XMAS SHIP TO BE SENT

Methodist Church of Phillips to Send a Box

The Methodist church is preparing to send a box and all in the community are asked to contribute.

All have heard of "The Christmas Ship" which is to sail from America early in November laden with Christmas gifts to the broken families of war-stricken Europe. The United States Government has set apart a battle ship to carry these gifts across the sea and the governments of Europe are preparing for their proper distribution. These gifts will carry Christmas cheer to countless women and children made homeless and destitute by the awful scourge of war.

We are asked to send such articles as mittens, gloves, sweaters, mufflers, caps, suits, dresses, coats, dress goods, toys of all sorts, shoes, stockings, underwear, handkerchiefs, ribbons, household linens, baby clothing of all sorts, aprons, sewing outfits, shawls, boxes candy and all useful articles.

The Methodist church in response to the call are preparing a box to go on this ship. In order to reach New York in time for the loading of the ship, this box must leave here on Saturday of this week. All in the community are asked to make a contribution toward this object which

RENEWAL OF OLD FRIENDSHIPS

Weld Home Circle Gather at the Grange Hall, Phillips

The Weld Home Circle held their annual meeting at the Grange Hall Saturday, October 24, with an all-day meeting.

Plans were made to meet at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Noble on the Mile Square, but as the date of the meeting was late, the weather was too cool for an out-of-doors picnic. The forenoon was taken up in renewing friendships and at 12.30 p. m. dinner was called with the following in charge of it: Mrs. Eva Toothaker, Mrs. Arthur Beedy and Mr. and Mrs. Elwin Webber. About 60 were seated at the tables for the fine dinner which the committee had solicited.

After dinner the business meeting of the circle was held and the following officers elected: President, J. E. Noble; 1st vice president, Mrs. J. E. Noble; 2nd vice president, Mrs. Eva Toothaker; secretary, Miss Belle Phillips; treasurer, Miss Shirley Holt. Eight new members from Weld were taken in at this meeting.

The dinner and entertainment committees for next year were left with the president and vice presidents to appoint another fall when it was learned where the meeting would be held. It is thought it may be held in Weld another year. After the business of the circle was dispensed with the following program was carried out: Piano solo, Gertrud Dunham; song, Hollis Holt, who responded to an encore; piano solo, Miss Lillian Toothaker; instrumental music, Miss Shirley Holt, Hollis Holt and Henry Scamman; vocal solo, "Sing Me the Rosary," Miss Wilhelmine Skolfield, who also responded to an encore. The remainder of the afternoon was passed in singing old time songs with Miss Shirley Holt at the piano. A very pleasant day was passed by all.

OBITUARY.

ADA LOUISA HUNTER

Ada Louisa Kelley was born in Phillips April 29, 1848 and died in Phillips village Oct. 14, 1914. Her parents were Martin C. and Betsey L. Kelley. They had five children of whom two, Mr. Sewall Kelley and Mrs. Frank Lowell are now living.

Ada was married June 14, 1868 to Mr. Wilson Hammons. Mr. and Mrs. Hammons went west and spent several years in New York, Minnesota and Chicago. After returning to Maine they lived in Bethel and then in Alfred. Mr. and Mrs. Hammons had four children, Wilson, Betsey, Frederick and Charles.

Mrs. Hammons was married in 1880 to Mr. Hiram A. Hunter of Phillips, to whom were born two daughters, Ada Mabel, now Mrs. W. Henry True and Edith Mary, who has been her mother's faithful companion and home-maker through the years of her illness. At Mr. Hunter's death in 1888 his wife was left alone to care for her little children. Bravely and well did she accept the task thus laid upon her and in its accomplishment her devoted toil and sacrifice were crowned with success.

For many years Mrs. Hunter has been a great sufferer from rheumatic troubles and for the last thirteen years has been confined to her wheelchair, obliged to forego the more active duties and pleasures of life, but through all these years she has been so cheery and uncomplaining that all who sought her presence have gone away encouraged and strengthened.

As the daughter of Martin Kelley, so many years chorister at Union church, Mrs. Hunter had a goodly gift of musical ability which, as long as she was able she used to help the church services in her town. In her early life she was a member of her father's choir at Union church, later she sang for many years at the Methodist church in Phillips, where she was organist for twelve years and of which church she was a loyal member and worker.

In her last months of failing health Mrs. Hunter has been lovingly cared for by her daughters, Mrs. True and Miss Edith Hunter. She leaves in addition to the sister and brother above mentioned, three daughters, Miss Betsy Hammons of Seattle, Washington; Mrs. W. Henry True of Phillips, and Miss Edith Hunter of Phillips and two sons, Mr. Frederick Hammons of Seattle, Washington and Mr. Charles Hammons of Phillips. Her oldest son, Mr. Wilson P. Hammons died in Seattle seven years ago.

The funeral was October 16 from her home and was conducted by Mr. Charles F. Chandler. Rev. M. S. Hutchins as officiating clergyman spoke of the mother's faithfulness and love as an illustration of God's tenderness and care.

A profusion of beautiful flowers told of the sorrow and affection of the many friends who mourned the departure of one who through the path of suffering had won for herself a character of cheerfulness, loyalty and kindness to all.

List of flowers: Easter lilies, Fred, Bessie, and Eva Hammons, Seattle, Wash.; pink roses, Miss Edith Hunter, Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Hammons, and Mr. and Mrs. W. Henry True; white roses, Mr. and Mrs. A. JOYS OF FOX HUNTING

Many Western Massachusetts Clubs Soon to Hold Meetings

Fox hunting! Here is a phrase to conjure with. Here are two words which can be set down in a class with "Spanish main," "Robin Hood," "Arabian Nights," for the sake of the vividness with which they bring a distinct picture to mind. Red coats booted, pot-bellied squires, clean-limbed, dock-tailed bay hunting nags, rosy-cheeked grooms, short-haired white hounds with great irregular brown blotches on their coats, roast beef, mugs of foaming ale, church-warden pipes, roaring fires and boldy buxom serving wenches—all these, are they not in the picture painted by these magic words come down to us from the days when gout and good round oaths were as fashionable as appendicitis and the one-step of to-day? Are they not, indeed! In the mere words alone one can hear the crisp notes of the huntsman's horn, the beating of hoofs, and yelping of the pack; one can feel the keen air sweeping across his face and through his hair, and the rise, poise, drop, jounce, as his mount clears the fence and ditch preparatory to dashing off, abandoned and wild with eagerness, across the stubble field beyond. Such, one imagines, must have been the favored sport of those light-hearted, care-free old gallants of Merrie England in the pre-industrial days which can never by any chance come back.

That the old-time picturesqueness of the English fox hunt is next to impossible in present-day New England, can readily be understood. But such being the case it is a lucky thing that there are still some who love the ring of the words "Fox hunt," and follow out their predilections in such modified forms as they find possible. Many a town in the western part of the state and quite a few in other counties, have regularly organized fox hunts which take place each fall and are attended by much merriment and a great deal of healthy exercise and the enjoyment of the open air. Of course it is somewhat of a comedown from the old-time riding hunt when it becomes necessary to wait for old reynard to be chased past and then shoot him in the neck with a shotgun or rifle. But if any think that there is a lack of sportsmanship in such a method, it must be remembered that to-day the fox is not nurtured for the sake of the hunt but considered somewhat of a pest by the rural communities whose inhabitants are rather glad to get rid of him.

Nevertheless the fox enjoys state protection from hunting in this state during seven months of the year, and is lawful game for hunters only during the five months beginning October 1. So it is during this month and the next that the regularly organized annual hunts are held, although in the winter months a number of hunters, alone or in pairs or threes, go out to get a brush or put an end to depredations on certain chicken roosts in which they have an interest. It is to the credit of Massachusetts fox hunters that they have a high reputation for letting the red-coated marauder alone during the seven months when the state law bids them keep hands off. The fact that he is no good to eat at any time and that pelts are good only during the cool and cold weather, may be in part responsible for this, but that is no good reason for detracting from the honor of those who hunt.

It is customary for fox hunters to make trips into the woods during the closed season to "spot" their quarry, and make mental notes of his whereabouts that come in handy when the actual hunting season arrives. This is done, however, with almost all kinds of game, and is responsible for most of the deer killed during the first days of the season when that animal is fair prey. Many hunters have already been out to the places where they had seen foxes during the closed season, and some of them have succeeded in bagging their game. The fact that the past week or so has been very dry is unfavorable to fox hunters, for as soon as the leaves and grass dry the strong scent vanishes with the moisture. This makes it necessary to put in any real efforts during the early hours of the day before the sun has dried off all of the dew.

In Belchertown, in Westfield, and in a number of other communities in this general neighborhood, are regularly organized fox hunts which assemble each fall, make their kills and enjoy two or three days of good fellowship attended by the best kind of appetites and plenty of good food with which to satisfy them. Another famous fox hunting club is the Brunswick foxhound club, which will hold its 26th annual foxhound field trials and its 10th annual bench show during the coming week at Medfield. The field trials at Medfield are open to all American and English foxhounds and harriers, and two stakes will be run, a derby and an all-age. The derby comes tomorrow and the all-age run on Tuesday. The interesting running rules of the Brunswick foxhound club are as follows:—

1. Entries in the all-age and derby stakes must be made in the name of the owner on the evening preceding the starting of the stake in question.
2. When an entry is once made withdrawal for any cause can only be made with the consent of the master of hounds and president, and will cause forfeiture of entrance fees.
3. The name, markings, age, strain, sire, dam, and sex of each hound entered shall be carefully recorded, together with the name of the owner, and these must be noted by the secretary in the report of the trials.
4. There shall not be less than three judges who shall be appointed by the committee on field trial judges.
5. The judges must be disinterested persons of large fox-hunting experience and need not be members of the club.
6. The judges, after the hounds are cast loose, shall do their best to gain such positions as will enable them to see the work of the hounds. They shall have full discretion in determining the relative merits of the hounds, but are to be guided by the rules in computing averages and awarding prizes.
7. The master of hounds shall have charge of the hounds in the field, and shall give notice each night of the hour of starting on the following morning, the stake to be run, and the ground to be drawn. He shall give the handlers orders to cast loose, and shall with the consent of the chairman of the judges give the signal for the ending of each day's trial.

8. Handlers shall at all times be under the control of the master of hounds, and shall obey his orders. After the cast off they may urge on their hounds with their voices only, provided they do not interfere with an opponent's hounds to their disadvantage. The entries of anyone so interfering shall be disqualified.
9. The derby shall be started before the all-age. Both stakes shall be run till the judges are ready to give their decision.
10. The hounds in the all-age stake may be divided into two packs, if the officers of the club deem it advisable. If so divided these packs shall be run as one pack, till the first and second days of the trials. In the evening of the first day, the judges shall post the names of the hounds in each pack that they wish to see run on the second day. In the evening of the second day, the judges shall post the names of the hounds they wish to see run on the third day. Thereafter the hounds shall be run as one pack, till the judges make the awards.
11. No person shall attempt to influence a judge either before, during or after a race. Anyone so doing shall be expelled from the club.
12. Hounds thrown out in the start shall be noted and given due credit when they get in, or start and run another fox. Should there be a division into several packs, the judges must divide themselves accordingly and note the work of each pack.
13. A hound thrown out and coming in, and refusing to hunt, or bark to others within good hearing distance, shall receive no prize.
14. A hound lost during a run and not found until the trials are partially or wholly completed, shall be given due credit for the time run.
15. No hound shall be allowed to run in a stake in which it has not been entered, and the owner shall remove such hound, or in his absence the master of hounds shall cause the removal.
16. Bitches in season shall not be allowed at the trials. Castrated dogs and spayed bitches shall be debarred from running in the trials, and any so run shall forfeit to the club all prizes won.
17. A hound to be eligible for the highest general average must have been entered and run in the all-age stake.
18. The shooting of foxes driven by hounds entered in the trials will not be permitted.
19. Should any owner desire to enter a protest against a decision of the judges, he must make it in writing and present it to the secretary before 9 p. m., on the day in which the decision was rendered.
20. If the owner of an entry cannot be present at the trials, he shall appoint an agent to act for him, and shall notify the secretary in writing stating whom he has chosen.
21. No member of the club shall hunt on the grounds selected for the trials within three weeks preceding the trials under penalty of disqualification. No hound shall be eligible to compete in the trials that has been hunted on the trial grounds within three weeks preceding the trials.

