle were fully up to the mark as jokers and vocalists. Mr. Woolf was extremely funny and got the hand in good style whenever the audience had an opportunity to show their appreciation.

Following the stage performance there was a cake walk and dancing. Four couples, mostly colored people employed at the Velvet, participated in the cake walk, and put up a clever exhibition. Three prizes of $15, $10 and $5 were offered by the Hotel Velvet management and the judges, Messrs. Locke, Baker and Lederer, awarded them as follows: first, W. Bailey and Miss E. Hancock; second, W. Howell and Miss E. Smith; third, Mr. McHenry and Miss Furnier. One other couple, Messrs. Cornell and Green, took part in the walk for a short time and then drew out.

Taken altogether it was a pleasing and successful event and so highly enjoyable that other entertainments of a similar nature may be looked for during the remainder of the season.

The Irving's Guests Find Enjoyment.

A delightful progressive whist party was held at the Irving Wednesday evening under the direction of Miss Burke and Miss Davidson of Boston. Eight tables were filled by guests of the house.

The prizes were awarded: gents—first, John Clough, Worcester, Mass.; second, Miss Lauterbach, New Haven. Ladies—first, Miss McMorro, Woburn; second, Mrs. Straw, Manchester, N. H. Refreshments were served.

Thursday afternoon a party of guests enjoyed a pleasant buckboard ride to points of interest about the beach. There were twenty-three in the party filling two buckboards. A two hour and a half ride was taken to Pine Point, the cascade, and along the beach. The party was arranged by Mrs. C. A. Monks of Somerville.

A very pleasant informal dancing party was held in the Irving dining room last Thursday evening. The affair was managed by P. H. Mahoney and J. H. Stack of Boston. Music was furnished by Harmon's orchestra.

The spacious dining room was crowded with guests of the house and numerous friends from neighboring houses. Mrs. Googins served refreshments in the shape of a delightful fruit punch.

Master Carey Sherwood, who is at the Ocean house with his parents and grandparents, reached his fourteenth birthday on Tuesday, which event was fittingly celebrated. Master Sherwood has been coming to Old Orchard since he was little more than a baby, and his many friends hope that he may be found here many seasons more.

Delightful Side Trips.

The summer tourists who make their headquarters at Old Orchard have the advantage not alone of enjoying the many attractions within the limits of the town, but many opportunities are also afforded for making delightful side trips to numerous places of interest.

The great variety of experiences and enjoyment thus offered within a radius of a few miles and at moderate cost commends this resort more and more each year to the travellers seeking for pleasure and recreation. Every modern facility of transportation is at the disposal of those who come to Old Orchard, and the people who are not able to find a sufficient number of things here to entertain, to gratify, and to uplift those who seek along these lines, such ones must surely be difficult to please.

Dr. A. B. Simpson and his co-workers always draw large audiences to their meetings at the campground auditorium.

It is probable that there will be some big political mass meetings in Old Orchard during the next few weeks.

St. Margaret's Benefit.

The annual whist and euchre party for the benefit of St. Margaret's Roman Catholic church will be held in the town hall Monday evening, commencing at 8 o'clock.

United in Marriage.

A wedding of much interest to the people in this vicinity was solemnized in Providence, R. I., Thursday, when Richard Courtner Page and Miss Berenice Staples were united in marriage.

The ceremony was performed at St. Stephen's church by the curate, Rev. Mr. Oswald. The groom's aunt, Miss Caroline A. Rose, and his brother, Edward E. Page, were in attendance. They returned to Saco Thursday night, leaving the newly married couple at the Narragansett hotel in Providence.

The groom is the elder son of Mr. Elmer E. Page, agent of the York Manufacturing Company, Saco, and the bride is the only daughter of Mr. Frank G. Staples, proprietor of the Sea Shore house, Old Orchard. Both Mr. and Mrs. Page are well known here and have for several years been prominent in local society.

They will make a short wedding tour, after which they will return to Saco, and for the present reside with Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Page at their home, corner Main and North streets, Saco.

Gen. Howard Here.

Probably the most distinguished guest that Old Orchard will have the opportunity to entertain this season is Major-General Oliver Otis Howard, U. S. A., retired, who arrived at the Abbott today from his home in Burlington, Vermont. He will make only a short stay, being on this way to the National Encampment of the G. A. R. at Boston.

It is impossible in this limited space to give any complete review of General Howard's career in the service of his country. A brief summary must suffice.

He is a son of the old Pine Tree State, having been born in Leeds. He graduated from Bowdoin, class of 1850, and West Point, class of 1854. He was for a period previous to the Civil War, commander of the Kennebec Arsenal. He was also chief of ordnance in the Seminole War and instructor of mathematics at West Point. In '61 he left this position to organize a Maine regiment and went out as colonel of the third Maine. He was almost immediately made brigadier-general, and was with General Sumner until the spring of '62, when he Fiske and others. He later founded the Lincoln Memorial University in the Cumberland Gap for the instruction of the Tennessee mountaineer youth.

In '72 Grant chose Howard to settle Indian difficulties in New Mexico and Arizona. He was in command during the Indian Wars of Nez Perce in '77, Pinte and Bannock, '78, Sheepeater, '79. From '80-2 he was superintendent at West Point, and was then appointed to command the Department of the Platte, and was promoted to major-general in the regular army in '86. He was later transferred to the Department of the Columbia, then to the Division of the Atlantic, and then the Department of the East. This position he held until his retirement by law in '94. General Howard received the thanks of Congress for his work at Gettysburg, the decoration of the Legion of Honor of France in '84, and LL. D. from Bowdoin in '65.

General Howard is an extensive and diversified author and lecturer of widely accepted ability. His position today is somewhat unique, being one of the three living men who served as major-

Baseball Notes.

The Old Orchard house nine played the Kennebunkports on the Old Orchard house grounds Friday afternoon and won by a score of 7 to 6. It was a decidedly close and interesting game. The principal feature was the pitching of Hathaway, the Old Orchard house pitcher. His work in pulling out of holes with men on bases was of the gilt-edged order.

The Old Orchard house nine will meet the Biddefords at the Old Orchard house grounds a week from today. They have a game scheduled with the Hot Combination, Saco, for Wednesday on the same grounds.

The Everetts will meet the Nationals of Biddeford on the beach this afternoon.

joined McClellan. It was while with him that General Howard lost his arm at the Battle of Fair Oaks. He returned to the field in just two months and twenty days, and was immediately engaged in the second Battle of Bull Run and Antietam. He was made major-general of volunteers in November of this year, and served with credit at Gettysburg and soon joined the Army of Cumberland. In the spring of '64 he was assigned to the command of the fourth corps of this division and was in all the principal battles with Sherman and Thomas. In July he was made commander of the Army of the Tennessee. General Howard had command of Sherman's right during his march to the sea, and was dispatched by him up the Congaree to attack Columbia. In '65 he was made brigadier-general in the regular army. From Columbia, Howard joined Slocum and proceeded by forced marches to Washington after Lincoln's assassination.

Kicking the Bucket.

The expression "kick the bucket," as synonymous with dying, is said to have originated in an English method of suicide. The intended suicide would stand upon a bucket, put the noose about his neck and then kick the bucket from under him.

Tobacco.

It has been calculated that a ton of tobacco withdraws over a hundred-weight of mineral constituents per acre of land.

The First Newspapers.

The first newspapers, the Venetian gazettes, were for many years circulated only in manuscript because the government would not allow their publication in print. Becoming scurrilous, they were prohibited in every part of Italy by a special bull issued by Gregory XIII.

THE STROLLER

Miss Bernice Cass has returned from a visit in Parsonsfield.

There will be an excursion here Sunday from points along the Maine Central railroad.

Mrs. J. A. Girouard and her guest, Mrs. A. Lalonde, have returned from a pleasant trip to Boston.

Many excursionists will come to Old Orchard next Wednesday. This date has been decided on as children's day, and low fares are offered on the railroads.

The following guests have arrived at Good Luck cottage: James A. Ambler and wife, Misses Frances W. and Olive C. Ambler, Miss C. M. Cook, Mr. James Dondal Bell and wife, Misses Grace Victoria and Beatrice Marion Bell and Mr. Lionel Raymond.

The Dictionary Habit.

"Yes, it's a good thing for a man to refer to the dictionary, but this practice can often be carried to excess," said a well known magazine writer. "Why, I've seen a man get so much addicted to this habit," he continued, "that he could not write an ordinary letter without turning to the dictionary three or four times in order to ascertain some big words that he could use. This, I think, is a very great waste of time, as he does not express his meaning a bit better than if he had used some shorter and really English words."

The excursion to Old Orchard Thursday from Lowell and Lawrence brought in a large crowd of people for half a day.

Among the recent arrivals at Mrs. W. G. Harmon's Home cottage, Atlantic avenue, are: Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Stevens, F. S. Woods and Josephine M. Woods, St. Johnsbury, Vt.; Annie L. Jordan, Auburn, Me.; M. A. Manning and Ruth J. Manning, Malden, Mass.; Mrs. Etta B. Cook, Mary Evelyn Cook, Nashua, N. H.

Parents, have you noticed your children when studying? Do they hold their book too close? If so they have defective vision. Find out what the defect is. It will cost you nothing. Dr. Littlefield, the eye sight specialist of Saco, will be pleased to make your acquaintance and offers a $5 examination free. Don't neglect your children.

A Good Match

"Where are you making fur?" said Mrs. Waddles to Mr. Gander as she came upon him one spring morning.

"I'm not making fur at all, madam," he replied, smiling; "I'm making feathers."

"Oh, excuse me!" she began. "You are so quick at repartee!"

"Not at all, madam. You're wrong again. I was the 'only quack at the party' is what you should have said."

"Oh, you bright boy! But what are you going to do with yourself? I see a tablet and pencils in your possession. I suppose you have some great scheme on."

"Yes, I have just invented a new machine to turn swamp mallows into marshmallows, frogs' eggs into shad row, lily pads into writing tablets and pussy willows into tomcats."

"But what use is such a machine? No one will buy it."

"Oh, that's no matter. It's all in the invention, you know. I've spent years at it. But what are you up to?"

"Oh, I'm lecturing!"

"Lecturing?" interrupted Mr. Gander. "On what?"

"On the very useful theme of 'How to Keep House on 5 Mills a Week.'"

"Five mills a week! Why, they'd all starve!"

"Of course they would. But, then, I'd have my name in all the magazines and 'home' papers."

"Any money in it?" asked Mr. G.

"Oh, no; I hadn't thought of that. I suppose they'd pay me. Any money in 'our machine?'"

"Well, really, I hadn't thought of that. I suppose it would sell."

"Well, we're a pair!" exclaimed Mrs. Waddles.

"We ought to make one anyway. Let's marry."

And they did, which was the proper thing for two silly geese.—Atlanta Constitution.

EXPLANATORY.

This is one of the most interesting mining propositions ever presented to New England investors. Through the recent death of the former owner of the "Jeffries' Claims," (consisting of 4 producing mines), the property reverted to the only heir, a resident of Portland, Me. The above syndicate closed negotiations for this mining property and are rapidly making arrangements to resume work and shipping which was discontinued only last December, 1903. Extensive operations have been conducted in these mines the past five years, and the last 50 tons of ore shipped to the smelter, 14 miles away, returned $136.50 per ton in gold and copper. The ore already blocked out will reach into the hundreds of thousands of tons. Any one of the 4 mining claims is a stupendous mining proposition in itself. The dyke of ore measures 80 feet wide and extends over four-fifths of a mile long covering four foot hills of the Bradshaw Mountains in the World-famous "Verde Belt." No such mineral wealth has ever been discovered in any other section in the country. In a few brief weeks the Bradshaw Mountain R. R. will reach our property, and we have letters from smelters desiring to purchase all our ore because of its high grade; and we have other evidences to prove beyond contradiction, this to be one of the most magnificent mining proposition of recent years. Scores of visitors have already investigated, and subscribed for stock at 50c per share. The allotment is growing smaller and is very limited. Everybody is invited to investigate, also use our Information Department to look up the value of their present holdings in stocks or bonds.

OCEAN PARK

Miss Alice Warren has come to "Pincroft" again this year.

Mr. Howard Howe of Haverhill is at the Park for a few days.

Mrs. Fred Greenleaf is staying at Mrs. Thomas' on Colby avenue.

Mr. John Lockwood of Lawrence has been spending the week at Maine's cottage.

The occupants of "Favor Cottage" on Randall avenue received a flying visit from Mr. Favor of Lowell Thursday.

Miss Helen Campbell of Lawrence is visiting at the "Anchorage." Miss Campbell is to read on the evening of August twenty-third.

The lecture by Mrs. Charles E. Stevens was very interesting. Her views, about one hundred in number, were very fine, being identical with those formerly used in the Stoddard lectures.

Miss Aida A. Heine, M. A., an instructor in Smith College, begins her courses in Geology and History next Tuesday morning. The Geology period comes at 9 o'clock and the History at 10. Miss Heine is well qualified for the work she is to do.

Monday and Tuesday afternoon at 2.30 Baron von Palm is to deliver lectures on "Art." His lectures are humorous as well as instructive. He paints any landscape, which anyone in the audience may suggest, in oils on the canvas before his listeners. It is a most interesting process.

Mr. Walter David, impersonator, was secured for last Wednesday night's entertainment. He pleased his audience so much that he was twice obliged to respond to a second encore. His selections were particularly taking and his interpretation of them excellent. The assembly artists gave several delightful musical numbers.

The time has come for Rev. Peter MacQueen's lectures. The first one is Saturday evening on "The Philippines: Past and Future." He also speaks Sunday evening, and then on Monday evening lectures on "Panama and the New Isthmian Republic," and Tuesday evening on "The Great Servian Tragedy and the Macedonian Crisis."

The Recognition Day exercises passed off very satisfactorily. At 1.30 o'clock line was formed at Curtis Home, and the children, beautiful with their bunch-berries and still brighter faces, marched to the Billow House, then to Temple grove where the Chautauqua exercises were held. Dr. Henson of Tremont Temple, Boston, gave the address. He took for his subject "Backbone," upon which he poured forth a pithy effusion. At the banquet which followed, several splendid speeches were made. Everyone who attended had as a souvenir, a dainty decorated menu card which was painted by Miss Minnie Twort, daughter of our superintendent.

The grand cantata, "The Legend of Don Mumio," went off with a snap and strength that was surprising in a nine-day old chorus. Prof. Briggs was very happy over the success and beautiful work of the members of the chorus and every member of the chorus enjoyed the earnestness that Prof. Briggs put into his directing and the inspiration which he gave those under him. The solos by Prof. Briggs, Mrs. Mabel M. Briggs, Mr. Robert N. Lister and Mrs. Lister, Mr. Robert Bruce and Mr. Wesley Paige, together with the choruses, made an evening of grand music. To listen to such music must do one's heart good.

Friday afternoon the temple became festive with another successful social—a Leap Year Social. There were Japanese lanterns and parasols, pines, ferns and flowers in abundance, and the great octagonal room became a sort of tea garden. There were several tiny tea-tables, each one presided over by a charming young gentleman, whose gracious smile was most bewitching. Each person present was permitted to untangle a gigantic cobweb and, as a reward for his or her work, find the future revealed. The cobwebs had been woven on clothes-horses and were in charge of several young ladies. Then, too, a clothes-pin game was played which every one found good exercise. A laughable feature of the afternoon was a visit from the Muskitine family from Africa. Their faces, chapeaux, costumes, songs and bobbing will long be remembered.

THE PIG WHO WOULD BE LITERAL

"Oof, oof!" grunted the literal pig, gazing intently on a page out of "Mother Goose" which little Bill had dropped into his pen:

Barber, barber, shave a pig.
How many hairs will make a wig?
Four and twenty; that's enough.
Give the poor barber a pinch of snuff.

"What's the use of writing such stuff about what never happened! But, never mind, I shall make this literally true by going through the experience. I believe in being literal—oof, oof!"

Saying which he set out for the barber shop in the village. The barber

"WHERE'S THE PINCH OF SNUFF I GET?" was much amused to see a pig come in the shop, but his amusement grew into amazement when the literal pig said in good pig English, "I want a shave." "You?" cried the good man in great confusion.

"Yes, I," said the literal pig.

When the barber could control himself he set piggy in a chair and began to cut his bristles.

"Hurt you?" asked the barber.

"Like fury," said the pig, "but it must be done to be literal. By the way, how many hairs would it take to make a wig?"

"About a thousand," said the barber.

"No, no; to be literal it would take four and twenty. That's enough, don't you know?" droned the pig.

"Well, to be literal," said the barber, "where's the pinch of snuff I get?"

"I really forgot it," cried the pig in dismay.

"Then, to be literal," answered the barber sternly, "I can't finish the job for nothing. You get out!"

"That's the most literal thing I've learned," grunted the pig.—Detroit Journal.

Talent Promptly Recognized.

The businesslike young man approached the man at the desk.

"I'll ask only a minute of your time," he said. "I want to know if you wouldn't like to subscribe for a copy of this book. I've sold 150 of 'em in this building in the last three days."

The man at the desk took the book and looked at it. He noted its utter worthlessness from a literary point of view, its tawdry binding and the cheapness of the paper on which it was printed. Then he said:

"Young man, do you mean to tell me seriously that you have sold 150 copies of that book in this one building?"

"Yes, sir. Here's my order book. You can look at the signatures yourself. Every one of them is genuine."

"I see. Young fellow, I don't know how much you are making out of this business, but I'll give you twice as much, whatever it is, if you'll take hold of a patent nose ring I was fool enough to drop a lot of money in a few years ago and help me to dispose of a stock of 2,000 dozen of 'em I've still got on hand."—Chicago Tribune.

Ivory Carving in China and Japan.

In China and Japan ivory has been carved, the ivory balls inclosed inside one another being specially noted. Many theories have been formed as to how these balls have been cut. Perhaps a probable one is that a ball of ivory was taken, around the upper and lower ends of which four small holes were carved out, gradually diminishing in size toward the center until the axis of the one hole met the axis of the other or lower one at right angles in the center of the ball and that then small tools were inserted and a thin layer of ivory forming a part of a circle from one hole to its lower corresponding one was cut and loosened from the whole mass. So, gradually cutting from one hole to the next one, a complete inner circle was eventually loosened, the circles themselves afterward being cut into the required pattern.—Chambers' Journal.

In Regard to Old Orchard

THE writer of this article has passed the greater part of every summer at Old Orchard beginning with the advent of the railroad, in 1873, and has, he thinks, been brought into as close contact with as large a variety of people who have frequented this resort as any other person; and he boldly asserts that, if there has been a deterioration in the morals of the place, he has failed to observe it. If deterioration means less vulgar display in dress, less of what is natural and attractive to sensible people, then the charge is proved. As a matter of fact, more people, that is, a larger proportion of those who have visited Old Orchard during the last few seasons have been of the educated, cultured, refined classes than before the steam and trolley cars.

Not many years ago, with fewer people here, there were three disturbances of the peace to one now; there were dances in the "grove," so called, the like of which would not now be permitted. Fashion held sway then more than now, but the conversation of the ball room belles of those days would suffer sadly by comparison with that of the hundreds of college bred women who come here for rest and recuperation for their work in elevating the condition of those over whom they are placed as worthy instructors.

In the matter of hotels and private residences the place compares more than favorably with most large resorts. When a man asserts that he never saw, even in Paris, such indecent exhibitions as he has seen at Old Orchard, it does not necessarily mean anything. Why do people, decent people, go to Paris, or any other large city? A person who would compare the morals of Old Orchard with those of Paris, probably has scarcely a superficial knowledge of either place. But suppose this were true? The people who say so will probably visit Paris again, if opportunity presents, and many of them will take their children, and what they and their children see will depend largely upon the tastes of those who are at the head of the party. Evil may be found in every large community, and so may good; were it not so there would be no virtue in resisting the non-existent evil. We could point to hundreds, literally hundreds of people who have traveled extensively, who know most of the evil as well as the good in the world, and who are above reproach, socially and morally. To know of an evil is not necessarily to endorse it, and we would not endorse whatever of bad there may be in Old Orchard, or any other place, but to admit that this place is below other large watering places in anything that makes for the best good of the largest number who frequent it, we are not prepared to do.

The subject admits of much larger comment than THE MIRROR has space for, but what we have said we believe to be true, and we think ourselves better able to judge of existing conditions and to make comparisons between these conditions and those of the past than anybody less familiar with them than we are.

Old Orchard has not degenerated; this is the sum total of all that need be said upon the subject by one who knows.

Whist at the Aldine.

A delightful progressive whist party was participated in at the Aldine last Saturday evening under the direction of Mrs. A. M. Cotton of Boston. Ten tables were filled by guests of the house. The prizes were awarded: Gents—first, Mr. Kennedy, Boston, second, I. M. Goldsmith, Boston; ladies—first, Miss Barrett, Boston, second, Miss Knox, Poughkeepsie, N. Y. The booby fell to Mr Abramson, Englewood, N. J.

Thornton Academy and Memorial Library.

We present to our readers today a picture of Thornton Academy and Thornton Memorial Library, situated on Main street in Saco.

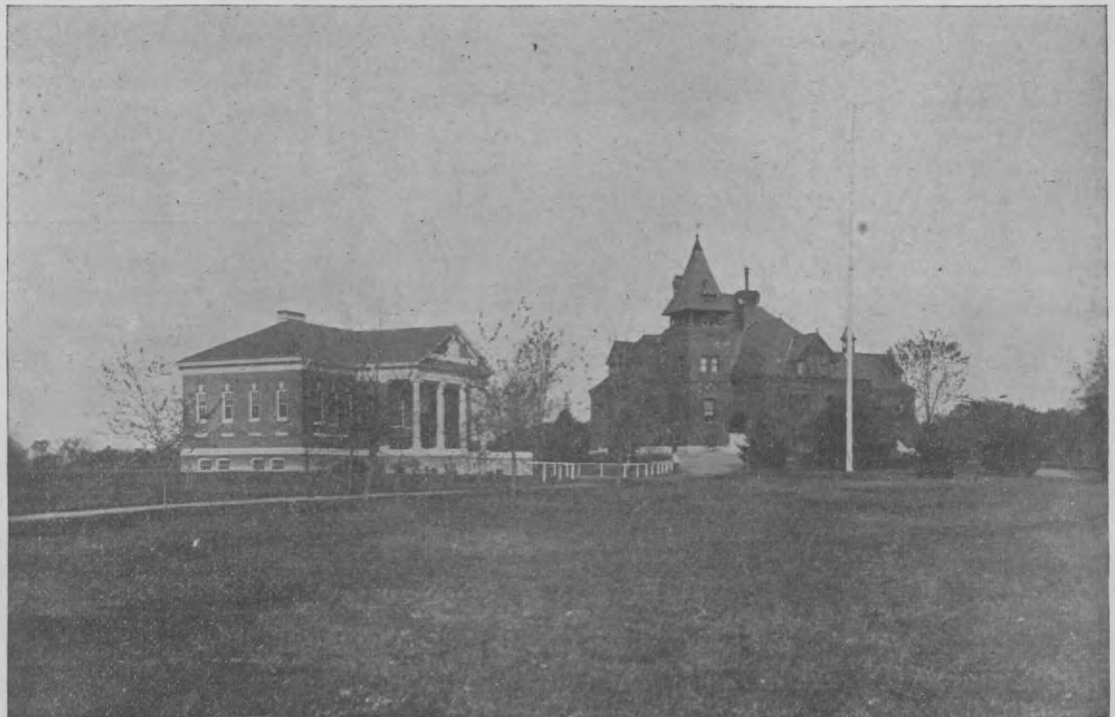

The Academy was chartered in 1811. The first President was Col. Thomas Cutts, a very active and prosperous business man. The first Secretary was Gen. Cyrus King, member of Congress and the first regular attorney to settle in Saco. The other Trustees have been men of distinction, merchants, lawyers, members of Congress, judges, etc., and the school soon became famous.

Mrs. Annie Calef Thornton, Trustee, (with her daughter, Mary Calef Thornton,) seeing this, built a Library Building as a memorial of Col. Charles C. G. Thornton, the grandson of Marshal Thornton, and great grandson of Col. Cutts.

About 5,000 volumes of the best editions of the best books are now in this Library.

The location of the buildings is fine and the architecture of both Academy and Library is artistic, and the buildings and grounds eminently fitted for the purpose for which they are designed.

The Academy is well endowed. Mr. Sweetser gave $10,000 in addition to the

THORNTON ACADEMY AND MEMORIAL LIBRARY

Such men as Hugh McCulloch, Secretary of the Treasury of the United States, John Fairfield, Governor and Senator; James W. Bradbury, also a United States Senator; Judge Joseph Howard; Gen. George F. Shepley and many other noted men attended school at the Academy. The name at first was Saco Academy, but was changed to Thornton Academy, in honor of Thomas G. Thornton, United States Marshal for Maine, who aided it at a critical period of its history. The first building was burned in 1848, but the funds were carefully invested by John C. Bradbury, its Treasurer, and in 1889 a modern building was erected and today, with ten teachers and a complete outfit, is in successful operation.

Cornelius Sweetser, one of the Trustees, gave $10,000 for a library. The number of books increased so rapidly that a building was needed to contain them.

Library fund, Abram E. Cutter, $10,000, Mrs. C. A. Batchelder $18,000, and Col. Thornton gave $50,000 for a manual training department.

No better college fitting school can be found anywhere. Last year 155 scholars attended the Academy. The Fall Term commences September 12, 1904. Catalogues can be obtained of E. P. Sampson, A. M., Principal, Saco, Maine.

