.25 cal. AUTOLOADING RIFLE

Not one single ounce of muzzle energy is lost. Part of recoil, ordinarily taken up by the shoulder, is utilized in operating the mechanism.

Five one-ton blows—as quick as you can pull and release trigger—as straight to the mark as you can hold. The only recoil-operated rifle locking the cartridge in chamber until after bullet has left the muzzle.

WOMEN DO GOOD WORK

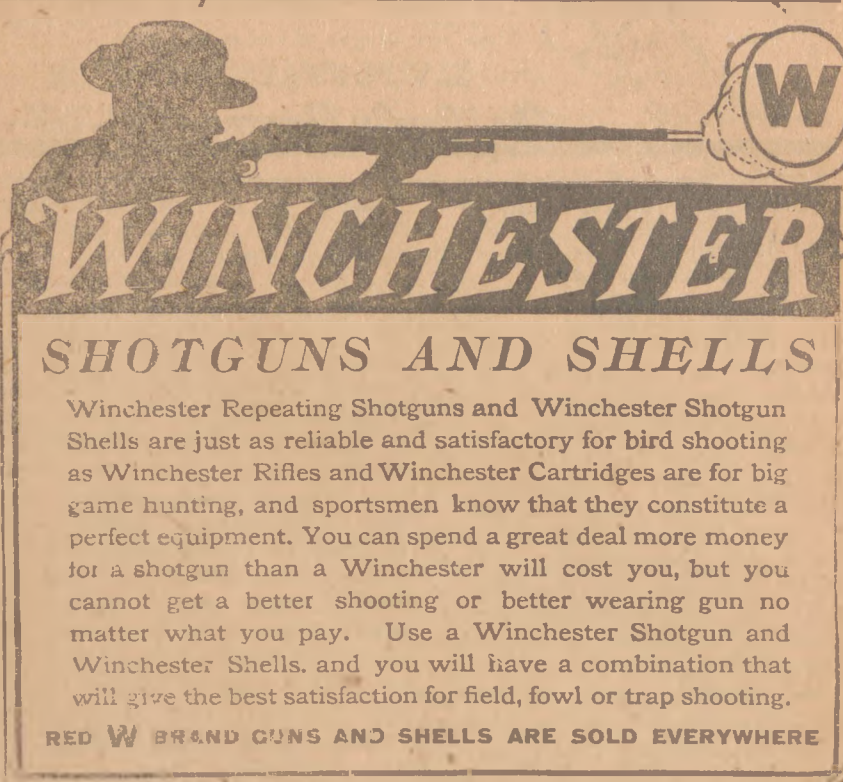

Went Deer Hunting and Shot Two Fine Ones.

We started on our hunting trip the last of October, reaching camp about noon Monday. After getting dinner we went for a walk and to look around a little just to see where the deer were coming. We found a place that looked as though deer had been there, so we sat down. Just before night out came a fine doe, coming within range I pulled up and fired, the deer quite slowly climbed over the wall and went into the woods. I said "Come, I hit her, let's go follow."

We went down where she was when I fired, looked over the old wall. We could not see her, but there stood another looking right at us. We both fired, she ran into the woods. By that time it was so dark we could not track them so we started for camp. The next morning we started bright and early but could not find hide nor hair of those deer; they must have run a long ways for wounded deer as we supposed we had hit them.

We had a long mile to go. As we had started out before breakfast so faint and hungry were we, that I fell into the river, as we had it to cross before we could reach camp. The next day we tramped and tramped but deer we did not hear or see.

We decided to watch in the moonlight. Wednesday afternoon we started

WINCHESTER
SHOTGUNS AND SHELLS

Winchester Repeating Shotguns and Winchester Shotgun Shells are just as reliable and satisfactory for bird shooting as Winchester Rifles and Winchester Cartridges are for big game hunting, and sportsmen know that they constitute a perfect equipment. You can spend a great deal more money for a shotgun than a Winchester will cost you, but you cannot get a better shooting or better wearing gun no matter what you pay. Use a Winchester Shotgun and Winchester Shells, and you will have a combination that will give the best satisfaction for field, fowl or trap shooting.

MORE ABOUT WATER

Robert Spurr Weston, a chemist of Boston, Mass., claims the Phillips water is clean and safe to drink.

Many citizens of Phillips were dissatisfied with the article that we printed in one of the recent issues of the MAINE WOODS relating to the condition of the water taken from Mt. Blue pond. We wish to state that we did not desire to create the impression that we were favoring the Phillips Water company in any way, but that we have tried to give the people of Phillips and vicinity the truth of the matter, as far as we were able through the investigation that we have conducted. We have asked numerous citizens, who expressed their views of the matter, to let us print their stories in the next issue but they did not think that it was worth their time to write their side of the story or else they were not quite sure whether their investigations were correct.

We have received more information upon the matter in question and this time it is from a very reliable source, as the letter that we print below will show you. William B. Butler, local manager of the water company, received this letter and copy of the analysis which is also printed, from Moore & Co., Pemberton square, Boston Mass. who state that after receiving a copy of our last article, sent another sample of the Mt. Blue water to Robert Spurr Weston 14 Beacon Street, Boston, Mass., for analysis, and the enclosed is the result.

Mr. Weston is one of the best known chemists in the state of Massachusetts and as he is not connected with state laboratory he can have no reason for returning an analysis that is incorrect. He is highly respected among the people of Massachusetts, and has had large experience in water tests.

We believe that the following letter will explain the table that follows it.

November 16, 1911.

Moore & Co.,
Pemberton Sq.,
Boston, Mass.
Gentlemen:—

I have analyzed the sample of water, No. 1418, taken from the tap of the Phillips Hardware Company, Phillips, Maine, on November 8, and enclosed herewith please find analysis sheet giving the results of analysis.

The water was taken from Blue Mountain Pond in the town of Avon. This water has a disagreeable vegetable odor, the so-called "cucumber odor." This is especially marked when heated and is due probably to the presence of Synura in the water, although the delicate organism had so broken down in transit that recognition was doubtful. To be sure, a microscopical analysis would have had to been made on the spot. The water has but few bacteria none of which are evidences of pollution, and the amount of organic matter is not high. The water is soft, low in iron, and apart from the odor is suitable for dietetic and domestic purposes.

The bad odors due to Synura have been of frequent occurrence in New England, especially during the last few dry years. The growth of organic matter is not unusual.

Mrs. George B. Dennison and Mrs. Joel Carlton of Phillips.

out about three, arrived at a place where we thought deer were coming after apples. We found a nice sheltered place, sat down, pulled a laprobe over our feet, lit a lantern placed under the robe, at our feet, then all we had to do was to watch and wait. Mrs. Carlton watched toward the east, Mrs. Dennison toward the west. About nine o'clock Mrs. Carlton whispered, "My, there is a deer as large as a cow!"

A great buck came within sight. She tried to lift her gun into position, but she shook so it was hard work, then she tried to raise the hammer, but that hammer would not rise until the buck had got out of shooting distance. We kept hearing them. About twelve o'clock, out came a nice doe, but the buck held back. We dared not wait longer. Mrs. Dennison fired. The doe ran about two rods, fell, kicked once or twice; then all was still, we uncovered our lantern, went out, stuck the deer, and returned to our seat. We knew the buck would return and return he did, several times, but the moon clouded in and we held the fort until morning, but the moon would not peep out for us to shoot.

So we returned to camp feeling quite high, no heels dragging, had no trouble crossing the river. We were just sure of that buck Thursday night.

After breakfast we took a good long nap hoping to be wide awake at night. We had dinner about 2 o'clock, then started out for the night watch. It had snowed so that the ground was white. Continued on page 4.

HAS SIX SILVER GRAYS

And is Willing to Sell the whole Bunch for only $8,000

T. J. Murphy Jr., head buyer for Murphy, The Furrier of Lewiston, showed The Lewiston Sun correspondence which has passed between himself and a man in Canadian territory who has six handsome silver gray foxes. As the owner puts it he has "three pairs of fine dark stock, perfect specimens of the silver gray." He says that he does not wish to be unreasonable in the price and that he would sell the whole lot for $8,000.

Mr. Murphy is now in correspondence with a New York house which is interested in the proposition and if they can be convinced that the foxes are just as the owner represents them to be, there is probability of the deal going through. Mr. Murphy has not seen the foxes, but if a condition price can be agreed upon he will leave at once to see the silver grays and if he finds them to be of the superior quality represented and to meet the requirements of the New York house he will bring them home with him and later take them to New York.

In paying this fancy price for the foxes it would be with a view of trying the experiment of raising silver gray foxes and the development of a plan in which a New York house is especially interested. If the deal is put through successfully the silver greys will be brought to Lewiston and arrangements will doubtless be made to have them on exhibition for a short time at Murphy's store.

SHOT SELF THROUGH FOOT

Harry Giles of East New Sharon was brought to Farmington Saturday afternoon with a hole through the foot as the result of the premature explosion of a cartridge in a gun which he was carrying Saturday morning. Giles and a party were in camp at Bigelow when the accident occurred. He was holding the gun with the muzzle pointing downward when, without warning, it went off, tearing a hole through one of his feet. He was taken to Farmington where Dr. Sanborn treated him. When Giles was brought here, he was very weak from the loss of blood. After treatment, he was taken to his home. Unless complications set in, he will recover.

GAME NOTES

Hunters Follow Monster Rabbit Tracks, Thinking Them Deer

East North Farmington, Nov. 20, 1911.

Ralph Morton of Farmington got a deer in New Vineyard last week.

L. M. Mosher, George M. Luce and Ed. McGowan are hunting at Spring Farm. H. S. Mosher and Messrs. Lewis and Norris Morton are in the same section a few miles north.

Ruffed grouse or partridge appear to be quite plenty this year.

Two hunters of local fame were out on Friday following a deer track. They were proceeding with due care and proper caution. All at once one of them espied the animal lying down partially concealed by bushes. The younger man, as guest, was allowed the first shot and got in two of them without causing movement save a slight raising of the head at the last one. Fearing the deer would get away, the elder took a shot and was lucky enough to cut the animal's throat. They then rushed to be in at the death. Neither belong to the meeting house or take charge of a Sunday school class, which would not have been necessary explanation to one present, and the adjective expletives and oburgations caused more smoke than all the shooting for it was just a rabbit. The perpetrators say it was a monster and as they are both temperate men and it was the last part of a four days' hunt, we are compelled to believe that their sight was not magnified.