MAKING A TROUT POND

Some ten years ago, while spending my vacation with a farmer friend in New Jersey, I noticed a large mirey spot where the water ran away from my friend's milk house, and I conceived the idea that I could make a small trout pond out of that patch with but little labor. My friend had no objection, and even offered to help me, so one day we got his team of horses and hitched them to his horse scoop, or shovel, and went to work. We put in a full day, and at night had a much larger hole than we anticipated. I completed the job in another two days, using the stone from the fields to make my dam, which has stood as made by me ten years ago.

I put watercress and eel grass in the pond for cover for the fish, and also planted water lilies. I set out a fair sized weeping willow sapling on the bank, which has since grown thirty feet high, and shelters the entire pool at certain times in the day. I got my supply of trout with hook and in about three miles away, and planted, all told, perhaps fifty trout of all sizes up to about twelve inches. My trout spawned that fall, and in the spring I had hundreds of small trout in my pond. I took several large ones on flies for a meal now and then. A little cooked chopped liver was the only thing I ever fed them, and I found later it was not even necessary to give them anything.

The second year I made a succession of small pools in the brook all the way to the river which is 300 yards distant, and the following year I began to catch fish in these small pools. Two years later I caught in the river which had been passed up by the State commission as not good enough for the propagation of trout. There is no doubt my little trout pond had stocked that river which is a considerable stream. For ten years I have had a lot of fun out of that trout pond, and I expect many more years of fun out of it. I did not expend one cent on the pond, and not more than five days' full work, which was excellent exercise for a city business man.

There are hundreds of just such spots as I dug out, and a little work will transform them into a dandy little trout pond. Of course, there must be a sufficient flow of water to keep the pool from becoming stagnant. I had trouble one year with kingfishers, and they got quite a few trout before I got wise to the fact that my pond was supplying the daily meal. I put up a stretch of wire across the pond with variegated colored rags banding at intervals along the wire, and this way very effective and I never had any more trouble from kingfishers.

This spring I took one trout of 2½ pounds weight out of my pond, and last year I took out one of my original stock which had worn out as a breeder, that weighed 4 pounds 2 ounces. I had hooked that old trout at least two dozen times in the past nine years. He was so tame he would take a worm thrown him and hang around for another. He now decorates my den mounted on a board. Go to it boys, select a spot and make your own trout pond, and see the fun you get out of it.—The Game Breeder.

Fresh Tobacco Never Bites; Dry, Cut-up Tobacco Does

Only when the natural moisture dries out of tobacco can a "bite" get into it. In the Sickle plug, all the moisture, flavor and fragrance are pressed in and kept in by the natural leaf wrapper. Every pipeful you whittle off the plug is fresh—so you always get a slow-burning, cool, sweet, satisfying smoke.

If you want your tobacco already cut up for you, in packages, you have to be content with dry tobacco, that burns fast and hot, and bites your tongue.

That's why experienced smokers cut up their own tobacco, from the Sickle plug. They get more tobacco, because they don't pay for a package—and better tobacco, because it's always fresh.

HUNTING CONDITIONS IN VARIOUS SECTIONS.

The woods throughout the section of Calais in Washington county are full of gunners these days, but up to the present hunters have reported scant success in their search for big game. Some good bags of partridges have been secured, however, these birds being unusually plentiful this year. Deer and moose were plentiful before the opening of the hunting season, but the conditions for hunting were unfavorable until the present week, when heavy rains softened the ground so that one could pass through the woods without creating a general alarm. Quite a number of hunters from other states are in Washington county at present, but the rush will not be on until after Nov. 1, when moose may legally be killed.

Every man in Old Town who can carry a rifle and is able to get away for the time necessary, is hiking for the woods these fine fall days with both eyes wide open for deer signs, while the brush hunters are out with their shot-scatterers, making frequently less the large flock of

A MORNING PARTY IN HONOR OF SON'STERS SOON TO TRAVEL SOUTHWARD.

Just a few mornings ago the birds called me to the back door, and such a lot of them as there were. It was a myrtle warbler who gave the first invitation to come out, and his invitation was the most insistent, for he came right up to the dining room window, perched on the window casing and looked in as much as to say, "If you don't come out I will come right in where you are. That was too much for me, and so armed with the field glasses, I joined the birds in the back yard, and so good a time did we have, that it was hard work to leave the fun and come in to prosaic housework.

In just that fifteen minutes and close to the house I saw hundreds of slate colored juncos, white throated sparrows, song sparrows, crows, and I heard a bluejay off in the pasture. Soon after I left the party I heard a chick-a-dee, who was a little late in arriving. The song sparrow sang for me, the bluebird sang too, and the robins kept up a constant chatter. I had not heard the song sparrow's voice for a long time, and it seems as if summer had come back when his 'olit, olit, olit' rang out. The soft tones of the bluebird added to the early spring or summer sensation, and the robin's "cheer-up" was just as happy a note as it is on a warm spring morning.

This was the first time I had ever had an opportunity to watch a white-throated sparrow at close range, and this little bird with its mates seemed so friendly, not shy a bit.

The juncos spent most of the time quarreling over which one should have that seed. They not only quarreled but they fought, fist to fist, and I think they actually did have fists to use. They scolded, or they tried to, but it wasn't a real scold, for their voices are too musical, not scold voices at all.

The little warblers flashed their bright yellow patches here and there now swaying on golden red plumes, now trying to cling upside down to spears of grass. What a loss to the glory of the fall season, it would be if those little yellow spots were not flying about, and their little peep is just as lively as the movements of the tiny bodies.

A day or two later when out walking through the woods I came across a hermit thrush. For fully five minutes I watched him, standing within a few feet of him. He seemed entirely unconscious of a human being near by. Not a sound did he make, just hopped around as if for exercise, for he was not finding any food. The following day I saw another hermit thrush, this time in the woods where I had heard so many singing in the summer time. Now I did wish he would sing again, but no, he had no song for me, but he was kind enough to sit on the dead limb in an apple tree and turn this way and that, giving me an excellent view of him from all angles.

It wasn't far from here that, one evening last summer just at twilight, I stood for half an hour listening to the song of a hermit who sat in a tree close to me, so near that I could see his little throat swell as he sang his beautiful evening hymn. Only once before had I ever seen a hermit thrush when he was singing, and it hardly seemed possible that such music could come from such a little sober colored bird.

Finding a nighthawk's nest was an other experience of the summer. Two speckled eggs laid on the ground without any pretense of a nest at all. We knew the eggs were there somewhere, but had failed to find them until one morning we scared up the mother bird, who flew along just as if she had broken a wing, keeping low to the ground. We searched the vicinity where she had apparently been, and finally came onto these eggs. So near like the ground did they look that we almost stepped on them before seeing them. The next day we went again, but found only shells there. Later we found that the birds had hatched, and had been seen running around there.

A crested flycatcher, yes several of them, came to visit us last summer. While this flycatcher is not uncommon, it was new to me, and the bird books were called into service. For several days the flycatchers were here, then they left, and that was the last of them for the season.—S. M. C. H. of Greene, Me., in Lewiston Sun.

GOOD CATCH FOR SIX WEEKS' STAY

Ninety Per Cent of all Fish Caught Were Taken on Fly

During the camping season of six weeks' stay at Tufts Pond, William E. Farrar and W. P. Watson caught on a fly thirteen trout and one salmon aggregating 33½ pounds in weight. The average weight was 2 11-28 pounds. They were taken on the following dates: July 3, a 2½ pound trout; July 4 1½ pound trout; July 6, 2½ pound trout; July 8, 2½ pound trout; July 10, 2 pound trout; July 22, 3½ pound salmon; July 23, 2½ pound trout; July 24, 2 pound trout; August 12, 1½ pound trout; August 24, 2½ pound trout; August 25, 1½ pound trout; August 26, 4½ pound trout; September 11, 3 pound trout. Besides the above there were many ½ and ¾ pound trout. One thousand trout were caught and 385 killed. 90 per cent of all fish caught were taken on a fly and those put back were uninjured. This is the record of the catch at the Farrar cottage only.

LOBSTER REARING STATION

That the United States Bureau of Fisheries is somewhat uncertain about its work of lobster propagation in Maine coast waters is evident from its recent refusal to buy any more seed lobsters from the fishermen after all the hard work its propagation officials and the state lobster wardens have been to in inducing the lobstermen to go to the trouble of saving the "seeders" for the Government. Many reasons are given by the bureau for refusing to longer share with the state the expense of collecting and distributing the seeds, although a willingness is expressed to handle the seeds that are furnished by the state.

Bureau officials, however, state that they are willing to do anything that seems feasible to them in conserving Maine's lobster industry. Their latest proposition is the establishment of a rearing station. It will be recalled that some weeks ago the Bureau of Fisheries suggested that it might establish such a plant at some suitable point on the coast, the object being to take the hatched fry and rear it to the fourth moult when it was believed the baby lobster would be able to shift for itself and that more would be accommodate toward re-stocking the sea than by depositing the eggs themselves broadcast on the surface to become free lunch for the myriads of small fishes near the shore.

That the establishment of such a rearing station is actually contemplated is evident from a bill introduced in the House of Representatives on May 5 by Congressman Hinds, which provides for the erection of a lobster rearing station at some suitable point on the Atlantic coast.

The locality is to be selected by the secretary of commerce and although the bill does not say so, the Maine coast will doubtless be selected. The bill further provides that before any final steps shall have been taken for the construction of a lobster rearing plant in accordance with the act, the state in which the plant is located, through appropriate legislative action, shall accord to the United States commissioner of fisheries and his duly authorized agents the right to conduct such plant and all operations connected therewith, in any manner and at any time that may by them be considered necessary and proper, and fishery laws of the state to the contrary notwithstanding. Also that the operations may be suspended by the secretary of commerce whenever in his judgment fishery laws and regulations are allowed to remain so inadequate as to impair the efficiency of the plant.

The sum of $35,000 is designated as the suitable amount for the establishment of the plant, including the purchase of the site, construction, purchase of equipment and operating expenses for one year. The bill was referred to the committee on the merchant marine and fisheries and ordered to be printed. Reading between the lines it is evident that the Bureau of Fisheries wishes to be absolutely unhampered by state laws in its experiments with lobster rearing. It also leaves a loophole in which to quit if the experiments are unsuccessful.

That the Bureau of Fisheries does not express itself in any too sanguin a manner over the success of lobster rearing is not strange perhaps in view of the stand many authorities are now taking as to the futility of attempts to restock the boundless sea. At the same time it indicates a willingness to co-operate with state officials. Even the Bureau of Fisheries admits that the greatest menace to the Atlantic fisheries comes from the ravages of the shark family, the natural enemies to lobsters and all kinds of food fishes. But so far it has withheld its approval of the remedies suggested feeling that they are either impracticable or call for too large an outlay of money. At the same time the Bureau officials are giving their earnest efforts to a study of the situation and a consideration of the most practical methods of lessening the ravages of the sharks which beyond question are playing havoc with the fishermen's occupation. It is sincerely to be hoped that the solution of the problem will be discovered before it is too late.—Portland Express.

ALL PASSESS WILL GO

No One Will Ride Free After This Month.

After Oct. 30, 1914, practically all Maine Central, Bangor & Aroostook and other Maine railroad annual passes cease to be.

An announcement was made a few days ago from the president's office of the Maine Central railroad and it is presumed will be followed by similar notices from the offices of presidents of other Maine railroads, calling in the "annuals."

This action is a result of the enactment by referendum of the public utilities law, which goes into operation November first. Under the terms of the interstate commerce law all railroad passes for use on interstate journeys have long since been abolished. But it still was in the legal power of railroads to issue passes for journeys within the state. Within the past few years the number of annual railroad passes issued by Maine railroads has been greatly decreased and it is said that they were confined almost wholly to those persons who were connected with the operation of the road, either directly or indirectly.

The terms of the new public utilities law which touch the case in hand are as follows:

"It shall be unlawful for any persons, firm or corporation, knowingly to solicit, accept or receive any rebate, discount, or discrimination in respect to any service rendered, to be rendered, by any public utilities or for any service in connection therewith whereby any such service shall in any manner or by any device whatsoever rendered free or at a rate less than named in the schedules enforced as provided herein or whereby any service or advantage is received other than is herein specified; provided that this act shall not prohibit such free or reduced rate of transportation by common carriers as is defined and provided for in the acts of Congress entitled, 'An Act to Regulate Commerce' and acts amendatory thereof. Nor shall it be construed to prohibit any public utility from granting service at reduced rates for charitable and benevolent purposes, provided the same be approved by the commission, nor shall it be unlawful for any public utility to make special rates to its employees, or in cases of emergency service, nor shall the furnishing by any public utility of any product or service at the rates and upon the terms and conditions provided for in any contract in existence January 1913, be construed as constituting a discrimination or undue or unreasonable preference or advantage within the meaning specified; provided, however, that when any such contract or contracts are or become terminable by notice by such utility, the commission shall have power in its discretion, to direct, by order, that such contract or contracts shall be terminated by such utility as and when directed by the said order. A person, firm or corporation violating the provisions of this section shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1000 for each offense."

