FLY ROD'S NOTE BOOK.

Yes, friends, the trout was a square tailed speckled trout, and it did weigh 9½ pounds. I should like this printed in big letters, and when one remembers that there is no other in the wide world where the angler has ever dropped the hook, that as large, or as handsome square tailed speckled trout has ever been caught as from the Rangeley waters, the fish story I told in last weeks Maine Woods will not be doubted. Several letters came to me early last week about that same fish. One gentleman even said, "Read it not been printed under your name I should have doubted it." Is there a daughter of Eve who would not say "thank you?"

Mr. J. H. Wheelwright of Baltimore, Md. known as the Coal King, last year built Camp Maryland, on a high point of land in the Narrows between Upper and Middle Dam. These camps are of logs and attractively finished and furnished and here we hope for many years to come, Mr. Wheelwright, and his friends will come for their spring fishing trip, but I doubt if they help make fish history again. Mr. Wheelwright's guests this trip included Mr. Geo. B. Fleming, son of the Governor of W. Va., also Mr. Wai on Miller of Farmont, who was trolling just in front of the camp when Mr. Trout struck, and soon they were aware a fish was making a fight for his life and this continued for over an hour before he was brought to net, and when weighed the scales told facts 9½ pounds, and congratulations followed. The steam boat had gone by, and at once Mr. Wheelwright sent his valet, R. H. Brown, telling him to take the trout to H. L. Welsh to be mounted. When Mr. Brown got to Upper Dam the boat had gone, and he chartered a special steamer, just to take this big fish across the lake.

It is not often such large trout are caught even from Rangeley waters, but there are larger ones than that for last fall a 12½-pound trout was weighed, that came into the "trap" set to take fish for the hatchery at Upper Dam.

It will be remembered that Maine's distinguished Senator Wm. P. Frye took a 10-pound trout on the fly in front of his campers.

Mr. R. M. Parish of Connecticut, also on a fly took a 9 pound 11 ounce trout from the pool at Upper Dam.

I remember that Mr. Harry Dutton of Boston once caught a trout that weighed nearly ten pounds.

Mrs. F. M. Frost a Boston lady, guest of Mountain View, I remember once caught a 9¾-pound trout trolling on the Rangeley Lake.

No doubt many who read this will remember of other big ones, and if so please write Fly Rod, Mountain View House, Mountain View, Me.

"Don't you want to take a ride this afternoon up to Ellisdale?" asked Mr. Amos Ellis one day last week as he was on his way to his farm. Such invitations as that always make me smile, and soon I was seated in the big wagon, where were packed away milk cans, baskets, etc., as Mr. and Mrs. Ellis was going to make their daily trip for farm supplies for the camp. The day was so warm and the clouds chased (Continued on page eight).

WINCHESTER

Rifle and Pistol Cartridges

In forty odd years of gun making the Winchester company has discovered many fine points about ammunition that could be learned in no other way. That is one reason why Winchester cartridges excel. Another is because they are made in a complete plant by a modern system of manufacture, under the supervision of experts. No matter what rifle or pistol you shoot, there is a Winchester cartridge made for it. For your own protection, don't simply ask for cartridges when you buy. Be specific and insist upon having Winchester make.

Marlin
.22 Caliber Repeating Rifle
Model No 20

The safety, comfort and convenience of the Marlin solid top, closed-in breech and side ejection features are combined with the quick, easy manipulation of the popular sliding fore-end or "pump" action in the new Model 20 Marlin rifle.

In rapid firing—the real test of a repeater—the Marlin solid top is always a protection and prevents smoke and gases blowing back; the ejected shell is never thrown into your face or eyes, and never interferes with the aim; the Marlin fore-end fits your hand and helps quick operation.

It handles the short, long and long-rifle cartridges without change in adjustment, and the deep Ballard rifling guarantees the accuracy, making it the finest rifle in the world for target shooting and for all small game up to 150 or 200 yards.

RANGELEY LAKE HOUSE.

Many New Arrivals—Bridge and Fishing Cause Most Excitement.

(Special to Maine Woods.) Rangeley Lake House, June 14. The rain of the past few days has added to the beauty of the landscape, but has not dampened the enthusiasm of the fishermen, who day after day are on the lake trolling or casting the fly, and some fine catches have been recorded. There has been a number of arrivals this week of those who plan to remain until autumn days.

Mrs. Charles F. Wood of Buffalo, N. Y., who with her two sons, and daughter were here last season for the first time, made many friends who were happy to welcome them on their arrival Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. W. O. Roberts of Hartford, Conn. are here on their wedding trip.

Mrs. L. H. Bowdoin and maid of Salem, Mass., Mrs. A. F. Breed and Mrs. Bray of Lynn, Mass. are a delightful trio of ladies, who for several years have spent June days here. They arrived last Friday for a month's sojourn.

Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Denison of New Bedford, Mass., who were not here in 1910 have returned for a few weeks and also for a few fish.

Mr. and Mrs. N. L. Tunis of New York have returned for their fourth season at this hotel.

Miss Rachel Marble is entertaining her friend, Miss Helen Birkenmayer, of Portland for a few days before they sail for an extended trip in Europe.

Mrs. A. E. Bingham, and daughter, Miss Bingham, and maid, of Santa Barbara, Cal., arrived last evening and will pass several weeks at this hotel for their first visit to the Rangeleys.

Mrs. John C. Baird and son, Mr. Baird, of Boston are among the old guests who have returned for another summer.

Rear Admiral H. G. O. Colby of Boston has this week joined Mr. and Mrs. C. T. Hutchins for a few days fishing.

In their usual trip Messrs. Chas. E. Billing and Sias Chapman of Hartford, Conn. are this year accompanied by Mr. Arthur H. Brownson, of the same city and Mr. J. H. Crossley of Bridgeport, Conn. The party have gone over to Tim Pond to take a few hundred trout on the fly.

Mr. and Mrs. G. N. Proctor of Fitchburg arrived Tuesday for a few days trolling for the big fish, and as in the past will no doubt record a good catch.

Mrs. Alexander H. Bullard and Miss Beulah McClellan of Worcester, Mass. are making a few days stay here on their return from Kennebago.

Mr. Eugene Atwood of Stonington, Conn., who spent last summer in camp at Kennebago, has for the winter been in Europe, and friends will be happy to learn he has much improved in health, and after a stay here will go to Kennebago. Mr. Atwood is accompanied by Mr. C. N. Cowen of Stonington and Mr. W. F. Quain of New York.

Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Manran of Providence, R. I., coming by automobile are here for a week's sojourn.

Chas. A. Hubbard, one of the enthusiastic Boston fishermen came Saturday and with his guide, Harry Quimby, spent the days on the lake and has his name written with red ink on the fish record, as with a fly he hooked and landed a 5½-pound salmon, who gave a good hour's sport and made a great fight.

RANGELEY TAVERN.

People Who Are There and What They are Doing.

(Special to Maine Woods.) Rangeley Tavern, Rangeley, Me., June 6, 1911.

Mr. C. Z. Southard of New York, after a week in camp at Kennebago returned home Monday. In August Mr. Southard, with his family, will return for a stay of two months and the fish chowders that he is famous for will be served at Camp No. 4.

Mrs. Charles Steele of Farmington is boarding here for the present, having joined her husband, who is in charge of the Rangeley Steamboat Co.'s office at the wharf.

Mr. E. H. Grose came over from Stratton on Sunday in his automobile bringing Mr. Ernest C. Prescott of Los Angeles, Cal., H. W. Kimball, of Haverhill, Mass. Mr. F. D. and L. E. Adams of Waltham, Mass. They reported the roads across the country in fine shape, and they made quick time.

CAT COST TEN.

Ledge House Changes Hands After 21 Years.

(Special to Maine Woods.) Ledge House, Dead River, Me. June 8, 1911.

The Ledge House and cottages, conductor for the last 21 years by Mrs. M. M. Harlow, will be under the management of her son, Harry E. Harlow and wife this season. Mrs. Harlow and her husband have erected a log cabin for their occupancy this summer. It is a well built structure and nicely fitted. Mrs. Harlow feels that she has earned a summer's repose.

Mrs. Harlow indulged in reminiscences of her 21 years' catering to sportsmen, and had many pleasant things to say of the patrons that have found entertainment under her roof. She says that in the beginning she used to be fearful of offending her guests, and often suffered much privation herself rather than say anything when guests took too much freedom. Later she learned that the guests appreciated frankness as well as other persons, and then things went more smoothly.

She recalls however one guest over whose departure she did not mourn. He was a young man who walked out with his gun one morning and shot the family cat, right in sight of the house. The fellow joked about it and offered to pay for the cat, much as one would offer to pay for some worthless trifle. The cat was a valuable Angora and was worth $5. When informed of the fact, the fellow paid and left the place. Mrs. Harlow did not feel that money paid the score but it was the only punishment that could be meted out to the fellow.

MOUNTAIN VIEW NEWS.