LUCKY HUNTERS IN WELD

Among the hunters we have heard of in Weld that have been fortunate enough to lay low the game are Messrs. Will Sanborn, Walter Witham, Al Stokbridge, Abe Tainter, James Hutchinson, Bert Vining and Menda Conant.

The hunters in that section report not as much success as in former seasons.

BIG MOOSE SHOT AT UPPER DAM

A big moose shot at Upper Dam by Frank Kennedy of Lowell, Mass., attracted much attention at the railroad station at Rumford, Saturday. The animal's set of antlers was as fine as we have ever seen.

E. P. RICEKR PLANS TRIP TO FRENCH LICK SPRINGS INDIANA

Mr. E. P. Ricker of Poland Spring will leave Maine soon for a trip to the famous Lick Springs in Indiana. Mr. Moore, head clerk at Mt. Kineo this season, will accompany him, Mr. Moore's home being in that vicinity. Mr. Ricker plans to return from the west with General Manager McDonald of the Maine Central, Mr. McDonald going to Chicago to pay a brief visit to his mother. Later in the winter Mr. and Mrs. Ricker will make a trip to the Pacific coast.

What He Saved.

Pathetic as well as amusing is the valedictory of a western editor: "With grateful acknowledgment to my friends and benediction upon the profession, I take my hat—the savings of 17 years in the newspaper field—and retire."

EX-MAYOR BOOTHBY MAKES A SHORT VISIT IN PHILLIPS.

Hon. and Mrs. Frederick E. Boothby of Portland, and Mrs. Joseph E. Blabon, formerly of Portland, were the guests of Miss Cornelia T. Crosby, "Fly Rod" at St. Anthony Cottage, Phillips, over Sunday, November 12.

Mr. Boothby is the president of the State Board of Trade, and was for three years, mayor of Portland. Until recently he was for many years the general passenger and ticket agent of the Maine Central railroad, and is one of the best known and popular men in the state of Maine.

ENJOYABLE TRIP BUT TOO WARM FOR GOOD HUNTING.

On Sat., Nov. 11, Wm. B. Hoyt drove to C. A. Bean's camp at Long Pond where his son, Seward Hoyt, with the following gentlemen, Messrs. J. A. Wright, G. O. Blunt, C. A. Bean and John J. Nason of Woodfords, have been for a week's hunting.

The party expected a fine time, but the weather was too warm for good deer shooting. They were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Hoyt, Sunday, returning by the afternoon train.

RUMFORD SPORTING NOTES.

A huge moose, shot in the woods near Upper Dam Friday by Frank Kenney of Lowell, Mass., George Robertson, guide was sent to Massachusetts by way of Rumford, Saturday. The moose was a young animal, and possessed a handsome set of antlers. He was shot about a mile from Black Point camp in which Mr. Kenney is an owner, and it was necessary to swamp a road a mile through the woods to the shore to get the moose's carcass to a motor boat, and it was brought 8 miles across the lake by steamer to Bemis for shipment. There were eight men in the Black Point party, and six deer were brought out, one of them belonging to Mr. Kenney.

Charles Dunton and the son of Jeff Thomas were gunning Saturday afternoon at South Rumford, when they shot a 150 pounds spikehorn buck.

A deer shot at Roxbury by F. O. Abbott of Mechanic Falls went through here Saturday bound for the home of the lucky hunter.

Fly Rod's Note Book

BY FLY ROD

St. Anthony's Cottage
Phillips, Maine, Nov. 15, 1911

When I looked out of doors this morning I found the ground was covered with a foot of that stuff, some folks call "beautiful snow," and I realized I was almost a prisoner in my humble home, that the winter days had come to stay for months, away up here in Maine.

Soon the sleigh bells began to jingle and there was music in the air.

The school children welcomed the sport of snow balling and there was merry laughter as they passed by.

It was not long before I heard someone outside, and knew a kind deed was being done. On going to the door I discovered a neighbor who greeted me thus "Good morning, I have come to shovel your path," and I was most grateful.

This world is full of kindness after all and long ago I made up my mind all we take from this world, when we leave it, is the good we have done, for all know there is "no pocket in the shroud" and the gold, no matter how much, we love it, must be left behind for others to scramble after. Why not, those who can toss it about when needed, while there is a chance and time to do so?

The first fall of snow is always welcomed by the farmer and the hunter.

Many a deer will be shot today if they leave behind them a track.

All persons who are in a position to know claim there are less hunters in Maine this year than formerly, and no one doubts the fact that deer are decreasing.

"What should be done to protect them?" is a question.

Is not one deer enough for any one person to shoot in a season?

Then if close time was put on does the hunter would use much greater care in shooting and there would no doubt be fewer accidents and we should not as often see in our newspapers the heading, "Mistaken for a deer."

That the partridge hunting has been better in this section than for several seasons past, is proved by the unusual number of birds taken out. From all parts of the state the report has come that they were plenty.

The beaver have been so well protected for a number of years that they have increased in some places so that they have done damage. One ever saw the dams built by these industrious animals they would know the meaning of "as busy as a beaver."

Our Fish and Game Commission have in different places, where damage was being done, given the trappers a chance to add many dollars to their pocket book, for the law allows them to be killed.

The fur of our Maine beaver, is said by those who are good judges, to be among the finest found in the market.

The Maine Woods of Nov. 16 has a most interesting Thanksgiving menu. Thanksgiving in Camp! Did you ever spend the day there? If so about this time of year the memory is almost as good as a dinner.

There are more reasons than one why this menu cannot be duplicated this year.

That was the time the caribou roamed over Maine and the law allowed the hunter to shoot them.

We have no doubt but what Dr. Heber Bishop could be as hospitable and serve with as much grace as in 1893 a Thanksgiving dinner in camp.

The past week Uncle Sam has brought me kind messages from friends, many of them will know to the readers of the Maine Woods.

Mr. Russell Whitcomb, the author friends, many of them well known to writer for boys' magazines who with his father spent some time at the Mountain View last summer, writes from New York that he has just been in Boston to help celebrate his father's 87th birthday. Mr. Whitcomb greatly enjoyed their trip to the lakes and plans to come in 1912.

Miss Bertha Poore, who for a number of seasons has been at the Birch, acting as housekeeper for Capt. Barker, in December goes to Ormond, Fla., to spend the winter away from the snow drifts, in a sunny south, where fruit and flowers are abundant. A host of friends will welcome Miss Poore at the Birches in 1912.

Game Warden Says They Promote Law Evasions

Warden W. T. Pollard of Dover was in Bangor Friday, November 3, going there from Augusta, where he has been in consultation with the game commissioners in regard to the work in his department, and left on the afternoon train for Washington county. Warden Pollard is the oldest warden in length of service in the department and possibly in years, but, however that may be he has been a fish and game warden in this State for 16 years and always has the game situation well in hand. During the 16 years he has traversed the fish and game territory of the State hundreds of times and has ferreted out many violations of the laws. At present he is senior warden in charge of the several that are stationed in the different parts of the state.

In speaking to a Commercial reporter Friday in regard to the game situation he said that deer are not quite so plentiful as they have been in years past but that they are plentiful enough and most of the hunters are bringing out game. "The automobilists are reaping the biggest harvest," he said, "and hundreds of deer and moose are being carried out of the game country and in many cases out of the state every week. Many of the hunters who come in from out of the state in their machines are also able to evade the license law as it is an easy matter to speed through the country with game packed away in the tonneau of their car and across the line without anyone being the wiser.

"But that is not the worst of the automobile question. Jacking by the use of the powerful search lights on automobiles is becoming a general practice in many parts of the game region and it is a practice that has got to be stopped. In many cases the machines leave the main highways and take to the tote road and in some cases to fields where their bright lights serve as the best kinds of jacks. To my mind the Legislature will have to pass a law to prohibit shooting game in the night from sunrise to sunset, with a heavy penalty for violation and thus the technical question as to whether or not an automobile is violating the law, when with its lights turned on, it goes slowly along the woods' roads and accidentally onto a deer which is shot, would be done away with. At any rate the situation is serious and something has got to be done."—Portland Augus.

SPECIAL SURVEY MAPS.

Give Valuable Data on Piscataquis and Sandy Rivers.

A series of special river and lake survey maps for general distribution have just been issued by the State Water Storage Commission. These surveys, which were made during the year 1910, through the co-operative agreement between the United States Survey Commission and the State Water Storage Commission, give much valuable data upon the major portion of the Piscataquis river in Piscataquis county and the Sandy river in Somerset and Franklin counties.

The Piscataquis river maps consist of 11 sheets and are divided into two groups the first five covering the main river, from its mouth to Blanchard, a distance of approximately 60 miles. The elevation above the sea level at the mouth of the river is 127 feet and at Barrows Falls, the upper limit of the survey, it is 550 feet above sea level, giving a drop of 423 feet in a distance of 30 miles, or about seven feet to the mile.

are interesting, as they cover the Sebec river from its mouth to the outlet of Sebec lake and comprise a detailed map of the lake itself. Sheets 8 to 10 inclusive are of Pleasant river from its mouth to Silver lake, and the last sheet, or No. 11, takes in Silver lake and Big Hous-ton pond and carries large scale map of the outlets of these two ponds.

The maps show the plan of the river, as well as the profile, and are of especial value in studying the water power possibilities. The maps of Sebec lake show the low water line and a five-foot contour line below low water, or in other words, show the contour of the shore in case the lake was drawn off to a point five feet below mean low water. Several other contour lines at five-foot levels above low water are also shown, indicating the lake surface, in case it were used as a storage reservoir and the level of the water raised. These contour lines are of especial value in estimating the capacity of the lake as a storage reservoir; in other words, showing the number of cubic feet of water that can be held in storage.

Five sheets are included in the Sandy River set, covering the river from the point where it empties into the Kennebec to a point six miles above Phillips, or the crossing of the spur track, which runs from the Sandy River & Rangeley Lakes Railroad to Township No. 6. The elevation above sea level at the mouth is 154 feet and at the railroad, 720 feet indicating a drop in the 60 miles of 566 feet.

BATH HUNTER HAS A VERY PAINFUL EXPERIENCE.