The broadest possible interpretation has been given this law by the Maine railroads and annual passes which have been held by some of those who are in the closest possible relations to Maine railroads have been withdrawn. It is likely that henceforth they will be confined solely to the directors and the actual working officials.

AROUND THE LOCAL STORES

Have you seen the sleeping garments for children at C. M. Hoyt's. They are just the thing for the little ones.

A new lot of confectionery and some juicy grape fruit at E. R. Toothaker's.

You will find everything in the Modern Clarion Range that you are looking for in a cook stove. Among the many good qualities are the following: A good baker, consumes little fuel, has direct draft over damper, and is an ornament to any kitchen. The Phillips Hardware Company can supply you.

The farmers will want some of those heavy pants, the Johnson pants that are guaranteed for their wearing quality. D. F. Hoyt, the clothier, can fit you out.

All kinds of fresh vegetables can be found at the store of George Bean. The venison which he had in the market the first of the week disappeared as quickly as morning dew.

These cold mornings you will want some of the fleece lined underwear that G. B. Sedgely & Co. have in stock. They have so many kinds and quality that they can suit you perfectly.

There is a limited time to get one of those fountain pens at A. G. Cronk-hite's. Don't delay until it is too late. A dollar saved is a dollar earned.

C. F. Chandler & Son have in stock a most excellent line of felt mattresses, nearly if not equal, to the hair mattresses. They also have some good warm puffs to go with them.

At R. H. Preble's, the druggist, you can purchase a 50 cent book for 40 cents, and this is some of the latest fiction.

Try the C. H. McKenzie Trading Co. for novelties in fancy work, embroidery silk, etc. They have just received a nice lot.

IN AND ABOUT PHILLIPS

Mr. and Mrs. Edgar R. Toothaker and youngest child are in Portland this week.

W. Henry True and Charles Hammons have been at Will True's camp on a hunting trip this week. They returned without deer.

A marked improvement has been made in the residence of Mr. and Mrs. G. L. Voter, who reside about two miles outside the village. They have had the roof raised and have five large rooms on the second floor. New hardwood floors have been laid and new windows were added some time ago. The chimneys have been re-built and a cement hearth before the open fireplace in the living room. The location of the house is one of the finest in this section as it is on a high elevation and commands a grand view. Mr. Voter's son-in-law, Samuel Sargent, who is a first-class carpenter has been the workman and Mr. and Mrs. Sargent will occupy some of the rooms.

A Farmers' Institute will be held in the Grange hall, Phillips, November 5, at 10.30 and 1.30. There will be good speakers and interesting subjects will be discussed. North Franklin Grange will undoubtedly serve a picnic dinner.

O. M. Vose was on a business trip to Portland last week. Mrs. Vose attended the Topsham fair.

Mrs. Edward Greenwood and Miss Emma Russell are in Portland this week, Miss Russell to attend the Teachers' convention.

Principal F. M. Hammond, Miss L. H. Dennison, Lester F. Bean are attending the Teachers' convention in Portland.

Dr. and Mrs. Charles Cunningham and little daughter Ruth, of Auburn were in town Sunday by auto.

Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Hoyt had as dinner guests last Sunday, Hon. and Mrs. J. Blaine Morrison and Mr. and Mrs. Carl Beedy.

Mrs. P. F. Bonney and Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Brownlow who have passed the summer at their cottage in Phillips left for their home in Cambridge, Mass., last week, going by auto. We shall hope to see them in Phillips again next year for the season.

The Leader Evaporator Company man has been in this section selling the new improved Leader Evaporator; also the best low down Gathering Tank and the easiest storage tank to keep clean on the market; also buckets, covers and spouts, and a full line of sugar makers' tools. Everyone who writes the Leader Evaporator Co., Burlington, Vt., will get a sugar makers' guide by return mail.—Adv.

We are very glad to be able to state that the item in a recent issue of this paper in regard to the death of Mr. George F. Towle of Canton, was incorrect and in a post card to his friend, Mr. M. W. Harden he says: "My passing this life reached me yesterday through a letter of inquiry from W. L. Jones to J. W. Thompson of Canton. I cannot understand what there was to make the story out of, as aside from acute neuralgia in my face and my rheumatism I am pretty well, and with my old Amati violin I think I could convince you, even now of the same. Nowadays I do not do dance business but eat and sleep very well." Maine Woods much regrets the publishing of the item but of course had no reason to think it unfounded as we were informed of the fact through several of his intimate friends. A traveling man brought the news to Phillips and stated that the death occurred about two weeks before that, and a person in town also stated that he had read it in some paper. W. L. Jones of Strong also has received a card from him saying that he is still alive and feeling well and wished to be remembered to his many friends in Franklin county. This is one of the times when we are pleased to find a mistake has been made.

A whist club has recently been organized and the meetings are to be held Thursday afternoons. Last week Mrs. D. F. Hoyt entertained and this week Mrs. F. S. Haley will be the hostess.

Through error the name of Florence Toothaker, as a member of the young ladies' degree staff of North Franklin Grange, was omitted in the report last week.

Don't forget the monthly business meeting of the Federated church at the Parish House, Monday evening, Nov. 2. Bring your suppers and your families and enjoy a social hour around the tea table before the meeting begins.

Last Friday Messrs. Seth M. Carter and son Charles Carter of Auburn came with their chauffeur, for a day's hunting, telephoning D. F. Field that they would like for him to join them on reaching Phillips and guide them into a good hunting section. Saturday morning they made a whirlwind tour to Mt. Blue, but returned to town about 10 without seeing any birds. They then started for a trip through the Dead River region, arriving home about 5 p. m., after a most delightful ride, but with only two birds, and no sign at deer. The party returned to Auburn Sunday.

At a regular stated meeting of Sherburne Chapter, O. E. S., held Wednesday evening it was voted to accept the invitation of Oppalunski Chapter, Strong, to visit them Friday evening of this week. A special train will leave Phillips at 7.15 and it is hoped that many of the members will plan to go, as it goes without question that the evening will be an enjoyable and profitable one. The fare will be 50 cents. The Worthy Matron Floy Hoyt appointed Mrs. O. H. Hersey, Mrs. C. H. McKenzie and Mrs. Ina Davenport committee for the next meeting.

Mrs. Cora Howard and mother, Mr. C. S. Hayden of Lewiston came Wednesday for a visit with their daughter and sister, Mrs. M. S. Kelley.

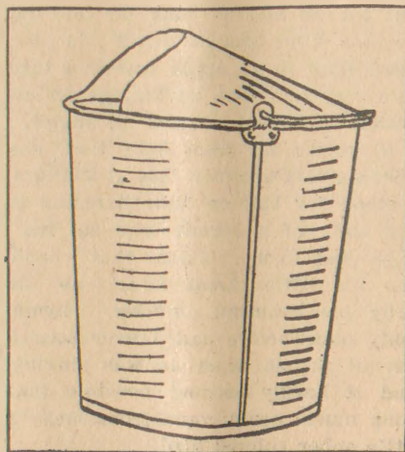

PRODUCTION OF CLEAN MILK

Do Not Allow Cows to Wade and Live in Filth—Sunlight is Most Excellent Sterilizer.

There is no one thing in particular to be observed in the production of clean milk. Anything that tends to cleanliness is desired. Keep the cows clean, and do not compel or allow them to wade and live in filth. This means clean yards and clean, well-bedded stalls. Everything short of this is positively repulsive and should not be tolerated any longer in a civilized community.

Stop the filthy practice known as "wetting the teats," by which is meant the drawing of a little milk into the hands with which to wet the teats before and during milking, leaving the excess of filthy milk to drop from the hands and teats into the pail.

Wash all utensils clean by first using lukewarm water, afterwards washing in warm water, and rinsing in an abundance of boiling water, then exposing until the next using in direct sunlight, which is a good sterilizer.

Use milk pails, cans, etc., for no other purpose but to hold milk.

Keep out of these utensils all sour or tainted milk even after they have been used for the day. Using them for this purpose at any time infects them so badly that no amount of washing is likely to clean them. Bacteria are invisible, and millions can find lodging places in the thin film of moisture that remains after dishes are apparently clean.

Brush down the cobwebs and keep the barn free from accumulations of dust and trash.

Whitewash the barn at least once a year.

APPEARANCE OF THE WHITE CAPS

A Pleasing Entertainment Given Under Auspices of the Federated Church

It had been announced for some weeks past that the White Caps were coming, and as the weather was unfavorable their visit was postponed for a week, but last Monday night they appeared at the Parish House and gave a very pleasing entertainment under the auspices of the Federated church.

Miss Alice Parker gave a little history of the White Caps stating that they were held by a band of Indians, and that the Indians were unable to support them and they went on the road traveling and giving entertainments and Phillips was on their route.

Following are the names of the young ladies on the program and also the names they were called when among the Red men:

Berilla McKenie	Will-o'-the wisp
Ferne Gould	Haughty Face
Hilda Whitney	Idle One
Gertrude E. Stillman	Talk Much
Kathleen Noble	Early Riser
Hortense B. Butler	Cooing Dove
Zera Batchelder	Answer Quick
Louise Davenport	Pleasant Voice
Alice E. Parker	Sharp Eyes

There were recitations by Will-o'-the-Wisp and Haughty Face; a piano duet by Idle One and Early Riser; solo, Pleasant Voice; duet, Talk Much and Answer Quick; solo, Cooing Dove; there were several selections by the entire company, comb band, drills, etc. Mrs. J. Blaine Morrison presided at the piano.

The program was much enjoyed by the 90 people who were in attendance.

The committee were Mrs. H. W. True, Mrs. Lester Bean and Mrs. J. Blaine Morrison.

This was the first of a series of entertainments which will be held through the winter under the auspices of the Federated church, one to be held each month with a different committee in charge, the proceeds to be used in the various running expenses of the church. We trust the success of the first one is a forerunner of those to follow. After the entertainment a social was enjoyed.

MAINE CENTRAL BUYS RAILROAD

The Maine Central voted to purchase the Rangeley Lakes & Megantic Railroad Co., at its annual meeting Wednesday afternoon. This is a road about eight miles in length running from Kennebago to Oquossoc. The action of the Maine Central in purchasing this property followed the meeting of the Rangeley Lake & Megantic Railroad Co., at which meeting the later company voted to sell to the Maine Central. Besides the Maine Central and the Rangeley Lake & Megantic Railroad Co., which held their annual meetings, the annual meetings were held of the Washington Co. Railroad Co., the Somerset Railroad Co., the Sand River & Rangeley Lake Railroad, the Bridgton & Saco River Co., the Bridgton Telegraph Co., the Kineo Co., and the Portland Terminal Co. The various boards of directors of all of the roads holding meetings organized with Morris McDonald as president and Charles H. Blanchard as clerk.

SHOOTS DEER FROM BARN

The party of three Messrs. A. W. McLeary, A. W. Bean, George Bean and Carroll Knapp, were mentioned last week as going on a hunting trip to the Gore, were a successful bunch of hunters. The three former returned Sunday with a deer apiece. Mr. Knapp did not go until a day or two later and he is still in that region and no doubt will come home well laden with game. His brother-in-law, Frank Harris and John Russell have been with him for a day or two past.

It was an obliging deer that Al Bean got a crack at for he walked very near the barn where Bean was stationed and he secured him without waiting a step.

STRATTON.

Oct. 26.

Edgar Hinds of Brockton, Mass., is visiting his father, L. T. Hinds and other relatives for two weeks.

The Pythian Sisters gave a select dance in Lander's hall Friday evening, October 23. The hall was very prettily decorated. Music by Mosher's orchestra of Farmington. There was a large crowd and a good time is reported.

At this writing, Tuesday morning the ground is covered with snow.

Mrs. O. C. Dolbier and son Merl Furber and Mrs. Odell Lander of Kingfield were in town last week to attend the funeral of their cousin, Glenn Scribner.

Mr. and Mrs. Bert Clark of Livermore Falls are guests of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Gordon.

Appeal for Help.

Ruth, who is two, was visiting her grandmother, who had some summer boarders with whom there was a little boy whom Ruth disliked very much, but who was fond of her. One day when Ruth was seated on a porch bench the little boy came up and sat down close beside her. She tried every method to remove him and finally called in desperation to her grandmother: "O, grandma, please do come and help me; I'm too much squeezed."