Among the guests from the "Bay State" are: Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Butterworth, Hopedale; Mrs. W. A. Bird, Natick; Mrs. W. I. Griffin, Misses Nellie and Marie Griffin, Wayland; Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Daggett, Jr., Attleboro; Miss Sheehan, Miss Katherine Sheehan, Miss M. J. Cantillon, Lawrence; Miss Josephine F. Byrnes, Miss Catherine L. Healy, Franklin; Miss Irma M. Newell, North Attleboro; Mr. and Mrs. T. D. Coleman, Wellesley; Miss Ida Edwards, and George C. Edwards, Roxbury.

Change of color is one of the best indexes to the emotions of the fish. When the fish is sick its color is apt to be faint, while when in health, angry or breeding the colors stand out brightly and vividly.

What Land Yields.

It is estimated that twenty-two acres of land are necessary to sustain one man on fresh meat. The same space of land, if devoted to wheat culture, would feed 42 people; if to oats, 88; potatoes, Indian corn and rice, 176, and if to the plantain or bread tree, over 6,000 people.

ADDRESS

H. S. LEIGHTON, Sebago Lake, Me.
Open Through October

Held an Informal Reception.

Major-General Oliver Otis Howard of Burlington, Vt., who was a guest at the Abbott house over Sunday, held an informal reception at the Roosevelt club rooms on Old Orchard street Saturday evening, when opportunity was afforded several of our citizens to meet this distinguished hero of the Civil War. Congressman Amos L. Allen, Rev. W. H. H. McAllister, Selectman F. H. Titcomb, Postmaster M. E. Hill, Representative W. J. Mewer and several other prominent citizens of Old Orchard, including a number of Civil War veterans, among whom was Mr. W. S. Noyes of Saco, were present and had the pleasure of being introduced to the famous soldier, educator and writer.

General Howard discussed political conditions at considerable length, especially with Congressman Allen, and, since both are staunch Republicans of life-long standing, there was little chance for a diversity of opinion on questions of national governmental policy.

The general read an article which appeared in the New York World, July 30, criticising President Roosevelt and his administration, and the former's replies to these statements were pointed and interesting.

General Howard is a gentleman of wide experience and has a vast store of valuable information. He is remarkably active for one of his advanced years and many activities. Although seventy-four years of age, he will again this fall, as in former years, take the stump and enter vigorously into the Republican campaign.

The Present Outlook.

The mid-summer rush is now on, and one hears few complaints as to the number of visitors to Old Orchard, for there has been a great influx of guests since the first of August, and this resort has assumed its former appearance of activity, which is so eagerly awaited by our business men every year.

The July moanings and wailings usually give way with the advent of August, and this season has been no marked exception to previous years. Nearly everyone in business here reports a good patronage, and there is little doubt that the end of the season will find the great majority in as comfortable circumstances as they usually are at such a time.

Old Orchard has always been the most delightful and popular summer resort in Maine, and it will continue to be, if our public-spirited citizens devote their energies to making it more attractive year after year to an increasingly desirable clientele.

Miss Ellen Stone.

Old Orchard and vicinity are to have the privilege of listening to Miss Ellen Stone next Thursday evening, August 18, in the Temple at Ocean Park.

She is to give an account of her experiences in Macedonia as a captive, which all, who have ever heard her, know are thrillingly told. The lecture begins at 7.45 o'clock. There is no admission fee, but a collection will be taken to help in defraying expenses. A train leaves Ocean Park for Old Orchard as late as 10.17. All are cordially invited. It is hoped she will have a large audience.

Dr. Simpson's Annual Collection for Missions, $45,214.

Rev. Dr. Simpson, the noted leader of the Christian Alliance, prayed Sunday forenoon that the Lord might keep away the rain until the taking of the annual missionary collection was concluded.

This appeal was fulfilled in part. It didn't actually rain during the forenoon session, but it was very close to the raining point some of the time, and the clouds hung heavily over the Camp ground practically all day.

The crowd wasn't as large as usual, probably because of the threatening skies, but those who came staid well. Dr. Simpson repeatedly expressed his surprise and great pleasure at the patience and persistent staying of the audience. Around the edges there were many vacant benches. At no time were there more than 3,500 people in the

Mrs. Stevens, the pianist and chorus leader, took her cue at the proper time, when Dr. Simpson needed time to catch up with the card collectors, and she would start some hymn whose singing had a tendency to loosen purse-strings. A well drilled company Dr. Simpson and his lieutenants are.

In outlining the work of the Christian Alliance, Dr. Simpson said that the missionaries, of whom there are 250 in foreign fields, assisted by as many native preachers, reported the conversions of 800 souls last year. In 15 years the alliance has spent for foreign missions about $2,000,000. The amount raised last year was $220,000.

He explained that he didn't ask for money only, but wanted pledges of amounts to be paid within a year.

"We will never dun you," he added. "We will keep your pledge on file, but will never remind you of it. We will be doubly blessed. The largest pledge was $5,000. Some of the cards pledging small amounts were accompanied by the cash. The pledges ranged all the way from $1 upward. There were two $3000 each, one of $2500, one $2400, one $2000, two $1500 each, two of $1600, two of $1000, two of $850, one $700, one $600, three $500 each, one $450, one $400, nine $300 each, five of $250 each, eight $200, five $150, three $125 and nine of $100 each. The total number of pledges announced in the forenoon collection was 293, and in the afternoon, 82.

At the close of the forenoon meeting, which ran until 1.15, the total pledges amounted to $37,492. To this were added the receipts of the basket collection, about $220. In the afternoon the figures were increased to $44,500, and in the evening more pledges came in. The aggregate, as officially announced, being $45,214.

Sunday at Old Orchard.

Last Sunday there was by far the biggest crowd of the season here, and this in spite of the unfavorable and threatening weather which continued throughout the day. A big excursion was run over the mountain division of the Maine Central, there was another from Bangor and way stations, while the Boston & Maine brought in large crowds.

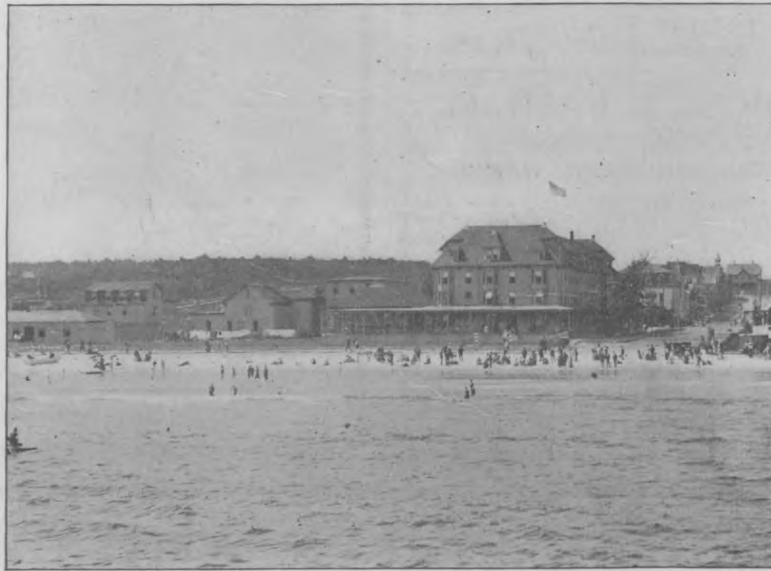

The trolley lines were heavily loaded with passengers, and hundreds came in teams and automobiles. It was not by any means a record-breaking crowd for Old Orchard, but it surpassed anything hitherto this season.

Things were conducted about the same as usual, the stores and amusement features in the Midway, on the pier and at Seaside park all being open and doing business among those who desired to spend money with them.

The people were orderly as usual, and there were no disturbances of special account.

Democratic Rally.

There will be a Democratic rally at the Campground Wednesday afternoon. Ed. H. Emery of Sanford, candidate for sheriff, and E. J. Cram of Biddeford, candidate for county attorney on the enforcement ticket, together with several other speakers, will be present to address the audience.

A VIEW AT THE FOOT OF OLD ORCHARD STREET

seats. In the midst of the afternoon service a downpour came and the crowd hurried for cover, the raising of money continuing in the Tabernacle which was filled.

In the two sessions Dr. Simpson succeeded in raising $45,214 in cash and pledges—mostly pledges. This exceeds by $2,500 the total of the collection a year ago. The pledges seemed to come with less effort this time and there was more currency than usual accompanying the smaller pledges.

No persistent begging was done, nor were the methods of years ago resorted to in raising the funds. Dr. Simpson's morning sermon was a strong appeal for self-sacrifice, a general denunciation of selfishness. It was an impressive sermon, but not strikingly eloquent.

The generalship and excellent management which characterize everything that Dr. Simpson undertakes was continually in evidence. The distributors and collectors of the pledge cards had been selected with care, and everyone of them had a diagram of the section of the audience he was to pay attention to in his solicitation. Everything moved with clockwork precision.

Dr. Simpson's wife and Dr. Kenney counted the cash and had the custody of it as it was deposited on a little table near the pulpit. Dr. Simpson received the cards from the collectors and read the amount of each, but not the name of the subscriber.

trust you to pay it, for it is an obligation with God and not with us. These pledges are paid from year to year. Sometimes the payments are delayed, but they eventually reach us as our receipts of last year will show."

The first announcement was a cash gift of $11.98, from a poor widow, whose self-sacrifice Dr. Simpson said would

OCEAN PARK

Messrs. Stacy, John Flagg and Lysander Biel have been at "Pinecroft."

Wilbur Johnson and Miss Johnson of Lowell were at the Park last week.

Aubrey Butler and Clement Orr have gone to Boston with Mr. C. A. Eaton, for the G. A. R. Encampment.

Miss Lillian Holmes of Gardner has been spending the past two weeks at the Paige cottage.

The Rev. Peter MacQueen is certainly a man of parts. As a conversationalist he is bright, interesting, and as a lecturer he is most pleasing. His Sunday evening discourse was beautifully shaded with quotations from Milton, Tennyson, Shakespeare and other writers of wonderful works. He used the story of Joseph, the dreamer, and his brethren as a foundation and wove about it beautiful thoughts and ideas,—ideas which sympathized with dreams and dreamers. His lectures on the affairs of foreign countries are finely illustrated with stereopticon views.

Saturday afternoon an aggregation of baseball players from Bay View crossed bats with an Ocean Park team. The Park boasts of several excellent players and gained easily and steadily over the opposing nine. Mr. Connor and Mr. Dowe, the pitcher, two baseball players of high standing, did excellent work, and Mr. Copp showed that he, also, was accustomed to the game. At the end of the fourth inning news was brought that Mr. Boothby had just arrived from Lewiston. A cheer went up and in a moment, Willard, clad in his baseball togs, trotted on to the field and took up his position as catcher.

The children's cantata, "The Little Gypsy," in charge of Mrs. C. E. Stevens, gave people an opportunity to see how well the children of Ocean Park can do in a short time. The gypsy girl's role was taken by Hazel May Milliken of Nashua. Her costume was attractive, and as she went about the stage selling her bead purses and singing, she made a pretty picture. Her voice is very sweet and her solo was well sung. Miss Alice Ralph, as "Florence Earle," and Miss Mildred Merriman as "Kate," two friends, sang a very pretty duet. Miss Ralph possesses a very rich, sweet voice for so young a girl. Clement Orr, as "Ike," the gypsy boy, was excellent. He was made up splendidly for the part and his charming little solo and his dialogue were fine. Myrton Young and Henry Litchfield, as two village boys, spoke plainly and distinctly. The choruses of village children were delightful. The dear little ones ran out and played their games of "ABC," and teetered as happily as a group of merry children in an open meadow. Mrs. Stevens deserves a deal of praise for her successful cantata. After the performance, Mrs. Stevens served the children with ice cream and cake in the chapel.

The annual memorial service for members of the Ocean Park Association was held in Porter Memorial Hall Sunday afternoon. Rev. W. J. Twort presided. The hall had been decorated with blackberry vines and white bunting. Directly back of the pulpit was a large picture of the late Dr. Cheney of Lewiston. Mrs. Doe acted as organist, and during the service Miss Florence Doe sang a solo. Mrs. R. M. F. Buzzell also rendered a solo in her deep-feeling way. In memory of Dr. Cheney, the first president of Bates College, Prof. Angel, a co-worker, and for thirty-five years his friend, gave a short address. He spoke of the modesty, simplicity, and transparency of character that Mr. Cheney possessed. Prof. Angel was an instructor at Bates when the college was in its infancy, and was strongly impressed with the fact that President Cheney was never discouraged over the slow growth of the college, for his soul rose triumphant over all. He had about him an unwavering persistence that made him invincible in his work. It has been said of him, "He never deserted a friend," and "every good work found in him a religious champion." He loved life and made life about him purer and brighter and sweeter by his kindly presence.

The late Prof. Cyrus Jordan, a resident of Ocean Park and prominent Free Baptist, was lovingly spoken of by Mr. Twort, and by the present Prof. Jordan of Bates College. Mr. Twort knew him well as the energetic assistant editor of the Morning Star. He accomplished an immense amount of work to make the Star shine. Mr. Twort told of a time when Prof. Jordan helped the Brockton church out of a financial difficulty, and showed his wonderfully warm heart. In speaking of the late Cyrus Jordan, Prof. Jordan told of his distinguished ancestry, and said that three important things marked the man. First, his steadiness and persistence in purpose; second, the fidelity with which he performed every deed; third, the high esteem in which he was held by his former students.

Another member, who has left us during the last year, is Rev. C. L. Pinkham. Rev. E. W. Ricker, a fellow minister and friend since 1868, spoke very fondly of him. Rev. C. L. Pinkham was a soldier in the Civil War and was there, as well as everywhere else, noted for his earnest desire to help others. He was for several years Land Agent for Ocean Park, and was always most zealous in his work. Mr. Twort spoke of Brother Chick, a fine Christian man, who passed away last winter, leaving kindly memories with all who knew him. He did a great deal to aid the improvement of the Park with his tastily built cottages. On the last day of last year Mrs. Olive E. Sinclair, one of the sweetest, most lovable old ladies I ever knew, passed into the homeland, at the age of ninety-one years. It was Mrs. Sinclair and her husband who founded the Sinclair orphanage in Balasore, India. Miss Laura DeMeritte paid a touching, heart-felt tribute to her. There were two characteristics well worthy of example and particularly marked. First, she had a fixed purpose in life. She saved and economized so as to give her money to others, as a mother delights in saving for her children. This joy in making others happy made her perfectly satisfied with life. The second characteristic was her great faith in God—her sweet, simple, child-like trust.

Mrs. Angel, a friend of the late Mrs. Hayes, wife of Prof. Hayes of Lewiston, told us of the friendliness, tact, womanly bearing, gentleness and beauty of soul of Mrs. Hayes, who died last winter. Deacon Goodwin of Manchester, N. H., Mrs. B. F. Haley, wife of the late B. F. Haley, a former treasurer of the Association, and Deacon Costello of Somerville were lovingly referred to by Rev. W. J. Twort. The service was followed by the Lord's Supper, which made a most appropriate benediction to a service sacred to the memory of those who have gone to prepare for our reception in the great beyond.

HOTEL PERSONALS

Miss Hobbs of Portland was at the Western, Sunday.

William Small, the well known mining promoter of Boston, is registered at the Irving.

J. P. Reilly of Randolph, Mass., is once more at the Irving. He has passed several seasons at this house.

Isabelle S. Rinn and Sue O'Neil of Somerville, who have been visitors here for some seasons, are this year located at the Irving.

F. H. Dearborn of Augusta, night clerk at the Hotel North of that city and formerly of the Irving of this place, is making a short stay at the latter house.

Frank E. Young and family are making a short stay at the Aldine. Mr. Young is a prominent wholesale confectionery manufacturer of Philadelphia.

P. Murphy and wife of Montreal are at the Montreal this season as usual. They are accompanied by Mrs. W. Ross and child of the same city.

The Misses M. C. Sayles and Estelle Packard, and W. A. Towne and wife of Burlington are again at the Montreal. They have been at this house for several seasons past.

Mrs. Irene Merrill and grand-daughter, Edna Merrill, of Gorham returned Saturday to the Jones House for their annual visit. They have been coming here regularly for many years.

The Misses Mollie and Josephine McCarthy of Lawrence are spending the season at the Aldine. They are two very attractive and accomplished young ladies, being dancers and musicians of exceptional ability. Miss Josephine is also a talented imitator and impersonator.

Mr. J. B. Bean, wife and four children left the Ocean house on Monday for their home in West Fairlee, Vt. The Bean family is one which will find a hearty welcome wherever known. Mr. and Mrs. Bean are model parents, and less objection will be found to the presence of children in hotels when accompanied by mothers and fathers of their kind.

Consumptives In Germany.

In Germany when a person breaks down with consumption he is sent to a government sanitarium, where he is kept until he recovers or dies. In the meantime his family receives a weekly pension from a fund to which the patient himself contributed when he was in good health. By this means the risk of spreading the disease is avoided.

Salicylic Acid.

Salicylic acid is an ingredient of strawberries and to a less degree of most other fruits.

An Odd Coincidence.

The anniversary of the death of the first Napoleon at St. Helena is the one and only day in the year when the setting sun appears framed within the curve or archway of the Arc de Triomphe at Paris. Is it coincidence or fate?

Philip A. Shea and family of New York are at the Irving. Mr. Shea is well known in New York theatrical circles.

Mrs. J. Power and sister, Kate Sheehan, of Montreal are at the Irving. Mrs. Power has passed several seasons at this house.

I. N. Goldsmith of Boston spent Saturday and Sunday with his family at the Aldine where they are passing the season.

A. H. Mosely and wife of Sanford have arrived at the Irving for their usual summer stay. They are regular patrons of this house.

Julia A., B. A. and Mrs. M. C. Powers of Worcester have arrived at the Montreal for their usual summer stay. They are old guests of this house.

F. Langan and family of Montreal have arrived at the Lawrence for the rest of the season. Mr. Langan is appraiser in the Montreal custom house.

Katherine E. O'Brien of Arlington has returned to the Irving for her usual summer visit. She is an old guest of the house. Josephine T. Broderick of Dorchester is accompanying Miss O'Brien this year.

Henry Baker of St. Joseph, Mo., is registered at the Aldine for the rest of the season. Mr. Baker is an interesting man to meet, being an accomplished conversationalist and a man who has travelled widely and always with an observant eye.

E. Baldwin and wife of Wells River, Vt., are at the Aldine after an absence from Old Orchard of several seasons. They notice a great transformation here and strongly feel that Old Orchard is much changed for the better. Mr. Baldwin has retired from active life and is a man of considerable wealth.

Prof. Chapman's fourth reading of the series was given at the Ocean House on Friday evening and, as usual, the dining hall was completely filled and the audience was a most appreciative and sympathetic one. Perhaps no other number was better enjoyed than the selection from Dickens, "Dombey and Son."

Cattle In Bavaria.

Cattle in Bavaria are much used in plowing and hauling. They are frequently yoked in a curious manner, so that the pull comes from the forehead and not from the neck, or, rather, shoulders, which is the ordinary way elsewhere.

Doubling Nothing.

The village council of Hirsingen, Alsatia, issued the following advertisement: "Wanted, a good man for winding up the steeple clock. No salary at the beginning; later on double."

Towers of Seville.

The ancient city of Seville, in Spain, abounds in graceful towers, not the least beautiful of which is the famous Golden tower. It takes its name from the nature of its ornamentation, in which a great quantity of gold is used for decorative purposes.

EXPLANATORY.

This is one of the most interesting mining propositions ever presented to New England investors. Through the recent death of the former owner of the "Jeffries' Claims," (consisting of 4 producing mines), the property reverted to the only heir, a resident of Portland, Me. The above syndicate closed negotiations for this mining property and are rapidly making arrangements to resume work and shipping which was discontinued only last December, 1903. Extensive operations have been conducted in these mines the past five years, and the last 50 tons of ore shipped to the smelter, 14 miles away, returned $136.50 per ton in gold and copper. The ore already blocked out will reach into the hundreds of thousands of tons. Any one of the 4 mining claims is a stupendous mining proposition in itself. The dyke of ore measures 80 feet wide and extends over four-fifths of a mile long covering four foot hills of the Bradshaw Mountains in the World-famous "Verde Belt." No such mineral wealth has ever been discovered in any other section in the country. In a few brief weeks the Bradshaw Mountain R. R. will reach our property, and we have letters from smelters desiring to purchase all our ore because of its high grade; and we have other evidences to prove beyond contradiction, this to be one of the most magnificent mining proposition of recent years. Scores of visitors have already investigated, and subscribed for stock at 50c per share. The allotment is growing smaller and is very limited. Everybody is invited to investigate, also use our Information Department to look up the value of their present holdings in stocks or bonds.

Ira Frye of Lawrence has arrived at the Irving for his twelfth consecutive season at that house.

The Palmer family of Haverhill will occupy the cottage on the corner of Grand and Bay avenues for the remainder of the season.

The Nationals of Biddeford badly defeated the Everetts on the beach Saturday afternoon. The stars of the Everett team are fast fading away.

Harry Wilbur, Esq., well known as one of the younger attorneys in Portland, was a visitor to Old Orchard Sunday.

Col. J. B. Rooney and wife of Walpole, Mass., are among the recent arrivals at the beach. Mr. Rooney is well known in Boston business circles.

Thomas G. O'Connell, a member of the board of selectmen, Wakefield, Mass., and Democratic candidate for the House of Representatives, has been a visitor here for a short time.

Mrs. Lucia Anderson Huff of Old Orchard, organist of the Shannon memorial organ at the Main street Baptist church, Saco, is taking her usual August vacation.

Miss Draper and Miss Cole of New York and Mr. and Mrs. Matthews and young son of Western Tennessee are guests at the Elden cottage, Ocean avenue.

Fred Little and wife of Farmington are occupying their cottage, "Pinehurst," on Atlantic avenue. Mr. and Mrs. Asa Gilman of Madison are guests of the Leavitts.

Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Duncan of Warren, Mass., are staying here for several days. Mr. Duncan is proprietor of the largest clothing store in Warren. He is prominent in the order of Foresters and the Knights of Columbus.

Miss Anna W. Morse of Hartford City, Ind., who is to give a recitation at the entertainment by the Old Orchard W. C. T. U., shows unusual ability as an elocutionist for one so young. She is a favorite with all who know her.

A party of Skowhegan people occupying the Reynolds cottage on Ocean avenue includes: Mrs. Daniel Onstott and her two daughters, Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Dinsmore, Miss Myrtle Hoxie, Miss Gladys McPheters, Mrs. A. C. Church and Miss Gertrude Humphrey.

Mrs. Ellen A. Dennis of Bangor and Miss Grace Stowers of Woburn, Mass., have been guests recently of Mrs. L. M. Beard, Union avenue. Mrs. Dennis is a poetess of rare ability. She has published one volume of her poems, and has another ready for publication. Her poem entitled, "The Woods and Lakes of Maine," is excellent.

Littlefield, the eye-sight specialist of Saco, is performing some wonderful cures with glasses, after many leading specialists of Portland, Boston and New York have given the patients up and declared them incurable. He is not a medical doctor and does not recommend any medicine. His system is known as optometry which means eye-measure. Eye-strain is responsible for many ills. Consultation and tests free.

Included in the list of arrivals from Massachusetts are: Mr. and Mrs. L. S. Munn and Mrs. C. F. Munn, Springfield; William J. Sylvester, Lowell; Miss H. M. Perkins, A. G. Richardson, Salem; Harry H. Stockwell, Worcester; Miss Kilduff, Dorchester; Mrs. H. A. Fletcher and family, Winchester; Mr. and Mrs. M. L. Cobb, Louis Hyneman and family, Brookline; Mr. and Mrs. E. W. RESIDENCE OF W. J. MEWER

One of the most finely constructed and best appointed residences in Old Orchard is that of Mr. William J. Mewer. This house was erected a year ago last spring, in a sightly and pleasant location on Staples street, and no cost was spared to make a modern and substantial residence for permanent occupancy. It has been rented for this season by Rt. Rev. William H. O'Connell, D.D., Bishop of Portland.

Acme Spring Water

This excellent table water has been analyzed and highly recommended by some of the best Chemists and Physicians in Maine, and is served by some of our leading hotels, to their guests, free of cost. Do not drink impure river or cistern water, but be sure you are supplied with "ACME," exclusively.

A SONG OF SUMMER.

Sing a song of summer;
Robins in the trees,
Smiling sky and grass knee high
Waving in the breeze;
Has of drawbacks, too, its share—
Hot enough to roast a bear.

Lolling on the greensward,
Watching shadows fly;
In the shade with lemonade
And a girl close by—
Not so nice to rise at dawn
And proceed to shave the lawn.

Swinging in a hammock,
With a palm leaf fan,
Or afloat and in your boat,
Getting lovely tan—
Oh, the season is just grand
If you're not a harvest hand.

Sing a song of summer;
Apple, cherry, peach,
All aglow and hanging low
Where a man can reach;
But they're green or hard or dry
In the store where I must buy.

One Thing Lacking.

He thought his education fine,
But found he had another think—
That some few things he did not know—
For when he came to buy a drink
Where prohibition laws held sway
It seems he didn't know the wink.

The British Epaulet.

In the British army the epaulet dates back to the year 1791. In more recent times the officers wore golden and the men worsted epaulets. But these were discontinued in 1855, during the Crimean war, because officers thus distinguished were exposed to needless risk.

In Defense of Old Orchard

THE following article in defense of Old Orchard appeared in the Biddeford Record, Tuesday, and was written, we presume, by Rev. S. H. Emery, a Baptist clergyman of North Berwick, and formerly pastor of the Main Street Baptist church, Saco. Mr. Emery has been a well known summer resident in Old Orchard for several years.