Samuel Hathorne of Woolwich had an encounter with a fox recently which he will remember for a long time. The fox had been robbing the poultry house near his home and he set a trap for the animal. When he went to look at the trap next morning he found the fox therein. On thinking he might capture the fox alive and take him home he started to extricate the animal from the trap, and in so doing the fox caught him by the leg and commenced chewing his ankle. Mr. Hathorne tried to shake him off, but it was of no use. He was being chewed savagely when H. E. Wright, the rural free delivery mail carrier was passing and he was signalled to come to his assistance. Mr. Wright with a stick succeeded in killing the vicious animal. Such a grip did he have on Mr. Hathorne, that it took considerable time in trying to pry the jaws of the fox open so as to release the animal's teeth. As soon as Mr. Hathorne was able to get to the house a physician was called and dressed the wound. So far Mr. Hathorne is getting along nicely, but thinks it will be some time before he tries capturing any more animals of the fox tribe alive.

GAME PLENTY IN BINGHAM SECTION.

Henry E. Frost, of Lewiston, who recently returned from a ten days' hunting trip above Bingham, says game of all kinds is plenty in that section. He went as a guest of Forrest Colby and was with a party of engineers who combined work and pleasure. Mr. Colby and Mr. Frost each secured two deer. One of these was eaten in camp and another was sent to Mrs. J. Manchester Haynes of Augusta, who owns the land, where the party camped. The men hunted at Stony Brook and Mt. Hale. Beavers and bear were numerous in that section.

Colds May be Avoided.

By those who are fortunate enough to always breathe pure air, and never get run down by overwork or exposure. Even these lucky people do not always escape the contagious colds which at certain seasons prevail to such an extent as to be almost epidemic. It is wise to be prepared for troubles of this nature in our climate, and the one all-important thing is to have at hand a safe, efficient and reliable remedy to ward off the trouble and danger of such an attack.

For sixty years, "L. F." Atwood's medicine has been a household remedy for emergencies of this kind. It starts up the liver and bowels, prevents congestion, and restores the functions to their normal condition. If you have never used it, get a bottle from your dealer, or write for a free sample to the "L. F." Medicine Co., Portland, Me.

Entered as second class matter, January 21, 1909, at the postoffice at Phillips, Maine, under the Act of March 3, 1879.

The Maine Woods thoroughly covers the entire state of Maine as to hunting, fishing, trapping, camping and outdoor news and the whole Franklin county locally.

Maine Woods solicits communications and fish and game photographs from its readers.

When ordering the address of your paper changed, please give the old as well as new address.

The Editions of the Maine Woods this week are 6,500 copies.

Thursday, November 23, 1911.

We have received a copy of the Juvenile Hustler and Adult's Circulating Medium, devoted to short stories, general miscellany and publicity. It is volume 1, No. 1 and is published by R. A. Merrow of Farmington. The number is an attractive one and will no doubt continue so under the management of Mr. Merrow who is a printer of experience.

LOCAL NOTES

Dr. J. F. Hilton, returned Monday noon from Ed. Grant's Camps at Kennebago, with a fine seven point buck, which he shot near the camp. Dr. Hilton says that he had the time of his life and considers that he had great luck as this is the first time that he ever went deer hunting.

Do not fail to read the advertisement of Leavitt & Jacobs, for it is interesting reading. They have everything in stock for a first-class Thanksgiving dinner, and the goods are fresh and of the best quality.

Give them your patronage and show your appreciation of their enterprise. The annual meeting for the election of officers of Sherburne Chapter, O. E. S. will be held next Wednesday evening, November 29.

Mr. W. A. D. Cragin has sold his drug business to E. H. Whitney, formerly in business at Rangeley. We understand that Mr. Whitney will take possession the first of the year as he is at present assisting a druggist in New Hampshire. Mr. Cragin has been in business in Phillips for over 30 years.

We are sorry indeed to report the serious illness of Mrs. Lester Bean, who has been suffering for the past month with abscesses in her throat and ear. Dr. E. B. Carrier, her attending physician, has had in consultation Drs. C. W. Bell of Strong and J. F. Hilton, of Phillips. This morning her condition is considered very serious. Her brothers who is a physician in Claremont, N. H. has been summoned; also her sister from Vermont is expected today.

Will our correspondents kindly send their copy for next week so that we can receive it Monday, as we shall go to press Wednesday instead of Thursday on account of Thanksgiving.

A. R. Page, mail clerk on the Sandy River & Rangeley Lakes railroad, is on a two weeks' vacation and J. L. Palmer is substituting for him.

Fred V. Berry, station accountant of the Maine Central railroad was in town a few days this week, the guest of F. N. Beal.

On November 4, it being his 86th birthday, Mr. Obed Russell called at the MAINE WOODS office to pay his subscription. This has been Mr. Russell's custom for many years and as he is still very active, we expect and hope to see him on many more birthdays.

THE GENERAL AND MAJOR GO HUNTING.

We noticed by the Farmington Chronicle that Major George McL. Presson of Farmington, and General Elliott C. Dill of Hallowell, left Saturday for King and Bartlett lake, where they will try and shoot some game.

J. F. Parker, 2021 North 10th St., Fort Smith, Ark., says that he had taken many kinds of kidney medicine, but did not get better until he took Foley's Kidney Pills. No matter how long you have had kidney trouble, you will find quick and permanent benefit by the use of Foley's Kidney Pills. Start taking them now. W. A. D. Cragin.

PARTY GET FOUR DEER.

PREBLE SECURES WHITE SPOTTED BEAUTY.

From a week's camping trip at the Rowe place near Madrid, the following gentlemen brought home trophies of the hunt: Messrs. R. L. Preble, Phillips; C. E. Watts, Lubec; F. N. Gillise, Portland; George Harnden, guide. They got one spike horn and two doe and a four-point buck.

Mr. Preble had the good fortune to secure the four-point buck which was spotted white to a considerable extent. He is a very enthusiastic sportsman and usually secures what he is in quest of whether it be game or fish.

Shot Deer in Back Yard

North Farmington, Maine, Nov. 12, —Leigh Barker came into Simon Furbush's back yard and shot a fine doe on Wednesday of last week.

Mr. Furbush made no objection to this high handed proceeding although it is understood he was trying to keep the deer for some of the hunters nearer home who have spent considerable time in the effort to secure venison.

Leigh is rather modest about it. There were two or three of them and he fired at the first twice and as that one moved and another slid along the screen, smelling after the motion picture manner, he kept working the lever industriously, it was in that term and though there was no marker to call "down" he found one ready for the quilters and then looked after the other but in vain.

The Barkers, E. I., the father, and L. H., the son, are the only ones to register as yet on the deer question.

A couple of local hunters feeling that the game was not plentiful at home and wishing a broader scope for the exercise of their skill started for a town considerably north of the one wherein they have their respective abodes. They were gone some days but sad to say returned with but one fox as mark of their prowess. Someone said they acknowledged their dog caught the fox and some one else was unkind and suggested that they got him out of a trap. We hope this is not true for both parties have a fair standing of respectability in their several communities. Still fox hunters have little regard for traps and trappers. We heard of one lately who, when out with his faithful hound, after taking the dog out of traps a couple of times, carefully examined the traps and finding no names upon them carried them to the top of a near-by high mountain just because there was more ascent (a scent) there. We write this carefully for we never attempt to perpetrate a pun without labeling it and sending along a diagram.

Charles Whitman saw four deer in his pasture a few days ago. He took his trusty rifle and sauntered in their direction but when he got there "the cupboard was bare" and so he sauntered home.

If you may believe some of our hunters there is wilder game in this section than deer. Bear and wild cats are talked of and two of them claim to have been in close enough proximity as it was getting a trifle dark to see the rifle sights any too plainly.

The honors on deer still belong to the Barker blood. On Thursday Barrett Ramsdell, a nephew of E. I. Barker, and cousin of L. H., shot a fine yearling doe not far from the place where the younger Barker got his. When they get doubled up in their game records some of the others hope for a chance also that they don't get twisted in the count.

We settled down for the night as before, but the wind began to blow and it seemed as though it would tear the trees out by the roots. The snow flew, the air was full of it. About 9 o'clock we decided no deer, as only a fool deer would be out in such a gale as that, so we took our lantern and started for camp.

Friday we started as before so as to get there and be quiet before the deer began to come out after the apples. They were a little more shy than Wednesday night. Quite early in the evening a buck came in the woods, something frightened him, he whistled four or five times to warn the others of danger, then we heard him run but he came again a little later, whistled seven times than ran, the last we ever heard of him.

About twelve or one o'clock we saw a deer. Mrs. Carlton fired, the deer ran, we were sure she hit him by the way he started off. We went to look for him but gave it up until daylight. When we found him, we found a fine spike-horn. We returned home happy. No trouble crossing the river, the rocks seemed to have lost their smoothness.

The Traveling Fur Buyer

In 3. parts—Part 1.
By F. L. Butler.

The traveling fur buyer like any other man of the road has his ups and downs, likewise he has his use and abuse, and sometimes the latter is more befitting him than the former, like all of us mortals he is not out for his general health but there are times when his dealings border on robbery, and speaking as a rule it seems to be the aim of these gentry to skin the unwary trapper. There are instances which I could speak of where the buyer deliberately beats the trapper out of one half the valuation of his furs; my own experience along these lines would figure up rather heavy. Not every traveling fur buyer comes under this heading, for like every other business—there are some honest ones to be found scattered along down the fur line.

One fall my brother and I had 40, skunk pelts, 25 muskrats, 4 raccoon, 6 opossum, 2 mink, and one weasel; these furs were all caught in November and December; they were not blue pelts. Along comes a traveling fur buyer. "Got any furs to sell," "yes come and look them over," Well he looked them over all right and turned every blamed one which is all right if you make a sale, if not you have got a job on hand and the old trappers know what this turning business means. During the operation the rat hides were badly torn, as also were a number of skunk skins, "well Mr. set your price on the lot," and he did, $12.25 I turned cold and shivered. Such figures would knock a man down and I politely told him so in very strong language, and I am sorry to say, in them days swear words with me were generally plenty. Well anyway I kept the furs, and shortly after sold them to a western dealer who likewise was after my skin, and he got it, for my return sheet read $6.50, less express, 65 cents; misery and woe, such luck would make a minister swear. Have any of you trappers ever had a like experience?

Another time we had a smaller bunch of furs which a traveling buyer offered us $6 for. We shipped them to a New York concern and received $14.50. Had the traveling buyer ought to make such a large profit? Perhaps these gentlemen of the road will think I am hitting at them pretty hard, but facts are always stranger than fiction to some people.

We have a number of local and domestic fur buyers who work on like principle; the travelers are not alone by any means. A very laughable incident once came under my notice.