Why He Favored Left Hand.

Jimmie, aged four, was much inclined to use his left hand. One day he was busily drawing with his left hand when I said, "Jimmie, why do you use that hand?" He said, "Why, there always seems to be more machinery in that one."

Immense Damage by Rats.

No animal is more destructive to property or more dangerous to human health than the rat. The damage it does to property runs up into figures which stagger the imagination. It is estimated that there are in the United States at least 300,000,000 rats. They destroy a hundred million dollars' worth of grain in this country every year, or enough to feed one hen for every man, woman and child in the nation. The total annual cost of rats to the nation is estimated at $260,000,000.

Capes Practical and Capes Ornamental

CAPEs that are really practical are those made in three-quarter length, well fitted about the shoulders and full about the bottom. They are roomy, without being cumbersome, and they are comfortable. But the cape, plain and simple, is not as well liked for general wear as the capelike jacket and those combinations of cape and coat or cape and jacket, which costume makers have seized upon for making new effects in wraps.

The long, full cape is an ideal garment for evening wear. For this purpose it is developed in many fabrics. Black velvet, lined with white satin or brocades, and white silk or satin draped with black lace make themselves a place of honor in wraps for evening or other full dress. Often handsome furs in deep collars appear on these as on other brilliant fabrics. The long cape promises well in the rich brocades and plushes and embroidered silks and crepes so well adapted to it, especially in conjunction with fur used in broad collars or bands for trimming. For warmth the lighter fabrics are interlined.

Radlancy of Unselfishness.

Unselfish and noble acts are the most radiant epochs in the biography of souls. When wrought in earliest youth, they lie in the memory of age like the coral islands, green and sunny, amidst the melancholy waste of ocean.—Doctor Thomas

EUSTIS

Oct. 26.

The comet was visible a number of nights the past week.

Harley Ranger and wife and little girls, Phyllis and Thelma have returned home from down river and have gone to Big Island Camps to stay this winter. Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Robertson have moved into Mr. Ranger's house.

Ziba Davis is home from Farmington, where he has been working for a number of months.

Miss Hazel Douglass has gone to Kingfield and Freeman to visit relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. George Douglass have gone to Ledge Falls to cook for E. H. Look.

Donald Emery has come out from Big Island, where he has been carrying the mail.

Linwood Foster has returned to his home in Strong after visiting at Charles Wyman's for a few days.

Mrs. Laura Ricker and daughter, Mrs. Phil Wyman and children visited the former's son, George Ricker, Sunday, October 25.

Mr. and Mrs. F. L. Gordon of Stratton and Mr. and Mrs. Bert Clark of North Jay recently called on Mrs. E. A. Gordon.

Fair Warning.

A brazen-lunged newsboy in a western city has been having a good deal of fun at the expense of the wearers of freakish skirts. His method has the simplicity of genius. As his victim goes by she is startled to hear a loud cry: "Git out of town!" Her indignant look brings a repetition of the cry, with a slight addition which does not altogether propitiate her: "Git out of town—palpers!"

For smartness and a style touch the garment shown in the picture illustrates the effectiveness of the cavalier cape. Its best developments are in plain velvet with plain satin linings. It is made here in combination with a sleeveless jacket with flaring collar.

Many of the combination wraps are puzzling at first glance; one hardly knows whether to classify them in the cape list or not. Quite often what appears to be a simple cape turns out to be a sleeved garment. The ingenuity of designers has managed to introduce the lines of the cape into cloaks, and has evolved cape-jackets and cape-coats that are the most novel of the offerings for fall and winter wear in wraps.

Greece Rich in Marbles

Among other minerals the marbles of Greece must be placed in the front rank, no country being so rich in this product as the Hellenic kingdom. Seemingly inexhaustible beds are to be found in Attica, Euboea and the Peloponessus.

MAKE-UP OF YOUNG HEIFERS

Inheritance of Quality and Quantity of Milk Seem to Be Separate—Lots to Be Learned.

Roughly speaking, 25 per cent of sire or dam is transmitted to the offspring. Where a test such as milking quality can check this the female will show a slight preponderance, 29 per cent.

This refers to high-producing cows, and with them the ratio of high to medium offspring is about half and half, while with medium producing cows with better bulls the high producers would be but one high to seven medium. There are indications, though no proof, that production is linked to a sex factor, milk production being so closely interwoven with sex.

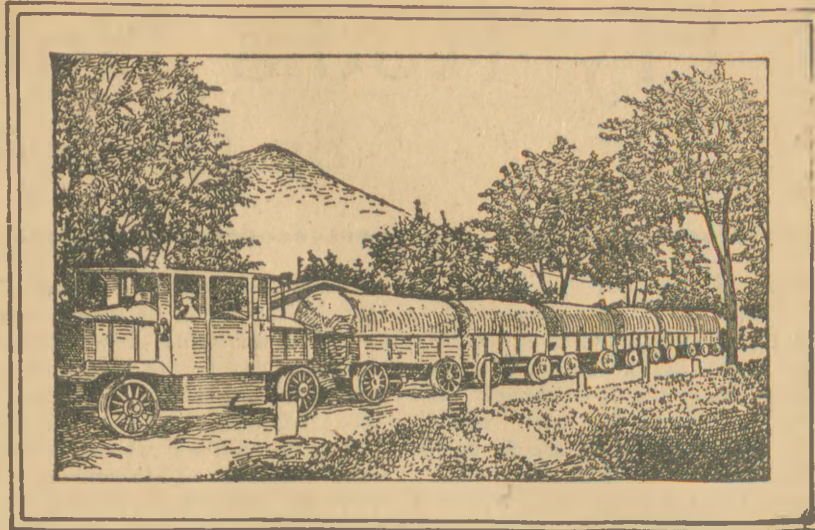

Inheritance of quantity and quality of milk seem to be separate, the number of fat globules in a given quantity of milk being about the same, the difference in the per cent of fat being due to larger globules.

There is a chemical difference between large and small globules, the former containing softer, lighter fats; the character of the fat may also determine the size of the globule. Probably much of the heredity for production lies in the size and character of the globules. We are still in the stage of investigating these things without being able to make positive statements, but the young dairyman will come to more positive knowledge by and by.

Shape of Silo.

The tall, slender type of silo has rapidly come into favor and has replaced the wider type, formerly constructed. There is a very good reason for this, since a larger amount of silage can be stored in a given space in this new type on account of the greater compression of the lower layers. Furthermore, there is little or no danger of spoiling in the case of a silo of small diameter, because a good layer of it can be fed off each day.

Not the Right Notion.

A very sordid notion prevalent in the minds of many, is that the schools are largely to teach the boy and girl how to earn money. In my mind, much more importance should be placed upon the proper enjoyment of it than upon the mere acquisition of wealth and other worldly goods. We school teachers should aim to teach the child to appreciate the finer things in life, such as right living, beautiful surroundings both indoors and out.—A. C. Morris.

Truly a Grasping Man.

"The graspiest man I ever knew," said Uncle Jerry Peebles, "was an old chap named Snoopins. Somebody told him once that when he breathed he took in oxygen and gave out carbon. He spent a whole day tryin' to find out which of them two gases cost the most if you had to buy 'em. He wanted to know whether he was makin' or losin' money when he breathed."

Explosion of Oil Lamps.

Oil lamps do explode sometimes, but very seldom. If the oil becomes heated in any way it may explode. Also if the wick is too small for the burner, the flame may penetrate down into the oil reservoir and ignite the oil vapor and air and cause an explosion.

The unassailable supremacy of the "Smiths" in London can be estimated from the telephone directory. The honorable family of Jones, for example, occupies not quite four pages. THE STATE Game Warden E. W. Ward of Millinocket has reported to the State Commissioners of Inland Fisheries and Game the prosecution of Pearl Willy of Norcross for having one mink in possession in closed season. Mr. Willy paid a fine of $13.

Capt. W. T. Pollard of Foxcroft was a visitor Thursday morning at the office of the Commissioners of Inland Fisheries and Game on matters of business. Mr. Pollard is a game warden in the vicinity of Foxcroft.

Company K, Colonel John J. Doole, of Portland, Chief Ordnance office of the Maine National Guard has gathered a very interesting collection of the various cartridges used by the European Nations now at war, together with facts about the arms in which they are used. The compilation was done from original research and is the most complete analysis of the various military weapons and their ammunition yet made. Any fact which would be of use for comparison has been compiled and the collection is an extremely instructive one for those interested in military shooting.

Returning hunters on the trains recently into Bangor included L. R. Robinson of Skowhegan, W. E. Smith of South Windham, F. C. Ward of Waterville, George A. Curtis of Medford, J. P. Webber and E. D. Ranco of Boston. Several deer were tagged to New York and Philadelphia hunters. A black bear was owned by F. W. Cole of Boston.

D. F. Wallace of 41 Sixth street, Bangor, has just returned from a hunting trip near Macwahoc stream, where he secured a small deer. Mr. Wallace was accompanied by Charles Floyd, Tom Keegan, and Daniel Floyd of Wypotitlock. He reports that there are plenty of hunters but few deer in that section.

A. B. Young, a New York sportsman who is a frequent visitor to this section, says the Calaïs Times, established a record at Great Lake stream recently by landing a four and a half pound salmon with a one ounce rod of which there are said to be only two in existence. This feat is said to equal the best world's record in fly fishing.

E. D. Jackson and A. E. Roderick of Farmington passed a week recently in camp on Alder Stream above Eustis. They secured many partridges.

KILL BIRDS WITH WHIP

Partridges have been killed under a wide variety of conditions, but one of the strangest ways of securing these much-sought game birds was that employed with success by John S. Titcomb while on his way to Wilton. He was driving along the new road, when his brindle bull terrier, Kyto, flushed a bird. The partridge alighted in a small tree near the road, perching on a limb about six feet from the ground. The dog made frantic efforts to jump high enough to seize the bird and kept up a continuous barking. Titcomb, contrary to his usual custom at this season, had left his gun at home. The bird was so entirely engrossed with the actions of the dog that Titcomb approached within a short distance and a well directed blow with his whip broke the partridge's neck. He showed the bird on his arrival at Wilton shortly afterward, the partridge without shot marks but with a broken neck bearing indisputable testimony to the method of its death.

CAN GET BIDDY EASILY FOR A STEW.

Old Town hunters who are also business men, have about concluded that if they can't get away to beat the brush for partridges, they need not despair of getting an occasional biddy for a stew, since the experience of Ovid Morin the other morning. Mr. Morin had been out in the woods back of Greenfield after a deer, but the brevity of his trip debarred him from attempting to pick up any grouse, much as he likes these birds. In the morning, after his return, he noticed the family cat pounce upon a bird in the yard, which he took to be a chicken. Hastening to the spot he rescued the supposed chicken and found it to be a partridge, entirely unharmed from the feline attack. Needless to say, Mr. Morin took advantage of the opportunity for a partridge stew thus unexpectedly afforded, and is now giving pussy all the liberty she wants, in case any more ruffed grouse stray into the dooryard. As Mr. Morin lives on Treat & Webster Island, within rifle shot of the heart of the business section of the city, this is regarded as the record for game killing within the city limits.

Rangeley Tavern, Rangeley, Oct. 24.—There never has been such a big travel during the month of October to the Rangeleys as this year. Every pleasant day automobile parties have been taking trips through the region and many come by narrow gauge from Farmington.

The first of the week Mr. and Mrs. Wm. P. Mason in their big touring car started for their home in Brooklyn, N. Y. They spent the month here, greatly enjoying the perfect autumn days which they spent touring over the country and not many nights did they return without partridge. The many friends of the Masons hope to greet them again early in the season of 1915.

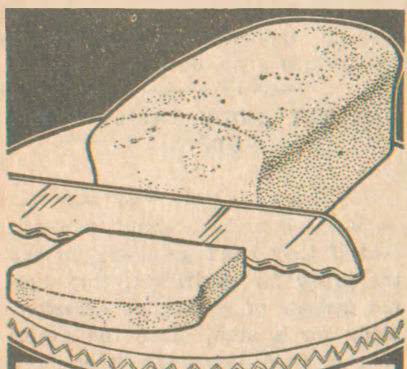

Coming for their first visit to the Rangeleys, Mr. and Mrs. Warren A. Pierce and son Master Philip C. Pierce, Mr. and Mrs. George C. Allen and Miss Helen G. Allen of Arlington, Mass., have had a most delightful stay of ten days. They came via Phillips and returned via Oquossoc. While here they took drives all about the country and Ernest Haley with one of his boats took them around the lake and we hope they will now be annual visitors.