Normal School Visited The Hotel Last Week.

(Special to Maine Woods.) Mountain View House, Mountain View, Maine, June 9, 1911.

Fortunate are the people, who, these perfect June days are enjoying life on the piazza of this attractive hotel, or wander through the woods where the wild flowers are blossoming everywhere.

It was a happy, merry party from the Farmington Normal school that on Wednesday came by special train and boat to have their class exercises and take dinner here. The committee in charge were: Harriet F. Sampson, Leonora M. Clark, Beatrice E. Gipson and Chester M. Dascomb, who took great care in arranging everything, that the event might be, what it was a delightful occasion. The party included besides the committee: H. S. Libby, Zilda Brown, Essella A. Tennings, Farmington; Cassie Donohue, Thomaston; Anna M. H. Rockland; Beatrice Welsh, Boothbay; Kathleen Fox, Athens; Edna M. Hatch, Rockland; Jennie M. Larabee, West Bath; Laura F. Knowlton, Vassalboro; Ethel May Walker, Canton; Gladys L. Wiswell East Machias; Angie M. Hunnewell, Wiscasset; Helen L. Dyer, Madison; Ethel M. Young, South Berwick; R. Leah Hurd, Winthrop; Clara M. Skilling, West Pownal; Beryl Harlow, Rockfield; Letha N. Hurd, Winthrop; Leonora M. Clark, St. Athens; May B. Doane, San Francisco, Cal.; Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Thomas, Harriet F. Sampson, F. Edith Morton, Fred A. Pearson, Esther Rand, Olive W. Benton, Hattie E. Derby, Ruth E. Spiller, B. Marion Harmon, Fannie L. Haba, Eva B. Snowman, Ethel F. Tripp, Linda Benrage.

The tables in the dining room were handsomely decorated with ferns and pansies, a button hole bouquet at each plate. The following was the menu: Consomme a la Suedoise Gumbo de Vataille, sliced cucumbers, sliced tomatoes, queen olives; boiled chicken halibut, Bechamel sauce, Pommes Anglaise; fillet of pork, Macedoine, prime ribs of beef au jus, roast spring chicken cranberry jelly; lobster salad, chicken crustards, queen fritters, chautally sauce; boiled potatoes, spiced beets, mashed potatoes, sugar corn, spinach greens; India relish, plain and mixed pickles, chow chow, pickled onions, tomato catsup; cabinet pudding, Apple pie, lemon meringue pie, mince pie, fruit jelly, whipped cream, vanilla ice cream with hot chocolate sauce, sponge cake; Yum American cheese, cream cheese, Uneeda biscuits, Bent's crackers, graham crackers, layer raisins, assorted cake, tea, coffee, milk, cocoa.

Then the party adjourned to the music room for speeches.

Later Mr. Fred N. Beal of Phillips who accompanied the party, invited them to go over to the fish hatchery at Oquossoc.

At 4 o'clock after hearty cheers for the Mountain View, they took the steamboat for the return trip. We hope for years to come the Normal school scholars will spend their class day here.

Mrs. A. B. Gilman of Haverhill, Mass., was here Wednesday night, en route for home, after a two weeks' stay at her cottage.

Mr. M. B. Damon and F. L. Nichols of Fitchburg, Mass., after their usual spring outing here returned home Thursday. Mr. Damon only reported a trout and salmon, each weighing 3 pounds, and Mr. Nichols two salmon, 3 pounds, 4½ lbs., but if they recorded no others they always had plenty for the table.

SALMON VERY PLENTY.

8½-lbs Was the Biggest at Haines Landing Lately.

(Special to Maine Woods.) Mooselookmeguntic House, Haines Landing, June 9, 1911.

"It is well worth giving up a morning nap to come down at 5 o'clock and watch the sun coming over the mountains and hear the birds sing. I had no idea it could be half as beautiful anywhere," remarked a city gentleman who had an early call this morning.

The past ten days the tourists have been going as well as coming. The last of this week finds many here who have come to attend the Maine State shoot and those who came from other states are happily surprised to find the Mooselookmeguntic Gun club located in one of the most beautiful corners of New England.

Mr. and Mrs. F. S. Bean of Lowell, Mass., after a few days at Jim Pond, had great sport fishing here. They caught fish big and fish small, and declare they never had such a delightful outing. It was with regret they reeled in their line. Mrs. Bean had the sport of landing a 5½ pound salmon, a 3-lb trout and one of 3¾ pounds, and the pound fish were not even spoken of. Mr. Bean caught a 5 pound and a pair of 4½ pound salmon. Archie Lufkin, guide. Messrs H. V. Hunt of Peabody, Mass. and E. L. Rankin, Arlington, Mass. have for two weeks been keeping the hearth stone warm in one of the log camps. They had Jack McKennon for guide and although no big fish plenty of small ones.

The fishermen all have much to say about the large number of salmon that average 15 inches in length, weighing a pound or more. The lake seems full of them and as they are mostly returned to the water to grow larger, if not wiser, there is no fear but what the fish in a few years will be record breakers, and breakers of tackle, too.

Last Tuesday the following party

coming in two touring cars arrived making a quick run from Portland: Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Randall, John F. Randall, John W. Coleman, Miss Grace Colman, William P. Hunt, Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Randall, Miss Elizabeth Randall, Eleanor Randall and maid. The party took two camps and such a happy time! The children are like the birds.

The tennis court is in fine shape and the ladies are practicing daily.

On Wednesday a very happy event occurred at this hotel, when Mrs. G. L. Kempton of Rangeley gave a birthday dinner. The company included as guests of Mrs. Kimpton, Mrs. Fred B. Burns, whose birthday occurred on the same day, Mrs. E. J. Harnden, Mrs. A. W. Ross, Mrs. F. B. Colby, Mrs. Ira Hoar, Mrs. L. J. Kempton, Mrs. A. M. Hoar, Mrs. A. P. Richardson, Mrs. Anna Fredella Soule, Mrs. James Mathieson, Mrs. L. A. White, Mrs. E. I. Herrick, of Rangeley; Mrs. A. M. Sprague, of Pleasant Valley, N. Y.; Mrs. E. S. Soul, Dixby, N. S.; Mrs. H. L. Welch, Haines Landing and Mrs. H. I. Bates, Strong. The party came from Rangeley in a special boat, trains meeting them at the wharf. The table was arranged to seat the company and beautifully decorated with pinks, roses and ferns. A seven course dinner was served and the ladies responded to toast and offered congratulations. It was late in the afternoon when they said, "good by, many happy returns of the day," and returned to Rangeley.

Camps 3 and 4 in the circle are taken by Messrs. W. N. Wiley, Portland, T. S. Rhodes, Lawrence, Mass.; Geo. Walker, W. R. Walker, Somerville, Mass.; David Magee, New York; Harry J. Lewis, Geo. Kathan, Gloversville, N. Y. These "boys" came to attend the shoot, but to prove they can handle a rod as well as a gun they went fishing after the shoot Thursday afternoon and every body had fish to eat but to only one, Geo. Walker did they take off their hats and well they might for with Rob Walton guide he hooked one big salmon that got away, and another that kept them busy for nearly an hour, before he was brought to the net. It was as handsome an 8½ pound salmon as ever was taken from this lake. On the piazza of the camp every one called to admire the silver beauty.

Four Portland shooters, Billy Hill, S. W. Dimick, A. L. Dow, A. W. Reed and E. E. Summes are at home during the week in camp Uneedarest. Dr. C. W. Bray and Mr. E. E. Thurton of Portland made a quick trip in their auto Thursday and are delighted with cabin life here. The Dr. who has hunted in the Rockies, and dropped the hook in most of the lakes of Maine, hopes he will land one of the ten pound salmon that broke away yesterday.

Mr. N. E. Covel of Boston has been spending a few days vacation here, and he had great fun on the lake. Victor Fuller was his guide and a 3½-pound salmon, a 7-pound trout and a 4 pounder will give him fish stories until he comes again.

Mr. Albine L. Page and Mr. John M. Young of Madison, N. J. are here for their annual fishing trip.

Camp Ridlon was on Wednesday opened for the season. Mr. Frank Ridlon of Boston was welcomed by many. A large number of guests are booked and the season promises to be good.

The trail has been cut out from here to the top of Bald Mountain. When the weather is good parties go up daily, and are very enthusiastic over the view from the top that takes in a chain of lakes and mountains in all directions.

Mr. A. S. Wetherell, Mr. Reginald C. Stevenson of Exeter, N. H. and Mr. Harry B. Cilley of Manchester, N. H. arrived last night. Their guides are David Haines, George Henry Huntoon, and Rubie Wilbur.

Every morning the past week the passengers going to Oquossoc station have been much pleased to watch a doe deer and two fawns in the opening by the road side. Mr. Ellis would stop the horse and the wild deer would look at them as much as to say, "good morning, you will not harm us."