Editor of The Record:—I have been very much amused in reading in the urban and suburban New England papers hysterical utterances in criticism of Old Orchard beach, emanating from one accredited leader of a conspicuous Christian organization, and from others who seem to be trying to gain a modicum of cheap notoriety by posing as among the elect. The "Father" of this criticism is, to the minds of many, being used consciously or unconsciously for personal political ends, which effort will certainly prove abortive when the fact gets clearly before the minds of the law abiding, conservative residents and property holders, who have made Old Orchard the beautiful summer resort it is. I challenge successful contradiction when I affirm that in all New England there can not be found a more intelligent, moral and religious resident and non-resident population than Old Orchard has in the summer time. "Old Orchard, the wickedest summer resort in New England," has established and maintains in all the year an excellent public library, open to all residents and non-residents alike. It has Methodist Episcopal, Episcopalian and Advent churches, and from July 24 to the close of the season almost one continuous prayer meeting at the Campground. And the devotees who attend St. Margaret's Catholic church can hardly be accommodated, wicked indeed! A man who will, before giving the matter most careful thought and investigation, give utterance to such a criticism of Old Orchard as appeared in the Boston daily press, discounts his own intelligence. And from experience I believe he can do a heap more good by attending to his legitimate work of preaching the sweet gospel of Jesus Christ. And this annual spasm of closing all places of amusement on the Lord's day, as it is observed, savors much of phariseeism—"straining at a gnat and swallowing a camel." Two of the leading critics are non-residents and another an alien resident who, with his family, profits by our American institutions, and these all depend for the success of their labors upon the summer Sunday steam and electric roads that bring crowds to their services. Place an injunction upon these lines of transportation and there would be no Midway. The problem is very easily solved. Old Orchard is a beautiful summer resort, affording a transient home for those who would have a surcease from the exactions of social and business life. All such are welcome. Its residents pride themselves upon their traditions. But they would enter a protest against those who would defame the fair name of Old Orchard.

S. H. Emery.

An Exciting Runaway.

From far down the beach late Tuesday afternoon came a horse at full gallop, dragging an open road wagon, on the seat of which two little girls, one two years of age and the other four, were sitting, holding on like grim death and shouting at the tops of their voices.

They were children of Joseph Cormier, a resident of a little cottage on Milliken street. They had been out to ride with a young man who was thrown from the carriage as the horse made a sharp turn on the beach.

A mighty shout went up from the crowd near the railroad station, as the horse sped up the main thoroughfare from the beach, over the railroad crossing and swung into Milliken street, running parallel with the track, toward the marsh. As he made the turn the wagon swerved and it seemed as if the little

Tennis Tournament.

The annual tennis tournament on the courts of the Rev. J. K. Smythe of New York City is in progress at Ocean Park. Sixteen players are entered. Dr. Charles E. G. Shannon, who secured a win on the challenge cup last year, is here to defend his title. Events to be played are scratch singles, scratch doubles, handicap doubles with first and second prizes for all events.

Scores:

MEN'S SINGLES.

First round—Evans—A. Strauss, 6—0, 6—2; Brackett—Bowen, 6—2, 6—3; Smythe—Paige, 6—0, 6—2; F. Strauss—Rowley, 7—5, 6—3; Cummiugs—Leith, 6—2, 6—2.

MEN'S DOUBLES.

Shannon & Smythe—F. Strauss & A. Strauss, 6—1, 6—0; Fiske & Crawford—Priest & Leith, 6—4, 6—2.

Republican County Committee.

The Republican county committee held a meeting Tuesday afternoon at the Roosevelt club rooms on Old Orchard street. There was a large attendance, as every one of the twenty-seven towns in the county was represented.

The committee went into session about 2 o'clock and many matters of a routine nature were acted upon, and the question of speakers for the campaign was up for discussion. The list is practically settled and will soon be announced.

The committee decided to have speakers in every town in the county and a vigorous campaign will be inaugurated within a few days. Not only will speakers of national reputation be heard, but also many Maine Republicans and among them many of the best speakers in the county, who will devote themselves largely to local issues.

Gift of Appreciation.

T. LaBlanc of Boston, the capable chef of the Aldine for several seasons past, was yesterday presented with a solid gold ring and a purse by the guests and employees of the house. The occasion was his forty-sixth birthday. The gift also included a beautiful bunch of forty-six pinks. Mr. LaBlanc is a very efficient chef, and his services and ability are highly appreciated by all connected with the Aldine. He has been well known as the chef of the Bellevue and Clark's of Boston.

Informal Musicale at "Hazel-Den."

The announcement that Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Hazelton will give an informal musicale at "Hazel-Den," to their friends on Friday evening, will be read with pleasure by those who have had the opportunity to attend the many delightful functions at the "Log Cabin" in previous years. This is the first occasion of the kind to be held there this season.

Necessary Conditions.

The following is an extract from the late Governor Altgeld's book entitled, "The Cost of Something for Nothing:"

The conditions necessary to reach the highest development in this world, for either man or woman, are independence and absolute equality of rights. This is the essence of justice and the highest civilization is impossible where these conditions do not exist. Neither man nor woman can become really great while the other is kept subordinate. And the different peoples of the earth rank on the scale of progress according to the treatment their women receive. Their condition is the lowest among the savages and barbarians, where they are compelled to do all the drudgery and to wait on their lords and masters as slaves; and it is the highest in the United States of America, where they possess the greatest degree of independence and equality of rights ever accorded women.

tots on the seat must surely be thrown headlong, but they clung to each other and to the wagon seat.

Past the narrow lane leading to his stable the horse went, and out toward the marsh. He couldn't have selected a safer route. By the time he reached the sawdust pile in the rear of Mewer's steam mill he had lost much of his speed, and when he struck in onto the soft marsh he had to slow down to a walk.

All along the route futile attempts had been made to stop him. On the marsh he was an easy captive. The children were scared half out of their wits. The horse was covered with foam, but not a strap was broken.

The parents of the Cormier children were seeing the sights in Boston Tuesday, and missed one of the biggest scares of their lives.

Gerald Clifford, son of Rev. and Mrs. Howard A. Clifford of South Paris has been a visitor in town this week.

HOTEL PERSONALS

B. J. Mackay of Richmond, Ont., a member of the Canadian Parliament, is sojourning at the Lawrence.

A subscription whist party will be held in the Velvet sun parlors next Monday evening. Prizes will be awarded.

Dr. A. H. Drucker of New York, the father of the two Buster Brown boys, has returned to the Velvet for the rest of the season.

A. Robinson, a prominent young druggist from New York City, is one of the most notable of the recent arrivals at the Velvet.

J. Raper and wife of Ottawa are at the Irving for a short stay. Mr. Raper is well known and very popular in business circles of his native city.

Annie L. Healey of Stoughton has returned to the Irving for her usual summer visit. She is accompanied by Miss J. Connell of Canton, Mass.

A. W. Lesperance and family of Montreal are making a short stay at the Aldine. Mr. Lesperance is manager of the City Savings Bank of Montreal.

The Misses M. A. and M. G. O'Brien of Waterbury, Conn., have returned to the Montreal for their usual summer visit. They are old guests of the house. The rest of the family will arrive next week.

The Misses Sadie Goding and Daisy Damn, two of Worcester's most popular young ladies, have arrived at the Velvet for the rest of the season. They are accompanied by Miss Goding's sister, Mrs. Goding.

The Misses M. A. Bauer, A. M., and E. G. Stehler, Olga F. Manver, C. Burke, and Mrs. T. F. Manver of Rochester, N. Y., are registered at the Irving for a short stay. They attended the recent National encampment of the G. A. R. in Boston.

Head waiter Conrad of the Velvet is much pleased with the work of his waitresses, particularly in consideration of the manner of their selection. From all his applications he selected those of girls who in their New England homes are school teachers or something of the sort, and had little or no experience. Mr. Conrad and the guests of the house are very well satisfied with the result.

Daniel J. Carey of Lawrence has returned to the Montreal for his usual summer visit.

A party of five guests of the Western enjoyed a pleasant trip to Riverton Park, Portland, last Tuesday.

M. J. Walsh, an influential Montreal Alderman, has arrived at the Aldine with his family for the rest of the season.

J. W. Mulligan of Montreal is at the Lawrence. He is employed as secretary in the offices of the Canadian Pacific Railway.

J. B. Vallee and wife of Montreal are at the Aldine. Mr. Vallee is a prominent lawyer and is well known in Canadian court circles.

The Misses Elizabeth F. and Sue C. Sullivan, popular young school mistresses of Woonsocket, R. A., are registered at the Irving.

Thomas L. Powers and family of Worcester are registered at the Aldine. Mr. Powers is with the circulation department of the Worcester Telegram.

Miss Eva McNamara of New York is spending the season at the Montreal with her mother. Miss McNamara is an accomplished elocutionist.

Last Tuesday a party of fifteen guests from the Western took the Harpswell sail down Casco Bay from Portland, taking dinner at Orr's Island.

B. Chaloff of Boston is fast becoming one of the most popular young men at the Velvet. He is much sought by the young ladies on account of his accomplished dancing.

The Misses Alice L., Alice K., and Anna Gray of Lowell are again at the Irving. They have been at this house for several seasons past.

The Ocean House had the largest number of arrivals on Tuesday of any day of the season, and but for the departure of those whose vacations compelled them to return to their homes, it would have been impossible to accommodate the new comers.

Charles Elliott and family of Brockton are registered at the Western. Mr. Elliott is a well known clothier in his native city. He and Mr. Drowns vie with each other in conducting the jollity of the house. They are the life of the many gatherings of the guests.

EXPLANATORY.

This is one of the most interesting mining propositions ever presented to New England investors. Through the recent death of the former owner of the "Jeffries' Claims," (consisting of 4 producing mines), the property reverted to the only heir, a resident of Portland, Me. The above syndicate closed negotiations for this mining property and are rapidly making arrangements to resume work and shipping which was discontinued only last December, 1903. Extensive operations have been conducted in these mines the past five years, and the last 50 tons of ore shipped to the smelter, 14 miles away, returned $136.50 per ton in gold and copper. The ore already blocked out will reach into the hundreds of thousands of tons. Any one of the 4 mining claims is a stupendous mining proposition in itself. The dyke of ore measures 80 feet wide and extends over four-fifths of a mile long covering four foot hills of the Bradshaw Mountains in the World-famous "Verde Belt." No such mineral wealth has ever been discovered in any other section in the country. In a few brief weeks the Bradshaw Mountain R. R. will reach our property, and we have letters from smelters desiring to purchase all our ore because of its high grade; and we have other evidences to prove beyond contradiction, this to be one of the most magnificent mining proposition of recent years. Scores of visitors have already investigated, and subscribed for stock at 50c per share. The allotment is growing smaller and is very limited. Everybody is invited to investigate, also use our Information Department to look up the value of their present holdings in stocks or bonds.

The Maine Tourists.

Maine has been characterized as the "playground of the nation," and the truth of this prettily worded statement is becoming impressed upon the residents of this commonwealth more and more each year. An increasing number of tourists are coming Maineward every season to sojourn for periods of from one or two weeks to six months, and the influence of this great annual pilgrimage into the "Pine Tree State" is felt more and more by all our people. There can be no doubt that the number of Maineacs is constantly on the increase and this is by no means a bad symptom.

The summer tourists, of course, make up the great majority of the visitors to this state, but yet Maine is sought by travellers during nearly every month in the year, from the time when the fishing season opens early in the Spring, until the sportsmen have left late in the Autumn with their supplies of big game.

In a certain sense the catering to tourists is one of the foremost industries in the state, and from the financial standpoint means a great deal to the resident population. A few years ago it was estimated that the tourists spent annually within the borders of Maine, the large sum of about $15,000,000.

Few will deny that we have the attractions that appeal strongly to those seeking entertainment, pleasure and recreation, but what is most needed is a united and continued effort on the part of all our citizens to have made known more widely throughout the country, the many superior advantages offered those who wish to tarry for a while in such a delightful and invigorating environment.

Here and There.

We are started towards the latter days of August.

Affairs at Old Orchard and political conditions throughout the country are occupying the attention of the reporters quite freely at the present time.

A large number of trunks are brought in and sent away each day.

On account of the great amount of news matter and the limited space, a few items were necessarily left out of Tuesday's issue of THE MIRROR.

It may be stated without fear of refutation that for the most part the hotels and other business places that have advertised in THE MIRROR this season have been very successful.

MORIN VILLA.

"Morin Villa," the delightful summer home of Mr. John B. Morin and family of Biddeford, is one of the best of the many modern residences built in Old Orchard during the past two or three years. This commodious place is very pleasantly situated on the sea wall towards Grand Beach, in a desirable locality that has been greatly developed in recent years. Mr. Morin is one of the best known druggists in Biddeford, and one of the most progressive business men of that city. With his family he has been accustomed to pass several months at Old Orchard during the past few years.

The vacation period for some has just been completed, while others are now beginning this delightful experience.

A great many people are ready to admit that they are pleased to see their names in the paper—provided, of course, that something complimentary is said about them. On the other hand, there are not a few who like this sort of thing, however much they may pretend otherwise.

Many have sent this season, as in former years, for copies of THE MIRROR to obtain information in regard to Old Orchard. These requests for papers have come from a number of distant places.

It is a great wonder that there are not more accidents around the railroad station. Many people reveal a degree of carelessness that is difficult to understand. The vigilance of the Boston & Maine employes has prevented thousands from getting killed or injured, both this season and in former years.

Children's Day.

Children's day brought a large number of visitors to Old Orchard Wednesday, and it was a most pleasant outing for the hundreds who came here from Maine, New Hampshire and Massachusetts. There were excursions on the Boston & Maine and Maine Central railroads. Many went to Ocean Park where exercises were held.

Benjamin Benson of Lynn, Mass., was in Old Orchard Tuesday to visit his mother who is critically ill at her home here. Mr. Benson has charge of a cutting room in a Lynn shoe factory.

Bowling Notes.

This column was unavoidably omitted from Tuesday's MIRROR on account of a press of other important matter.

The bowling of the last few days has been remarkably fast, and several records have been broken, particularly in the ladies' scores at the Field alley. The highest strings at the Cleaves alley now stand:

BIG PINS.

Gents—J. H. Baker, Worcester, 221.
Ladies—Miss Mary V. Peyser, New York, 159.

CANDLES.

Gents—Fred A. Knight, Portland, and P. Hanley, Brookline, 116.
Ladies—Miss May Davis, Portland, 91.

DUCKS.

Gents—M. F. Sullivan, Lawrence, 99.
Ladies—Miss Alice Warren, Brooklyn, 95.

The best strings rolled at the Field alley Tuesday and Wednesday were:

BIG PINS.

Gents—E. McMahon, Montreal, 190.
Ladies—Miss M. McMahon, Montreal, 132.

CANDLES.

Gents—Benj. C. Stroul, Lowell, 98.
Ladies—Rosella G. Sweeney, Boston, 87.

DUCKS.

Gents—Leslie Minto, Montreal, 92.
Ladies—Edith E. Minto, Montreal, and Annie Watson, Hinsdale, N. H., 85.

The records at this alley now stand:

Jemmy was explaining to Amelia: "This is the way you make a hortus siccus: You get a big book with no printin' in it, and then paste it full of weeds and flowers and grass and little bits of bushes, but you have to dry, dry, dry 'em. Siccus is Latin for just as dry as a bone."

"I wonder could we put in Benjamin Byram, Esq.?" Bess speculated platonically. "Heaven knows he's dry enough just as he stands. Then think of the relief if he was once where you could shut him up and off at will."

Prue giggled outright. "He does talk thirteen to the dozen," she said. "But who wouldn't, with all his chances? Nature made him a fool of the first water, and fate chipped in by giving him a fortune and a doting family."

"Benjamin the Blatant, Tom Rodman calls him," Bess began, still platonically. Jemmy came charging at her, with Amelia hot upon his heels, and shouting: "You hush, Aunt Bess! You want lose me my pony! Mister Byram says he'll give me a Shetland if I don't let nobody say a word against him in this house."

"I b'leeve he wants Jem to fight with Mister Tom Rodman," Amelia interrupted sagely, her head the least bit aside. "And I ain't goin' to help him there," she added pointedly, "'cause Mister Tom says I'm his sweetheart. He's goin' to wait for me to grow up. He thinks I'm a heap prettier'n Aunt Bess right now."

"How about me?" Prue asked, giggling more than ever. Amelia looked reflectively, but Jemmy stuck his hands in his pockets, set his feet far apart and said, sticking out his chin after the manner of his model, Benjamin Byram, "Why, Prudy, you know nobody will ever look at you so long as Aunt Bess and Melia are around."

"Won't they, indeed?" Prue queried, drawing down the corners of her mouth meekly, although her eyes twinkled. Jemmy swung on his heel, saying magisterially: "Course not. Why, you're all freckled same as a turkey egg and haven't hardly got meat enough to wrap up your long bones."

"Upon my soul! Say, Miss Prue, shall I take him out and drown him?" Tom Rodman asked, coming through the door as he spoke. But Jemmy only grinned at him—Jemmy was nine and Prue eighteen. They were the best of comrades, despite his brutal frankness. Prue made a dash at him, stood him upon his head, then swung him by an arm and a leg, chanting:

"Here he goes! Fingers and toes!
Up the chimney when the wind blows!"

ending in a feint of flinging Jemmy upon the open fire. Amelia improved the opportunity to pull her brother's hair until he howled. They were twins and pretty badly spoiled, as was but natural, since they had grown up motherless in their grandfather's house.

"I'll swing you by your legs, Prudy, when I'm a man. You see if I don't," Jemmy said, trying to scowl, but grinning in spite of himself. Tom Rodman picked the boy up and flung him across his shoulder, saying gravely: "I hate to do it, but there's nothing else for it. Jemmy, I've been telling you this ever so long I'd carry you to the gypsies if you did not behave better."

Stop wriggling. You can't get away. But I'll let you kiss Melia and the others goodby. Be quick! You won't ever see them again."

"Kiss 'em all yourself. That's what you're after," Jemmy, the astute, piped huskily as Tom carried him close to Aunt Bess. His arms were free. Impishly he laid hold of the two heads and yanked them together, locking his arms behind the two necks and holding them tight, laughing uproariously all the while. Tom was a gallant fellow. He could do no less than kiss Bess, if all his heart did belong to sweet Miss Prue. And just as he kissed her who should come in to them but Mr. Byram, the rich distant cousin, who had been for three weeks a guest at Fairlaw.

Mr. Byram had come there exploring. He felt the need of a wife rather than the want of one. Bess, who was tall and twenty and the very moral of gracious stateliness when she chose to be, had captivated him out of hand. He would have proposed to her the second day of his visit, never doubting what answer she would make, but that his sense of propriety forbade. Besides, it would not do to dazzle her too suddenly. He must let the great prospects break gently upon her as dawn broke over the world. So he had been nobly impartial in his devoirs, so much so he had twinges of conscience whenever he thought of Prue. She was hardly more than a schoolgirl, to be sure, but quite mature enough to break her heart over loss of him if she once let herself seriously believe she had a chance of being Mrs. Byram.

Of Tom Rodman he had taken no more account than to set him down as an impertinent puppy, with a knack of coming in at all hours, especially when Mr. Byram least expected or wanted him. To discover him kissing Bess in the face of everybody made Benjamin the Blatant simply furious. All the more furious that Jemmy cried out gleefully: "Mister Byram! Mister Byram! Come help me hold 'em! They tried to skeer me, but I'm beatin' 'em at their own game!"

"Let loose, you little varmint! Shut up!" Tom commanded. Prue made a dash at the tangle and deftly untwined Jemmy's fingers, letting Bess escape. Mr. Byram stood speechless in wrath and amazement until Amelia, sidling up to him, slid her hand within his and said, with the least toss of the head: "They ain't behavin' ugly. Mister Tom will be Aunt Bess' nephew when he marries me, and the Fairlies always kiss their kinfolk, if they ain't too far off and great big stuffs into the bargain. Prue and Aunt Bess said so the first night you came."

"Indeed!" Mr. Byram exploded. "With my coming, I suppose, for a text. Well, young ladies, I see in all this the hand of Providence. A just and ever watchful God would not permit me to fall victim to your mercenary designs. No doubt you were tempted by my wealth and position, although you are so wholly incapable of appreciating a man of my character."

"Kindly come outside with me before you say any more," Tom Rodman interrupted, setting Jemmy down with a thump and putting himself in front of Bess, who had grown very white and had eyes of scorching flame. Prue, contrarywise, had flushed so scarlet it hid all her freckles. Tom reached a hand to her and drew her toward him, while he went on steadily: "Your talk needs a man to hear and answer it. I'm that man. Bess and Prue have no brother, and Mr. Fairlie is past fighting age. But Prue belongs to me, and that gives me the right to stand up for 'em. So you come along! We'll settle this the minute we strike the turnpike and neutral ground."

"Don't you try no crawfish games! You know you wanted to marry Aunt Bess! You told me so and said I must court her for you. I ain't very big, but if you try to go back on her I'll let you know I can shoot my little gun, and that's more than you can do. We won't have a regular duel, like grandpa tells about. Let's try a buttin' match instead, and if I butt you over, like David did Goliath, you'll propose to Aunt Bess same as ever and gimme that Shetland you've been talkin' so much about."

"Ladies and gentlemen, goodbye," Mr. Byram began in his most ceremonious voice. He got no further. Jemmy went at him like a catapult and bowled him down and out of the door, only stopping when his enemy lay prostrate upon the hall threshold. There the grownups came to the rescue and so managed it that Mr. Byram went off an hour later, somewhat bruised in his person and self esteem, but as to his outer man whole and speckless. When the carriage rolled away with him Tom Rodman drew a long breath and said as he tossed a foreign letter to Bess: "Your sweetheart is coming home by the next steamer. Had a cable this morning. You see, I have been writing him things. He will agree with me and the late Byram that in all this there is unmistakably the hand of Providence."

OCEAN PARK

The many friends of Mrs. C. L. Pinkham are happy to have her with them again.

Mrs. Favor is having the pleasure of entertaining two sisters and a brother this week.

Miss Marr, former book-keeper at the Ocean Park Grocery, on account of illness, has returned to her home in Portland.

Mr. Charles A. Davis, candy manufacturer in Rochester, N. H., with his wife, has just returned home after a week's stay at Curtis Home.

For the past week Miss Roxa Ford of Haverhill, Miss Anna Buzzell of Salem Depot and Miss Bertha Hodgdon of Rochester have been entertained at B Cottage.

The guests at Curtis Home are regretting the departure of the Gordon family from Mississippi, who seem to have the happy faculty of getting and giving a good time.

Albert Felker, who was employed in Blake Industrial last season, and his brother, Edward, with a company of friends from Stafford, N. H., are occupying the Adams cottage for the week.

Miss Mabel Andrews, pastor of the Free Baptist church at Madison, is making a two weeks' stay at Minnie's Seaside Rest on the seashore. Miss Andrews led most acceptably the devotional service Tuesday morning.

Mr. and Mrs. Folsom entertained a merry party of friends on the beach Monday night. The occasion was a wondrous big bonfire made of pine boughs and other debris from their new cottage on Temple avenue.

Monday saw the departure of many guests, sent home by the expiration of their tickets. The limiting of the tickets this year by the railroads to periods of about two weeks, has been a great misfortune. No blame, however, can be given the Association which did all in its power to prevent it.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Milliken, with their son and daughter, are in Boston for a few days. Thus is explained the silence of our streets. We miss the clack-erty roar, the rush to the window, and the sight of a merry party speeding by. Mr. Milliken is very generous hearted and many are the Park residents who have enjoyed a lively spin.

Miss Adia A. Heine, professor in Smith College, is now giving very instructive lectures on Geology and History. Beginning Wednesday they are to continue ten days.

Friday evening Mrs. J. K. Barney is to lecture on "The Modern Macedonian Cry." Mrs. Barney is superintendent and prison evangelist in the penal, charitable and reformatory work of the W. C. T. U., Providence, R. I.

Saturday afternoon Miss L. C. Coombs, missionary from India, conducts a missionary meeting. In the evening all are cordially invited to a reception given by the Educational Bureau to the residents and guests of the Park.

Baron von Palm, who was to lecture Monday on "Labor and its Beauty," and Tuesday on "Art," failed to arrive. His place was very acceptably filled the second day by Rev Peter MacQueen in his lecture on "Russia and Japan." The whole series of lectures given by Mr. MacQueen has been a great opportunity to Ocean Park. He has made a personal and thorough investigation of the countries of which he speaks and their present conditions. His expression is accurate and pleasing and his pictures choice.

Some of the recent arrivals are: BILLOW HOUSE—Lewis A. Pierce, Mrs. C. J. Pierce, Rose Shrauss, Lowell; John F. Bartlett, Hanover, N. H.

GRANITE SLATE HOTEL—Mrs. W. L. Mason, Manchester; Mrs. G. S. Munroe, Sophie J. Weiler, Boston; Edith F. Harrington, Watertown; F. D. Rodenbush, Keene; J. H. Gray and wife, E. D. Gray, Somerville; Mrs. O. N. Hussey, Emily Goodwin, Farmington; Adia Heine, North Hampton.

CURTIS HOME—Maria Woodward, Rochester; Jessie H. Mason, Boston; Clara E. Stanton, Somersworth; Helen Stanton Durgin, Cambridge.

THINGS THEATRICAL.

Josephine Cohan, formerly of "The Four Cohans," will play the leading female part in "The Rogers Brothers In Paris" the coming season. Miss Cohan is a clever comedienne and an exceptionally artistic dancer.