Game Warden Ed Lowell during the winter is to make this hotel his headquarters, also.

Prof. Joseph D. Vaughn of the High school and Mr. and Mrs. F. G. Mackenzie have taken rooms here for the winter.

The guests greatly appreciate the Sunday trains as they get the papers and those who wish to hunt until Saturday night are able to return home on the Sunday 10.30 a. m. train.

From Game Warden Lowell I learned that Mrs. Burns has had a big crew of workmen busy since she closed the Mooselookmeguntic House. As deer are reported plenty on that side of the lake no doubt they will return home with several.

Proprietor Ellis is now receiving letters from New York and Boston parties who are thinking of coming here for a sojourn later, when the "beautiful snow" is piled high in all directions.

Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Haskell of Worcester, Mass., after a pleasant stay of two weeks at Winona Lodge on Long pond were among those who left for home by the Sunday train.

Mr. and Mrs. B. W. Stevens of Bangor, who came via Kingfield and the Dear River route in their touring car on Tuesday said they were surprised to find the roads in such good condition after the rain. They returned home going by Phillips and Farmington.

this hotel, for a crew of workmen have accomplished much, both in the house and around the ground. Several new bath rooms have been added, the carpets have all been taken up and general improvements and changes made. New plank walks have been put down, the grove on the lake shore cleaned up and ten or more fine rustic seats have been built. The bathing beach has been improved and extended. The water is now very low and it is just the time to work all along the shore and this hotel as well as the cottage, people are improving the time to build sea walls, repair wharfs, etc.

Mr. and Mrs. John B. Marble and daughter, Miss Rachel intend to spend the winter in Boston and New York. Mr. and Mrs. Wm. S. Marble and family will as last year be at home in Dixfield for the winter. Mrs. Ralph Kendall and children left this week for a visit in Portland, before returning to their home in Boston.

Rangemore Cottage was closed last week and Mr. and Mrs. Henry M. Burrows and little son Morris, are en route for their southern home in Florida.

Time goes quickly and the winter's snow banks will melt away with the spring days and when next May, the ice goes out, the returning guests will find the Rangeleys more beautiful than ever and to all may the days bring only health, happiness and prosperity.

THE WORLD'S LARGEST PIGEON FARM.

You would hardly believe that in all the world, there could be so many pigeons—pigeons black, white and fawn-colored; big pigeons and small pigeons; pigeons rising in perfect clouds in the air, but to descend and cover the earth as might some sudden snow-storm! That, though, is just one phase of a visit to the largest pigeon farm in the world, located near Los Angeles, California.

At this pigeon ranch, at last report, there were something like 40,000 cotes, which shelter, as roughly estimated, over 60,000 birds. These cotes are placed on a series of wooden tables and are arranged in tiers of six, each tier having seven pairs of holes.

The cotes are made of cheapest wood; each resembling an ordinary soap-box, with two square holes cut in each side. In front of each hole there is a little porch about two inches wide, forming the roof to a similar porch below. Inside the hole there is straw, the only furniture in the little home.

Everywhere, in, on, around and over this arrangement, are the pigeons, making a charming picture. Most of them are pure white, but they vary; many have a bit of black around the eye and a spot of black on the breast; some have gray wing with a series of black dots; others, brown. The feet and bills are pink; the eyes black and always surrounded with a yellow rim. Over these thousands of birds there float the sounds of perpetual cooing, like the whirring of some distant mill.

If you ramble among them you will find them very tame, and if you proceed far enough you will come to a building shaped like a barn, but each end of which consists of thirteen tiers, of eighteen pairs of holes. Inside there is row upon row of cotes. In these separate boxes the male and female birds are placed. Like the ostrich, squabs frequently pair off for life.

when they take a vacation. The eggs are laid, and require eighteen days to hatch. During this period the male bird takes turns with the female in sitting upon the eggs. The mother-birds feed the little squabs by the method known as "regurgitation," which consists in forcing predigested food from their own crop into the mouths of their young. The squabs are ready to fly, when about three weeks old. This is also the time when they are most likely to be killed. Three-weeks' old squabs, at wholesale, bring from $2 to $3 per dozen. Each year about five carloads of fertilizer are sold to tanneries, orchardists and berry plantations, bringing $125 a carload.

The birds are fed on wheat and corn, and it requires the services of about five men to manage the large pigeon-ranch. Their duties consist of feeding the parent-birds, cleaning the small ones. Little attention is given to the adult pigeons, as they will not leave the place.

Experiments have been made in cross-breeding but as yet, without any special advantage, so that most of the pigeons are interbred, as it makes no difference in the price of the squab what its species may be. Occasionally, however, homing pigeons are raised for fanciers, and there is a suspicion that these also return, sometimes, to swell the multitude. Some few turtle doves are also raised, for their beauty.

The greatest enemies of the birds are cats and rats, though it is uncertain how many they kill each year for there is no method of keeping a record of the age of the pigeons, and they breed so rapidly that it is impossible to keep an accurate count of the number.

This ranch was started sixteen years ago with 100 birds and, as stated has now over 60,000. At night the birds all retire into the cotes, as chickens do into a coop.—Felix J. Koch in Our Dumb Animals.

GARDNER GETS A COUPLE OE DEER

Files Several Objections to Present Game Laws

Halbert P. Gardner of Portland, who was Progressive candidate for governor in September, has returned to Portland after securing two deer in the Maine woods. Mr. Gardner has several objections to make against the present Maine game laws, which he says are a great blow to the sporting camps in Northern Maine. Placing close time on bull moose up to Nov. 1, increasing the non-resident license fee to $25 from $15 is not right in my judgement. I do not consider that the moose are being protected by law as most of the killing of moose is done in the snow.

"The ordinary business man goes into the woods for recreation, and under the present law it is too late and cold after Nov. 1 and I sincerely hope that some change may be made in the game laws in these matters of which I have spoken, as it is a shame that sporting camps should be crippled."

SPORTSMAN SHOT BRUIN WITH SHOT GUN, THEN HAD TO BATTLE FOR LIFE WITH ANIMAL.

News has reached Bangor from Burlington of a desperate battle between a wounded and infuriated bear and Arthur M. Neal of Lowell, Mass., in which the sportsman eventually succeeded in killing the enraged animal, says the Bangor Commercial, but only after he had been severely wounded by the claws of the beast and had had nearly all of his clothes ripped off. The encounter was a most unusual one and shows that the element of danger is

AUTOMOBILISTS AND RULES OF THE ROAD.

The wonderful growth in popularity of the automobile has brought it into use all over the country by men and women who, previous to becoming automobile drivers, had never driven vehicles of any kind upon the public highways. The result is that there are thousands of men and women driving motor cars today who are unfamiliar with the rules of the road as they apply to the regulation of traffic.

This lack of knowledge of the ordinary practices of vehicle drivers,

FLY ORD'S NOTE BOOK

I doubt if in Maine there is another as pretty a railroad station, as the handsome little stone one at Marble's, where passengers for the hotel and to take the steamboat to go up and down the lake, stop. It is here Miss Josephine Rowe, the obliging and able telegraph operator has her office, and for a number of years has taken charge, making many friends as she takes and sends the hundreds of messages that come and go from the camps and hotels on the lakes that call by telephone Mountain View last July and started for his camp over the mountain. Ben camped for the night and no doubt as he looked at his new rifle was thinking of the "150 off hand shoot" when he won the gun and made up his mind to gain another prize the first time he used it.

After breakfast the next morning Ben started for a long hike over the mountain, where he knew the beechnuts were falling. No doubt he "smelt bear" for as he came out into the clearing so he could look for a long distance over across to the ridge, he discovered a black object moving. It was among the beech trees and sure enough it was a bear intent in gathering the nuts that had fallen under the trees. Ben with a quiet step got in full sight of Mr. Bear some 200 yards distant, "and I tell you my new gun is perfect, I found out when I fired, and the bear started around the ridge. He was soon out of sight, but oh, my how he did hollow. You have heard a bear hollow and know they sound like a person when a long way off. I knew I could run as fast as the bear could and started, following the sound of those fearful yells, and when I came in sight it was a mad bear that stood up on his hind feet and looked at me, but I raised my rifle and fired and the old fellow with a last groan rolled over dead." It read over to refresh their memory. The latter class of motorist knows these things by instinct, still no harm can be done by repeating them.

"Never drive fast on slippery streets," is the first law laid down, and it is one which should be remembered, for wet streets cause a car to skid, and the greater the speed the greater the risk of accident. The other suggestions of Mr. Crawford are as follows: "Never drive with fully retarded spark. Never start motor with open throttle. Never neglect the lubrication of your car. Never attempt to start motor on advanced spark. Never drive fast around turns or over rough roads. Never apply brakes suddenly except in case of emergency. Never attempt to shift into reverse gear when going ahead. Never allow your clutch to engage suddenly. Never race your motor. Never release your clutch when driving without first closing the throttle, as this will allow the motor to race. Keep out of crowded thoroughfares until you are thoroughly master of your car. Never attempt to start the motor with any of the transmission gears in mesh. Have gear shift in neutral.

"Study carefully the method given for starting motor, starting car, shifting gears, driving and stopping car. If unusual sounds develop, investigate and find the cause. Do not not entirely lacking on hunting expeditions into the Maine woods.

Mr. Neal has been visiting his brother at Burlington, and one day recently he went to Madawaska lake on a fishing trip. After putting in the day there, he started back to Burlington, walking carefully through the woods without much thought of game, despite the fact that he carries a shot gun against the chance of running into some partridge.

He had gone some distance when he was attracted by a noise not far away through the forest. Looking up he saw a large bear, which showed no disposition to either attack or run away. Without thinking that his weapon was a light one for such big game, Mr. Neal raised his piece to his shoulder and fired. The charge took effect and the bear sank to the ground. Mr. Neal brushed forward, believing he had killed the animal.

As he approached, however, the bear suddenly showed signs of life and, scrambling to his feet with surprising agility, he attacked Mr. Neal savagely. The Massachusetts man had nothing save an empty gun, and with reference to passing pedestrians turning corners, placing vehicles at curb when in motion and similar things that the auto driver must do every day, is responsible for a considerable percentage of minor automobile accidents. The most careful driver may be the cause of an accident or may suffer one himself because of this lack of knowledge.

Reckless driving is condemned by all responsible automobile drivers. It is the reckless driver that brings discredit upon the automobile because of the havoc he causes. But the careful driver who does not familiarize himself with the universal rules of road, as well as the special rules prevailing in the community where he does most of his driving, is hardly less to blame for his neglect than is the reckless driver for his carelessness.—Rocky Mountain News.

PARTY OF BIG GAME HUNTERS

"Western Union please." It is not an uncommon day's business to have from one to 200 messages for Miss Rowe to handle in summer time, and from this little office up here in Maine, thousands of dollars of business is done every season, and from Rangeley messages were sent this summer not only all over the United States but to far away Africa, Italy, Norway, France, Germany and England, for there is not a country but what the Rangeley Lakes is now known. Everyone predicts that in 1915 there will be a great rush of travel this way, for those who have in the past been coming to Maine and were in Europe this year, will surely not want to go there next.

They are talking bears, among the Rangeley hunters now, for one day last week as Harley Grant was driving the buckboard from Kennebago, when near the halfway waiting place, where they always halt for the horse to take a drink, he heard a noise and looked up to see a big black bear only a few rods distant. Harley was

CARING FOR YOUR AUTO AND THINGS TO BE AVOIDED.

The way to care for a motor car during the various months of the year, both cold and hot, has been discussed at length for a good many seasons, says a press letter from the factory of the Cole motor car, but there are many helpful suggestions which can be made to the new owner and which are always in place. Every owner of an automobile should know the car he drives from the radiator to the tail lamp, says the letter. Become thoroughly familiar with its every detail and one will experience less trouble than the owner who "just allows the car to run as long as it can." The careful motorist husbands the strength of his car and remembers the don'ts.

"In reading over the mechanical treatise on technic and construction of the Cole motor car, written by Charles S. Crawford, chief engineer of the Cole company," continues the letter "I find some very helpful suggestions which should be learned by the new owner and which it would be well for the older and more experienced owners and drivers to allow them to continue, as an accident may result. Do not tamper with your carburetor unless you know it is out of adjustment, and not even then unless you know exactly what you are doing. Keep your tires well inflated at all times. Never allow them to get under 60 pounds pressure; it is better to keep them at 75 pounds pressure.