A ride to Ellisdale farm is one of the afternoon trips, that gives pleasure, and about milking time, is interesting to the city people who know little of farm life.

FROG WAS PURE WHITE.

Alligator from Florida Got Away from Home.

Providence, R. I., June 4, 1911.

To the Editor of the Maine Woods:

Here are a couple of stories from this little state that may have some interest for your readers. These plantations are not so very large but they occasionally sprout out with interesting news not only in the general line but in other lines as well, and if you people of your big state can beat these, let us hear from you.

Gussie B. Harrington of Ashaway was wandering along the bank of a brook that is being used as a clay pit a day or two ago, and saw something that was interesting. It was nothing more nor less than a frog, milk white, the only other color about it being an almost complete ring or band about each of its little, bright eyes. It was as lively as a cricket but after some chasing was made a prisoner.

There were recently placed on the summer home of Edgar H. Dexter at Oaklawn, four alligators which had been brought from Florida by someone who, evidently, had an idea of having an alligator steak and his wife's carrying a genuine alligator skin bag later on, but the saurians had other views. In order to keep them a strong wire fence was placed about the brook they were placed in for quite a distance so that they might have plenty of exercise. This week, however, it was discovered that two of them were missing and the other two were discovered in climbing the fence. They were driven back and although a search was made for the others they were not found and they are probably headed southward and need no label of "hands off." The fence was strengthened so that the others could not escape, but they had learned a lesson evidently from their erstwhile mates in confinement, and when the brook was visited yesterday they were not to be found. The marks on the fence clearly showed that they had done the climbing stunt and were on their way. Just how they learned the trick of fence climbing is not known, but they made a good job of it.

Mr. H. D. Waldron of Portland, assistant general passenger agent of the Maine Central railroad was a guest of F. N. Mr. and Mrs. Beal and Mr. and Mrs. Waldron made a trip through the Dead River Region, it being the first trip in Dead River by Mr. Waldron. Mr. Waldron expressed himself as being very much pleased with what he saw in this part of the state.

WHO'D YOU RATHER BE?

Who'd you rather be, the man who is now holding down the Mexican presidential job or the chap who's just finished packing his fishing tackle in preparation for starting by the next train on a two-week's vacation on the shore of some Maine lake well stocked with trout and salmon?—Biddeford Journal.

A Welcome Change

Smoke curling up from the farmhouse chimney as the men are coming in from the fields, gives a pretty suggestion of a good supper and a comfortable home. But it also means a hot, tired woman, working hard over a blazing fire.

Your wife can escape this with a New Perfection Oil Cook-stove.

A New Perfection keeps a kitchen many degrees cooler than any other range, yet it does all a coal or wood range can do. It saves time, labor and fuel. No wood to cut; no coal to carry; no ashes; no soot. With the New Perfection oven it is the best cooking device you can find anywhere.

New Perfection
OIL COOK-STOVE

Made with 1, 2 and 3 burners, with long, turquoise blue enameled chimneys. Handsomely finished throughout. The 2- and 3-burner stoves can be had with or without a cabinet top, which is fitted with drop shelves, towel racks, etc.

GOLD IN RANGELEY.

Mines are Interesting the People
There, One Opened.

(Special to Maine Woods).

Rangeley, Maine, June 10, 1911.

There is in this town more or less interest, not to say excitement over gold mines and other kinds of mines that it is understood have been discovered and are being operated or ar about to be operated, in town or near it.

Mr. Reuben Arsenault a well known lumberman is the pioneer and leader in the work and he has a crew of five men at work in Sandy River Plantation on the top of Bald Mountain. The men are blasting out the quartz, they have sent away samples for examination and we understand that the reports received have encouraged Mr. Arsenault so much that he proposes to follow his hand through to complete success if possible.

There are rumors of other mining ventures that are likely to be sprung at any time. Mr. Arsenault depends largely upon gold deposits in the proportion of 11 of gold to 3 of silver. Now there are rumors that another man, formerly a resident of Phillips and whose name we are not at liberty to divulge at present, has made important discoveries and he proposes to dig out a fortune if possible. He is very sanguine. He says he has made a study of the conditions around Rangeley and he has come to the conclusion that Rangeley lake was at one time, thousands of years ago, a raging volcano and that Dickson's Island represents a deep cavern in the ever raging, fiery furnace. This student of nature considers Rangeley lake proper to be responsible for the wonderfully rich mineral formations in Rangeley and vicinity and he predicts that within ten years the great inland fishing, hunting and summer resort business in this vicinity will be dwarfed by the business of mining for gold and silver and other minerals, the names of which he did not mention.

DEER DOWN FROM MOUNTAIN.

BIRDS AND LESSER GAME PLAY HIDE AND SEEK.

Moose is Accused of Gazing, by Enthusiastic Writer Who Has Made a Tour of the Dead River Country of Late.

(Special to Maine Woods).

Mt. Bigelow House,
Dead River, Maine, June 10, 1911.

At the base, but not under the shadow of Mt. Bigelow, the one great mountain peak of Dead River, and within eighty rods of that famous river is situated the Mt. Bigelow House. This house has been kept for forty-five years by the present owner, Mr. S. A. Parsons, and is one of the places along the Dead river valley that has always made good.

The original house gave way twenty-five years ago to the present handsome and well built colonial styled mansion. It is set back from the high way, with a large front yard, much in the old English manner. The dust raised by passing automobiles and teams does not settle upon the guests who may be seated on the piazza or in the yard. We said this house was a "mansion," and while it has twenty guest rooms, it is still a "mansion" in the sence of being a house.

For forty five years Mr. Parson's has lived there; but not solely to keep a public house or to entertain sportsmen. He is a farmer—one of those farmers whose work and manag-ment has shown results; even in the Dead River country—that land just beyond the corn zone—within the territory where deer come down from the mountains to have a drink and imprudently feed from the growing crops.

His farm, or two farms, consisting of 205 acres in one piece, and 500 in another, with only a small farm between, lies for nearly two miles along the banks of the Dead River all with the town of the same name.
This land is level, and for the greater part rich deep loam, easily worked and is capable of producing large crops. 200 bushels of potatoes to the acre is only ordinary. Oats yield easily 50 bushels to the acre. Last year Mr. Pearson cut 200 tons of hay. He keeps many head of cattle and sheep but is able to sell many tons of hay besides. This is land that will stand being cropped.

Besides this immense track of farming land—175 acres of which is tillage—Mr. Parsons owns a timber tract in Highland plantation of 425 acres, and another tract used for pasturage in the same plantation, of 300 acres. Over 1400 acres—an estate as vast as the feudal lords of old controlled—Mr. Parsons has unlike those fellows, consecrated this soil of his by the "sacrifice" or hard and honest toil throughout a period of nearly half a century. He has the able assistance of his son and his wife in the management of the house and farm, and is able to enjoy somewhat of the repose due to his long season of labor.

The place is situated in the midst of the country where the best fishing and hunting of America exists.
A stream from the mountain flows right by the house that has trout, and within sight is Dead river with trout and the sporting pickerel, bears and other small game is always playing hide and seek with the man with a gun, and is so plentiful that hiding is hard and seeking easy.

Deer, and sometimes moose actually stand on the craigs of the mountain and gaze at the huntsman below, not so so trustingly as to walk up to the muzzle of the gun, but not so wild as to get beyond reach at first fright.

Mt. Bigelow House is seven miles from Carrabasset station. Two stages daily.

DEER PHOTOGRAPHED IN PHILLIPS.

Comes to The Village for Friendly
Visit.

It isn't often that one has an opportunity to photograph a live deer in the full enjoyment of its liberty.
in Phillips village, but that is exactly what Mrs. H. L. Goodwin did Saturday forenoon. The deer first was seen to come out of S. G. Haley's pasture near the Brayman mill, and leisurely cross Judge Morrison's field and enter Mrs. Louisa Berry's lot. Mrs. Goodwin got her camera and went into the Morrison field and Mr. Goodwin went around and found the deer standing quietly on a knoll in Mrs. Berry's field, viewing some prospective sweet corn. He got within 100 feet of the deer before it took fright and succeeded in driving it back across the Morrison field, directly in front of the waiting camera. The deer did not seem in much of a hurry, and entered the Haley pasture about where it came out. The deer was of good size, though not an extremely large one,

and probably was not more than two years old. It had no antlers, but that is not conclusive evidence that it was a doe at this time of year, though it may have been, in fact,
Mr. Goodwin is rather inclined to believe it was. This is the third deer seen in that immediate vicinity in the past 15 years. If the animal once gets a taste of growing garden stuff it is likely to remain around the village all summer.

UPPER DAM FISHING.

Twelve-Pound Trout "Suspected" of Returning to Pool.

(Special to Maine Woods).

Upper Dam, Maine, June 10, 1911.

The trout and salmon are now coming into the Pool, and it is time "Dan Tom and Jim" were casting the fly for theirs, and they are coming next week.