A man by the name of L. W. Kendall, tried to sell a brown weasel skin for a mink skin, to one of our well known traveling buyers. The truth of it was, the man really supposed he had killed a mink and was very persistent in his effort to sell it as such, but he did sell the buyer two skunks which he had previously killed in his hen house at 10 cents each, which represented a gold mine to this very miserly (for such he was) weasel hunter.

I suppose this article will call down curses on my head, both smothered, outspoken and otherwise.

Whenever I take up the pen the critics all come out of their burrows to give an answering kick, to pick flaws, etc.

I have sold hundreds of dollars worth of furs in the past few years. Some I have sold to home dealers, some to traveling buyers and a good lot of it I shipped away to the various markets, with results like a pair of stairs.

The traveling buyer also takes a lick at Ginseng roots whenever the chance is good. For instance suppose the New York prices for well dried Ginseng is $7 or $7.50 per lb., as it has been late years, or perhaps even $8, our traveling buyer, likewise our home buyer, unite in offering $4.50 to $5 per pound and then grumble at the small profit as they term it. I can buy Ginseng roots and live at $.50 profit per pound, and in large lots of say 10 to 15 pounds, 25 cents profit is enough to live at or on, or under, over or any way you choose to have it.

In my next part you will hear something along different lines and it won't be crooked lines

Mountain View Notes

Many Hunters Are Registered Here En Route for Various Localities.

(Special to Maine Woods.)

Mt. View, Maine, Nov. 11, 1911.

The following merry party were guests of Mountain View one day last week: Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Gamble, A. J. Watson, of Salem, Mass., and Mr. and Mrs. D. G. Pratt, Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Seavey, of Melrose, Mass.

Purchard Tainter who has been running on the baggage car between Oquossoc and Lewiston has been transferred to the run from Lewiston to Bath. Mr. Tainter has been running there winters for sometime, and has always made Mountain View his home when in this region.

Walter J. Weld who has been on a vacation for the past six weeks, has resumed his station work at Oquossoc.

I. W. Mitchell has been papering and painting some of the halls and rooms at Mountain View House.

Having occasion to look back over the register a few days ago I ran across the names of four traveling men who had registered in a very unique way, by using the name of the article they sold in place of their middle name. The first one sold iron ware; the second Edgeworth tobacco; the third Square Deal tobacco; the fourth groceries for D. W. True of Portland and as their best brand is known as the Imperial brand, they registered this way: George Iron Stevens, Bill Edgeworth Stone, Harry Square Deal Brown, Jack Imperial Dillon.

Dr. C. F. Parker and Mr. T. S. Mason of North Windham arrived here Saturday night. They are on a hunting trip and will occupy Dr. Parker's Camp on Kennebago Stream.

A party of 12 or 14 arrived Saturday night bound for Brown's Island. They are guests of the Berlin Mills Company and will hunt in the Cupsuptic region.

John W. Taylor, State Steamboat Inspector in company with two friends from Bolton Mr. J. B. Barnes and Mr. A. F. Brewman left Mountain View, Saturday for a hunting trip in the Cupsuptic region. They are stopping at Billy Soul's, pleasant Island.

Obituary

Montford B. Hoar.

Montford B. Hoar was the only son of Mr. and Mrs. Ira D. Hoar and was born March 29, 1898.

His sudden death, which occurred Nov. 11, comes as a great blow to his parents. They supposed him to be at play with one of his schoolmates until word came that he was shot. The boys borrowed rifles and went rabbit hunting and as was reported last week, the accidental discharge of Montford's rifle severed an artery near his heart causing almost instant death. He was a boy full of fun, always ready for a good time and a general favorite among his playmates. He will be greatly missed in the home, and at school, where he beat the drum for marching, and where his voice was always heard in the singing exercises. Funeral services were held at the church Monday afternoon.

Mrs. Eunice V. Mayo

Mrs. Eunice V. Mayo, widow of the late J. B. Mayo, passed away at her home on lower Main street, Thursday evening, Nov. 16, aged 83 years and 23 days. She was with one exception the oldest person in town and until the last year has been able to do her own work and lots of work for others, making sofa pillows, quilts and comforters.

She has always been a devoted wife and mother, doing her part in caring for a family of ten children, five of whom survive her, Mrs. Lydia Mayo Carter, of Jay, Maine, Mr. I. C. Mayo, of Wilton, Maine, Mr. Nathan D. Mayo of Wakefield, Mass., Mr. Fred A. Mayo of Dexter, N. Y., and Mrs. Elizabeth Mayo Wilkins of Kingfield, all of whom were present at the funeral.

The deceased was a life long Universalist and a member of Grace Universalist church of Kingfield. Owing to the absence of the pastor, Rev. Lily F. Schaffer, Rev. L. W. Coombs of Augusta, conducted the burial services at her home, the large house being full of relatives and friends. The interment was on her family lot in the new River View cemetery. The floral decorations were many and appropriate.

Mrs. Fred E. Abbott

The community was made very sad by the sudden death of Mrs. Fred E. Abbott, Nov. 5, at their home on the Parlin place in Phillips. She was the oldest daughter of Captain Lewis and Nancy Brown, born on the old homestead in West Freeman. She was 43 years, two months and twenty five days old; just in middle life when she seemed so necessary to her family. She was married Oct. 19, 1839, to Fred E. Abbott, son of Daniel Abbott, late of Kingfield. To them was born four sons and four daughters, all living but one son to mourn her loss; he died in infancy.

She was a woman of high moral character, a very loyal, loving wife and mother, possessing a sweet christian spirit and kind and charitable to all; ever ready to do a kindness, and yet her life-interest was centered in her home, doing with a patient, loving hand everything in her power for the comfort and welfare of her family, leaving an example and sweet memories that must have an influence for good.

She leaves to mourn her loss a widowed mother, with whom she often shared her home and love; also four brothers, George W. Brown of Phillips, Martin Brown of Portland, Lewis Brown of Arlington Heights, Mass., Dr. Elma Brown of Stratton, and two sisters, Mrs. Leo and Mrs. Floyd Taylor of Stratton, and one half sister, Mrs. Carrie Taylor of Beattie, Ohio. Her father, two brothers and one half sister have gone on before, waiting for the reunion of the loved ones sometime, somewhere. To all of the sorrowing ones we extend our heartfelt sympathy and earnest prayers that God will comfort them in their lonely hours as only God can comfort. Funeral services were at her home, Rev. Melvin Hutchins speaking words of comfort and committing the sorrowing ones to a loving heavenly Father's care. The very many tears we saw shed outside of the family circle as well as the beautiful flowers given seemed to us a real tribute to the beautiful life she had lived among us.

A poem written in memory of Mrs. Abbott will be published next week.

Miss Bertha Myers who has been doing house work in Skowhegan has been at home for two weeks' vacation and returned Saturday, Nov. 18. Maurice Brackett of same place accompanied Miss Myers, going on to Dead River to visit his sister where he got a deer.

Mr. and Mrs. Purington, of Bethel are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Forst.

A BALD-HEADED WOMAN

Shorn of Her Crown of Beauty Loses in Love and Marriage

Hair is certainly most necessary to woman. Who could love and marry a bald-headed woman? What charms could one array to offset such a disfigurement?

A woman's goal is usually love and marriage. Her crowning glory is her hair. The loss of her hair mars her beauty, happiness, and success. Yet, right here in Phillips, there are hundreds of women who are neglecting or injuring their hair to such an extent that it is only a matter of time when it will be utterly ruined.

Many women destroy the beauty of their hair through thoughtlessness or ignorance of certain facts. They use curling irons over-heated, or to excess, which destroys the natural oil of the hair, causing it to split, break, and come out. They do not shampoo their hair often enough, or too often. They use soaps or preparations which contain ingredients positively harmful to the scalp and hair.

As a result of such treatment, dandruff is created, the hair loosens, loses color, falls out, and baldness commences, unless proper and prompt precautions are taken in time. Then again, microbes and certain diseases bring about unhealthy scalp and hair conditions.

Almost any woman may rid herself of dandruff and diseased scalp and hair if she will but use the right remedy. We have that remedy, and we will positively guarantee that it will either cure dandruff and baldness or it will not cost the user anything.

That's a pretty broad statement, but we will back it and prove it with our own money. We will return your money if you do not find that Rexall "93" Hair Tonic is an entirely satisfactory remedy that will promote hair growth and overcome scalp and hair troubles, that it will grow hair even on bald heads, unless all life in the hair roots has been extinguished, the follicles closed, and the scalp is glazed and shiny. It gets its name from the fact that it grew hair in 93 out of 100 cases, where it received a thoroughly hard, impartial, and practical test.

We want you to try Rexall "93" Hair Tonic at our risk. You surely cannot lose anything by doing so, while you have everything to gain. You had better think this over, and then come in and see us about this offer. You will be well repaid for your visit to our store. Remember, you can get Rexall Remedies in this community only at our store—The Rexall Store. W. A. D. Cragin.

GAME SHIPMENTS ON THE BANGOR & AROOSTOOK R. R.

The deer shipments from Bangor & Aroostook stations during October this year were 672. Last year the October figure was 1225, which is 603 more than this season. The October figures on moose this year are 38 while 56 came down for the corresponding month last season.

Various reasons are given to account for the fewer deer which are being killed this year. George M. Houghton, passenger traffic manager of the B. & A. says:

"In the first place the hunting conditions have been far from ideal much of the time thus far this season," said he. "The weather has been warm, which is always a drawback, and the woods have been noisy because of a lack of rain to wet down the leaves with which the ground is carpeted. It has been impossible to travel about in many localities without raising a row which would frighten off any game within earshot. The recent rains have helped matters wonderfully and I shall look to see more deer come down from now on.

"A second cause for the comparatively smaller deer shipments, is the fact that there are fewer hunters in the woods this year than usual. It is hard to give any definite reason for this fact although I am convinced it is true.

"I firmly believe that both deer

A FAIR OFFER

Your Money Back if You're not Satisfied

We pay for all the medicine used during the trial, if our remedy fails to completely relieve you of constipation. We take all the risk. You are not obligated to us in any way whatever, if you accept our offer. That's a mighty broad statement, but we mean every word of it. Could anything be more fair for you?

A most scientific, common-sense treatment is Rexall Orderlies, which are eaten like candy. Their active principle is a recent scientific discovery that is odorless, colorless, and tasteless; very pronounced, yet gentle and pleasant in action, and particularly agreeable in every way. They do not cause diarrhoea, nausea, flatulence, gripping, or any inconvenience whatever. Rexall Orderlies are particularly good for children, aged and delicate persons.

