Joseph E. Ladd, one of Gardiner's best-known citizens, died at about 5 o'clock, Friday afternoon, at his home on Spring street, aged 82 years. The wife, one son, Edwin P., and one daughter, Mrs. Benjamin W. Chamberlain, of Gardiner, survive.

WINCHESTER

Rifle and Pistol Cartridges

In forty odd years of gun making the Winchester company has discovered many fine points about ammunition that could be learned in no other way. That is one reason why Winchester cartridges excel. Another is because they are made in a complete plant by a modern system of manufacture, under the supervision of experts. No matter what rifle or pistol you shoot, there is a Winchester cartridge made for it. For your own protection, don't simply ask for cartridges when you buy. Be specific and insist upon having Winchester make.

BLAKESLEE LAKE CAMPS.

Before deciding where to go hunting this fall, send for illustrated book and map of the Blakeslee Lake Camps. There is no other resort in Maine where you can find so many large bucks with the best of chances for a moose or bear, along with the best of table and accommodations. 10,000 acres of new country to be opened up this fall. It has never been hunted since the Indians left 50 years ago. Come and get the cream of it.

Mr. Ladd was born in Phillips, Aug. 16, 1829, and at the age of 21 started out to earn his living. He served his apprenticeship as a millwright in Lewiston, and helped to construct the first mill in that now flourishing manufacturing city, which was then but a comparatively small settlement. The plant of the Augusta Lumber Company was largely constructed by Mr. Ladd, and also many other mills in Maine and throughout the Provinces and portions of New York.

Mr. Ladd had been active in public life and enjoyed the distinction of being the only man who ever defeated a Republican candidate for mayor of Gardiner. He was twice elected mayor of the city, once in 1881 as a Citizen's candidate, and again 1886, when he was nominated by the Knights of Labor.

In addition to being twice mayor of the city he served three years in the common council, four years on the board of aldermen, on the boards of overseers of the poor, and assessors, and in 1886 was a Democratic candidate for Congress. In public as well as in his own business life he was a hard and conscientious worker and brought about many improvements.

Mr. Ladd was one of the trustees of the Congregational church and one of the oldest Masons in the city, having held all the offices in the local lodges.

Farewell Reception at the St. Marie Hospital

We clip the following from the Catholic Opinion of November 25.

The Wallace family is well known throughout the Rangeley region and they have many friends in that section.

In recognition of the many favors extended the Girls' Orphanage during her eight weeks' stay at the St. Marie General Hospital, the children of the orphanage and the sisters tendered a farewell reception to little Janet, the eight year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter T. Wallace of South Orange, N. J., on Wednesday afternoon of last week.

The reception, which was held in the children's hall, opened about three o'clock, with a short program containing an address of welcome and several musical numbers. Immediately after, the party retired to the large dining room where ices, cake, confections and other good things were enjoyed by all. Little Miss Janet was delighted with the whole affair and in leaving the kind sisters and the happy little children, she takes with her many pleasant memories.

On the following afternoon she made her departure with her mother and the private nurse, Miss Maynard, for New Jersey. It will be recalled that early in September the little girl and Mrs. Edward M. Jefferys, the wife of a well known Philadelphia clergyman, were brought to the hospital from the Rangeley region by special train and were both in a most critical condition for some time after their arrival. Thanks to the good care which they received at the hospital, both have entirely recovered, Mrs. Jefferys having returned to her home in Philadelphia several days previous to the departure of Miss Janet. The sisters at the hospital are most appreciative of the generosity of both parties who made several useful donations to the institution, and to Miss Janet in particular, for the splendid set of twelve writing tables given by her parents.

DOES NOT LOOK LIKE DECREASE UP THIS WAY

For eight days ending Nov. 22 the Sandy River & Rangeley Lakes railroad carried 163 deer and 2 bears, which is a record for any similar period of time.

There are rumors of a great decrease of game in Maine but from actual figures the same cannot apply to this section.

REPEATING RIFLE

The only gun that fills the demand for a trombone ("pump") action repeater in .25-20 and 32-20 caliber.

Shoots high velocity smokeless cartridges, also black and low pressure smokeless. Powerful enough for deer, safe to use in settled districts, excellent for target work, for foxes, geese, woodchucks, etc.

Its exclusive features: the quick, smooth working "pump" action; the wear-resisting Special Smokeless Steel barrel; the modern solid, int and side ejector for rapid, accurate firing, increased safety and convenience. It has take-down construction and Loony Head from eight to thirty extra on other rifles of these calibers.

Our 136 page catalog describes the full Marlin line. Sent for three stamps postage. Write for it.

HUNTING NOTES

Last week Mark Day, was a successful deer hunter not far from home. He went out on the Davis farm on the West Gardiner road, just over the Hallowell line and brought down a fine buck weighing about 200 pounds. Several deer have been seen in that vicinity and around Cobbosseecontee during the past year.

There were 53 deer brought into the Union Station at Portland from the Maine woods on trains from the eastern part of the State Wednesday evening.

C. B. Doten had two bucks; George R. Stewart, F. W. Rankin, also of Portland one each; L. M. Clay of South Windham, two; B. F. Preble, H. B. Ellis, G. B. Trefethen, York Harbor, one each.

William H. Hatch of Cornish has good reports thus far from his sporting camps on the Old Morris Farm back of Moosehead Lake. Mr. Hatch said that the season had been a remarkably fruitful one for his sportsmen as the woods between Chesunook and Caribou Lakes seemed to be filled with deer. At these camps this fall three large bull moose have been shot and this is a good record so far. There will doubtless be more moose taken there after the heavy snow falls.

WHAT SHIPPERS WANT.

The fur shipper of today is very differently situated from what he was a few years ago. In those days he had a limited number of dealers to whom he could sell his furs, and as he knew little or nothing about what was going on in the fur markets, he was forced to take what he could get for his catch. Today things are very different. He can obtain reliable information at nominal cost; price lists are gladly furnished, without charge, by dealers and others who solicit his shipments. By getting his name on the dealers' mailing lists the shipper will instantly be informed of changes in market prices, and by comparing prices, and figuring up his shipment according to furs it is composed of, can decide which dealer is likely to pay the most for his goods.

Furthermore, there are plenty of reliable houses soliciting shipments of raw furs, so that the shipper is not compelled to sell to houses which promise much and pay little.

CARRY POND CAMPS.

Special Correspondence

Carry Pond, Me., Nov. 24, 1911.
The hunting at Carry Pond has been first-class the past two weeks. Those securing fine deer are G. W. Boyer of New Haven, two eight point bucks; Henry Holding, Chas. Edwards and A. C. Moeus of New York, two bucks each, two spike horns, two six points and two eight points. John Merryfield of Worcester, Mass., is still in Camp and has one large eight point buck. A. H. Burgess and G. W. Taylor of New York, have been in camp two weeks just for vacation and rest. Burns Brothers of Pittsfield, Me., secured two bucks, eight and ten pointers.

The Traveling Fur Buyer

In 3. parts—Part 2.
By F. L. Butler.

Already one fur buyer has been throwing out such talk as "furs won't be worth much this season!" This before the last raise in prices; since then he is rather still; this I am saying of our own home traveler, as the boys call him. I know one of these traveling gents who has 18 live skunks. He says he is going to keep them till the furs get better; he should have said until the price gets better.

I suppose you old timers, as well as the younger ones, will think I am overdoing this thing, but I will try and smooth the way as much as possible and give time to heal all wounded toes, feelings, etc.

It makes me think of the time that I laid a wager with one of our home buyers, that we would bunch together 20 skins in two separate lots, each lot of equal kinds and values, one lot to be shipped away and the other to be sold to our traveling buyers. I put up the price of 20 skins on the one we shipped away, that we would receive the most from that source and he bet on the traveler. Well in due time we got returns from New York, something like $38.50 for 20 skins and the traveling buyer paid, for the same amount of skins of equal grades, sizes, kinds, etc., $12.25. Which of us stood on solid ground, who paid the bet and who didn't, which was the most profitable way of disposing of our skins, the ones we carried and the ones we caught.

Another time I sold a lot of furs to a traveling buyer and received within $2 of New York prices on the lot. I always give them their due when they deserve it. Anytime when I can sell furs at home and get that near to actual values away they will go.

One time I had a medium mink which I had caught in the month of march; a traveling buyer offered me $1.95 for the skin. I refused his figures and sent it away; my returns read like this, one small pale mink 90 cents. The traveling fur buyer is not the only man who wants our skins, but he is a fair sample, when one is gone to his reward another takes his place, with better intentions, for greater profits.

A man in any kind of business must needs make a fair profit on the goods he handles or go under, but very few—if any of us—are willing to handle goods to the halves, unless we are partners. I have bought a good many dollars, worth of furs and I always was able to live at 10 to 15 cents profit per skin, this on the more valuable ones, while on muskrat 3 or 4 cents was the limit; at days a buyer thinks he can't live unless he makes 75 to 100 per cent profit and sometimes $1.50 or more.

One traveling buyer that I know of quit dealing in horse hides when he couldn't make his $1.50 per hide profit. A home buyer is now handling them hereabouts for 50 cents per hide and he lives. The man who catches the furs and hides has to pay too many hotel bills, car fares, livery bills, etc., for his own personal good. So many instances have come to my notice that I feel it my duty to at least quote a few of the more important ones, it may not be of any special interest or benefit to some, but maybe it will find a place in the hearts and minds of the more knowing ones, who want to live to learn and learn to live. If I do say it I carry around a very tough old hide, and I am not willing to sell it at halves either, but there is a fine lot of furs up in the barn loft that I expect to sell at the halves, my brother gets the other half. We always divide even, without dispute or useless argument. I wish all trappers and dealers could and would do likewise; we will hope there is a time coming when better feelings will exist, for surely we want no worse.

The next and last part of this series will be still different, providing the editor will allow me space in Maine Woods. The trapping department in Maine Woods is best of all.

PRIVATE CONTRIBUTION.

Proposed by Rickers to Improve Piece Of Road in Casco.

Hiram Ricker & Sons, the Poland Springs hotel proprietors, have proposed to the State highway department the making of a private contribution to assist in the putting in first class condition a piece of road in the town of Casco, which is on the direct road to the White Mountains via the Poland Springs House, and are desirous of having the State also take some action in regard to improvements upon this piece of road.

State Highway Commissioner Hardison will go to Poland Springs for the purpose of conferring with the Rickers in regard to the matter and ascertaining whether it will be advisable for the State to expend any money upon this piece of road, and if so in what amount.

BEAR WALKS STRINGER

Tool Box, Novel Place to Keep Fawn Deer In.

Joe Afraid She Bear Come Back and "Killer Me Some More."