The weather has been perfect the last ten days, now and then a shower to keep the grass green and the wild flowers in bloom.

The flower beds have been filled with geraniums, the sweet peas are up and the place has taken the old time summer beauty.

Mrs. Walter Chadwick and children who since last autumn has been in Holden, returned this week to spend the summer with Mr. Chadwick.

Mr. Freeland Howe is still keeping up his reputation as a fisherman.
He and his guide are at Richardson
Pond on a camping trip.

The first fish taken on the fly in 1910 was on June 10, that on the old steelyards, that has weighed the fish here for over half a century, reached the three pound notch.

May 18, this year Dr. Albert Griffith of New York opened the record as reported June 2, Mr. George B.
Bearce of Lewiston with Chester Sweet guide on a Tona Joe fly caught two salmon, one 3 pounds, 3 oz., the other 3 lb, 4 oz.

Several big fellows that live in the pool have a number of times helped the fishing tackle dealers' business by making down stream with flies, leader and line. Some one thought it was that 12 1/2-lb trout that came into the weirs once in October, that came up and made a big splash in the pool the other morning.

Ex-Congressman Horatio Bisbee of Jacksonville, Fla., has for the past week been at his summer home in Dixfield, where Mrs. Bisbee arrived on Saturday for the season. Col.
Bisbee and his old guide, Elmer Woodbury are now ready for life out of doors, tramping, camping and fishing.

Dr. J. F. Trull, for three week has been at his camp returned to his home in Biddeford, accompanied by Mrs. Trull and their friends,
Dr. and Mrs. Randall.

Mr. Geo. B. Bearce and guide are now at Mr. Bearce's new camp on Beaver pond.

Mr. James Gormley of Boston, accompanied by his son, James T. and daughter, Miss Gormley and nephew, Thomas Gormley, have taken one of the cottages for a few days' stay. Mr. Gormley has Asa Elling-wood for guide. The first day fishing he caught seven fish, the largest a 5-pound salmon. Twelve fish, seven trout and five salmon, averaging over a pound each, was his second day's catch.

Mr. Clarence R. Young and son, John Young, of New York started homeward today, each with as many pounds of fish as the law allows to take to their city friends, and each sent a 10-lb box home while here.
Mr. Young said in all the years he had been coming to Upper Dam he never had a better catch or a better time. Besides a large number of one and two-lb trout and salmon he took four 3-lb trout and three 4-pounders and a 6-lb salmon. Mr.
John Young caught a 5-lb salmon and a 4 1/4-lb trout and a 4-lb and many smaller ones.

Mr. Thomas Cummins and wife,
Dr. Loretta Joy Cummins of Brookline accompanied by their friend, Miss Catherine E. Coakley, have been greatly enjoying a few days' sojourn here. Asa Ellingwood was their guide. Dr. Cummins caught a 4 1/2-lb salmon and it was such a large one that it took Mr. Cummins' tackle.

Mr. L. E. Cowan of Rumford and friend, Geo. R. Coyle, of Boston spent Sunday here.

Mr. J. W. Harris of Rumford with his New York friends, Messrs. N.
R. Hopkins, F. C. Stevens, I. S.
Watson, J. W. Bothwell and J. J.
Dowling, were here but a few days when called home. They had good fishing, "plenty of small ones but a 3 1/2-lb. salmon was the big fellow."

Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Tolman of Boston, after an absence of several years, have returned for a short stay.

Coming in their automobile from Boston to Rumford, Messrs. T. I.
Crowell, H. C. Friend, F. C. Friend and E. W. Bailey made a quick trip reporting the roads in good shape.
George York and Joe Morin are their guides. Mr. F. C. Friend had the great sport while trolling to hook two trout, which kept him busy for half an hour. One weighed 2 1/4-lbs, the other 2 1/4 lbs. A 3-lb and a 5-lb salmon have been taken by the party and many smaller ones.

Dr. N. D. Hardy and Louis W.
Downs of Providence, came last night and with Henry Banker for guide will no doubt have good luck during their week in camp.

Mr. Joseph R. Davis, the Philadelphia artist who was here for a month last year, came Monday for the summer and will soon be joined by Mrs. Davis, to remain until the autumn days.

For ten days the flag was flying at Bellevue Camps. Dr. Norton Downs of Philadelphia and his father, Dr. R. N. Downs, and Dr. R. N.
Downs, Jr. and friends were there.
Next month the family will return for an extended sojourn.

Mr. J. Parker Whitney and family of California are expected at Camp
Whitney very soon.

We are glad to learn that Mr. and Mrs. M. Goldsmith of New York, after an absence of several summers will this year open Myhisana Lodge.

WOMAN GUIDE LOVES HORSE.

Marries and Leaves But Returns
For Her Favorite.

(Special to Maine Woods.)

Dead River, Maine, June 10, 1911.

Mrs. Ethel A., widow of Forrest
C. Durrell, was married last April to George M. Bemis, then of Fairfield, but now located at Fort Fairfield.

Mrs. Bemis is a daughter of Mr.
and Mrs. Harlow, and from the age of 13 until her first marriage was a registered guide in this state and is pleasantly remembered by the visitors to Dead River. Mrs. Bemis last week performed the quite extraordinary exploit of returning to her home in sheer homesickness for a horse that she had owned for a long time and driving it to Fort Fairfield, a distance of 175 miles.
The trip took four days.

JIM POND CAMPS.

Recent Arrivals—Fishing Good—Everybody Happy.

(Special to Maine Woods). Eustis, Maine, June 11, 1911. Among recent arrivals at Jim Pond camps are: S. E. Cassino, Salem, Mass.; B. A. Mackinnon, J. B. Kelly, Geo. C. Crowley, New York City; Wm. Arnold, guide; Mr. and Mrs. C. I. Hurd, Dover, N. H.; Dr. and Mrs. J. E. S. Pray, Exeter, N. H.; Ansel A. Eames, guide; Blaine S. Viles, Augusta; Ralph Wing, Flagstaff; Hermon Blackwell, Round Mountain; Frank M. Powers, Geo. W. Dean, A. M. Potter, Bath; P. F. Vollker, Albert S. Sisson, Providence, R. I.; A. M. Jones, Wm. Hanscom, H. H. Landers, Ed Moulton, Stratton, Me.

The fishing at Jim Pond has been very satisfactory so far this season and it will improve as the season advances. A large number of brook trout have been caught in the outlet and in Dead River weighing from 1-pound to 2½-pounds besides a large number of smaller trout. Very little fishing has been done in Jim Pond until Monday, June 5, when Wm. Hanscom and a party of four came over from Stratton to try the trolling. They got 4 togue weighing 2¼, 3, 3½ and 4-pounds. Mr. Hanscom says they had a good many strikes and got several up to the boat only to see them get away.

While drifting over the shoals opposite the camps, H. H. Landers had his bait over the side of the boat watching it, and had just remarked to his companions that his bait was still alive, when, Bang! a 6-pound togue took his bait, hook, leader and a piece of his line, came up about 20 feet from the boat and after lashing the water to a fury and went down again for good. Mr. Lander's said in speaking about it afterwards, "I lost my hook and leader but managed to save my rod."

Messrs. Hurd and Pray with their wives and Ansel Eames as guide, spent two weeks in camp and had very good luck fishing in North Branch of Dead River, and Jim Pond inlets, the weather was extremely hot at times during their stay, twice at midday the thermometer mounted to 94 degrees. (2 degrees hotter than the hottest day last season.) Messrs. Hurd and Pray have been coming to Maine for a number of years and have a very thorough knowledge of the Dead River region and its fishing grounds.

S. E. Cassino, J. B. Kelly, Geo. C. Crowley and B. A. MacKinnon, with Wm. Arnold as guide were in camp for a short stay and had fine luck trout fishing, they got several weighing from 2 to 2½-pounds. The only regret they expressed upon leaving was that they could not stay two weeks longer.

The severe drouth which started early this spring has been brought to a close in this section by heavy rains. This is a great relief to camp owners and timber land owners throughout the state, as the danger at one time from forest fires was very grave and it was necessary to use every precaution against fires getting started.

Signs of game of all kinds was never more plentiful in this section and I look forward to an extra good hunting season.

PIERCE POND CAMPS.

Fishing Very Good Considering the Weather Conditions.

(Special to Maine Woods). Caratunk, Maine, June 11, 1911. Fishing here for the last two weeks has been very good considering the conditions of the weather which has been very hot and dry till within the last few days which has been cooler. H. P. Sackett of New York landed a good string of fish ranging from 3 to 8½-pounds and Louis Felonze had the time of his life landing an 8-lb salmon. This was his first large salmon which he will have mounted.

Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Burnham, who have been here for the last month have had fairly good luck. Mrs. Burnham having a string of 12 large fish to her credit. Mr. Burnham fishing more with a fly has not landed so many. He took a 6-lb salmon on a fly in front of their cabin recently.