If you suffer from chronic or habitual constipation, or the associate or dependent chronic ailments, we urge you to try Rexall Orderlies at our risk. Remember, you can get them in Phillips only at our store. 12 tablets 10 cents; 36 tablets 25 cents; 80 tablets 50 cents. Sold only at our store—The Rexall Store. W. A. D. Cragin.

TRUNK LINE ROADS

Tentative System For Maine

(JOHN CLARK SCATES)

On everyone who travels extensively over the highways of Maine and seriously considers the road problem, is forced the conclusion that the State must materially change its road policy. A trunk line system must be adopted which will permit of the construction of continuous roads under trained supervision. Until this policy is adopted, Maine will make no appreciable improvements on her roads. A vast amount is annually expended by the State and municipalities but it is so scattered in small amounts over so large an area with little or no regard to a connecting system and the work as a whole is so indifferently done that the net results are hardly appreciable.

Almost at the inception of the movement for better roads in New Hampshire, the legislature wisely authorized the governor and council to lay out three trunk lines, commencing at the Massachusetts boundary, and running north and south the whole length of the State. The total length of which, including roads which the State wholly maintains and the streets through the cities and larger towns is 557 miles. At the beginning of 1910 one line was 86 per cent completed, another 67 per cent and the other 42 per cent.

During the past four years, New Hampshire, as a State, has expended approximately $1,000,000 for roads, including trunk lines. Our Legislature, during this same four years, has appropriated over $910,000 for roads and bridges and what is there to show for it?

If, during that time there had been constructed a good macadam and gravel State road from Kittery to Bangor it would have been a great benefit to the State, as well as a source of pride to its people. Our sister State, during these past four years has been constructing not only one, but three trunk lines. The average length of each is nearly the same as the distance from Kittery to Bangor.

The trunk lines have had this result in New Hampshire. When the towns through which the trunk lines run saw that the State really meant business, it stimulated them to make large appropriations to aid the work. To these trunk lines more than anything else is due the wonderful progress the Granite State has made in the last four years on a comparatively small amount of money furnished by the State, only a little in excess of that appropriated by our own State during the same period.

I have laid out a tentative system of trunk lines and also the approximate area of wild lands as well as the populated portion. Frequently the remark is made that Maine is a much larger State than New Hampshire but, if the wild lands as well as the large unpopulated territory that practically had no roads were deducted, as it should be, the disparity should not be so apparent.

In laying out this system two objects have been constantly in view. First and foremost to arrange them so that our citizens may receive a maximum profit at a minimum mileage. Second, the development of the summer business of the State. While the tourist, hunting and fishing business possesses untold possibilities and if properly encouraged will possibly be one of our greatest sources of wealth, still our agricultural and industrial interests are of first importance and must be considered. Most of the population, as well as the trend of travel is lengthwise of the State, consequently the trunk lines must follow the same general direction. This not only serves our business interests, but happily in most instances accommodates the tourists and sportsmen. Adopting the general nomenclature the words "primary" and "secondary" have been used applying to lines of first and second importance, although in many instances it is a distinction without a difference. It is not to be presumed that the location of these trunk lines are considered anywhere near perfect, or could not be greatly improved. Although in the western section it hardly seems possible to change them materially. In the eastern, northern and possibly some of the central sections, no doubt they might be materially improved without increasing the mileage.

THE PRIMARY ROADS, 1.

Kittery to Old Town.

The first and most important from Kittery to Old Town in the following sections:

1. From Kittery this road would lead through York Harbor Ogunquit, Wells, Kennebunk, Biddeford, Saco to Portland. The distance is 52 miles. This is the great gateway to the State from the West and South and is probably traveled more than any other road in the State, and on the whole it is the poorest. To one coming from Boston over the beautiful roads of Massachusetts and the 10 miles in New Hampshire, the contrast is most pronounced. To the visitor the first impression of our State is very unfavorable and to a citizen of this state most humiliating. It seems to the visitor he is really going into the wilderness. There is, however, about 10 miles of good road, but it is in such short sections that it is hardly noticeable.

2. From Portland the route continues through Falmouth Foreside, Yarmouth, Freeport to Brunswick—27 miles. There connection would be made for Bath and the Western coast towns.

3. From Brunswick through Topsham, Bowdoinham, Richmond, South Gardiner, Gardiner, Hallowell, Augusta, Vassalboro, Winslow to Waterville—53 miles. Connection would be made here with the secondary line to Skowhegan and Bingham.

4. From Waterville, through Fairfield, Benton, Clinton, Burnham, Pittsfield, Newport, Etna, Carmel, Bangor, Orono to Old Town—63 miles. Total length of this line from Kittery to Old Town, 195 miles. At Newport, connection would be made with the secondary line to Bangor.

WOMEN MAY AVOID OPERATIONS

By taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

The following letter from Mrs. Orville Rock will prove how unwise it is for women to submit to the dangers of a surgical operation when it may be avoided by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. She was four weeks in the hospital and came home suffering worse than before.

Here is her own statement.
Paw Paw, Mich.—“Two years ago I suffered very severely with a displacement. I could not be on my feet for a long time. My physician treated me for seven months without much relief and at last sent me to Ann Arbor for an operation. I was there four weeks and came home suffering worse than before. My mother advised me to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and I did. Today I am well and strong and do all my own housework. I owe my health to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and advise my friends who are afflicted with any female complaint to try it.”—Mrs. ORVILLE ROCK, R. R. No. 5, Paw Paw, Michigan.

If you are ill do not drag along until an operation is necessary, but at once take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

For thirty years it has been the standard remedy for women's ills, and has positively restored the health of thousands of women. Why don't you try it?

made with the secondary line to Dover and Moosehead lake. At Old Town the secondary line would start for Houlton. From the business and agricultural point of view this is the most important line in the State as it passes through a majority of the cities and larger towns and a vast agricultural territory is tributary to it.

PRIMARY ROADS, II.

Portland, Lewiston, Rangeley.

1. The second trunk line would begin at Portland through Falmouth, Cumberland, Gray, New Gloucester, Danville Junction to Auburn and Lewiston—34 miles. At Danville Junction it would connect with the primary line through Poland Springs to Naples.

2. From Auburn follow the Androscoggin River through East Auburn, Turner, Livermore to Livermore Falls—29 miles.

3. From Livermore Falls through Chisholm, Jay, No. Jay, Wilton, East Wilton, West Farmington, Farmin Strong, Avon to Phillips—39 miles; making the total length of this line 102 miles. This would be the line to the Rangeleys from the North, South and West. Prof. Files of Bowdoin College has suggested another route, in fact two, to reach the Rangeleys, one from Bethel and Andover and the other from Skowhegan, but it would seem that the route as here laid out would be of more benefit to the agricultural and business interests of the State.

PRIMARY ROADS, III.

To Bath and the Coast Towns.

Beginning on the Bangor trunk line at Brunswick through Bath, Woolwich, Wiscasset, Newcastle, Damariscotta, Waldoboro, Thomaston, Rockland, Rockport, to Camden—64 miles. The secondary line would continue on to Stockton Springs, Belfast and Bangor. Another secondary line would branch at Stockton Springs for Ellsworth.

PRIMARY ROADS, IV.

White Mountains to Portland and Poland Spring.

1. Beginning at the New Hampshire line between Conway and Fryeburg through Bridgton, Naples, Raymond, Windham, Westbrook to Portland—54 miles. As a gateway to the State, this line is secondary only to the Kittery line. While all of the travel by the way of Boston comes by way of Kittery, all of the White Mountain travel comes by the way of Fryeburg.

2. A branch is run through Casco, Poland, Poland Spring to Danville Junction, where it would connect with the Portland, Lewiston and Rangeley line—22 miles. The road on this line from Fryeburg to Bridgton and from Naples to Poland Spring is in wretched condition and the visitor coming into the State from the beautiful roads of Conway, Bartlett and Jackson in New Hampshire, receives the same unfavorable impressions of the State that he does by coming into the State by the way of Kittery.

PRIMARY ROADS, V.

Houlton to Caribou and Ft. Fairfield. This line would run from Houlton through Littleton, Monticello, Bridgewater, Baine, Mars Hill, Presque Isle to Caribou—54 miles. At Presque Isle a branch would run east to Fort Fairfield—10 miles. The total length of this line would be 64 miles. At Houlton it connects with the secondary line to Old Town and Bangor.

SECONDARY ROADS, I.

Waterville to Skowhegan, Bingham and Quebec.

The line would begin on the primary line at Waterville, run through Skowhegan, Solon to Bingham—41 miles. From Bingham is the direct route to Quebec by the way of Jackman. This line has been made a secondary one principally on account of the excellent condition of the road.

Mr. Roy L. Marston of Skowhegan says he sent an automobile, with seven passengers, from Waterville to Jackman—30 miles—in three hours and five minutes. Probably this could not be duplicated on any other 80 miles of road in Maine, with any degree of safety.

SECONDARY ROADS, II.

Newport to Moosehead.

Beginning at the Bangor Kittery primary line at Newport through Corinna, Dexter, Dover, Foxcroft, Guilford, Monson, Shirley to Greenville—62 miles. The roads on this route are among the best in the State.

SECONDARY ROADS, III.

Camden to Bangor.

Beginning at the terminus of the Bath-Rockland primary line at Camden, through Lincolnville, Northport, Belfast, Stockton Springs, Frankfort, Winterport, Hampden to Bangor—55 miles. At Stockton Springs a branch to run to Prospect Ferry, Bucksport, Orland and Ellsworth—24 miles.

SECONDARY ROADS, IV.

Old Town to Houlton.

This would connect the Bangor-Kittery and Aroostook primary line starting at Old Town through Costigan, Greenbush, Passadunkneag, Lincoln, Winn Munkus, Haynesville to Houlton—128 miles.

SECONDARY ROADS, V.

Gilead to Lewiston.

This line would start at Gilead through West Bethel, Bethel, Lockes Mills, Norway, Oxford, Mechanic Falls to Auburn—55 miles. It would come within about a mile of South Paris and within a few miles of Poland Spring. As a gateway, this route is second in importance only to those of Kittery and Fryeburg.

While the total length of the primary lines is 499 miles and the secondary 373, there should be deducted 10 to 15 per cent, owing to the distance through the titles and large towns and the small pieces of road that are already built.