The latter part of July 1905 found me with the advance crew of John Sprague, or better known as John Spruce, on Sunday River, the outlet of a small pond near the base of Goose Eye Mountain, entering the Androscoggin River at Bethel, Maine.

There were fourteen of us in the crew the cook, cookee, boss and eleven laborers with two two-horse teams. I was driving one team and my chum the other.

We were getting things in readiness for a winter's operation in as nice a piece of timberland as is often seen, practically untouched by axe or saw. It was also teeming ground growing knee high with swale-grass, making an excellent feed ing ground for them. And it seems a shame for man to come upon haunts of this kind and drive out the monarchs who have held sway for all the ages.

Since the tote-road was cut through it is many a fine pair of antlers and tender venison steaks have been taken off from that same glade as man's reward for a day's hunting, until to-day it is hard work to find a deer in that part of the country unless one gets away back in the cutting of that first winter's work.

The men had gone some distance

HIS SKUNKSHIP OUT FOR A RAMBLE

with wild game.

The deer would stand and watch us until we were almost upon them, then show us their "flag" and go bounding off through the forest with that graceful loop which is bound to hold the eye no matter how often one sees them.

We were living in a tent until a road could be cut through to the spot which Mr. Sprague had located to erect his set of camps.

We had got about half through to this place, when on coming to a turn in the river and finding that there was no other way but to build two bridges, the men were set to work cutting stringers and corduroy while the teams were put to twitching them to the bank.

After completing the first bridge and coming to where the second was to be built we found that it was a fording place for the deer; and while we were at work many a fine deer would come bounding down from the hillside to the edge of the small opening that ran back about twenty-five rods from the opposite bank, which was a marshy piece of back from the river looking for bridge timber and as I came out into the clearing for a chain to replace the one I had just broken I saw a doe with her fawn coming toward the ford. I had on moccasins and was on the windward side of her thus enabling me to get quite near her before she saw me. But when she did she went bounding off and she must have given the young fawn quite an airing already that morning for he was quite unable to keep the pace she set for him and running up to him I caught him up in my arms and carried him to a big tool-box used to keep the shovels, axes and other tools in during the rainy weather. I dropped him in partly closing the cover. There the poor little fellow was glad to rest until dinner time when I took him to camp. That night my chum and I built a pen for him and as there were two cows with the outfit we managed to rob the crew of enough milk to bring him up, for he soon made friends with the cook who gave him vegetable parings and choice bits from the table.

Safe Treatment for Headache.

The rational treatment for headache is to get at the cause, if possible, and remove it. Headache is only a symptom of trouble somewhere in the system, and dosing with tablets or powders containing acetanilid or other coal-tar derivatives which stop the pain temporarily but weaken the heart, is at once unsafe and unwise. The headache may come from your eyes, then a good oculist can help you at once with proper eyeglasses; but if it comes with furred tongue, loss of appetite, nausea, and constipation, it is usually the result of disordered digestion, or torpid liver, and one or two doses of L. F. Atwood's Medicine will speedily help you by carrying off impurities and restoring the clogged digestive organs to their normal activity. In using this old reliable remedy, you take no chances of weakening the heart's action.

It has a record of sixty years as a safe headache remedy. The "L. F." Medicine Co., Portland, Maine.

Gentlemen:

Enclosed please find check for $1.00. I made a mistake last year going to Cape Cod instead of to Maine, but never again. The Rangeley Lakes for me next year especially, Lake Umbagog where I have spent several months. I often saw "Fly Rod" there and I assure you she was always welcome.

My best wishes for the success of your very attractive paper.

NEWTON NEWKIRK AND PARTY SECURE DEER.

Mr. Newton Newkirk of the Boston Post took dinner at Hilton &amp; Mahoney's Wednesday on a return trip from the Dead River region. Mr. Newkirk, in company with L. Dana Chapman, and Mr. Norton Boston, and Oscar Morton, of New York, have been enjoying a ten days' trip hunting, and stopped at A. L. Savage's, formerly known as Greene's Farm. They secured their quota of deer.

The others in the party returned home a few days before Mr. Newkirk, with his two trophies. We hope that he will enjoy the results of his skill with the rifle as much as do the readers of the Boston Post his skill with the pen, as he is the editor of that entertaining column, "All Sorts" and the Bingville Bugle page in the Sunday edition.

J. F. Parker, 2021 North 10th St., Port Smith, Ark., says that he had taken many kinds of kidney medicine, but did not get better until he took Foley's Kidney Pills. # LOCAL NOTES

The Ladies' Social Union will have their chicken supper at Wilbur hall, Tuesday evening, Dec. 5, instead of Dec. 6, as was given last week.

Miss Ethel Mae Brackley of Freeman who has been teaching in Bemis for the past three months, was the guest of Miss Carroll at H. H. Field's this week on her way home to pass her vacation.

Miss C. T. Crosby was the guest of her uncle, Mr. Elias Porter, Sunday.

Look for the advertisement of the C. H. McKenzie Trading company next week. It will be of interest to readers of Maine Woods.

Mrs. Ella G. Dow has been in Skowhegan for two weeks, the guest of her son, Lewis Dow.

Hon. J. S. Maxcy of Gardiner was in town Thursday.

Mrs. Charles F. Chandler visited in Gardiner last week.

There was a moving time on Bridge street last Thursday when Leonard Kinney moved from his late residence to the Warren Hinds farm on the Mile Square, and Frank Cole moved into the Kinney house he has purchased.

A. B. Grover fell from a staging about five weeks ago, breaking his left arm. Is improving and he is able to use his hand a little.

At dinner Sunday, November 26, Mr. and Mrs. Cony Hoyt entertained the following: Mr. and Mrs. M. Sewall Kelley, Miss Rosie Kelley, Mrs. W. J. Hayden.

Mrs. W. J. Hayden returned to Lewiston, Wednesday, after spending several weeks with her daughter, Mrs. M. S. Kelley. She was accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Kelley and Miss Rosie Kelley to spend Thanksgiving with Mrs. C. M. Howard.

Maine Woods has severed its connection with Lester G. Taft, who has been employed in this office for the past few weeks, and he returned to his home in Uxbridge, Mass. this week.

Miss Augusta Hunter of Farmington is employed in this office as compositor.

The photograph we have published of Mrs. G. B. Dennison and Mrs. J. W. Carlton with their two deer, was taken by E. O. Spaulding, our local artist. He is busy with his camera these days and is getting some fine views.

J. Scott Brackett of Hebron academy is at home until Monday.

Mrs. J. W. Brackett, Miss Miriam Brackett and J. Scott Brackett took dinner with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. M. W. Bean, Thursday.

The King's Daughters have remembered Mrs. Lester Bean with some beautiful pinks, for which she is very appreciative and wishes to thank them through the columns of Maine Woods.

Mr. Ralph B. Harnden of Auburn, formerly of Phillips, who got his hand caught in a mangle at the High street laundry, Auburn, four weeks ago, is now improving and he will be able to attend to his duties as foreman at the laundry before long.

Mr. and Mrs. H. W. True served their Thanksgiving dinner last Sunday, as their daughter and husband, Hon. and Mrs. H. B. Austin, were to be in Boston for the week. They also entertained in addition, Miss Mabel Austin of Farmington and Mrs. True's sister, Mrs. Jennie Dutton and son Mason.

The Ladies' Social Union fair will be held at Everett hall Tuesday afternoon and evening, Dec. 7. A chicken supper will be served from 6 to 8 o'clock in Wilbur hall.

LOOK FOR HATCHERY ARTICLE NEXT WEEK.

Next week we expect to publish an article on the t quosoc hatchery, which we trust will be of interest to all readers of Maine Woods. It will give a little outline of some of the work accomplished there the past year.

COW MOOSE KILLED

The commissioners of inland fisheries and game have received report of the killing of a cow moose in the town of Friendship.

Warden Hodgkins of Damariscotta, who reported the incident, stated that he had the man in custody.

NOTICE

We wish to secure numerous photographs and articles relating to hunting, fishing, trapping, camping and outing, also short stories on the same lines. Send us in some.

GOOD BUNCH OF GAME

An Every Day Occurrence Up In This Section.

Big Loads of Game Arrive at Carrabassett From the Lower Dead River.

Game shipments over the line of the Sandy River and Rangeley Lakes railroad for the past week or ten days have been the heaviest ever known. For the nine days ending with the date of this issue, Nov. 23, this line has taken out 187 deer and four bears. All this game has been killed since the fall of snow Nov. 15. Monday following this snow fall one train of the Sandy River railroad handled 43 deer and two bears.

The cut shown above was taken at Strong Station Nov. 9, before the snow came and large shipments commenced.

Early in the season game shipments all over the state seemed rather light and fears were entertained in many quarters that our large game was growing scarce. This, however, does not seem to be the case, as reports received since the first snowfall indicate that at least in Franklin County deer are as plentiful as ever. One day this week there arrived at Carrabassett station from the lower Dead River region one double horse load of game consisting of twenty deer, seventeen of which were large bucks. One party of six hunters from West Carry Pond had twelve

There are eleven deer in this bunch. The names of the contented hunters in the background are as follows: Joseph Brown of Boston, with one buck; Dr. R. L. Davis of Boston, one doe; J. W. Spinney, Boston, one doe; H. R. Grant, Boston, two bucks; W. H. Kuhn, Boston, one buck, one doe; M. F. Rolli, Boston, two does.

The picture from which this cut was made was taken by our local artist Spaulding, who is now in the Dead River region taking pictures of hunting scenes, which we hope to reproduce in our future issues.

bucks and were thoroughly convinced that there was plenty of game in this territory.

We are sorry not to be able to give all the names of those who appear in the group picture. The gentleman standing at the right is F. N. Beal, general passenger agent of the Sandy River and Rangeley Lakes railroad, and the two at the left are Baggage Master E. V. Tufts and Conductor L. A. Thomas, who are employed on the Kingfield branch.

GOOD SPECIMEN OF COW MOOSE.

THE SEX UNDETERMINED.

Gardiner Man Has Gone to Augusta to Take Case to Commissioners.

N. L. Landrick of Gardiner came down from Lincoln on the noon train Tuesday with the hindquarters and hide of a moose which was held up by the wardens on duty at the Union station as no head accompanied the meat and there was no method of determining the sex. Landrick protested against the meat being seized, but Wardens Stewart and Bowden explained that they could not do anything else under the law. Landrick was allowed to continue his journey west on the same train and has gone to Augusta, where he will plead his case with the fish and game department at the State House. He will endeavor to recover the meat if possible.

Reports from the vicinity of Wytopitlock indicate that there is a large amount of game there this season. A party composed of Charles D. Snow of Bangor, Orlando Ash of Bar Harbor and A. K. and E. C. McBride of Northeast Harbor came down from there Tuesday afternoon, bringing five deer with them. The last named brought two while each of the others shot one. Some of the deer Tuesday afternoon were among the most handsome seen here this season.