Mr. A. G. Hupferl of New York with his wife, child and maid have just returned home, after a two weeks stay in camp. Mr. Hupferl, who is an ardent fisherman with Armand Spaulding, guide, caught many nice fish, some being taken on the fly.

Your correspondent recently visited Carry Pond camps. Fishing is very good there most all taken on the fly. This place, without any doubt is the surest place to go for trout weighing from ¼ to ¾ pounds.

Mr. Lane's camps have been full since the season opened, and many parties booked for July and August.

Here we saw R. V. Horn, one of the old landmarks of Carry Pond. All one has to do now to get Rance started is to ask him how he will have his potatoes, hard or soft.

FISHING NEAR STRONG.

Sweet's Pond and Some Trout Brooks There.

(Special to Maine Woods).

Strong, Maine, June 8, 1911.

Strong is not what might be termed a fisherman's paradise, but it has Sweet's pond near by in New Vineyard and some good trout brooks. The pond is a pretty sheet of water, and with its surroundings tempts the High school girl to make use of the adjective sweet in describing it. It is evidently a good place for amateur fishermen, or rather women. We learned from a party who knows that Mrs. Harry Lambert, of Strong, caught an eight-pound togue there the other day, the first fish she ever caught.

DOE PLAYS TAG WITH DEER.

MARM BRUIN BLOCKS ROAD TO SAVE BABY BEARS.

Loons on Bog Island Doing Business

At Old Stand. Miss Grace Soule Divides Time Between Alder Pole Fishing and Playing with "Petris."

(Special to Maine Woods). Pleasant Island, Me., June 4, 1911.

The pet deer at Pleasant Island looks very queer just now. She is busy shedding her dull looking winter coat in favor of a bright red one. She is rather poor, too, but flesh will come with the new coat. The deer was named after Pete Lufkin, the guide who befriended her after somebody had shot her mother and left her in the woods to starve. There was some difficulty about naming this deer after Pete because she is a lady deer and Pete is no lady. It was a matter of consultation between Billy Soule, Mrs. Soule and their little daughter, Grace, who claims the deer for her very own. The name was hard to decide upon, but as "Pete" wouldn't do "Petris" was decided upon as the best name available for a lady deer named after a man. And "Petris" it is.

Petris makes herself so familiar around Pleasant Island that the Berlin Mills Company that own a big garden near by is in danger of making a complete failure of their garden. Petris conceived the idea of nipping off the tops of the vegetables as fast as they appeared and up to this time she has followed out the plan religiously. The caretaker of the garden owns three setter dogs and he thought perhaps they would scare Petris away, so he turned them loose with her and she didn't run an inch. On the contrary she "bobbed" her head in a very familiar way and in less time than it takes to tell it, the three dogs and "Petris" were playing tag up and down and across that new garden. The peas, the beets and everything else was torn to pieces before the dogs could be called off and hitched and the caretaker is now trying to devise another scheme to scare the deer away.

Billy Soule's daughter, baby Grace has a lot of fun with "Petris." She follows the deer all over the island, lies down with her and frequently varies the sport by grabbing the hind legs of the deer. This is sometimes resented, but Grace is not afraid. When the patience of the deer is exhausted she turns and strikes with her front feet, but Grace is expecting that and it is an easy matter to dodge under the animal and thus avoid all danger.

Grace divides her time between playing with the deer and fishing for trout with an alder pole. And she catches trout, much to her delight. There has been more or less anxiety for fear Grace would fall into the water when alone. She fell into Cupsuptic Lake a few days ago, and her friend Pete Lufkin was there to pull her out, which he did very promptly, but not until Miss Grace had received the fright of her life. She had a good cry and promised to be more careful in the future.

A few days ago a lumberman from the Berlin Mills Company was out walking on the tote road when he had an experience that he doesn't care to repeat every day. He was walking along without thought of anything unusual, when a big mother bear rose up in front of him and emitted a cry that made him wish he was at home by his own fireside. But he wasn't, and as the fire-side was on the other side of the bear he had to forego that pleasure until some more convenient time. The bear was a mother bear and two baby bears accompanied her, which made it impracticable for the man to go any further at that time, so, being a man who is peaceably inclined and being without a gun he returned to the storehouse, leaving mamma and her babies in complete possession of the road.

The Loons on the bog island are hatching out their young as usual. Billy Soule found two nice eggs a few days ago and he figures that very soon the young loons will be riding pig back on the mother or father loon out in the lake to take swimming lessons.

MONEY LOST

By Sickness and Enforced Idleness.

Many of the days of sickness and misery, too often accompanied by loss of pay, may easily be charged to neglect or indiscretion on the part of the individual. Just a little more care in the matter of diet and attention to regularity of habits will change such days into happy and profitable ones. Give heed to Nature's first warnings of approaching trouble, keep your stomach and digestion right and your bowels regular,—then everything will look cheerful and your day's work will be easier.

On the first appearance of acid stomach, nausea, headache or constipation, take one or two teaspoonfuls of L. F. Atwood's Medicine, and the functions will resume their normal activity, you will avoid the expense of sickness, and earn your usual pay. Get a bottle today from your dealer or write us to mail a free sample. The "L. F." Medicine Co., Portland, Maine.

Years of Suffering

Catarrh and Blood Disease—Doctors Failed to Cure.

Miss Mabel F. Dawkins, 1214 Lafayette St., Fort Wayne, Ind., writes: "For three years I was troubled with catarrh and blood disease. I tried several doctors and a dozen different remedies, but none of them did me any good. A friend told me of Hood's Sarsaparilla. I took two bottles of this medicine and was as well and strong as ever. I feel like a different person and recommend Hood's to any one suffering from catarrh."

Get it today in usual liquid form or chocolate tablets called Sarsatabs.

SHE GOT WHAT SHE WANTED

This Woman Had to Insist Strongly, but it Paid

Chicago, Ill.—"I suffered from a female weakness and stomach trouble, and I went to the store to get a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, but the clerk did not want to let me have it—he said it was no good and wanted me to try something else, but knowing all about it I insisted and finally got it, and I am so glad I did, for it has cured me."

"I know of so many cases where women have been cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound that I can say to every suffering woman if that medicine does not help her, there is nothing that will."—Mrs. JANETZKI, 2063 Arch St., Chicago, Ill.

This is the age of substitution, and women who want a cure should insist upon Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound just as this woman did, and not accept something else on which the druggist can make a little more profit. Women who are passing through this critical period or who are suffering from any of those distressing ills peculiar to their sex should not lose sight of the fact that for thirty years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, which is made from roots and herbs, has been the standard remedy for female ills. In almost every community you will find women who have been restored to health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Saturday, June 10, and it was decided that the matter of purchase of water works be further submitted to the committee, C. V. Starbird, Alton Tucker, Dr. C. W. Bell, Wm. K. Howes and Fred H. Dr. Samuel Hunter and daughter, Dr. Sarah Hunter, both of Machias, are at present and for the summer stopping at Mapewood farm, South Strong, with Dr. Hunter's sister, Mrs. O. M. Moore. Dr. Hunter is now over 80 years of age and somewhat feeble, though he recalls many incidents of his early boyhood and thinks Mapewood one of the prettiest places in the valley.

G. E. (Ed) McCleary, of South Strong, is making good progress in erecting his new saw-mill, near the railway station. He will have had some of the machinery in motion before this item appears in print, if all goes well. He recently purchased a thirty horse power gasoline engine over in Somerset county and with his brothers, Fred and "Farmer" Moore and their three teams hauled the machinery through Farmington, over some bad roads, to the mill-site, which, by the way needs no dam-site.

The recent rain has set the farmers laughing over excellent crop prospects, the hay crop being well assured. Mapewood, at South Strong, has sweet corn standing over one foot high and peas ready to blossom. Potato-bugs are getting busy, and everybody has pigs for sale. Farmer Moore will keep his (ten) till fall.

BASEBALL GAME.

Phillips High School Wins Game from Strong High School.

Phillips High school and Strong High School met on the diamond last Saturday afternoon and Phillips was the victor by the close score of 10 to 8. The game, although very loosely played at some stages, was interesting and the result was in doubt until the last man was out.

Phillips played a better game in the field than Strong, and this accounted for her victory. The grounds were very wet and this made the ball hard to handle, causing many wild throws by both teams. The features were the star catches of Kempton of Phillips and Toothaker of Strong, and the batting of Toothaker and Kinney of Phillips.

The lineup was: P. H. S. S. H. S. Toothaker, 1st base. I. f. Richardson Noble, 2nd base. p. C. Worthley Kinney, 3rd base. s. s. Toothaker Holt, p. 3rd base. Mains Barker, c. 2nd b. FLY ROD'S NOTE BOOK.

ing each other over the sky. Driving past Mountain View House half a mile on the road to Rangeley, we turned to the right and for some distance drove through such a pretty forest, the branches of the trees meeting overhead. All along the roadside were ferns, violets, and wild flowers in perfusion, soon we came out into the open field, and what a beautiful picture.