Neva Aymar, the comedienne, singer and dancer who attracted not a little attention last season, will play the role of Colin, the principal boy, in Klaw & Erlanger's Drury Lane spectacle, "Mother Goose," the coming season.

Max Hoffman, who conducted the orchestra with "The Rogers Brothers In London" last season, will continue with this organization next season as conductor and composer of the entire musical score of "The Rogers Brothers In Paris."

Joseph Brooks' production of C. T. Dazey's new play, "Home Folk," its theme taken from James Whitcomb Riley's poem of the same title, will be presented at the New York theater Christmas day after two weeks at the Walnut Street theater, Philadelphia.

Denman Thompson's revival of "The Old Homestead" at the New York theater will be made on a very elaborate scale, with a scenic magnificence never before attempted in a play of this class. This revival will mark the beginning of Mr. Thompson's thirtieth consecutive season.

Klaw & Erlanger's aerial theater and gardens over the New Amsterdam theater are the most popular summer evening resort in New York. For seven weeks they have been crowded to their capacity of 2,000 people every night. The theater is as complete in every detail as one of surface construction.

An Automobile Accident.

George W. Treat, a bond salesman employed by the E. H. Rollins brokerage firm, 19 Milk street, Boston, succeeded, after many escapades with his handsome two-seated Stanley automobile, in demolishing the machine Thursday afternoon.

Mr. Treat and his father, W. S. Treat of Livermore Falls, have been guests at the Seashore House for several days.

Thursday forenoon, Mr. Treat accompanied by his father, went to Portland with the machine to have it repaired. Late in the afternoon they were returning in the auto, when a trolley car, Old Orchard bound, came along and Mr. Treat found that he could without difficulty lead the electric car. He was thinking more about the car behind than he was of the highway and entirely forgot the turn in the road near the Old Orchard kite track. When Mr. Trott came to the sharp curve in the street he was unable to keep the steam carriage in the road, he was going so fast, and it shot across the car tracks and overturned completely when it reached the gutter. The Boston man was thrown into the grass by the roadside and his father, a man of 60, was thrown over his head.

Fortunately the electric was some distance behind and hence there was no danger from that source.

Although considerably shaken up the Livermore Falls man escaped without a scratch. His son sprained his wrist and scratched his face but otherwise escaped injury. A man who was trailing behind in a machine brought the men to the hotel, where they received the congratulations of the hotel guests on their lucky escape from serious injury.

What was left of the machine was allowed to stay by the side of the road until Friday morning when it was forwarded to Boston for repairs.

Tennis Tournament.

The following are additional scores in the tennis tournament played on Rev. Julian K. Smyth's courts at Ocean Park:

MEN'S SINGLES.

Second Round—Evans—Crawford, 6-1, 6-0; Brackett—Howard, 3-6, 6-3, 7-5; Smyth—Fiske, 6-3, 6-1; Cummings—F. Strauss, 6-1, 6-0.

Semi-Final Round—Smyth—Cummings, 6-1, 7-5; Evans—Brackett, 6-4, 7-5.

Evans and Smyth meet in the final round and the winner of the match plays Dr. Charles Shannon for the cup.

Shannon and Smyth won out in the doubles defeating Evans and Cummings in the final round, 6-3, 6-4, 7-5.

The scores of matches in the semi-final round were, Evans and Cummings beat Fiske and Crawford, 6-1, 6-4; Shannon and Smyth beat Howard and Brackett, 6-2, 6-4.

Bowling Notes.

There has been little record bowling recently. The principal event among the rollers was the contest between the Velvet and Fiske teams last Wednesday evening at the Cleaves Alley. The Velvet won easily by a score of 1130 to 1016. There was some discussion of fouls and it was finally decided to let either side go over the line which put the match on rather a peculiar footing. Baker of Worcester was the star of the match. The Fiske team was made up of Harris, Dennett, Curley and the Cronan broth-

National Holiness Association.

The convocation of the National Holiness Association opened Friday evening at the Campground and will continue till the forenoon of August 29, with a daily morning prayer meeting at 6 o'clock, people's meeting at 8.30 a. m., and preaching forenoon, afternoon and evening.

The National Association for the Promotion of Holiness has been a providential movement in the interest of scriptural holiness,—which was characterized by Dr. Chalmers in his definition of

ers. The individual score of the winning team was as follows:

Drucker,	71	65	63	199
Levy,	81	86	72	239
A. Gray,	59	72	75	206
Baker,	80	90	79	249
J. Gray,	76	84	77	237

1130

The same hotels met last evening at the Cleaves Alley, the Velvet being challenged by the Fiske strengthened by three new men. The score will appear in the Tuesday's MIRROR.

The records at the different alleys still stand:

At the Cleaves Alley:

BIG PINS.

Gents—J. H. Baker, Worcester, 221.

Gents—M. F. Sullivan, Lawrence, 99.
Ladies—Miss Alice Warren, Brooklyn, 95.

The Democratic Campaign.

The Democratic campaign in York county opened at Old Orchard Wednesday afternoon at the campground auditorium. The meeting was presided over by Rev. Alexander Hamilton of Sanford, and the first speaker was Rev. H. S. Savery of Lebanon Center, who made a strong speech for enforcement and for the election of candidates who would perform their duties.

E. J. Cram, candidate for county attorney, was the next speaker introduced and he made a forceful and stirring speech, giving most of his attention to the address of County Attorney Emery at Alfred, and pouring hot shot into the Republican party for the manner in which the prohibitory law is enforced, or not enforced, in this county.

Ed. H. Emery of Sanford, candidate for sheriff, was given a cordial reception. He discussed what he termed the hypocrisy and insincerity of Republican platforms, and severely arraigned the Republicans for the conditions that have existed in York county for several years.

Methodism as "Christianity in earnest."

This meeting will seek to promote among the ministers and laymen the devout study of the word of God, the more "Abundant Life," a love perfect toward God and man.

Dr. Charles J. Fowler, the president, will be assisted in the meeting by Rev. B. C. Wentworth and his ministers, Rev. C. W. Winchester, D. D., President of Taylor University, Rev. J. N. Short, Rev. C. McVier of New York, who will have charge of the singing.

Dance at The Montreal.

A delightful social hop was enjoyed by the guests of the Montreal in the dining hall of that house last Thursday evening. The affair was managed by the Misses Henrietta Beullac of Montreal and Annie Watson of Hinsdale, N. H. Many guests from neighboring houses were present. Music was furnished by Harmon's orchestra.

Notice.

Those who are indebted to THE MIRROR for advertising or subscriptions will greatly oblige the publisher of this paper by making a settlement as soon as possible.

THE STROLLER

Mr. and Mrs. Fenderson Ames of Nashua, N. H., are here for the remainder of the season.

Mrs. Maud Bowie and Miss Kitty Kenrick of Waterville are among the guests staying at the "Frederic" on Union avenue for several days.

Fannie E. Stuart of Waterville, Miss McLane of Denver, Col., and Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Edwards of South Paris are guests at the "Frederic," the home of Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Sidelinger on Union avenue.

The stock of the Consolidated United Verde Jr. Mining Corporation of Arizona, whose home office is at Old Orchard, took another jump of 25 per cent. last Wednesday evening, making the stock now selling at 75.

For high-grade photo work visit the Baker Studio on Old Orchard street. Satisfaction guaranteed. Experienced photographers are employed at Baker's. Inspect our large assortment of souvenirs.

The Lawry brothers and families and William L. Girt of Fairfield, have taken the "Fair-View" cottage on Cedar avenue for the rest of the season. The firm of Lawry Brothers is one of the leading business houses of Fairfield.

One of the most attractive features of the W. C. T. U. concert, Wednesday evening was a song rendered by two little Misses five years of age, Fredonna Leitch of Old Orchard and Gracie Bean of Springfield, Mass.

Miss Ethel Eames of Bethel has been visiting friends at the Guptill cottage, Central Park avenue, during the past few days. Miss Eames has been a teacher in the State Industrial school for girls at Lancaster, Mass.

Miss Kittie M. Kenrick of Waterville, who is a guest at Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Sidelinger's, Union avenue, had the misfortune a week ago Wednesday to lose on the beach a valuable gold watch, chain and locket, all of which she prized very highly. The following day a notice which had been posted by the finder was seen, and the address of the finder was given as Vincent F. Hart, New York City. Miss Kenrick began corresponding with Mr. Hart, by letter and telegraph, and she was requested by him to send her photograph, which corresponded with one that was in the locket. Miss Kenrick was greatly pleased yesterday when the three lost articles were returned through the kindness of Mr. Hart.

F. H. Hargraves and family of West Buxton have been recent visitors here.

M. D. Bell and wife of Portland are occupying the "Idle Day" cottage on West Grand avenue for the rest of the season.

Mrs. John P. Milliken, who has been ill at her home on Portland avenue, is improving daily.

Arrangements are being made for a ball among the colored people at Old Orchard, in the town hall next week. A similar event last season was largely attended.

Five couples contested for prizes in the cake walk on the Pier, Wednesday evening, which were won by Torrey and Hall, first; Lublinsky and Reny, second; John Armstrong and Cote, third.

Mrs. E. Urch of Newcastle, N. H., and her daughters, Mrs. S. C. Pettman of Chelsea, Mass., Mrs. R. C. Sargent, Philadelphia, and Mrs. W. A. Spinney, South Eliot, have been guests of Mrs. L. M. Beard, Union avenue, for a few days.

Mrs. James A. Smith of Boston has been doing a most successful business at her hair dressing parlors on Old Orchard street this season, as for a number of years past. Mrs. Smith and assistants make a specialty of hair dressing, shampooing, manicuring, facial and scalp treatment. Chiropody is also practiced. A fine line of novelties and hand-painted articles on sale.

Capt. William H. McNulty of Washington, D. C., a veteran of the Civil war, who has for a number of years held a responsible position in the post office department, accompanied by his daughter, Miss Nellie E. McNulty, arrived here a few days ago, and is visiting Mrs. McNulty's sister, Mrs. Mary W. Means, at her home in the rear of the Old Orchard house. Mrs. McNulty and two grandchildren have been here for several weeks.

If you had a valuable watch which needed some fixing would you take it to a blacksmith or locksmith who advertised to repair watches as a side line? Would you even trust it to a tramp repairer who called at your house? Would you try to fix it yourself? I say no! You would take it to a man who makes a specialty of watches and has the necessary equipment. Use the same good judgment in regard to your eyes and see Dr. Littlefield, the eyesight specialist, Saco, at once. Consultation and tests free.

HOTEL PERSONALS

Dr. George H. Brackett, a prominent physician of Augusta, is registered at the Irving.

A. Mae Brackett of Everett is spending a few days at the Aldine. She has just returned from Youngstown, O., and the Brackett family reunion at Peak's Island.

F. T. Shurtleff and wife of Boston are again sojourning at the Irving as for several seasons past. Mr. Shurtleff is prominently connected with Jordan, Marsh & Co.

Mr. Barnes of New York, who, as the readers of THE MIRROR are well aware, is summering at the Velvet, recently returned from a trip to Manchester, Newburyport and Boston. It is rumored that the yacht still hovers in our immediate vicinity.

A recent issue of the Daily Telegram of Kingston, the principal city of Jamaica, W. I. Islands, contains a very complimentary notice to Mr. H. Conrad, the head waiter of the Velvet. Mr. Conrad, for the two past seasons, was managing steward of the Hotel Litchfield, Port Antonio, Jamaica, and has many friends on the Island.

No rooms have been vacated at the Ocean for some weeks, but have been immediately filled by incoming guests.

Misses Mary L. Cotter and Mary Shinnick, popular young school mistresses from Lawrence, are once more helping to enliven things at the Irving. They have been at this house for several seasons.

Lieutenant-Colonel Henry G. S. Dixon of Montreal is registered at the Montreal. Col. Dixon was formerly commander of the 87th Three Rivers Regiment, of the Canadian division of the English army.

John J. Riley of Pittsburg, Pa., is registered at the Irving. This is his first visit to Old Orchard and he appears very favorably impressed. It is hoped that we may welcome his smiling countenance here another season.

Miss Clara S. Kittredge of Reed's Ferry, N. H., is a guest at the Ocean. Miss Kittredge is a daughter of Walter Kittredge, the famous song writer, whose "Tenting on the Old Campground," has become a classic among songs.

STATE LINES.

Gold was first discovered in Alabama at Arbacoochee in 1845, and from that year to 1849 5,000 persons were shaking pans for the precious particles.

Kansas has just discovered that her great flood last year had some good in it after all. This year no rats, gophers or rabbits have appeared to damage the crops in the districts which were under water.

The extreme length of Texas, the largest state, is 620 and its breadth 765 miles, comprising an area of 265,780 square miles. It has 243 counties, 19,500,000 acres of improved farming land and farm property of the value of $962,000,000.

The First Balloon.

The idea of the balloon first occurred to the Montgolfier brothers from seeing a large piece of paper fall over the fire, become inflated with smoke and hot air, rise and sail away.

EXPLANATORY.

This is one of the most interesting mining propositions ever presented to New England investors. Through the recent death of the former owner of the "Jeffries' Claims," (consisting of 4 producing mines), the property reverted to the only heir, a resident of Portland, Me. The above syndicate closed negotiations for this mining property and are rapidly making arrangements to resume work and shipping which was discontinued only last December, 1903. Extensive operations have been conducted in these mines the past five years, and the last 50 tons of ore shipped to the smelter, 14 miles away, returned $136.50 per ton in gold and copper. The ore already blocked out will reach into the hundreds of thousands of tons. Any one of the 4 mining claims is a stupendous mining proposition in itself. The dyke of ore measures 80 feet wide and extends over four-fifths of a mile long covering four foot hills of the Bradshaw Mountains in the World-famous "Verde Belt." No such mineral wealth has ever been discovered in any other section in the country. In a few brief weeks the Bradshaw Mountain R. R. will reach our property, and we have letters from smelters desiring to purchase all our ore because of its high grade; and we have other evidences to prove beyond contradiction, this to be one of the most magnificent mining propositions of recent years. Scores of visitors have already investigated, and subscribed for stock at 50c per share. The allotment is growing smaller and is very limited. Everybody is invited to investigate, also use our Information Department to look up the value of their present holdings in stocks or bonds.

Make It Pleasant.

Now is the time for the business people at Old Orchard to make special efforts to entertain the guests within our borders, and to induce them to tarry here as long as they can possibly. We should have a longer season than has been the rule in the past, and a rushing business well into the middle of September is something that we are reasonably entitled to, and might realize, if proper means were taken to bring about such a desired result.

Many must go home at a stated time, and that before the last of August, but there are a great many more who could remain longer here, as well as to go to the mountains and other resorts. It seems, also, as if hundreds, yea, thousands, who never come to Old Orchard during the glorious months of September and October, might be induced to do so, if they really understood what delights are in store for the sojourner here then.

Hotel Everett Won.

A very exciting game of ball was played Friday afternoon on the Seaside Park grounds between the Old Orchard and Everett house teams. The Everetts finally won, 19 to 11. The feature of the game was the pitching of Hurley and Butterfield for the winners. The Everetts easily outclassed their opponents in batting.

The winning team was made up as follows:—Flick, c; Hurley, p; Callahan, Fitzgerald, 1 b; F Cregg, s s; M. Cregg, 3 b; Butterfield, 2 b, p; O'Kane, 1 f; Raymond, c f; Watson, r f.

The Everetts wish to issue a challenge through this column to any house team on the beach.

Here and There.

Wouldn't a high-class music festival be a great thing for Old Orchard again this season?

Taken as a whole, the weather this season has been far more favorable to the summer resort business than in 1902 and '03.

An effort should be made to prolong the season at Old Orchard by providing some good attractions that will prevent the people already in town from leaving, as well as to bring in many others who haven't yet put in their appearance here.

"THE CASTLE."

Among the first of the better class of residences to be constructed in Old Orchard was "The Castle," the attractive home of Mrs. E. H. McKenney. This house was built about 18 years ago and is pleasantly located on Union avenue, a short distance from Washington avenue. It received its name at the suggestion of Judge Enoch Foster of Portland, who was a guest there several years ago. "The Castle" has delightful surroundings, and has usually been occupied throughout the year by Mrs. McKenney.

The tennis tournament on Rev. J. K. Smyth's courts at Ocean Park has again aroused much interest among the lovers of this game.

It is undoubtedly true that there have been as many prominent, accomplished and wealthy visitors to Old Orchard this summer as during any previous season, except, possibly, on some special occasion like the great political meetings of former years or the visit of President Roosevelt.

Everyone should be thankful that the fire department has had so little to do here this season. Old Orchard has been quite fortunate for several years in regard to fires. The Sea View house conflagration last summer was the worst we ever had, on account of the loss of life.

Return Party.

In honor of the birthday observance and gifts given T. LeBlanc, the chef of Aldine, last Wednesday, on the evening of the same day the recipient was the host of the employees of the house at an excellent set up. The party gathered in the laundry of the house and enjoyed themselves till a late hour. Many employees of neighboring houses were present. F. Hess, the popular clerk of the Aldine, contributed a cornet solo, Miss Winnie Evans, the head-waitress of the house, gave readings which were highly appreciated, and D. M. Parker, the chef of the Lawrence, was heard in vocal solos. Mrs. Jessie Taylor, the Aldine's laundress, was the life of the party. Refreshments of ice cream and lemonade were served.

Gems In Verse

War.

The world has listened long to cannon's roar,
To clarion notes that loudly sing of fame,
That with the herald's trumpet blast proclaim
Proud victor's triumph when the battle's o'er;
Unmoved has seen tear swollen rivers pour,
All red with blood and with reflected flame,
Unwonted tide of misery and shame;
Seen centuries running to oblivion's shore,
To loud Evangel from thy presence sent,
Or is thy word no longer waited for?
How long time in thy temple must they take
To con the lesson of Christ's testament—
The grace of peace, the cursedness of war?
—Isaac Bassett Choate in Boston Transcript.

Hearts to Mend.

"Hearts to mend! Hearts to mend!
Broken hearts made whole and sound!
My salve will heal love's deepest wound.
Hearts to mend! Hearts to mend!"

As thus the wand'ring charlatan
Loud hawked his wares through street and lane
From house and shop the people ran
To hear again and yet again:

"Hearts to mend! Hearts to mend!
Bring out your crushed and bleeding hearts;
I'll make them whole by magic arts.
Hearts to mend! Hearts to mend!"

A maiden called the man aside
Where none might hear and whispered low:
"My sweetheart's love for me hath died.
Canst help me? Tell me, yes or no?"

"Hearts to mend! Hearts to mend!
Aye, that I can. My salve hath power
To heal thy hurt within the hour.
Hearts to mend! Hearts to mend!"

"But I am poor," the maid replied.
"Nor gold nor silver coin I have.
I'd give the world and more beside,
If it were mine to buy thy salve."

"Hearts to mend! Hearts to mend!
It costs a tear—no more, no less—
To buy my salve, 'Forgetfulness.'
Hearts to mend! Hearts to mend!"

"Then none of it, I pray, for me.
Though love be lost me, I prefer
To keep at least the memory."

"Hearts to mend! Hearts to mend!
These mortals all be fools indeed
To scorn my aid in time of need.
Hearts to mend! Hearts to mend!"
—Isaac Anderson in Tales From Town Topics.

When to Marry.

Marry when the year is new,
Always loving, kind and true;
When February birds do mate,
You may wed, nor dread your fate.
If you wed when March winds blow,
Joy and sorrow both you'll know.
Marry in April when you can;
Joy for maiden and for man.
Marry in the month of May;
You will surely rue the day.
Marry when June roses blow;
Over land and sea you'll go.
They who in July do wed
Must labor always for their bread.
Whoever wed in August be
Many a change are sure to see.
Marry in September's shine;
Your living will be rich and fine.
If in October you do marry,
Love will come, but riches tarry.
If you wed in bleak November
Only joy will come, remember.
When December's snows fall fast
Marry, and true love will last.
—Woman's Life.

Transplanting Flowers.

In transplanting flowers soak them well first, then lift them out carefully with a trowel, taking a generous supply of earth with them.

A German tinker named Landsberg found a purse containing $110 at Ros tok. He took it to the police station, where its owner claimed it and gave Landsberg a quarter. The disappointed finder shot himself.

Smash-Up At The Fountain.

Friday afternoon about half past four, John Clifford of Lewiston, who recently purchased the Reynolds cottage on Pearl avenue, went through what might have been a serious accident.

With his little girl in the team he had just driven up to the watering fountain near Railroad Square, when the horse, a very spirited animal, shied. Mr. Clifford tried to bring him about, but the right hand wheel did not clear the fountain. It caught, the horse jumped and cleared himself, slightly springing one wheel and breaking both thills. He was easily caught near the post-office.

Mr. Clifford and his daughter were not thrown out nor injured in any way.

Musical at the Velvet.

A delightful musical was held in the ball room of the Velvet, Friday evening by the guests of the house, assisted by the hotel orchestra. The many songs were highly appreciated as also were the cornet and violin solos. Readings were also given and excellent stage dancing. The affair was concluded by a finished cake-walk by talented New Yorkers.

This Is What the Mothers Do.

Playing with the little people
Sweet old games forever new;
Coaxing, cuddling, cooling, kissing,
Baby's every grief dismissing,
Laughing, sighing, soothing, singing,
While the happy days are winging—
This is what the mothers do.

Planning for the little people,
That they may grow brave and true;
Active brain and busy fingers
While the precious seedtime lingers,
Guiding, guarding, hoping, fearing,
Waiting for the harvest nearing—
This is what the mothers do.

Praying for the little people
(Closed are eyes of brown and blue),
By the quiet bedside kneeling
With a trustful, sure appealing;
All the Spirit's guidance needing,
Seeking it with earnest pleading—
This is what the mothers do.

Song of Spring.

Spring! Spring!
Ecstasy's sting!
Birth in the wildwood, and birds on the wing.
Living cries out to you,
Fragrances shout to you,
What is all doubt to you,
When it is spring.

Birds! Birds!
Flocks of them—herds!
How can we welcome them merely with words?
Up from the sod to us,
Daffodils nod to us,
Messages of God to us
Brought by the birds!

Love! Love!
Cloudships above!
Trees are a-tremble with messages of love.
One who will mate with us,
Sharing our fate with us,
Who will be great with us,
Giving us love!

An Animal Story For Little Folks

HOW THE STORK DIS-SOLVED PARTNERSHIP

Professor Slangley was a great inventor, and it occurred to him that he could make a machine that would both travel on earth and fly in the air. For the earthly travel his bicycle would do very well, but to get in the air—ah, that was the problem!

He solved it, however, by entering into partnership with an old stork, who was to furnish the wing power.

"What are the terms?" questioned the stork.

"These," replied the professor: "When on the earth, you are to sit on the handle bars of the machine and I do the work. When in the air, you are to grasp the handle bars with both claws. I shall grasp your legs firmly, and you will do the flying.

"It will be grand, magnificent!" he pursued. "The world will wonder and then praise. There will be great glory!"

"But who gets the glory?" asked the stork anxiously.

"Oh, we share that!" said Slangley. But somehow the professor took all the glory upon himself, and the poor stork was not recognized.

"What a wonderful genius that Slangley has!" said every one, but they said nothing of poor Mr. Stork. He, however, winked first one eye and then the other, scratched his head with his claw, and said:

"I believe in being honest, and I'll soon show you, Mr. Professor, that you can't cheat us dumb creatures so." Next day there was to be a grand exhibition of "Professor Slangley's new and approved terrestrial aerodrome." The course was five miles by land and then over the lake by the air line. The five miles was made in record time, the stork sitting on the handle bars. Then came the fly. Professor Slangley grasped the legs of Mr. Stork, who rose gracefully. It was a great success. But in midlake the stork let go. The professor held hard, but Mr. Stork had greased his long limbs carefully, and, hold though he tried, the professor and his machine tumbled into the lake, amid howls of derision and laughter, while Mr. Stork, flapping his wings, lazily floated off to other climes.—St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

OCEAN PARK

Mr. Lewis Orr of Portland arrived at the Park Thursday.

Mrs. Everett F. Sanborn of Frankfort and Mrs. Sarah H. Clark of Searsport are visiting at the Favor cottage.

Mrs. Thomas Spooner and her daughter, Elizabeth, Bates '06, were here Tuesday on their way from Auburn to Manchester. Miss Augusta Prescott, Mrs. Spooner's sister, came to Ocean Park for the same day.

Much interest is manifested in Dr. Smyth's tennis tournament. Several Ocean Park men are playing excellent tennis and keeping the eyes of the gallery fixed upon them. Mr. Brackett is doing good work.

Last Monday morning a party of eleven departed for the Cascade and spent the whole day delving in nature, and incidentally in the lunch baskets. No more perfect day could have been desired, for all the green fields, the wooded paths, and the cool splashing water itself were happy and laughing in the joy of being.

The entertainment to be given Improvement Day, August 24th, is said to be especially fine. Mrs. Charlotte Adams Dunne is the entertainer and has chosen as her drama for the evening "Leah, the Forsaken," or "Deborah." Mrs. Dunne is also scheduled for Friday evening, Aug. 26th.

The Assembly of Days has now begun. Thursday, Friday and Saturday are devoted to the Woman's Convention; next Monday is Guild Day; Tuesday is Young People's Day, and Wednesday is Improvement Day. Thursday, the 25th, is Woman's Suffrage Day; Friday, the 26th, is Sunday School Day. The 27th, 28th and 29th are Mission Days and Tuesday, August 30th, is G. A. R. Day. August 31st the Assembly closes.