Salem.

Archie Childs has gone to Boston to work.

Joseph Royal has returned to Boston. Ed. Berry and family have returned home.

Rev. Gilbert Laite of Boston is visiting his brother.

Rev. F. L. Stevens, presiding elder, was here this week.

Clarence Tash, who has been in California with his parents has returned home.

Rev. W. W. Laite and family have moved into the new parsonage.

Quite a number of carloads of Christmas trees have been cut, and shipped from this place.

The village school closed Friday, giving an entertainment in the evening which was very good, reflecting credit on both scholars and teachers, Mrs. Tash and Miss Hayford.

New Vineyard

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Smith and son Harry visited in Boston last week.

Mr. and Mrs. John Daggett and daughter Muriel of Farmington visited her brother, A. O. Greenwood over Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. I. S. Wilcox visited Mr. and Mrs. Timothy Sweet last Thursday.

Mrs. Belle Herin of Boston is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. B. W. Pratt.

Mr. and Mrs. George Tash who went to California last spring have returned home, and say that Maine is good enough for them.

Mr. Joe La Roe has moved his portable mill to Canton.

Our mail carrier, Mr. Burns is having his vacation.

Winship District.

School in this district is closed for Thanksgiving week. The teacher, Mrs. Belle P. Adams, is spending the week with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Phillips at their home in Avon.

Deacon and Mrs. Morrell Wing spent Sunday with their son, C. A. Wing and family.

Miss Irene Wing is visiting her grandparents, Deacon and Mrs. Morrell Wing.

Charles Hutchins has moved his family onto the Charles Fairbanks farm, which he purchased a few years ago. Extensive lumbering operations will be carried on there this winter. It seems good to have neighbors on the Fairbanks place once more.

Mrs. Truman Fairbanks has called on several of the neighbors recently. All are glad to know that she is able to ride out once more.

Mrs. C. A. Wing is on the sick list, suffering from inflammation in the right side. Mrs. Weston Parker is caring for her.

District No. 5.

Nathan Berdy was at W. F. Brackett's, Sunday.

Earl and Manette Harnden were guests of their sister, Mrs. Everett Hewey, over Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Howard and little son Paul, visited with Mr. and Mrs. L. B. Field and family, Sunday.

The Ladies' Circle will meet again in two weeks with Mrs. F. H. Calden.

C. L. Hewey, accompanied by his daughter, Mrs. G. W. Hewey, visited in the family of E. L. Hewey, Friday.

C. H. McKenney is kept very busy these days. He dressed six or eight good "porkers" last week, besides attending to his blacksmith business.

Mr. and Mrs. James Jodrey entertained Mrs. Hoyt and Mrs. Sands of Wilton a few days last week. B. H. Barton of New York was also their guest while in town.

Mrs. Buzzell Gallant and little daughters started for Montreal, Canada, last Wednesday where they will spend the winter. Mr. Gallant will stay here and work in the woods.

Bill Johnson went to Avon last Thursday where he will work in the woods.

Mrs. Bert Perry and children are visiting her mother, Mrs. Jane Davidson.

Mrs. A. D. Brackley of Norridgewock is the guest of her brother, W. P. Watson, for a week.

Mrs. F. Crossman and her father, and mother, Mr. and Mrs. Hall, of Cambridge, Mass., were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Winter and Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Winter last week.

Frank Alward, while skating Tuesday broke through under the bridge and saved himself with difficulty, from going under the ice.

A Mother's meeting was held at Mrs. George Winter's Wednesday afternoon. Refreshments were served.

The remains of Mrs. Mary Ann Dolbier of Farmington were brought here Wednesday for burial.

Railway Supt. F. A. Lawton was in town Friday looking after various lumber shipments.

The engine of Soule's dismantled mill, at Mt. Abram, was hauled through town last week, to North Anson where it will be added to the plant of the Carrabasset Stock farms, owned by the Baileys.

Sim Vance is nursing a bad ankle, the result of a horse stepping on him.

Walter Pennell is at home from Bates and Emmons Tufts from Bowdoin for the Thanksgiving recess.

Roland Earle Tufts and Eunice Maria Simmons were married Saturday evening, Nov. 25, at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Simmons, Justice of the Peace, O. C. Dolbier performing the ceremony in the presence of the immediate family.

J. B. Carville, one of the prominent citizens of Freeman, was stricken with heart failure Saturday noon on the way to the barn and died instantly. He has long been prominent in town affairs. An obituary notice will be given next week. His age was 74 years and four months.

Announcement is made of the marriage of Harry Tufts and Miss Amy Batchelder, both formerly of this town. They will come on from Newton, Mass., to spend Thanksgiving with their folks.

Alhambra Lodge, K. of P., is receiving many new members and degree work is the order of every meeting.

Hiram Crocker is visiting his daughter, Mrs. John Parvow.

Mr. and Mrs. C. O. Wilkins were given a pleasant surprise by their daughter, Dorris, Saturday evening, on the occasion of the 29th anniversary of their wedding. Upon her invitation there were present Mr. and Mrs. Small, Mrs. Voter, Mr. and Mrs. Marshall Thompson, Mrs. J. N. Parker, Mr. and Mrs. O. C. Dolbier, Mr. and Mrs. B. T. Stanley, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Stanley.

Twenty cans of fingerling trout, in fine condition, were received here last week, consigned to O. C. Dolbier, who met them at Strong. There were about 5,000 of the fish, for Tufts and Grindstone ponds.

Mr. and Mrs. Mel Cushman of Phillips are with their daughter, Mrs. O. B. Hutchins.

Sawyer's pictures of Kingfield views are on sale by W. P. Watson.

Misses Gladys Pennell and Miriam Schafer entertained the teachers and scholars of the Kingfield High school at the home of Gladys Pennell Friday evening, Nov. 24. A most enjoyable evening was spent playing games of various kinds. Refreshments of Welsh Rarebit, Scotchwoodcock, punch and home made candles were served throughout the evening. The house was prettily decorated with evergreens. The guests departed at a late hour with "light hearts and full stomachs."

In honor of her approaching marriage, which will occur on Thanksgiving, to Francis Mitchell of Lowell, Mass., Miss Matilda Pullen was given a variety shower at the family home Monday evening, Nov. 27.

For coughing, dryness and tickling in the throat, hoarseness and all coughs and colds, take Foley's Honey and Tar Compound. Contains no opiates. W. A. D. Cragin, Phillips, Maine.

The guests were: Mrs. A. J. Hunnewell, Mrs. L. A. Norton, Mrs. H. S. Wing, Mrs. A. G. Winter, Mrs. F. B. Hutchins, Mrs. S. J. Wyman, Mrs. G. H. Winter, Mrs. O. M. Vose, Mrs. A. C. Woodard, Mrs. F. O. Hunt, Miss Susie Stanley, Miss Mabel Hutchins, Miss Mabel Simmons, Miss Lelia Hunnewell, Miss Agnes Stanley, Miss Abbie Simmons, Miss Pearl Durrell, Miss Roxie Simmons, Miss Ruth Pullen.

Many and varied were the gifts which were opened by the hostess, and the merry jingle accompanying each one, and read aloud by her, created much merriment. Previous to the opening of the parcels the following verse was read by one of the guests who composed it:

Unto Stephen Pullen, in this house was born

A daughter, christened Matilda Annette

One fair September morn.

Not many years ago it seems,

But then the years will fly

And when Matilda got through school

She wanted her wings to try.

She went to Massachusetts

And there she met her fate.

It didn't take him any time

To want to set the date.

And now the wedding day draws near

"O, may it come to others here."

Accept our shower this starry night

And may your future be most bright.

The W. C. T. U. of Kingfield met last Thursday at the home of Mrs. Horace Winter, for a Mother's Meeting, to which all were invited, especially the young mothers, who, it was hoped, would receive new and helpful ideas in regard to the training of their little ones to make them good and useful citizens, and to warn them once again to be temperate in all things.

By having these meetings frequently we bring before the mind subjects which would otherwise be forgotten by the busy mothers during the strenuous time a mother has with her little ones, and that is just the time that children receive impressions most easily.

No regular program was used, but Mrs. Winter, who is superintendent of the Mother's Meetings, gave us some nice music and several papers on Narcotics, Social Purity, and anything relative to the department, were read and discussed. The most serious question before the house seemed to be, how to reach and interest the young mothers who really needed our help. It was a large gathering, and we were delightfully surprised by the refreshments which Mrs. Winter kindly served. The next meeting of the W. C. T. U. will be held at the house of Mrs. Lillian Stevens, Dec. 28, to which all are invited.

At our annual election of officers all were re-elected, viz: Pres., Lillian Stevens; Sec., Blanche Dunton; Treas., Mrs. Lelia Hunnewell. Six vice-presidents, two from each church, and superintendents of departments were appointed. We meet the last Thursday in each month.

Alice F. Durrell, Press Supt.

SMELT AND SALMON.

Dr. Kendall Tells of Two Common Fish.

Dr. William C. Kendall of the United States fisheries bureau, Tuesday evening delivered a very interesting lecture on smelts and salmon at the rooms of the Portland Natural History society. There was a good sized audience and although Dr. Kendall at the beginning said that his talk would be dry and he wouldn't resent it if anyone went out between the acts, all of the people remained to the end and found it most delightful. In speaking of smelts, he said that geographically speaking, the oldest known salmon is one of the smelt family. On the Pacific coast there are two or three genera of smelts and on the north Atlantic coast three genera with one species each. The argentina, which is seldom seen, is something like a white fish, the capron is found in the northern waters and the other is the ordinary smelt. In the winter these fish are caught around the mouth of the Miramichi river by drawing them in with a seine placed under the ice. The spawning season of the smelt is in the spring and the fish begin to run about the time the ice leaves the streams. The males constitute the early run, but the females predominate during the latter part of the run. The spawning season lasts for a month or more. In some localities they fish for the smelts in the spawning season and this proves very destructive.

Dr. Kendall aid that there are landlocked smelts, and it is presumed that at some time they came up the streams and found their surroundings so congenial that they remained. Landlocked smelts are found in Maine, New Hampshire and Massachusetts, Lake Champlain and Lake Memphramagog. In Sebago lake they are extremely abundant and of a large size, some being caught that are 15 inches in length. Another smaller size never reaches over six inches and the majority of them are five inches long. In the Grand lake stream and St. Croix river the smelts are not over two inches long, and Dr. Kendall said he had seen them an inch and three-quarters long full of ripe eggs. In Thomas pond, which is connected with Sebago lake, the fish are much the same as in Grand lake stream, Dr. Kendall told of the different methods of catching smelts and then he spoke at length of salmon. There are four genera of salmon, but only one is known as salmon, all the rest being called trout. Along the Atlantic coast there are three species and a good many of them in the Pacific. One genus peculiar to the Pacific is found from Alaska to Japan and is known as the hook nose. Dr. Kendall said that salmon are becoming scarce and in Canada this is due to netting. In the United States the scarcity is caused by obstacles and the pollution of streams. The sea salmon enter the streams in Maine early in the spring and may remain until in the fall. Sometimes they make an early run for food, coming back before they go up to spawn. The Maine rivers in which there are the most of the fish are the Aroostook, St. Croix and Penobscot.—Portland Press.

all my attention. I barely had time to jump to the back of one of them as they dashed off down the road toward the brush shanty we had built for them not far from our tent.