The house is in the edge of a grove and one can look down onto the lake and the mountain's beyond. This farm contains over two hundred acres, and here Mr. Ellis can show that farming pays, even among the Maine hills.

He has a head of six cows, more than a hundred hens, and as many little chicks, and it is most fascinating to watch the little things, that "Lottie" the farmers wife will take up and talk too for she knows each one.

The garden has "come up" and it will not be many weeks before the table at Bald Mountain camp will be supplied with fresh vegetables from there.

It was such a beautiful spot at Ellisdale I regreted when we were called to return, and when ever any one of the Maine Woods readers has the invitation to accompany Mr. Ellis don't fail to do so. Drink of the fresh milk, gather the wild flowers and even the big shepherd dog, the handsome coon cats, and the hens and chickens will seem to ask you to "come again."

At Upper Dam early mornings "Mr. Beaver," who with his family cuts wood, and lives over on the island near the house takes a morning trip. He comes over to the dam, looks all around as if he wanted to take a contract from the Union Water Power Company to add to the dam, a few logs he knows so well how to cut. Some time at sunset he comes again while from the hotel piazza the guests take great pleasure in watching him.

A party were at the wharf to greet friends as they landed the other evening, when the boy of the crowd called out, "Say auntie did you forget my packages?" "Not I Benjy" she said with a merry laugh as she handed him a box tied up in ribbon that she "handled with care." The kid was soon seated on the grass opening the box. As I was near by I thought to myself "what a big box of candy" just as he said "Gee, but they are dandy, look at them Fly Rod, aren't they nice?" and I looked at a box of Massachusetts angle worms, big and fat!

The Arlington Lodge party on Mooselookmeguntic Lake after a delightful week have returned home. The company this spring included: Mr. John F. Priest of Boston, now almost seventy five years of age, but so young he went out early in the morning and jumped into the lake for a swim. A 4-pound salmon was the largest he caught this year. Mr. John H. Lowell, Boston, was high line for numbers. Mr. Arthur H. Gill, Boston, and Mr. John Potter with a 7-pound trout and a 7-pound salmon won the honors. Both Mr. F. J. Hill, and Mr. Wm. J. Fegan of Boston landed a 4 pound salmon. Mr. Geo. P. Ballard, Boston was proud of the 3½-pound salmon he took on the fly, as well as a number of 2 pounds each. Judge Charles Edison "had a grand good fishing trip." One evening while in camp the gentlemen gave an entertainment and part of the program was a fine display of fire works that were seen for miles up the lake. The guides were Ed Lamb, Fred Hoar, Tom Nutley and D. Haley.

I supposed the most surprised fisherman of this season was Mr. James Gormley of Boston, who with his guide, Asa Ellingwood, was trolling below Upper Dam one day this week. They had been catching a number of small fish, when a big fellow struck and the reel began to hum, and away went the salmon, who was out of water, in the air and under the boat. Suddenly the salmon turned and made for the boat faster than they could reel in, and giving a high jump struck Mr. Gormley a hard blow in the head, and sending the water flying, and landing in the boat without the hook in his mouth. It was an astonished guide and fisherman, who dropped rod and oars and caught the salmon in their hands just as he was going back to the lake. A handsome 5-pound salmon that surely had made a great fight for liberty.

FISH HAPPY, GRASS GROWING.

Rain Comes In Abundance After Long Drouth.

Upper Franklin County where fish and hay grow in abundance has been suffering for a long time for want of rain. For many weeks we got none at all. Then a very little came and all felt as though there was hope, last Saturday we had a shower that reminded us of former years when there was no lack of rain and Sunday night we had a really and truly shower, a good one, more or less of a soaker.

Now we feel that the trout are happy and the grass will grow faster and the farmer stands a better chance to get a normal crop of hay.

MARSHALL TAYLOR HAS CONFESSED THAT HE KILLED HIS WIFE

Shot Her at Close Range With Shotgun---Frequent Quarrels With Wife and an Infatuation for Miss Guida Searles, His Housekeeper, Believed to Have Been Chief Cause for Crime---The Inquest.

The fourth murder in Franklin County within the last six months occurred in Freeman. Marshall Taylor's wife mysteriously disappeared and as none of her relatives in or out of the county had seen or heard from her and as Marshall Taylor, her husband and Guida Searles, his housekeeper, who was hired at about the time that Mrs. Taylor disappeared, could not satisfactorily answer the questions put by County Attorney Blanchard and Sheriff Small a thorough investigation was made. The results were discouraging for a week or so but last Sunday the body of the late Mrs. Taylor was found within about thirty rods of the house, and now Taylor and his former housekeeper, Guida Searles, are in the Farmington jail.

Guida Searles has a jail record. It was she who served a term at Farmington after keeping house in Avon a while for Harry Kilgore under circumstances that were considered queer. Taylor was generally considered harmless and helpless though a deputy sheriff who has had an eye on him for some time informs us that he was known to carry a revolver and a knife regularly. Marshall has been considered more or less irresponsible and if we mistake not is at the present time under the guardianship of Orrin Brackley. He was freaky, one freak being a habit of wearing his winter clothes right through the summer.

Mrs. Taylor was Etta Lamkin of Jay. She was married four times to men named Wing, Thurlow, Harmon and then to Marshall Taylor. Her first and third husbands died and she was divorced from the second.

Harvey Searles who is serving a life sentence at Thomaston for killing his wife is a brother of Guida Searles.

Marshall Taylor is a son of Mary Brooks, who was a sister of the late John Brooks of Phillips.

While Marshall Taylor was arrested shortly after nine o'clock Sunday morning by Sheriff Small on a charge of murder, it was not until 12.30 that he was examined by the authorities. At that time the remains of his wife Mrs. Taylor, had been taken from the grave in the woods where found, borne to the workshop of the farm and the physicians were engaged in performing an autopsy.

Sheriff Small and County Attorney Blanchard took Taylor into the sitting room of the house and there questioned him concerning the events of the day on which his wife disappeared. It was as rigid and searching an examination as any man under suspicion was ever given. Throughout the ordeal, which lasted more than an hour, Taylor stoutly maintained his ignorance of the affair, insisting that he knew nothing about it; that he did not kill his wife and that if he had he would tell them the truth.

A Lewiston Journal reporter was present during the interview which the officers had with Taylor, which is given in substance below:

When the party had entered the sitting room Sheriff Small addressed the prisoner, saying:

"Now, Mr. Taylor, whatever you say will be used for or against you as evidence, do you understand?"

"Yes sir, I do," replied Taylor.

With this preliminary County Attorney Blanchard began to interrogate the man under arrest.

"Taylor," said he, "you might as well throw up your hands and tell us the truth about what has occurred here."

"Yes sir," said Taylor.

"When did you kill this woman," went on the county attorney.

"I did not."

"When did you bury her?"

"I did not do the deed."

"Taylor, when did you kill this woman?"

"I did not."

"We know you did."

"I did not bury her."

"You hauled her body out there on a drag placed on top of a sled."

"I did not."

Never Went Up Track With Pick.

"Now look here, Taylor," said the sheriff at this point, "a man saw you going up the track toward there with a pick and shovel and an axe; did you dig the grave then?"

"I did not."

"This man will swear to seeing you with the pick, shovel and axe."

"I did not."

"You went to the station and went up there."

"I did not."

"Tell us the truth," interposed Mr. Blanchard at this point.

"I have," replied Taylor.

"No you've not; you've lied to us all the time."

"You didn't go up there with a pick and shovel and axe?" said the sheriff.

"I did—I didn't do it."

"You went away long enough for anyone else to do it?"

"I did not do it, if I did I'd own up to it. I don't know who did."

"You didn't hunt for her after she went away did you and you have told different stories of what happened?" asked the county attorney.

"I did not."

"You never went up there with a pick and shovel and axe?" re-questioned the sheriff.

"I did not."

Hunted for Shot Marks.

"Did you find any shot marks in the house that night?" asked Mr. Blanchard, resuming the questioning.

"No."

"You looked for them?"

"Yes."

"Why did you look for them?"

"To see if anything like that had happened."

"You thought she was killed?"

"I did not know—I went to see if there was anything wrong."

"Murder will out, Taylor."

"It will sometimes, not always."

"Was Ernest Soper here when you killed her?" asked the sheriff.

"No he want."

"Was he here when you got back from suckering?"

"No—no one was here."

Disappeared Friday Night.

"She came up missing on a Friday night?"

"I think it was a Friday night."

"Was it Saturday, next day, that Guida Searles came here?"

"I think not."

"Was it Sunday?"

"Did Guida get here before your wife was buried," interposed the county attorney.

"I did not do the deed," reiterated Taylor.

"Did Guida Searles come here Sunday," repeated the sheriff.

Taylor was unable to answer this question, apparently and after he had been silent for several minutes the sheriff resumed.

"Where is the trunk?" he asked.