Last Thursday evening the Temple held the largest audience that it has had any evening this season. It was the occasion of Miss Ellen Stone's visit to Ocean Park. Miss Stone's word-pictures of her experiences during captivity were so vivid that they will cling to us for many a day. In fact, I heard her describe her adventures over a year ago and still remember them plainly. She tells her story in such a thrilling way that one becomes immediately interested.

We were very glad to see Miss Edith Webb here on Wednesday last. Her health is much better than it has been for several summers.

Wednesday was Children's Day and a jolly time the children did have. The majority of the several dummy-loads of excursionists who arrived during the day were gay little lads and lassies on pleasure bent. In the forenoon the beach and ocean were the chief attractions, but in the afternoon and evening Professor LeRoy and the Temple "drew the crowd." Professor LeRoy's sleight-of-hand transformations afforded plenty of "magic, mirth and mystery," and his pleasing way of adapting himself to the little ones and still confounding the older people was phenomenal. He made candy out of bran, caused roses to bloom in a second, produced boxes, hosiery, dolls and what-not from one poor hat, and numerous other feats, intricate and amazing. The youngsters all over the Park are trying the tricks and even their elders are "guessing."

STANHOPE.

Part Owner in Coal Mining Company.

The Wilkes-Barre Leader, Wilkes-Barre, Pa., a few weeks ago had an article concerning a new company which had been formed to develop anthracite coal lands in that vicinity. The Leader said:

"New anthracite coal lands are being developed in this county which promise to be great producers of fuel. There are some of the best mining men in the country interested in the enterprise, and the lands which are undergoing a process of development, have heretofore been farms. They propose to develop the lands and build a breaker which will rank with many of those now in operation in the anthracite coal regions."

The article goes on to speak of the enthusiasm shown in regard to the Salem township land, where the coal is located, and it is believed that the prospect for big mining operations is excellent.

Mr. James A. Smith, of the American Security Company, Boston, who has resided here on Old Orchard street for several seasons, has, with Col. Thomas F. Moffat, of the Fletcher Coal and Iron Company, bought out the new enterprise, which is known as the Jewett-Melvin Mining Company.

Camp-meeting Methods Criticised

A special dispatch to the Boston Sunday Herald from Old Orchard, under date of August 20, appeared in that paper as follows:

THE Rev. F. A. Leitch, pastor of Old Orchard Methodist Church, who has had a prominent part in the movement against Sunday desecration, preached at the campground a sensational sermon, in which he sharply criticised the methods of the Rev. Dr. Simpson of New York and the Rev. Dr. L. B. Bates of Boston in the conduct of their camp meetings.

He said that it had become a common and popular thing for reformers to blame the church for existing evils; to sweep up against the church all the dirt encountered, in the hope that a revival would remove the accumulation. Churches were expected to be evangelistic, missionary, socialistic, spiritualistic clearing houses and scrubbing boards, and a pastor was expected to be chief of police, sheriff and reform bureau. This was unjust to the church and to the pastor.

Mr. Leitch spoke of the "wide open" policy that had been followed in the conduct of amusements at the beach, and said that the people at that end of the town were not wholly to blame. Some blame rested on the campground worshippers, whose leaders devoted to Sundays their energy at money raising and crowd drawing. The Rev. Dr. Bates always saved his best speakers for Sunday and pressed his money appeal that day with a vengeance.

Of the Christian Alliance collection day the speaker said:

"Dr. Simpson's big day is looked upon with as much avidity at the beach, for the sake of gain, as though there were a circus in town. We commend the missionary enterprise, but there is an absolute disregard of the Master's injunction, 'When thou givest thine alms, sound not a trumpet before thee as the Pharisees do, for they love the praise of men.' The papers blaze the amount of the collection. Other denominations that raise 50 times as much for missions do it without noise of trumpets.

"Sensations draw the crowds Sundays. The campground wants the Sunday crowd and the beach wants it. Where shall the line be drawn? These great days at the campground call the people from surrounding towns and cities, deplete churches and Sabbath schools, create an extra demand for cars, excursion trains and provisions. Stores are besieged with people who want extra provisions to meet these demands. Visitors go away with the impression that Old Orchard is entirely given over to worship of the mighty dollar."

In conclusion Mr. Leitch said that there was a strong undercurrent toward a better respect for law and order and the New England Sabbath. Men promised liberty who were servants of corruption. What was most needed today was officials with respect for right, law and order; officials who had a keen sense of justice and believed in impartial enforcement of law; men who went into office unpledged and unbought, and who would not screen wrongdoers whose political support they desired.

August Travel to Maine a Record Breaker.

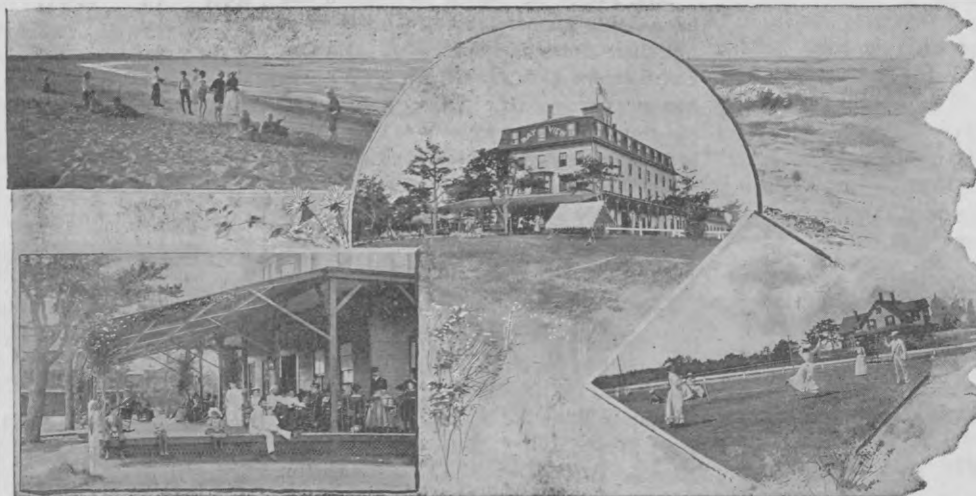

The following Associated Press report was sent out from Portland, Saturday:

There were some who said that the business of the summer of 1904 was going to fall way below what should have been expected, that it would be poor beyond comparison, and lots of other things, but from reports now being received it looks much as if things were sprucing up considerably and that this might be the biggest summer for years for all that there have been discouraging reports.

From steamship lines and from the railroads the summer up to the first of has all been changed. The hotels are not only filling up, but in many cases they are already full. The managers and clerks have shaken off the blues and are smiling as they have not smiled before this summer. From all sides is the indication that the summer business is at last booming in Portland and throughout the state.

F. N. Carver and family of Rumford Falls are entertaining James S. Reynolds, wife and daughter, Martha, of Minneapolis, at Canary cottage, Ocean Park. The Reynolds family are former Maine people and will visit a number of points in the state before returning home.

Portland, Me., Aug. 15, 1904.

Obituary.

Harriet E., widow of the late Samuel W. Scott of Worcester, Mass., passed away in Old Orchard Saturday at the age of 60 years. The deceased had come here for her health and had been staying at the Seashore House. She was seriously ill for two days and her death was the result of heart disease. The remains were taken to Worcester on the 1.18 train Sunday afternoon.

August, had not been as good as it might have been, but it was bad; in fact, it might be termed the average. But now August has stepped in in fine style and promises to be the banner month of the year.

Up to the present time, the middle of August, the business for this month has more than surpassed that of the same number of days for any time previous and if matters keep on as they now are, the month will end with the record of being the biggest month in the history of Portland.

At all points are these features noticed. The incoming trains over the Boston & Maine have swarms of summer visitors either coming to the city or passing through to other parts of the state, the Grand Trunk trains are carrying the largest numbers in the history of the road in Portland, while Boston and New York steamers are all having their boats filled with summer arrivals.

From the hotels, too, comes the report that business is picking up. A short time ago it was announced that everything was dead, the hotels were employing more help than they had boarders, but since August came in this

Saturday at the Ocean House.

There was no gloom at the Ocean house on Saturday, notwithstanding the storm which raged with almost unprecedented fury for the entire day and until the late evening. Card parties, music and various other amusements occupied the hours till late in the afternoon, when not a few donned their bathing suits and braved the rain, and a wind which almost drove them at its will, and rambled along the beach for a better appreciation of the tremendous power of old ocean, which was exerting itself as comparatively few had even seen it before. It was truly a magnificent sight, and few, if any, felt that the storm was anything for which they had reason to be sorry. After supper, the dining room was cleared, and an informal, but no less enjoyable dance was in order till eleven o'clock. The day and evening were among the most satisfactory of the season.

Mr. and Mrs. Jesse P. Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph T. Hanson of Saco and Mr. and Mrs. George H. Muzzey of Bellows Falls, Vt., are occupying the Hill cottage, Fern avenue, Old Orchard.

THE STROLLER

Mrs. Charles Hobbs of Hallowell has been visiting here.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles R. Smith of Augusta have been visiting here.

A. I. Howe and John Williams of Portland passed Sunday at the beach.

Mrs. E. L. Mitchell, Miss Keefe and Miss Helen Keefe are among the recent arrivals from New Haven.

Albert Wallace, Esq., of Rochester, N. H., passed Sunday with his family at the "Everingham."

Rochester, N. Y., has been represented at Old Orchard during the past week by Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Lunt.

Mrs. F. E. Johnson and family and Mrs. A. S. Speeler, Norwich, Ct., have been here during the past week.

City Marshal Fred A. Tarbox of Newton, Mass., formerly of Biddeford, has been a recent visitor in Old Orchard and vicinity.

Merrill Butler of Newton Center, Mass., has been visiting relatives at the Merrill residence near Googins' Rocks for a few days.

Among the late arrivals from Baltimore are Mrs. E. A. Blackshee, Mrs. H. B. Lewis, Mrs. P. W. Pitt, W. T. Kuhns and family.

Mrs. A. E. Watson, Mr. and Mrs. C. T. Dewey, Miss Marjory A. Watson, Hartford, Ct. have been staying in town during the past few days.

HOTEL PERSONALS

M. J. McLaughlin of Montreal, a Canadian travelling agent for the United States Steel Corporation, is registered at the Lawrence.

Gertrude L. Nelligan and Agnes Cashman of Boston, and Alice Cronin of Pittsburg, Mass., are making a short stay at the Irving.

J. C. Wilson, ticket agent for the Grand Trunk Railway at Montreal, visited Otis Shurtleff of Montreal at the Irving over Sunday.

Margaret McCluskey of Lowell and Anna Carney of Marlboro, Mass., are making their usual summer visit at the Irving. They are old patrons of the house.

W. J. McCarthy and family of Lawrence, who have been making an extended stay at the Aldine, returned home yesterday. The Misses Mollie and Josephine will be much missed by the guests, whom they have afforded much pleasure through their excellent musical and dancing ability.

Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Hayes of Haverhill, Mass., with their daughters, Miss Marion, and Mrs. A. B. Blaisdell, and their son, Mr. W. C. Hayes, and wife are guests of the Ocean House. The party arrived on Friday afternoon in their automobile, the finest that has struck Old Orchard this season and one of the finest that has been seen at any watering place.

Bowling Notes.

The match at the Cleaves alley last Friday evening between the Velvet and Fiske house teams was very interesting.

The Fiske was strengthened by three new men, but the Velvet's rolling was a little weaker than usual. The match resulted in a tie score of 1,114. The rules were observed much more closely than at the last match and fouls were called for sliding over the line. A large crowd of "rooters" was out for both teams and enthusiasm ran high.

The individual scores were as follows:

VELVET

Baker	66	72	80	218
Levy	83	76	67	226
Drucker	57	69	73	119
J. Gray	75	71	91	237
A. Gray	81	75	78	234
				1,114

FISKE

Harris	68	77	81	226
Dennett	77	77	68	222
Higgins	75	77	85	237
Lucey	60	64	72	196
Keane	86	74	73	233
				1,114

The highest strings rolled Saturday and Monday at the Field alley were:

BIG PINS.

Gents—A. F. Dillon, Montreal, 186.
Ladies—May McGee, Montreal, 146.

Wilbur Yeaton of Rochester, N. H., is registered at the Jones House.

H. G. Clarke, of the jewelry firm of Clarke & True of Middletown, Ct., has arrived at the Aldine with his daughter, Miss Hattie.

George W. Goodridge and wife of Reading, Mass., have arrived at the Montreal for their usual summer stay. They are regular patrons of this house.

Mrs. G. M. Dunn of Springfield, Mass., and Miss Mary Donovan of Alfred are again at the Irving. They have visited this house for several seasons past.

Charles W. Waldo, wife and son and W. F. Bachelor and wife make up a pleasant party from Worcester which is sojourning at the Aldine. Mr. Waldo is connected with the Denholm & McKay department store of Worcester.

Prof. Chapman's fifth reading was given at the Ocean House on Friday evening and although there were many counter attractions, the audience could not have been larger unless there had been more room in which to seat the people.

Mr. and Mrs. T. A. L. Merrifield of Washington, D. C., are at the Irving, after a week's visit at the White Mountains. Before returning to the South, they will visit their old home at Waterville. Mr. Merrifield is a Principal Examiner of the Bureau of Pensions, at Washington, and is on his annual vacation.

CANDLES.

Gents—F. S. Barrett, Lawrence, 96.
Ladies—Miss Florence Wise, Boston, 89.

DUCKS.

Gents—Bert Dorr, Old Orchard, 108.
These scores beat several of the records at this alley. Miss McGee has raised her own score of 140 and Miss Wise, who held the ladies' candle record at this alley for some time the first of the season, has again asserted herself, rolling 89. Her old record was 79. Bert Dorr's excellent string of 108 on ducks clears up by one pin the long standing tie between Harold White and S. Dillon of Montreal. The records now stand:

BIG PINS.

Gents—Z. P. Benoit, Montreal, 242.
Ladies—May McGee, Montreal, 146.

CANDLES.

Gents—Bert S. Francis, Old Town, 114.
Ladies—Miss Florence Wise, Boston, 89.

DUCKS.

Gents—Bert Dorr, Old Orchard, 108.
Ladies—Mrs. Ethel Evans, Biddeford, 90.

No records have been broken at the Cleaves Alley. Other matches between hotel teams may be expected at this alley at any time. Manager Phillips says that a team made up in Old Orchard and Biddeford will meet Portland's crack rollers at this alley at an early date.

EXPLANATORY.

This is one of the most interesting mining propositions ever presented to New England investors. Through the recent death of the former owner of the "Jeffries' Claims," (consisting of 4 producing mines), the property reverted to the only heir, a resident of Portland, Me. The above syndicate closed negotiations for this mining property and are rapidly making arrangements to resume work and shipping which was discontinued only last December, 1903. Extensive operations have been conducted in these mines the past five years, and the last 50 tons of ore shipped to the smelter, 14 miles away, returned $136.50 per ton in gold and copper. The ore already blocked out will reach into the hundreds of thousands of tons. Any one of the 4 mining claims is a stupendous mining proposition in itself. The dyke of ore measures 80 feet wide and extends over four-fifths of a mile long covering four foot hills of the Bradshaw Mountains in the World-famous "Verde Belt." No such mineral wealth has ever been discovered in any other section in the country. In a few brief weeks the Bradshaw Mountain R. R. will reach our property, and we have letters from smelters desiring to purchase all our ore because of its high grade; and we have other evidences to prove beyond contradiction, this to be one of the most magnificent mining proposition of recent years. Scores of visitors have already investigated, and subscribed for stock at 50c per share. The allotment is growing smaller and is very limited. Everybody is invited to investigate, also use our Information Department to look up the value of their present holdings in stocks or bonds.

Old Orchard in a Storm.

Visitors to Old Orchard were permitted, Saturday, to view a giant storm in progress and to witness a great upheaval of the Atlantic ocean, such an one in fact as rarely occurs during the summer months. Even the permanent residents here for many years were surprised at the violence of the elements, which seemed to be holding the merriest kind of a carnival for about eight hours. Our transient visitors have frequently remarked that they would like to be in Old Orchard when a fierce storm was taking place, and that privilege was surely granted those who happened to be in town Saturday. It is very unusual indeed for such a gale to strike along this coast in mid-summer. The rain came in torrents, accompanied by a south wind of great velocity, which stirred up the surf to a remarkable degree, and made great waves that rolled high on the beach and against the bulkheads. It was a grand sight that was thoroughly appreciated by all who witnessed it.

The pier was closed during the evening, but this structure stood the stress of wind and tide well, and no damage of any account was reported either there or elsewhere along the shore. The guests at the hotels and cottages passed a fairly enjoyable day, indulging in many indoor amusements, at the same time watching and commenting on the fury of the storm.

A Beautiful Day.

Last Sunday cleared bright and fair, following the severe kind of weather that was served up for Old Orchard Saturday. The sun was most genial in its warmth, the air was clear and invigorating, while the tempest that had so recently held sway over the waters of Saco Bay had subsided and the ocean presented a beautiful appearance, as did all the surrounding landscape.

It was an ideal day for visitors and thousands came here from various directions, causing the transportation lines to do a great business. The crowd surpassed in numbers that of the previous week, which is usually considered the red letter Sunday of the year for transient guests. Business was conducted much the same as usual, there being but little in the nature of disturbances of the peace, and only one arrest reported.

A WOOD SCENE AT FERRY BEACH

Entertainment At The Irving.

A very pleasant entertainment was given by the guests of the Irving in the hotel parlors last Saturday evening. Miss Sheehan of Montreal was heard in a piano solo, Miss Shurtleff of Coaticook in a vocal solo, and Miss Shurtleff and Mr. Otis Shurtleff of Montreal, in a vocal duet.

The bright particular star of the evening was Mr. Menander Dennett of Lewiston. He read several times during the evening, each time with the skill and grace of a professional. The audience was very enthusiastic over his work. Mr. Dennett is a guest at the Irving and does his reading as an avocation. His vocation is paymaster of the Androscoggin Mills of Lewiston.

Great Reduction.

Great reduction sale at O. P. Greene's Branch Store, Old Orchard, opposite depot. All in want of Boots, Shoes, Trunks, Grips and Bathing Suits, should take this opportunity to buy them. Everything in the store to be run off before September 1st. Come one, come all. O. P. Greene, Shoe Dealer and Chiropodist.

GOWN GOSSIP.

Many pretty summer gowns are made in combination with all over embroideries.

The coolest and most attractive summer glove is silk openwork mesh, with plain silk palms and two clasps to close.

Crosswise tucks are so attractive on thin summer fabrics that it is not surprising that a good share of muslins and organdies depend on them for trimming.

A new color is called oignon brule, burned onion. It is much prettier than its name, being an exquisitely pinky brown which combines most happily with dark brown. In chiffon veiling over a brown hat the new color is delightful.—New York Post.

An old favorite for cool gowns is blue chambray, a material that never loses popularity for children's dresses and is equally well suited for women's country gowns.

Next to sailor and toque shapes one sees more draped hats than any others. The wide shepherdess shapes are favorites for drapery hats, and white, black and crim, or hairbraid, are especially adapted for the purpose.

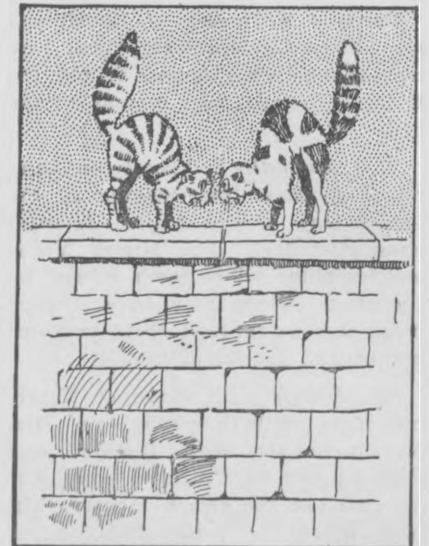

An Animal Story For Little Folks

A Long Headed Dog

Rover had been disturbed long enough. His sleep had been broken constantly for nights by the endless dispute of two big tomcats that nightly sat upon the wall of his yard and fought it out till morning. He determined the thing should cease.

"I should think you two would get very tired of standing with your backs hitched up like a croquet wicket all night long," he said.

"We do," said the cats, "but don't see how we can well help it. This thing of right of way on that fence has got to be settled somehow."

"HELP! HELP!"

"It must be fought out," said Nibs.

"Of course it must," replied Nobs.

"But that means that we must get our backs up," they said in one breath.

"All right," said Rover. "If it must be, let me give you a fine scheme for holding them up. There are two iron spikes with round knobs on them just over here on this side of the yard. You both jump on these, let your feet hang down on either side, and the iron will hold your backs up."

"Clever! Clever!" said they both.

But when they went to get down neither could move. They couldn't lift up nor move to the side, for the wall was too narrow. Rover had them.

"Help! Help!" they cried.

"On one condition," said Rover.

"We grant it!"

"That you stop this nightly row."

"Agreed!" they said. And Rover called the maid, who removed them.—Atlanta Constitution.

A Comparison of Flowers.

The poppies are the brightest, and the mignonette is sweetest;

The hollyhocks are stateliest in sunny ranks and rows;

The pansies by the bordered walk are funniest and neatest—

But, oh, the snowy lilies are the best that summer knows!

The violets half hidden by the mossy banks are rarest;

The iris is the bravest, with its banner borne of kings;

The roses pink and golden and crimson are the fairest—

But, oh, the saintly lilies are the best that summer brings!

The sweet white clovers crowding are the coziest and nearest;

The gardens and the fields are full of brightness and perfume—

But, oh, the angel lilies are the purest and the dearest,

In all the holy band of flowers the holiest that bloom!

—Mabel Earle in Christian Endeavor World.

An Animal Story For Little Folks

DON'T LOOK FOR EASY WORK

An Englishman in India once owned an elephant whom, in honor of the wife of the viceroy, he called Lady Curzon.

Lady was employed in plowing the fields with four plows attached and in loading lumber on the trains. Lady was rather lazy, I am sorry to say, and was continually looking for an easier task. One day she heard her owner's wife say that she did so want a good nurse for the baby.

So one day the mother missed baby, and when, after some moments of hunt ing, they found her Lady had her in her care, holding her between her great front feet and fanning her with her ears. "I've found my nurse!" cried the mother.

"I JUST LOVE BABIES."

So Lady was made to wear a great white apron and a cap that wouldn't stay on and carried that little tyrant of a baby about on a cushion. Her legs ached and her back ached.

"Oh, my," she sighed, "why did I ever trade work? This baby nursing, I guess, is not in my line. I can't sleep at night because that wretched infant cries. I can't rest by day because the little tyrant wants to walk. I thought the thing was easy. I believe it would kill an elephant in time."

One day, utterly discouraged, she brought in the baby to his mother.

"Take him, take him," she pleaded, "and let me do general housework."

All of which shows that some things that seem easy are not as easy as they seem.—Detroit Journal.

It Suits Him.

SMITH RESIDENCE.

One of the most picturesque and beautiful residences in Old Orchard is that of Mr. and Mrs. Randall F. Smith, which is in a most advantageous location on Fort Hill avenue, a short distance south of the Old Orchard House. Being situated on a slight elevation of land, a grand view may be obtained of the Saco Bay and the surrounding country for miles around. This fine place, with its well arranged grounds, was put in its present attractive form last spring, the old cottage having undergone extensive alterations, at an expenditure of a goodly sum of money. Mr. Smith, who is the foreman of the Saco River Lumber Company, Biddeford, has constructed this house as a permanent residence for Mrs. Smith and himself.

Irony of Fate.

OCEAN PARK

Mrs. R. S. Milliken has been called home on account of the illness of her mother in Nashua.

The Rev. Mabel Andrews spoke Sunday evening. At the morning service Rev. H. C. Lowden preached.

The reception which was in charge of the Educational Bureau was not held Saturday evening because of the storm.

The Misses Mabel and Beatrice Shaw stopped off for a few hours at Ocean Park Saturday morning on their way from Nashua to Augusta.

The Ocean Park directors were in session again Saturday evening. A meeting of the Assembly committee was held in the forenoon.

The praise service at 5.30 p. m. Sunday was led by Rev. C. K. Flanders. A large number attended and the singing, strengthened by a cornet, was distinctly heard far up the beach.

The entertainments to be given next Thursday and Saturday evenings by the Boston Carnival and Concert Company are to be immensely interesting. Thursday night will be given "The Symphony of the Seasons." The Madison, Indiana, Courier said of this: "Nothing more beautiful and effective has ever been presented to Madison audiences. It cannot be described." Saturday evening will be given "The Carnival of Light." The entertainment has been called "original, unique, instructive, artistic and inspiring."

One of the finest lectures ever heard at Ocean Park was delivered by Mrs. J. K. Barney, superintendent and prison evangelist in the penal, charitable, and reformatory work of the W. C. T. U., Providence. She spoke on "The Modern Macedonian Cry," and all she said was as true as truth itself. The procession of horrors brought on by liquor that she showed us was so convincing, and the stories she told us so horrifying that it touched our hearts and opened our eyes to the greatest curse of the Christian nations. Would that every man who dares to vote "yes" and every woman who dares to sanction intemperance might have heard that lecture.

Saturday was one of the grandest days of the season. The Sturm Konig spent the whole day reveling on both land and sea, and the terrific scenes he enacted were wonderful and terrible to behold.

Out onto the sands he called me and together we blew up the beach for a lark which set every nerve tingling. Coming back it was a hand-to-hand battle, and the wind howled at me and I shouted at the wind and exerted every muscle to conquer him. It was flood tide and the great billows with frothy crests rose up, poised high a fleeting second, and rolled roaring onto the shore. I stood and gazed and listened, and into my mind popped the lines:

"There is a tide in the affairs of men Which taken at the flood leads on to fortune;
Omitted, all the voyage of their life
Is bound in shallows and in miseries."