Of course I was anxious to know what had become of Mrs. Bruin and the cubs; so after quieting and caring for the horses, as it was too late to go back with them, I started off up the road to meet the crew. But it was a sorry sight I met approaching; two men were carrying a third on a stretcher and on inquiring what was the matter, the fellow on the stretcher, who proved ed Joe Venaut, raised up saying: "Dat you, Jack, me catcher de cub-de Madame B'ar she ketcher me; scratcher me lag all de way down, ripper clar to de bone three time. You tot you so smart catcher de deer dat I try to better do den you and ketcher de little b'ar. But de older one-she comer at me liker der wind-I run but no go fast enuff. She striker at me-hitter me on der lag. Den one of dem cubs she squeal liker der Debbel-back she go' see what der matter wid 'im. Me climer small tree so scart me no feel hurter 'tall. But the bleed run so outer me lag she get so stiff me no can walk. So haf get boys lugger me camp."

Had Joe been hurt even worse we could not have helped laughing for he was so excited he could hardly talk his broken English fast enough. In fact several times he branched off into French and we had to remind him that he was the only Frenchman among us.

It was really as Joe had explained it. When the bear and cubs started to cross the stringer the crew scattered in all directions giving her a wide berth. But Joe waited until she was about two-thirds over, picked up a meal sack and creeping stealthily to the bank waded out waist deep and grasped the last cub, slipped it into the bag planning to put it into the tool-box as I had done the fawn. But the old bear turned and carefully making her way past the two cubs she made for Joe, who had just gained the bank and seeing the bear in close pursuit became thoroughly frightened at his venture, dropped his bundle and started on a run thinking that the bear would be so interested in liberating the youngster as to give him time to make his escape. But it took less than a minute for her to tear open the bag and she was again seeking her revnege on poor Joe, who was laid up for three months with the blows she gave him and he might not have come out as well as he did had it not been for the squeal of one of her precious babes which caused her to give up the attack and making sure that her family was all together she went on this time sending the cubs ahead and closely following them across the stringer.

When the boys came upon Joe his leg was bleeding badly and they tried to persuade him to come down but Joe was obstinate. "Na, na, na, she go little far, me come down, back she come killer me come more."

But they finally got him to come down by coaxing, assuring him that the bear was really gone, and finally by making fun of him and finding he could not walk they made a stretcher of two cantdog stocks and their coats and brought him to camp.

My chum, who had forded the river and was working on the other side with his team started to come to the bridge with a load of corduroy just as the bear made for Joe. His horses became unmanageable and getting the upper hands of him, broke away running in opposite direction, and it was nine o'clock before he came in; then with only one of them and it was noon the next day before the other horse was found and caught.

Neither team was the same after as they would shy and bolt at everything that did not look just right to them.

Mr. Sprague was as mad a boss as I ever care to see and the way he swore about Frenchmen, Canada, bears, "menagerie catchers" as he termed Joe and I caused much merriment but some chagrin on my part.

But after the winter's work had begun in earnest his anger passed and the fawn which proved to be a young buck had free run of the camp yard and hayshed and grew fat and handsome and was the pet of every man in camp, Mr. Sprague included.

Sunderland, Vt., Nov. 22, 1911.

To the Editor of Maine Woods:

I note F. L. Butler's article in the Maine Woods. It's O. K. "You are right, Mr. Butler, give us more of it!" Besides dishonest fur buyers there are certain dishonest authors hired by city fur houses and firms selling baits, who write a lot cracking up such parties' baits and scents, thus misleading the young trappers into buying them, and thus robbing them of hard-earned cash for trash worth no part of a cent.

globe that can secure reliable bait or scent enough to make a business selling it or even to supply one-sixteenth of the trappers with it. The only reliable scent that can be obtained is nature's one scent, taken from the animals themselves by the genuine trapper alone and in such small quantity that said trapper has all he can do to scrape up enough for his own use.

I have trapped nearly fifty years, tried all the stuff put on the market by the fur traders and city houses and my one experience and that of hundreds of others, to my knowledge, proves all such truck absolutely worthless to genuine trappers; and the most of those recommending such stuff do it for pay.

In trapping foxes or mink, the traps should never be greased or boiled in ashes or shucks of any kind, or smoked, as smoke, grease, or any such stuff has a tendency to scare the animal away from the traps. If you wish to clean your traps, and all traps should be cleaned, wash them in warm water with a sponge, then hang them up to dry. When thoroughly dry get a clean paint brush and some very fine clay and mix it up with clean cold water in a wooden pail to the thickness of thin paint, or so it will spread easily, and then paint your traps with this all over, the chain as well. Using wooden pinchers, hang the traps up again. Be very careful and not touch them with bare hands, but using gloves is worse than bare-handed, for the gloves sweat the hands and thus make more scent.

Fox hunting doesn't seem to be very active. We hear a fox hound now and then but see no hunter. Which reminds us, the old quotation "music hath charms to sooth" etc., is all right, but some like to have a choice as to the music. Nothing has more charm for me than the baying of fox hounds, but there are others.

A hunter of our acquaintance has a fox hound which has a pretty loud voice, in fact her ci to that of others is as a church bell to the chime of sleigh bells. And when he gives tongue it's in a way to rend the rocks and destroy all kinds of echoes.

Whether the owner really didn't know where his dog was, whether he wanted to know what course he had taken or whether he wanted to imitate the man, we can't say but he asked a prominent citizen,

"Have you heard any dogs over here?"

"Dogs, no, I haven't heard any dogs," snorted the man. "Its a yip yi here and a woop wow there till a man can't sleep either day or night. Dogs," and off he went in grand disdain.

ARTICLE 3.

The Skunk and Civet Cat

The skunk and civet cat become prime first and get poor earliest in the spring. These two animals, therefore, should be trapped soonest, and, as a general rule, not later than the middle of March. However, no definite rule can be given. In the North they can be trapped longer than in the South, of course.

Both animals are easy to take. They seem to have no fear whatever of man or traps generally speaking. Sets do not need to be covered for them, yet it is a good plan to do so.

Along old hedges, near straw piles in weed patches, etc. are ideal places to look for the animals. Both prefer rugged, stony country. The skunk has a more valuable pelt than the civet. Usually, a number of these fur bearers can be taken in one place.

The simplest way to take either is to find a den and make a set at the entrance of it. No bait of any kind is needed.

For the skunk, I would advise the trapper not to attach his traps to a permanent fastening—a stake. Use a drag or clog—they mean practically the same thing nowadays. By a drag or clog I mean, a heavy object, not light enough for the animal to drag any great distance. Of course it should be so that the fur bearer cannot get with it into a hole.

Secure a dead chicken and stake it near some dens. Surround the bait with several traps. With this set I have taken as many as three skunks in a single place during a night.

Place two logs so that they form a V shaped pen. Back of the trap place a piece of meat over which

ARTICLE 4.

The Muskrat will appear in our issue of December 7.

some Funsten Skunk Bait has been sprinkled.

Meat hung in bushes will also prove a good "draw" for either of the animals. Almost directly under it place one or more traps.

Dig a small excavation in the earth about 10 inches deep. In the back part of this place a carcass of a muskrat. Cover one or more traps at the entrance to the pocket. This set will always bring good results.

Trail Scent can be used to good advantage in trapping animals.

A successful way to kill both animals is by shooting them just back of the head, so that the bullet will cut the backbone. When this is done, they cannot eject their fluid.

Gasoline will remove scent from the clothing or pelts. The Black Skunk (No. 1.) is most valuable; the Short Stripe (No. 2.) next; the Narrow Stripe (No. 3.) frequently called Long Stripe, third while the Broad Stripe (No. 4.) is fourth. Usually, a Black Skunk is one which has the white not extending beyond the shoulders; a Short Stripe not extending past the hips; a Narrow Stripe one which has a narrow white stripe extending all the way down the pelt; Broad Stripe one which has a broad white stripe extending all the way down the pelt.

Both the skunk and the civet should be cased, flesh side out. Remember, all pelts should be dried in a cool place, never over a fire or in the sun. Do not use salt on furs intended for market. Remove all meat, fat etc. from every pelt.

TRAPPING THE MUSKRAT.

Of the common fur-bearing animals the muskrat is probably the most easily trapped, and being very widely distributed is more or less familiar to every one who resides where conditions are favorable to its existence. Because of the ease with which it is trapped this little animal comes in for much attention from the young trapper and from the older one just beginning to trap. The prices this fur has commanded for the past year or more has caused the old hand on the trap line to pay more attention to its capture than formerly.

Various means are employed to effect the capture of the muskrat, but the most common, and doubtless the best one, is the steel trap. I have caught an occasional one in the "stop thief" trap, also in a trap known as the "little giant" or "Erie" rat-trap, which latter one resembles the "tree trap" now so much advertised. Personally, I much prefer the steel trap as when properly set it is much the best and much surer than the others mentioned or any other I have ever seen or tried. It does not require a strong trap to hold the muskrat but the strong one is to be preferred as other animals are likely to be caught in traps set for the muskrat. When making a set for the muskrat always select a place, if possible, where the water is deep enough to drown the animal soon after being caught. Unless this is done, the muskrat, if caught by a front foot, will very likely free itself. It is a good plan to always set so that the animal when drowned will be under water. This can be done by selecting a set where the water is deep enough for the purpose. By having the animal under water, prowling animals, as dogs, cats and birds, are not nearly so apt to find and destroy them, nor, is that enemy of the trapper, Sneakum, so likely to discover it as where the animal is alive and struggling to be free, or if drowned, is only partly under water.

Where the muskrats build houses, a very good set is at the entrance to the house. Fasten the trap to a stake, or weight of some sort, the length of the chain away and set another stake or bush six or eight inches from the one to which the trap is fastened. When caught the muskrat will get the chain wound around the stake, thus keeping it from destroying the house, which would spoil the set. This set is good for mink as well as muskrats. As the entrance to the house will likely be entirely under water, the trap should be set close to or within the entrance. At the mouth of the holes, when they can be found, where they enter the banks of streams, ponds or lakes, are good places to set, and should be made much as at the house. If the water is not deep enough within reach of the trap chain use the sliding pole or a piece of wire weighted with a stone at the end that is in the water. The end next the bank should, of course, be fastened to a root, bush, stake or whatever is at hand.