"The plugs should be taken out of the oil pan every 600 to 1000 miles, the oil drained and oil pan washed out. Clean oil should then be added through breather pipe on motor on the four-cylinder nine quarts, and on the six-cylinder 12 quarts—when replenishing with new supply."

THERE ARE COMFORTABLE CHAIRS FOR THE WIDE VERANDA

in order to defend himself against the savage rush of the infuriated beast, he cast the piece aside and drew the stout hunting knife with which he happened to be armed.

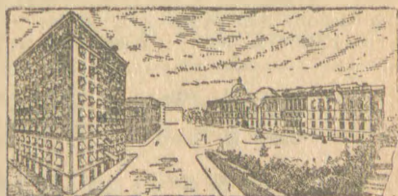

Then followed a scene which puts the experiences of Joe Knowles in the Maine wilderness completely in the shade. The bear struck out desperately with his sharp claws and Neal sprang this way and that, in a desperate effort to escape the bear's grasp. Both bear and man succeeded in landing many savage blows and both were soon bleeding profusely. Mr. Neal from the animal's claws and the bear from the knife thrusts which his human adversary had inflicted. There was scarcely a thread of clothing left on Mr. Neal when he eventually succeeded in driving his knife nearly up to the hilt in Bruin's side. The bear fell over with a groan and the battle was over. Neal was completely exhausted and could have lasted but a short time longer, he says.

over 22 on their way to the Maine woods. The quartette consisted of Hugh Duffy manager and owner of the Portland baseball team, W. H. Stevens the New England manager of the National car. Emery Donovan and Howard G. Reynolds, sporting editor of the Boston Post. Mr. Reynolds is the host of the party who are going to his camp in Weld where they will be his guests for a week. It was the dope yesterday at the Union station that Mr. Donovan is a candidate for a place as first baseman on Mr. Duffy's ball team and would be given a try out by Hugh before returning to Portland.

shot out after bears and only had his shotgun, thinking he might see a partridge, and the shots with which he peppered the bear only made him take a quick step for the woods and he has not been seen since. But there is one less bear in this part of the country that I know about, for his handsome black pelt is now at Guy Pickel's to be made into a mat. My friend and guide in the good old days, when I could carry my rifle and follow the trail for miles through the forest, called on me here at the Tavern and from him I learned the story of how he shot this, his ninth bear. Ben had been guiding A. H. Berry of Portland, who was at York Camps, Loon Lake, for a ten days' hunting trip, but like many others these days found the woods too dry to get a deer, although he shot plenty of partridge. As soon as Mr. Berry went home, Ben shouldered that new 501 automatic Winchester, which he won at the annual meeting of the Sportsman's Fish and Game Association at the Experiment With Alfalfa.

An experiment of the Illinois station showed that for dairy cows a ration containing ten pounds of alfalfa produced 17 per cent more milk than the same ration of timothy used in lieu of alfalfa. Also that alfalfa was worth $10.86 more per ton than timothy and when timothy is worth $10 per ton, an acre of alfalfa is worth $64.44 more than an acre of timothy under the conditions in which the experiment was conducted and when milk is sold at $1.30 per 100 pounds.

Dry Quarters for Calf.

The calf's quarters should not be allowed to accumulate a lot of damp, dirty materials, as this is almost sure to cause sickness and bad results. The bedding should be abundant and changed often. In order that the pens or stalls be kept clean they should be in the choicest part of the barn, where sunshine and light are abundant. In summer they should have access to a pasture where there is plenty of shade.

Cause of Stringy Milk.

It has been proven thatropy or stringy milk can be carried from one place to another by milk utensils not being thoroughly cleaned and sterilized, and in this case the only remedy is a more thorough and careful cleaning.

Separate Pen for Calves.

Where valuable calves are raised it is advisable to have a separate pen for each animal. Calves should be fed in a stanchion. The most common trouble in calf raising is scours, or indigestion. This is brought on by overfeeding, feeding sour or old milk, cold milk and dirty pails, troughs or stalls. Success depends largely upon the ability of the feeder to prevent scours.

Harvesting Alfalfa.

Alfalfa, like all of the clovers, should be harvested for hay before the stalks become "woody" and the leaves turn yellow and fall. This condition of the plant occurs very soon after the blossoms appear.

Feed Potatoes to Cows.

When not too expensive, potatoes may be fed to cows in limited quantities. They should be chopped or sliced and fed raw, 20 pounds being about as large a daily allowance as a cow should receive.

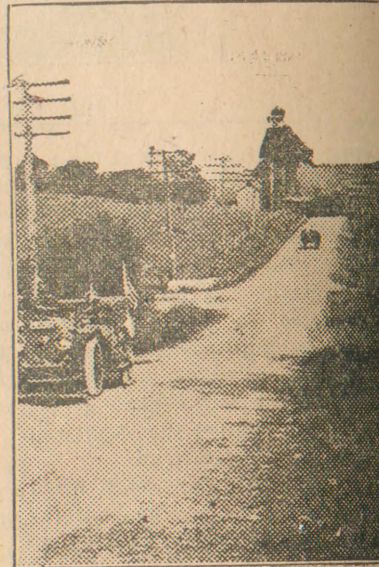

FOR BETTER ROADS

STUDY OF ROAD CONDITIONS

Department of Agriculture Endeavoring to Discover Points of Excellence in Road Maintenance.

Detailed studies of local road building systems in 100 counties are now being carried on by the agricultural department in co-operation with the state highway departments and local road authorities.

The purpose of this study is to discover the points of excellence and defects in existing local methods of building and maintaining roads which will aid the state authorities to put local road management on a systematized basis. The co-operating state authorities have been asked to designate counties that present typical and exceptional features as to topography, character of road materials, methods of construction and maintenance, administrative organization, methods of road financing, and traffic conditions. From these lists 100 counties will be selected, and in these counties the division of road economics will make intensive studies.

This investigation is prompted by the fact that there is at present very little knowledge as to the most effective and economical methods by which a county can develop its roads. At present the methods of financing local road improvements vary from calling on farmers for a certain number of days' labor in lieu of a road tax, or the use of county prisoners in road construction, to bond issues or maintenance of roads from dramshop license funds.

The department will study all of these systems with the view to determining what system or combination of systems works best in actual practice.

There is, moreover, at present no standard system of keeping accounts for road building and maintenance, and as a result, while some counties know to a penny the purpose for which money was spent, others have no definite check or reporting system. Among various counties with the same conditions cost for excavation or other labor is anything but uniform, and many counties, because of the absence of definite knowledge, fail to use local and cheap materials, and construct roads which are unnecessarily expensive for their purpose, or which will wear out before the bond issues are redeemed. The investigation will include a careful study of the use of convict labor in road construction.

In connection with the scientific study the department's highway engineers will advise freely with local officials as to improvements, and thus give each county visited the advantage of direct co-operation, engineering supervision, and assistance.

These investigations, it is believed, will yield important economic data bearing especially on the benefits and burdens of road improvement and showing the extent to which financial outlay under given typical conditions is justifiable.

The heads of state highway departments are manifesting great interest and are co-operating cordially in this work. These data when obtained will be published and thus made accessible to all county and state road officials.

Not Contagious.

Good road building in the country does not seem to be contagious, more the pity.

BELL BLOCK PURCHASED

Funeral Services of Respected Citizen. Splendid Entertainment by Knights of Pythias.

(Special Correspondence.)

Strong, Oct. 27.—Miss Genevieve Harnden of Portland visited Mr. and Mrs. P. W. Mason a few days recently.

Miss Mildred Willis returned to her home in Topsham Sunday afternoon after spending a week with her sister, Mrs. Ralph Staibird.

The friends of Mrs. Nelson Walker are sorry to know she is quite ill, but all hope for her rapid recovery.

C. B. Richardson has been very ill the past week, suffering from a severe sore throat. Miss Helen Richardson has had charge of his store during his illness.

Justin E. McLeary of Farmington

Mrs. Florence Tash and little son, Wallace of Farmington were guests of Mrs. Eldridge Vining a few days last week.

The relatives and friends of Thero B. Hunter were pained to learn of his death, which occurred at his home on Torry Hill, Phillips. Although his death was not unlooked for, it came as a shock. About a year ago Mr. Hunter had a nice house built on church street here and soon after moving into it his wife died. He and his daughter, Carrie remained until spring, then moved back to the farm where his death occurred. The remains were brought here and the services were held from the new home, where a large number of relatives and friends gathered to pay a last tribute to a much respected man, both in the business and social life. He leaves one daughter, Miss Carrie Hunter, who has faithfully cared for him during his illness and she has the sympathy of the entire community. The funeral services were held Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock, conducted by Rev. T. B. Bitler, pastor of the Congregational church.

Roland Hinds and Carl Hennings of Phillips were in town recently.

Miss Frankie Keen, who has been very ill the past few weeks, is much improved and is able to attend to her music pupils.

Rev. W. P. Holman read the second address by Newell Dwight Hill's of Plymouth church, New York, last Sunday morning. The address was on Belgium. The third and last one will be read next Sunday morning. The subject will be France.

The Knights of Pythians held their annual supper last Monday night, after which a splendid entertainment by Blanche Harrington Sampson, was given in Bell's hall, and greatly enjoyed by a large audience.

Mr. and Mrs. George Nade and her parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Pennell are moved and settled in J. F. Will's summer home on Upper Main street. They have many friends in town who gladly welcome them here.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Daggett and Mr. and Mrs. Menzor Will, with Fred Dodge as chauffeur, enjoyed a trip to the White Mountains last week. They made the trip in Mr. Daggett's Overland automobile. They returned home Saturday afternoon.

The Senior class in High school held a dance in Luce's hall last Friday night. A large crowd was in attendance. Several from Phillips, Farmington and New Vineyard were present.

Mr. and Mrs. H. N. Luce took an automobile trip to Norridgewock last Thursday and returned Friday afternoon.

Principal Vincent Pottle, assistant, Miss Clarise Flint and grammar school teacher, Miss Ella Fullerton are attending the State Teachers' Convention which is being held in Portland.

Dr. and Mrs. Charles Cunningham and daughter, Ruth of Auburn were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Chandler the first of the week.

Mrs. Harry Bates has been quite ill the past week, suffering from a severe sore throat. She is, however, much better at this writing.

Berchard Look and Maurice Leighton spent Sunday with relatives in New Vineyard.

Charles Norton has finished work for C. V. Starbird, where he has been night watchman the past few years.

Walter Bradford and D. E. Leighton spent Sunday with relatives in Farmington.

Myron Witherell, who suffered a shock a few weeks ago, remains nearly helpless on one side. He is still confined to his bed.

L. L. Partridge was in Farmington on business Saturday.

Mrs. Hattie M. Johnson, proprietor Hotel Strong, underwent a surgical operation one day last week, for the removal of two toes. Her many friends hope for her speedy recovery.

Mrs. Fannie Howe of Kingfield has been in town the past week canvassing for ladies' shoes.

William Hackett, who recently underwent a surgical operation at Bell's hospital is gaining rapidly.

Misses Helena Christie, Mildred Luce, and Julia Ismay of New Vineyard were in town Saturday night and attended the High school dance.

Miss Flora Willis, who has spent the past few weeks in town with her father, Nathan Willis, returned to her home in West Medford, Mass., Monday.

Burnham True of Wilton is visiting his mother, Mrs. Etta True, for a few days.

Miss Eunice Goodwin has returned from West Mills, where she has spent the past two weeks with friends.

Albert Daggett suffered an ill turn Sunday, but is comfortable at this time.

The Electric Light Co.'s crew are busy stringing wire through town for the electric lights.

Clarence Tash spent Sunday with relatives in New Vineyard.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Allen are in very poor health.

Miss Marion Presson spent Sunday with Mrs. Fred Daggett.

Mrs. Mary Lovejoy was quite ill last week, suffering from acute indigestion.

Miss Orna, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hervey Welch is quite ill, suffering from whooping cough.

Dr. Warren Sherman of Boston was in town last week, called here by the death of his uncle, Theron B. Hunter.

Miss Gladys Lambert has been quite ill the past week.

DISTRICT NO. 2

Oct. 26.

Will Booker was a business caller in this district Saturday.

Mrs. Mary Plummer returned to Madrid last Friday.

Bion Wing went to Kingfield Saturday with a load of cranberries.

Mr. and Mrs. Carlton Haggan and Everett Wing attended the box supper in the Winship District Saturday night and report a fine time.

Mr. and Mrs. David Haley and Arlon McKenney went to Rangeley by auto Sunday.