Such a system of improved highways as above indicated would, like the rivers which in many instances they follow, serve the industrial and agricultural interests of the State, and at times wonderfully stimulate the very increasing summer tourist business. Short cross lines connecting one system with another could be constructed as occasion required.

For want of space nothing has been said about the economic value of such a system of roads, but it is admitted in the abstract by nearly everyone, that good roads intelligently and economically constructed would net handsome returns on the investment. For the same reason the financiering has been ignored but the people of Maine are not yet ready to acknowledge that the citizens of New Hampshire are able to accomplish what they cannot. All it requires is the Governor and Council and Highway Department to lead the way.

LITTLE BIT EARLY TO FISH.

Charles Everett Beane of Boston formerly of this city, was here Sunday a guest at the West End hotel. Today with a business associate in Boston they will go to the Moosehead lake region on a fishing and hunting trip.—Portland Press.

An exchange remarks that if the above gentlemen are good sportsmen they will postpone their fishing until a little later.

GEMS IN VERSE

Flushing, N. Y., Nov. 13, 1911.
To the Editor of Maine Woods:

Enclosed you will please find a rhyme about some Boston hunters in the wilds of New Brunswick, which was composed by me a few weeks ago, while stopping at the Lakeside Camps, owned and run by N. W. McNaughton of Schoodic, Maine.

The men whose names appear are well known sporting men from Boston.

Albee Humphrey is connected with the American House, East Boston. John Erwin is the proprietor of a fishery station at Dorchester, Mass., and was connected with the New York Baseball association in the latter part of the eighties; John Lynch is the proprietor of the Hobbs Boyle Works, East Boston and N. W. McNaughton is the proprietor of Lakeside Camps, Schoodic, Maine.

Three of them came to Schoodic and hunted four days and concluded that if they wanted to get a moose they would have to go to New Brunswick Canada. They started on the train on the days mentioned and met Mr. Lynch at Bangor as the rhyme runs.

I might state here that they received information that they could kill 45 partridges in one day and get all the big game they wished to take home with them.

They left New Brunswick on the date given having killed one moose and some small game on which they had to pay $29.00 express.

This poem was nearly all composed on facts and is expressly dedicated to them. I have been a subscriber to the Maine Woods for the past 14 years.

In a little camp in Schoodic,
On the Bangor and Aroostook line,
Three jolly Boston sports came down
To have a good old time.
They hunted through the woods four days;
They said it was no use.
“We better go to New Brunswick,
If we want to get a moose.”

They left Schoodic October the twentieth,
On the nine two P.M. train,
Bound for the wilds of New Brunswick
For caribou, moose and game.
They were joyful when they left us,
“Twas so” to say good bye;
But they were bound for New Brunswick,
The hunter's luck to try.

They met John Lynch in Bangor,
On the Maine Central train.
He was glad to see them, and joined in the game.
They gave to him the glad hand,
For very well they knew.
He never left old Boston
Without some mountain dew.

They journeyed along together
In the parlor car of the road,
Arrived on time in Treasy
Where they transferred their load.
They went twelve miles by wagon,
Over hill through swamp and wood,
Arrived at Little Lake McNaught
Where Albee's paradise stood.

The guide was glad to see them,
For very well he knew
They had a little of it left,
John Lynch's mountain dew.
John Erwin took him by the hand,
John Lynch and Albee shouted out,
McNaughton pulled the booze,
“Show us the forty moose.”

Walk in and make this camp your home
As long as you wish to stay;
I will have the forty moose brought Before another day.
Came up and whispered to Nelse,
Albee took view of the camp.
“We need a hammer, some nails
An axe, and a number of bars,
To strengthen our defense.”

Lynch and Erwin sat out on the stoop;
McNaughton found nails in the drawers;
Albee got an axe and went to cut bars;
The cook rushed the dinner along
Of coffee, potatoes, biscuit and deer.

Lynch unpacked the trunks,
And John Erwin brought in the beer.

Humphrey was out some little time,
Cutting the bars he could see.
We knew something had happened to him;

He might have to climb a tree
We all went out and shouted for him,
McNaughton commenced to stare.
John Erwin let loose, he thought 'twas a moose.

But it was Albee running away from a bear.

We rushed in to camp, brought out our guns,
Resolved we, nothing could scare.
We were ready to fight for Humphrey's life,
And we all had a shot at the bear.
McNaughton was the first to reach the dead beast;
John Erwin and John Lynch soon got there.
The cook ran up with some dew in the cup.

For we had slaughtered a twenty-pound bear

Poor Albee never stopped until he reached camp.
Ten feet at a step he would clear.
The fat little scamp, when we reached camp,
Had swallowed up the dinner and beer.

Our experience in camp was enough for one day
Had supper, went to bed, had some booze.

When breakfast was over we got ready and Albee let loose.
Next morning bright and early
We travelled through swamps, and woods of spruce,
We were out for bear, caribou and moose.

We travelled through the woods for three ours or more,
Sat down, lit a fire to have lunch.
We were there a short time when 'twas the thirty five moose in a bunch.

We heard a great roar,
McNaughton jumped up, got his gun and took aim
John Erwin and Lynch did the same.
When Mack dropped his Moose he shouted for booze
And Humphrey went to camp with the game.

Next morning at four, Erwin loaded his gun
Then sat outside, on the stoop.
When the guide came along Erwin said to him,
“Please show me the partridge coop.”

“Excuse me, sir,” the guide did reply,
“I do not quite understand,
Why do you want to see the partridge coop
When you have a loaded gun in your hand?”

They told us down in Schoodic,
That if we would please come up here,
We could kill forty-five partridge in one day.

Some caribou, moose and a deer.
The guide replied gently, go dream of it
Go to bed and take a little booze
If you want to kill forty-five partridges in a day
A bear, a deer and a moose.

We gathered around the fire side
The last night we were in camp
Erwin and Lynch talked of the Turkey a Italian war
Albee said to Mack, “Wouldn't they give you a pain in the back?”
We never nailed the windows to the bars.

The guide 'en got queer
Said you never brought bars here
When we saw you, you were running from a bear.

After two days we started home from camp
Albee had t ee black birds, Nelse had a cramp.
Erwin had three chickens he shot in a coop
Lynch had a coon he killed with a broom

One night when he was sitting on a stoop.

Next day we walked to the station, fifteen miles, with our load
When we got to Treasy we chartered a freight car,
And an engine of the road.
We were bound to Boston on our train

On October 20th when we crossed the Canada line.
The custom officer was there and stoppe our game.
He examined our baggage, and our freight

When he stepped into the car we were on our feet.
Said he “hand up the dough, for surely you must know There's a hundred dollars duty on that meat.”

McNaughton got wrathful, declared it was a shame
To charge one hundred dollars
On that e bunch of game.

Catching Game Bare Handed.

Otisfield, Me., Nov. 15, 1911.

To the Editor of Maine Woods:

There is an old gentleman of my acquaintance who remarks occasionally that he has caught more game in his bare hands than any man in the state.

As far as I know this statement is unchallenged in this vicinity although many have trapped to a larger extent than he.

Although not making a business of hunting or trapping he loved it and can tell many interesting events of his earlier days when game was plentiful and there were no fish and game laws. He must have been a powerful man in his prime, tall and spare, quick with muscles like steel. He could break the most contrary colt or catch the wildest steer of anyone around.

When a young man working with his brothers haying on the meadow he chanced to be prodding a muskrat's run-way by the brook, when, what should pop out its head but an otter and as quickly draw it back.

Calling to his brothers to come and drive the otter out, he stood by the hole and when Mr. Otter's head appeared he grabbed him by the neck and held on with a grip of iron and dragged the otter out.

It proved to be a young otter nearly three feet long but very powerful and spry. My friend succeeded in getting him home but not without receiving deep scratches from the unwilling captive.

Some one came around in a day or two and bought the otter to take to Boston for a museum but it never reached its destination, having been fed too many sheep "lights" which killed him.

Another time this man told me he was down by the same meadow when he thought he would visit a certain foxes' den which he knew of and see if any young ones were about as it was the season for them.

Creeping up so he could see, there were three little foxes playing and rolling like kittens near the old den.

It seemed most too bad to disturb them but he crept along and then made a dash and caught two of the little foxes just as they were scrambling into their den. He carried them home alive, the old fox following along in the woods snarling and growling.

Other stories this man can tell as interesting which there is not space to relate.

Besides the otter and foxes, he has caught in his hands weasles, mink, rabbit, partridge, gray squirrel, coon, flying squirrel.

This man still resides at Otisfield, his native town, and is aged 82. His name is Samuel G. Spurr.

Gertrude I. Barrows.

FROM CANOES.

Death in One Instance, a Close Call in Another.

Milo, Me., Nov. 13.—Leon Luce, aged about 30, was drowned and Lester Lewis, a young companion, barely escaped with his life when a canoe in which they were attempting to cross Schoodic Lake at Lakeview was capsized by a squall. Luce sank immediately. Lewis succeeded in grasping the overturned canoe and by paddling half a mile in the darkness managed to reach shore. He gave the alarm and boats were sent out, but no trace of Luce's body was found.

Bryant's Pond, Me., Nov. 13.—A short piece of board and heroic efforts on the part of Floyd E. Morgan, who heard the cries for help, probably saved the life of Charles Jacobs today when he was overturned in Bryant's Pond from an eight-foot canoe. The wind was blowing a gale and the waves were running high when Jacobs started out in pursuit of his boat, which had broken away from its moorings and was being blown across the pond. He was a third of a mile from shore when his canoe was capsized and he was thrown into the water. Morgan heard his cries and obtained a boat, but could find no oars. Using a short board he paddled out to where Jacobs had been struggling in the cold water 20 minutes and rescued him.

RANGELEY

Rangeley Nov. 14 1911

J. Sherman Hoar was in Lewiston Friday and Saturday, on business.

E. B. Herrick was in Boston last week.

Mrs. Hal Ellis and little son spent several days with her cousin Mrs. Jesse Ross at Rossacre Farm recently.

Word has been received from the parents of Howard Herrick that he was operated on last week and that it proved to be the worst operation he has ever had. Several pieces of bone were removed from his ribs and he suffers a great deal. He has the sympathy of many friends who hope for his complete recovery.

Linwood Ellis has gone to Hebron Academy and Donald Mathieson to Kents Hill to attend school.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Carlton of Phillips were in town to attend the funeral of Mrs. Carlton's brother Montford B. Hoar.