Sets may be made anywhere along streams or ponds that enough water can be found to drown the muskrat when caught. Should there not be a place large enough to hold a trap, make one by digging out some of the bank. Set the trap about two inches under water if possible, and a little deeper will do no harm, as, when thus set, one is more sure of catching by a hind leg, which is much better than a front one, unless the set is made so there can be no question about their drowning soon after being caught, in which case it matters little how they are caught. This set should be baited with apple, parsnip, carrot or whatever one has that the muskrat will eat. Sweet apples make the best bait. By far the best set is at the outlet of a tile drain or a ditch or spring run or brook, where they enter a large stream, as the muskrats, if there are any in the vicinity, are sure to visit such places.

By being careful and making as little disturbance as possible, when making a set, one will occasionally get a mink in sets made for muskrats. For this reason I prefer the steel trap to any other, for all round use, and try always to have my traps strong enough to hold whatever gets into them. I use mostly Newhouse No. 1, but have some No. 1 and 1-2 Victor, also a few Blake and Lamb and the "jump" trap as made by the Oneida community.—Exchange.

FACTS ABOUT CAMERAS

November 18, 1911.

To the Editor of Maine Woods:

Doubtless many readers of Maine Woods either own a camera or contemplate buying one. These days a good camera costs but little more than a poor one, and in some cases not as much. A good one will last practically a lifetime and seem to get better the longer you use it. Probably more film cameras are sold than any other kind. However, this is not good evidence that they are the best. General stores, druggists, etc., mostly have the film kind—Kodaks, Ansco's, Hawkeys, and various other makes. The three makes mentioned are standard and best known. Taking pictures with these is easy, of course, but progression towards better pictures is a rather slow process, generally. To improve in picture taking one should learn the finishing part, even if he hires the work done as a general thing.

Glass plates are used and recognized the world over as the best for picture making. Did you ever know a professional photographer who used films to take studio pictures with? I have known only one. In the professional demonstrations given in all the leading cities in the United States (photographic schools they are called) by the Eastman Kodak Co., the roll film as a picture taking medium is never mentioned. These men give instruction in the highest of photographic art and are paid by the firm who makes kodak film. The film is sold to beginners in large quantities, but is not even considered in the higher discussion of the art.

A plate camera with film pack adapter becomes a daylight loading film camera and still keeps all plate camera advantages. This does not interfere with its use as a plate camera. I, of course, refer to folding cameras when speaking of both kinds.

A very important part of any picture machine is the lens and shutter, and the shutter is far more important than is generally considered. Camera catalogues say practically nothing more than to state what kind of a shutter is on the instrument described, and many dealers who sell cameras know practically nothing more than that the price is so and so and the more you pay the more value you are supposed to get.

A shutter of the double valve, time regulating kind makes the instrument to which it is attached worth actually twice as much to one inexperienced or even an expert who does outdoor work. A shutter adjustable only to "time, bulb and instantaneous" exposures does quite well for ordinary "snap shots" in sunshine, but beyond that results are too variable. How about pictures on a cloudy or dark day, or when the sun is low in the sky with such a rig? If you try to give time exposures time is apt to be too long or too short and never twice the same. With a reliable double valve shutter this is all changed. Suppose a new beginner is told to give an exposure of one-half second with stop 16 on an ordinary bright cloudy day. He sets his shutter as indicated and gets his time mechanically and accurately and each time the same. The advantage is readily seen. The picture is apt to be good, and if he takes several the same day and same light all will be uniform, or more so than otherwise. And he has some standard for future guidance. This feature holds good whether your camera uses plates or any kind of films. The following are some of the best known makes of double valve shutters: Bausch & Lomb Unicum, Automat, Compound and Volute; Wallensak Regno, Optimo; Kodak Automatic, Gaerz Sector, Seneca Duo, Autic, Conley Safety, etc. They are adjustable not only for "time, bulb and instantaneous" exposures, but also for short time exposures self measured and different degrees of "snap shots" to suit varied conditions of light. It is these adjustments that makes a camera an instrument of precision. If your camera has a shutter marked simply "T. B. I." it is a single valve and not one of the good kind mentioned above.

If you buy any kind of a camera and have an ambition to get good results have a care what kind of a shutter is on it. The cost will be just a little more, but the value of the outfit will be double, especially to one inexperienced. Even many pictures in the sunshine are improved by giving short time exposures (if object is not moving,) and using a small stop or diaphragm opening. Of course in this case and taking pictures on dark days you must use a tripod or other solid support for camera. Such work is not practical except with double valve (time measuring,) shutter.

The ground glass screen which is on all folding plate cameras is another means of getting good pictures, as by its use you can tell the exact size and position of your picture on the plate, how much of the picture will be sharp (in focus,) and get a good idea of what exposure is necessary. The ground glass is a necessity when focussing on objects at close range, and here is where you find the advantage of a long bellows. An ordinary 4x5 folding camera with rectilinear lens should have a bellows of about 12 or 13 inches length to enable you to photograph a small object actual size.

My next article on picture making subject will be about lenses. I will explain about the different kinds and try to tell why one is worth $50.00 and another about the same size about one-tenth that amount, and why certain kinds are better than others for certain kinds of work and general use.

LIKE TO SECURE BLACK FOX

While Stanley Moore and a companion were hunting in the vicinity of Temple one day recently they saw an animal which at first sight they took for a dog, but on getting nearer the animal ran and they got a better view of him and they then decided it was a black fox. They tracked him for a long time, but got no glimpse of him afterwards, although they have made repeated attempts to locate him since. These animals' skins are worth several hundreds of dollars and the boys would naturally like to secure the prize.

Malcolm F. Bishop, one of the fortunate hunters, gave a game supper at his home in Cape Elizabeth recently, several of his friends being guests. The venison and fixings were prepared by Mr. Bishop's mother and the feast was a most appetizing one. Harry Lord, the baseball player, was one of the guests, and he told about a hunting trip on the Cape in which he captured a red fox. He also related many incidents of his diamond experience. Those present were: Joseph P. Brown, Malcolm F. Bishop, George W. White, George F. Thompson, Arthur E. Thorndike, Edward V. Peterson, William Hannaford, Andrew R. Bishop, Fred E. Peterson, Harry D. Lord, Charles D. Libby.

AN ACCOMMODATING DEER.

Recently a man drove into Dixfield with a fine buck deer in the back of his wagon. He had driven down from Frye and shot the deer on the way. According to his story, this was an accommodating deer, for the colt which the man was driving was afraid of a gun, so a shot could not be taken at the deer from the carriage. The deer waited while the man got out of the wagon, hitched the horse beside the road, shot the deer, loaded it into the wagon, unhitched and drove on.

STATE OF MAINE PUBLIC NOTICE

In conformity with the provisions of section 36 to 39 of Chapter 32, of the Revised Statutes of Maine, and upon the petition of five or more citizens of the State, and deeming it for the best interests of the State, the Commissioners of Inland Fisheries and Game, after due notice to all persons interested in the subject matter of said petition, and public hearing thereon in the locality to be affected, and deeming it necessary and proper for the protection and preservation of the inland fish of the State, hereby adopt the following needful Rules and Regulations relating to the times and places in which and the circumstances under which inland fish may be taken in the waters of Sandy River between Letter "E" line and Sandy River Pond, in Sandy River Plantation, in the county of Franklin.

Rules and Regulations.
For a period of four years from November 20th, A. D., 1911, it shall be unlawful for any person to fish for, take, catch or any kind of fish at any time in Sandy river, between Letter "E" line and Sandy river, between Letter "B" line and Sandy river pond, so-called, said waters being situated in Sandy River Plantation, in Franklin county.

It shall also be unlawful for any person to have in possession any kind of fish taken in violation of any provision of these regulations.

Dated this 11th day of November, A.D. 1911.

MT. VIEW

Large Party Stops Here Enroute for Home.

Maine Central Railroad Will Have To Put On A Deer Special.

Mountain View, Nov. 22, 1911.
The first of the week was rather quiet here with only a few traveling men, but Friday night there were 14 hunters and one guide, together with five other guests and Saturday morning reminded us of a September day when the summer guests are taking their departure as there were 18 taken to the depot by the carry team that morning. Nine of the party that were at Brown's Island went home last Saturday taking a deer for each man. They reported a fine time and excellent hunting on the light snow that came last week.

They were entertained at Mountain View House over night, Friday.
The six following were from Philadelphia, Pa., C. C. Coolbaugh, Samuel Shoemaker, Wm. Nickolson, A. C. Borner, F. R. Macklin, Fred Benson. The others were: A. K. Lenckel of Trenton, N. J., M. C. Michener of Media, N. J., and Edmund Burke of Berlin, N. H.

The Taylor party mentioned last week consisting of Mr. John W. Taylor of Portland and Messrs. Barnes and Brewman of Boston, were among those entertained here Friday night. This party was also favored by the snow storm and five deer under good guiding of "Long" Geo. York of Wilson's Mills.

Saturday was a red letter day for the Rumford and Rangeley Lakes division of the M. C. R. R., for on reaching Rumford it was found that they had picked up 55 deer. In other words it was almost a deer special. Commencing at Oquossoc they were taken on at the following stations: Oquossoc, 21; South Rangeley, 4; Macy Jr., 3; Bemis, 14; the rest at the summit, Houlton and Frye.

The time allowed for the transfer of express and baggage at Rumford is ten minutes but it took 17 minutes that day, making them seven minutes late out of Rumford.

A. C. Holt and W. E. Plummer of Boston, Mass., arrived Saturday night en route for camp at Steep Landing, on Kennebago Stream. Pete Lufkin is t guide them on this trip.

The party that has been at Chas. Hoar's camp at Beaver Bog for the past two weeks went home Monday with three nice buck deer. This party stopped at Mountain View House over Sunday. They were the party from Salem and Melrose mentioned last week.

CORPS AT BRUNSWICK DISBAND.

By order of Governor Plaisted general orders were issued by Adjutant General Elliott C. Dill Saturday, disbanding the 10th Company, Coast Artillery Corps of Brunswick, the company having fallen below the required standard of merit. Disbanding the company does not prevent the citizens of Brunswick from organizing another company, if they see fit and can satisfy the proper authorities that they can make a success of it.

The 10th Company, whose present captain is Harold Machette, has had hard luck during the past year, having had several changes among its commissioned officers and a number of changes in the personnel, while the greatest blow was the loss of the armory with the greater part of its contents.