THINGS THEATRICAL.

Josephine Cohan, formerly of "The Four Cohans," will play the leading female part in "The Rogers Brothers In Paris" the coming season. Miss Cohan is a clever comedienne and an exceptionally artistic dancer.

Neva Aymar, the comedienne, singer and dancer who attracted not a little attention last season, will play the role of Colin, the principal boy, in Klaw & Erlanger's Drury Lane spectacle, "Mother Goose," the coming season.

Max Hoffman, who conducted the orchestra with "The Rogers Brothers In London" last season, will continue with this organization next season as conductor and composer of the entire musical score of "The Rogers Brothers In Paris."

Joseph Brooks' production of C. T. Dazey's new play, "Home Folk," its theme taken from James Whitcomb Riley's poem of the same title, will be presented at the New York theater Christmas day after two weeks at the Walnut Street theater, Philadelphia.

Denman Thompson's revival of "The Old Homestead" at the New York theater will be made on a very elaborate scale, with a scenic magnificence never before attempted in a play of this class. This revival will mark the beginning of Mr. Thompson's thirtieth consecutive season.

Klaw & Erlanger's aerial theater and gardens over the New Amsterdam theater are the most popular summer evening resort in New York. For seven weeks they have been crowded to their capacity of 2,000 people every night. The theater is as complete in every detail as one of surface construction.

Eleanor Campbell

James Jameson and Elinor Cambel, both of Biddeford, intend marriage October 23d, 1758. Rishworth Jordan, Town Clerk.

THE above record can be found in the office of the city clerk, at Biddeford, and, remembering that the town of Biddeford then included Old Orchard within its limits, we may find the old record to be of some interest to an Old Orchard reader of the present day.

James Jameson was certainly an inhabitant of Old Orchard, and there is good reason to believe that Eleanor Campbell, who became his bride, was likewise a dweller here. A family of Campbells once sold a lot of marsh "six swaths wide" to one of the old residents, and this Eleanor was doubtless one of the household. While I have found no record of the marriage in the records, it may have been made in the church records of the time.

The dim and fading light of tradition reveals but little of the lives of James and Eleanor; yet we can imagine what they might have been. In those days the people of Old Orchard lived a life of rugged simplicity, toiling hard for their daily bread. Here and there was a clearing in the forest and a dwelling house with its large chimney and ample fire-place. The women managed to do cooking by these open fires; large pots were hung over them on cranes and bread was often baked before them, although, frequently, the brick oven was heated and large quantities of food cooked therein. There was no grocery store here then where a dinner could be ordered and delivered at short notice; but the people depended largely on the products of their farms. Fish and clams were plentiful then; and year after year the inhabitants continued their labors, clearing land, making improvements, which were rude at the best, and often exposed to the danger of attacks by the Indians.

Eleanor as a little girl watched the firelight and dreamed her childish fancies, listened to the hum of the spinning wheel, took pleasure in searching for wild flowers in the spring-time, and enjoyed roasting an ear of corn by the fire when the season of green corn had come. The word "Kindergarten" had never been spoken here then, and she grew up with little learning, except from the book of Nature, and, probably, never learned to write her name. The nearest church was miles away; but she was, perhaps, taught the catechism, and no doubt was often gravely admonished not to play on the "Sabba' Day." She early learned to do her share of the daily household tasks, and grew to be a fair girl with a sweet and winning smile, but never knew the meaning of her beautiful name, as derived from the Grecian tongue—"Light"—and never heard the story of Helen of Troy.

And James as a boy played on the beach, and went in the woods for spruce gum, and slivered pine trees, and was an expert in the boy's games of his time. He was early set at work, dropping seed corn, carrying dinners to the mowers on the marsh, and doing all the countless little odds and ends of work that fell to the lot of a farmer's boy in chard and traditionary stories now nearly forgotten are uncertain guides in history; but in the city clerk's office at Biddeford can be found the old record, a silent witness of the past, while the active life of the twentieth century goes on.

Here in Old Orchard now the railway train thunders over the spot where the people once gathered for defence in the garrison, while the pleasant summer days are enjoyed by thousands of visitors without fear of molestation from any savage foe. The life today is fuller, richer, incomparably better than that of the past, yet the men and women of earlier times were doing a work of preparation for us. May we of the present draw to these resorts the loafers and toughs from the cities in larger numbers than before, and with them have come more and more of the things Dr. Clark and the Journal deplore.

But these are things that can be largely removed by the local authorities and the law. On the other hand, great numbers of plain and hard working people have been enabled to enjoy the blessings of the surf, scenery, invigorating air and harmless amusements and recreation of these places which were denied them. From the point of view of the fastidious and exclusive this may be a degeneration, but if it is, then the great middle class of the population is degenerate, those old times. He became a strong, brave lad and could pull a good stroke at the oar on a bateau, and was often the victor in the wrestling bout. He was spoken of as "Jeems" by members of the family, and this must have been a Scotch form that they had retained in their speech through the changes of many years.

A VIEW ALONG THE BEACH

Now, in 1758, the French and Indian War was going on. When, as night came on, the people of Old Orchard made their way to the garrison, it may have been that James, bearing his musket on his shoulder, sometimes walked by the side of the fair Eleanor and that she felt safer when he was near; but certain it is that sly Cupid, smiling, played his game in Old Orchard in those perilous times, in spite of the frowns of Mars.

And of the fortunes of James and Eleanor in after years but little is known. They evidently removed from Old Or-age so do our own work that it may hereafter be said of us as it now can of those gone before us—they builded better than they knew!

J. A. G.

Comment on an Editorial.

Under the caption of "A Beach Degeneration," the Boston Journal has an editorial lamenting the retrogression of Old Orchard as represented by the statements of Dr. Clark in his recent address on the subject, and says that this is but one illustration of the almost inevitable degeneration of great beach resorts. The pith of the Journal's lament is that the great resorts, once the playground and fashion display of the wealthy and exclusive, have now become the recreation places of the common or middle class people, and that this change has cheapened and degraded them. Undoubtedly the tendency has been, since the introduction of the trolley, to and the aristocratic and exclusive only are the people, and their pleasure resorts the only elevating or creditable ones. The throngs that crowd the beaches today have as good a right to the blessings of nature found there as have the devotees of wealth and society who gathered there a few years ago, and with the elimination of the few degrading features that coarsen and cheapen their public, their benefit to society as a whole is as high as when patronized solely by the rich and exclusive.—Waterville Mail.

Mr. and Mrs. S. G. Buchanan of Lebanon, N. H., with a party of eight are occupying the Philadelphia house, Staples street, for ten days.

Mrs. Ida Winslow of Farmington has been the guest of her sister, Mrs. Ada Leavitt, at "Pinehurst" on Atlantic avenue during the past week.

Misses Jennie and Grace Fogg and Edith Cobb, Saco, who have been passing a three weeks' vacation at Ocean Park, have returned home.

Ralph Tarbox of Saco, who has been a conductor for the Biddeford and Saco railroad company for several years, finished his duties there Saturday night.

Rev. D. F. Faulkner, pastor of the School street Methodist church, Saco, has recently purchased of Mrs. A. W. Field, a cottage on Sea View avenue.

For high-grade photo work visit the Baker Studio on Old Orchard street. Satisfaction guaranteed. Experienced photographers are employed at Baker's. Inspect our large assortment of souvenirs.

A party from Gorham composed of the following is enjoying a two weeks' outing at Narragansett Lodge on Third avenue. Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Tapley, Mrs. M. A. Aldrich, Misses Edna Libby and Edna Deering, Messrs. Delmar and William Sanborn, Lauraman Foss and Lester Libby.

Mr. and Mrs. Franklin Nourse of Lowell, Mass., have been enjoying their annual sojourn at their Ferry Beach cottage. Mr. Nourse was formerly agent of the York Manufacturing Company, Saco, and for some years has been prominently identified with cotton mill management in Lowell.

Mrs. James A. Smith of Boston has been doing a most successful business at her hair dressing parlors on Old Orchard street this season, as for a number of years past. Mrs. Smith and assistants make a specialty of hair dressing, shampooing, manicuring, facial and scalp treatment. Chiropody is also practiced. A fine line of novelties and hand-painted articles on sale.

Mr. and Mrs. R. Courtner Page have returned to Saco, after a brief wedding tour.

John Gannon, a clerk at Murphy Brothers' grocery store, Biddeford, is passing a week's vacation here.

Mrs. Wesley G. Murch has returned to her home, Middle street, Gorham, after a ten days' outing at the beach.

Charles L. Dow and family have returned to their home in Pownal, after a vacation of several weeks at Old Orchard.

Mr. and Mrs. Seth Soule, Preble street, Gorham, have returned home after a two weeks' visit at Old Orchard.

W. J. Mewer and family are staying at the home of Mrs. Mewer's father, Benjamin Milliken, at Milliken's Mills.

Mrs. Martha Furbish, Mrs. James Furbish and Mrs. C. E. Gray of Wells have been visiting in town for a few days.

Mrs. Annie T. O'Sullivan and son of Winchester, Mass., are visiting here. Mrs. O'Sullivan is a school teacher in Winchester.

Mrs. Frank H. Kelley of Haverhill has been visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John J. Traynor, East Grand avenue, for several days.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Soule and son, Ben, who have been passing the summer here, have returned to their home, Preble street, Gorham.

Mrs. Stillson and daughter, Miss Eva Stillson, who have been visiting John J. Traynor and family, have returned to their home in Portsmouth.

A well known summer resident in Old Orchard, who has frequently contributed items to the columns of THE MIRROR, recently sent in the following for publication:—A young woman, walking on the railroad, at Old Orchard, on Monday, lost the sum of thirty-two dollars. The money was in her stocking, and her garter burst. The moral would seem to be. Have a pocket or wear stronger garters.

Dr. Gould of Philadelphia and Dr. Ranny of New York, both eminent eye specialists of world wide reputation as optical authorities, report the cure of hundreds of cases of epileptic fits, St. Vitus's dance, headache, stomach trouble, female weakness, constipation, piles and even insanity with glasses. This ought to convince you that you should consult with Littlefield, the eye-sight specialist of Saco, who guarantees to cure any of the above so-called diseases with glasses. Consultation and tests free.

Ever since Friday evening, when Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Hazelton entertained a large company of friends at "Hazel-Den," most complimentary reports have been made concerning the pleasing event. The host and hostess again proved, as they have on so many previous occasions, that they thoroughly understand the art of entertaining. The log cabin was profusely decorated for the occasion and presented a beautiful appearance. Excellent music was provided by an orchestra, and there were several vocal selections and readings, all very creditably rendered.

HOTEL PERSONALS

The Ocean house will remain well filled till the close of the season.

Mr. I. Swan of Montreal has returned to the Montreal for his fifth season's visit at this house.

The Aldine still has a large crowd of guests and is assured a good business well into September.

Catherine E. and Mary A. Meany of Marlboro have arrived at the Irving for their usual summer visit. They are regular patrons of this house.

G. A. L. Merrifield and wife of Washington are registered at the Irving. Mr. Merrifield is connected with the Bureau of Pensions.

Mrs. P. L. Morse and daughter of Springfield have arrived at the Irving for a week's stay. They have recently returned from an extended trip through the provinces.

Dr. W. H. Hawkins and wife of Lewiston, who were at the Irving some time ago, have returned from their auto trip to Massachusetts, and will remain at this house for a week's stay.

Bessie M. and Katherine M. Hanley of Poughkeepsie, N. Y., and Mary E. Abraham and Margaret C. Powers of Worcester have arrived at the Montreal for a short stay. Miss Powers is an old guest of the house.

Miss Louise Lawton, late of the Adelaide Neilson Opera Company, is a guest at the Ocean house.

I. H. Devereaux of Waterbury, Conn., has joined the jolly Waterbury party summering at the Montreal.

Agnes E. Daniels of Worcester has joined her mother and sister at the Irving, where they are spending the season.

There have been many departures from the Velvet the last few days, but the management is rejoicing in a sufficient number of arrivals to more than offset the departures.

Henry Steinert and family of New York, who have been summering at York Beach, have arrived at the Irving, where they will stay till after Labor Day.

Miss Ottillia L. Netsch of Manchester, the talented young leader of the Aldine orchestra, contributed a highly appreciated violin solo to the program of the St. Margaret's benefit concert last Tuesday evening. Her number was the "Legende" of H. Wieniawski, the celebrated Polish composer, and her encore "Kinwiak" by the same. She was accompanied by Miss Bernice Moulton of Lowell. Miss Netsch is really a very remarkable young lady, and has a great future before her through her musical talent. She is a pupil of Hoffman of Boston.

An Animal Story For Little Folks

The Foxy Eel

"Good gracious!" cried Conger Eel, slipping quickly to one side as a most wonderful creature came sliding toward him. "What in the name of Neptune is this?"

"Fore!" yelled the creature, dashing past him.

"What for?" gasped Conger, wiggling his whiskers.

"Ho, ho!" laughed the other. "Don't "Should say you were a boggy. What do you want to scare a fellow like that for, and what have you been doing?"

"Oh, I'm just practicing for the summer. You see, there is a golf course on the edge of this pond, and I have learned the game from hearing it so often, and, you see, it's so much cooler down here to play than in that hot field, and then they knock so many balls in the pond that I am well supplied. Now, if you will just be caddie I'll go on with the game."

"What is the game?"

"Oh, just put the ball on a lily pad and pound it with this club and yell 'Fore!' and if you find it before next week you win the game."

"Oh, I see," said the eel. "And if you don't find it the other fellow wins. I'll caddie for you. All ready."

Mr. Perch put the ball on a lily pad and gave it a good rap. Mr. Eel opened his mouth wide and caught the ball.

"Can you find it?" said he.

Mr. Perch looked in vain. "I can't seem to locate it," he said hopelessly.

"Don't see it myself," said the eel, with a smile.

"I guess it went out of bounds," suggested the perch.

"I think it's inside, though," smiled the eel. "Do you give it up?"

"I do," said Mr. Perch sadly.

"So do I," said the eel, coughing it out of his mouth, "and I guess I win."

Moral.—You can be cheated at any game, even golf.—Detroit Journal.

"DON'T SEE IT MYSELF." know me, do you? Oh, I'm 'boggy' at the course."

EXPLANATORY.

This is one of the most interesting mining propositions ever presented to New England investors. Through the recent death of the former owner of the "Jeffries Claims," (consisting of 4 producing mines), the property reverted to the only heir, a resident of Portland, Me. The above syndicate closed negotiations for this mining property and are rapidly making arrangements to resume work and shipping which was discontinued only last December, 1903. Extensive operations have been conducted in these mines the past five years, and the last 50 tons of ore shipped to the smelter, 14 miles away, returned $136.50 per ton in gold and copper. The ore already blocked out will reach into the hundreds of thousands of tons. Any one of the 4 mining claims is a stupendous mining proposition in itself. The dyke of ore measures 80 feet wide and extends over four-fifths of a mile long covering four foot hills of the Bradshaw Mountains in the World-famous "Verde Belt." No such mineral wealth has ever been discovered in any other section in the country. In a few brief weeks the Bradshaw Mountain R. R. will reach our property, and we have letters from smelters desiring to purchase all our ore because of its high grade; and we have other evidences to prove beyond contradiction, this to be one of the most magnificent mining proposition of recent years. Scores of visitors have already investigated, and subscribed for stock at 75c per share. The allotment is growing smaller and is very limited. Everybody is invited to investigate, also use our Information Department to look up the value of their present holdings in stocks or bonds.

Changes for the Better.

Within the past decade great changes for the better have been wrought in Old Orchard along various lines, and it is to be hoped that the improvements that have been so noticeable during that time will be more marked during the coming decade. With the progress and expansion that may be expected in the years to come, this summer resort will take great strides onward and upward.

It has not been merely in the direction of material progress that Old Orchard's recent history has been noticeable, but the character of our patronage, our entertainments, various amusements, and methods of doing business generally, have in the great majority of instances reached a much higher plane. The social life has become a more pronounced feature, and is observed to be, perhaps not so ostentatious, but stamped with a greater degree of refinement than some years ago. Life here has broadened and deepened for our transient and permanent residents, and that the coming years may be fruitful ones for Old Orchard's growth in the right direction, is the earnest wish of all those who cherish the best interests of this town by the sea.

Mrs. John Burns, who has been passing the summer at the Wholey residence on the sea wall, was called home to Lowell Monday on account of the illness of Mr. Burns.

Here and There.

There will be two more issues of THE MIRROR.

Something like September weather during the past few days.

The business at the post office has been a record breaker this season.

There may be some automobile races here next season; also horse racing at the Kite track.

The school teachers and scholars are beginning to consult the calendar and count the days.

Quite a large number are leaving for home, but a great many are planning to remain into September.

The proprietors of the mountain hotels are now looking for many newcomers, who desire to visit there during the autumn.

Those who visit the pier certainly get their money's worth. There are few places where more in the entertainment line is provided at such a small cost.

It is a pleasure to announce that the number of accidents, bathing and otherwise, has been so very small this season. It is to be hoped that the good record will continue.

The annual concerts in aid of St. Margaret's Roman Catholic church always prove to be well managed and very successful financially and socially. This season's event was no exception to the rule.

One of Old Orchard's busy real estate agents tells THE MIRROR that the renting of cottages this month has been unusually brisk, and that many will be occupied probably through the next month.

The mayor of Atlantic City has just issued an order to the effect that there must be no more lovemaking on the beach at that resort. If the Old Orchard reformers think they have failed in their scheme to advertise the wickedness of the place, they might add to their cares by annexing the Atlantic City scheme—Biddeford Journal.

THE MIRROR feels quite safe in saying that the day of small things has passed, so far as "the Old Orchard reformers" are concerned,

A TWENTIETH CENTURY MAUD.

Maud Muller on a summer's morn,
Heard the toot of an "auto" horn.

She saw the Judge go whirling past,
"Gee!" said Maud, "he's going fast."

And then she thought of the sighs and tears
The Judge had caused her all these years.

"He's breaking the law at that speed," quoth she,
"Ha! ha! ha! here's revenge for me!"

So she set her teeth and ne'er e'en flinched,
While she took his number and had him pinched.—Boston Traveller.

Bowling Notes.

The highest strings rolled at the Field Alley Tuesday and Wednesday were:

BIG PINS.

Gents—H. G. Larcon, Lexington; Mass., 179.

Ladies—Mrs. P. Murphy, Montreal, 158.

This changes the records at this alley to:

BIG PINS.

Gents—Z. P. Benoit, Montreal, 242.
Ladies—Mrs. P. Murphy, Montreal, 158.

CANDLES.

Gents—Bert S. Francis, Old Town, 114.

Ladies—Miss Florence Wise, Boston, 89.

DUCKS.

Gents—Bert Dorr, Old Orchard, 108.
Ladies—Mrs. Ethel Evans, Biddeford, 90.

No records have been broken at the Cleaves Alley.

"Mavourneen."

"Mavourneen," the home of Mr. Fred I. Luce and family, is pleasantly located on Union avenue, a few minutes' walk from the campground station. This is one of the substantial and well appointed residences in Old Orchard and is occupied throughout the year. This is the third season that it has been rented to Mr. J. M. Thomas, a well known business man of Boston, who, with his family, has found every comfort and convenience of a well ordered city home at the "Mavourneen." Mr. Luce, the owner of this residence, is one of Old Orchard's leading merchants, and has for many years filled various town offices, first as tax collector, and during the past two years as town clerk and treasurer.

Misses Mary E., Julia C., and Alice Wholey, daughters of Mr. Dennis Wholey of Lowell, who are passing the summer at the Wholey cottage, Messrs. Harry Locke of Lowell, Harry Jordan of Manchester and John F. Twomey of Biddeford made up a jolly party who visited Cape Cottage and other interesting places about Portland Wednesday. They returned to Old Orchard on the late electric car, having had a most enjoyable occasion.

Large Party Entertained.

State Manager F. H. Hazelton of the Equitable Life Assurance company, who has a charming summer home at Old Orchard, entertained a large party Monday, made up of Vice President Tarbell and Mrs. Tarbell of New York with their son and daughter, Congressman Amos L. Allen, Collector and Mrs. Charles M. Moses, Mr. and Mrs. Paul S. Hill, other friends from Old Orchard and Portland and all the state agents of the Equitable company.

The state agents assembled in Portland in the forenoon and were taken in the Portland Railroad company's private car, Bramhall, and another special car to Old Orchard where the other members of the party were met at Mr. Hazelton's summer home.

The party then proceeded to Portland and out to Cape Cottage where a shore dinner was served by Caterer Hatch.

The rest of the evening was spent by the agents at the Cape theatre while Vice President Tarbell, Congressman Allen and the others of the party were taken down the harbor for a sail among the islands on the revenue cutter, Woodbury, as the guests of Collector and Mrs. Moses.

In the evening the agents and special guests went to Riverton where a banquet was served, followed by adjournment to the outdoor theater.

Miss Edna J. Hewitt and a party of friends from Farmington will occupy the Reynolds cottage on Ocean avenue for a couple of weeks.

Fletcher Cottage.

Among the several delightful summer homes in that choice section of Old Orchard known as Grand Beach, is the cottage owned by Mr. George Fletcher, a prominent business man and member of the wholesale grocery firm, Fletcher & Co., Portland. This is a commodious summer residence, admirably situated, and finely appointed throughout.

Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Libby of Saco, Mrs. Emery Hughes and Miss Edith Hughes of Oxford, Mass., will occupy the John Moulton cottage at Camp Ellis during September.

At the opening of the Brighton Beach (N. Y.) race meet Hermis, carrying 133 pounds, equaled the track record of Voter, 1:38, who carried but 122 pounds.

Young Corbett insists that Jimmy Britt shall box him inside of two months or not at all. Corbett refuses to wait until December unless given liberty to take on other matches.

At the recent amateur athletic championships at Rochdale, England, Arthur Duffy, the American crack sprinter, was defeated in the 100 yard dash by J. W. Morton of the South London Harriers, who won by inches.

The British Epaulet.

In the British army the epaulet dates back to the year 1791. In more recent times the officers wore golden and the men worsted epaulets. But these were discontinued in 1855, during the Crimean war, because officers thus distinguished were exposed to needless risk.

A Plant Barometer.

There is a species of plant in Australia that by its behavior will accurately foretell not only the state of the weather, but will give notice of a seismic disturbance which may be at hand.

THE WRITERS.

Mme. E. MARIA AIROUESI, the noted English author, will spend next winter in the United States.

Mrs. H. A. Mitchell Keays, the American author, has a long line of distinguished ancestry, reaching back to Henry III. of England.

Walter Kittredge, the author of that world famous song, "Tenting on the Old Camp Ground," is still living in the hamlet of Reed's Ferry, N. H., where he composes even at his advanced age.

Augustus Thomas, the playwright, has all but decided definitely to settle permanently in Europe. Mr. Thomas, who has always been a stalwart American in all his tastes, thought that he would never select Europe as a place of residence. But his views were changed by a sojourn of some months abroad.

AUGUST.

Leave me alone, for August's sleepy charm
Is on me, and I will not break the spell;
My head is on the mighty Mother's arm;
I will not ask if life goes ill or well,
There is no world!—I do not care to know
Whence aught has come, nor whither it shall go.

I want to wander over pastures still,
Where sheared white sheep and mild-eyed cattle graze;
To climb the thymy, clover-covered hill,
To look down on the valley's hot blue haze;
And on the short brown turf for hours to lie
Gazing straight up into the clear, deep sky.
I want to walk through crisp gold harvest fields,
Through meadows yellowed by the August heat;
To loiter through the cool dim wood, that yields
Such perfect flowers and quiet so complete—
The happy woods, where every bud and leaf
Is full of dreams as life is full of grief.

Oh, heart of mine I have to carry here,
Will you not let me rest a little while?—
A space mid doubtful flight and doubtful fear—
A little space to see the Mother's smile,
To stretch my hands out to her, and possess
No sense of aught but of her loveliness?

In Aid of St. Margaret's Church.

The grand concert in aid of St. Margaret's church was given in the Old Orchard town hall Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock and was very largely attended, there being about 500 present. It proved an unqualified success from every standpoint, artistically, financially, and socially. Rev. A. J. Barry, assistant at St.
Mary's church, Biddeford, who has had charge of St. Margaret's during the summer, arranged an excellent program, with the assistance of several of his parishioners.

Among the well known and highly accomplished artists who appeared were:—Signor Pio De Luca, Portland;
Miss Corinne Painchaud, Biddeford;
Miss Agnes Keating, Portland; Miss
Kathryn Ducey, Cambridge; Miss Nan
Gallagher, Lowell; Mrs. John J. Caddigan, Boston; Miss Lillian MacArthur,
Pittsburg; Adams & Mack; Miss Ottilia
L. Netsch, Manchester; Miss Eva Mc-
Namara, New York; Mr. H. C. Eaton,

Brunswick; Miss Lillian Carllsmith,
Old Orchard; Mr. Harry A. Emerson;
Misses Ella Millmore and Katherine
Bingham, Mr. John Keane, Boston.

The accompanists were:—Dr. T. F.
Carroll, Lowell; Mr. John Keane, Boston; Miss Ready, Brighton; Mme.
Renouf, Biddeford; Miss Anna A.
Groce, So. Framingham; Mrs. Thomas
Minton; Hotel Velvet Orchestra, W. W.
Greene, Director. John M. Killeen was the capable master of ceremonies and was assisted by James J. Gray, John

THE MONTREAL

Keane and Andrew A. Gray as floor marshals. Several of the prominent summer visitors at this resort were included in the reception committee.