Frank Kempton moved his family into their new house on Main St. Saturday. Miss Della Wilbur is working for them.

The school at Rangeley Plt. closed last Friday after a successful term taught by Miss Eva Hinkley. In the evening there was a box supper at the home of George Haines and in spite of the inclemency of the weather the house was filled. Quite a sum was realized from the sale of boxes which will be used to purchase something for the school. Miss Hinkley is to teach the winter term after a vacation of two weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. Amos Ellis are in Lewiston this week.

The funeral services of Mrs. Esther Toothaker, widow of the late J. R. Toothaker, took place at the church Thursday afternoon November 9. Mrs. Toothaker suffered a shock eleven weeks ago and had been gradually failing since then. Five children are left all of whom were present. They are Ermon L. Lincoln A. Archie R. Rolla U. and Mrs. George R. Pillsbury.

Mrs. Wilfred Fourness of Pasadena, Cal., is the guest of her sister, Mrs. F. B. Colby.

Mrs. Grace Whorff of Phillips was in town last week.

Mrs. Henry Oliver and two children of Farmington have been visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. George H. Huntoon.

Mrs. Addie Richardson and Miss Prudence returned from their trip to Washington, D. C. last week. They report having had a delightful time.

Mrs. Eliza Oakes and daughter, Annie, are working at the Exchange Hotel in Farmington.

C. B. Harris has returned from Boston.

HEARING AT ELMWOOD.

Commissioners of Inland Fisheries and Game Plaine S. Viles and F. E. Mace, were in Phillips last Friday and held a hearing at The Elmwood. They have closed Sandy river between Letter E. line and Sandy river pond for a period of four years beginning Nov. 20.

COL. JUDKINS TO WINTER IN PORTLAND.

Col. C. A. Judkins manager of the Mt. Kinco House at Kinco, with his family, has gone to Portland to stay until the reopening of the house next spring. They have taken apartments at the Lafayette.

CONNECTICUT SUBSCRIBER SAYS 'MAINE WOODS IS WORTH SOMETHING.'

He secured a fine deer Saturday.

Mrs. C. V. Starbird entertained
Mrs. Ellen Kilkenny, Mrs. Achsa Kilkenny and Mrs. Olive Dodge at dinner last Thursday. A very pleasant day was spent.

Rev. W. P. Holman's subject for last Sunday morning was, "Dare to be a Daniel." In the evening it was, "The Safety of High Standard."
The attendance was good at all the services, 91 being present again in the Sunday school. Next Sunday there will be appropriate services for Thanksgiving.

The work in the corn factory finished last Friday night.

Hammond Richardson secured another fine deer one day last week.
Mr. Richardson is a very successful hunter.

er, Sherman Mitchell, and family for a few weeks. His friends are glad to know he is somewhat improved in health the past year.

Miss Alice Vaughan has returned home after several weeks' nursing at Phillips, Stratton and several other places.

Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Bates entertained a large party of friends Tuesday evening at Mr. Bates' hall. The evening was spent in playing flinch and other games. During the evening delicious refreshments were served. A delightful time was enjoyed by all present.

W. T. Hinds and son, Roland, of Phillips were callers in town one day last week. Mr. Hinds is trying to purchase a farm.

CATARRH FOR TWELVE YEARS

Offensive, Nauseating, Weakening Disease.

Sufferer Feared It Would Cling
to Him Through Life.

Cured by a Truly Wonderful Medicine.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa.—"I am very glad of this opportunity to recommend Hood's Sarsaparilla, as it is truly a wonderful medicine. It has entirely cured me of catarrh. I suffered from this disagreeable disease for more than a dozen years, and often felt that it would cling to me through life and hasten my death. I cannot tell how much I suffered, but any one who has catarrh knows how miserable it makes a person feel.

"I wasted a lot of money on what proved to be worthless remedies, and then happening to read an advertisement of Hood's Sarsaparilla, I concluded to try this medicine. I soon had confidence in it, because I could see that it was doing me good. I took six bottles, when I was entirely cured.
"I can and do recommend Hood's Sarsaparilla to all my friends, and especially for catarrh." James C.
Shimel, 1127 W. Thompson st.

Hood's Sarsaparilla is the medicine that has given perfect satisfaction to the millions of intelligent and prudent men and women who are really the bone and sinew of the country, but who "could never afford to be sick" if always obliged to get physicians' prescriptions or to have medicines specially put up for them.

Hood's Sarsaparilla is an agreeable, easily obtainable and comparatively inexpensive remedy for diseases and ailments of the blood, stomach, liver and kidneys, and low or run-down conditions of the system. It effects its wonderful cures, not simply because it contains sarsaparilla, but because it combines the utmost remedial values of more than twenty different ingredients. There is no real substitute.
Get Hood's Sarsaparilla today in usual liquid form or in chocolate tablets known as Sarsatabs.

CHILD'S DRESS.

This little frock has the yoke in two styles, one is square, extending all the way across the front and the other makes a shallow point in the center.
The skirts are plainly gathered and attached to the lower edge of the yoke.
Batiste, lawn and gingham are the materials usually employed in making these dresses.

The pattern (5547) is cut in sizes ½

Early Rising.

It is a foregone conclusion that society during the coming season will find itself up and doing at a much earlier hour than has been the case for many a long year. Early rising has not been much practiced of recent times, but where the English court leads others follow. The king's morning canter in the row is evidently to be made fashionable again, and royalty rides early. If society rides before breakfast it may issue invitations to that meal and thus establish, or rather, revive, another form of entertainment.—London Mail.

Industry

Industry, Nov. 13, 1911—Mrs. Elmira Pratt has gone to Madison to spend the winter with her son, Fred.

Mrs. Maud Kennedy spent last week with relatives in Fairfield. Mrs.
Gladys Tupper kept house for her.
The village schools closed last Friday for a two weeks' vacation.

About 30 members of Industry
Grange visited Crystal Lake grange Saturday Nov. 11 and furnished the program. Crystal Lake grange furnished a fine dinner for all.

Will Koch and Arthur Hawes returned from a three days' trip in the Dead River region last Thursday, each bringing a fine deer.

Will Watson, who has been trapping in Highland for a few weeks past, returned home last week, bringing two deer and a large amount of fur.

Rackliff and Taylor have been in this vicinity threshing.

Milton Hatch of Farmington has purchased a pair of nice white faced steer calves of B. H. Luce, also one heifer of C. E. Stewart.

Earl Oliver is visiting relatives in Norridgewock.

C. E. Stewart went to New Vineyard Sunday to stop a while with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. LeRoy Stewart.

"MAW" PENNELL ENTERTAINS

On Saturday evening, Nov. 17th, at Kingfield "Maw" Pennell, (the old lady who lived in a shoe of Halloween fame) was agreeably surprised to receive her many children, with their beaux. All were present with the exception of "Mehitable," who was unavoidably detained at home, she being the one who received the proposal Halloween night and is now happily married. "Maw" received many beautiful gifts, but seemed especially charmed with a certain juggler, presented by Janet.
Melissa, Sally, Philena, Joe and the others weren't jealous however, for "Maw" showed ample appreciation of their gifts as well. Refreshments were served and much enjoyed by all. One of the special features was the birthday cake, perched on top of which was "Maw's" (?) little white kid shoe filled with her children in miniature. The children were especially well (?) behaved, having as their chaperon Mrs. Frank Stanley. Having spent a delightful evening, they returned to their several boarding (?) places, thankful that "Maw" was born, and so happy that
"Paw" could be with them too and
"have their pictures took."

"There could be no better medicine than Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. My children were all sick with whooping cough. One of them was in bed, had a high fever and was coughing up blood.
Our doctor gave them Chamberlain's Cough Remedy and the first dose eased them, and three bottles cured them," says Mrs. R. A. Donaldson, of Lexington, Miss. For sale by all dealers.

Thursday, Nov. 30—Thanksgiving Day—8 A. M.—Special Thanksgiving service in the vestry.

At the Union church Sunday morning Rev. M. S. Hutchins preached upon the subject "The Search for Truth" The text was words from John 14:16, "I am the truth."

No fact of the universe is more firmly established than that of progress. It is seen not only in the physical creation but in things intellectual, ethical, moral and spiritual.

There are indeed times when there seems not to be progress.

The confirmed pessimist whose constitutional proclivities cause him to take a dark outlook will sigh for the good old days, and declare that the world is growing worse instead of better. But by the testimony of of the past through all the ages of history, by the testimony of undying hope in the human heart we know that surely there has been progress.

Truth has ever been the highway of progress, lest given the highway unless there be a motive power to help the race forward there is no progress. Truth furnishes that motive power also, because truth is life.
All creation, if articulate would speak of progress, would say that truth was its pathway.

There are many names to be found in history that are dear to us because they belong to those who have led the way out of darkness, who have found truth, and have done good. They are found in every department of life; but in none more than in that of religion.

Abraham, leaving his home at the voice of God and journeying obediently received the name "The Father of the Faithful."

Moses desired to see a way of deliverance for his oppressed people, and when he saw it the vision was too dazzling for him to look upon, yet he obediently walked in it and became the nation's deliverer. David yearned to know God, and he found him. All generations since his time have found blessed comfort in the truth he learned and told.

The prophets perceived that not rites and ceremonies, but an obedient heart was most desired by God.
It is told that a man having died under circumstances that made immediate burial imperative his body was placed in the cave where the prophet Elisha was buried. When it touched the bones of the prophet he at once received life. This is truly a parable teaching us that the truth that one makes known lives after him and verifies those who receive it.

Paul saw that God was for all nations, for foreigners as well as for Jews and preached every where that the power and salvation of Jesus was for all.

Martin Luther imposed upon his flesh self inflicted hardships in a very abandonment of degradation and defilement thinking thus to find favor with God, but upon his consciousness shone the flashlight of God's truth and he saw that the just shall live by faith.

Those who have sought truth have found it, and it has been a way of progress.

In every interest of life have there been those who have sought and found truth.

In the last analysis it will be found that those who work according to God's truth are those who help, whose names will be remembered.

It is a patent fact that the way of progress for the race is the way of truth, and the same is true of every individual.

We are all seeking truth. We may call it seeking happiness, looking for contentment, wishing for satisfaction. How shall we reach the things that we desire? Truth beckons on. It is the pathway, and it gives power to journey to our ideals.