Another announcement made at the office of the adjutant general, which is of interest in the eastern part of the state, is that Captain Ralph W. Bradish of Company I, Eastport, has resigned for business reasons, and that Captain Albert Greenlaw, Regimental Quartermaster of the same city has been detailed by Colonel Hume to take command of the company temporarily. Captain Greenlaw has instructions to recruit the company and raise its standard of efficiency as soon as possible and as soon as he deems it advisable, to fix a date for an election of a captain. It is understood that at least a dozen former company officers have rallied to the support of the company.

Adjutant General Elliott C. Dill started Saturday for his annual skirmish run. He will indulge in rifle practice at some point to the northward, which he has kept a deep, dark secret, and will eat his targets after he gets home. The price of meat in Hallowell has already declined sharply and a more pronounced drop is expected about the time the General returns.—Waterville Sentinel.

RANGELEY

Rangeley, Me., Nov. 21, 1911—Harry Huntoon has rented his house to Andy Stevens and has gone into the woods for J. D. and Frank Huntoon. His wife and baby will spend the winter with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Eben Rowe.

Lero Toothaker is visiting friends in Lewiston.

The H. P. Cummings Construction Co. of Ware and Boston, Mass., have through their representative, Mr. W. I. White of Rumford, taken the contract to rebuild the village schoolhouse. It is to be built on nearly the same plan as the old one and is to be completed by March 31, 1912.

Mrs. Lucy Herrick has returned home from Philadelphia.

Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Furbish have been spending several days in Wilton.

Dr. and Mrs. A. M. Ross entertained friends at whist Saturday evening.

E. H. Whitney, who has been spending a few days at home, went to Colebrook, N. H., Monday where he has employment.

The chicken pie supper which was to have been given by the Grangers, Nov. 11, was postponed on account of the shooting accident until next Saturday, Nov. 25. It is to be free to all Grangers. The brothers are to furnish the entertainment and a good time is expected. A goodly number were present at the last meeting and a treat consisting of grapes, nuts and candy was served.

Dana Carlton, with a party of friends from Boothbay Harbor was in town on a hunting trip last week. They succeeded in getting four deer.

Charles Cushman has moved his family into George Young's house.

Mr. and Mrs. Elbridge Dill of Phillips were guests of their son, Robert, a few days last week.

One day recently Mr. C. C. Murphy of Rangeley and Ed Cummings of Bemis were in the woods looking after timber. At noon they came out in an open field near the Kennebago Farm and sat down to eat their lunch. While they were eating they were startled by the report of a rifle and a bullet struck the ground not a foot from them. Had the hunter, who mistook them for a deer, been a better marksman, one or both of them would have been shot.

William Lamb has returned from Richmond where he has been spending several weeks with his daughter, Mrs. Albert Darrah.

Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Tibbetts and little son, Payson, have been in Boston recently.

Mrs. Wilfred Fourness with her little daughter, from Pasadena, Cal., is the guest of her sister, Mrs. F. B. Colby.

Mrs. Albert Carlton, who has been spending a week with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ira Hoar, returned to her home in Phillips Saturday.

The first of the series on the lecture course was held Thursday evening at the church. It was given by the Westminster Co. of Roston, which is composed of a gentleman and two ladies, all of whom are very talented. The entertainment consisted of readings, song-stories, singing by the trio, violin solos, etc., etc. Although the night was stormy there was a good attendance and every one pronounced it an excellent concert. The company was entertained by Mrs. E. Soule during their stay in town.

Linwood Ellis is attending school at Hebron Academy and Donald Mathieson at Kent's Hill.

HIT OR MISS CLUB COMMENCE SHOOTING

The National Guards, Hit or Miss Club and Bingville Rifle club will commence shooting at the armory, Thursday, November 23, and we can look for some interesting shooting during the season, as the clubs are very nearly matched. They will shoot off hand, prone and rapid fire.

DEATH OF FORMER CHAIRMAN RAILROAD COMMISSIONERS.

Colonel Joseph B. Peaks, former chairman of the State Board of Railroad Commissioners, died at Dr. King's hospital, Portland, Monday evening, of chronic nephritis.

STRONG

Strong, Me., Nov. 27, 1911—Raymond
Starbird of Gray's business college, Portland, is spending Thanksgiving
with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. V.
Starbird.

Mrs. Ella Dow of Phillips visited her friend, Mrs. Ellen Kilkenny, the first of the week.

Rev. and Mrs. Weston P. Holman are spending Thanksgiving with Mrs. Holman's parents Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Ward of Wilton.

Miss Cornelia Crosby of Phillips visited relatives and friends in town the first of the week.

Miss Ede Willis of Topsham spent
Sunday in town, the guest of friends.

The many friends of Mrs. Henry Allen are pleased to know she is gaining nicely
since her recent surgical operation, which was very skillfully performed by
Dr. C. W. Bell, assisted by Dr. J. W.
Nichols. She is cared for by Miss Ro-berds of Farmington.

Mr. and Mrs. P. D. Stubbs drove to Augusta last week to visit Dr. and Mrs.
R. H. Stubbs of Augusta. They returned Monday by train.

Rev. W. P. Holman preached a very good Thanksgiving sermon last Sunday to a large congregation. His subject was "Being Grateful."

Mr. and Mrs. C. V. Starbird are entertaining at Thanksgiving dinner: Mr.
and Mrs. F. W. Look and son, Ber-chard, Mrs. Ellen Kilkenny, Mrs. Achsa Kilkenny, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Bradford, Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Brackley, Norridgewock, Mrs. Addie Carville,
Farmington and Hermon Kilkenny, Waterville.

Joseph Morse had the misfortune to seriously injure his knee a short time ago.

The Ladies' Aid of the M. E. church will hold their annual fair, Thursday afternoon, Dec. 7. In the evening a fine entertainment will be given by home talent.

Miss Florence Luce, teacher of the Primary school was quite ill the first of the week.

Chas. Norton of Farmington was a caller in town Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Look were in Farmington Monday on business.

Mrs. Blanding of Farmington Falls is visiting her daughter, Mrs. D. E.
Leighton. Her father, Mr. Blanding and sister, Mrs. Porter, are spending Thanksgiving with her.

The boy's appetite is often the source of amazement. If you would have such an appetite take Chamberlain's Tablets. They not only create a healthy appetite, but strengthen the stomach

High School Notes.

The High school basket ball team has organized with Hollis Holt as manager and Charlie Toothaker, captain. There will probably be an athletic association formed in the High school very soon to manage basket ball and other branches of athletics. The basket ball team has always been managed by the Phillips Athletic association, but as the association is in a rather inactive condition, the boys have decided to depend upon their own resources this year. The first practice was held Monday night, about 15 candidates being out. There is much promising material in school and a fast team is looked for.

All the schools will be closed Thursday and Friday for the Thanksgiving vacation. Most of the teachers will spend the holiday in town.

Miss Enola Davenport, a graduate of the high school, is teaching the primary department during the illness of Mrs.
Bean.

The attendance in the high school is larger this winter than it has been for several years. There are many students attending from the country and boarding in the village.

The lyceums in the high school have been unusually interesting this term
and much interest is taken by the students, especially in the debates.

Madrid.

John A. McKenney is now well settled in the Frank Cole house, owned by Harry Berry of Kingfield. His former home will soon be occupied by Edwin J. Berry, the purchaser.

It is reported that V. C. Berry has sold his buildings to Elias H. Reed.

Mrs. Laura E. Witham who is very ill with peritonitis, went to the Sisters'
hospital in Lewiston, Tuesday, November 21; Dr. Currier accompanied her.

Roy Dunham and family will occupy the lower part of Mrs. Witham's house the coming winter.

SUCCESSFUL VEGETABLE GROWER.

Phillips to Lose One of its Most Enterprising and Successful Farmers.

Charles Wilbur has sold his interest in real estate in Phillips and will go to Eau Claire, Wis., in a few weeks where he will be employed by George W. Lufkin to have charge of his large vegetable farm. Mr. Lufkin is fortunate in securing his services as Mr. Wilbur has been most successful in conducting his own vegetable raising and has about 700 acres of land in the several farms he has owned. He has sold his two intervale farms to J. W. Carlton; his uphill farm to Frank Harnden and the timberland to Albert Sedgely.

Besides selling vegetables in town he has made weekly trips to Rangeley, Strong and Kingfield. At Rangeley he has had a large patronage, especially in the summer season. He has sold his squash for $60 a ton, beets and turnips two cents per pound and three cents for cabbage. Through the summer season he has averaged shipping two and a half to three tons of vegetables twice a week to Rangeley.

We wish Mr. Wilbur the best of success in his new venture. His brother, Jerry Wilbur, who has been in business with him, will remain in town for the present.

FREEMAN

N. D. Haskell of Mechanic Falls, Me., traveling salesman in Maine and New Hampshire for Unadilla silos, Ruggles' engines and ensilage cutters, passed Saturday and Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. D. T. Curtis.

Mr. and Mrs. N. H. Haines of Phillips recently visited their son, J. W.
Haines and family.

Mrs. L. W. Frost and daughter,
Marie, visited her cousin, Mrs. C. E.
Turner, from Friday night to Monday morning last.

Frank Cleaves has commenced work for Lewis Brackley.

W. G. Durrell and wife were recent visitors at the home of his mother, Mrs.
H. P. Durrell.

B. W. Pinkham has started in on his winter's work for Charles Turner.

C. V. Witham is working in a blacksmith shop in Wilton for the present.
Mrs. Witham and children are stopping in Phillips with her mother, Mrs. Kennedy.

J. W. Haines was a caller in Phillips
one day last week.

FAIRBANKS.

Don Foss is visiting his grandmother Mrs. J. I. Norton.

Mrs. H. A. Compton entertained her Sunday school class at her home
Saturday afternoon, Nov. 17.

Mr. and Mrs. E. Macomber are about to close their house at North Farmington for the winter, and expect to stop with their daughter and family Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Coombs.
Mrs. John K. Richards of Strong and grandson, Frank Crosby, called on friends the first of the week.

Lyman Fales called on relatives recently.

Miss Ida Spaulding is helping Mrs.
W. F. Carvill with her work.

UNION CHURCH

Melvin Sherburne Hutchins, pastor.
Calendar for week ending Dec. 9.
Sunday, December 3: 10-45 Morning Worship. Sermon, "Our Father's Love." 11-45 Sunday School. 7-30
People's Service. Music by the Choral club.
Address, "The Sporting Spirit."
Thursday, December 7: 7-30 P. M.
Mid-Week Prayer meeting.

At the Union church the text taken by Rev. M. S. Hutchins for the morning sermon was from Luke
2:32, "A light to lighten the gentiles."
Mr. Hutchins said that although the text was used by him today with a lesser significance than was attached to it when spoken he wished none
to forget its first and highest use.