Mrs. Etta Phillips and sister, Mrs. Merton Swain of Farmington were guests of Mr. and Mrs. C. H. McKenney last Tuesday and Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Simon Booker left Friday for Portland, where they will visit their daughter, Mrs. Annie Stevens and other relatives for a few weeks.

Last Sunday a goodly number of people listened to an excellent sermon by Rev. M. S. Hutchins at the church in West Phillips.

Miss Rose M. Wing who has been visiting her friend, Mr. Omar Jones in Intervale, N. H., for several weeks returned Saturday to the home of her brother, C. A. Wing, where she will visit a few days before returning home.

Mr. and Mrs. C. H. McKenney and Miss Myrtice, accompanied by Mrs. F. H. Calden and son motored to Farmington Sunday and were guests of their uncle, John McKenney and family.

In honor of Mrs. Mary I. Davenport, who recently arrived in Phillips from Montrose, South Dakota, and Mrs. Nancy Whitman of Ocean Park, about 30 of their relatives met by invitation at the pleasant home of Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Harnden Sunday, October 25. Among those present were: Shas M. Wing, the oldest of the members, being in his 87th year; his sister Mrs. N. S. Whitman, Mrs. Mary Ida Davenport, Mr. and Mrs. Bion Wing, Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Wing, Mr. and Mrs. Ira T. Wing of Mexico, Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Doyen of Mexico, Mr. and Mrs. Morrell Wing, Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Doyen, Mrs. and Mrs. Carlton Haggan and little daughter, Myrtle Rosanna, Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Harnden and little son, Leon R. Wing, Clifford H. Wing, Everett Wing, Lucille Wing, Nancy Doyen. These with Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Harnden, Ira and Earl Harnden, Zelda and Delmar Harnden made a very happy company. It was also the 29th wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Doyen of Mexico and the birthday of Mrs. Carlton Haggan.

NATIVE OF PHILLIPS DIES IN HER WESTERN HOME.

Mrs. Lura Reed Libby Badger died at her home in Oshkosh, Wis., Oct. 19. She had been in declining health for a year or more, but passed away suddenly.

She was born in Phillips, Maine, May 26, 1847, daughter of Hartsen and Rachel Chandler Reed. After the death of her father in the sixties she went with her family to Wisconsin and settled in Oshkosh. Soon after, she married Daniel Libby, a wealthy lumberman and prominent citizen of that city. She was loyally attached to her native town, relatives and early friends, as her frequent visits here testify. Popular and attractive as a girl, those who knew her in the "Reed" school were not surprised that she became the elegant and beautiful woman of society. But she always brought with her each time she returned a heart as warm, youthful and sunny, as "in the old time."

After several years of widowhood, she married Mr. Fred Badger of Oshkosh. Mrs. Badger leaves besides her husband, a daughter, Miss Carrie Libby, a son Richard Libby, and one brother, Rufus C. Reed, all of Oshkosh. An only sister, Mary Reed Smith died several years ago.

GET RID OF HUMORS AND AVOID DISEASE

Humors in the blood cause internal derangements that affect the whole system, as well as pimples, boils and other eruptions. They affect all the organs and functions, membranes and tissues, and are directly responsible for the readiness with which some people contract disease.

For forty years Hood's Sarsaparilla has been more successful than any other medicine in expelling humors and removing their inward and outward effects. It is distinguished for its thoroughness in purifying the blood, which it enriches and invigorates. No other medicine acts like it, for no other medicine is like it.

Get Hood's Sarsaparilla today. Insist on having Hood's.

DAIRY

CARING FOR BREEDING COWS

No Question That Growing and Selling Calves Under Proper Conditions Is Profitable Business.

In part, no doubt, the difficulty of getting a high percentage of calves arises from sending dry cows to the shambles. The cow that has suckled down often fails to get in calf next year. She is in calf and fat and away she goes. Another cow that has raised a calf takes a rest next year, and so on.

One advantage of selling the calf crop to the feeder rather than yearlings or older cattle is that so much more attention and feed can be given to the breeding cows and their higher condition and vitality will enable them to produce more calves.

If there is a shortage of feed it will usually be noticed that heifers that breed young and older cows that have been breeding take a lay off, and this is undesirable, with calves at present prices.

A good calf is worth $25 to $30, and selling even a few of these will furnish hay to winter several mother cows that lay the golden egg. There is no question that growing and selling calves under proper conditions is a paying business, both for the grower and the feeder who buys them, as they go to the feed lot in splendid condition, but it will not pay unless the cows receive enough attention and are kept breeding, except as a more or less speculative proposition, depending on the prices at which cows are bought and sold.

Where the production of really high-class feeder calves is the end in view, these can be constantly increased in value by more feed and better cows.

WINDOW FOR A DAIRY BARN

Opening That Will Admit Fresh Air and Prevent Draft on Stock—Held Open by Cloth.

A practical dairy barn window is made by placing the hinges at the lower edge of the sash, as shown, and attaching canvas at the ends so that the cloth will hold the sash partly open, writes Ralph V. Crane of Ypsilanti, Mich., in Popular Mechanics. This will deflect the air currents upward toward the ceiling and prevent draft on the stock.

DOGS SHOULD BE DISCARDED

No Excuse for Sending Snapping Cur After Cows With Full Udders—Better to Take Horse.

When cows are in the pastures do not send a vicious dog to drive them in. The cow that is run to the house by a dog that is continually snapping at her heels must suffer a great deal of pain as her udder is thrown from side to side by the movement of her fleet limbs. If a man is too lazy to walk after his cows he had better get on his horse and ride. A well trained dog may be allowed to bring them in, for he quietly walks behind them and does not bring them down the lane at a two-forty gait.

Good Prices for Apples Looked For In Spring

(Special Correspondence)

Kingfield, October 26.—Horace Potter and son, Dale went to Madrid Wednesday to work for O. M. Vose.

Mrs. Elsie Blake of West Falmouth and daughter, Mrs. Minnie Hartshorn of Lewiston, wife of Professor Hartshorn of Bates College, are visiting Mrs. Blake's brother, H. E. Cross for a week.

Edwin Ellis has 250 barrels of apples mostly winter fruit, which he will hold until spring and expects prices will be good for first quality fruit.

The new sidewalk from the chain bridge has a base of cobbles, filling of cinders, covered with gravel and coating of loam. On the river-side extending 285 feet is a 2-inch rail with standards of same dimensions.

Mrs. Bertha Kempton of Phillips is visiting her mother, Mrs. Alice Myers for a week.

Mrs. Charles Scribner and son Carlton of Phillips took dinner Wednesday with Mrs. O. I. Landers on return from the funeral of her half brother, Glen Scribner. While passing the residence of I. L. Eldridge their horse became frightened at a lamb in the yard and threw both occupants out bruising and frightening them considerably but resulting in no serious damage.

Winfield Huntington of Phillips was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. O. I. Landers Sunday. Mr. Huntington has taken rent in the Parker tenement building and will move here with his family this week. He will run a lathe in the Jenkins & Robert mill.

Mrs. Nancy Judkins, who has been keeping house for Robert Clark has gone to Wilton. Erma Clark is being cared for by Mrs. Herman Lisherness of New Portland.

Mr. and Mrs. James Gates have gone into the woods at Shiloh pond to work for E. E. Tufts. Mrs. Gates will do the cooking.

Cliff Adams and family will move into the Mrs. Apphia Gilbert rent vacated by Bert Ames.

Wiseman McKenney has been laid up for several days with a badly bruised finger. While laying the railroad track to Soule's Mills a piece of the railing fell on the third finger of his right hand.

Mrs. L. A. Thomas expected to go to Strong the last of the week for a visit with her brother, Mrs. Nancy Stevens. Mrs. Thomas received a post card shower October 23, the occasion of her birthday, from a number of friends in the Baptist church.

The new track to Soule's Mills was finished Saturday. Wise McKenney, J. F. Phillips and S. Sprague have been working on the job.

There was a special meeting of Carrabasset Rebekah Lodge No. 123, Monday evening to take in nine new members. Refreshments were of fruit, candy and margarites in charge of the lodge officers.

Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Watson have been in Norridgewock, visiting Mr. Watson's mother, Mrs. Marcia Watson and other relatives.

A whist party was given Wednesday evening, October 21, by Mrs. F. O. Merchant, Mrs. A. C. Woodard and Mrs. W. D. French at Edgewood, the W. D. French cottage, to 40 of the townspeople. Prizes were won by Mrs. Riley Durrell and Herschel Boynton, the consolations by Mrs. E. L. Simmons and Edwin Carville. The first prizes were a lobster cigar tray and hand painted china tea strainer. The decorations were pumpkins arranged on the porch as jack-o-lanterns, and also Japanese lanterns were used outside. One of the features of the evening was a "pumpkin hunt" with a pumpkin for a souvenir to each guest. A lunch of pumpkin pie, coffee, Dutch cheese and cookies were served by the hostesses.

The first meeting for the season of the Ladies' Whist Club was held Thursday of last week with Mrs. Daisy Woodard. All members were present except Mrs. Merchant, whose place was taken by her sister, Mrs. Grace Stevens. Refreshments were of fruit, grapes, peaches and cream. The second meeting was held Thursday, October 22, with Mrs. Erma Winter.

Guard Children Against Worms

There is really very little excuse for sickness if proper care is taken to guard against disease. Worms are one of the most dreaded diseases of children.

Signs of worms are: De-ranged stomach, swollen upper lip, sour stomach, offensive breath, hard and full belly with occasional gripings and pains about the navel, pale face of leaden tint, Trade Mark eyes heavy and dull, twitching eyelids, itching of the nose, itching of the rectum, short dry cough, grinding of the teeth, little red points sticking out on tongue, starting during sleep, slow fever.

Dr. True's Elixir, the Family Laxative and Worm Expeller, will surely and quickly expel worms. Good for adults also. At all dealers', 35c. 50c and $1.00. Advice free. Special treatment for tapeworms. Send for book.

WINSHIP SCHOOL BOX SUPPER

Last Saturday evening at the Winship schoolhouse, a box supper was held, which was a very successful affair. The schoolroom was trimmed with Halowe'en decorations, one board having a huge pumpkin, surrounded with smaller pumpkins, and jack-o-lanterns. The long board next the door had "Welcome" displayed on it, with a border top and bottom of pumpkin faces. Black cats and witches were also effectively placed, the whole being lighted up with pumpkin lanterns. Specimens of the work done by the pupils were displayed on one of the boards.

Games were played, consisting of drop the handkerchief, tucker, on the road to Boston, seven in and seven out, etc., music being furnished by Dana Noyes on his Edison phonograph. About 11 o'clock the boxes were auctioned off by Maurice Toothaker and from the beginning competition was so close that the price was boosted up so that the lowest price paid for a supper box was $1.10. There were 17 boxes in all three being children's boxes, which were sold for a small sum to the children, the entire proceeds being $19.25. This will be used to purchase pictures, curtains, desk chair, etc., for the school room. Hot coffee was served free to all who wished it.

THE ROYAL MONTH AND THE ROYAL DISEASE.

Sudden changes of weather are especially trying, and probably to none more so than to the scrofulous and consumptive. The progress of scrofula during a normal October is commonly great. We never think of scrofula—its bunches, cutaneous eruptions, and wasting of the bodily substance—without thinking of the great good many sufferers from it have derived from Hood's Sarsaparilla, whose radical and permanent cures of this one disease are enough to make it the most famous medicine in the world. There is probably not a city or town where Hood's Sarsaparilla has not proved its merit in more homes than one, in arresting and completely eradicating scrofula, which is almost as serious and as much to be feared as its near relative—consumption.

Miss Wilkinson, the teacher, is much pleased with the result of the supper and wishes to thank all who so kindly came, the ladies for bringing boxes and the men for being so generous in their buying.

The boxes were especially beautiful, all except two being decorated. Miss Belle Phillips had a beautiful heart-shaped box, covered with red and decorated with cupids, hearts, bows and arrows in silver. Two patriotic boxes were seen, one being a three cornered box of red and white stripes, the cover being made of the stars in a blue ground. The other was made of the stars, the cover having the red and white stripes. These boxes were the property of Miss Martha Wilkinson and Miss Florence Heath. Mrs. Maurice Toothaker had a box beautifully decorated with roses. It was thought to be one of the handsomest boxes in the hall. Miss Vilva Mesereau had a pretty box covered with green crepe paper and tied with red silk ribbon. A unique round box, of yellow crepe paper, trimmed with leaf green lattice work, pink rosebuds being placed in the lattice, was declared to be a beauty. It was the property of Mrs. Weston Parker. There were also other pretty boxes belonging to Mrs. J. F. Sweetser, Mrs. Walter Heath, Miss Matie Bunnell, Miss Olive Ross, Mrs. Frank Phillips, Mrs. Carlton Haggan and Mrs. Clyde Wilcox also had boxes undecorated.