"I don't know, answered Taylor.

"Never had it, did you?"

"Yes."

"Where did you get it?"

"From the Larkin Company with soap."

"When was this?"

"What?"

"When did you get it?"

"About a year and a half or two years ago."

"Where did it come?"

"Eh?"

"To what station did it come?"

"To the Strong station, but they sent it up here. I paid the freight on it at Strong."

"Now, Taylor, a man says he saw you go that way with a shovel, pick and axe?"

"Well, well, he never did."

"Did you ever go up that way with a pick, shovel and axe?"

"No."

"You say you never went up that way with a shovel, pick and axe?"

"I never did."

"Taylor, why don't you tell us the truth."

"I have."

"Did you kill her up stairs?"

"No."

"Did you do it about five o'clock in the morning?"

"I did not."

"Didn't you shoot her with a shotgun?"

"No I did not do the deed."

Wrote No Letters.

"When did you write that letter to George Clark at Farmington?"

"I did not write it. I don't know anything about it. I don't know who did."

"Did you get Guida Searles to write it?"

"I know nothing about it."

"Your wife didn't write it after she was dead?"

"I don't know anything about it."

"Where is the deed you gave your wife of the farm?"

"I don't know anything about it?"

"Didn't you burn it before you wrote that letter to Mr. Clark, so there wouldn't be any trace of it?"

"No."

"If you'd wanted to take it off the record what would you have done?"

"Well, well, I would have written to Mr. Clark, but I did not write to Mr. Clark. All I know about it is that I had it made out and gave it to her."

"Did you ever hear her say anything about selling out?"

"No; never did."

"When you went suckering that night your wife was as well as usual?"

"Yes."

"Was Ernest Soper here when you got back?"

"No—no one here."

"Who did you go suckering with?"

"No one; was alone."

"What luck did you have?"

"Got ten or twelve."

"What did you do with them?"

"Brought them home."

"Who did you see in Salem village that night?"

"I didn't, didn't see, see anyone."

"What time did you get up to the village?"

"Between four and five o'clock."

"How long did you stay at the brook?"

"Well, it must a been two or two hours and a half."

"Didn't get any suckers before dark, did you?"

"Yes, two or three."

"They don't run until after dark, do they?"

"Yes, sometimes. I have caught them in the day time."

Never said Keep Away from Knoll.

County Attorney Blanchard resume the interrogations at this point and his first question was to ask if Guida Searles did not come there the Saturday night after Mrs. Taylor disappeared on Friday night, to which Taylor answered that she did.

"She stayed here Saturday night, didn't she?" continued the county attorney.

"Yes, said Taylor.

"And Sunday night?"

"Yes."

"And Monday night?"

"Yes."

"Tuesday morning she went up to Salem on the train and you took the cattle and went up to get her things, didn't you?"

"Yes."

"Then she came here the day after your wife disappeared?"

"Yes, I think she did."

"Do you remember telling Guida not to go over there on the knoll where your wife was found, when she was out strawberrying?"

"No; don't think I did."

"In your hunting for hawks did you go over that way?"

"Yes, one day."

"That was the day you shot the do which was chasing deer?"

"Yes."

"You were pretty excited when you got to the house that day want you?"

"A little."

"Why?"

At this question Taylor hesitated and his eyes fell to the floor, after which he said:

"Because I overshot the dog."

"That was the only time you've been over that way?"

"Yes."

On May 13th the Maine Woods received from Marshall Taylor an order to publish the following:

Notice.

Freeman, Maine, May 13, 1911.

Whereas my wife, Etta Taylor, having left my bed and board without any cause, I hereby forbid all persons harboring or trusting her on my account as I shall pay no bills of her contracting after this date.

(Signed) Marshall Taylor.

Marshall Taylor in his cell in the county jail broke down completely and made a detailed confession that he killed his wife, Mrs. Etta Taylor whose body was found buried near her home in Freeman, by shooting her in the head at close range with a shotgun on May 12, according to a statement issued by County Attorney Cyrus N. Blanchard. In his confession Taylor exonerated his housekeeper, Miss Guida Searles as having any part in the crime. He was arranged before Judge Holman in county court here June 13 on the charge of wife murder. Miss Searles is still detained as a witness.

The Confession.

The confession which the authorities say they secured from Taylor came without any pressure, according to Attorney Blanchard. With Sheriff W. B. Small, Attorney Blanchard had been questioning Taylor in his cell in the county jail, where he was locked up last night following the discovery of his wife's body buried beneath earth, boughs and bricks, about 25 rods from the Taylor home. A slight admission was gained from the prisoner today, Mr. Blanchard says and then Taylor broke down and confessed everything. He said he and his wife had quarreled frequently up to a month ago, and he made arrangements to kill her. On the evening of Friday, May 12, after they had eaten supper together,

FOLEY'S KIDNEY REMEDY

Taylor asked his wife to accompany him to the woods at the rear of their home to go hunting. She agreed. Taylor took with him his shot gun. The couple walked across the clearing back of the house and had taken only a few steps through the trees, when Taylor told his wife to go ahead of him on some pretext and holding his gun close to the back of her head he fired.

The skull was shattered, and Mrs. Taylor fell without a word, her husband said today. In answer to a question from one of his examiners, Taylor declared that he fired only one shot, and that he did not club his wife over the head after she fell. The fact that the entire back of the woman's head was missing when the body was discovered yesterday had led the authorities to believe that the skull must have been beaten away by some heavy instrument.

How He Buried the Body.

To divert suspicion from himself he wrote the letters and deeds tending to show that his wife had committed suicide and had bequeathed all her property to him, he said. A note which Taylor showed to neighbors and to the authorities signed in his wife's name, said that she was "tired of this life," and that she did not want to live any more.

Killing Prearranged.

Taylor is said to have confessed that the killing of his wife was prearranged. That frequent quarrels up to within a month of the shooting had caused him to definitely make up his mind to put his wife out of the way. He thought the matter over a great deal and for some time was undecided as to the means he would employ to accomplish the deed.

At about the time he made up his mind to kill his wife he heard of Miss Guida Searles who was then living at Livermore. It is generally understood that she was on his list of female correspondents, but no letters which may have passed between the two have been made public. Whether he had corresponded with the girl or not, he is known to have inquired about her of John Stebbens of Salem at least three weeks before he killed his wife Taylor told Stebbens that his wife had told she was going away and would never come back and that he had got to find a housekeeper. Having thus led up to the subject, Miss Searles was among the candidates considered.

Wife Helped Him Plant.

Peculiar as it may seem the relations of Taylor and his wife were very pleasant during the last week or two of her life. On the day she was killed she went to a neighbors and secured some seed corn and returning home helped her husband plant the corn in the garden. They talked and joked and seemed contented in each others company.

Taylor's hearing occurred before Judge Holman Tuesday afternoon. F. W. Butler appeared for Taylor and County Attorney C. N. Blanchard for the state. Mr. Butler waived a hearing and Taylor was committed to jail to await the action of the Grand jury in September. Guida Searles was brought into court and was held as a witness to appear in September. She was allowed to go, but she is to pay the county $1,000 if she does not appear at that time.

Taylor is a man about 45 years old, short in stature, of sandy complexion and wears a small mustache. He did not seem much disturbed at his surroundings and the situation he is in did not seem to affect him much.

The funeral of the unfortunate woman was held on Monday at the Taylor home, and the remains were later taken to Riverside cemetery Farmington, for interment beside the grave of her first husband, the late Stephen Wing.

OBITUARY.

MRS. ELIZA M. BRYANT.

Mrs. Eliza M. Bryant passed away at her home in West Phillips on Saturday, May 20, at 3 o'clock p. m. at the age of 61 years, 10 months and 16 days. She was born in the Beach Hill part of Sandy River Plantation, July 4, 1849 and was the eighth of a family of twelve children born to Eben and Harriet Whitney Berry. She was married to Nathan Bryant in November 1867 and they lived on the old Bryant place in No. 6 for 17 years. There their two daughters were born and they had since lived in several different places in the north part of this county, moving on to the farm where she and her husband died, in July 1902.

Her husband died May 3, 1910 after a long and painful illness leaving Mrs. Bryant in a nearly exhausted condition and suffering from a nervous spinal complaint. She continued to grow worse and in July went away to a hospital remaining there several weeks without receiving any permanent relief. During the first part of the winter she went to another hospital, also remaining there several weeks and growing worse all the time. In spite of all her loving daughters, friends and relatives could do in her behalf, she continued a great sufferer until she sank away, completely worn out.

Mrs. Bryant will be remembered as a capable housewife always striving to make everything comfortable for her husband and children. She is survived by her two daughters, Mrs. Lefa S. Whitney of Farmington and Miss Esther M. Bryant of West Phillips, who hardly gave herself rest day or night, so busy was she administering to her mother's wants. Mrs. Bryant also leaves three brothers and two sisters, the brothers, Seymour, Valentine and Edwin Berry being present at her funeral, and the sisters, Mrs. Wilbur of Phillips and Mrs. Hewey of Kingfield being unable to attend on account of age and illness. She also leaves two grandsons and many more distant relatives. Her funeral was held at the schoolhouse in Madrid village May 22, a host of relatives attending; and her remains were laid to rest in the cemetery above beside those of her husband.