The story found in some old school readers, and called "The knight, the hermit and the man"
illustrates the history of the world.
At first the hero of the tale as a knight errant fights to gain that which appeals to him as right. As the story goes on he leaves the evils of society and lives alone, apart from his fellows.

In the course of events he is led to see the need of others and perceives that the highest life is not reached without the giving of sympathy and aid.

This illustrates the progress of religious thought. In early history men were ready by the might of the sword to compel others to receive and adopt their forms of religion, as Mahomet won followers. They found religious contentment in their own religious beliefs.

In the mediaeval ages there were many devout souls who withdrew from the haunts of men and in wilderness solitude with self-inflicted punishment of the flesh believed they could please God and bring themselves near him.

Now we have come to see that nearness to God belongs to those whose sympathy, whose love, and unselfishness seek to uplift, to comfort and to aid mankind. The nearest likeness to Christ is achieved in this way.

In this same way God has led the nations. In the dawnings of history and even for a long period, the various tribes saw in conflict and fighting the way of progress. The hope and attempt of each were to subjugate others and bring them into submission to their own power.

As history continued, nations set up barriers about themselves that others might not encroach upon them or share in their achievements.

It was the fortune of our own nation to come into existence in this second period. It has not been a fighting nation. Very seldom has it sought to enlarge its borders by warfare. Our first and great president reiterated the principles of separateness from others. Statesmen by the Monroe Doctrine and other legislation emphasized it. We have been a hermit nation. Circumstances combined to bring a realization of a greater work among the nations for us. It was a prophetic moment two generations ago when a Yankee fleet sailed into a Japanese harbor and prepared the way for intercourse with that nation. It was more prophetic when religious organizations of this country sent missionaries to lands of the East. We were called into conference over affairs in China. More and more have world interests appealed to us.

There are dangers here to be sure,
danger that we usurp power, and ignore rights. God has projected us into this place in the history of nations. It is ours to receive the power and the obligations unselfishly.

The Thanksgiving proclamation of President Taft differs from all preceding ones. Others may have had more beauty of diction, may have been more devoutly religious. Some have referred with good wishes to other nations. No other has had such a spirit of recognition of the fellowship of nations. It says as a cause for thanksgiving "Our National Councils have furthered the cause of peace," and it speaks of other nations as interested in their welfare and hopeful for their prosperity.

The church in a different way than formerly is interested in political affairs. On August third action was taken by the Peace Conference relative to treaties looking toward international arbitration. After one year the various nations are to act
upon the acceptance of these treaties.
Cardinal Gibbons of the Roman Catholic church has requested of each priest of his church that in the sermon of today the subject of these treaties shall be mentioned, and the people be urged to use their influence in favor of the acceptance of them.

Each pastor of a congregationalist church has received a similar request from Nehemiah Boynton, Every citizen is asked to give consideration to these measures that seek the further advance of the nations of the world.
Our two Senators may be as'ed to work for the adoption of the treaties.
Perhaps the most practical way for each one to help is in helping to create wherever they are a spirit of unselfish interest in the rights of others.

Our nation has had a prominent place in creating and sustaining the wish for peace. Inasmuch as the nation is helping toward an unselfish helpful attitude among the nations it is following the example and teaching of Jesus. All nations which take their places as followers of Jesus must work for the promotion of that love which is the foundation of his teaching. If the United States continues to work in this way it may be said of her that she is set for a light to lighten the gentiles and she shall be adding to the glory of the great commonwealth of man.

Practice Will Make Perfect.

Practice thyself even in the things which thou despise of accomplishing.
For even the left hand, which is ineffectual for all other things for want of practice, holds the bridle more vigorously than the right hand;
for it has been practiced in this.—
Marcus Aurelius.

A FATHER'S VENGEANCE

Would have fallen on any one who attacked the son of Peter Bondy, of South Rockwood, Mich., but he was powerless before attacks of kidney trouble. "Doctors could not help him," he wrote, "so at last we gave him Electric Bitters and he improved wonderfully from taking six bottles. It's the best kidney medicine I ever saw."
Backache, tired feeling, Nervousness, Loss of Appetite, warm of kidney trouble that may end in dropsy, diabetes or Bright's disease. Beware! Take Electric Bitters and be safe. Every bottle guaranteed, 50c at W. A. D. Cragin's; Chas. E. Dyer's of Strong; L. L. Mitchell's of Kingfield; Riddle's Pharmacy, of Rangeley.

Blessed are they who know how to shine on one's gloom with their cheer.
—Henry Ward Beecher.

Cure Your kidneys

Do Not Endanger Life When a Phillips Citizen Shows You the Cure.

Why will people continue to suffer
the agonies of kidney complaint, backache, urinary disorders, lameness, headache, languor, why allow themselves to become chronic invalids, when a tested remedy is offered them?

Doan's Kidney Pills is the remedy to use, because it gives to the kidneys the help they need to perform their work.

If you have any, even one, of the symptoms of kidney diseases, cure yourself now, before dropsy or Bright's disease sets in. Read this Phillips testimony:

C. A. Mahoney, near Main street, Phillips, Maine, says: "I have had no cause to worry about my kidneys
since Doan's Kidney Pills cured me three years ago and I can say that my cure is a permanent one. I suffered severely from kidney complaint. The kidney secretions were at times profuse and then again scanty. Nothing helped me to any extent until I procured Doan's Kidney Pills at Cragin's Drug store. I shall always praise this remedy when I have an opportunity."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo,
New York, sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's—and

Don't waste your money buying strengthening plasters. Chamberlain's Liniment is cheaper and better. Dampen a piece of flannel with it and bind it over the affected parts and it will relieve the pain and soreness. For sale by all dealers.

Gate Between Two Rooms.

It proved a blessing in one house.
It is fastened in the doorway, between the nursery and "mother's room."
There are times when the mother likes to watch the children without being right among them. Often sewing or writing may be done more easily with the gate between the mother and the little ones.—Ladies' Home Journal.

CAN YOU ASK MORE?

Your Money Back for the Asking.
You Promise Nothing.

We are so confident that we can furnish relief for indigestion and dyspepsia that we promise to supply the medicine free of all cost to every one who uses it according to directions who is not perfectly satisfied with the results.
We exact no promises and put no one under any obligation whatever. Surely nothing could be fairer. We are located right here where you live, and our reputation should be sufficient assurance of the genuineness of our offer.

We want every one who is troubled with indigestion or dyspepsia in any form to come to our store and buy a box of Rexall Dyspepsia Tablets. Take them home, and give them a reasonable trial, according to directions. If they don't please you, tell us and we will quickly return your money. They have a very mild but positive action upon the organs with which they come in contact, apparently acting as a regulative tonic upon the relaxed muscular coat of the bowels, thus overcoming weakness, and aiding to restore the bowels to more vigorous and healthy activity. Three sizes, 25c., 50c., and $1.00. Remember, you can obtain Rexall Remedies only at our store—The Rexall Store. W. A. D. Cragin, Phillips, Me.

A VICTIM OF SCROFULA

Had Large Bunches
Under His Arms.

At Times Unable to Work—
Many Medicines Failed.

Hood's Sarsaparilla, the Great Blood Purifier, Cured.

HARRINGTON, N. H.—"I had scrofula, causing large bunches under my arms, which sometimes broke open and discharged. At times I was unable to work; not only were the bunches and sores very painful and disagreeable, but my health was so run down that I had no strength.

"Many medicines failed to do me any good, and when a friend recommended Hood's Sarsaparilla I had made up my mind that nothing could cure me, and I should simply have to bear my affliction. But Hood's Sarsaparilla worked like a charm. It drove out the impurities or the germs, or whatever may be the cause of scrofula.
The bunches disappeared, and when I had taken six bottles all signs of scrofula had vanished, and there is not even a pimple or blotch on my body.

"Of course I am glad to recommend Hood's Sarsaparilla to any sufferer from scrofula or impure blood, as it has absolutely proven to be in my case
a wonderful purifying medicine."
Ellisha E. Locke.

The great mass of people, as they themselves say, "can not afford to be sick" if compelled to employ physicians and nurses. They are the millions of intelligent, prudent and economical men and women that have come to know the great usefulness of Hood's Sarsaparilla and other good proprietary medicines.

Hood's Sarsaparilla effects its wonderful cures, not simply because it contains sarsaparilla, but because it combines the utmost remedial values of more than twenty different ingredients. There is no real substitute.

Get Hood's Sarsaparilla today in the usual liquid form or in the chocolate tablets called Sarsatabs.

Wilford Harnden shot a fine deer one day last week.

Benny Mitchell of Tory Hill visited his uncle, G. D. Nickerson a few days recently.

Mr. and Mrs. George Willis of Salem visited Mr. and Mrs. G. D. Nickerson one day the first of the week.

Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Hinkley are living on their farm this winter.

Wilford Harnden is working on the new school house at Rangeley.

Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Hinkley visited Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Harnden one day the first of the week.

Mr. and Mrs. Archie Byron moved their family to Dryden the first of last week. They will be greatly missed.

Mr. and Mrs. Selden Hinkley of Rangeley spent Saturday night and Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Hinkley.

W. E. Hinkley sold a valuable horse recently.

Orland and Archie Byron each secured a fine deer last week.

Backaches, Headaches, Nervousness. And rheumatism, both in men and women, means kidney trouble. Do not allow it to progress beyond the reach of medicine but stop it promptly with Foley Kidney Pills. They regulate the action of the urinary organs. Tonic in action, quick in results. W. A. D. Cragin, Phillips, Maine.

Avon.

Avon Nov. 27, 1911.

Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Sampson entertained a few friends and neighbors at their silver wedding, November 1. All had a fine time. A treat of apples, candy, peanuts, and popcorn, also cigars was passed.

Stanley Savage recently shot a very nice deer.

Her View of It.

The child's daughter of the house had been sent into the parlor to entertain the unexpected guest. The woman inquired, by way of making conversation, where was the child's brother. "He's gone to the school of ministers to be pastorized," she was respectfully informed.

CHILDREN INJURED.

Ordinary Cathartics and Pills and Harsh Physic Cause Distressing Complaints.

You cannot be over-careful in the selection of medicine for children. Only the very gentlest bowel medicine should ever be given, except in emergency cases. Ordinary pills, cathartics and purgatives are apt to do more harm than good. They may cause griping, nausea and other distressing after-effects that are frequently health-destroying.

We personally recommend and guarantee Rexall Orderlies as the safest and most dependable remedy, which we know, for constipation and associate bowel disorders. We have such absolute faith in the virtues of this remedy that we sell it on our guarantee of money back in every instance where it fails to give entire satisfaction, and we urge all in need of such medicine to try it at our risk.