The large audience was a highly representative gathering of the well known Catholics in Old Orchard and vicinity, and they were enthusiastic in their applause, which was freely bestowed at the conclusion of each of the several finely rendered selections.

After the concert there was dancing, the music for which was supplied by the hotel Velvet orchestra.

The local trains on the Boston &
Maine railroad will continue to run through next week. These trains have carried about the same number of passengers as last season.

Taking an Active Part.

Congressman Amos L. Allen of the first Maine district, who is passing the summer here at his cottage on Cedar avenue, is taking an active part in the Republican campaign in York county.
He has already addressed a number of political meetings, and has made arrangements to speak frequently during the coming two weeks.

He addressed a large audience at Kennebunk Tuesday evening and Ogunquit Wednesday evening. Tonight he is to speak at Eliot and tomorrow at Buxton Center. On Saturday evening he will be present at the flag raising, City square, Biddeford.

Congressman Allen usually confines his remarks to a discussion of national questions.

OCEAN PARK

Prof. H. B. Davis and family returned to their home in Wilbraham, Mass., on Monday. Madam Davis and Mr. Iwaya leave on Thursday. Prof. and Mrs. W. E. C. Rich of Boston have been welcome visitors at Sunshine Lodge this week. Mrs. Mary Angell Lincoln of Washington, D. C., is visiting her father, Professor Angell, at his summer home on Old Orchard road.

The buckboard party given by Miss Stacy of Boston had an ideal day for the trip to Kennebunkport. There are delightful side trips all about Old Orchard and several Parkites have recently tried the new Atlantic Shore Line trolley ride to Kennebunk and Cape Porpoise. The social held at Guild Park Monday afternoon was a decided success so far as fun goes, but we wish there might have been a larger company of young people there. Charades formed the principal amusement. Some very puzzling words were enacted.

Mr. J. C. Tarbox, dealer in gold mines and mining stocks, Bellingham, Wash., called upon friends at "The Hermitage" recently. He is a very enthusiastic Westerner and evidently has hearty belief in the "gold standard." Miss M. Jennie Baker, so long the superintendent of domestic science in Storer College, Harper's Ferry, West Va., has accepted a position in connection with the Lawrenceville School for Boys in New Jersey, a fitting school for Princeton. Miss Baker spends her long summer vacations in her cottage on Randall avenue.

The meetings of the Woman's Convention, under the auspices of the Educational Bureau, were a great success from start to finish, in spite of the tremendous rain which made the closing reception impossible. The restful and uplifting morning devotionals, the practical talk on physical culture by Miss Margaret Koch, the afternoon missionary meetings, full of helpful suggestions for future work, and the brilliant evening lectures, which have already been referred to, made a combination long to be remembered. One of the pleasant things, not mentioned in the programme, was the presentation of a gold watch to Miss L. C. Coombs, our missionary to India. It was from many friends, but the presentation speech was most gracefully made by Miss Deering.

Miss Lydia Andrews of Providence, R. I., and her cousin, Miss Bertha Hubbard of Connecticut are at the Bassett cottage. Miss Elsy Wallace of Rochester, N. H., who is spending the week at Dulcedomum cottage, is giving delight to Ocean Park audiences with her beautiful voice of great purity and sweetness as well as power. Miss Helen Campbell of Lawrence, Mass., returned home Wednesday, after a very delightful visit with Miss Ruth Milliken. Miss Irene and Miss Zarella Martin of Lowell, Mass., recently made a flying trip to the Park. The Bryants returned to their home in Pittsfield on Saturday. These home-goings make us realize how fast the summer is slipping away.

Monday was Guild Day with exercises in Guild pavilion in the afternoon. There was the reading of the annual Picnician, which included a timely and interesting letter from Japan by Mrs. Mary Ward Phelps, who used to be among us in her childhood. The editor this year was Miss Ellen Whittemore of Portland. After the paper there were speeches and finally a social. The entertainment of the evening had a very appreciative and applauding audience as well it might, with Miss Ella M. Chamberlain, whistling soloist; Miss Marion Nichols, reader and impersonator; Mr. Frank Kendrie, violinist, and Mr. Paul Favor, accompanist. Miss Nichols brought down the house with her impersonations of the small boy terrible, but we think she was at her best in Richard Harding Davis' Van Bibber story, "The Littlest One."

Tuesday was Young People's Day and was full of good things for young people of all ages. There was a rousing rally in the forenoon when the young folks met to discuss the forming of a local guild on somewhat different lines from the old organizations. Rev. Mr. Twort, our new superintendent of the Ocean Park Assembly, gave a stirring talk on the spirit of the place and its organizations and all we stand for. One outcome of the meeting was an invitation on a small clam shell which reads "If you want to be in the swim, come to the Temple at 9.30 Wednesday," and so there is more to follow. We all wish great success to the new guild. In the afternoon, Rev. John M. Lowden of Rhode Island gave a very helpful and stimulating address on "The Large Life in the Small Place." The entertainment of the evening, given by young people of Massachusetts, made us proud of them. The opening address, by W. S. Bingham of Boston on "Christian Citizenship," was followed by readings by Miss Helen Campbell and Miss Maud Brainerd of Lawrence, violin solos by Miss Martin of Lowell, vocal solos by Mr. Willis Doe of Somerville, and Miss Elsy Wallace. All were recalled. The closing number was a dramatic and difficult selection from "The Prince of India," rendered in a manner which held the audience completely, by Miss Ruth Favor of Lowell.

OLD ORCHARD, MAINE, AUGUST 27, 1904.

PRICE 3 CENTS.

Judge F. H. Colley

OLD Orchard has every reason to take pride in the fact that it has so many able and talented people residing within its limits, not only during the summer months, but also throughout the entire year. The town's population is comparatively small during three of the seasons, but yet it includes many persons who are easily the peers in intellectual attainments of the best to be found in many other parts of our country.

Prominent among Old Orchard's best known and most gifted citizens is Judge Frank H. Colley, of the local municipal court. He was born in Belfast, Me., January 26, 1866, and was educated in the public schools of that city and at Coburn Classical Institute, Waterville, Me., where he was prepared to enter Colby college, but did not pursue a collegiate course. For a few years Judge Colley was employed as a school teacher and performed his pedagogic duties in a highly satisfactory manner. Being possessed of literary tastes, he also embarked on a journalistic career in his native town, and was city editor of the Belfast Age during a period of four years. For some time Mr. Colley had desired to enter the legal profession, and consequently he began to read law with Hon. James O. Bradbury of Saco, and continued his studies in the office of Hon. Edwin F. Jones of Manchester, N. H. Meanwhile he was united in marriage to Miss Lizzie E. Bowdoin of Old Orchard, on April 12, 1895. Having been admitted to the bar September 23, 1896, he began the practice of his profession in Portland and has continued it, with good results in the "Forest City" and Old Orchard during the past eight years.

Judge Colley is an orator of recognized ability, and has delivered several Memorial day addresses in various cities and towns, including Manchester, N. H., Biddeford, Saco, Winterport and Oxford, Me. As a poet, also, he takes high rank among the sweet-singing bards of the "Pine Tree State," and many of his poems have been widely published, in newspapers and magazines, and read with great interest and pleasure by thousands of people keenly appreciative of their value. Some of these poems, such as "The Mainland," are being given very successfully by dramatic readers and elocutionists throughout New England. He has been poet of the Maine Press Association five times and elected poet laureate of that association.

Judge Colley is a Republican and has taken an active interest in town, county and state politics for several years. He was a candidate for the nomination as county attorney of York county in 1902, but withdrew from the convention in favor of the present incumbent of that office, George L. Emery, Esq., of Biddeford, and is considered by many influential politicians as the logical candidate for that position two years hence. He has never cared particularly for town offices, but has served in the capacity of versatile talents as lawyer, orator, poet and raconteur, combined with his qualities of good comradeship, have won for him an enviable place, and extended his acquaintance widely among the leading business and professional people of his native state, the praises of which he has so well expressed in his beautiful lyric compositions and reiterated from the forum.

JUDGE FRANK H. COLLEY OF OLD ORCHARD

town agent and superintendent of schools. He has participated actively in the club life of Old Orchard, being a member and one of the originators of the Social-Debating club, also having been president of the Atlantic club in 1903.

For three years the subject of this article has been brought into local prominence especially in his position as judge of the police court, the exacting duties of which office he has performed in a highly creditable and satisfactory manner. The requirements for the local judgeship assume considerable magnitude during the summer season, when many cases are usually brought before the court.

Judge Colley is a most pleasing and agreeable gentleman to meet, and his

What Others Say.

Now that two of the Old Orchard cases have at last been tried and the parties convicted and fined, and that one of the local ministers has condemned Dr. Simpson and his big collection day and campmeeting crowd as largely to blame for the Sunday desecration, and also that Prof. Chapman has risen in defense of the beach against its critics we may expect that the matter will drop or something important happen.—Waterville Mail.

Considerable of a stir has been created at Old Orchard by the efforts of several clergymen to close some of the places of amusement there on Sunday. It is true that the place does run about as widely open as possible and for one who goes there the New England Sabbath seems to be lacking. We are inclined to believe, however, that the camp meetings held by some sensational leaders are in a measure responsible for the condition of things for the reason that they are of such a sensational nature as to cause hundreds of curious people to go there who, after having gratified their curiosity, proceed to the other parts of the beach and spend their money for amusement.—Bath Independent.

Bowling Notes.

There is still a lively interest in bowling and both alleys rejoice in crowds every afternoon and evening. We do not expect to see many more records broken. They have reached a high degree of excellence. The score at the Cleaves alley now stands:

BIG PINS.

Gents—J. H. Baker, Worcester, 211.
Ladies—Miss Mary V. Peyser, New York, 159.

CANDLES.

Gents—Fred A. Knight, Portland, and P. Hanley, Brookline, 116.
Ladies—Miss May Davis, Portland, 91.

DUCKS.

Gents—Alfred Swinburne, Old Orchard, 101.
Ladies—Miss Alice Warren, Brooklyn, 95.

The highest strings rolled at the Field alley Thursday and Friday were:

BIG PINS.

Gents—Alderman Walsh, Montreal, 185.
Ladies—Miss Grace Rideout, Boston, 135.

CANDLES.

Ladies—Mrs. H. C. Alden, Lawrence, 88.

DUCKS.

Gents—H. P. Robinson, Old Orchard, 101.

No records were broken.

Cake Walk on the Pier.

The regular weekly cake walk at the pier at Old Orchard Wednesday evening attracted over 1,400 people. The reserved seat section was filled to overflowing and the management had to stop selling tickets at the box office. The walk took place after the stage performance and was one of the best that has yet been pulled off. The winners of the prizes were:

First, Alton Torrey and Tom Hall; second, John H. Armstrong and Cote; third, Edward Reny and Sam Lublinsky.

Miss Nella M. Merrick of Waterville, who has been spending the season at Ocean Park, is at the Irving for a short visit. She has been at this house for several seasons.

OCEAN PARK

New Society Organized

Tuesday morning at 9.30 a mass meeting was held in the temple to consider the organizing of a society of young people to promote the spiritual, social and physical interests of Ocean Park. Rev. W. J. Twort opened the meeting and explained its object, and spoke of the work that the Social and Literary Guild, which had disbanded the day before, had done during its twenty-odd years of existence. Officers were elected temporarily, and another mass meeting appointed for the next forenoon. The officers chosen were: president, Miss Ruth May Milliken of Lawrence, Mass.; vice-president, Mr. Paul G. Favor of Hanover, N. H.; secretary, Miss Rae Bryant, Pittsfield, Me.; treasurer, Miss Ruth A. Favor, Lowell, Mass. To these four officers were added Miss Florence Doe of Medford, Mass., Miss Ethel A. Jackson of Wakefield, Mass., and Miss Harriet Milliken of Augusta, Me., to comprise a committee to draw up a constitution and distribute invitations for the next meeting. These invitations were written on clam shells and carried personally to each house.

At Wednesday's meeting the society was formally organized as the Ocean Park Guild. The constitution was accepted and the officers, who had been chosen temporarily the day before, were elected as the regular officers for the ensuing year. Since then, however, Miss Favor has resigned and Miss Mabel Jordan of Lewiston, Me., has accepted the treasurership. Mr. Wesley Paige of Franklin, N. H., Mr. Favor and Miss Milliken were appointed a committee to select a pin to be worn as a badge of membership. The Ocean Park Guild has started out with a list of twenty-two charter members and promises of many other members, both active and honorary. Any young person who comes upon the grounds will be heartily welcomed among the ranks and may become a member by paying twenty-five cents. The older young people who would like to share our good times with us and help us with their kindly advice may become honorary members by the payment of fifty cents. Applications should be made to the secretary, Miss Bryant.

As has been stated, the purpose of this new society is three-fold. First, to promote the spiritual interest. There is a devotional committee to plan the eight o'clock services to be held on Wednesday mornings during July and August. These services are to be made as helpful as possible, and the committee is going to begin right away to secure competent leaders for these very important meetings. Second, to promote the social interest. It has been resolved that in the future no young person shall be allowed to visit Ocean Park and go away saying, "There are no young people here. The place is slow." There is a welcome committee to help people get acquainted with one another and to interest them in Park doings. There are going to be good times of all kinds, fine, jolly times and plenty of them. Third, to promote the physical interest. There is a committee on athletics, and, hereafter, athletic events are going to be run off that will be well worth seeing and we are going to have tennis tournaments, baseball games and track meets. The plans to promote all three interests are many and excellent, and all that is needed to make them materialize is the energetic co-operation of the young people of Ocean Park. It we all pull together no one will be overtaxed with labor, but each one will have just enough responsibility to make him or her feel the joy of lending a hand in a good cause. It is a joy no one can afford to miss.

HOTEL PERSONALS

Dr. J. A. Poisson and wife are well known Montrealers at the Lawrence.

The Ocean house still has so many guests that it will not be possible for all to be seated at the first table until after Monday.

Louis Goldschmidt and wife of Dover are at the Aldine for a short stay. Mr. Goldschmidt is United States consul at La Guaira, Venezuela.

Halford W. Park of Worcester is registered at the Aldine on his way home from an extended trip through Maine and Canada. Mr. Park is an assistant in the engineering department of Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

Misses Mary A. and Katherine Lee of Concord are sojourning at Hotel Everett.

F. G. Morrissey of Lowell is at the Irving. He is an old guest of the house.

The Western expects an excellent fall business and will remain open till October 15.

Mr. and Mrs. G. C. Grant of Peoria, Ill., are among the western guests at Hotel Velvet.

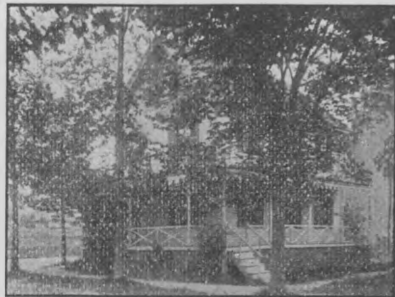

Norton L. Gleason, registered at the Irving, is connected with the steel business of Pittsburg, Pa.

Isaac E. Clark of Boston is making a short stay at the Irving. He is connected with the Jordan, Marsh Company.

The Weaver Cottage

The Weaver cottage, the home of Rev. and Mrs. A. J. Weaver, is situated at the Highlands near Washington avenue. It is in a fine locality and the view is inferior to none in Old Orchard. The house is of attractive architecture and is arranged for permanent occupancy.

"The Elms"

"The Elms" is the pleasant home of Mrs. Manson, centrally situated on the corner of Grand and Union avenues, a short distance from the beach and the campground station. It is in a fine location and has delightful surroundings.

Talent Promptly Recognized.

The businesslike young man approached the man at the desk.

"I'll ask only a minute of your time," he said. "I want to know if you wouldn't like to subscribe for a copy of this book. I've sold 150 of 'em in this building in the last three days."

The man at the desk took the book and looked at it. He noted its utter worthlessness from a literary point of view, its tawdry binding and the cheapness of the paper on which it was printed. Then he said:

"Young man, do you mean to tell me seriously that you have sold 150 copies of that book in this one building?"

"Yes, sir. Here's my order book. You can look at the signatures yourself. Every one of them is genuine."

"I see. Young fellow, I don't know how much you are making out of this business, but I'll give you twice as much, whatever it is, if you'll take hold of a patent nose ring I was fool enough to drop a lot of money in a few years ago and help me to dispose of a stock of 2,000 dozen of 'em I've still got on hand."—Chicago Tribune.

Too Polite.

EXPLANATORY.

This is one of the most interesting mining propositions ever presented to New England investors. Through the recent death of the former owner of the "Jeffries' Claims," (consisting of 4 producing mines), the property reverted to the only heir, a resident of Portland, Me. The above syndicate, for this mining property and are rapidly making arrangements to resume last December, 1903. Extensive operations have been carried on, and the last 50 tons of ore shipped to the ton in gold and copper. The ore already blocked tons. Any one of the 4 mining claims is a stupendous measure 80 feet wide and extends over four miles in the Bradshaw Mountains in the World-famous "Verde" discovered in any other section in the country. In a will reach our property, and we have letters from one of its high grade; and we have other evidences to the most magnificent mining proposition of recent times, and subscribed for stock at 75c per share. Everybody is invited to investigate, also use of their present holdings in stocks or bonds.

Half-Tone Illustrations.

A good many half-tone illustrations have appeared in THE MIRROR this season, including those of persons, hotels, private residences, and various scenes about Old Orchard. We believe that this has been an attractive and interesting feature of this publication, which has increased its circulation to a considerable extent.

So much has been done in the way of getting up souvenirs of various kinds during the past few years, that the publisher of THE MIRROR hasn't thought it advisable to attempt any specially pictorial edition this summer, but has been of the opinion rather, that it would be better to divide the illustrations among the various numbers of the paper throughout the season. In this issue we are running an unusually large number of half-tones, and the final number of 1904, which will appear next Tuesday, will contain several more that cannot fail to be interesting to our summer visitors and permanent residents.

Maine Woman Suffragists.

A large representation of the membership was present at the midsummer meeting Thursday of the Maine Woman Suffragists convention held at Ocean chard. The sessions were addressed by the president, Mrs. Lucy Hobart Day of Portland; Dr. Ella M. S. Tanberg, Gardiner; Mrs. F. J. Fernald, Old Orchard, and Miss Margaret Koch, Portland. The principal address of the afternoon was by Rev. Ida Hultin of Massachusetts on the subject, "Women as a Factor in Evolution."

Mrs. James A. Smith of Boston has been doing a most successful business at her hair dressing parlors on Old Orchard street this season, as for a number of years past. Mrs. Smith and assistants make a specialty of hair dressing, shampooing, manicuring, facial and scalp treatment. Chiropody is also practiced. A fine line of novelties and hand-painted articles on sale.

Harry Jordan of Manchester, N. H., is visiting with his aunt, Mrs. Reddy, at the Brisson cottage near East Grand avenue.

Congressman Amos L. Allen will address political gatherings at Kittery next Monday; West Buxton, Tuesday; West Kennebunk, Wednesday; Wells, Thursday; Hollis Center, Friday, and Limerick, Saturday.

"The Retreat"

"The Retreat," the attractive home of Mr. and Mrs. Warren C. Goodwin, is one of the good residences constructed in Old Orchard during the past 3 or 4 years, for permanent occupancy. This house is pleasantly situated on Summit street, near the Old Orchard house, and commands a fine view. It is in a central, and at the same time a quiet, locality, and has all the modern improvements. Mr. Goodwin is one of the well known merchants of Saco, conducting a variety store in that city. He occupies "The Retreat" throughout the year.

Several Bowdoin men were in town Thursday. W. E. Lunt, '04, of Lisbon Falls and S. O. Martin, '03, now taking graduate work at Harvard in Political Economy, were the guests of E. J. Bradbury, formerly of '04, now in Harvard Dental College. L. P. Libby, '99 a teacher in the classical department of Portland High School and Ernest T. Smith, '01, of Waupaca, Wis., were also visiting friends in town.

Charles A. Wyndham of Lisbon Falls, formerly of Bowdoin, '04, and now of the Maine Medical School, '07, was at the Alberta recently.

Mrs. George B. Atwood, president, and Mrs. Kneeland, treasurer, of the Auburn and Lewiston Equal Suffrage club, were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Fernald, Grand avenue, Thursday, while attending the Maine Woman Suffrage field day at Ocean Park.

THE FRONTENAC

"The Frontenac," the handsome residence of Postmaster and Mrs. Montrose E. Hill, is one of the gems of architecture to be found in Old Orchard. This fine place, which was contributed in the Spring of 1902, is very favorably situated off the Old Orchard road, near School street, and commands a good view of Saco Bay. The house is highly artistic in all its appointments, and is equipped with all the modern conveniences. "The Frontenac" has been rented during the summer months for three seasons, and is one of the highest priced summer residences in town.

The Shriners Coming.

Great preparations are being made for the annual outing of Aleppo temple, Mystic Shrine, which will take place soon at Old Orchard. The headquarters of the temple are in Boston, and it has a large membership from all over New England.

The program will be about the same as that of last year when the Shriners came to Old Orchard for the first time. The headquarters will be the Hotel Velvet and there will be a banquet in the shape of a clam bake at Ferry Beach. About 350 Shriners are expected.

An Animal Story For Little Folks

A Cricket Ball

The two boys on the lawn talked about a cricket ball—they meant a hard ball, like a baseball, with which a game called cricket is played—but Mrs. Hoppy Cricket and Mr. Chirpy Cricket, who overheard them, thought they meant sure enough ball, with music and dancing.

"The very notion!" chirped Mrs. Cricket. "We will give one to introduce Tweedle to society."

"We'll have the katydids for fiddlers," Mr. Cricket said. "I hear that new orchestra is the finest ever."

"Oh, yes, papa, and do have a jarfly or two!" begged Miss Tweedle Cricket. "I love the sound of their clarinets."

For a week before the moonlight night which was to see the crickets'

THE KATYDID ORCHESTRA.

ball little snapper bug messenger boys were hurrying to and fro all through the grass, inviting every beetle of any standing at all. The worms were left out. "Crawling creatures!" said Mrs. Cricket. "We can't afford to invite them."

The refreshments were honeydew arranged in rose leaves, and the orchestra was practicing new pieces for the occasion. It seemed too bad for a debutante to appear in black, but no cricket ever wears anything else, so Miss Tweedle had to be content with her shiny black silk gown.

The glowworms' lamps were glowing, the katydids fiddled away for dear life, and the crickets were swarming in circles when Mr. Rooster, returning from a late ward meeting, concluded that this must be a banquet especially arranged for him. But Mr. Rooster had been listening to speeches until he was drowsy. He was not quick enough for the beetles and crickets, though if they had invited a few worms I think he would have got them. As it was, the minute he set his foot in the ballroom they all fled out of the way under a leaf, the glowworms darkened their lamps, and you would never have guessed that there was a crickets' ball within a mile.—Worcester Post.

"How old did you say she is?"

"She says twenty-four."

"But the family record says she was born in 1870."

"Yes, but she lived ten years in Philadelphia, and of course she doesn't count those."

One Way to Win a Wife.

James Barrie's "Admirable Crichton" has had a counterpart in real life. At least the resemblance is striking. He was a butler who for nearly twenty-five years cleverly managed the affairs of three Englishwomen, even to investing their money for them. Through all the years, although he knew how important he was to that little household, he never forgot that he was the butler and always preserved the most respectful attitude toward his mistresses. Suddenly, however, one morning he appeared before the women and "gave notice." He had saved up some money, he said, and wanted a home of his own. The household was appalled at the prospect. Finally one of the women gasped, "Have you met any suitable person?" "No, ma'am," answered the butler. "Not up to now. But I must make it my business to seek her." The three women felt the foundations of their domestic happiness tottering, and in desperation the most "suitable" of the trio asked the butler to marry her. After a pause he accepted her hand in his old respectful manner, and for twenty-five years longer, in the position of master, he stayed in the house where he had been for many years at service.

"The Homestead"

A winter scene is herewith presented about "The Homestead," the residence of the late E. C. Staples, now owned by his daughters, Mrs. James M. Ryan of Old Orchard and Mrs. Allen C. Goss of Melrose Highlands, Mass. This beautiful place is delightfully situated at the head of Old Orchard street, near the town building, and the view is unsurpassed by any other place in town. Mr. and Mrs. Ryan have made "The Homestead" their permanent home for about eight years. It was rented during the past three seasons to Mr. E. Senior and family of Cincinnati, and this season is occupied by Alfred M. Cohen, Esq., and family of the same city.

Cattle in Bavaria are much used in plowing and hauling. They are frequently yoked in a curious manner, so that the pull comes from the forehead and not from the neck, or, rather, shoulders, which is the ordinary way elsewhere.

Doubling Nothing.

The village council of Hirsingen, Alsatia, issued the following advertisement: "Wanted, a good man for winding up the steeple clock. No salary at the beginning; later on double."

Towers of Seville.

The ancient city of Seville, in Spain, abounds in graceful towers, not the least beautiful of which is the famous Golden tower. It takes its name from the nature of its ornamentation, in which a great quantity of gold is used for decorative purposes.

JINGLES AND JESTS.The Summer Girl.

I look into her dreamy eyes
And think I see her soul's depths
through them.
She seems indeed a perfect prize,
As girls do mostly when you woo them.
She lets me glimpse a tender glance;
Then with her flirting fan she screens it.
She says my love's her life's romance.
I wonder if she really means it.
—Somerville Journal.

Won Her Heart.