How you may profit by it. Take Foley Kidney Pills. E. E. Gibbs, Water-ville, Me., says: "Last summer I was afflicted with kidney trouble and I had a severe pain across my back. I read an advertisement of Foley Kidney Pills and took some of them. After a few days there was a great change for the better in my case. The pain left my back and the action of my kidneys is regular and normal and after taking two bottles of Foley Kidney Pills I am again a well and healthy man and I can well praise Foley Kidney Pills." AMONG THE CHURCHES

Union Church, Phillips.

Melvin Sherburne Hutchins, pastor. Calendar for week ending June 24. Sunday, June 18: morning worship, Baccalaureate sermon before graduating class Phillips High School. 12, Sunday school; 7:30 evening worship. Address, "My Father's Handiwork." Thursday, June 22: 7:30 P. M. Mid-week prayer meeting. Saturday, June 24: 2 P. M. F. B. annual roll call.

Mt. Saddleback Lodge I. O. O. F. and Hope Rebekah Lodge observed the memorial day of their order last Sunday when they attended in a body the Union church and listened to a sermon preached by Rev. M. S. Hutchins upon the subject, "An Ever Broadening Secret." The text was from 1 Cor. 3:9 "Laborers together with God."

This day is kept in memory of those who have worked with you shoulder to shoulder in your orders, but have now been called from your ranks. The best decorations that can be brought is a manifestation of those principles for which the orders stand.

They stand for fraternity, for the giving of aid to the distressed, for truth and friendship bound together by love.

Because all your work and ritual are known only to those who join your numbers you are called secret orders. But the best members are not those who have at their tongue's end the ritual. They are those who best exemplify the principles of the order.

The deepest lesson, the most precious secret of your orders is their teaching of the strength in working together. Co-operation does not mean seeking more gain for one's self, not that alone or mostly. It means more gain to all, more gain to the world.

There are laws in nature. Because we must work in accordance with them, we uild our mills far down a stream and take our logs down by the current instead of trying to push them back to mills built near the river sources.

All about us are spiritual currents. There are forces which we say are legions, forces which we sometimes call God. To work with these forces, to work with God, and with his Jesus in such a way as to secure right living, in such a way as to gain knowledge that will lead to the getting of right character we must learn something of God's laws, and work with them.

The longer we live the more we should know of God's truth. We should study to learn of him, to learn new ways of working with him.

Not the members of your order alone, but all the world are your neighbors. To work with God is to work for the greatest possible good of all, leading toward the coming of that perfect day when all sorrow and evil shall be done away.

Church Street - - Farmington, Maine

There are being shown a very attractive stock of new and second hand pianos at rock bottom prices. My appeal is to the careful thinking buyer—the buyer who knows that the widely advertised pianos—selling "plans" "contest" "prizes" "sales" and "certifications" are only used by dealers as a scheme to escape the pressure of fair competition. Come to my warerooms and see the pianos I offer at from $50.00 to $150.00 less than pianos urged upon you by "certificates" selling schemes. If my offerings are not better in every particular I will confess my lifetime experience in selling pianos has gone for naught. I have so conducted my business that it stands for integrity, responsibility and keen but honorable competition and I shall continue to invite the public's patronage upon that basis.

It's Your Kidneys

Don't Mistake the Cause of Your Troubles. A Phillips Citizen Shows How to Cure Them.

Many people never suspect their kidneys. If suffering from a lame, weak or aching back they think that it is only a muscular weakness; when urinary trouble sets in they think it will soon correct itself. And so it is with all the other symptoms of kidney disorders. That is just where the danger lies. You must cure these troubles or they may lead to diabetes or Bright's disease. The best remedy to use is Doan's Kidney Pills. It cures all ills which are caused by weak or diseased kidneys. Phillips people testify to permanent cures. Elbridge Dill, Phillips, Me., says: "I am very willing to endorse Doan's Kidney Pills. While I did not have any serious trouble from my kidneys, I at times felt in need of a kidney remedy. When suffering from a dull ache across my back and a weakness of the kidneys, I learned of Doan's Kidney Pills and procured a box from Cragin's Drug Store. I used them according to directions and the trouble from my kidneys soon disappeared. My back is now strong and I feel better in every way." For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo New York, sole agents for the United States.

RUM, OR NO RUM.

Maine has suddenly developed a big crop of prohibition orators and writers who believe it is their duty to instruct the voters to save the Prohibition law at the special election next September.

There may be many ways to lessen the use of rum, but I know of but two. First, absolute federal control prohibiting its manufacture, sale, or importation within the borders of the United States. Second, make rum as free as possible by removing all duties and all restricting laws.

It is impossible for one state, or a dozen states to control the sale of rum so long as the government allows it made, sold and receives revenue therefrom. And more than that it is a moral wrong, and injustice to her citizens for a state to prohibit what the government allows and protects. If you want to control rum by law, go at it right have federal instead of state laws. Now then, what about free rum? Remove all duties and laws, allow any one to distill, and sell rum, and it would not be worth twenty-five cents a gallon. The bottom would drop out of the rum business. Again, if an occasional man or woman did continue to drink they could buy or make all that they wanted for a few cents and save the money that now goes for rum for a decent living.

Maine has had a prohibition law for fifty years and in addition during the same time, it has had rum, bribed or unfaithful officers, and still worse, one of the most degrading and dangerous things known to mankind—the kitchen bar room, the natural result of state prohibition under a rum protected federal government.

PHILLIPS AND VICINITY.

The Franklin County Conference of Congregational Churches will commence with the Phillips Church, June 27 and 28. An interesting program has been arranged, and it is hoped that many will improve the opportunity of attending these meetings.

Mr. W. E. Berry, manager of the Phillips Electric and Power Company, who has been located in Freeport for some time past, has been here for a few days lately. Mr. Berry has been looking over the ground somewhat with reference to the prospects for business in case his company should decide to put on a power system in town and run during the day. Mr. Berry expresses himself as firmly convinced the business prospects in Phillips are very good indeed. He says that it would be a case of very close figuring in any event to run a day circuit here but if he could start with a few of the larger users of power he would be inclined to try it.

We copy the following from the report of the Memorial day exercises in the Lincoln Chronicle: "The climax of the day's exercises occurred at the auditorium where a large company assembled to listen to an address by Hon. N. P. Noble of Phillips. His handling of the subject was original, and to say that he held the attention of his audience to the close would be putting it lightly. No one tired of the address, and at the close every one had a satisfied look, and the common remark was 'That was the best Memorial Day address I ever heard.' One old veteran said to the Chronicle 'I would like to listen to something like that every Sunday.' It is safe to say that if Mr. Noble is ever booked to speak in Lincoln again he will not lack hearers."

There will be ready for occupancy on or about September 1st, 1911, at Harlem, New York, on tracks of the New York, New Haven and Hartford Railroad, a potato warehouse 880 feet long containing 22 sections, each 35 feet by 40 feet in size and provided with facilities for heating as weather conditions may require.

The cut worm is bothering the farmers and gardeners a good deal this year, and potato bugs have already appeared in great numbers. Emery Bubier got over 400 cut worms out of his garden on one day last week, by actual count.

Miss Margaret Everett started Tuesday for her old home in Woodstock, N. B., where she will make an extended visit with her sisters. She will also visit another sister in Bangor, and plans to be gone about a month. During her absence Mr. J. Z. Everett will take his meals at H. L. Goodwin's.

A Charming Woman

Is one who is lovely in face, form, mind and temper. But its hard for a woman to be charming without health. A weak, sickly woman will be nervous and irritable. Constipation and kidney poisons show in pimples, blotches, skin eruptions and a wretched complexion. But Electric Bitters always proves a godsend to women who want health, beauty and friends. They regulate Stomach, Liver and Kidneys, purify the blood; give strong nerves, bright eyes, pure breath, smooth, velvety skin, lovely complexion and perfect health. Try them. 50c at W. A. D. LIFE.

The poet's exclamation: "O Life! I feel thee bounding in my veins," is a joyous one. Persons that can rarely or never make it, in honesty to themselves, are among the most unfortunate. They do not live, but exist; for to live implies more than to be. To live is to be well and strong—to arise feeling equal to the ordinary duties of the day, and to retire not over come by them to feel life bounding in the veins. A medicine that has made thousands of people, men and women, well and strong, has accomplished a great work, bestowing the richest blessings, and that medicine is Hood's Sarsaparilla. The weak, run-down, or debilitated, from any cause, should not fail to take it. It builds up the whole system, changes existence into life, and makes life more abounding. We are glad to say these words in its favor to the readers of our columns.