Rexall Orderlies are eaten just like candy, are particularly prompt and agreeable in action, may be taken at any time, day or night; do not cause diarrhoea, nausea, griping, excessive looseness, or other undesirable effects. They have a very mild but positive action upon the organs with which they come in contact, apparently acting as a regulative tonic upon the relaxed muscular coat of the bowels, thus overcoming weakness, and aiding to restore the bowels to more vigorous and healthy activity.

Rexall Orderlies commonly completely relieve constipation, except of course when of a surgical character. They also tend to overcome the necessity of constantly taking laxatives to keep the bowels in normal condition. Three sizes of packages, 10 cents, 25 cents, and 50 cents. Remember, you can obtain Rexall Remedies in Phillips only at our store, -The Rexall Store. W. A. D. Cragin, Phillips, Me.

REED'S MILL

Nov. 20, 1911.

A small congregation enjoyed a most excellent sermon by our pastor Rev. M. S. Hutchins. The singing was also much enjoyed. Miss Nellie Reed presided at the organ, Mrs. Harvey Wing and Miss Reed sang Soprano, Misses Ella Conant and Jennie Wheeler, Alto F. H. Hathway tenor and Rev. Mr. Hutchins Bass.

Clyde Hathway is among the lucky hunters having secured a six point buck last Saturday.

There will be services at the church in two weeks, Dec. 3, if the weather is favorable.

In the Sunday School contest between the Reds and Blues, the Reds were victorious.

In class No. 2 there was a prize offered for regular attendance, which was won by Miss Gladys Kinney.

Harry Heath was taken suddenly ill Saturday night. At first appendicitis was feared, but he is somewhat better at this writing.

F. H. Hathway has taken a job of Mr. Stowell of Dixfield to cut lumber on the Morrison lot and haul to Madrid village. Harvey Wing and Frank Beedy will work for him. They will go into camp sometime this week.

You Needn't keep on feeling distressed after eating, nor belching, nor experiencing nausea between meals. Hood's Sarsaparilla cures dyspepsia—it strengthens the stomach and other digestive organs for the proper performance of their functions. Take Hood's.

A Warm Bathroom

PERFECTION
SMOKELESS
OIL HEATER

Every mother should be careful that the children take their baths in a warm room. The chill of a cold room is dangerous after coming out of the hot water.

A Perfection Smokeless Oil Heater brings bathroom or bedroom to just the degree of warmth you want in five or ten minutes. All you have to do is to touch a match.

The Perfection Heater burns nine hours on one filling and is always ready for use. You can move it anywhere it is needed. There is no waste of fuel and heat warming unoccupied rooms. Just the heat you want, when and where you want it.

The Perfection is fitted with an automatic-locking flame spreader that prevents the wick being turned high enough to smoke and is easy to remove and drop back when cleaning.

Drums finished either in turquoise-blue enamel or plain steel; light and ornamental, yet strong and durable—suitable for any room in any house.

LOCAL NOTES

The Rebekah meeting held last Friday evening had a good attendance, numbering over 60. After the regular business was transacted an entertainment was given consisting of cobweb tangle; a Thanksgiving dream, Mrs. Fremont Scamman and Miss Albertine Butterfield; declamation, Harlan White; reading, Miss Blanche Kenniston. Refreshments were then served consisting of sandwiches, doughnuts, cake and coffee; the gentlemen found their partners by matched quotations. The committee on arrangements were Mr. and Mrs. F. B. Davenport, Mr. and Mrs. John Dunham, Mr. and Mrs. Elbridge Dill, Miss Bertha Davenport.

Phillips Camp, No. 8720, Modern Woodmen of America, will meet at Wilbur hall, Monday evening, December 4. They have two to adopt, officers to elect, and there will be a supper and entertainment. Neighbors know what it is to be entertained and it is hoped you will be present.

Miss Elma Byron is assisting in the Phillips Savings Bank for a few days.

Mr. and Mrs. O. H. Hersey will entertain at dinner Thursday, Dr. and Mrs. W. I. Blanchard and Jack Hubel.

The following party will be entertained on Thanksgiving day by Mr. and Mrs. Frank J. Toothaker: Clifford Hunter and family, Mr. and Mrs. O. M. Moore, and Francis and Miriam Conant of Strong and Miss Bertha Davenport.

Robert Wallace went to Boston Wednesday noon to join his wife for Thanksgiving with relatives. Mrs. Wallace has been there for a week.

A telegram was received Monday noon by Mrs. A. W. Bean, stating that her mother, Mrs. Hannah Mosher, died that morning. A letter was also received by her Monday night which was written by Mrs. Mosher Sunday afternoon in which there was no mention of illness. Mrs. Mosher has been afflicted with a serious heart trouble for some years past, and her death is undoubtedly due from that. Mrs. Bean went to Lowell Tuesday morning and is expected Thursday night with the remains. Funeral services will be held at the home of Mrs. Bean, Friday at 10 a. m.

Dr. and Mrs. Charles Cunningham of Auburn will spend Thanksgiving with the latter's father, F. N. Beal and family.

Mrs. D. F. Field and Master Richard are the guests for a week of her sister, Mrs. A. C. Norton in Farmington.

Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Parker will entertain his parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. M. Parker and Miss Bertha Beede. Thanksgiving Theirson, Floyd, who is unemployed in a drug store in Portland, came Wednesday night.

Uncle Eben.

"Dar is two kinds o' courage," said Uncle Eben. "One kind consists in not bein' skeered 'cause you's got too much sense an' de yuthea 'cause you ain' got enough."

A MAIL CARRIER'S LOAD

Seems heavier when he has a weak back and kidney trouble. Fred Duehren, Mail Carrier at Atchison, Kas., says: "I have been bothered with kidney and bladder trouble and had a severe pain across my back. Whenever I carried a heavy load of mail, my trouble increased. Some time ago, I started taking Foley's Kidney Pills and since taking them I have gotten entirely rid of all my kidney trouble and am as sound now as ever." W. A. D. Cragin, Phillips, Maine.

West Phillips.

West Phillips, November 29, 1911.

Among other items mentioned in a recent issue, was that of potatoes; in addition to these it may be said C. B. Hunter raised 700 bushels the past season, and Alfred Toothaker 550 bushels. In extension to this crop it may be said that Mr. Hunter raised 110 barrels of apples which are being packed for shipping today.

I also made reference to some extra work done by farmers but it has been said many times that "shoe-maker's children go barefoot" and in illustration of this I forgot to mention that W. S. Hodges has put in a new roll-way to our cellar; this, as the walls and steps are laid in cement, is no small job.

Reference was also made to some recent deer shooting; more recently Curtis Lawrence shot a deer weighing two hundred pounds and the fattest one, yes, the fattest wild animal I ever saw.

George Hunter started out after a deer on the 25th and came back with him at night-fall. The recent snow storm makes traveling in the woods very hard. George showed patience and pluck in getting his deer.

The highways furnish bad traveling for the farmers have not got out breaking roads yet; they will do so very soon. Some are under contract to get out pick-week for the International this week, which must be done.

At Your Peril.

An accident insurance company has placed in the elevators of several office buildings the following notice: "This elevator is limited to fourteen persons. All over that number riding on this car do so at their own risk."—New York Sun.

AN ENGLISH AUTHOR WROTE:

"No shade, no shine, no fruit, no flowers, no leaves—November!" Many Americans would add no freedom from catarrh, which is so aggravated during this month that it becomes constantly troublesome. There is abundant proof that catarrh is a constitutional disease. It is related to scrofula and consumption, being one of the wasting diseases. Hood's Sarsaparilla has shown that what is capable of eradicating scrofula, completely cure catarrh, and taken in time prevents consumption. We cannot see how any sufferer can put off taking this medicine, in view of the widely published record of its radical and permanent cures. It is undoubtedly America's Greatest Medicine for America's Greatest Disease—Catarrh.

Temple.

Temple, Me., Nov. 13, 1911.

David Wilber and Will Locklin took a trip to Madrid last week.

Millard Norton had a close call last week. He was gathering some leaves very early in the morning to make a bed for his pig, when Alvin Smith, who was out hunting, mistook him for a deer and fired. The bullet just grazed Mr. Norton's nose, taking off a small piece of flesh. It seems very strange that any one should fire until they are sure what they see when so many lose life by just such reckless shooting.

Miss Mildred Savage spent Saturday and Sunday at Dryden with her teacher, Miss Linna Howland.

Charles Norton of Strong is making some repairs on his house here.

Daniel Collins has moved to the home of his niece, Mrs. E. P. Hosmer, to spend the winter.

A Mother Goose social was held at the Intervale church last Saturday evening, with an entertainment consisting of music by A. L. Sampson, banjo; Mrs. J. S. Mannock, mandolin; and Mr. S. on the octrina, and tableaux representing thirteen Mother Goose rhymes, done mostly by the children. Mrs. A. L. Sampson representing Mother Goose, took charge and also read twice. $11.45 was cleared.

SAVED MANY FROM DEATH. Experience in the drug business. "What I always like to do," he writes, "is to recommend Dr. King's New Discovery for weak, sore lungs, hard colds, hoarseness, obstinate coughs, la-grippe, croup, asthma or other bronchial affection, for I feel sure that a number of my neighbors are alive and well to-day because they took my advice to use it. I honestly believe it's the best throat and lung medicine that's made." Easy to prove he's right. Get a trial bottle free, or regular 50c or $1.00 bottle. Guaranteed by W. A. D. Cragin's; Chas. E. Dyer's of Strong; L. L. Mitchell's of Kingfield; Riddle's Pharmacy of Rangeley.

EAST MADRID.

East Madrid, Me., Nov. 27, 1911.

There will be a box supper at the school-house next Saturday evening, December 2. All are cordially invited.

Mrs. N. D. Wing picked her last bouquet of flowers from her garden on November 8.

The Oberton League was very pleasantly entertained last Wednesday by Mrs. F. H. Thorpe with a fine picnic dinner. It will meet on December 6 with Mrs. Solon Mechem. It is hoped there will be as good attendance as there was at our last meeting.

Lester Brown of Madison, visited his brother, Everett Brown, a few days recently.

Mr. and Mrs. William Taggard, who have been visiting Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Wells for a few weeks, have returned home.

Lawrence and Lene Cross of Kingfield, are visiting their grandmother, Mrs. Cora Wheeler.

Messrs. James Tracy and Victor Sacre of Lewiston, were recent hunters at F. H. Thrope's.

A HOUSEHOLD MEDICINE

That stops coughs quickly and cures colds is Foley's Honey and Tar Compound. Mrs. Anna Pelzer, 2526 Jefferson St., South Omaha, Neb., says: "I can recommend Foley's Honey and Tar Compound as a sure cure for coughs and colds. It cured my daughter of a bad cold and my neighbor, Mrs. Benson, cured her whole family with Foley's Honey and Tar Compound. Everyone in our neighborhood speak highly of it." W. A. D.