Two prizes were offered for pinning the tail on the donkey. Miss Viola Mesereau won the prize for ladies, Edward Wood the gentlemen's prize.

WEST FARMINGTON

Oct. 26.

Mrs. M. A. Lake from Wilton visited at S. R. Norton's last Saturday.

Mrs. Ed. Lake was a caller in town Sunday.

W. A. Marble is doing quite a thriving business, canning apples in Wilton.

V. H. Alexander picked a wild strawberry blossom in his garden last Sunday.

Mrs. Maria Smith reached her 76th milestone last Monday. She was congratulated by many of her friends and received many post cards, for which she feels very grateful.

Erland Niles drove his young cattle home from pasture this week.

Mrs. Mary Tripp from Temple is at work for Mrs. Effie Niles.

TORY HILL

Oct. 26.

Mr. and Mrs. Gideon Smith and little son visited the former's mother and family, Mrs. Wm. Hood one day recently.

The neighborhood was saddened last Tuesday evening on hearing of the death of Theron B. Hunter. Although it did not come unexpectedly, it has removed from our midst, a kind friend and neighbor, one that was ever ready to advise and help anyone who might be in trouble or need. Less than a year ago he laid his wife to rest, which was a great blow to him and his health has gradually failed ever since. Much sympathy is felt for the only daughter, Miss Carrie Hunter, who has so faithfully and tenderly cared for her parents to the end.

Mrs. Oscar Dunham visited her uncle, William Mitchell recently.

Mrs. Rose Russell, Mrs. Edith Haley and Mrs. Burchard Whitman and son were callers on Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Hood recently.

Will E. Gates is hauling pressed hay to the station in Phillips for F. H. Tozier.

Fred Smith has added a good sized wood shed to his cottage.

Miss Edna Gates and Bernard Taylor spent Sunday at the former's home.

Mrs. W. W. Mitchell spent the day with her daughter, Mrs. Herman Tyler at Ed Tyler's recently.

Stop That First Fall Cough

Check your fall cough or cold at once—don't wait—it may lead to serious lung trouble, weaken your vitality and develop a chronic lung ailment. Get a bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery to-day; it is pure and harmless—use it freely for that fall cough or cold. If Baby or Children are sick give it to them. It will relieve quickly and permanently. It soothes the irritated throat, lungs and air passages. Loosens Phlegm, is antiseptic and fortifies the system against colds. It surely prevents cold germs from getting a hold. Guaranteed, 50c. and $1.00 at your Druggist.

Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Spydell and little daughter, Arleen of Livermore Falls are visiting her father, L. T. Hinds and other relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Farmer, Mrs. Frank Morrison, Miss Fleda Farmer and a party of friends were at Camp Fleda last week on a hunting trip. Mr. Farmer and Mr. Paine each got a nice deer to take home.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Taylor and little daughter, Florence of Bingham, have returned to their home after a visit with relatives and friends in town.

Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Hall are receiving congratulations on the birth of a daughter.

Mr. and Mrs. Guy Jones have returned home from Spring Lake, where they have been through the summer.

Leon Savage was at home over Sunday from Aldrich brook.

EAST WELD

Oct. 26.

Mr. and Mrs. Bert Vining have moved into their new house. Mr. Vining has done nearly all of the work of building the house.

Cola Conant has recently purchased a nice two year old colt of A. G. Masterman.

Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Whitney went to Rumford the first of the week.

Ezra Noyes worked for I. H. Buker a few days last week.

Mr. and Mrs. I. H. Buker were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. E. P. E. Foster last Sunday. They also had for guests Mr. and Mrs. Nathan Foster and daughter from Rumford.

Mrs. E. P. E. Foster is 80 years old and does her own housework besides taking care of the milk of a cow and making the butter.

Mr. and Mrs. Merton Getchell of Auburn are in town for a few days, visiting his aunt, Mrs. Edith Pulsifer and uncle, Hiram Webster; also other relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Masterman, who are working for Lawrence & McLaughlin were recently called home a few days on account of the death of his sister, Mrs. Florence McIntyre of Malden, Mass.

Miss Jennie Sanborn who is teaching the Corner school is having a week's vacation.

Cedric Judkins of Upton, N. H., was recently in town.

Peculiar Vaccination.

Until the year 1874 Japanese doctors vaccinated their patients on the tip of the nose.

NOTICE.

To the members of North Franklin Agricultural Society, Greeting: You are hereby notified and warned to meet at the Grange hall, Phillips, Saturday, November 7, at 10 o'clock a. m., to act on the following articles, to wit:—

Art. 1. To hear reports and allow accounts.

Art. 2. To elect a president, vice-president, secretary, treasurer and one member of the board of trustees for five years.

Art. 3. To see if the Society will vote to change Art. 4 in the by-laws by inserting the words "and draw all orders on the treasurer and countersigned by the president," to be inserted after the word society in the 7th line.

Art. 4. To see if the Society will vote to strike out the word "trustees" in the first line of Art. 5 of the by-laws and insert the word "secretary."

Art. 5. To see if the Society will vote to strike out the words "draw orders on the treasurer," in the 6th and 7th lines of Art. 6 of the by-laws.

Art. 6 To transact any other business that may legally come before said meeting.

Dated at Phillips, Maine, this 25th day of October, A. D. 1914.

J. I. Harnden, Secretary.

DECIDE YOURSELF

The Opportunity Is Here, Backed By Phillips Testimony.

Don't take our word for it. Don't depend on a stranger's statement.

Read Phillips endorsement. Read the statements of Phillips citizens.

And decide for yourself.

Here is one case of it.

"My back pained me almost constantly for six months," says Eben Tyler, retired farmer, of Pleasant Road, Phillips. "I was lame and sore all over and it was hard for me to move. The secretions from my kidneys passed too frequently and my health was run down. Finally I read of a party in town who had been cured by Doan's Kidney Pills, so I got a box at Cragin's Drug Store, now R. H. Preble's Drug Store. The results of their use both surprised and delighted me and I am now in good health. The public statement I gave some years ago in praise of Doan's Kidney Pills still holds good."

Price 50c. at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mr. Tyler had. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y.

PIANO TRUTHS

When you place your order for a piano with a city piano dealer you may make up your mind to this fact that you are paying him from $50 to $100 above the wholesale price of the piano to cover his "SELLING EXPENSE" and they charge you their profit on top of that. I CHALLENGE ANYBODY TO DENY THAT FACT PUBLICLY.

IN AND ABOUT PHILLIPS

The 1913 club was entertained by Mrs. O. H. Hersey last week Friday. This week the meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. J. E. Noble.

H. H. Field took his uncles, Messrs. G. H. Hamlin and L. B. Field and Henry Hamlin for an auto trip through the Dead River region last Sunday.

Melvina, the little daughter of Rev. and Mrs. M. S. Hutchins was operated on for adenoids in Portland, where they took her to a specialist. It is hoped and expected that the child will be much improved in health after recovering from the operation.

There was a good attendance at the Grange hall last Saturday evening, where the company danced to the music of the new Oni Kno orchestra, which all pronounced very good indeed.

The third and fourth degrees will be conferred at the regular meeting of North Franklin Grange to be held at their hall Saturday afternoon, October 31. It is hoped there will be a good attendance as matters of importance will come before the meeting. A tasting party at the close of the meeting will be in charge of Mrs. C. E. Berry and Mrs. A. J. Toothaker.

Mrs. Emma Shepard was the guest of Miss Mabel Austin in Farmington over Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Preble and two children have been the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Orris M. Vose in Madrid this week.

W. H. Caswell and Miss Blanche Kenniston were the guests of Miss Kenniston's relatives in Lewiston for the week-end.

Mrs. W. J. Carter returned from Pembroke Tuesday night, the Doctor returning home last week. They were called there by the serious illness of the Doctor's mother, who they report more comfortable.

Miss Ruth Austin was at home from the Normal school, Farmington, over Sunday.

Word received from Hon. and Mrs. Joel Wilbur who have arrived at Minneapolis, state that they had a delightful and comfortable trip.

Mr. and Mrs. Nathaniel Harnden passed the week-end with Mr. and Mrs. William True at their camp at Dallas.

Lester Thompson and James Ross have opened a barber shop at the upper village, having it open evenings only, as they have other employment through the day.

H. E. Bell made a business trip to New York last week.

Miss Cornelia T. Crosby was a guest of Mrs. H. M. Pierce at Farmington over Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. W. V. Larrabee have been at their cottage in Kingfield for a few days recently.

Mrs. Stanley Blaisdell is employed in Portland in the family of Leon Timberlake. Mrs. Timberlake and little daughter are both convalescing from typhoid fever.

Mr. and Mrs. D. T. Harnden were in Portland last week where they took their little son Filmore for an operation for adenoids.

Miss Margaret Arnold, who has been the guest of Miss Miriam Brackett for the past two weeks, returned to her home in Waterville Wednesday morning.

At the meeting of Hope Rebekah lodge last Friday evening the entertainment committee prepared some Halloween stunts which were enjoyed and refreshments of sandwiches, cake, coffee and doughnuts were served. The entertainment committee were Mrs. J. E. Noble, Mrs. E. B. Currier and Mrs. E. V. Holt. Those on refreshments, Mrs. A. S. Beedy, Mrs. H. F. Beedy and Mrs. C. B. Sweetser.

The Board of Trade Journal, Portland says: "Bill Adie was one of the noisy rooters at the World Series between the Athletics and Braves held in Boston last week. Bill was a staunch supporter of the Braves and returned thoroughly satisfied with the general results of the contest. Jack Dillon of Portland is still looking after the interests of D. W. True & Co., the wholesale grocers, and reports an unusually good trade the past month. Both of the above gentlemen are well known in Franklin county as "Billy" was on the road for many years and Mr. Dillon took his place and is making regular trips here at the present time.

The W. C. T. U. will have the pleasure of entertaining Mrs. Angie Fernald, the County president, November 6, at 7 p. m., at the Parish House, assisted by the L. T. L. and others. At the close of the program a sale of popcorn and home made candy for the benefit of the L. T. L.'s and white ribbon recruits. Fathers and mothers are especially invited to come and bring the little ones. Come all and see the boys and girls of to-day, who will be the men and women of to-morrow.

Gladys Morton is working for Mrs. B. Frank Beal.

The Christmas Present club was entertained by Mrs. C. E. Parker last Monday afternoon with the eight members all present. Refreshments were served. The next meeting will be with Mrs. H. B. Austin on Tuesday, November 10.

Farmers' Institutes will be held in North Franklin Grange hall, Phillips, Thursday, November 5; Grange hall, Temple, Friday, November 6; and Grange hall, North Chesterville, Saturday, November 7. The sessions will open at 10.30 a. m., and 1.30 p. m. Interesting speakers from within and out of the state will be present.

The Ladies' Social Union will meet in the Parish House next Tuesday afternoon at 2.30 o'clock.

Mr. and Mrs. Abel Holt, Mr. and Mrs. Otto Holt, Floyd Holt and Peter Lesarge visited E. V. Holt and family Sunday.

Holt's Holt went to Rangeley last Friday night to play at a dance given by the High school.

The Social Service club will hold a sale of fancy articles, fruit and vegetables at the Parish House, Saturday afternoon and evening, November 7. A harvest supper will be served from 6 to 8. Price 25 cents.

Lewiston Cornroasters met in the home of Dr. and Mrs. C. E. Norton, Mountain avenue, Auburn, recently to talk over plans for a Halloween jollification at the country home of Dr. and Mrs. A. N. Leonard, on the evening of Oct. 31.

Mrs. Will E. Bean of Orchard Heights and Mrs. A. O. Moulton both of Jay, were guests of Mrs. M. A. Leighton, also Henry Leighton from Saturday until Monday, when they returned to their home on the 1 o'clock train.

Elwin Webber of Phillips and Levi Leavitt and Charles Worthen of Portland were at Long Pond the first of the week. Mr. Worthen was fortunate enough to secure a doe and we understand another member of the party could have gotten one if he had not been attacked by buck fever.

Mrs. W. B. Butler went to Portland last week Friday, and expects to be away for two or three weeks, possibly going to Massachusetts to visit relatives before her return.

George S. Lowell with his wife and her sister, were callers at the home of Mr. Lowell's aunt and cousin, Mrs. M. A. Leighton and Henry Leighton last Saturday evening.