"Have you a coat of arms?" she asked.
"No," he replied, "but I have a forty horsepower automobile."—New York Herald.

You Know Them.

We know some men who want the earth,
But if they could impound it
They'd start to kick for all they're worth
And want a fence around it.
—Washington Post.

THE HOTEL EVERETT

Kites as Fortune Tellers.

On the flat housetops of Morocco girls may often be seen flying kites, which, they believe, will give an augury of their future. If the kite remains unbroken, good fortune is in store for them; if mishap befall it, evil days will be their portion. Their faith in the oracle is so great that mishap to the kite plunges them in dejection.

Reindeer Skin.

The skin of the reindeer is so impervious to the cold that any one clothed in such a dress, with the addition of a robe of the same material, may bear the intensest cold of an arctic winter's night.

Korean Customs.

The Korean never cuts his hair or beard. To do so is considered a mark of dishonor to his parents. Any hairs that may happen to come out and even the parings of his finger nails are carefully saved and put into the coffin with him in order that he may go back to mother earth intact.

Old Roman Titles.

Among the degenerate Romans from A. D. 100 to A. D. 500 titles were graded with almost mathematical exactness, and men of different social rank insisted on being addressed as illusters, spectabiles, clarissimi, perfectissimi, egregii, and so on, according to their position.

Sense of Smell.

The sense of smell is keener in fresh air than in stale or polluted air.

THE STROLLER

There was a good sized excursion here from Lowell and Lawrence Thursday.

Mrs. James E. Collins and family of Dover, N. H., are here for two weeks.

John Stuart and Miss Myrtle Hilton of Wells have been passing several days here at the Maryland Ridge cottage.

Mrs. H. P. Atkinson and daughter, Beatrice, Biddeford, have been passing a few days at their cottage, Ocean Park.

C. P. Trickey, the well known piano dealer, Tremont street, Boston, was a visitor in Old Orchard Friday. Mr. Trickey has been passing the season at Kennebunk Beach and Sugar Hill, N. H.

Mrs. Allen C. Goss of Melrose Highlands, Mass., has been visiting her sister, Mrs. Helena A. Ryan, at the Shamrock Cottage, corner Atlantic avenue and Third street, for several days. Mrs. Goss was one of the three daughters of the late E. C. Staples.

Recent arrivals at Home Cottage, Atlantic avenue, Mrs. W. G. Harmon, proprietor, are: Mr. and Mrs. F. Larkin, Jr., Randolph, N. Y.; Mrs. W. B. Wilcox, Mrs. B. W. Lee, Lowell; Ada Marshall, Mrs. Etta B. Cook, Mary Evelyn Cook, Nashua; Mrs. L. Hutchinson, Chelsea; Josephine Woods, F. S. Woods, J. D. Stevens, St. Johnsbury; M. A. Manning, Ruth Manning, Malden; Annie L. Jordan, Auburn; Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Strain, Arthur S. Strain, Hazel B. Strain, Littleton; Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Strain, Murray H. Strain, Groveton.

Ivory Carving In China and Japan.

In China and Japan ivory has been carved, the ivory balls inclosed inside one another being specially noted. Many theories have been formed as to how these balls have been cut. Perhaps a probable one is that a ball of ivory was taken, around the upper and lower ends of which four small holes were carved out, gradually diminishing in size toward the center until the axis of the one hole met the axis of the other or lower one at right angles in the center of the ball and that then small tools were inserted and a thin layer of ivory forming a part of a circle from one hole to its lower corresponding one was cut and loosened from the whole mass. So, gradually cutting from one hole to the next one, a complete inner circle was eventually loosened, the circles themselves afterward being cut into the required pattern.—Chambers' Journal.

How He Got It.

Blake—Queer that Charley Mohter could acquire such an automobile face. He never drives his machine over eight miles an hour.

Jinks—I know, but he got it when his first month's bill for the repairs came in.—Cincinnati Commercial Tribune.

The Penalty.

Once a man who was vanity mad did try to flirt with a girl from Madrid. He got an awful bump. Somewhere—the chump! Who kicked him? By golly, her dad did! —New Orleans Times-Democrat.

The regular weekly ball took place on the pier Friday evening.

Mrs. Flora Libby of Wells is passing a week's vacation in town.

An excursion here from Haverhill and way stations to Exeter, to-day, will return at 4.10 p. m.

On Sunday an excursion from stations between Skowhegan and Lewiston will return at 5.00 p. m.

Harry Locke of Lowell has been staying at the Barton cottage near East Grand avenue for several days.

A number of prominent Portland women were seen on our streets and at the railroad station Thursday on their way from Ocean Park, where they had been to the Maine Woman Suffrage meeting.

The use of instruments of precision is necessary in order that glasses may be made to fit your eyes. Nowhere in New England can you find an optical parlor so thoroughly equipped as at Saco, Maine. The greatest care should be exercised in selecting your optician as the sense of sight is the most precious of your five senses. Littlefield, the eye-sight specialist of Saco, would be pleased to have you call. Consultation and tests are free.

Old Fashioned Philosophy.

Scorn not the homely virtues. We are prone To search through all the world for something new, And yet sometimes old fashioned things are best— Old fashioned work, old fashioned rectitude, Old fashioned honor and old fashioned prayer, Old fashioned patience that can bide its time, Old fashioned firesides sacred from the world, Old fashioned satisfaction with enough, Old fashioned candor and simplicity, Old fashioned folks that practice what they preach.

Birds That Shave.

Man has a rival in the art of shaving in a South American bird called the "motmot," which actually begins shaving on arriving at maturity. Naturally adorned with long blue tail feathers, it is not satisfied with them in their natural state, but with its beak nips off the web on each side, leaving only a little oval tuft at the end of each.

Sachs, who was both an albino and a scientist, demonstrated that the hair of albinos contains less iron than that of normally constituted individuals.

Bowling Notes.

As this is the last issue of THE MIRROR for this season we publish in this column the highest scores rolled at the two alleys so far this season, and they may be considered as the final records, since the season is so far advanced that they are not liable to be broken now. At the Cleaves alley the records stand:

BIG PINS.

Gents—J. H. Baker, Worcester, 211.
Ladies—Miss Mary V. Peyser, New York, 159.

CANDLES.

Gents—Fred A. Knight, Portland, and P. Hanley, Brookline, 116.
Ladies—Miss May Davis, Portland, 91.

DUCKS.

Gents—Alfred Swinburne, Old Orchard, 101.
Ladies—Miss Alice Warren, Brooklyn, 95.

Special mention is due Miss Peyser for her big pin rolling. She has held the record in this department ever since the first of July despite all comers. Her first score was excellent at 151 and she recently broke that and raised it eight pins to 159. Her name has appeared continuously in this column during the entire season.

The highest strings rolled at the Field alley Saturday and Monday were:

BIG PINS

Gents—H. W. Fischer, Sea View house, 220.

CANDLES

Gents—A. Swinburne, Old Orchard, 119.

DUCKS

Gents—King Sears, Old Orchard, 108.

This makes the final records at this alley stand:

BIG PINS.

Gents—Z. P. Benoit, Montreal, 242.
Ladies—Mrs. P. Murphy, Montreal, 158.

CANDLES.

Gents—A. Swinburne, Old Orchard, 119.
Ladies—Miss Florence Wise, Boston, 89.

Extensive Improvements.

The business of the Ocean house has so far exceeded expectations, this season, that plans have been drawn and specifications noted for extensive improvements to be begun immediately. The house will have a new and commodious kitchen equipped with everything necessary for accomplishing the greatest amount of work in the quickest and best possible manner, while the dining room will be enlarged so as to meet all possible demands, avoiding the necessity of reseating. Wide verandas will take the

DUCKS.

Gents—Bert Dorr and King Sears, Old Orchard, 108.
Ladies—Mrs. Ethel Evans, Biddeford, 90.

It should be noticed that Alfred Swinburne holds both the duck record at the Cleaves alley and the candle record at the Field alley at exceptionally high scores.

While there has been little professional crack bowling this season, the interest has been lively, the contests for a record have sometimes been hot and always exciting, and some excellent scores have been established.

place of the now somewhat narrow ones. In short, the Ocean house will be an altogether model hotel, which, with its several cottages, also to be improved, will amply meet the tastes of all the old friends and new comers.

Mr. Pierce extends his heartiest thanks to all who have favored him with their patronage this season, and promises a more generous hospitality for the seasons to follow.

A Metaphysician.

Mrs. S. F. Meader, metaphysician of Lynn, Mass., will be at the Abbott until September 3d, where she will be pleased to receive friends and patients. All diseases successfully treated. Best of Old Orchard references.

There will be a parlor talk at the Abbott next Wednesday afternoon at 3 o'clock. Subject, "Digestion and its relation to the mind."

chard street this season, as for a number of years past. Mrs. Smith and assistants make a specialty of hair dressing, shampooing, manicuring, facial and scalp treatment. Chiropody is also practiced. A fine line of novelties and hand-painted articles on sale.

Rubber Plants.

Most Americans have an idea that rubber is a product like wheat or corn, to be obtained from a given tree. The idea is quite erroneous. It has been estimated that 1,000 different species contain rubber, though commercial quantities have been obtained from only forty or fifty.

Iron Plated Ships.

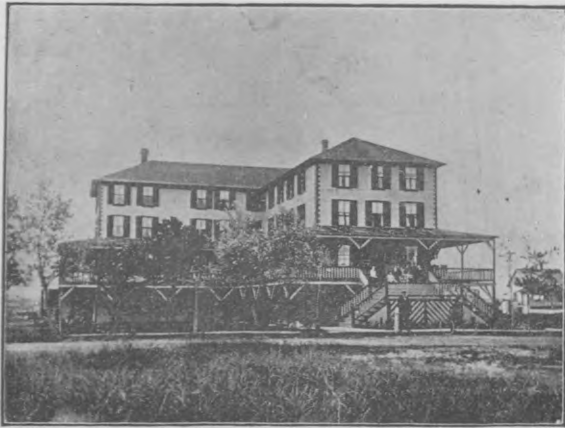

To Napoleon III. belongs the credit of being the first to have ships plated with iron, the first seaworthy craft of this description being the French vessel Gloire, launched in 1860.

OCEAN PARK

The twenty-fourth annual session of the Ocean Park Free Baptist assembly and summer school is drawing to a close, and the echo of the season rings "success." Rev. W. J. Twort, who, notwithstanding his many other duties, has so nobly superintended the whole assembly, is deserving of praise of the highest order. I have heard nothing but words of enthusiastic approval of both the man and his work, and we feel sure that with him at the helm next year also will see a successful Chautauqua-by-the-Sea. During the summer the Ocean Park directors and several committees have held important meetings, where subjects of vital interest to the Park were discussed and steps taken toward improvement. The tendence is inevitable. The newly organized guild is to be greatly in evidence next summer and every young person at the Park will want to feel himself identified with the guildites. Suffice it to say that the year's assembly has been excellent and has afforded rare opportunities to those who attended its entertainments and services.

Those who have attended the assembly have profited much, but those who have come to Ocean Park and drunk deep of nature have profited much also. Who could sit by the grand old ocean on a clear blue-skied day and not feel thrilled by the harmony of color! Who could gaze on that same sheet of water in a raging storm, hear the great billows tumble and splash, and not feel how great and powerful is the Hand that causes the tempest and yet can lull those foaming crests to calm!

GRANITE STATE HOTEL AT OCEAN PARK

Ministers' institute, children's Bible class, the classes in oratory and physical culture, and the series of lectures in geology and history although not very largely attended, have been splendid courses and everyone knows that the musical department under the able management of Prof. Albert P. Briggs, was never better than it has been this year. The platform talent has offered some new and interesting features, and the vast variety of entertainments given during the season has kept up a chain of surprises instead of a monotonous sameness. The banner services of the programme, however, have been the eight o'clock morning devotionals. They have been inspiring, and on Wednesday and Saturday mornings, an attempt has been made to hold special services for the young people and children. The attempt has budded and next year we shall reap full blown blessings at these young people's and children's meetings. A larger at-

Break, break, break,
On thy cold, gray stones, O Sea!
And I would that my tongue could utter
The thoughts that arise in me.

Who can stroll through Guild park, hear the birds and squirrels chatter, and not feel brighter and cheerier and how good it is to be alive, or bask in the atmosphere of peace that blesses the grove, the murmuring pines, the sleepy swish of the oak and maple leaves, and not feel rested and filled with kindly love!

"And now, kind friends, we bid you adieu." But let us, as we go to our city homes for the winter, take with us the Ocean Park spirit and weave it into our lives and the lives of those with whom we come in contact. Let us come to this precious bit of Maine next year with a determination to do all in our power to make it the most beautiful and sacred spot on God's earth. Nature has more than done her part, and man has nobly helped her, but there is yet work to be done, and united effort will accomplish wonders and bring blessings to those who labor.

An Advance In Price.

The stock of the United Verde, Jr., Mining Corporation, F. A. Sidelinger, secretary, will be advanced from 75c, its present selling price per share, to 90c, August 31 at 8 p. m. Another sharp advance is expected in the near future.

Mr. Daniel L. Dean, who has done good work in the interest of the company as its local representative in Old Orchard this summer, will open a branch office in Providence, R. I., at once. Mr. Sidelinger intends to visit the Arizona property of the United Verde, Jr., this fall, and will also make a trip to the gold mine which has been recently acquired, and which is located in Gilpin county, Colorado. This is the smallest county in that state, but the richest during the past two years in mineral production.

HOTEL PERSONALS

F. Richmond of Montreal is once more at the Irving. He is an old guest of the house.

Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Joslyn of Lawrence are registered at the Irving. This is their first visit to Old Orchard.

Miss C. H. Daniels of Montreal has arrived at the Irving for her usual summer visit. She is a regular patron of this house.

Dr. R. P. Robinson, and the Misses Robinson and Walker of Ottawa have arrived at the Irving for their usual summer visit. They have been at this house for several seasons.

Miss Nellie Kelson and Mr. Laurie Kelson of Montreal, who have been at the Western for several weeks, were joined last Saturday by their father and mother. Mr. Kelson is prominently connected with the Canadian Pacific R. R. He is at present on a short trip to Cushing's Island.

J. D. Tyter, a prominent railroad man of Boston, is at the Irving for a short stay with Mrs. Tyter.

B. Kubota, a brilliant attache of the Japanese Legation at Washington, is at the Irving for a stay of some weeks.

D. Mitchell White of Lancaster, N. H., editor of the Coos County Democrat, is making a short stay at the Irving.

Katie and Margaret Doyle of Lowell are this season making their first visit to Old Orchard. They are at the Irving.

Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Dexter of Springvale are registered at the Irving. Mr. Dexter is owner and manager of the Springvale Advocate.

Mr. and Mrs. George Slater and Miss Mabel and Masters Charlie and George, who are summering at the Western, have recently returned from a short trip to Boston.

Clifford Cottage.

This attractive residence, situated on Pearl avenue, was built a few years ago by Mr. E. K. Smith, Lewiston. It was sold last spring to Dr. Austin Reynolds of Farmington, Me., and shortly afterwards was purchased by Mr. John D. Clifford, a prominent contractor and builder, Lewiston.

It would be impossible to speak too highly of the efficiency of Miss Gilbert, head-waiter at the Ocean House. The writer, who has had many years experience in hotel work, places her among the most capable young women he has ever met. Well educated, always courteous, seemingly never weary when ministering to the wants of others, she is a most valuable adjunct to any house, in whatever capacity she may be found serving.

Prof. Chapman's sixth reading, and the last of the season, was given at the Ocean house, on Friday evening and listened to by an audience as large as could be accommodated, several of whom had not missed one of the Friday evenings which have been such prominent features of this popular house. Musical and literary entertainments are rapidly taking the place of lighter forms of amusement at all the popular watering places, which fact speaks volumes for the improvement in the tastes of the people.

"Bob" Clark, the popular clerk of the Congress Square Hotel, Portland, was at the Irving over Sunday.

One of the most talented and accomplished employees of the Velvet this season is Miss Effie P. Smith, one of Mr. Conrad's best waitresses. She is a teacher in the schools of her home at Amherst, Mass., and an excellent musician, both vocal and instrumental.

EXPLANATORY.

This is one of the most interesting mining propositions ever presented to New England investors. Through the recent death of the former owner of the "Jeffries' Claims," (consisting of 4 producing mines), the property reverted to the only heir, a resident of Portland, Me. The above syndicate closed negotiations for this mining property and are rapidly making arrangements to resume work and shipping which was discontinued only last December, 1903. Extensive operations have been conducted in these mines the past five years, and the last 50 tons of ore shipped to the smelter, 14 miles away, returned $136.50 per ton in gold and copper. The ore already blocked out will reach into the hundreds of thousands of tons. Any one of the 4 mining claims is a stupendous mining proposition in itself. The dyke of ore measures 80 feet wide and extends over four-fifths of a mile long covering four foot hills of the Bradshaw Mountains in the World-famous "Verde Belt." No such mineral wealth has ever been discovered in any other section in the country. In a few brief weeks the Bradshaw Mountain R. R. will reach our property, and we have letters from smelters desiring to purchase all our ore because of its high grade; and we have other evidences to prove beyond contradiction, this to be one of the most magnificent mining proposition of recent years. Scores of visitors have already investigated, and subscribed for stock at 75c per share. The allotment is growing smaller and is very limited. Everybody is invited to investigate, also use our Information Department to look up the value of their present holdings in stocks or bonds.

Last of Our Fifth Volume.

With this issue THE MIRROR closes its period of publication for the season of 1904. This makes the fifth time that we have made a short valedictory address to the many readers and good friends of this paper.

This journalistic venture was undertaken in the summer of 1900, and for three seasons it was conducted as a semi-weekly, but commencing with last summer it has been issued tri-weekly. Few resort papers in New England, that we have any knowledge of, appear oftener than once a week. However, it has been considered advisable to give a large and rapidly developing summer resort like Old Orchard, the advantage of a more frequent publication, and the results have, on the whole, justified this plan.

The publisher of THE MIRROR wishes to thank again those who have supported this paper this season and in the past. To advertisers and subscribers we are indebted for their patronage, and we trust that they have been well repaid for the money they have expended with us. To those who have continued to speak kindly of our efforts to produce a desirable resort publication, we are under deep obligations, and to the several who have so far interested themselves as to contribute from time, helpful and valuable articles to these columns, we wish to express our great appreciation.

We publish the final issue of 1904 in the same spirit that prompted the initial paper of 1900, having at heart the best interests of Old Orchard, and the kindest feelings towards all our people, both permanent residents and transient visitors.

Season of 1904.

The season of 1904 is on the wane, very perceptibly, so far as the business interests of Old Orchard are concerned, and within a short time the great majority of the summer tourists will have departed on their homeward journey, which will necessitate the closing of the places of amusement and trade almost entirely. Many have already departed, especially from the hotels, and the exodus this week will make a great diminution in the number remaining here at the present time. The cottagers remain well into September and there is a tendency, annually, towards later departure among this class of our summer residents. The opening of the schools about the first or second week in September causes many to leave for home, who would otherwise be disposed to stay here longer.

From the business standpoint, this season can by no means be called a failure, although it has not been so favorable as many had expected. Many other resorts have experienced dull trade throughout the summer, and have not fared so well as this place. July was rather backward and gave the hotel proprietors and others engaged in commercial pursuits, a feeling of despair, but August has rendered a pretty fair account and made the conditions much more satisfactory. The weather has been favorable for the most part, and the guests have proved themselves good stayers. The number of visitors here Sunday was unusually large for so late in the season. Business places have continued to multiply rapidly during the past few years, and it requires a much larger patronage and greater expenditure of money to go all around among the various tradesmen.

It could hardly be expected that all would be satisfied with their profits, but in general it may be stated that the season of 1904 has been one of average success here at Old Orchard.

Not His Color.

She—I wish you could go to the pink tea with me.

The Bad Bear

"B-r-r-ring in the pr-r-r-isoner," growled his honor, Judge Bruin, and Policeman Bahr dragged up before the bar of justice that dreadful bad bear known as Ragged Ralph.

"What's he done now?" shouted the judge in such a ferocious tone, as he caught sight of the weebegone Ralph.

"Of you bleese," said Policeman Bahr, whose ancestors came from the Black forest of Germany, "dis vos de worstest bear in der whole communi-paw—I means kommcuity. He yust lay around and ketches little bears und steals dere pennies."

"Woof! woof!" snapped the judge, as he shook the judicial gavel at the trembling culprit, "you're a fine specimen to be allowed to run loose! I've heard a whole lot about you, and nothing that's good. I'll make an example of you that will fix you all right. You had a good home and should have grown up to be a respectable bear, but, instead, you would rather be a tramp and a nuisance to your family and everybody else. Your sentence is that you be confined for life in the zoo, in a cage by yourself, and that the cage shall have such a fine wire screen over the bars that good hearted little children cannot push even the smallest of shelled peanuts through. Take him away."—Pittsburg Dispatch.

The Heart of the Woods.
I hear it beat in morning still
When April skies have lost their gloom,
And through the weeds there runs a thrill
That wakes arbutus into bloom.

I hear it throb in sprouting May—
A muffled murmur on the breeze,
Like mellow thunder leagues away,
Or booming voice of distant seas.

In daisied June I catch its roll,
Pulsing through the leafy shade,
And fain I am to reach its goal
And see the drummer unafraid.

I feel its pulse mid winter snows,
And feel my own with added force,
When red ruff drops his cautious pose
And forward takes his humming course.

The startled birches shake their curls;
A withered leaf leaps in the breeze;
Some hidden mortar speaks and hurls
Its feather missile through the trees.

Compact of life, of fervent wing,
A dynamo of feathered power,
Thy drum is music in the spring,
Thy flight is music every hour.

An Animal Story For Little Folks

CHOOSE WELL YOUR COMRADES

Little Bill doesn't like it sometimes because dad won't let him play with Tom, Dick and Harry on the streets. But, listen, Bill, to this harrowing tale of the lion and the hippo.

A lion and a hippo met very accidentally one day, and as each was attracted by the other they decided to set out on a journey together. They knew nothing of each other's habits or manner of life. But each was attracted to the other by what they saw and heard.

"My, but you have a fine roar," said hippo. "It must be a grand thing to travel with a fellow like you who could scare almost anything with that voice."

"And you," said the lion, "I like you. You have so much face. Why, you have cheek enough to make your way anywhere."

And so, without more ado, they shook hands and started.

They traveled a long journey the first day and were exceedingly hungry when night came. They found themselves in the midst of a great desert,

"YOU HAVE SO MUCH FACE"

where there was nothing but rocks and sand. The hippo sighed, "My, but I wish I had some nice hay or grass."

"Wouldn't mind a good fat calf myself," said the lion sadly.

"I thought you ate grass," said the hippo.

"I thought you ate meat," said the lion.

"Let's go to sleep and forget it," said hippo.

"Let's," assented the lion.

But when Mr. Lion had fallen soundly asleep Mr. Hippo reached over and began to munch his long whiskers.

Mr. Lion awoke with a yell.

"I beg your pardon," meekly said hippo, "I thought it was hay."

Sleep soon conquered hippo, but Mr. Lion was very hungry. He got up and seized the hippo by the throat and began to kill him.

The poor hippo shrieked for help.

"Excuse me," said the lion savagely, "I thought you were a beefsteak." And he ate him up.—Atlanta Constitution.

"Mansion House."

The "Mansion House," Portland avenue, one of the oldest places here, has been owned for several years by Mrs. M. F. Porter.

Some call love an amusement,
Which I boldly rise to doubt.
Your love is an amazement;
A puzzle out and out.
—Cincinnati Commercial Tribune.

His Faith.

"Is your husband a faithful man?"
"What kind of faithful do you mean—faithful to God or to me or to his pipe?"—Chicago Record-Herald.

Not the Same.

He swore he'd go through fire and water
For her, and she was glad.
The way he goes through fire water
Since they've been wed is sad.
—Philadelphia Press.

Knowing a Woman.

"Do you know her?"
"No; I am merely acquainted with her. Nobody knows a woman!"—New York Tribune.

Make It Attractive.

"I have a sure cure for the liquor habit."

"What is it?"

"To charge 15 cents a glass for water."

Answered.

"Are you going to have a cellar under your new house?"

"No, we are going to have it upstairs in place of the attic."

It Is Argument.

For principle we make our fight,
And yet it doth appear
The largest campaign fund in sight
Wins with the people dear.

"Three Gables."

"Three Gables," the pleasant cottage purchased last spring by Mr. C. Wilson Place, Saco, is located on Union avenue.

Food experts say that fish is no more useful as a brain food than cabbage or roast beef. They admit, however, that it is easier to digest and assimilate than meat, and this fact doubtless explains the preference which brain workers have manifested for such food.

The Rocking Chair in the Dark.

Although the name of the man who invented the American rocking chair has been lost to us in the mists of time, it is considered highly probable that new arrivals on registering in the hereafter will be able to see it emblazoned on the scroll of fame in letters of brimstone and surrounded by an asbestos wreath of laurel. This is the view shared by all who have encountered an American rocking chair in the dark.
A rocking chair may be the instrument whereby weary persons attain comfort;
it may be the joy of the flippant youth and the solace of blase age in the daytime or when the gas is burning, but by some miraculous agency it changes its nature completely when darkness falls, becoming an instrument whereby the ruler of evil recruits his corps of coal shoveling imps. No longer, when night falls, it is a padded bit of furniture. It is composed wholly of rockers, and the rockers are composed entirely of sharp ends which fly forth and strike the shin for choice with devilish accuracy of aim. This is one of the wonders of modern life which so far is inexplicable.—San Antonio (Tex.) Express.