How can the Man of Nazareth say of himself "I am the truth?" He is talking to troubled souls. "Let not your heart be troubled." There are many mansions in the Father's kingdom. There are many plans and many thoughts also. We forget sometimes. By the life he lived, full of helpfulness to all, by his teachings of God, and of hope, by his obedience to the Father, by his manifestation of the rule of love, he had the right to say "I am the truth," for in all things he showed forth
the thought of God, which is truth.
For us the way is to follow Jesus,
giving self in obedience and in love.

God's love has created and preserved us. It finds us and draws us towards himself. It makes us to find God and it puts love in the soul.

Let us press on to find God and to find truth. Though we stumble, rise and press on again, following him who said "I am the truth."

row, and for the beautiful flowers

LIGHT LADDER FOR ORCHARD

Can Be Made of White Pine and When Placed in Fork of Limb There Is No Danger of Slipping.

The illustration is of a safety ladder for the benefit of fruit growers. Take 1½x3-inch white pine clear of flaws for sides, and 1x3 for steps, as they are better to stand on than rounds; nail blocks for them to rest on, and to keep it from spreading put a small rod under every third step, or wire will do; double and twist it. Take a solid piece four feet long for the "snout;" bolt this with two ½-inch bolts, with wedges to make it solid.
This makes a much lighter and handier ladder than the old straight one.

Put the snout in the fork of a limb and there is no slipping or turning, nor knocking the fruit off. Use different lengths to suit the tree.

Don't Be Misled

Phillips Citizens Should Read and Heed This Advice.

Kidney trouble is dangerous and often fatal.

Don't experiment with something new and untried.

Use a tested and proven kidney remedy.

Begin with Doan's Kidney Pills.

Used in kidney troubles 75 years.

Doan's have cured thousands.

Be recommended here and everywhere.

A Phillips citizen's statement forms convincing proof.

It's local testimony—it can be investigated.

Mrs. Wallace A. Reed, Pleasant
St. Phillips, Me., says: "I am ready at all times to give Doan's Kidney Pills my highest endorsement. I was bothered a long time with kidney trouble and it was hard for me to make any sudden movement. I tried many remedies, but nothing did me much good until I procured Doan's Kidney Pills at Cragin's drug store, on a friend's advice. The contents of the second box rid me of my trouble, as if by magic."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo,
New York, sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

Don't waste your money buying strengthening plasters. Chamberlain's Liniment is cheaper and better. Dampen a piece of flannel with it and bind it over the affected parts and it will relieve the pain and soreness. For sale by all dealers.

RAISE SQUABS AS SIDE LINE

Industry Can Be Made Quite Profitable With Proper Management—Start With Pure Breed.

An advertisement lately for a bunch of common pigeons is a good illustration of the way some people get into the squab business the right way.
Any person who starts squab raising for profit with common pigeons leaves behind all chance for success. Imagine a breeder starting with a small-bodied bird as the common pigeon for market breeding, when the market to date is demanding a nine and ten-pound-to-the-dozen squab! Even when there is a scarcity of squabs the com-

Pair of Homers.

mon pigeon is a poor seller, and when the offerings increase there is no demand for such stock. It is just this kind of novice that is responsible for "knocking" the squab industry, and also the reason for some of the failures.

Many try to put the squab business in the same questionable class as the Belgian hare and others, but even that animal had to suffer for many things human beings were responsible for. It is a sure thing that the squab business as a side line to poultry will give good returns when business ideas and methods are applied. There are many who have been at it for years, and,
while not making a big cry over results, keep right at it year after year, saying but little, but surely getting good results. Americans are not in the habit of continuing any losing venture many years.

The Rayo Lamp

The Lamp That Saves The Eyes

Children naturally never think of possible strain on their eyesight when poring over a fascinating book.

It is up to you to see they do not ruin their young eyes these long evenings by reading under a poor light.

The Rayo Lamp is an insurance against eye troubles, alike for young and old.

The Rayo is a low-priced lamp, but it is constructed on the soundest scientific principles, and there is not a better lamp made at any price.

It is easy on the eye because its light is so soft and white and widely diffused. And a Rayo Lamp never flickers.

Easily lighted without removing shade or chimney; easy to clean and rewick. Solid brass throughout, with handsome nickel finish; also in many other styles and finishes.

Ask your dealer to show you his line of Rayo lamps; or write for descriptive circular to any agency of the

The National Grange

Conducted by Charles M. Gardner, Editor of the National Grange, Westfield, Mass.

FARMERS BECOMING AROUSED

Recent Significant Movement in Pennsylvania Closely Identified With the Grange Institution.

A significant movement in Pennsylvania showed the temper of the farmers in that state and is also closely identified with the Grange institution of the state as well. Realizing that distribution of farm products is forming a larger part of the cost to the consumer than the producer himself receives, these farmers have organized war on the middlemen and propose to devise some plan that shall put their products into the consumers' homes direct.

A delegation of these Pennsylvania farmers waited on Mayor Gaynor of New York city and invited his co-operation in their plans, while further denouncing the middleman and his exorbitant profits. Mayor Gaynor could of course promise no definite assistance, but the farmers went away still firm in the belief that their scheme for the elimination of the middleman is wholly practical and worth the trying.

This movement reflects the Grange position, long maintained, that exorbitant profits on distribution should not be tolerated and are a burden alike upon producer and consumer. The Grange attitude, however, does not go so far as to wipe out the middleman altogether, realizing some well-administered system of distribution as essential to the welfare of all concerned. It is a question, therefore, how far the Grange indorsement of the Pennsylvania movement will be forthcoming; although the principle involved is distinctly along Grange lines, if not pressed to excess.

This Pennsylvania undertaking is traceable largely to a recent address by B. F. Yoakum, the well-known railroad man, in which he declared that while the consumers of the United States pay $13,000,000,000 a year for the farm products they use, the farmer gets only $5,000,000,000, leaving it strikingly revealed that the American middleman was receiving even more than the producer. Farmers all over the country have been greatly aroused by Mr. Yoakum's figures and are giving the subject of co-operative selling more attention than they ever did before; even more than co-operative buying, which has long been one of the fundamental principles of the Grange movement.

In view of the fact that this farmers' uprising is likely to extend to other states and may involve the Grange as well, it is proper to state the exact Grange position, as relating to middlemen, in the language of the Declaration of Purposes, which constitutes the foundation of the order, as established nearly a half-century ago. It is this:

"We desire to bring producers and consumers, farmers and manufacturers into the most direct and friendly relations possible. Hence we must dispense with a surplus of middlemen, not that we are unfriendly to them, but we do not need them. Their surplus and their exactions diminish our profits. We wage no aggressive warfare against any other interests whatever. On the contrary all our acts and all our efforts, so far as business is concerned, are not only for the benefit of the producer and the consumer, but also for all other interests that tend to bring these two parties into speedy and economical contact. Hence we hold that transportation companies of every kind are necessary to our success, that their interests are intimately connected with our interests and that harmonious action is mutually advantageous, keeping in view the first sentence in our declaration of purposes of action that 'individual happiness depends upon general prosperity.' We desire only protection and the protection of every true interest of our land, by legitimate transactions. legitimate trade and legitimate profits."

Mrs. Gaddy—"There are some distinctions in life which are very puzzling to me." Professor Pundit—"Like what, for instance?" Mrs. Gaddy—"When you write everything bad and mean in a man's life in a book for everybody to read, it is biography, but when you just tell the same things to a few people on a front porch, it's gossip."—Baltimore American.

LOCAL NOTES

Mr. and Mrs. Frank A. Russell of Weld were in Phillips this week. Mr. Russell returned home and left Mrs. Russell to visit a few days with their son, J. W. Russell and wife. Their daughter, Miss Alice, has been nurse at the Maine General hospital in Portland for over a year.

We are glad to note the marked improvement in the condition of Harold Hoyt. He is now able to walk about the streets every day, and on a recent camping trip of a week, he gained two pounds.

Mr. and Mrs. L. M. Newman of Weld were in Phillips Tuesday, the guests of the former's sister, Mrs. Eva Toothaker. Mr. Newman owns a fine farm on Centre hill, which is noted for its beautiful scenery.

Mrs. Sumner E. Austin and little son Maynard, returned to their home in Bath Tuesday noon.

Mrs. Emma Shepard was the guest of Miss Mabel Austin in Farmington last week.

Hon. and Mrs. H. B. Austin and Miss Mabel Austin of Farmington, will spend Thanksgiving in Boston. Miss Ruth Austin who is a junior at Wheaton academy, Norton, Mass., will join them.

At the annual election of the officers of the Morris Law Club of Georgetown University Law school, Raymond S. Oakes of Auburn, was elected president. Mr. Oakes is the son of Hon. and Mrs. H. W. Oakes of Auburn. He was graduated from Edward Little High school in 1905 and from Bates in 1909. In both schools he was a leader in rank in his class and was also prominent in musical and athletic circles.

On Friday, November 24, a new grocery store will be opened in the old Toothaker store. See the advertisement in another column.

Mr. and Mrs. James W. Brackett of Greenwood cottage, Peaks Island, left today for California, where they will remain until spring. Mr. Brackett owned Greenwood Garden for many years, and is a well known resident of the island.—Portland Press.

Mr. and Mrs. F. L. Perry, who have run the restaurant on Main street for the past year, have gone to Bearce's camp, above Madrid, which they have taken. Mr. Perry doing the cooking. Mrs. Perry is visiting relatives in Madison for a few days.

Miss Mildred Reed is quite ill with pneumonia.

There will be a dance at the Grange hall Thanksgiving night.

W. L. Jones of Strong was in town Monday.

The King's Daughters met last Friday evening and the "children" furnished the entertainment for those who did not go in costume. A good time was enjoyed and refreshments of candy and pop corn balls were served. Mrs. E. B. Currier, Misses Blanche Kennis and Hazel Hoyt are committee on the Thanksgiving work.

BALKED AT COLD STEEL.

AN ENGLISH AUTHOR WROTE:

"No shade, no shine, no fruit, no flowers, no leaves—November!" Many Americans would add no freedom from catarrh, which is so aggravated during this month that it becomes constantly troublesome. There is abundant proof that catarrh is a constitutional disease. It is related to scrofula and consumption, being one of the wasting diseases. Hood's Sarsaparilla has shown that what is capable of eradicating scrofula, completely cure catarrh, and taken in time prevents consumption. We cannot see how any sufferer can put off taking this medicine, in view of the widely published record of its radical and permanent cures. It is undoubtedly America's Greatest Medicine for America's Greatest Disease—Catarrh.
